may have denied Red's charges of allied violations of the Kaesong conference, but had offered to re-negotiations.

KYO (CP)—Chinese today accused the United States of new land violations of the conference zone.

Caesong and with a warplane over Kaesong and other coastal areas.

China's sudden barrage broadcast by Peiping, claiming in a flood of propaganda attack, saying it was "unacceptable" that Korean peace talks could be resumed.

United States revised its position and savage attacks on the Reds themselves broke off August 23, but accused the Reds of scheming to wreck the peace effort.

my still, however, had not any official reply to Gen. B. Ridgway's message Sunday. In it he called their series of charges as "malicious falsehoods" but expressed willingness to resume truce talks any time.

radio, which serves as Communist mouthpiece, said a dispatch from the Red news agency correspondent in Kaesong as saying American and South Korean "placemen" Saturday invaded ammunition depots, Kaesong and tried to force Red military police. The correspondent said they were repulsed before attaining their objective.

The city police court had a number of cases of week-end cases this morning.

BULLETINS

CIGARETTE RATIONING LOOMS

VANCOUVER.—Cigarettes may have to be rationed here if the Imperial Tobacco Company strike in Eastern Canada continues for another two weeks. Present stocks in Vancouver and in the rest of the province are good, a jobber said today, but if the strike in the Hamilton and Montreal plants is extended supplies would go short.

SEPARATE TREATY

NEW DELHI.—Prime Minister Nehru told parliament today that India will sign a separate peace treaty with Japan rather than attend the Japanese peace conference in San Francisco next month.

MINES MAN PASSES

COURTENAY.—T. H. Graham, former mines inspector and engineer of Prince Rupert mining district, died here today. A son, H. T. Graham, postal worker of Prince Rupert, arrived Saturday.

HAGUE ISOLATED

SASKATOON (CP)—Thirty square miles in the Hague area were isolated today by health authorities in an attempt to stop the spread of a dysentery epidemic. Food and supplies will be sent into the district and no travel will be allowed in or out.

Alaska Buyers Unable To Pay Coho Prices

JUNEAU.—Some 70 fish buying scoops were pulled from fishing grounds in Southeastern Alaska last week. According to principal fishing ground buyers at Ketikan, regulations placed upon them by the office of price regulation has made it impossible to meet the union's price of 27½ cents a pound for cohoes.

It is seen, by fish buyers, as a "force-out" of business for remainder of the season.

New System Of Controls

OTTAWA (CP)—The administrative machinery by which Canada may engage in economic warfare against Communist states, should the need arise, was announced today.

This was done through the imposition of system of import controls under which trade department will have power to clamp down on movement of goods into Canada from any specific source.

At the same time department took action to plug loopholes in export of strategic materials by revising export regulations to provide "more precise and effective scrutiny of ultimate destination for all Canadian exports."

SWEDISH IRON NEEDS
STOCKHOLM (CP)—Sweden's annual consumption of iron has increased 400 per cent since the turn of the century. It has been estimated that by 1963, consumption will rise to about 2,000,000 tons a year.

Have A Wooden Nickel —Is The New Slogan

An old slogan will be revamped when some 1,000 delegates of the Canadian Congress of Labor meet at a five-day convention at Hotel Vancouver, September 17.

"Don't take any wooden nickels" will be re-issued: "Have a wooden nickel," as the CCL publicity committee hands out three-inch plywood nickels as souvenirs to all delegates.

"If one of the wooden nickels comes your way, take it. It may be worth more than the real thing," says the committee, referring to the high price of lumber today.

T. Norton Youngs To Run Independent

First candidate for mayor of Prince Rupert in the coming by-election September 13 is T. Norton Youngs, who announced at press time that he will be "running independently."

India Won't Sign Treaty

WASHINGTON.—New and less-benevolent American policy toward India appeared certain today to result from Prime Minister Nehru's refusal to sign United States-backed peace treaty with Japan.

American officials made no secret of their disappointment at India's public denunciation of proposed treaty draft. They said it would give timely ammunition to new Moscow propaganda drive to wreck Japanese treaty.

WASHINGTON.—India refused formally today to attend the San Francisco conference next month or to sign the Japanese Peace Treaty, sponsored by the United States and Britain.

The action drew a brusquely worded American suggestion that every country has to take what it may consider "imperfections" to get an international agreement.

In response to India's argument that provision for keeping American troops in Japan will look like a condition imposed by a conqueror, a US note said the alternative is to leave Japan defenseless right under the fist of a known aggressor.

Murder Trial—

Evidence Withdrawn

SEOUL (CP)—Charges of duress in the murder trial of Glen Roland Blank today prompted prosecution to withdraw from evidence a purported statement by the Winnipeg soldier that he was at the scene of the crime.

The testimony of the investigating officer was stricken from the record of the Canadian court martial after defence counsel charged that the investigating officer had forced statement from Blank.

Blank, 37, one of the three privates, members of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, is accused of murder in the death of Lieutenant E. Chong Sung, one of three Koreans, killed March 17 when a grenade was thrown into a Korean house near Chipyong. Others accused are Donald Gibson, 22, Ottawa, and Alan Davis, 24, Vancouver.

Police said later Mrs. Yuskow told them her husband fell and hit his head when trying to kick her, thus re-opening a head wound suffered a week ago when he fell down the stair well.

Nasichuk, found near Yuskow, was beaten unconscious and robbed, suffering a deep knife slash in the head. His condition today is reported as fairly good.

NETHERFIELD, England (CP)—A painting which failed to attract a bid here was later bought for £1. It was then sent to a London firm of art auctioneers who sold it for £300.

FINANCIER DIES—J. P. Bickell, Toronto mining financier, died in New York at the age of 66. Long an influential figure in Canadian mining circles, he possibly was best-known for development of the McIntyre Porcupine Gold Mine. During the Second World War he was a member of a team that directed aircraft production in Britain. Mr. Bickell was visiting New York when he suffered a fatal heart attack. (CP PHOTO)

BRIDE BY MAIL—Rose Moss, 29, formerly a bus conductor in England, arrived at Montreuil en route to Spirit River, Alta., where she will marry a man she has never seen. Her fiancé, Ray Cook, 35, was introduced to Miss Moss through a mutual friend and the romance was conducted by mail. This is a Canadian Pacific Railway Photo. (CP PHOTO)

WEATHER

Synopsis
Cool moist air has moved into the interior of BC from the north and will give cloudy skies and scattered showers in that region today and tomorrow.

No rain is expected along the coast today or tomorrow with sunny skies persisting over most of this region.

Forecast
Vancouver City, lower Fraser Valley, Georgia Strait regions—Sunny with a few cloudy intervals today and tomorrow. Little change in temperature. Wind light. Low tonight and high tomorrow. Vancouver Airport, 50 and 67. Abbotsford, 45 and 72. Nanaimo, 50 and 72.

North Coast Region—Sunny today and tomorrow. Little change in temperature. Wind northerly 15. Low tonight and high tomorrow. Port Hardy 50 65. Sandspit 55 63. Prince Rupert 48 65.

A refugee who just reached Western Europe said the agreement was signed at Budapest early in June.

Hungary, Russ Sign New Pact

LONDON.—Hungary and Soviet Russia have signed a secret military agreement permitting the Red Army to send new units to Hungary for training, in addition to maintaining already large Soviet occupation forces, it was reported today.

After the final judging, Miss Hardy was told she had been "very close" in first choice competition.

"I think the greatest thing—besides the competitions—was the big PNE parade. I never saw so many people all in one place. I even saw quite a few Prince Rupert people watching the parade and they waved to me."

Prince Rupert's candidate rode in the parade in a separate float car, driven by Jim Hatchett, Vancouver newspaperman.

"We were introduced to the mayor of Vancouver and signed the city hall register right close to the place where the Duke and Duchess of Edinburgh will sign. "We never had a dull moment. From the first day all our meals except breakfast, were eaten at some banquet or other, and after the final judging we had a party with the judges and directors. "We were treated royally and with a lot of dignity."

Miss Hardy took home some prizes, too, which included clothing and novelties. And she lost $4 on the horses. All the 18 entries stayed at the Georgia Hotel, two sharing a room. Chaparrons were with them at all events they attended, said Miss Hardy.

Steeped in Apathy

THE city of Prince Rupert has pending an event of extreme importance—a mayoral by-election which is less than three weeks away. Yet, there hasn't been a breath or a whisper of anyone slated to enter the race.

It doesn't look like there's going to be any kind of election at all—just a matter of last-minute rail-roading, or someone unfitted walking into the mayor's seat because there is no contest.

This is a case about which Prince Rupert citizens should do a lot of thinking, and some worrying as well. It is time that citizens here did a little worrying about the future of their city because they themselves are responsible for its future.

There are a few things in our city about which we can be proud, but there are many more about which we should be ashamed. If anything good is said about a community, it is a direct reflection on the people living there, but, by the same token, if there is unfavorable publicity it is laid square and fair into the laps of those who make up the community—and that's where it should be.

Perhaps Prince Rupert is a city where most people come to make their "stake" and then get out to retire somewhere else. But in the meantime, these same people live here for 20 years—or more—and they should not be satisfied with "just any old thing," as has been the general attitude here for many years.

George is a noble fellow in this city, but he is a very elusive character. We haven't found him yet. "Let George do it." Yes—but where is George? Maybe he's out fishing!

Yet despite what attitude the people of Prince Rupert are taking, progress and prosperity is reaching out its fingers towards them. But if the fingers are not given a helping hand, they will turn elsewhere and with them will flee progress.

A mayor in Prince Rupert does not have to be a scapegoat—not if he's a fighting man, and that is the type of man we should have to represent this city which is on the verge of stepping into the circle of the rest of this province's progressive communities.

This city can take its place as a major part in the development which surely will come to the North, but not by letting the little man around the corner—George—do it. And one of the main factors to play a part in the development of any community is a sincere interest of its members in their own civic affairs.

How About It?

PERHAPS it was as a result of an editorial in The Daily News that the membership of the local museum increased by more than 12 per cent the following day. But when that increase is based on a membership of 25, it is not striking at all. It does point to the fact, however, that there are some who desire to support the museum, only they "just haven't got around to it yet."

Well, now is the time. It is a good investment, and the museum and its officials are worthy of this tangible expression of good will of the citizens. The membership card entitles the holder to free admittance to the museum any time. It isn't possible to see and learn about all the exhibits at one visit anyway, so members will want to return for other inspections.

$40 Or $50 Pensions?

PARLIAMENT will meet in a few weeks to enact the new old age pension law.

The main feature of the new law is that everybody in Canada will receive $40 a month, starting at age seventy, and payable for life.

Rich, not-so-rich, and poor alike will receive this benefit—exactly as the children of the rich, not-so-rich and poor already receive the Children's Allowance.

But the whole working population will pay into the scheme over the whole working lifetime. Hence the scheme should not be considered as a pension in the old sense.

It is the beginning of a new era in Canada where the entire nation will lay aside so much of its earnings to look after its old age. Canada has decided to treat the entire population as one big family.

As old age is something all humans must face, Canada takes a great forward step by this great plan of systematic self-help.

BUT THERE are other features of the plan which in my opinion are bad.

Pensions are still to be paid, on the old means-test basis from age sixty-five to age seventy. This seems to me to defeat the main argument in favor of the new plan.

Either the means-test principle is right, or the no-means-test principle is right. If we are going in for the no-means-test principle, then why not go the whole hog and finish the job? Why try to operate two different schemes on two basically different principles?

UNDER THE old scheme, now to be superseded, several of the provinces were paying bonuses, over and above the $40 grant. These bonuses range from $2.50 per month in Yukon Territory, to $10 per month in Alberta and B.C.

Now see what hopeless confusion will arise if the government tries to operate TWO BASICALLY DIFFERENT PLANS.

It would be downright cruelty to reduce the present pension of $50 per month which some old folks are already receiving. They have already qualified for this on a "means test" basis.

But how can the provinces continue to pay the bonus of $10 per month, to those already getting the full $50, without also paying the $10 bonus to those who in future may need it also?

THERE IS another weighty argument against the two, differently based plans.

One of the great arguments in favor of the no-means-test principle is that such a plan may be administered at a tiny fraction of the cost of a means-test plan. But by continuing to pay pensions from sixty-five to sixty-nine on a means test basis, then from seventy onwards on a no-means-test basis we completely nullify one main argument in favor of the no-means-test plan. We require a considerable corps of civil servants, otherwise unnecessary.

THERE seems to me to be only one way out. The pension should be at least $50 per month, and it should be paid to everybody at a certain age—without means test of any kind.

If the national government figures that it could not finance a universal scheme, granting say $50 per month to everybody at age sixty-five, then why not compromise half way between sixty-five and seventy?

But if we are to go on the new, right principle—let's go on it with both feet, and with our whole hearts. Let's not fall between two stools.

Parties Campaign On Diverse Tacks

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—The New Zealand general election to be held September 1 sees the opposing parties campaigning on different issues. That's one of the things that make this election one of the most unusual in New Zealand history.

Since modern party government was introduced 60 years ago, it is the only election to be held before it is legally due. Every other New Zealand parliament has either run its full three-year term or else has had its tenure extended because of war or economic conditions.

The last election was in 1949 and the next wasn't normally due until 1952. In the House just dissolved, Prime Minister Sidney G. Holland's National Party government had 46 seats, against 34 for the Labor opposition.

Both the National Party and Labor are contesting all 80 seats in the coming vote. The Communists are running a few candidates but all these are expected to lose their deposits, as they have done in every recent election.

NEW PLATFORMS

For the first time in two decades, the central issue of socialism versus private enterprise is not the dominant theme in the present campaign. The National Party government is asking the electors to endorse its crushing of the industrial upheaval which gripped New Zealand for five months this year, while the Labor party as its chief platform is attacking inflation and high living costs.

Both Prime Minister Holland and Opposition Leader Walter Nash have proposed substantial income tax reductions and extensions of the big social security structure. Both steps are considered practicable in view of the present buoyant state of New Zealand's finances.

Other points in the government platform are reduction in prices of bread, flour, butter, tea, gas and gasoline, and an increase in universal superannuation payments. These are payments to persons over 65 regardless of income. Eventually they will replace old age pensions, now paid to persons of limited means, which are higher than the present superannuation payments.

Labor's platform includes tax reductions, increases in many social security benefits, free dental and optical services, a return to building state houses for rental only, rent reductions on present state-built homes, re-imposition of import controls on goods which can be produced in New Zealand, and maintenance of the civil airways as a state concern. The airways have been offered for sale by the present government.

SURPRISE ELECTION

The election announcement was a complete surprise but the Labor party rallied vigorously and declares it is confident of regaining power. For the time being at least the breach between industrial and political sides of the labor movement has been healed, and trade unions are giving Labor candidates their full support.

Underlying the whole campaign is the handling of New Zealand's biggest industrial dispute in many years, which began with a strike of longshoremen in February, spreading to miners, seamen and sections of the transport and meat workers. It ended in July with the complete defeat of the strikers.

Moderate trade unions sided with the government against the strikers throughout, but political Labor attacked the government's handling of the dispute and termed emergency powers taken to deal with it anti-democratic and "Fascist."

The government's attitude was that the strike was part of a world-wide Communist conspiracy and that drastic measures were necessary to deal with it. Several prominent trades union leaders widened the gap with the Labor party by asserting their agreement with the government view that the strikes were Communist-inspired. Their difference have been healed for the moment.

The Labor party was in power for four years until it lost the 1949 elections. It opened a strong assault on government methods used to settle the strike when parliament assembled recently. A series of non-confidence motions however were easily beaten down by the government majority. But Prime Minister Holland seized the opportunity to call the election on the strike issue.

Reflects and Reminisces

A surplus of $409,000,000 is announced by the Minister of Finance, Hon. Mr. Abbott. Should the Minister give any signs of embarrassment, it is a simple enough matter to find any number of persons—including newspaper employees—prepared to offer suggestions.

A number of slot machines have been reported found in the Saskatchewan River. Suckers might find some use for them.

WHAT! NO SHOW?

Prince Rupert's many gardens continue to look their best, even with autumn near, and a crispness in the air. Tourists, strolling up town, pause and point at colorful displays at the homes of C. A. Berner and G. F. Forbes, as well as the blooms in the CNR park. Obviously, they are quick to respond to the charm of what they see. And while on the subject, what has become of the annual flower show? It had won a place in local affairs, and greatly stimulated interest in horticulture.

In future, advice from Ottawa says, an underground device will shoot news through a tube, and in this way save minutes. Already, quite a few of us feel some of it is pretty well shot before release.

NOW WE KNOW

An Ontario wife recently made the pleasing discovery that her husband had hidden $3,000 in the family ice-box. At last, one understands what cold cash means.

Several ships have called at Port Churchill to load wheat, but finding so little available, returned overseas to wait a while longer. If there is to be such a thing as competition, there is a port in northern British Columbia to be considered. Not a grain of wheat, and not even a glimpse of a boat seen here in years and years.

stuff!

Maybe you don't think that money can harm you. But nowadays, unless you handle it with care, it can make things tougher for you—and others.

If you spend it on things you think may soon be scarce or may cost more later, you will help drive prices still higher. And that will hit you where it hurts—in your own wallet.

But every dollar you save now—in life insurance, bank deposits, or savings bonds—helps keep prices down. And it can work for you in other important personal ways.

For instance, you may need money someday for an unexpected emergency. Or, perhaps, for starting a new business... buying a new home... sending your boy or girl to college. These and countless other plans may remain just dreams—unless you have more money saved.

In your savings plan, life insurance meets a special need. For you can use it to combine savings with financial protection for your loved ones.

Minister Opp To Vacation For School

WELLINGTON (CP)—The Minister of Education, Mr. Algie, has declared his position to high school teachers working during holidays.

"I was not pleased that large numbers of teachers were going to seek employment in the next vacation," Mr. Algie said.

"I should issue a warning. The vacations of teachers are reversed. There are two in each year. One is for rest and refreshment and partly for scholars to review their examinations. The other is for teachers to do their own work."

The holiday system is different from Canada. In Canada, the summer holidays are reversed, winter starting here at the end of the year. In New Zealand, schools have a vacation of two or three weeks in the fall, a similar one in the spring, and the "long" vacation of six to eight weeks in the summer.

TEACHERS DISAGREE

With the current labor agreement it has been easy for teachers to get temporary work. Rates of pay during the vacations are high. More than 50,000 attend full-time schools and half as many get part-time technical training.

Some teachers and education authorities disagree with the education minister's view that light work in the open-air work on farms or good change from school and that pupils receive such jobs just as fit to studies as those who go to school in recreation.

This section maintains is no reason why pupils not get valuable experience in the working world and same time earn some money when the government offers.

Canadians Staff Single Station Serving Bermuda

HAMILTON, Bermuda—Gerry Wilnot manages the only radio station on the tiny island of Bermuda, where a leisurely pace is followed amid the flowering hibiscus and oleander hedges.

The Bermuda leisure doesn't apply to everything around the radio station, of course. It has to work on program schedules like any other outlet. Broadcasting on 1240 kilocycles with 250 watt power, ZBM brings news and entertainment to Bermudians and their cosmopolitan visitors.

Five Canadians are working at the radio station, including Wilnot, former war correspondent of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation. The station has up-to-date equipment and a library which includes a collection of calypso songs that many a station would envy.

ZBM is the only station in the world, outside of the United States and Canada or their possessions, that is affiliated with the U.S. networks, ABC and Mutual.

Its role means of revenue is commercial advertising. Strangely enough, Bermuda had an annual radio licence fee of about $150 in former years, but since it got its own radio station the licence fee has been abolished.

WAR VETERANS
Chief announcer is Bill Williamson of Hamilton, Ontario. Attached to the Royal Canadian Navy during the war, Bill worked in Ottawa radio for four years following his discharge. Among other programs he handles the nightly "Welcome Visitors" program.

Walt Staskow of Toronto started in radio in Stratford, Ont., in 1940. He joined the army in 1941 and worked with army radio before going to the British Broadcasting Corporation in England, from where he came to Bermuda.

Miss Bette Morrison, a former Winnipeg girl now in charge of traffic and scripts, also does some programs. She was well known in Toronto radio circles and decided to remain here after coming for a holiday.

The fifth Canadian is W. A. (Bud) Pearson, 21, originally from New Brunswick. He also came on a visit, since his married sister lives in Bermuda, but he tried out for an announcer's position and was promptly accepted.

HE SANG, TOO
Johann Sebastian Bach, one of the world's great composers, was noted for a beautiful soprano voice in his youth.

Personals

Taking passage here on the Princess Norah for Alaska today were Mrs. and Miss Pinkley and Mrs. J. Rodgers.

● Conrad United Kindergarten starts Tuesday, September 4, 9 a.m. For information and registration phone Red 767. (201c)

Will Robinson, prominent pioneer citizen of Terrace, motored here Saturday evening. He spent Sunday in Prince Rupert, leaving for home at noon today.

● Regular Moose Meeting, Tuesday, August 28, 8 p.m. (202c)

Bookings on all steamers are very heavy with passenger accommodation at a premium. Reservations are very difficult to get unless applications are made well in advance of sailing dates.

Inquest on the fatal tragedy when Adolph Phelan was killed on the Canadian National Railway near Phelan on Friday night will be held this afternoon with Coroner M. M. Stephens conducting the case.

Appearing before Stipendiary Magistrate H. F. Glassey on a charge of fishing in prohibited waters, Abraham Davis was fined $100 and his net and fish ordered confiscated. The offence took place in the waters of the Naas River.

● Prince Rupert Film Council will show two very important and well-produced films, "Unfinished Rainbow" and "The Curiosity Shop," Tuesday, 8 p.m., at the Civic Centre. Admission free, collection to defray expenses. These films are in Technicolor, and of the best in 16mm production. (202c)

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Iverson and family who motored to Prince Rupert from Minneapolis to visit Mr. Iverson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Iverson, Bessner Apartments, are returning today. The younger Mr. Iverson was born and raised here, but now is supervisor for Link Belt stores in Minneapolis.

Having arrived by car this morning, Mrs. W. Pinkley and Miss Pinkley took passage on the Princess Norah on their return to Juneau. They had been visiting in the United States, but "I think the scenery on the Terrace-Prince Rupert section is unequalled," said Mrs. Pinkley. The road about 25 miles east of Prince Rupert is very bumpy but the new section being blacktopped out of Prince Rupert is in ideal condition.

Old Timers Re-Visit Early Pioneer Home

Interested visitors to the city last week were Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Scott of Beverly Hills, California, who enjoyed looking over Prince Rupert where they lived in 1910 and '11. Mr. Scott first opened the Wallace store, in partnership with Mr. Wallace.

Home in Woods Natural Foods Beats Housing

BOLTON, Ont. (CP)—The housing problem doesn't bother Art Scholes, Olympic runner of the 1920's who has left both the running track and the beaten track far behind.

Art took to the woods near this town and pays a farmer $1 a year for rental of a wooden shack in the banks of the Humbler, not far from Toronto. He and his Collie pup live there all year round.

His few wants are provided by nature. He traps and fishes, has an ample supply of wild berries and makes his own maple syrup. During his 20-year stay in the woods he has acquired wide knowledge of wildlife and woodlore.

He earns enough money for his few needs from civilization by helping district farmers during harvest season and by selling skunk oil to stable hands for $1 a quart. The oil is one ingredient in a rub-down mixture for horses. Art, incidentally, found that skunk stew, flavored with wild carrot, is as "tasty" as rabbit.

FORMER ATHLETE
The woodsman, known here as the "hermit," won early fame as an athlete. He ran in the 1920 Olympic five-mile event and in 1928 defeated the famous Indian runner, Tom Longboat, at Scarborough Beach, Toronto.

Art Awards For Pupils

TORONTO (CP)—Twelve-year-old John Chuzick of Brandon, Man., is coming to town to collect $100.

John will be a guest of the Canadian National Exhibition and the $100 goes to his fellow students at David Livingstone School, Brandon, for their prize winning mural, "This Is Where I Live."

The mural topped entries from schools across the Dominion. It shows the development of the oil industry in Canada and was produced by 30 Grade Six pupils. John, who has never previously been to Toronto or the C.N.E., was chosen by his principal to accept the prize money on behalf of his fellow artists.

RABBIT HUNTERS
EDMONTON, C.—"You never know what you will find when you go hunting," says Mrs. W. P. Thompson. Her niece's two children, Wayne Clerk, 11, and his brother, Butch, 9, went rabbit hunting recently. They returned with a two-day-old baby deer.

Special Coaches For All Cripples

By KINGSLEY BROWN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

HALIFAX 6—Under the best conditions, it's hard enough to build a dream into reality.

Imagine how the difficulties are multiplied when you are paralyzed, blind, in almost constant pain and barely able to move your lips.

Walter Callow, who wants Canada's wheel-chair patients to share the pleasures of the man on the street, has hurdled these difficulties. Now he is moulding his ambition into what looks like a "sure thing."

A Callow-designed coach has just been delivered here from an Ontario manufacturing plant. It is another cog in the machinery which Callow hopes will revolutionize the lives of wheel-chair sufferers.

He now has three custom-built coaches and by 1954 expects to have enough—perhaps 150—to look after every crippled person in Canada.

Now 57, Callow knows what these coaches can mean. He was at his best during the First World War but was severely injured in 1917 in the old Royal Flying Corps when his plane cracked up during a test flight.

The crash ruined his career as a promising mechanical expert and made him a helpless patient. He became paralyzed and blind.

But 21 years in bed failed to break his indomitable spirit. He has the drive of two ordinary men; works 14 hours a day and keeps four secretaries busy during the winter.

"The new coach will be as smooth as a high-class Pullman," Mr. Callow said in an interview. "Sounds boastful, does it not? But it isn't."

"It has airplane hydraulic shock absorbers, and the springs were custom-built in Montreal. Over-drive and five-speed transmission make it accelerate like a passenger car. There's nothing like it in its class in North America."

Even the wheelchairs, which enter the special vehicle by a hydraulic-operated ramp, are fitted with pneumatic tires.

A recent survey at the Nova Scotia Hospital where most patients are mental cases showed that some 130 of the 400 patients could be taken out on occasions. Callow's buses took them to other local baseball games.

"Doctors claimed it was not only good recreation, but the best treatment they could have," he said. "I put them back into circulation."

MANY OUTINGS

The coaches carry polio-stricken children, crippled veterans and invalids to hockey and baseball games, and on excursions into the country. It is believed that every wheel-chair patient in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick has been on at least one outing this year.

Ernie MacLellan of Bass River, N.S., is a good example. Ernie, a veteran of Halifax's Camp Hill Hospital, broke his back and was "out" three times in nine years. Last year, in Callow's buses, he made 22 trips throughout the province.

George Mumford of Halifax is another. George, now 29, became paralyzed at the age of six. He never left home in 21 years. Then a Callow bus took him to a local art school. The school's principal says George will be earning his own living in a year.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

When Mr. Muzzy doubled Mr. Masters' opening grand slam bid, Mr. Dale feared his luck in this rubber had run out. He thought briefly of sacrificing at seven spades but quickly abandoned this idea and sat back to await his fate.

It is hard to criticize Mr. Masters' bid of seven hearts. With any kind of a decent break he would have made it easily. As the adverse cards were distributed, however, he had to play his best to go down only two tricks.

Mr. Muzzy opened the king of spades and groaned loudly when Mr. Masters ruffed it. It's typical of Mr. Muzzy to believe that Mr. Masters would open with a seven bid with a quick loser in his hand.

At trick two Mr. Masters laid down the ace of diamonds. It appeared to him that unless the diamonds broke 3-2 the contract would not be made. Actually, he would have been worse off if he had taken out all of Mr. Muzzy's trumps.

Mr. Muzzy ruffed this trick and led the ace of spades. Mr. Masters ruffed with the 10 of hearts. Now he cashed the ace of clubs and then led the king of diamonds, deliberately letting Mr. Muzzy ruff again.

This time Mr. Muzzy led back a trump. Mr. Masters won in his own hand and led a small diamond. He ruffed in dummy while Mr. Muzzy discarded a club. Dummy's king and queen of clubs were led and the two remaining small diamonds discarded from the closed hand.

Mr. Masters was able to re-enter his hand by ruffing a club and to draw Mr. Muzzy's remaining trumps. The rest of his hand was good—but he was down two.

"I knew I had 'em beat," said Mr. Muzzy gleefully.

"YOU had 'em beat!" sneered Mr. Champion. "Why, if I had held the jack-10 of diamonds you could have taken that ace-king of spades of yours and..."

"Whoa! Hold it!" said Mr. Masters. "Don't let it get you. Our luck will change."

"Just so it does before Muzzy drives me nuts," Mr. Champion muttered.

Movie Designer Denounces Fads In Female Garb

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Designer Edith Head would like to see a law barring women from entering a dress shop unless accompanied by some responsible adult, such as a husband.

"Furthermore," says the Oscar-winning chief designer for Paramount, "I am offering a bounty on all fat women over 40 who wear rompers or pinafores."

Miss Head, a size 12 herself, is warring against the "little girl look" for females over 10 years of age.

She's also on the firing line against sralegirls who come up with: "Darling, that makes you look sexy."

That's why she wants husbands to accompany their wives on shopping sprees. For unmarried women, leave the boy friend at home.

Hardware Men Take First Of Five Game Final-Series

GORDON & ANDERSON 5, ABEL & ODOWES 4

First game of the five-game final series yesterday was chalked up for Gordon & Anderson, as the semi-final champs tangled for the first time in nearly a month with league-winning Abel & Odowes.

It was a stiff game most of the way with each team scoring only in two innings, but even Dave Abel's homer couldn't equalize the sudden lead the hardware nine took in the fifth and sixth innings.

Vic Caroli, who started the season behind the plate, took the mound for the second time this year giving only seven scattered hits to the clothiers' heavy batting order.

Dick Letourneau, straining for his sixth straight win against no losses, lost his chance in the field. Several hits which were marked against him were due to bad play for they should have been easy outs, and fielding errors accounted for two runs.

The game featured the most strikeouts recorded in any one game this season. Letourneau struck out 14 of 38 batters and gave up two walks, while Caroli struck out eight of 33 batters and walked three.

There is no doubt at all that some terrific fielding on the part of the G&A men and some poor plays on the part of the clothiers were the deciding factors of the game. For instance, in the bottom of the second inning, Catcher Abel led off for the losers with a tremendous drive into deep right field which should have been a home-run, but Ray Spring, playing close to the centre-field mark, backed up to the end of the field and with a leap made the back-handed catch successfully.

In the last inning, with the tying run on second—Giordano with a double—Letourneau sliced a curve ball which looked certain to drop just short of Spring near the first base foul line, but the rightfielder, running forward, scooped up the ball neatly for the last out and the game was over.

Meanwhile, G&A's big scoring inning, the fifth, saw an error by Third Baseman Arney on Young's bunt which brought in a run, and another error in the sixth inning by Giordano allowed a run.

The eighth inning for Abel & Odowes was a good rally, but not quite good enough. With McHardy and Pavlikis on bases, Abel stepped into the batter's box for the fourth time for his second hit and a home-run, scoring three runs with two out.

The clothiers' first run came in the fourth, while Caroli, trying to pick off base-stealing Pavlikis at second, threw wild into the outfield.

SAND-LOT BRIEFS: That was Dave Abel's second homer this season. Two other home runs this season were made here by Stan Cornwell and Don Scherk. Next game will be played on Thursday night and it looks as though it's going to be a stiff series.

Ontario Wins B.C. Second
OTTAWA (CP)—Ontario retained possession of the Willingdon Cup on Saturday when their four-man team defended the inter-provincial championship at the Royal Golf Club. Ontario had an aggregate medal score of 583. British Columbia was second with 603 and Alberta, third, with 603 and Alberta, third, one stroke behind with 604.

Remember When

Ring experience and a left hand like a ton of bricks was sole right to the world's lightweight boxing championship for Gus Lesnevich 10 years ago last night. He gained a narrow margin over the Bronx kid, Tami Mauriello, in their 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

B.C. Youth Tops Amateur Golf Tourney

OTTAWA (CP)—Laurie Roland of Vancouver won the Canadian junior golf championship by a single stroke on Sunday in an 18-hole play-off with Douglas Silverburg defending champion from Red Deer, Alberta. Laurie finished with 73, two over par. Doug had 74. The two 18-year-old boys tied at 151 after Saturday's regular 36-hole round.

M.C.C. Wins First Match

VANCOUVER — The Marylebone Cricket Team had no difficulty in winning the first of three-game test series against Canadian teams when they ran up a total of 306 and declared with two wickets to fall. They then dismissed the B.C. eleven for totals of 94 and 102 and so won by an inning and 110 runs. The other two test games will be played later in the tour one in Calgary, and the other in Toronto.

Eng. Cricketers Take First Play

VANCOUVER — In the first day's play of the first cricket match ever played between Canada and England, the English team took a commanding lead. At the end of the day's play the English were 128 runs ahead with four wickets to fall.

Canada batted first and were all out for 94 runs, the English captain, Robins, taking 7 wickets for 22 runs. England then scored 222 for the loss of six wickets, with Robins playing a big part again in scoring 64 runs in 36 minutes.

Should the match end in short time each side will then bat for a limited time so that the spectators may see all the players in action. The match, taking place at Brockton Point, Vancouver, attracted a large attendance.

Famous Poetry Often Written In Queer Ways

By W. G. ROGERS

NEW YORK—One poet writes while walking in the woods, a second while riding horseback, a third lying on his death-bed.

Others mumble their verses aloud as they compose, or write most easily at the full of the moon, or while smoking a pipe or guzzling tea, or while the smell of rotten apples fills the air. Still another arouses himself to the fever pitch of composition by drinking whisky and listening to phonograph records.

The absorbing account of the quirks in the ways the poet works is told in "Poems in Progress," by Phyllis Bartlett, published by Oxford.

Confining her survey principally to Americans and English since Milton, Miss Bartlett acts as a sort of scholarly kibitzer. Breathing down the necks of the great and near great, she has watched them pick up the pen and say it down, write a line and delete it, hunt desperately for the one right word, rearrange polish and mark down "finis."

Her book is not concerned with the question of inspiration; it does not discuss what makes a poet, but simply how a poet makes a poem. And there are about as many different ways as there are different poets.

It was Schiller who kept the apples in the drawer of his desk right under his nose, Tennyson who sucked on a pipe, Yeats who mumbled, Chatterton who waited for the full of the moon. Burns, Shelley, Keats were the walkers, and Burns sometimes joined Lanier and Scott as poet on horseback. Auden drinks endless cups of tea. Hart Crane resorted to liquor and music.

Walter de la Mare, smoked and wrote. Spender drinks coffee and writes. The tragic Francis Thompson took opium but wrote when not under its influence. Poe, of course, was not the habitual drinker he is accused of being; and Swinburne, who was a drinker, probably was not affected seriously as a poet by the habit.

Wordsworth writes, as he said, "in tranquility," and Byron was his exact opposite. Neither Coleridge nor Whitman could write well unless he felt well. Burns

A fair year for cohoes is reported from the Queen Charlotte Islands. At Masset Cannery they are packing nothing but cohoes this year, it being an off year for pinks.

Men are to be put to work on the northern highway between Prince Rupert and Yellowhead under the provincial unemployment relief agreement. Relief work will also be carried out in the Atlin district.

Halibut landings to-day amounted to 43,000 from American boats at 91c and 4c and 33,000 pounds Canadian at 72c and 3c.

Horse Racing At Stampede

VANDERHOOF—Horse racing, a new feature being introduced at the Labor Day Stampede here this year, has met with popular appeal and already there is keen interest being taken in the various races on the program.

The chuck wagon race, in particular, is expected to be highly popular. Other items on the program include roping, trick riding, "bronco busting" and an evening baseball game.

Byron and Dryden were speedy writers. Tennyson's notebooks show reference to "The Idylls of the King" more than a century before they were published, and Gray spent eight years on the "Elegy Written in a Country Churchyard," which is at the rate of less than one line every three weeks.

But every now and then a poet would have the luck to dash off almost as fast as he could write a poem that would stand unchanged. Among them were Longfellow's "The Arrow and the Song," Whittier's "What of the Day," Years' "The Wheel" and Frost's "The Mountain," "Birches," "Two Look at Two" and "Stopping by Woods on a Snowy Evening."

Israel Visitor Enjoying Steaks On Canada Visit

VANCOUVER (CP)—One young woman visiting Vancouver has not been complaining about the cost of meat. Mrs. Arthur Goldberg from Israel has had a steak a day since she arrived in Canada, and hopes to continue on that menu until she and her husband or seven weeks return to Jerusalem.

This is Leumith Goldberg's first trip away from her home country. In Israel all food is rationed and each person is allowed a half-pound per month.

"Back in Israel," she said, "all food is tightly rationed and we still have to line up, and even then it is difficult to obtain."

Leumith fought side by side with men and women of Israel in their battle for independence.

She fought with the underground, helped train troops and when the Israeli army was formed officially, served for 16 months and wound up as corporal. She obtained her discharge from the army to get married.

Women as well as men are obliged by law to serve in the army. Every unmarried girl between ages of 18 and 26 must do a two-year hitch.

Her husband, a 25-year-old Vancouver man, brought his bride from Jerusalem to visit his parents here. He plans to live in Israel and help build up the country's tourist industry.

He left the University of British Columbia to go to Israel over a year ago. With him went a fleet of cars—first U-drive autos in Israel. Now he has a franchise for a bus line. He is an RCAF veteran.

It took 100,000 men two months to clear debris from the streets of ancient Babylon when it was sacked about 2500 years ago.

CAUSES SQUABBLE — Dick Huffman probably didn't realize he would cause international court action when he signed to play this season for Winnipeg Blue Bombers of the Western Canada Football Conference instead of returning to the professional Los Angeles Rams. The U.S. team has applied to a Manitoba court for an interim injunction prohibiting the 270-pound middle wing from playing for Winnipeg until a decision is reached on a permanent injunction.

Air Force, To Be Redoubled, Polishes Up Jet-Powered Punch

PIONEERS in jet aircraft, the British, who are redoubling their already doubled air force under a $13 billion defense program, are making sure that it packs the latest jet-powered punch. Top Left: The Boulton Paul P. III, delta-wing (shaped like the Greek letter "D") experimental jet. Details of its performance are secret. Bottom left: Another experimental job, the Vickers Supermarine 535. Powered by a Rolls Royce, this swept-back wing, jet fighter is said to have exceptional climb and speed. Top Right: Yet another experimental jet, recently successfully test flown, the H.P. 88. Two companies, Handley Page Ltd. and Blackburn and General Aircraft have collaborated with it. A Rolls Royce Nene supplies its power and it has an experimental wing design. Bottom right: Now in full production for the British Navy, the de Havilland Sea Venom. Performance details are not given, but this fighter is powered by a de Havilland Ghost turbo-jet, and, radar equipped, has a crew of two.

News of the District

A Tribute To Bert, Old-Timer Salesman

TELKWA.—It seems time that Bert Cameron, who travels for Mackay, Smith & Blair, became more than just a name recorded on the various hotel registers as he passes through the country. For Mr. Cameron's name has been recorded on these registers without fail, visit after visit, for 53 years, and all this time he has been travelling for the same company through the North.

In 1898 he made his first trip to Hazelton by river boat. In 1903 he came through the Bulkley Valley by pack train. A few years later the pack trail had become a road and he travelled by stage-coach. And as soon as a car could come through, he drove one. With the inauguration of plane service, his route has extended still further into the North with an annual flight into the Yukon.

Today, Mr. Cameron drives a modern sedan delivery, the back piled high with boxes and cases of his wares. But if one were to look closely, there would undoubtedly be a fishing rod and tackle box and other outdoor equipment, for Mr. Cameron is a man of many loyalties.

He must be loyal to his company, as witnessed by 53 years in its service through this north country; he is certainly loyal to his customers, for he speaks of them with warmth; Sargent's at Hazelton and Johnny Fraser at Hazelton whom he has known those whole 53 years, Johnny Gould at Topley with whom he always goes fishing, Mr. Bussinger in Telkwa whom he was currently visiting. And he is certainly loyal to this north country for, though past the 70-year mark, he makes his trips on schedule regardless of weather or road conditions, yet in speaking of the country, recounts not its hardships but it beauties and opportunities.

On this trip through, he has taken time for a fishing trip to Babine Lake with Johnny Gould.

How was the fishing?
"Good. It's always good at Babine if you know the right spots. Now, up the Fulton River the fish are capricious. Sometimes they bite, sometimes they don't."

"But go up to Fort Babine on the north end of the lake—just 60 or 70 miles from Topley Landing by motorboat—and the fishing's always good. The most beautiful scenery in the province, too."

"The end of the lake's all dotted with little islands, and the water is so clear."

And so, Mr. Cameron, a small tribute to you from the country to which you have so long paid tribute.

Labor Day Golf Meet

SMITHERS — Golfers from Prince Rupert to Prince Rupert will gather here on Labor Day to compete in the Northern B.C. golf tourney. Present holder of the trophy, Bert Withers, Prince Rupert, will be on hand to defend his championship, but Smithers golfers "are determined" the results this year will be different.

Entries have been invited from Prince Rupert, Terrace, Hazelton, Telkwa, Burns Lake, and Prince George.

Ladies of the Smithers Golf Club will supply refreshments.

If you want to sell it, advertise it. News classifieds.

TELKWA TALKS...

Mr. and Mrs. L. Dilworth have arrived in Telkwa and will both be on the staff of the school here. Mrs. Dilworth will teach in the primary room; Mr. Dilworth in the intermediate room.

Mr. Steven Bahrey, a former school teacher here and at Quick who left two years ago for Cranbrook, has motored here with his wife whom he is introducing to his many friends. Mr. and Mrs. Bahrey, who are both on the teaching staff at Cranbrook, are visiting at the homes of his two sisters in the Quick district, Mrs. Bill Greene, and Mrs. Fred Moniakuk.

Mr. Sid Cooper of the Forestry Department at Terrace spent a few days in Telkwa while inspecting sawmills in the district. Mr. Cooper has renewed many old acquaintances, for he and his family used to live here before moving to Terrace, more than twenty years ago.

Mr. B. I. Nesbitt, Consulting Engineer for the Copper Ridge Mine, left on today's plane after a further visit to the mine.

Miss Hazel Hoy has joined the staff of Bussinger's store. Miss Hoy will remain here until the opening—in a month or two—of a Men's Wear Store in Terrace by Mr. Frank Richards, of Vancouver, where she will then be employed as a tailor.

Mr. P. Rorvik and family, accompanied by Mrs. Thomson, of

Romantist Of Fabulous Era Showing Now

It's starting all over again! The unparalleled adoration which America's women of a generation ago lavished on Rudolph Valentino, the greatest romantic idol of a fabulous era, is being repeated today. Columbia Pictures' studio has received a flood of requests for the romantic photographs of Anthony Dexter, the virtually unknown actor who has stepped into the glamor-filled shoes of the great romantic star.

This re-birth of a feeling that has never really died started when Dexter was tapped for the title role of the Columbia picture, "Valentino," now at the Capitol Theatre with Eleanor Parker co-starred. Dexter, who is possessed of a striking physical resemblance to the Great Lover and temperament to match, is expected to soar to stardom on the basis of his performance in "Valentino," the Edward Small production of the loves and times of Rudolph Valentino filmed in color by Technicolor. It will be recalled that Valentino, too, rose from obscurity to meteoric Hollywood stardom in his first role as the Gaucho.

MINISTER'S SON

The son of a clergyman, Dexter was born in America's Midwest, Nebraska's corn belt environment and a rather strict childhood certainly were not conducive to equipping Dexter with the color necessary to a future impersonator of America's greatest romantic idol. But Dexter overcame family influence to strike out for a career in the dramatic arts.

Staked to $100 by a Broadway playwright on the faculty of Iowa University (where Dexter Albani, have been visiting this district and with friends in Pr. Rupert.

Tommy Thompson, old-time traveller, is making his regular trip through the district.

Mrs. J. Rogerson and her daughters of Prince Rupert with Mrs. Bill McLean and her son have been holidaying in the district, proceeding to Francois Lake, and stopping here on their return.

Nolan Shannon, formerly of Usk, has paid a brief visit to the district.

Recent hotel visitors have been:

W. G. Inkster, Vancouver; W. R. Tout, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. T. Black and son, Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. E. Thomson, Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. Alec Wallace, Vancouver; Mr. C. Stanley, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Watson, Longview, Wash.; Mr. Fred Cuff, New Westminster; S. D. Walker, Kelowna; Robert E. White, Vancouver; T. M. Knox, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. Krueger and daughter, Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. Thos. H. Priest, Prince Rupert; Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Kurp, Prince Rupert (returning from a seven-week vacation to the States and to Vancouver); Bert Cameron, Vancouver.
