Former Rupert Woman Victim

George Sellars, formerly of Prince Rupert, was seriously injured at Dawson, Yukon Territory, last week in the same fire which destroyed the Northern Commercial Co. store and in which his wife, Mrs. Lilias Sellars, was burned to death.

Mr. and Mrs. Sellars were married here at the home of G. Abbott and the late Mrs. Abbott over twenty-five years ago.

Mrs. Sellars had been in the service of the F. G. Dawson Co., wholesale grocers. He and Mrs. Sellars had served together in World War I. They were both prominent in football circles in the early days. From here they moved to Dawson and resided there since except a year that Mr. Sellars went to Dawson not long ago. Mrs. Sellars was born in Scotland and was about sixty years of age.

The origin of the early morning fire, which entails damage of $500,000, was not ascertained until it was well under way.

Twenty-six Men and Women Committed in Vancouver Conspiracy Case

VANCOUVER (CP) — Another step in Vancouver's mass clean-up of bookmakers was taken Saturday when Magistrate W. W. B. McInnes committed 26 men and one woman for trial in higher courts on charges of conspiring to keep betting houses.

At the same time the magistrate found that the crown had not presented sufficient evidence to commit six other accused.

The 14-day preliminary hearing was the longest in Vancouver's history.

This is a conspiracy of a group of racketeers banded together to grow fat on an ever-susceptible public," Prosecutor Gordon Scott said.

Book-making in Vancouver virtually stopped after police rounded up "king pins" of book-making here. It was believed the greatest crackdown of its kind in any Canadian city.

Police estimated there was $6,000,000 turnover a year by bookmakers.

Fifty-Six Killed In Air Disaster

ELIZABETH, New Jersey (CP) — A defective heating pipe line may have been responsible for the crash of a Florida-bound airliner in downtown Elizabeth Sunday, killing 56 persons. It was the second-worst air disaster in the history of commercial aviation in the United States.

Police said that the passenger list showed 48 adults, two children and two infants. The crew consisted of pilot, two co-pilots and stewardess.

The air liner crashed in flames just seven minutes after it had taken off from nearby Newark airport.

The plane missed a row of frame houses and smashed into the water company's pumping station on the banks of the Elizabeth River and slid on into the middle of the shallow stream.

The wreckage formed a pile of junk 30 feet high in the river. The only recognizable remaining part of the two-engined C-46 transport was the tail section jutting into the air at a crazy angle.

An eye-witness said the plane was burning before it crashed. One wing dropped off.

The case developed out of the Saskatchewan 1948 provincial election campaign.

Tightening Up Korean Road

MUNSAN (CP) — The United Nations Command today warned Communists that improperly identified vehicles on the Pong-yang-Kaesong road will be attacked by United Nations planes starting tomorrow.

The highway from the North Korean capital of Pyongyang to Kaesong, the Reds advance truck talks base, has been restricted by agreement to Communist official vehicles carrying cerise colored panels.

Brigadier General William P. Nuckols, United Nations spokesman, told Communists liaison officers that from eighteen to twenty unidentified vehicles last week had been spotted moving down the main Red supply route.

It was a quiet day on the war fronts with only minor patrol clashes. He reported hazy weather reduced aerial visibility.

Gale Coming After Slush

A week-end of slippery streets caused considerable inconvenience to motorists — especially those venturing out without chains, but the weather picture is expected to change drastically.

Forecast low of 20 in Prince Rupert last night was sidestepped by a change of air current, according to the weatherman, and temperatures fell only to freezing point. Increasing low pressure area, west of Queen Charlottes, however, is expected to bring winds of gale force, subsiding during the night to 25 miles per hour with mixed snow and rain.

Canadian Women Progress in Public Life—Four Are Mayors

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada's capital had its first woman mayor in 1951 and the year also saw housewives from coast to coast dig in for a thrift war against high prices.

The lighter side—Marjory Kelly, 23-year-old tobacco dealer's daughter of Courland, was named Miss Canada of 1951; a couple of prominent women were blamed for the high prices in the country's food stores.

Evelyn Tufts, Halifax resident, in the parliamentary election at Ottawa, said the late Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and the late Viscount Bennett were responsible for the high prices.

Never had a chance to be acquainted with women and didn't appreciate them," said while visiting in California. "We may do a lot better now on."

Months later, in October, prediction appeared to be true. Mayor Grenville of Ottawa died and his daughter Charlotte Whitton took office, the first woman in the city's history. By the end of the year she was the same lime light with others, all from Ontario.

Marjorie Hamilton was elected mayor of Barrie, and Bernadette Smith became the first woman mayor of Woodville. Grace Burk McFarlane was elected first woman of Leamington.

Complete the picture—Mrs. Haldane, the perennial ringer for the Teck township, includes Kirkland Lake, elected for yet another year.

Locally Born Pair Married

A couple, both of whom were born in Prince Rupert and have spent all their lives here, were united in marriage at St. Paul's Lutheran Church on the evening of December 8, when Miss Irene Kildal became the bride of James Flaten.

Rev. H. O. Olsen officiated before an altar which was banked with baskets of flowers.

Given in marriage by Martin Berg, the bride wore a beautiful wedding costume of white duchesse satin with train. With sweetheart neckline, the gown featured a bouffant skirt with lace trim. Her bouquet was of red roses.

Mrs. Robert Currie was the matron of honor, wearing rose net. Bridesmaids were Miss Lillian Sylvester and Miss Yvonne Kildal, the former in green net and the latter in lavender net, both carrying bouquets of baby chrysanthemums. Little Jessie Seymour, niece of the bride, was flower girl, wearing floor length satin and carrying a nosegay of chrysanthemums.

The groomsmen were Ole Skog. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Nora Thompson sang "Through the Years."

Acting as ushers were Rupert Holkestad, Robert Currie and Alfred Dean.

RECEPTION
Following the church rite, a reception was held at the Oddfellows' Hall where many friends gathered to toast the happy couple and celebrate the occasion.

A three-tier wedding cake, centering a handsomely covered bride's table which was adorned with silver candlesticks, was duly cut by bride and groom.

The couple received congratulations under an arch of roses which was centered with white bells and flanked by baskets of chrysanthemums.

Bernhof Pederson proposed the toast to the bride to which the groom responded and Ole Skog offered a toast to the matron-of-honor.

Delicious refreshments were served with Ann Stromdal, Millie Bill, Joyce Strand, Verna Stevens, Pat Guyan and Margaret Giske acting as servers. The bride's mother, Mrs. Martin Berg, wore brown and gold taffeta with accessories to match. The bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Taylor, wore grey crepe with rose accessories.

Fred Hogan read telegrams of congratulations from Ketchikan, Norway, Vancouver and Saskatchewan.

Many beautiful gifts were on display and indicated the esteem and popularity in which the bride and groom are held.

The groom's gift to the bride was a beautiful string of pearls with earrings to match.

The evening's proceedings concluded with dancing for which music was provided by Mrs. Nora Thompson and Jake Antone.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding included the bride's uncle, Nils Hansen, from Seattle, and Mr. and Mrs. Mike Jensen, Andrew Antonson and A. Hofseth. Mr. and Mrs. Flaten will reside at 806 Borden Street after the New Year.

The bride is employed by the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative. The groom is a truck operator and is one of Prince Rupert's star basketball players.

AT PARIS MEETING

The only woman in the Canadian delegation at the UN General Assembly in Paris was Mrs. R. J. Marshall of Agincourt, Ont. Past president of the National Council of Women, Mrs. Marshall spoke for Canada in the UN social committee which studies such problems as human rights.

CONFIDENCE EXPRESSED

Several motions of non-confidence in the government were moved by opposition parties during the debate on the speech from the throne.

The main Progressive Conservative motion called for "adequate steps" to combat inflation and deal effectively with the high cost of living. It was defeated by a vote of 162 to 39.

In another motion, the CCF called for price controls and subsidies to equalize the sacrifices which the people are asked to make at this time. It was defeated 160 to 19.

The Social Credit party criticized the government in another motion for failing to increase war veterans allowances, paid to burnt-out veterans prematurely aged by war service. It was defeated 145 to 55.

By CHIC YOUNG

— NAVY NEWS —

Lt. Noel Langham, staff officer of HMCS Chatham, returned last Thursday from Vancouver where he attended a divisional officers' conference at HMCS Discovery. Lt. Cdr. P. Hinton of the staff of the director of naval reserves came out from naval headquarters at Ottawa to preside and staff officers from various British Columbia divisions were on hand to participate.

The wardroom is undergoing some marked improvements these days and more are due. Tom Christie of Woodbitt Products has donated an attractive coffee table. Rumor has it that one of Prince Rupert's artists is doing an appropriate painting. A well known Toronto artist has also promised an oil painting which should arrive before long.

A.B. Sid Alexander and A.B. Eddie Daves have been busy boys lately getting organized for the children's Christmas party of HMCS Chatham which will take place December 23. Forty youngsters are already booked for gifts and entertainment in true naval fashion.

Wrens and seamen were "swabbing the decks" last Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday instead of the usual parades and lectures to get the big drill hall in shape for the Christmas social activities. On Wednesday evening the Wrens served sandwiches and coffee in their canteen and it was a happy hour to bring the proceedings to a close.

The ship's company was sorry indeed to hear of a bad accident which befel T. Aldridge who sustained a fractured left leg at school and is now in hospital. Mr. Aldridge has been instructing the engine room branch in metal lathe work.

Officers of Chatham will be entertaining the ship's company this Wednesday in the wardroom. The whole establishment will get together in the real spirit of the season.

Interesting cards have been received from HMCS Stadacona with a charming picture of their Royal Highnesses, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, reviewing the divisions. HMCS Athabaskan at Inchon, Korea, the wardroom of HMCS Naden and the chief of staff and members of the naval board at Ottawa.

NAVAL CUSTOMS

In the early days of guns their use for saluting purposes was very popular, and everyone seemed to have seized any excuse for saluting. The waste of powder due to this practice caused regulations as to salutes to be laid down and these, with modifications from time to time, are contained in the present K.R. and A.I.

One interesting order in the K.R. and A.I. lays down that ships in the Thames are not to fire salutes above "Gravesend." The origin of this is amusing. Queen Elizabeth was quietly looking out of the window at Greenwich Palace when a ship in the river saluted. Shotted rounds were used for saluting in these days, and one of these came uncomfortably near the "Old Lady." She was not pleased, it might be imagined, and this King's Regulation is the result.

CALGARY — One hundred benches are being placed at bus stops here for convenience of waiting passengers. The seats, carrying advertising, are the first the city has permitted at such intersections.

Island Prince Ready to Leave — Louise Now "Alcan" Ship

Temporary patching of the B.C. Coast Steamships freighter Island Prince, which nearly sank in collision with another vessel near Lowe Inlet a couple of weeks ago, has been completed at the Prince Rupert dry dock. The vessel is now awaiting tow to Vancouver where permanent repairs will be effected.

Union Steamer Camosun, Capt. John Boden, arrived in port at 2:30 yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and way points and sailed at 11 p.m. for Alice Arm and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow morning to sail south at noon.

Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. James Hunter, returned to port at 10:30 last evening from her voyage to south Queen Charlotte Island points and sailed at midnight for Vancouver and waypoints.

Ketchikan Herds Target of Alaska Fisheries Board

KETCHIKAN — A campaign to rid Tongass narrows of the herds of sealions which have been feeding in the channel for several weeks has been launched by Alaska Fisheries Board.

It has been estimated that there are from 50 to 75 sealions in the narrows preying on herring schools, salmon and other fish, and trawlers and others have been attempting to devise some legal means to dispose of the predators or at least drive them out of the narrows.

A scheme has been worked out to use a speedboat and shotguns loaded with the largest buckshot available.

The Coast Guard has given permission to snoot in the channel provided extreme caution is used and the fire directed away from habitations.

It is believed that each sealion eats from 50 to 150 pounds of fish daily.

Ketchikan is Getting Ready

Recent visitors to Ketchikan say that, in expectation of the commencement of a pulp mill, major improvements are being made to the road between the city and the mill site.

There is also a rumor of a newspaper plant being built in Juneau.

Ketchikan is interested in finding dwellings for people for it would not be worth while to encourage settlement with nothing better to offer newcomers than tar paper shacks.

It Really Rains In Ketchikan

KETCHIKAN — Ketchikan is enjoying wet but moderate weather for this time of year and the high seasonal temperatures are general along the Alaskan coast. Temperatures of 30 or higher are being experienced from Anchorage southward.

The temperature in Seattle one morning recently was one degree below Ketchikan.

A total of 6.72 inches of rain fell here in a 48-hour period.

Songs and Color In 'Mr. Imperium'

Lana Turner, playing herself as a glamorous Hollywood actress and Ezio Pinza, former star of Broadway's long-running "South Pacific," combine in "Mr. Imperium," a technicolor romance with songs which comes as the feature offering to the scene of the Totem Theatre this Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The story is that of a Prince who falls in love at a Mediterranean resort with a jazz band singer. Their romance comes to a sudden close when the Prince is called away but is renewed twelve years later in United States where the dancer has meantime become a movie star while the Prince has become an exile, "Mr. Imperium." The Prince resolves to renounce his royal prerogatives for the woman he loves. True love fails to run smooth when a prime minister enters the scene but the picture which brings satisfaction to all concerned.

While Miss Turner and Pinza, with their singing dominate the piece, there is also a strong supporting cast including Marjorie Main, Barry Sullivan, Sir Cedric Hardwicke, Debbie Reynolds and Ann Codee.

Former Irish Scribe Sails B.C. Coast

A former weekly newspaper editor and now assistant purser on the CPSS Princess Louise, Gerry Culleton, from Ireland, thinks British Columbia is the greatest country he has ever seen.

Here only since August, when he joined Canadian Pacific Steamships, Culleton sees in Canada's west coast province a land of "every advantage."

Three-and-a-half years ago, Culleton came from Cork, Ireland, and after six months in Fort Erie and Buffalo, New York, where he studied the American way of writing news for print, he joined the staff of the Fort Erie Times Review as columnist and editorial writer, successfully climbing the ladder to editor.

But the Irish scribe hadn't seen near enough of his new country and set out on a motor trip which took him first to Edmonton, then to Vancouver.

Is he through with newspapering? Little comment, but he admits it's hard to get black ink and lint out of the veins.

"Force of Arms," love story of a young lieutenant and a WAC set against the campaign of war-torn Italy during World War II, is the feature for the Capitol Theatre this Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. William Holden, Nancy Olsen and Frank Lovejoy play the key roles.

Holden and Lovejoy are members of the fighting infantry who slug their way through the Italian boot in a series of bloody encounters. During one of the infrequent, precious leaves Holden meets and falls in love with Miss Olsen. There are real battle scenes as well as poignant romantic sequences. War story unfolds.
