Dirty Names And Cream Puff Blows

American Senators Jostling Joust

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Three aroused senators yesterday waged a war of words over General Douglas MacArthur's policies yesterday with a shoving match in front of a radio recording studio.

Senator Homer Capehart (Republican, Indiana), heavily-built man of 53 and backer of MacArthur, told reporters he seized Senator Hubert Humphrey (Democrat, Minnesota) after Humphrey had called him "a very dirty name."

Then, Capehart said, Senator Herbert Lehman (Democrat, Liberal, New York) "jumped me from the back and I threw him back into the studio."

Senator Herman Welker (Republican, Idaho), who, with Senator Robert Taft (Republican, Ohio), witnessed the brief scuffle, said it was "a kind of cream-puff business."

Senator Capehart said, "I was paid yesterday by the chief of the National Railways, as chairman of the union-management committee. He has held the post for the last nine years. I was presented with a check for the committee of union which represents the trades in the company's roundhouses. The president of System No. 11, A.F. of L., was marked by a harmony, good will and Mr. Cappelletto said, "We are in the fact that we are left with our meetings of bitterness."

He replied that he had from his contacts with the spirit of co-operation had made it possible to solve the problems that an atmosphere of mutual understanding.

RUNNING TRIALS—Imperial Leduc, world's largest, fresh-water tanker, has completed her running trials in Georgian Bay. After underwater inspection, the 18,500-ton vessel will sail for Superior, Wis., to take on her first load of oil for delivery to the refinery at Sarnia, Ont. The tanker is expected to make a five-day round trip between the two ports. With a capacity of 115,000 barrels of oil (4,025,000 gallons), she is expected to carry about 175,000,000 gallons each season. (CP PHOTO)

Try to Get Radiologist

Provincial government is prepared to contribute $3600 to $4000 toward the establishment of a radiologist at the Prince Rupert General Hospital, Hon. A. D. Turnbull, minister of health and welfare, advised the hospital board last night.

This, however, would not be sufficient to meet the cost of a full time radiologist here, so the minister suggested the possibility of arranging part time service.

Otherwise, the board would be faced with the necessity of raising the balance.

The Prince Rupert Medical Association suggested that, as one means of accumulating money for this purpose, the hospital and medical association enter into an arrangement whereby the doctors would be allowed 30 per cent of X-ray fees as an allowance for out-patient plate reading. This doctors' fund would be earmarked for radiology purposes. Such an arrangement, having the blessing of the doctors, would also facilitate collections by the hospital from the Medical Service Association cases.

Road Good, Weather Fine, Motorists are Heading Out

Prince Rupert should have its first exodus of motorists interior-bound this week-end. In fact, with the highway now officially opening for the season and road reports favorable for driving between here and Terrace, the movement has already started this warm and sunny afternoon.

Motorists will find at least two-thirds of the road between here and Terrace newly graded and in good shape. Grading is still to be carried out between Salvo and Shames, however, and it may be next Wednesday before that part of the road is equally good.

The bottom of the snowslide outside Kwinita tunnel has been cleared off the highway but there is still a good deal of overhanging snow and the possibility of a blockade still exists. Divisional Engineer L. E. Smith, back yesterday from a trip over the highway, sounded a note of warning for motorists to be watchful at that point.

But service will be resumed between the city and Terrace with the official opening of the road tomorrow.

Third of Million Theft

CHAMBERMAID IS ACCUSED

NEW YORK (CP)—A $31-a-week chambermaid was arrested today by detectives who said she stole $350,000 worth of jewels from guests in 35 hotels.

Mrs. Julia Arbotofsky, aged 44, is accused of rifling rooms over a 2½-year period. She was charged with grand larceny and held in $2500 bail.

Police say the woman has admitted the thefts and that they found $30,000 worth of jewelry and 233 pawn tickets in her apartment.

Re-Forming Sea Cadets

A Sea Cadet committee of five was elected by the Navy League of Canada, Prince Rupert branch at a meeting held in H.M.C.S. Chatham last night.

The committee, under president of the local Navy League branch S. P. Woodside, consists of Mrs. Stan. Saville, N. A. Beketov, Capt. William Koughan, Capt. A. N. Davidson and Orme Stuart.

The re-formation of the Capt. Cook Sea Cadet Corp was officially decided upon.

"The committee has decided that enough applicants have been received to apply for the complement of a minesweeper," said President Woodside. He explained that the Sea Cadets classify themselves by the strengths of naval warships. Already 40 applicants from Prince Rupert boys have been received, he said.

"There is a complement of 100 on a mine-sweeper," said Mr. Woodside, who expects the present applicants to bring in additional boys to make up the full strength. Smallest classification is a corvette.

At the conclusion of the meeting Arthur Ogilvie was interviewed as a possible commanding officer.

Plans for raising funds for operation of the Sea Cadet Corps were discussed. It was suggested by Mr. Woodside that a public cruiser H.M.C.S. Ontario calls at Prince Rupert early in June.

Hospital Finances

Further Sources of Aid Being Sought—Board and Council

The financial dilemma of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, which is stymieing an urgent expansion program, including the replacement of the hospital boilers which are already in a state of alarming decrepitude, came up briefly towards the end of a long hospital board meeting last night.

As a possible means of obtaining further financial assistance, suggestion was made by Dr. L. M. Greene that important industrial concerns, enjoying the benefit of immediate hospitalization facilities but not contributing directly to city taxation, be approached. The board agreed.

The board endorsed a letter which had appeared in the Daily News criticizing the city council for its attitude with respect to the board's request for financial assistance to the extent of $50,000. The motion was proposed by Earl Gordon and seconded by Ald. Harold Whalen, the city council's representative on the hospital board. Ald. Whalen's seconding did not go unnoticed for he received an especial "Thank You" from the chairman, C. G. Ham.

D. C. Stevenson, administrator, was also thanked for his able address before the Prince Rupert Rotary Club this week on hospital matters. "It was excellent publicity," commented the chairman.

With financial problems becoming increasingly irksome, the president is to at once set up a finance committee of the board also a special continuing committee on the hospital five-year expansion plan including the most efficient use of the two new floors it is proposed to open up in the former military hospital section.

LOCAL BOY WINS

Chuck Place Top Candidate For B.C. Golden Boy Boxer

VANCOUVER — A Prince Rupert fighter emerged last night as top candidate for the Golden Boy award as the two-day British Columbia Golden Gloves tournament opened here.

Charlie Place clowning his way to an easy decision over Goldbridge's Fred Fouty in a lightweight bout.

Place, without a robe or a mouthpiece, was coached by Royal Canadian Mounted Police Officer Joe Ward.

The tournament, in which 62 boxers are participating, concludes tonight.

(Chuck Place is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rance Place, 328 Sherbrook Avenue, and is employed by Mitchell & Currie.)

This Year's Faces

MANY OF THE faces one sees this year appear amazingly unconcerned. This unconcern is fine if it means Canadians are facing possibilities of danger but are free from panic. But looking into this year's faces, one suspects the unconcern of many is made up also of a good deal of ignorance.

It is difficult to be so ignorant of the present danger that one can act as a brake on government in the preparations that it should be making in this war. But some people are capable of achieving very difficult things, especially if they are wrong things.

Formerly it was natural that we should be ignorant. When, for a century and a half, Canadians were French, it was natural to put responsibility over on faraway France. And in the succeeding like period we naturally blamed Britain. It is harder now to blame anyone else—not even the United States.

We know the United States too well to believe they can do better than we. The converse is what we actually believe, admitting American superiority mainly only in quantity. Yet the habit of colonialism is so persistent that in this year many people on Third Avenue, Granville, Jasper, Portage, Yonge and St. Catherine look unconcerned, as though they thought somebody else would look after them.

Hazards of Spring

WITH SPRING either here or just around the corner, one's fancy turns lightly, according to age, sex, and temperament, to thoughts of marbles, baseball, gardening, love or spring cleaning. These are all good things in their way, gardening being perhaps the least hazardous. Gardening keeps one around the house and off the crowded highways. At the worst, it can lead to discomfort in the back and joints; but essentially it's a leisurely occupation, not tempting the middle-aged to over-exertion.

On the other hand, one should not avoid the other pleasures of spring (except, possibly, spring cleaning) simply because of the hazards. For spring is the season of recklessness, and too much caution will spoil its enjoyment.

The chances are that common sense will enable most persons to avoid the hazards of spring as they avoid those of the other seasons.

Considering the after-effects, the greatest hazard of spring is to be encountered along the traditional course of the young man's fancy. But there it is useless to counsel caution or common sense.

Scripture Passage for Today

Convincing Themselves Their New Shoes Are Real

These two Italian youngsters can scarcely believe their own eyes, as they examine two of 800,000 pairs of shoes made and distributed in Italy through a project sponsored by the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund. Scenes like this one will soon be repeated again and again in the south Italian commune of Pollica, whose Mayor had reluctantly turned down a UNICEF offer of 50 pairs of shoes, because 300 children had no shoes at all and he hadn't the heart to pick out only 50 lucky ones. Now he doesn't have to make the choice, because a manufacturer in the United States, reading of his dilemma, telephoned UNICEF and offered to ship 250 pairs of shoes free for all of Pollica's neediest children.

As I See It

MP'S IN JERUSALEM
TEL AVIV, Israel.

Now that my first look at Israel is over, I hardly know where to begin to tell the story. Naturally every Christian wants to visit the holy places, and I was no exception. But there are not many of the holiest Christian places that one can visit around Jerusalem — from the Israeli side.

But the view from the top of the YMCA tower in New Jerusalem must be, to millions, what it surely was to me, not only one of the finest views in all the world, but surely the most moving. Here you can look on the very core of a land that is literally reeking with history — sacred and secular. Here is the land of David, Solomon, Boaz, and all the other names famous to and revered by Hebrew, Christian and Moslems—Teacher from Galilee reached the climax of his work.

Here, too, you get sharp proof of the fact that "the world do move." For any good book of history will tell you that in the Valley of the Gheenna the heathen tribes used to sacrifice human beings in their religious rites.

BUT I WAS INTERESTED in the Israel of today and tomorrow, more than in that of two or more thousands of years ago. So I went around to the parliament, or Knesset. It was interesting to compare it with our own parliamentary bodies in the West.

The main difference is that the members of the government, or cabinet sit around a big square table in the centre of the hall. The remainder of the MP's sit around on three sides of the centre square.

The fourth side is for the Speaker (or presiding officer). Beside him is the rostrum — from which all speeches are made.

THE ISRAELI PARLIAMENT has one good idea—which seems to me miles ahead of what we have in Canada and U.S.A. They budget their time. That is, when any important business comes up, the House decides in advance how much time they are going to allot to it. Suppose they say two days, or two weeks. Then they divide up the time between those who signify they want to speak. If there are too many just to leave things to common sense and common courtesy, they divide up the time between the parties, much as we do on our CBC political broadcasts in Canada—that is, roughly, in proportion to strength in Parliament.

When a speaker's time is nearly up, the green light goes off and the yellow light comes on. When the time is up, the red light tells Mr. Long Wind to shut up—or else!

One other good feature: As at UN, they give a running translation of the Hebrew speeches into Arabic. As there are just three Arab MP's now, out of 120, that seems to me to show that the Jewish majority is trying hard to play fair. Also that they expect a future, real partnership.

AMONG THE MP'S I MET was the Mayor of Tel Aviv, who is one of the religious bloc. Also a cabinet minister—Dov Joseph. Dov is whimsically called by some "the Stafford Cripps of Israel," for he is the tough boy of the "tighten your belts" school. He is the only former Canadian citizen now in the Israeli government. He laughed when he told me that he was a class-mate at McGill of our own Honorables — Abbott and Claxton.

I SHALL HAVE MORE TO SAY later about present politics in Israel. Just now, I want to report that they seemed to be bucking right into the job.

Moreover, the fact that they are in a modest little make-shift building struck me as fine. For my observation is that when governments, or churches, or political parties, or trade unions really have their feet in the earth, when their material wealth, or lack of it, keeps them close to the earth.

IN JERUSALEM, AMONGST the many fine folks I met, was the Toronto lawyer, Mr. Friedgut. He represents all the organized Canadian Jewish activities in Israel. I had a grand evening with the family—they being originally from Regina, for which I have a very warm spot. Like most of the others I met, including the Hon. Mr. Joseph, Mr. Friedgut has a fine (British-Canadian) war record.

Saturday Sermon

WHY PROCRASTINATE?

(Pastor C. Fawcett, Full Gospel Tabernacle)

For if by one man's offence death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ. Therefore, as by the offence of one judgment came upon all men to condemnation; even so by the righteousness of one the free gift came upon all men unto justification in life. For as by one man's disobedience many were made sinners so, by the obedience of one, shall many be made righteous. Moreover the law entered that the offence might abound. But where sin abounded, grace did much more abound: that as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness unto eternal life by Jesus our Lord.—(Rom. 5:17-21.)

There is something so wonderful about the Word of God which signifies so clearly to us that, where sin has amassed such a great and awful record, God's grace was greater than sin. There is a sacred song which expresses this truth:

"Grace, grace, God's grace—
Grace that is greater than all our sins."

If you were to view the sins of man through the eyes of God, I am sure that you would feel that it was simply one awful shadow of blackness covering everything. Sin is a hideous thing. But, praise God, His Grace is greater than all our sin.

In the above Scripture there are three references to reigning powers. First of all, I draw your attention to the reign of sin. "Why," you say, "a reign indicates the sovereignty of a king." Yes that is true and sin has become the king, or ruler of the hearts and lives of all mankind, and were it not for the GRACE of God, sin would dominate so entirely and exert such tyranny over men that they should never be able to vanquish that enemy that keeps them bound in a strait jacket, that keeps them under the heel of his horrible domination.

Many people today are so bound by sin that, try as they may, they cannot free themselves from it. I remember when I was still under its bondage how I would try and break its hold on me. I would vow, I would bet, struggle and strive to break and get rid of that which bound me, but to no avail. It is an awful thing to realize such is one's case.

In the twenty-first verse we read: "That as sin hath reigned unto death, even so might grace reign through righteousness." Note the phrase: "That as sin hath reigned unto death." The ultimate purpose of sin is to destroy all the creation of God and so utterly ruin it that men shall never have an opportunity to be saved. But God has over-ruled Satan's plan in that He has provided a way of escape to them that believe. (John 1:12,13.) "But as many as received Him, to them gave He the power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on His name. — Which were born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of the man, but of God." This is the Grace of God. I thank God that there is a REIGN OF GRACE. This is the second reigning power mentioned in the portion of scripture used for our text. It rejoices to be able to say that GRACE is abounding toward us, grace that is greater than all our sins. We have salvation only through the grace of God. We read in Romans 3:24 Being justified freely by His grace through the redemption that is in Christ Jesus. We have nothing we can exchange for salvation. We have nothing to offer God. We have no argument that God should give us another chance, another opportunity to prove ourselves and make good. It is not within the power of man to direct his steps in righteousness, for man's heart is set to do evil. But grace, the unmerited favor of God, reaches down and picks up the unrighteous, the unworthy, the undeserving and draws them to Himself in love.

The reign of Grace is so glorious that it completely obliterates every trace of sin. It is wonderful to realize that the sins of the past are cast into the sea of God's forgetfulness to be remembered against us and no more. And no power in heaven or in earth can discover even a trace of them. Satan will come and try and dig them up again, he will remind you what you used to do and how vile and wicked you were but the man that has been born again clearly express the evil one can turn and face the evil one and declare that he cannot find a trace of his past sin for they are buried in the sea of God's forgetfulness.

The next reigning power that we find in this scripture is the REIGN OF LIFE, the life of Jesus Christ within. The first reign is sin's conquest. The second reign is God's triumph. The third reign is the saints' victory.

I want to bring you one or two verses of Scripture to substantiate what I am saying: "But truly I am full of power by the Spirit of the Lord, and of judgment, and of might, to declare unto Jacob his transgression, and to Israel his sin." In this life of victory there is boldness to tell others that God is able to deliver. It does not matter how deep one may be in sin, our God is able to deliver and we have power to tell it and prove it by our lives. "Which are hid with Christ in God."

There are those who think, and some who fear that once giving their hearts to the Lord Jesus Christ their life will be vile and wicked you were but the man that has been born again clearly express the evil one can turn and face the evil one and declare that he cannot find a trace of his past sin for they are buried in the sea of God's forgetfulness.

Why not accept that which is so freely offered man and woman? But as many as receive the sons of God, even those that believe on His name, they shall not be condemned, but shall have the right to the life everlasting. For action see Rom. 8:1

Orchestra Scores

Symphony Group is Acclaimed

Last night in the Civic Centre auditorium a group of everyday people showed Prince Rupert citizens that not all talent is professional, or comes from Carnegie Hall. A lot of it lives in this city's homes, and in presenting a program of nine major symphonic scores, the Symphony Orchestra proved this is so.

And an audience of 200 classic music-lovers showed their appreciation by waves of applause.

Perhaps the closest 24-member, mixed group came to professional tone was in their presentation of "Valse Triste," by Sibelius. This slow, intensely dramatic composition left most of the atmosphere to be created by the violins, with a strong percussion background swelling towards suspense and the climax.

The "Polonaise Militaire," by Frederic Chopin, a stirring arrangement requiring much precision, gave the orchestra an opportunity to show how well they worked together under the leadership of Peter Lien, conductor.

A highlight of the evening was Mrs. Patricia Wicks and her soprano renditions of "Romance," from "The Desert Song," by Sig-mund Romberg, and "Lo! Hear the Gentle Lark," by Sir Henry R. Bishop.

After the latter presentation, she could not stand off the ovation of the audience which brought her back with an encore. Amid the following applause Marilyn Anderson presented the popular singer with a bouquet of flowers.

Members of the orchestra were Mrs. Aletta Gilker, piano; A. C. Cameron, Mrs. Nellie Anderson, Miss Olga Zabudney, Mrs. Ruth Carr-Harris, T. V. Tattersal and Fred Conrad, first violins; J. L. Lee, Mrs. Marjorie Smith, D. R. Barclay, Ian Dunbar and Robert Jensen, second violins; R. Sahlen, bass; T. A. Johnstone, W. E. Beck and Neil McAra, clarinets; B. F. Sprinkle, saxophone; R. Fulton, trumpet; W. D. McAra, horn; J. Addison, A. G. Brain and David Ball, trombones; F. H. Partridge, tuba, and L. Brain, drums.

The orchestra had been rehearsing once a week since last September. When they play again April 29, at the Civic Centre art display, they will wind up their season until the fall.

Best wishes were sent in a wire from Neville Gerrard and George Brown to Peter Lien and the symphony orchestra before the concert held last night in the Civic Centre. Mr. Gerrard, former conductor of the orchestra, and George Brown, former first trumpeter, are both in Victoria now.

CROSSING THE LINE — The traditional "crossing the line" ceremony was conducted with all the trimmings when the Canadian destroyer Ontario crossed the equator en route to Australia. "Tadpoles" on their first crossing were converted into "shellbacks" at the hands of the "bears," who held court in a tank of water. Lt.-Cmdr. Robert Timbrell of Vancouver is initiated here. Wenther—Cool But "Wonderful"

"This here is one h--- of a wonderful day, isn't it now?" said "Slim" Hewser this morning as Prince Rupert enjoyed the ninth rainless day full of sunshine.

Another comment was from a construction worker, William Deep, who remarked in a city restaurant before breakfast: "wish it would rain for a change."

But Diaby Weather station under B. S. Harris, reports almost freezing temperatures last night. "It was 31.7 by our records last night," said E. A. Pyke at Diaby this morning. He explains that "sunny weather like this brings cold nights."

Diaby's records show the all time low for April at 30.9 degrees last Sunday night.

The Prodical Son

By SYBIL ANDREWS

One of the 40 line prints to be shown at the Civic Centre Arts and Crafts Show which opens on Sunday afternoon, April 29, with the Symphony playing and the Art Club serving tea.

Of the religious prints in Mrs. Andrews' collection this one is Miss Faure's favorite. She says: "The tender pitying feeling of the father is shown wonderfully and the colors are beautiful. I am of the opinion though that the pigs could have been omitted."

Mrs. Andrews' pictures action is beautifully given for the material she has to work in. "Bringing in the Boat" shows no muscles yet there is such a feeling of pushing.

In "Escalator" you can feel the people walking though you see only the feet. I am astonished at the way she can show that in such a few lines.

In answer to a request for more information, Mrs. Andrews tells more about the way she makes her prints. She uses brown battuship linoleum and a steel umbrella rib for a gouge, then cuts about four blocks for each picture. She uses oil paints to spread on the block and Japanese mulberry paper for the translucent effect it gives to the print. When the paper is spread on the block she rubs it hard with the handle of a smooth desert spoon.

She writes: "The actual process is simple but I can assure you that making linocut prints is the finest possible tuition, instruction and discipline anyone can have. The very nature of it, will teach pattern and rhythm and form, and the printing will teach the laws of color as nothing else will—the need for simplification and elimination of all superfluous detail is a basic training—the clear thought needed that three or four blocks should produce all the tones required will teach values."

During the war Mrs. Andrews worked in the shipyards in England laying decks of motor gun boats. Then she came to Canada in 1947 when building was at a standstill in England. She says: "I have been a working artist all my life. I work in oils, water color, color linocut, wood engraving, drypoint, most mediums in fact and have tried my hand at modelling and sculpture which is great fun, and posters which I did for the London Passenger Transport Board."

The color linocuts were handled by a London Gallery and sent all over the world, collections of the prints having been purchased by the Victoria and Albert Museum, London; Leeds Museum, Dublin Museum, Los Angeles Museum and the Art Society of Massachusetts.

Negotiating New Wage Agreement

Negotiations on a new working agreement between the Prince Rupert General Hospital and the Civic Employees' Federal Union covering hospital workers are proceeding.

Consideration of the report of the hospital's negotiating committee took up a good portion of the time at a three-hour meeting of the hospital board last night.

Points still outstanding includes wage scale. The union asks for a $15 increase across the board for all employees concerned. The board's committee has countered with a 10 percent increase or $15 a month—whichever is lower—as being a more equitable formula.

The union is also seeking to have all hospital employees concerned join the union. The board's committee is not agreeable to this proposal.

The union had suggested that a 40-hour week be instituted but the committee is seeking continuation of the 44-hour week in view of current conditions.

The hospital board ratified the stand so far taken by the committee and authorized it to proceed with negotiations.

WATERFRONT - WHIFFS

"Frantic" is Word for Pre-Season Rush Census and Fishing Industry

"Frantic" was the word used by one waterfront official today in describing the preparations for the commencement of the 1951 halibut fishing season which opens May 1, a week from next Tuesday. Regulations governing the fishing for the year were made public this week by the International Fisheries Commission, notable new departure being the mid-season opening for 10 days commencing July 26 of the heretofore underfished areas—one in southern Hecate Straits and the other between Dixon Entrance and Cape Adolph where there is a separate run of halibut which has not been touched for several years.

With clearances for Area No. 3 being available, it is understood, from April 25 and for Area No. 2 from April 27, there will be the usual "free for all" rush of vessels to be on the grounds to sink gear at the moment the season opens.

A committee of the local fishing industry consisting of J. C. Gilker of the B.C. Packers, Harold Thom of Canadian Fishing Co., H. F. Robins of Nelson Bros., Harry Hanson of Edward Lipsett Ltd., Norman Pellis of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association, George Anderson of the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union, Capt. Ole Stegavig of the Canadian Halibut Vessel Owners' Association, and Thomas Parkin of the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union had much to do with the fisheries vocational school which has been set up in Prince Rupert under the sponsorship of the Department of Education and directed by A. M. Hurst, local High School principal. The school has now been in operation for six months with practical men for instruction being supplied by the industry, these including John Carpenter, John Morrison and Clarence Callopy. Seven pupils have been enrolled for the three year course which includes all aspects of the fishing industry, practical, economic, etc. The school, only one of its kind in the country, has been attracting widespread attention and many inquiries have been received.

For the first time in Canada's census-taking history, a detailed study will be launched next June of the Canadian commercial fisherman. And that involves complications. The first is how to define a "commercial" fisherman. For there are those who sometimes combine sport with work and earn a little cash by selling their catch.

After looking at the problem from various angles, the fisheries department decided that for the purposes of the census, a "commercial" fisherman is one who engaged in catching or carrying fish in the period from June, 1950, to May, 1951. He must have fished for at least 15 days or earned at least $100 from fishing. By this definition, those who earned $100 or more in less than 15 days, or who worked for 15 days or more for less than $100, will be included.

Here further complications may arise. A fisherman may know how many days he spent fishing, but he may not know his actual earnings.

To meet this the bureau decided that the census-taker will limit the "number of days fishing" question to four groups: less than 30 days; 30 to 59 days; 60 to 89 days; and 90 days or over. And when it comes to questions about the fisherman's earnings, the census-taker will simply ask whether they were less than $100; between $100 and $999; from $1,000 to $1,999; or $2,000 or more.

Deep-sea fishermen who may intend leaving for the fishing grounds before the census is taken will be told in advance of the information required from them. They can leave with their wives to pass along to the census-taker.

And to square things away, there will be a double check. A complete count will be made at the time of the regular census.

Later the bureau will mail questionnaires to selected fishermen to provide representative samples of the fishermen by income groups, localities, time spent fishing and basis of employment. They will be asked to supply details of vessels and equipment used, kinds of fish taken, operating expenses and other items that form part of the over-all economic pattern of fishing.

The information received will be treated confidentially and it is important. For not only will it become part of the general Canada economic scene, but also will provide the fisheries department with some pertinent data on the fishing business.

It can help the department in deciding, for example, whether a certain segment of the industry needs price support. And, should this support be granted, what influence it will play in the fishing community.

"The assistance given by the board to the fishermen," says the bureau, "and the influence exerted by the department on the development of the industry, can result in maximum benefits only if they are based on accurate and detailed information such as the fisheries census of 1951 is designed to provide."

WHITBY, Yorkshire, England (CP)—Ivor Keenpence was fined $5 ($15) for careless driving after police said he hit a coffin-laden hearse while travelling 40 miles an hour. He was chased by mourners in a taxi.

"He doesn't drink, gamble, or smoke... doesn't flirt with girls... never uses vile language... never borrows money... goes to church every Sunday... remembers his mother on Mother's Day."

Bogart Rips Underworld

A real life story of the underworld brings Humphrey Bogart to the screen in the title role of "The Enforcer" which is being featured at the Totem Theatre next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

The picture is based on an actual series of crimes committed by a band of paid killers operating in a nation-wide network of death. Bogart is the fearless district attorney who, aided by a handful of strong arm officers, traps the leaders who had been hitherto immune from the law through a series of high-up ties.

Outdoor location was found around the city of Los Angeles, covering the residential and shopping districts, the ominous underworld section and outlying neighborhoods.

Comely Patricia Joiner, a newcomer to the screen is the target for the murder ring until Bogart arrives on the scene as the law enforcement officer.

Zero Mostel, New York night club comic, plays the part of a sniveling hoodlum.

MUSWELL Hill, England (CP)—Jealous of the success of a "young wives' club" in this Midsex town, men have decided to start a club for young husbands.
