South Koreans Take Capital; Has Red Offensive Started?

TOKYO (CP) — South Korean Marines have seized virtual control of Ongjim Peninsula on Korea's West Coast and the North Korean capital of Pyongyang.
Republican marines landed on Ongjim Peninsula April 7 and seized the towns of Kunsan and Whasan near Ongjim from the North Korean Reds.

Garage Had Close Call

An alert city cab driver, who sent in a fire alarm early this morning, and quick work from the city fire brigade, averted what may have been costly damage to Bill's Motor Service Station at 404 McBride Street.
Samuel Julian, taxi driver, noticed the fire and sent in the alarm at 3 a.m.
Firemen had one hose line out to extinguish the flames that had eaten through one wall of the garage.
Damage is estimated at under $100.
Cause of the fire is believed to be from a stove in the garage.

Is Ready to Consider Fifty Rental Houses

To Meet Dire Home Need Here
A federal-provincial houses for rent building program will be "seriously examined." That is the extent to which T. B. Pickersgill, B.C. region supervisor of Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation, committed himself last night to a joint meeting of city council, the Chamber of Commerce housing committee and business heads.

Mass Protest Meeting Plan

Trades and Labor Council Follows Up—Victoria Lobby Reports
In protest at the increased British Columbia Hospital insurance premiums it was decided Thursday night by a meeting of the Trades and Labor Council to hold a public protest meeting this week-end.
Delegates from various Prince Rupert unions attended the regular monthly meeting of the T.L.C.
The protest was decided upon after letters from Hon. A. D. Turnbull, Minister of Health and Welfare, and J. D. McRae, MLA for Prince Rupert had been read.
Also acknowledging the protest from the Council was a letter from Harold Winch, MLA, leader of the opposition.
Petitions protesting the insurance increase were received by the local council from the Trades and Labor Council of Vancouver. Since these petitions were to be presented to the government before the house prorogued, it did not leave time to canvass for public opinion.
"But the canvassers reported whole-hearted support of the

Meanwhile Communist counter-attacks, made at heavy cost, rolled up today along the Korean front but it was too early to say if this was the expected big push.
Chinese and North Korean troops struck at least eight heavy counter-blows in west and central Korea in attacks which began yesterday.
This sternest opposition in weeks was estimated by United States Eighth Army headquarters to have cost the foe 4,275 in dead and wounded.
The Reds are reported getting ready to attempt strong air attacks on Allied ground forces and installations.
In spite of the latest Red counter-attacks, field dispatches indicate that the Allies are still advancing at points along the 120-mile front.

due to lack of housing here."
Cost per unit, Mr. Martin estimated roughly, would be "around $8,750 to $9,000" and that would be for a dry-wall house of standard construction only—no trills," he said.
Building items included in shortages were plumbing materials, electrical supplies, nails and plywoods; gyprock, wall-boards.
Such houses, should they be built, would rent in the neighborhood of $50-$60 monthly, Mr. Pickersgill told W. C. R. Jones, Columbia Cellulose Company mill manager.
"Our men couldn't pay any more than $60," Mr. Jones asserted.
The pulp mill manager said that, although 50 homes "can be occupied immediately" by permanent employees, he felt there was no doubt 100 units could be used.
Harold Thom, Canadian Fish Company Limited representative, said "about 20 homes" would be needed, but he estimated about 100 fishermen will be coming North this summer fishing for the company and if houses were available—"most of them would stay."
B.C. Packers Ltd. indicated they would need 20 houses for

FLASHES Prince George Board Of Trade is Aroused

PRINCE GEORGE (CP) — Proper use of the huge grain elevator at Prince Rupert could regulate a box car service on the Red Pass-Prince Rupert line of the Canadian National Railways which is "a national disgrace," the Prince George Board of Trade was told by Martin Caine, prominent district lumber operator.
Mr. Caine branded the service as a "national disgrace" after another mill operator, William Dobson, had stated that a few weeks ago no box cars were available while today there were so many here that railway officials do not know what to do with them. The shortage had adversely affected lumber and other shipments on the Red Pass-Prince Rupert line.
Mr. Caine said that, if proper use was made of the grain elevator at Prince Rupert, shippers on the Smithers division would never experience a car shortage.
"We have this huge elevator at Prince Rupert built by the Canadian government and it is never used," Caine said. "Instead grain is hauled to Vancouver elevators and the empty cars are hauled to Jasper and on to Prince George. No business man could operate in that manner and remain solvent. It is a national disgrace."
Members remarked that, as there were no big cargoes consigned to Prince Rupert, boats would have to go there empty

UNITED STATES SAYS "NO" WASHINGTON — United States responded today with a firm "no" to the proposal by Great Britain to let Red China help write the Japanese peace treaty. Rebuffed at the same time was a British suggestion that the treaty contain a clause returning Formosa to Red China.

SCONE STONE BACK LONDON — Nervous policemen tugged the stolen Stone of Scone back into Westminster Abbey last night with dramatic flourishes worthy of the priceless coronation relic. It had been brought back by secret means from Arbroath Abbey in Scotland where it turned up earlier in the week.

all the way from Vancouver or Seattle. They recalled that Prince Rupert was considered an "ice bound" port in winter by marine insurance underwriters and that rates for vessels calling at that port are prohibitively high.
John McInnis of the trade and industry committee, former MLA for Fort George, said there were "other reasons" for the abandonment of Prince Rupert as a grain loading port. He asserted Vancouver was used a great deal because of influences to keep grain shipping business in their city.
George M. Murray, MP for Cariboo, and Senator J. G. Turgeon have been asked to determine whether high insurance rates are a factor in keeping Prince Rupert idle as a grain port. Suggestion was made that opening of Alcan's big Kitimat plant, 100 miles from Prince Rupert might attract large numbers of ships to the northern port. Boats carrying bauxite ore to Kitimat might proceed to Prince Rupert to load grain for the return trip.

Scotland Wins Over England

Ernest Bevin Dies

Former Foreign Sec'y is Victim of Heart Attack
LONDON (CP) — Ernest Bevin, Britain's foreign secretary from the time the Labor Party came into power in 1945 until he resigned March 9, died today of a heart attack at his home in Carlton Gardens.
He had observed his seventieth birthday on the day he resigned.
For some time he had been in ill-health and, finally, relinquished his post to Herbert Morrison because of the state of his health and took up the duties of Lord Privy Seal.

TO ADDRESS CONGRESS WASHINGTON — President Truman gave the signal yesterday which assures General MacArthur the chance to defend his Asian policies before Congress. "I regard it as fitting that Congress bestow this honor on one of our great military men," said Truman. MacArthur is due to arrive in San Francisco Tuesday from Tokyo and may address Congress Thursday.

Passing of H. T. Cross

Herbert Thomas Cross, who served with the Canadian Customs here as appraiser from 1914 to 1940 and was long prominent in the affairs of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, passed away yesterday in Vancouver after a long illness. He died at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Lillian Wickson, 2105 Southeast Marine Drive, Vancouver. Mrs. Wickson had been bereaved only ten days ago by the death of her husband, Arthur Wickson.
Mr. Cross, who was 76 years of age, came to Prince Rupert from Regina. On his retirement from the customs service in 1940 he went to Vancouver to live.
Deceased is survived, besides his widow by four daughters—Mrs. Frank (Molly) Wilson of Terrace; Mrs. Arthur (Lillian) Wickson of Vancouver; Miss Joan Cross and Miss Frances Cross of Prince Rupert—and three sons—Allan Cross of Lulu Island; Walter Cross of Lloydminster and Herbert Cross of Alert Bay.
Mrs. Wilson drove in from Terrace today and, with her sisters, Joan and Frances, enplaned for Vancouver this afternoon to attend the funeral of their father.

Alcan Moving In

THE CERTAINTY of Aluminum Company of Canada establishing its half-billion dollar project in the Kitimat area, with the big water diversion and power development in the interior, seems established. With road and railway grade already being built from Kemano Bay in Gardner Canal into the powerhouse site on Kemano River and road going on from Vanderhoof into the dam site, Burns Lake now comes into the picture as crews start to move from here into the Tahtsa Lake area where a big water diversion tunnel is to be driven.

It has been known for some weeks now that preparations are being made to start on the highway and railway grade southward from Terrace to the mill site at Kitimat.

Alcan is already going ahead in a big way without much talk. The effect is already being felt on the economy of the whole area and it may be expected to increase rapidly. This district is really going places now.

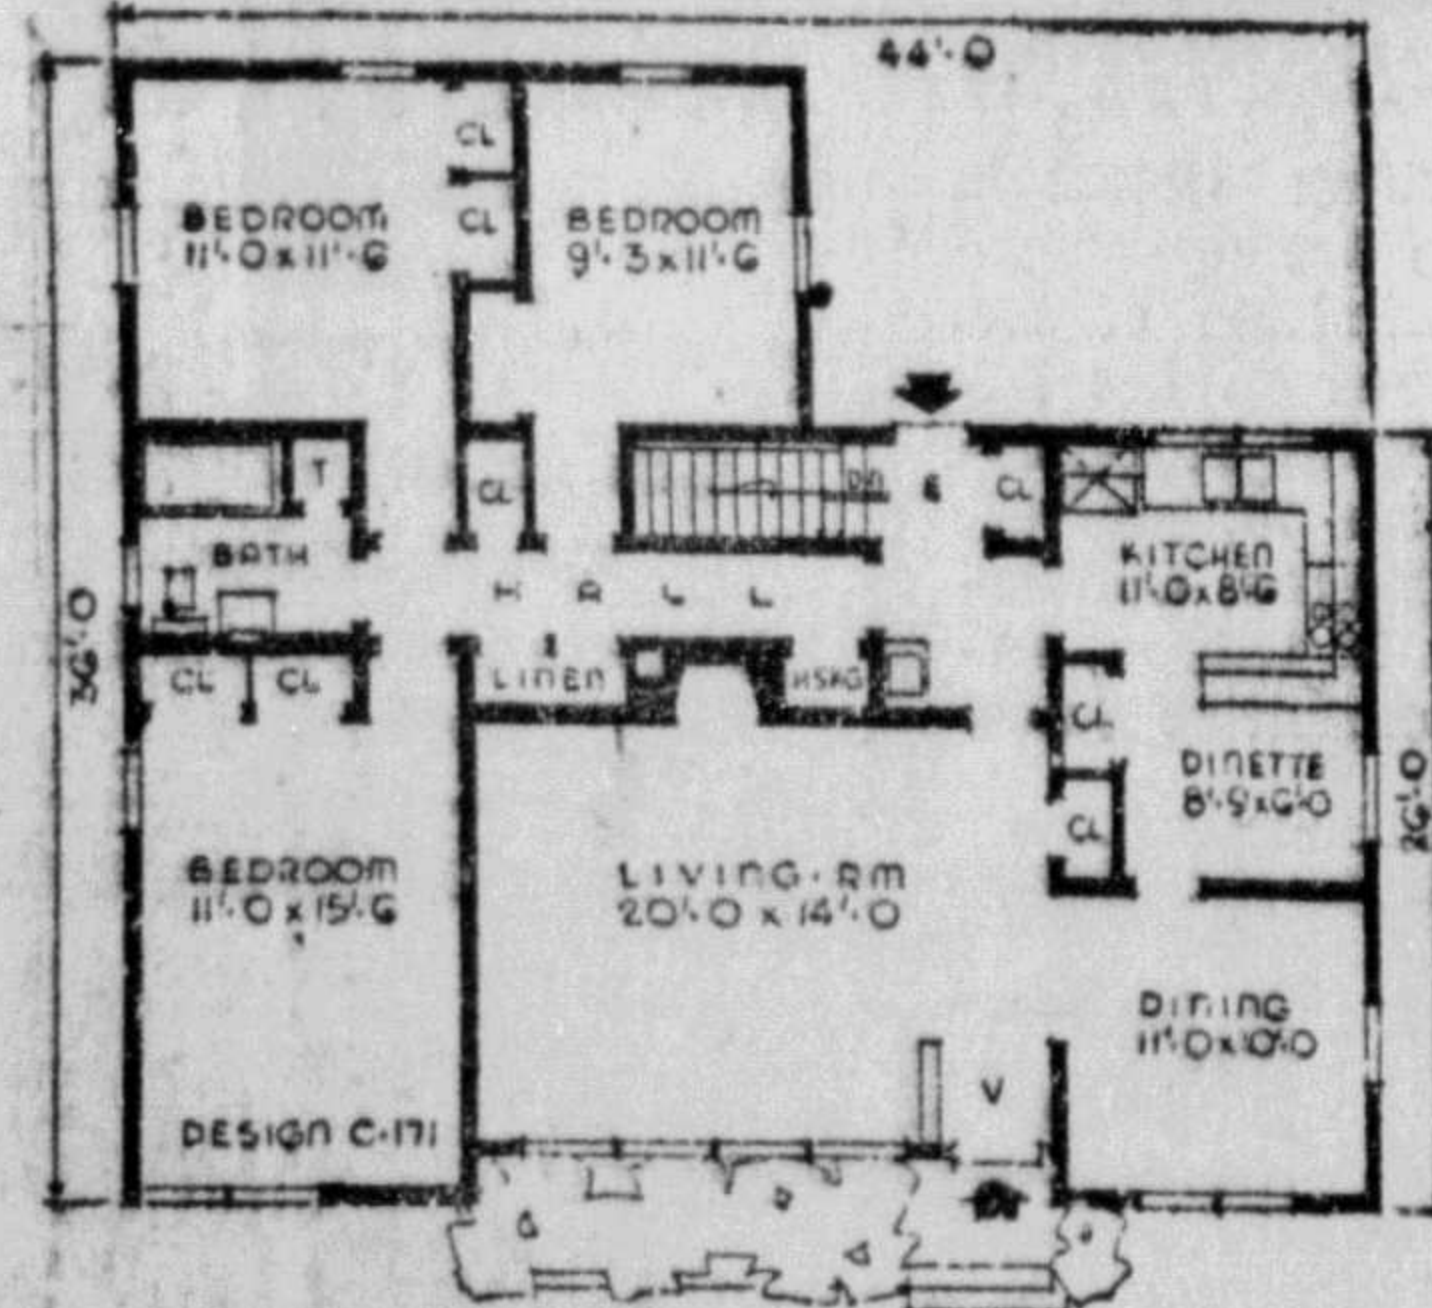

Spring Painting

PRESERVATION OF property may well become an important factor in the lives of homeowners throughout Canada in the months ahead. With the Government placing restrictions on building materials, it is doubtful whether 1950 levels will be surpassed by very much in the current year. The preparedness program will come from normal channels leaving that much less for civilian consumption.

This is one strong argument for taking extra precautions to preserve property at this particular time. Another important argument is found in the need to combat the rising incidence of loss by fire in the country. Anyone who has ever used kindling wood probably has noted that rough, weathered or dry-rotted wood catches fire and burns more quickly than wood which is covered with a smooth protective coating of paint. Buildings which have been neglected are potential tinder in the event of fire. This applies to homes, garages, barns, stores, as well as business, industrial and institutional buildings.

The psychological value of paint in promoting and maintaining respect for property is also very real. It is not often that anyone will use a well-painted structure as a repository for rubbish which may become kindling for a fire. Rather, in the majority of cases, the instinct will be to respect the property and to keep it in a safe and orderly condition.

The intelligent use of paint can many times outweigh the relatively small cost of paint protection. For example, in the interior of office buildings and industrial plants, paint acting as a fire retardant, automatically promotes efficiency, health and morale.

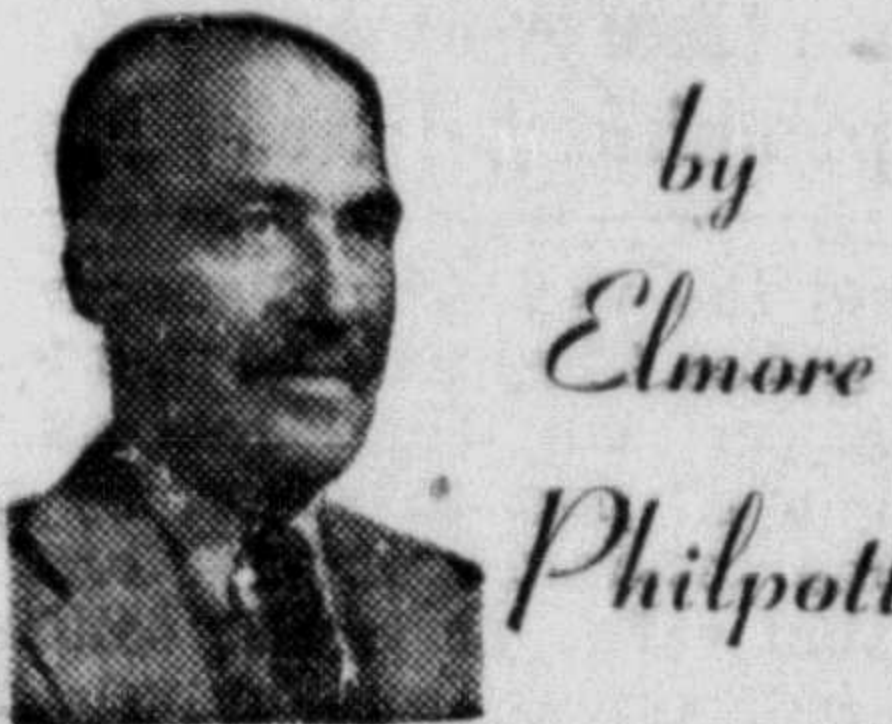

THE COBB has closet space for every purpose, well distributed throughout. This three bedroom design also has convenient circulation. A separate dining room is provided in front, and in addition, the snack bar in the kitchen forms a breakfast nook. Wardrobe type closets are used in bedrooms and added storage space is found in the coat closets for both entrances, towel cabinet in the bathroom, two closets and linen cabinet in the hall and a convenient kitchen closet. A lavatory is placed in the rear entry. Exterior finish is siding and asphalt shingles. There is a full basement with laundry and heating plant. Overall dimensions are 44 feet by 38 feet. Floor area is 1,402 square feet. The cubage is 27,339 cubic feet.

As I See It

INDIAN TRIP WINDUP

DELHI, INDIA.—Now comes pack-up time. Tomorrow I take plane for Israel — first stop-off point on the Canada-ward trip.

The time has come to tie up the many threads that go to make up the story of my first visit to India, and how it looked to me in the year 1951.

First of all, I feel even more sure than before I came here that this great land is destined to be the pivot for all Asia.

As India goes, so eventually will go all Southern Asia, and probably three-quarters of Africa as well. The winning of independence by India has already had a profound effect, for example, in Burma and Indonesia. Now, too, the dynamic waves are pulsing out from India to the West as well as East. The whole Arabic and Moslem world is agog with agitation for transformation of the remaining colonialisms into free, self-governing countries. Will France, like Britain, see the need in time?

BUT INDIA CAN ONLY CONTINUE to play a liberating and peace-making role if she succeeds in surviving as a free democracy at home.

It may come as a surprise to many of my readers at home as it was to me that there is a widespread pessimism within India itself as to India's ability to come through the critical period of the next few years. From many intelligent people, including Indian intellectuals as well as some foreigners, one hears such statements as "India is the next China."

In various ways, others say much the same thing, namely, that India is in a transition period now, and that things will probably go not too badly so long as Mr. Nehru heads the government, but after that—what?

Nobody feels sure of the answer to that last "what," but many people have, and express, a feeling of great doubt.

FRANKLY, MY OWN CONCLUSIONS, for what they are worth do not tally with those of the many pessimists. I think the Indian intellectuals underestimate the really great achievements of this new nation, to date. I think they also underestimate the vitality of the roots of democracy which have already been well-planted in this ancient but reborn land.

IN A SPECIAL ARTICLE written for The Statesman, one of India's very best newspapers, I wrote:

"India has only a certain length of time to deliver a thorough-going land ownership program. But if she succeeds in completing this, say as effectively throughout the whole vast land as has been done in Kashmir, then India has nothing too greatly to fear from Communism, internal or external."

THE ABOVE IS REALLY THE only important thing I have time or space now to say about democracy in India, in 1951 and after.

How to produce enough food to feed all her people is still India's Number One problem. How can India even begin to solve that from the ground up, unless she bases her new democracy on a land ownership plan as solid and sound as the earth itself?

Where Communism has swept

THE LETTERBOX

DISMISSAL OF MacARTHUR

Editor, Daily News—

Would any of the great and successful military leaders of ancient times have been guilty of committing such great blunders as Mr. Churchill and President Roosevelt in the last war—how they were outsmarted by Stalin, fooled and frightened into agreements that they should have known would lead to trouble later.

They had no excuse. They knew he was a mass murderer and aggressor. They had seen how he had treated Finland, and they did not protest when he enslaved the Baltic States. They choose to ignore the fact that Stalin had 10,000 young Polish officers, prisoners of war shot to death, contrary to all international laws of war. They made an agreement with Stalin so the Allied forces in Berlin could have no corridor for transport of supplies, so an airlift, costing millions of dollars and many lives, had to be used.

The terrible plight of the Polish General Bor in Warsaw, where the Russian army easily could have relieved him also to victory, in Russia in 1917, and again in China 30 odd years later, "the land for the peasants" was always the cry which swept like a flood across those lands.

There is no necessary or good or right thing that Communism has done or can do by violence or police state techniques which democracy cannot also do better by free will and humane methods—if democracy has the vision to see the need and the will to fill it.

I THINK THAT INDIA'S prime minister has both the vision and the will.

For what it is worth, my prediction is that India will not go the Red road of Russia and China, but on the contrary will become a great bastion of growing strength for genuine democracy.

True, the democratic baby in India is still creeping and can't even walk upright yet. But unless my guess is all wrong, this now creeping baby will soon become a giant among the democracies of all the world. If we are smart, even in our own interest, we will help the baby as it grows up.

failed to draw any protest from those two.

When President Truman and Mr. Attlee appeared on the scene they were also at the mercy of the superior intellect of the Beast of Moscow.

Now President Truman has dismissed General MacArthur, one of the greatest soldiers that ever lived, and is being applauded by Mr. Attlee and Winston Churchill. The three of them have not the least idea how to successfully lead an army of soldiers, and they evidently are not going to leave it to a man who, all his life, has proved his ability in his chosen profession. Although they should know by now that an agreement signed by Communist gangsters is not worth the paper it is written on.

They now most likely are ready to trade the Island of Formosa and the millions of lives of Nationalist Chinese soldiers for perhaps two years of peace for Hong Kong. They ought to know that, as soon as the UN soldiers have left Korea, the aggressors will sweep over South Korea in less than a month's time and the UN soldiers will have died in vain. When the Communists have overrun Korea, Japan will have to be armed in order to stop the Russians and in time all the fighting and dying in the Pacific will count for nothing.

Does Mr. Attlee think the UN will keep together after Korea is lost? Or that people around the world will send their sons for the purpose to retake the British trading concession (Hong Kong) away from the Communists? He ought to know the only way to keep it is helping the Nationalists to regain power and defeat the Communists.

It is evident the Chinese Communists are very sure that the UN does not dare to use the A bomb on their ammunition plants—something Stalin must

Saturday Sermon

THE PENITENT THIEF

(By REV. FRED ANTROBUS, First Baptist Church)

"Lord remember me . . . This day thou shalt be with Me in Paradise."—Luke 23:42, 43.

It is not said by whose arrangement it was that Jesus was hanged on the Cross between the two thieves but the likelihood is that there was malice in it. Yet there was a divine purpose behind this wrath of man. Again and again, we notice, in these last scenes of our Lord's life upon earth that every little action, every random word aimed at Jesus for the purpose of injuring and dishonoring Him, so turned, instead, to honor that in our eyes, as we look back now, it shines on Him like a great light.

There was that about Christ at this time which transmuted the very insults hurled at Him into honors and charged even the incidents of His crucifixion which were most trivial in themselves with unspeakable meaning. For example, the crown of thorns, the purple robe, the inscription on the Cross, the savage cries of the passers-by, and other similar incidents, full of malice at the time, are now memories treasured by all who love the Saviour.

So His position between the thieves was ordained by God as well as by men. And it was His right position. Especially the religious leaders, His enemies, had nicknamed Him long before, "a friend of publicans and sinners;" and now, by crucifying Him between the thieves, they put the same idea into action. That nickname has become a title of everlasting honor for Him and so has this insulting deed.

In one place, Paul sums up Christianity in two things—repentance towards God, and faith in the Lord Jesus Christ. We see both of these in the penitent thief's words. His repentance towards God is seen in his words to the other thief: "Dost thou not fear God?" God was near now and in the light of God he saw his own sinfulness and confessed it audibly thus, separated himself from it, and his companion. (Luke 23:40, 41) to the Saviour manifest his faith in the Lord Jesus. They are simple and humble. All he dared to expect was that, when Christ came into His kingdom, He would remember him. But in these words, he recognized the glory of Christ, and expressed trust in Him. How clear was the vision of those eyes which could thus see in death life, in ruin majesty, in shame glory, in defeat victory? Did ever the new birth take place in so strange a cradle.

Not less directly do His words

The thief, in the most solemn circumstances, spoke to Jesus as to a King and prayed to Him as to a God. And how did He respond? Did He say: "Pray not to Me; I am only a man like yourself, and I know as little of the unknown country into which we are both about to enter as you do?" This is what He ought to have answered if He was really no more than some make Him out to be, a mere man. But He accepted the homage of His petitioner. He spoke of the unseen world as of a place He was very familiar with. He gave to understand that He possessed as much influence there, as he, the thief, attributed to Him.

Yes, this great sinner laid on

Mr. Masters opened the six of spades and Mr. Champion played the queen. Mr. Abel automatically pulled out the king of spades and almost—but not quite—played it.

He caught himself in time, put the card back in his hand and started counting. If he won the first trick he would be left with the jack-four of spades. And if Mr. Champion got in, a lead through that holding would probably enable the opponents to take enough tricks to defeat the contract.

Mr. Abel tried to count nine tricks without letting Mr. Champion in. If he could successfully finesse the queen of hearts that would be two heart tricks, plus the original spade winner, plus four diamonds and the ace of clubs. Eight tricks—one short of contract. No good.

There was no getting around it, the club finesse had to be tried. But Mr. Abel gave himself an extra chance. He made the good play of ducking the first spade lead and permitting Mr. Champion's queen to win. Mr. Champion returned the nine of spade. Mr. Abel played the jack and Mr. Masters won the ace. He led another spade, which the king in the closed hand won.

Now Mr. Abel took the club finesse and lost to the king. But by reason of the hold-up play at trick one, Mr. Champion had no spade to lead at this point. He did the best he could, firing back a heart. But Mr. Abel went right up with the ace and ran his nine tricks.

Mr. Abel was rather proud of himself. "I looked good on that one, didn't I?" he said to no one in particular.

"No," said Mr. Champion, who sometimes gets irritated when a good play is made against him. Mr. Abel was nettled. "Well, how would you have played it?" he asked sharply. "Faster," replied Mr. Champion.

Presbyterian LA Spring Sale

Brightly adorned with daffodils, First Presbyterian Church Hall was the centre of the successful spring sale of the Ladies' Aid Thursday afternoon.

The sale was jointly convened by Mrs. Duncan McRae and Mrs. Martin Erickson. Mrs. E. A. Wright and Mrs. William Bremner, president of the auxiliary, welcomed the guests.

Pouring were Mrs. C. A. Berner, Mrs. J. A. McRae, Mrs. Cuthill and Mrs. L. C. Eby. On the kitchen committee were Mrs. C. G. Ham, Mrs. J. McLeod and Mrs. A. F. Davidson.

Servitors were Mrs. Robert Eby, Mrs. White, Mrs. J. G. McLeod, Mrs. Martin. In charge of stalls were: Home Cooking—Mrs. J. Hobman, Mrs. W. W. Bowes, Mrs. S. J. Hunter, Mrs. Duncan Black. White Elephant—Mrs. T. W. Brown and Mrs. Nell McLean. Aprons—Mrs. George Mitchell and Mrs. Syd. Elkins. Mrs. H. C. Halliday was in charge of greeting cards and Mrs. James Simpson was cashier.

TWO PLANS
Two lines of thought were expressed regarding the type of building which would satisfy Prince Rupert.
Ald. T. B. Black, with several supporters, voiced opinion that units, similar in construction to the "war-time houses" would be welcomed here, with provision that such units could be later purchased by tenants and remodeled for permanent housing.

Mr. Pickersgill did not look favorably on "cheap housing."
Mr. Thom said people didn't want "shells" to live in. They wanted homes, where they could feel at home.
"Houses like the war-time units is just what the fishermen don't want," he emphasized. "That is one reason why people don't like to live here."

Prince Rupert was far enough along the way of becoming a town of shacks, he inferred.
REQUIREMENTS

If an agreement for the housing project were entered into, Mr. Brown said the city would have to consider the following:

1. Purchase price of lots—this would have to be agreeable to the three levels of government.
2. Installation of services—sewers, water and roads. City should consider doing the work.
3. Method of computing cost to install services—the provincial government would supply capital for expenditure.
4. Taxation, agreement—taxes at the going mill rate would revert to the government until service installations were paid for.
5. A local "screening" authority—to give consideration to persons eligible for housing.
6. Share on a 50-50 basis any operating losses, should they accrue.

Mr. Brown gave this information to forestall any delay should the housing program come to fruition, he said.

Fishing Derby Causes Stir

Active Week-end Expected

Launching of Prince Rupert's first fishing derby created quite a stir among local sportsmen. At that is how veteran anglers of this area view the situation and they are hoping it is a major step in making this sport the publicity it deserves.

The Rod and Gun Association, sponsoring the steelhead derby, hopes this event will increase membership and interest of the public "in their own back."

It is only with a substantial membership to back us that we can fight effectively for our rights and privileges of sportsmen. Norman Christensen, president, said in reviewing the progress of the derby since it opened on Friday.

"I guess the derby was slow getting started because it's a new idea here but it really is going as though it is going over now." Christensen, with the rest of the executive, is especially happy in the way local merchants are supporting the steelhead derby.

"They are only too glad to help us with prizes and publicity."

Six prizes in all will be offered, he said, with a special prize for the heaviest fish weighed in by junior members. But everyone can get in on the winning end, because of the lucky draw to be held at the close of the derby.

The Rod and Gun Club's prize is $25 in merchandise; merchants have contributed about $75 in tackle. The Daily News, co-sponsoring the derby, will present a Steelhead Trophy when the contest closes. Reports on fishing conditions indicate Cloyah River is the best so far. Five fish from there have been weighed in at Harold Thom's, 1114 Tenth Avenue East, official derby judge, and many more are reported to have been taken in Cloyah by non-entries in the derby.

Heaviest fish, 13 pounds, four-ounces, was weighed in by Robert Armstrong.

"With this kind of weather I should be pretty busy Sunday," said Mr. Thom who has his scales ready for tomorrow's entries.

B.C. Seeking War Powers

VICTORIA (CP)—The provincial government wants emergency powers at its fingertips in the event of war.

Provincial Secretary W. T. Straith yesterday introduced a Civil Defence Act outlining steps the government considers necessary should British Columbia be endangered by war or sabotage.

The act would authorize the provincial civil defence co-ordinator to conscript assistance of physically fit persons between 18 and 60. There would be few exemptions.

The co-ordinator would also be able to seize property under the act. The government may survey industries, resources and facilities within the province necessary to carry out civil defence and institute training and public information programs.

Bo-Me-Hi Track Meet

Penoff, Rodd Tait, Carl Watson, George Williamson, William Blackaby, Mel Pauson, Fred Christensen, Henry Blackaby, William Becker, Derriek Letourneau, Paul Antrobus and Keith Young.

An exhibition run was given by members of the club who, with their instructor, have been sprinting around the court house for the past weeks. The relay team, in top athletic form, ran out the 440-yard dash in one minute, 26 seconds.

Only five seconds behind them was the Senior Boys relay with the team of R. Davidson, R. Pederson, D. Prevost, B. Garrod and L. MacLean coming first.

Inspector of School G. Graham, who attended the field day, spoke appreciatively of the interest being shown by the students in sport and felt that, with more training, keen competition could be expected.

PRIZES AWARDED
Prizes and top points were given out in a dance that followed the sports day in the Armory last night.

From the sale of 25 cases of soft drinks and 500 hot-dogs as well as a small gate, well over $100 was realized towards the expenses of the track team's visit to Ketchikan.

Unofficial results of the events contested by classes from the junior to senior grades were:

Tug Boats Play Vital Role in Coast Industry

Tug boats play a vital part in keeping the machinery of industry moving, chugging up and down the coast 24 hours a day. Some are powerful seagoing vessels; other are just "little toots." Many of them are small and squat, while some are streamlined and even stately in appearance. But they're all essential, whether they operate within the harbor confines or range far out to sea on various missions. Without them no logs would be moved from camp to mill, there would be no help for deep-sea ships in need of a tow at sea, no sand and gravel would be shifted from pits and quarries to construction sites.

The British Columbia Tugboat Owners' Association says there are 265 tugs on the coast, most of them equipped with radio-telephone and some of them ranging up to 1800 horsepower.

More than 200 are fitted with diesel engines while others rely on steam. The latter, good workers in their day, still do a man-sized job.

The 52 operators in the tugboat industry own equipment valued at more than $17,000,000. More than 2000 men in the tug boat fleets have an annual payroll in excess of $5,000,000.

A report just released gives an idea of the work the tug boats accomplish in a year: 1,250,000 tons of sand and gravel moved by scow; 175,000 tons of cement; 300,000 tons of coal; 216,000 tons of pulp and paper; 150,000 tons of rock; 300,000 tons of lime; 750,000 tons of sawdust and pulp chips; 500,000 tons of oil and petroleum products; and the big item, logs, well in excess of three billion board feet.

In addition, the tugs moved more than 2,000,000 tons of "general" cargo.

These are the undramatic records of a vital industry which generally comes to public notice only by a gruelling mercy mission or a tussle with the elements on the broad Pacific. The little ships are hard workers.

SHIP'S FIRE PROTECTION

As Captain William McCombe says, "if you are wondering why your fares and freight have gone up, you'll see now!"

He was explaining the $70,000 fire protection system installed on the Union steamer Coquitlam under new federal regulations. Fresh from overhauling in Van-cover, the Coquitlam started her Prince Rupert-Queen Charlotte Islands run yesterday, after service in the south for the past few weeks.

Her sister ship, the Camosun, left service this week for her spell in drydock before summer. "There are bells everywhere—all we need now, and we intend to get it soon, is a connection by phone directly with the Prince Rupert fire department," said Capt. McCombe jocularly.

He explained that three patrolmen were required aboard the Coquitlam in connection with the new sprinkler fire alarm system. The patrolmen keep four-hour watches. This means, Capt. McCombe explained, that every hour of the day there is a watchman making the rounds, covering every part of the ship, guarding against fire.

"With the new fire alarm system we are now able to corner a fire should one occur," said Capt. McCombe, who from his bridge has a system of lights that immediately indicate the 15 fire zones throughout the ship. Everywhere one looks a small sprinkler may be seen in passageways, the dining saloon or even over the skipper's bunk. "Should a fire occur in any part of the ship, as soon as the flames reached one of these sprinklers a piece of metal melts, turning the water on," Capt. McCombe said. There is a constant pressure of 40 pounds in all sprinklers and hoses.

Also installed on the ship are fire doors to shut off certain sections. For instance, leading from the galley to the dining room are two iron doors that will automatically slam shut when the small piece of metal holding them is melted by heat.

Arriving from the south aboard the steamer Coquitlam yesterday were Don Ritchie, Mr. and Mrs. A. Storey and children, E. Christensen, Mr. and Mrs. McCaskell, J. C. Barbour, M. Hrehorckek, H. Mikkelsen, N. Rogers, C. Vance, and Mrs. F. J. Diamond.

Beam trawlers are getting active again in the flats area of Hecate Straits outside of Squamish with an increasing number of boats now out. Current prices are 4½¢ for lemon sole and 3½¢ for gray cod.

have assured them. I am willing to bet Mr. Stalin is laughing now that General MacArthur is dismissed, but it might just so happen that the officers he has trained are capable of taking over where he left off, and that he might convince the home office that it would not do to tie army commanders down to "the Grand Strategy" of Haberdashers like President Truman who even was a failure as such; or Winston Churchill, who never commanded an army in all his long life, nor Mr. Attlee, a lawyer that would be sure to pettifog the whole business. Meanwhile the Communists are making ammunition and training recruits in safety, to kill the UN soldiers. And a couple of A-bombs placed just right might have stopped the conflict months ago, as it did with the Japanese who surely are as tough as they come.

PAPA, I JUST HEARD MAMA MENTION SPRING HOUSE CLEANING

OH, NO!

WE HATE IT, TOO, POP

IT MEANS COLD MEALS

FURNITURE PILED UP IN THE MIDDLE OF THE ROOM - EVERYTHING IN CONFUSION AND CHAOS

IT GOES ON FOR DAYS AND DAYS

I'VE GOT IT! I'LL CALL IN A CREW OF PROFESSIONAL HOUSE CLEANERS TO DO THE JOB IN A JIFFY

MAMA WOULDN'T PERMIT THAT - SHE LIKES TO DO IT, HERSELF

YOU GET MAMA OUT OF THE HOUSE FOR THE DAY - AND LEAVE THE REST TO ME

OKAY, POP

WE'RE TAKING MAMA TO THE ZOO AND THE MOVIES

WE'LL EAT OUT, TOO

SURE, STAY LATE AND HAVE A GOOD TIME

YOU SENT FOR US

OH, BOY - LOOK AT THE EQUIPMENT

WHATEVER THIS COSTS, IT'LL BE WORTH IT

IT'LL COST YOU FORTY DOLLARS

LOOK DEAR THE HOUSE IS SPOTLESS FROM TOP TO BOTTOM

I'M GLAD YOU NOTICED IT

I KNOW HOW YOU ALL HATE SPRING CLEANING, SO I'VE BEEN DOING IT A LITTLE AT A TIME FOR THE PAST THREE WEEKS WITHOUT TELLING YOU - I FINISHED YESTERDAY
