Communists Would Take Seoul on May Day

Russia is Pushing World to War Brink Truman Asks More for Defence

Old Capital to be Firmly Defended

British Columbia's Situation Involved

Officials of the Co. of Canada today announced an agreement with the government to increase the production of Canadian aluminum between 1952 and the new arrangements. The Ministry of Supply has agreed to the company's plan against unsecured financing notes maturing from January 1, 1951.

Britain will have first an additional 50,000 tons of annual production. This is the first call to the metric tons out of the company's total integrated production capacity which is expected to exceed 5,550,555 metric tons when the $220,000,000 program, announced in 1949, is completed in Quebec and British Columbia.

U.S. Builds Atomic Sub

WASHINGTON, D.C. — A new defence budget which President Truman sent to Congress today contains $29,500,000 for atomic-powered submarine and $218,000,000 for a big aircraft carrier.

The nuclear-powered submarine may be ready in the early summer of 1953.

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—President Truman today sent to Congress a $60,679,414,690 defence budget and said Russia's rulers were pushing the world "to the brink of general war." The huge requested appropriation is for the United States' own military costs and to help arm its allies.

Truman said: "We believe the best path to peace is through building combined defences for a free world sufficiently powerful to insure disaster for the aggressors if they launch a new world war."

Hospital Insurance

Canon Prockter Compares B.C. System With Saskatchewan

Hospital insurance in Saskatchewan compared with British Columbia is a question of ideals Saskatchewan people believed, Rev. Basil S. Prockter said this morning.

After visiting the sickbed of his father-in-law, who is seriously ill in Regina, Canon Prockter returned here Saturday.

While away, Mr. Prockter reports that he heard the feeling of the citizens of Saskatchewan regarding British Columbia's trouble with hospital insurance.

"I suppose it's mostly political," said Mr. Prockter, "but they feel that the British Columbia government was elected on the mandate of free enterprise and said that the government brings free enterprise into the B.C. hospital plan."

"The Saskatchewan people say their government hospital insurance scheme has worked because they feel their ideal is different from ours," Canon Prockter added.

Since returning home, Mr. Prockter has noted with pleasure the lack of winter here, while beyond the mountains traces of snow still remain. During his stay in Regina there were two heavy snowfalls, he said, although now winter is beginning to leave.

Anti-Foreigner—New Premier, Iran, Named

TEHRAN — F. Mohammed Mossadegh, a man who vowed to drive all foreign influence out of Iran and nationalize the country's vast oil wealth, moved into office as Premier today and urged that the country remain calm during the Communist-sparked May Day demonstrations.

Mossadegh is anti-British, anti-American and anti-Russian.

Iranian seizure of a British oil company is virtually assured.

ALUMINUM DEVELOPMENT — Major expansion of Canada's aluminum industry in the undeveloped area 80 miles southeast of Prince Rupert has been announced by Aluminum Company of Canada. Necessary hydro-electric power will be provided by utilizing water in a chain of lakes above Kamano River. The water would be dropped 2,500 feet through a 10-mile tunnel to a powerhouse inside the mountain. Smelting plant and a new town to house the working force will be built near the village of Kitimat. Raw materials will be brought to Kitimat by sea or by railway spur from nearby Terrace. Production will be between 80,000 and 100,000 tons a year. Cost of the first stage of development is estimated at $160,000,000. (CP PHOTO)

Fisheries Office Busy Place

The great preparations for the fishing season, probably the most worked that the department of Fisheries of British Columbia has ever known, is there anything new? Officials raised their voices impatiently.

"Dead," came the retort of Miss Phyllis Batt, who is standing at the counter of the Fisheries office.

"Hour's steady writing of and the filling of in-appropriate forms."

Saturday alone 50 licences were issued, completing the total for the week to 200. Ninety-five of these licences were issued for halibut vessels with 100 and 200 fish traps, and 50 for salmon traps and gillnetters.

Eight passengers and crew of three plunged to their deaths as the big DC-3 plane twisted and turned over on its back, shattering in a field between two thickets.

The plane had been approaching Fort Wayne airport for a landing.

Better Mail For Islands

Weekly Instead of Fortnightly Service Being Given

Mail service on Graham Island of the Queen Charlottes is to be improved as a result of a decision of the Postmaster General's department at Ottawa, which was recommended by E. T. Applewhite, M.P. for Skeena.

Henceforth there will be a weekly service between Port Clements, Queen Charlotte, Skidegate and Skidegate Mission post offices.

The weekly service is afforded by the establishment of one fortnightly mail trip over the road between Queen Charlotte and Port Clements via Skidegate, Skidegate Mission, Tiel and Port Clements post offices and another fortnightly trip between Port Clements and Skidegate via Tiel and Skidegate Mission post offices.

The new service, to go into operation as soon as the necessary arrangements can be made,

Local Hospital Drawing More Now From BCHIS

As a means of affording support against estimated deficit, the rate paid by the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service to the Prince Rupert General Hospital is increased from $8 to $8.67 per patient day, Hospital Administrator D. C. Stevenson has been advised. New rate becomes effective May 1.

The rate for newborn babies remains the same at $4 per day. The co-insurance charge is raised from $2 to $2.50 per day. This increase will affect only patients entering hospital after April 30.

The co-insurance period in which patients must pay this $2.50 is 10 days. It means that no family will have to pay more than $25 in a single year for co-insurance plus premium of $42. Rates for persons not covered by hospital insurance will be $10 per day. It is provided that persons not so covered pay at least 15 per cent higher than the hospital insurance rate.

The upward revision of the per diem payment to the hospital follows a revised budget of hospital estimates for the coming year. It is estimated there will be 31,750 patient days compared with some 18,000 in 1948.

13th Canadian Casualty List

OTTAWA — The thirteenth Canadian casualty list for the war in Korea was issued today. It lists eight wounded and one injured in a battle accident. So far 114 members of the Princess Patricia Canadian Light Infantry have been involved in casualties. No British Columbia men are included in today's list.

will be fed by connecting with the Queen Charlotte Island service of Union Steamships which one goes to Skidegate Inlet and the next week goes to Port Clements in Masset Inlet.

7 Die in Bus Crash

PITTSBURGH — A runaway bus, loaded with church-bound passengers, roared out of control down a long hill yesterday, smashed into a concrete wall and killed seven persons including the driver.

Fifty of approximately 65 persons on board were injured, at least four of them critically.

Police said there were no witnesses and the speed of the bus could not be ascertained.

However, 14-year-old George Stunda, one of the uninjured passengers, said "We must have been going sixty miles just before we hit the wall"

Race Horses Are Burned

COLUMBUS, Ohio — A flash fire levelled a 36-stall barn at Beulah Park race track today, killing 22 thoroughbred racing horses and a stable pony.

Three race horses, several of which were burned, had to be destroyed later.

C. H. Keller, Beulah Park track superintendent, said the fire would not cause postponement of the track's opening day next Saturday.

Police are holding two stable hands for investigation.

Four Drown in Georgian Bay

WAUBAUSHENE, Ont. — Four persons were drowned yesterday near Honey Harbor, a few miles from this Georgian Bay town.

Police said the victims were the husband, son, grandson and brother-in-law of Kathleen Stokes, organizer with the "Happy Gang," well known Canadian radio entertainers.

The victims were identified as Russell Stokes; his son, Frank, aged about five; Douglas Stokes and Frank Stokes, about 60. All were residents of Toronto.

Better Loading Facilities Sought

Necessity of better loading facilities to fishing vessels at local waterfront floats was discussed at a meeting of the executive of the Prince Rupert Liberal Association at the end of the week. Representations are being made to both federal and provincial members as well as the governments.

ISRAEL'S ELECTION

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL.—I have postponed discussion of Israel's election till now, because the people of a country always seem more important to me than their government.

But right now Israel, the mighty midget amongst the nations of the world, is getting ready for a crucial contest. The real issue will be:

Is Israel to have an ordinary, genuine and modern democratic government, where all power derives from the people, and all governments are responsible to the people?

Or is Israel to be ruled on the basis of ancient Mosaic law, as interpreted and applied by organized religion? In other words, is Israel to be ruled, directly or indirectly, by a church?

UP TILL NOW, THERE HAVE been only three or four effective political organizations:

Mapai — the party really in power now. This is a right wing Labor party, about like the Canadian CCF or British Labor Party in outlook.

Mapam — a more leftist Socialist party, which put more emphasis on out-right state socialism than on co-operatives; and which has, at least till recently, favored an international alignment veering more towards Soviet Russia than toward the Western democracies.

The Religious Bloc — itself a loose coalition of four variants of the idea that the church should run the state.

The Communists. I omit other splinter groups, as they are of no real significance and only complicate the picture.

UP TILL RECENTLY, THE Mapai party held office, but without a clear majority. It was dependent on support of the Religious Bloc. Twice the latter precipitated crises, always on the question of religious education.

The Religious Bloc wants to make this compulsory for all school children — that is, to teach its own particular brand of Judaism to all children and to give its own interpretation to all the old sacred writings, etc.

The ruling Mapai party, led by Prime Minister Ben Gurion, want somewhat less, rather than somewhat more, religious teaching in the schools. It wants western-style separation of church and state. Moreover, it wants the parents of the children, and not the church leaders, to have the say as to what "trend" of religious training the children are to get.

I should explain that while all children get some religious instruction, there are four different "trends" of teaching now in use. We might call them, from right to left:

- Ultra-orthodox.
- Orthodox.
- Liberal.
- Ultra-liberal.

In cities and bigger towns, parents choose which school their youngsters will attend. In the rural communities, such as the kibbutz settlements, there is only one trend of teaching in each. But you have your choice in the beginning as to which community you can join. Also, you are free to quit, or change at any time — subject to commonsense conditions.

ON THIS CHURCH-and-state crisis the Mapai and Mapam parties have stood pretty well together. However, the fundamen-

CNR Orders Hopper Cars

MONTREAL—Valued at more than $600,000 an order for 75 seventy-ton longitudinal hopper cars has been placed by Canadian National Railways, E. A. Bromley, vice-president, purchases and stores, announced here.

The new order, he said, raises to more than $86,000,000 the value of rolling stock now on order by the company. It was placed with the National Steel Car Corporation Ltd.

The cars will be designed for shipping coal and other bulk commodities as well as for ballast service. The tight doors of the four hoppers will open longitudinally, allowing ballast to fall on the inside as well as on the outside of the rail.

- They are:
- Prince Rupert—G. W. Abbott, J. G. Anderson, W. J. Ballinger, J. S. Black, William Bremner, Mrs. Julie F. Cavenaile, George Davidson, John Davidson, H. A. Dodd, E. A. Evans, T. M. J. Fortune, G. S. Fowlie, G. H. Fraser, W. T. Gair, R. W. Goodlad, C. J. Hardin, Sam Haudenschild, L. J. Hitchins, Frank Hoelt, R. A. Holkestad, R. S. Hood, William Hutson, Andrew Kaardal, R. H. Larson, W. M. Martin, James Melor, R. B. Mitchell, W. R. McAfee, G. S. McInnes, W. J. McLean, A. B. McNaughton, V. E. Nystad, David Owens, L. M. Rice and Oscar Strom.

tal issue of world-bloc alignments divides them. As in the case of India, Israel is committed morally to the Western camp in the event of a future show-down with Kremlin-rum Communism.

MOST OBSERVERS WITH whom I talked believed that the Communist would lose ground in the coming election. They have just one member—a Halfa Arab—who, however, gets most of his support from Nazareth. They use the Proportional Representation system in Israel, which enables minority parties to elect MP's they could not elect on our Canadian scheme. The Communists, however, are the only party which openly and sincerely opposes Zionism as such. Hence, they get the votes even of rich Arabs who would not dream of voting Communist on domestic issues.

The Communist MP, himself an Arab, is a smart operator who made the Knesset (parliament) sit up and take notice lately when he made his first speech in Hebrew.

'Trigger Happy'

LETTERBOX
COUNCIL REPORTS

Editor, Daily News: Freedom of the press is a laudable slogan and is accepted by many as a bulwark of democracy, a foundation of liberty, a mirror of morality, etc. Like most other things, the privilege conceded was born of necessity in the struggle for freedom. Therefore, Mr. Editor, the privilege enjoyed by the press is to some extent equalized by its responsibilities. In no way can the press be held responsible for the expressed opinions of others but, according to the code of fair play, care should be exercised in reporting council meetings as the public depends solely on the press to keep it informed as to what is going on in civic circles under the direction of their elected representatives who direct the expenditure of the people's money in connection with civic expansion. While the people cannot compel the press to publish matter, neither can they stop them from omitting matter that should be published as is often done which could be described as truth half told, something capable of harm. Another thing that merits protest is the deletion of too much from council reports.

GEORGE B. CASEY, Alderman.

EDITOR'S NOTE—It is not a violation of the freedom or responsibility of the press when an editor deletes matter from a report which might be considered damaging to an individual or which might be of an unduly personal nature. There are also times when the exigencies of time and space make it impossible to print every remark that every alderman says. Ald. Casey is mistaken if he suggests the press cannot be held responsible for publishing the expressed opinions of others. But that is a common misapprehension.

No Sure Winners

EVERYBODY who starts a new business hopes the business will make a profit. This hope is shared by investors, management and employees alike. These people all have a stake in the venture and they all share the risk that goes with it.

The risk is a real one. One measure of its substance is provided in the 1950 edition of Taxation Statistics, published by the Taxation Division of the Department of National Revenue.

Each year a substantial percentage of Canadian companies end up in the red. The year 1948—latest for which figures are available—was no exception. Out of 44,320 taxable companies that filed returns that year, 27,997 reported a profit and 16,323 reported a loss.

In other words, 37 per cent—or more than one out of every three companies—lost money on the year's operations.

The ratio for manufacturers alone was slightly better than average, but there were still a great many losers. Of those reporting, 7217 announced a profit and 2589 declared a loss. This means that, for every 100 manufacturing companies, roughly 74 made money and 26 lost money.

If further evidence is needed, one has only to consider the rising trend of business failures in Canada. A survey made by Dun and Bradstreet of Canada, Ltd., shows that 717 companies, including 159 manufacturers, went out of business altogether in 1950. This is an increase of 20 per cent over the 596 failures recorded in 1949.

These figures serve to emphasize the fact that until somebody invents a surefire formula for success in business—in other words, a guaranteed way of eliminating the risk factor—the profit-and-loss system will continue to involve losses as well as profits.

Aggressive War

THERE is evidence that the Chinese people are restless under Red rule and not enthusiastic about war in Korea, observes Christian Science Monitor, discussing the suggestion of more aggressive war against Communist China. But if American planes begin to rain bombs on their heads (and you can't bomb plants without bombing people), is it not likely they would count it aggressive war and rally behind the Communists?

What a field day Moscow would have throughout Asia with this seeming confirmation of its charges of "imperialist aggression"! The public opinion of Asia could be lost overnight and a political situation created which no military action could solve.

Alcan Cheers Applewhaite

OTTAWA—"The biggest thing that's happened to British Columbia since they built the CPR" is now E. T. Applewhaite, MP for Skeena, described the go-ahead signal for the $550,000,000 project to be built in his riding by the Aluminum Company of Canada.

Puffing on an old pipe and grinning like a man who's just won the Irish Sweep, Applewhaite admitted to a Vancouver Daily Province reporter: "I simply can't talk of anything else."

He is not sure that the first estimate of 50,000 population for the new town which will spring up around the smelter at the head of Kitimat Arm "is not a bit over-optimistic."

He thinks 15,000 to 20,000 a more likely figure for a start—but even at that, Kitimat, as he hopes the town will be called, will still be the biggest in his riding.

And the new town will have to be fed. The rich farmlands of the Skeena and Bulkley valleys, he says, can grow all the food Kitimat will need—even if it does grow to 50,000.

"It's up to the people of the area. The market will be right at their back door."

Mr. Applewhaite believes it will be possible to avoid any serious damage to the salmon

—at an expense of $1,500,000. TERRACE TO BENNETT The first beneficiary of the project, he thinks, will be the Skeena River and farming town of Terrace. He expects Terrace to grow its present 2700 population between 5000 and 6000. Grinning joyously Mr. Applewhaite said: "The whole thing about this is the abundance. It's not like the industry, which is always subject to fires and to the danger of the forests. This is for MAYHEW PLEASED Fisheries Minister Mr. British Columbia's member of the federal cabinet, called Aluminum Company of Canada project in north-western "probably one of the best things that have ever come to the province."

Mr. Mayhew added he convinced the power plant be built without harm to fisheries industry.

Fujiyama, the loftiest and sacred mountain in Japan, is 12,370 feet in height.

Pioneer of City Dies

V. CALDERONE PASSES AWAY
 Vincenzo Calderone, 80-year-old veteran railroad and construction foreman, died at his 400 Seventh Avenue West home Sunday. The end came suddenly as deceased had been up and around as usual as late as Saturday.

A pioneer of the north for over 40 years, Mr. Calderone followed the building of the railway across the Dominion, coming from his native Italy to United States of America in 1900.

Two daughters, Mrs. G. Ciccone and Mrs. D. Santurbane, and a son, Fred Calderone of Prince Rupert, with another daughter, Mrs. Louis Schull of Princeton and a second son, Tony Calderone, of Hedley, survive the deceased.

The late Mr. Calderone will be buried in the same plot as his wife at Fairview Cemetery. His wife died in the city in 1933. A daughter, Mrs. Stephen Graham, died five years ago at Hedley.

Pending confirmation by relatives, the funeral is planned for May 7 from First United Church. Funeral arrangements, in charge of the B.C. Undertakers, will be announced later.

Besides his railroad experience, which he started in Boston upon his arrival from the Old Country, deceased worked in the Anvox mining town for 10 years. He came to Prince Rupert in 1908, working with the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, after railway experience at Winnipeg and Vancouver.

Numbered among the builders of the city, Mr. Calderone subcontracted during the building of Prince Rupert.

During the last war he was employed with the dry dock, retiring from active work in 1945.

MANY AT UNIQUE AFFAIR—

Arts and Crafts Show Opens in Musical and Social Background

By JAY KULLANDER

A delightful social atmosphere with a musical background made the Arts and Crafts Exhibition which opened yesterday afternoon at the Civic Centre Auditorium an affair of unique delight for the many appreciative visitors who attended. It was a new departure in social and cultural affairs here. The display continues this afternoon and evening and tomorrow.

The visitors found the auditorium tastefully arranged for the display of arts and crafts by local and other artists.

The pictures are well hung, allowing the spectators ample room to view them to full advantage.

For the Sunday afternoon opening, delightful music was supplied by the Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra, under the direction of Peter Lien, while serviteurs passed among the spectators with dainty refreshments.

A charming tea table was graced by colorful spring flowers and tea was poured by Mrs. R. G. Large and Mrs. Peter Lien and later by Mrs. Nora Arnold and Mrs. M. J. Dougherty.

Mrs. L. M. Greene was in charge of the arrangement of the tea room.

Serviteurs were Miss Mary Sinclair, Miss Evie Rivett, Mrs. A. Boas, Mrs. Lindseth, Mrs. J. A. Rutherford, Miss Audrey Wrathall, Miss I. Rogers and Mrs. W. C. R. Jones.

Preparing the refreshments were Mrs. J. Rogerson, Mrs. Herb Young, Mrs. Allan Armstrong, Mrs. Mary Smith, Frances Partidge, Margaret Martinsen and Mrs. L. C. Griffiths and Mrs. George Hill.

Mrs. C. A. Berner presided at the silver collection table.

MANY PARTICIPANTS
 The various craft clubs associated with the Civic Centre have much very fine work to view. The Junior Boys' Craft Club has a display of woodwork while the Junior Girls' Craft Club displays sewing, weaving and beadwork.

Some very beautiful leatherwork is displayed by members of the Adult Leather Craft Club as well as by the Teen Boys' Leather Craft Club. Much time and careful work has gone into the making of the lovely purses, gloves, moccasins, belts, key cases, etc., which the members of these clubs are able to show.

Mrs. Grace Priest has a unique display of shell-work pictures in which she has deftly transformed shells into butterflies, birds, and frolicking children.

Styles For Graduates

NEW YORK — With school closing just around the corner, here is a peek at what New York designers have whipped up for 1951 girl graduates, with a forward-looking eye to summer days and evenings after graduation.

Whether in short length or swirling about the toes, the vote is for a full-skirted dress of snowy pique, organdy or cotton lace. But, by way of contrast, there's an occasional choice such as pale yellow marquisette—yards and yards of it—over matching taffeta.

Sleeves range from very brief to full-length, but there's always a sleeve. If the dress itself is bare-topped or sleeveless, it has a cover-up jacket or—the season's fashion highlight—a matching short-sleeved coat.

Among the short-length dresses is one of cotton pique with oval neckline and cap sleeves. A midriff section of organdy is bordered, above and below the waist, with small cotton-lace flowers.

A shirtwaist dress of cotton lace has cuffed, three-quarter-length sleeves, seamed off the shoulder, a neat shawl collar and flared skirt. The tailored belt is of black velvet.

For an evening graduation, the choice might be a strapless white organdy in ballet length with an embroidered organdy coat.

Among long dresses, there's quite pique with short kimona sleeves and inch-wide belt of the fabric. A flat band of heavy white lace outlines the deep, square neckline and twin pockets on the gored skirt.

In more romantic mood is an embroidered white organdy with snugly fitted bodice and billow-link skirt, its deep, rounded neckline finished with a stand-out circular collar and an inset of tucked organdy.

They motored north and left their car at Terrace to which town they may return to make their future home.

Revival in City Needed

Services at First Baptist Church were well attended yesterday when Rev. Frank Humphreys of Vancouver began his evangelistic mission. In the morning he preached on the subject, "Why the Church Lives," declaring that the phenomenal life of the church is due to the fact that its opportunities are in the very nature and need of man, its message is realistic, Christ is at the centre, the church changes lives and it is an unending companion. He urged the congregation to let the church do all it could for them and for them to do all they could for the church.

At the evening service he preached on the subject, "Are you helping or hindering the revival that God wants to bring to Prince Rupert?" Reminding the congregation of those who tried to hinder the Old Testament figure Nehemiah, he stated: "It is possible for human beings to hinder the work of God. It is just as possible to aid the spiritual revival that God desires Prince Rupert to have," he said as he recalled the experience of Moses when Aaron and Hur held up his hands in prayer.

Bob Henderson, youthful baritone soloist, assisted at both services. Tonight the guest speaker will speak on the subject, "Living Dangerously," and Tuesday evening the question will be answered, "Can Prince Rupert Survive an Atomic Attack?" These are public services and all are invited to attend.

Bagshaw Looks Like Winner

No further entries were weighed in for the Rod and Gun Steelhead Derby over the week-end which means Cyril Bagshaw's 13-and-a-half pounder will take first prize. Unless, of course, someone brings in a heavier fish before midnight tonight, when the contest closes.

Harold Thom, who has been weighing in the entries at his home, 1114 East Tenth Avenue, says he won't pack up his scales until then.

A general meeting of the Rod and Gun Club will be held soon to award the prizes and to launch the Trout Derby. Trout fishing season in lakes opens tomorrow and in streams May 24.

Subway Cost $104 an Inch

By DON PEACOCK
Canadian Press Staff Writer

TORONTO (CP)—It's costing $104 an inch to build the 4½-mile Toronto subway. Trains should be running by Christmas Day, 1953.

Canada's first underground rapid transit system worms its way from in front of the Union Station at York and Front Street northward under Yonge, the city's main north-south artery, to Eglinton Avenue, near the city limits.

At approximately the half-way mark in the construction job, this is the picture:

A half-mile of completed two-track tunnel;

Two-thirds of a mile of finished tunnel walls;

Almost a mile of concrete floor. Despite delays in delivery of steel, construction is still on schedule.

The final cost, originally estimated at $30,000,000, climbs with increased labor and material prices. But only war, cutting off steel supplies completely, now could delay the subway's completion.

The urgency with which it forges ahead is obvious from the symphony of heavy equipment at work and the bustling activity along the street all day and often late into the night.

Street cars and other traffic rumble over heavy timbers that provide a temporary street surface above the excavation. Forty feet below, bulldozers and cranes labor with great energy.

Some downtown sections of Yonge Street are blocked off to traffic from time to time while timbers are removed and sand is dumped through the slots on top of the completed tube. The sand will provide a foundation for the new street surface to be laid as the tunnel is finished.

Spectators peer into the subway wherever there's an opening. Ramps slope into the excavation

On top, a great, hissing pile-driver bangs steel piling into the ground at the end of the decking. A pneumatic drill battles into the pavement ahead, preparing the way for more excavating.

And, as always, standing amid the interminable din of the construction, the sidewalk superintendent looks on. The Toronto transportation commission early recognized his status and published his address.

So far only one man has been able to see the platform of the first subway in this city.

From an automobile (top), only one thing can be seen: the sub-way under construction.

Guards Treasure Of Royal Houses

MONTREAL (CP) — A throne worth $30,000,000, ropes of pearls six feet long and chests overflowing with jewels are not very startling to Hon. George Charles Hayter Chubb of London.

They aren't his, of course, but Chubb's firm, a lock and safe company, has the job of guarding them among other almost priceless treasures of the world's monarchs.

The throne is the fabulous Peacock Throne of Persia and it is in a burglar-proof room designed by Mr. Chubb's company.

"The floor is literally strewn with expensive baubles, such as gold swords," he said during a recent visit here. "Chests are scattered about, spilling precious stones. There is even a globe of the world two feet in diameter, made of solid gold."

Guarding such treasures is an old story in the Chubb family. When his great-great-grandfather won a $500 prize for designing a good lock, King George III was so taken with it he sent all the royal business to him. Since then business has snowballed.

Now Mr. Chubb is concerned with the British crown jewels to be displayed at the Festival of Britain. The family guarded the valuables at the 1851 festival, among them the Koh-i-noor diamond.

To guard the magnificent diamond, Chubb's built a gigantic "parrot cage" around the gem. At night, when the display was closed, a spring was touched and the diamond sank into a massive iron box which in turn disappeared into a pedestal of solid masonry.

Chubb's will be doing a similar job with the British crown jewels during the Festival of Britain this year.

The most unusual job the firm had to tackle was an order from an Indian maharajah for strong boxes for the jewelry of his 7 wives. Chubb's made the boxes, each with an individual lock and key. The women were delighted with this bit of privacy but they underrated the ingenuity of the maharajah and Chubb's. The maharajah had a master key fitting all 17 boxes.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

In an effort to beat the experts Mr. New, Mr. Abel and Mr. Muzzy have gone all out for a new method of bidding which involves counting up "points" which are arbitrarily assigned to honor cards, singletons, doubletons, long suits, etc. For example, aces count four, kings count three, queens count two and jacks count one.

South dealer
Neither side vulnerable

Mr. Abel	S-K 6 4 3	H-A J 8 6 5	D-None	C-8 6 4 3
Mr. Champion	S-Q 10 8	H-K 10 7 2	D-9 2	C-K Q 10 9
Mr. Masters	S-J 5	H-Q 9 4	D-Q J 10 6 5 3	C-A 6
Mr. New	S-A 9 7 2	H-3	D-A K 9 7 4	C-3 7 2

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1S	Pass	1H	Pass
4S	All pass	3S	Pass

"I can't start before right now," Mr. Champion replied, and he was practically drooling as he ordered two decks of cards. Mr. New won the deal and opened the bidding with one diamond. After Mr. Champion passed Mr. Abel hesitated a moment and then whipped a folded piece of paper from his pocket. "What's that?" demanded Mr. Champion. "It's a summary of our count bidding method," Mr. Abel answered. "Is this a bridge game or a reading room?" Mr. Champion snorted. "Put it away." "There's nothing in the rules that says I can't refer to it," Mr. Abel argued. It was finally decided that Mr. Abel could refer to his notes if he didn't slow up the game too much. Eventually he bid one heart. When his partner bid a spade he got very excited. According to the system, his hand now underwent a startling change. The king of spades now counted four points instead of three. The diamond void counted five points instead of the previous three. A total of 14 points in the whole hand—enough for a raise to three spades. Mr. New bid four and Mr. Champion opened the king of clubs. Mr. Masters overtook with the ace and returned a club. Clubs were continued and Mr. Masters trumped the fourth round with the jack of spades. Mr. New overtrumped with the ace and Mr. Champion later won two spade tricks for a two-trick set.

Busy Week-end as Halibut Fleet Goes to Sea; Skipper Doiron Victim of "Touch"

It was a busy day at the waterfront Sunday as fishermen and relatives talked together, visited from boat to boat or made the finishing touches to their vessels, readying for the halibut opening May 1.

Probably one of the busiest spots along the waterfront was F. E. Hunt Ltd.'s store at Cow Bay. Last minute orders were rushed through—new mats for the galley, some tackle to be made up, a bone-dry to be bought—or just a last tale to be swapped with Bill Nickerson and the boys in the back office.

Outside the store were the bright and fresh vessels. Typical of these was the Seamaid, Capt. Henry Doiron. The old schooner-type vessel built in Prince Rupert by the Doiron family sparkled with new paint. The skipper reached port here Saturday morning, bringing the Seamaid up from Vancouver.

BANK ACCOUNT "TOUCHED"
An unfortunate incident occurred for Doiron in Vancouver the Wednesday before sailing north.

While in a city hotel, his ships papers and bankbook were stolen from his car parked outside.

There was a substantial balance in the Homer and Hastings branch of the Royal Bank of Canada.

Instead of going directly to the branch, Mr. Doiron notified the police. Meanwhile, he said, the thief went directly to the bank.

"Two new girls were in the bank and when this fellow brought in my book to draw money in three separate checks for $80, $200 and $350 the money was given to him," said Capt. Doiron.

ONCE TOO OFTEN
"If he hadn't been so selfish he might have got away with it, but he kept going back for more, until finally the girls began to wonder why so many checks were being drawn," the fisherman explained.

"Then when he went back for $500 Thursday morning he was caught," said Doiron, who said that there was now going to be a case over it in the courts at Vancouver.

"I guess it was a case of going too often to the well," said a shipmate on the Seamaid.

The crew had received a wire from Manard Edwards, their bookkeeper in Vancouver, that a "suspect" was being held.

Meanwhile, the Seamaid left with other vessels Sunday morning preparing for more important business on the fishing grounds Tuesday.

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

Coastal steamships are already beginning to feel the impact of heavy freight traffic into the Kitimat area for use on Aluminum Co. of Canada construction. The Prince Rupert-bound Union Steamship Co. liners Camosun and Coquitlam are having increasingly long stays at Butedale to transfer cargo which is moved from there to Kitimat and Kemano Bay on a Northern Construction Co. barge. Both the Coquitlam and Camosun had such cargo at the week-end. The Camosun, Capt. John Boden, which arrived here at 6:15 last evening from the south, had spent over four hours unloading at Butedale. The Camosun sailed at 11 p.m. for Alice Arm and Stewart whence she will return here tomorrow to sail south at 12 noon.

Union steamer Coquitlam, Capt. William McCombe, returned to port at 4:30 yesterday afternoon from Masset Inlet points and sailed at 8 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints. The vessel had a fairly light passenger list as traffic now is largely in the northern direction.

To Look Into Bus Service

An inspector of the British Columbia Public Utilities Commission will be in Prince Rupert within the next week to look into complaints which have been made by the Pulp and Paper Workers' Union in connection with the quality of the bus service between Prince Rupert and the Watson Island plant. J. D. McRae, MLA for Prince Rupert, has so informed the union which addressed its complaint to the local member as well as to the commission.
