Travelling to Medical Care

Applewhite Points to Necessity of Income Tax Exemption

OTTAWA (Special to Daily News)—The budget resolutions were finally adopted yesterday afternoon and the bills based on them were introduced and given first reading.

In a short speech, the member for Skeena, E. T. Applewhite, drew attention of the departments of finance and national revenue to a situation existing in his and other rural ridings where the cost of travelling to and from necessary medical attention is often many times greater than the actual doctors' and hospital bills but such travelling costs are not allowable deductions for income tax purposes. He urged that the act be widened to include as allowable deductions all expenses actually and necessarily made incidental to obtaining needed medical attention.

Protesting Dismissals

The spokesman said that the dismissals will be protested when the general grievance committee of western trainmen meets Monday in Calgary.

The discharged men are Conductor H. P. Forrest of Vancouver and Brakeman Harold Hyde of suburban Burnaby.

White Sox Trounce Yanks In Stadium; Cubs Pound Phils

NEW YORK (CP)—Chicago's two teams took the spotlight Friday in major league baseball competition. The amazing White Sox handed the New York Yankees their first defeat of the season in Yankee Stadium by a score of 7 to 4 to move within two games of the Bombers who are leading the American League.

The Chicago Cubs, whose bats have been swinging with devastating effect this week, went on another rampage by blasting the Philadelphia Phils 18 to 9 in the National League. The Cubs pounded out three homers and seven doubles.

Further Developments Forecast by Official

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. D. B. Turner, provincial government conservationist, yesterday predicted prosperous sideline developments growing out of construction of the Aluminum Co. of Canada project in Northern British Columbia. He foresaw fishing and agricultural development and the birth of pulp and paper mills and chemical manufacturers springing up after the Alcan project.

FLASH Atom War Imminent

Yet Dr. Ralph Bunche Has Words of Hope

FOUR FIREMEN KILLED PETERBOROUGH, Ont. — Four fire fighters were caught in a cave-in of flaming debris in a blazing downtown business block today and Fire Chief George Smith called their chances of survival slim. Two others were rescued. As the $300,000 fire in the block was being brought under control, the men went to the ground floor to check the situation. Minutes later the second and third floors collapsed on them.

TO REOPEN LABOR ACT REVELSTOKE — Attorney General Wismer said here that the British Columbia Labor Act will be reopened for revision at the next session of the Legislature. "We intend to bring in as many amendments as we can to help Labor's cause and yet not be unfair to management," Wismer said at a meeting, mostly of railway workers.

KID GAVILAN WINS NEW YORK — Busy Kid Gavilan gave the outclassed back-pedaling Johnny Bratton a thorough pasting Friday night to win the world's welterweight title for Cuba on a unanimous 15-round decision at Madison Square Garden. The battle was staged to find a successor for Sugar Ray Robinson.

VANCOUVER (CP)—Grim warning that atomic war is possible at any moment came Friday from Dr. Ralph Bunche, United Nations mediator in Israel and winner of the 1950 Nobel peace prize. He told 700 graduating students at the University of British Columbia that he also had some words of hope in spite of the present dark international situation.

"The peoples of the world have had enough war in the east as well as in the west," Bunche said. "They know that the harvest of atomic war can only bring universal misery, destruction and degradation."

"I believe the United Nations will build a universal longing for peace-making into an ultimate irresistible bulwark against war."

Dr. Bunche was honored by the University of British Columbia with an honorary doctorate of law.

Cpl. T. W. McIntosh, who has been here with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals, leaves tomorrow night on the Coquitlam for Vancouver.

Lighthouse Keeper Is Dead in Tragedy

Lawrence P. Dupuis, 40-year-old lightkeeper at Egg Island, Queen Charlotte Sound, 200 miles south of Prince Rupert, is believed to have shot and killed himself yesterday afternoon immediately prior to the arrival of his wife, Peggy, on the island.

Prince Rupert department of transport marine office received the report late last night.

Dupuis was discovered by the woman who arrived on a B.C. Packers fishing vessel from Nanaimo.

RCMP at Ocean Falls are proceeding to investigate the tragedy.

Prince Rupert-based CGS Alex MacKenzie, lighthouse tender, was dispatched at midnight to Egg Island with relief lightkeeper J. Souter, on staff of department of transport at Seal Cove.

Mrs. Dupuis had been off the island for a month, when she was taken to Vancouver after being stricken with acute appendicitis.

Dupuis' only survivor is his wife.

The couple formerly lived at Prince Rupert, both having been employed at Miller Bay Hospital.

TRIANGLE A misunderstood telegram may have caused the death of Dupuis.

According to a Canadian Press dispatch, Stanley Rife of Victoria said that his wife, Elizabeth, return a few days ago to the lighthouse where, he said, she had lived for about two years. She had taken their 15-year-old son with her.

Rife said that divorce proceedings had been started recently.

He said he received a telegram yesterday from his wife, saying she had found Dupuis dead on her return.

Mrs. Rife said in her telegram that Dupuis had shot himself after apparently misinterpreting a telegram, the husband said.

Rife said he had sent a telegram to his son, saying: "I must have a picture of you. Received your letter, Junior. Good luck."

Rife added that, apparently, Dupuis got the impression that Rife was saying he had received a letter from his wife, instead of his son, and had concluded that her affections were returning to her husband.

THIRD TRAGEDY The Dupuis tragedy is the third of a series of unfortunate incidents which has dogged the lonely Egg Island light. Fifteen years ago a lightkeeper and his assistant disappeared with a dinghy and no trace was ever found of them. Three years ago, the whole lighthouse establishment was carried away in a storm and lightkeeper R. L. Wilkins and wife and son narrowly escaped.

Wins Nursing Prize at Vancouver General

WINS NURSING PRIZE—Miss Dorothy Jean Kergin, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. L. W. Kergin of Prince Rupert, will receive the Dr. Glen Campbell Memorial Award for nursing diseases of the eye at the Vancouver General Hospital 1951 nurses' graduation May 22 at University of British Columbia Armory. Miss Kergin is taking the University nursing course and has just completed her training. Accompanied by her mother, who is in Vancouver for the graduation, Miss Kergin will return to Prince Rupert next Friday and will join the staff of the Prince Rupert General Hospital for the summer, returning to University in Vancouver in the fall.

Ogilvie is Named CO

Commanding officer of the revived Capt. Cook Sea Cadet Corps in Prince Rupert will be Arthur Ogilvie, former naval construction engineer officer. The announcement was made at last night's meeting of the Navy League of Canada, local branch, and will be submitted to the Vancouver branch for formal approval.

Other officers named were: Executive officer—Sid Alexander.

Stores officer—Mel Thompson.

Training officer—Edward Dawes.

Uniforms or no uniforms, about 50 boys of the new Sea Cadet Corps will begin their basic training within a week, it was decided.

HMCS Chatham staff officer, Lieut. Cdr. James Golby, has given assurance the uniforms will be supplied. Other equipment for training and band bugles already are available.

A dance sponsored by the local league will be held in the Navy drill hall in honor of HMCS Ontario when she arrives this summer on her training cruise. Members decided all executive officers would work on the dance committee.

Meanwhile, President S. P. Woodside is framing the old league charter, which he found had not lapsed and still is valid.

WEATHER

(Synopsis)

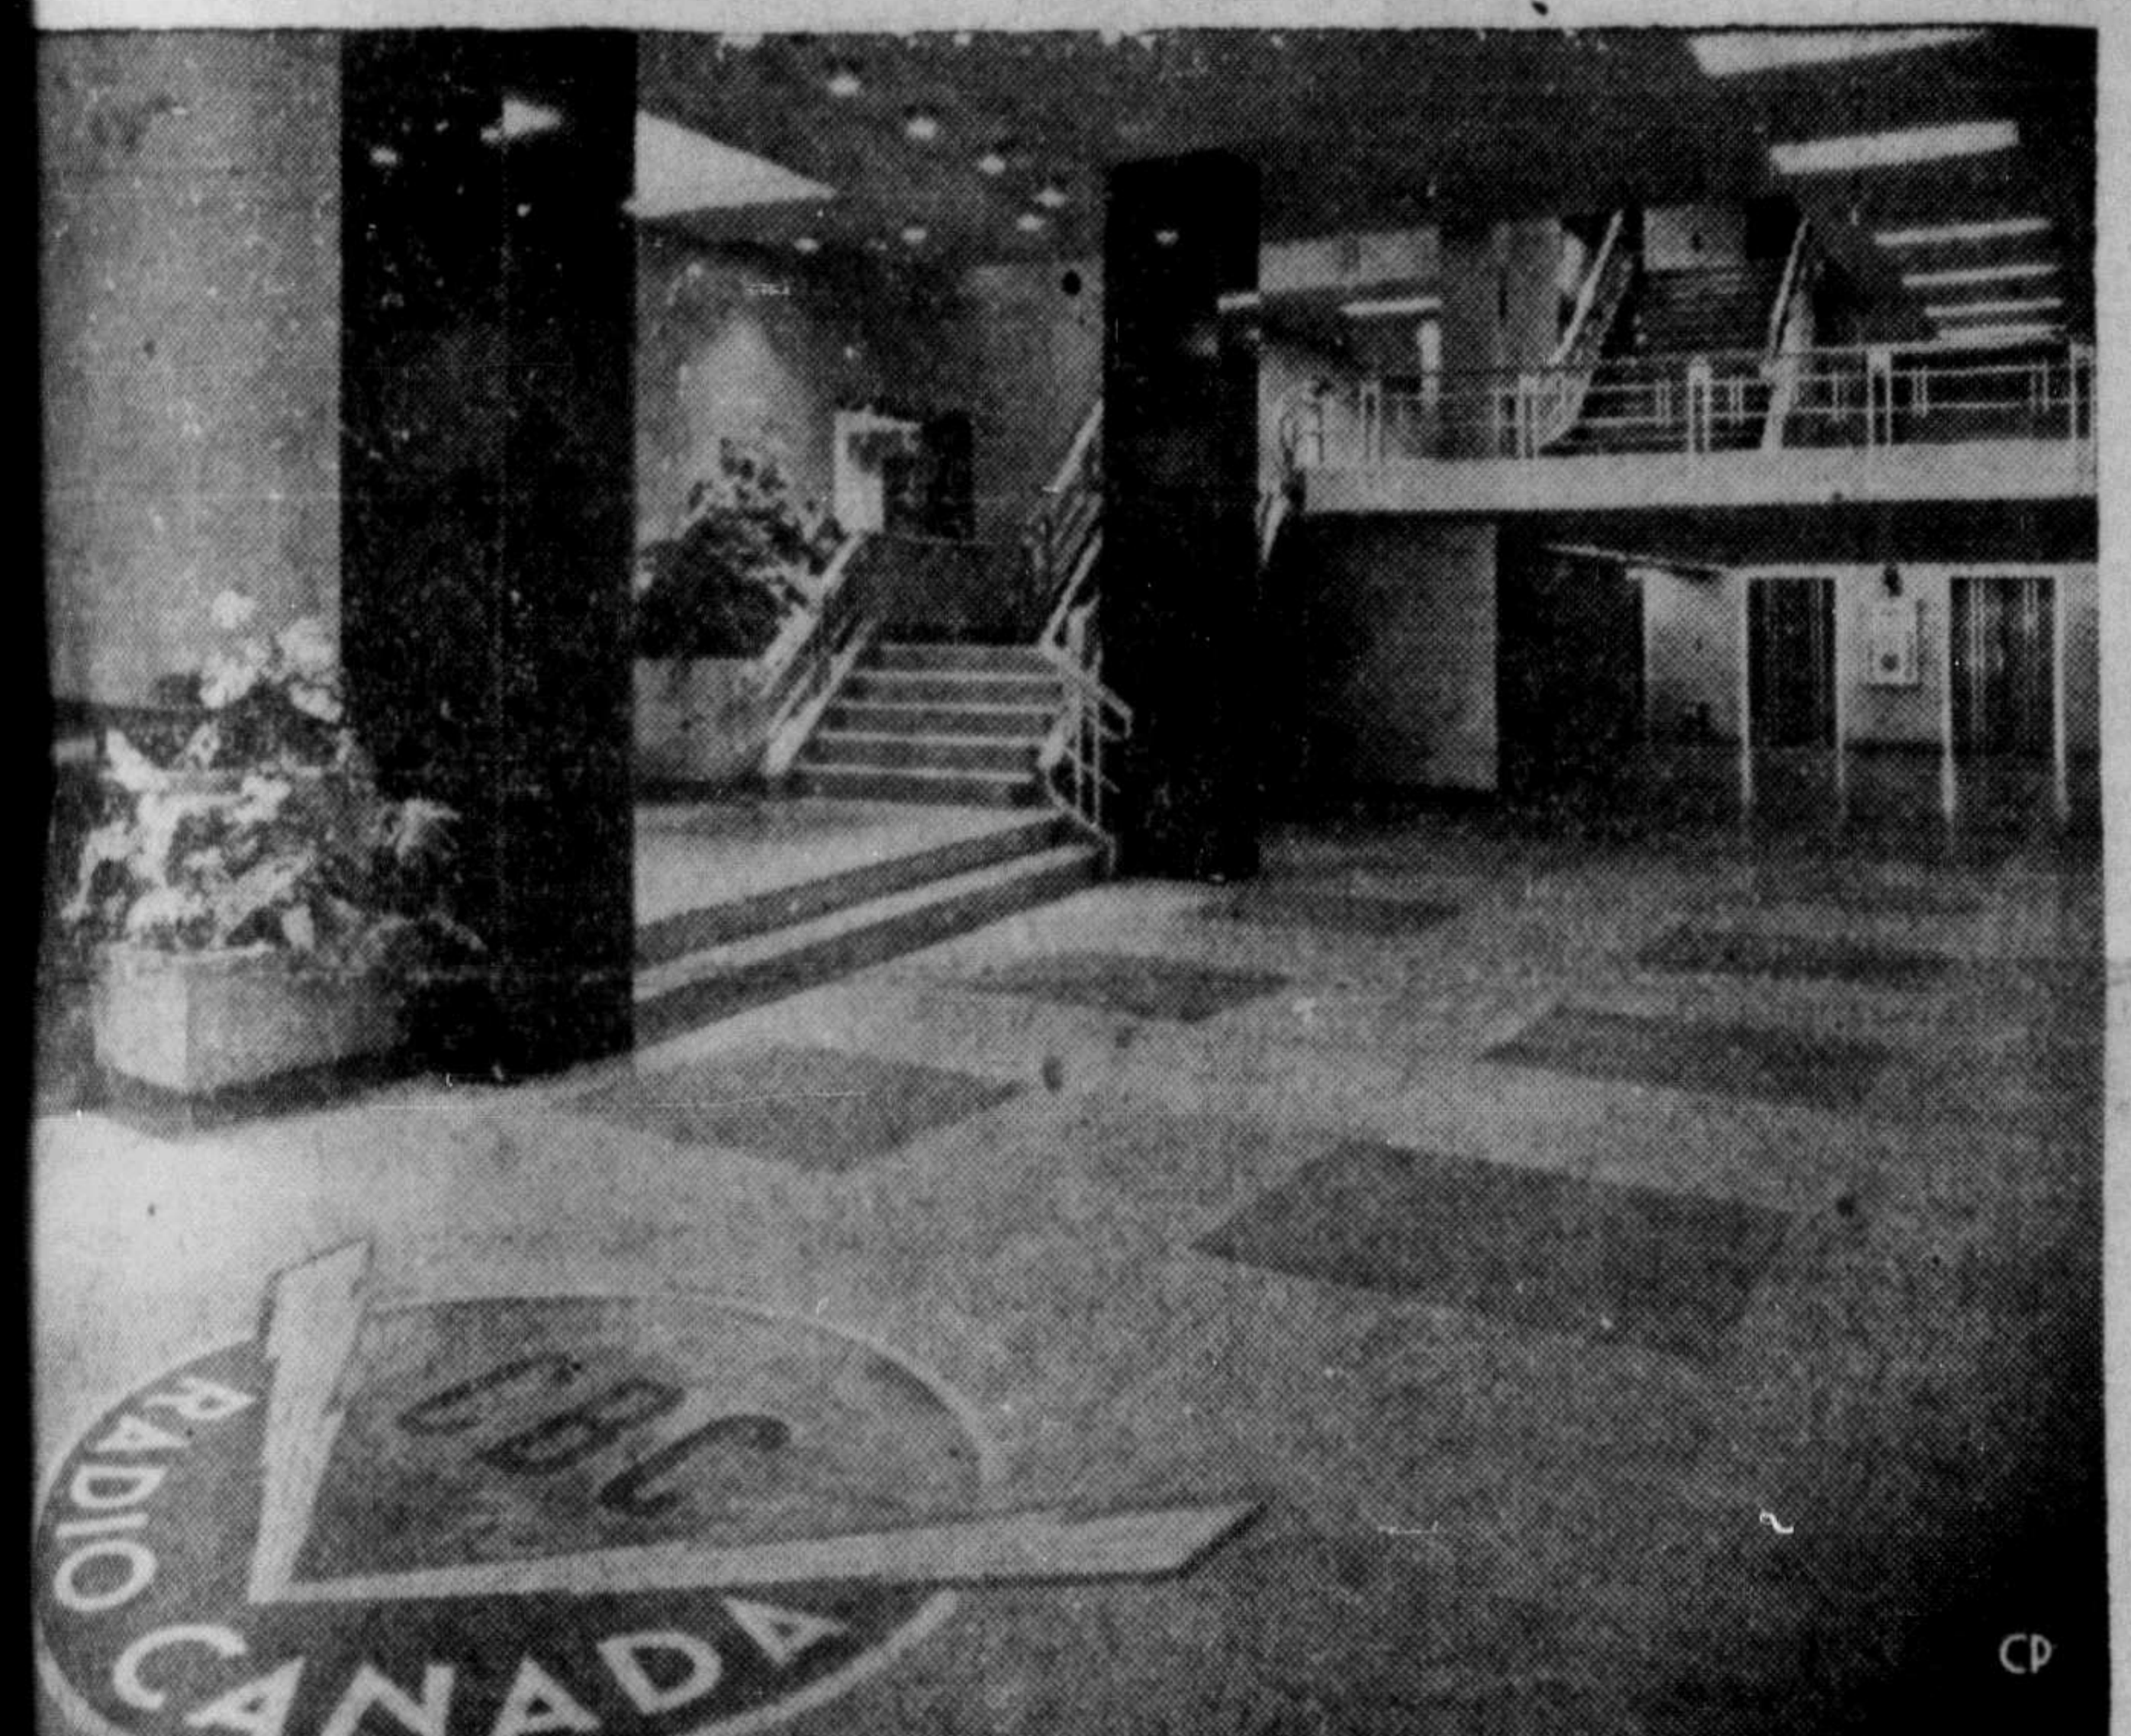

Skies were sunny over the greater part of the province this morning but the trend appears to be toward a more unsettled type of weather. A lowly moving Pacific disturbance now causing rain over the Queen Charlottes and northern Vancouver Island will continue to drift slowly eastward in the next thirty-six hours. As a result cloudy skies and showers are forecast for the south coast and central interior regions for tomorrow. The southeastern interior will, however, remain sunny. With this increasing cloudiness it is expected that the afternoon temperatures on Sunday will be somewhat lower than those that will be recorded today.

(Forecast)

North Coast Region—Rain this morning. Cloudy with a few showers this afternoon and tonight. Intermittent rain again Sunday. Little change in temperature. Winds—southerly (20) this morning and again tomorrow. Winds light this afternoon. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—at Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 43 and 55.

Centre—New Radio-Canada building in Montreal opened today. It is latest and most modern link in the CBC's wide radio system. There are 26 studios providing 18 of Canadian programs a day and beaming international programs to the world in 14 languages. The building downtown Dorchester Street was formerly the Ford Hotel. Purchased at a cost of $2,000,000 and cost another $2,000,000 to reconstruct. (CP PHOTO)

Communist Assault is Halted

BUT REDS MAY RENEW OFFENSIVE

LONDON (CP)—United Nations forces today off vicious attacks by thousands of Chinese Communists on the bloody central Korean front. The quietened this afternoon with the Allies having apparently halted the big Communist offensive 100 miles short of Seoul.

UN officers said they believe the Reds still have four days of slaughter before they have sapped the strength of Communist troops trying to break through the central front. They believe, however, that the Reds still have considerable build-up on the central front and could be expected to renew their attacks at any time.

Forest Conservation Week

FOREST Conservation Week will be observed in British Columbia from today to May 26. The observance of the week is being made Dominion-wide but it is of especial interest in British Columbia and certainly in this particular part of the province where the last great forest resources of the country stand.

The forests support lumbering which is one of the main industries of the province and is vital to the prosperity of British Columbia. It is fitting, therefore, that every person should be directly interested in the protection of the forests from indiscriminate use and fire not only during this week but throughout the year. The government authorities in British Columbia are showing a progressive lead in the matter.

It is sufficient in considering the slogan of the week—"Keep Our Forests Green"—to realize that, without revenue from the richly timbered coast and hinterland, British Columbia would be shorn of from 40 to 50 per cent of its annual income. Without forests, Prince Rupert would never have had its latest new industry which is about to alter the whole economic aspect of this community and the immediate neighborhood. And, of course, everyone is familiar with the fact that forests and timber are the real backbone these days of the economy of the thriving central interior hinterland.

So Forest Conservation Week is an occasion which we might well pause to consider at this time.

New Labor Views

THERE is plenty in a booklet, "This Cost of Living Business," published by the British Labor Party, which could easily have been written by a free market economist plying his trade.

Here are some striking excerpts:
"What effect do changes in wages and salaries have on prices and the cost of living? About 60 per cent of the nation's output is the cost of wages and salaries. Changes in wages and salaries therefore have a profound effect on prices unless the higher wages are matched by higher productivity or are met from profits.

"Profits cater for the creation of reserves to pay for expansion and re-equipment, and the additional money that manufacturers want to pay as dividends to their shareholders. The more money firms put aside to develop new methods of production, the more consumers have to pay for goods. But new equipment and better laid-out factories mean more efficient production, lower costs, and the possibility of lower prices in the long run. If the money to pay for this were not raised from profits it would have to be raised in some other way."

Then there are these two paragraphs culled from the same socialist pamphlet:

"Although the cost of living has gone up by 80 per cent since 1938, wages and salaries have gone up, too. Wages have risen by over 90 per cent and industrial workers' earnings, which include overtime and bonuses, have increased by 130 per cent.

"With more in the shops, and with the need to replace things in the home, people are spending more on the bigger things, like sheets and furniture. This inevitably leaves less money for beer and cinemas, books and meals out, jaunts and holidays. So everyone feels that 'there is less money about.' This is not only because the cost of living has gone up—it is because our standards have gone up as well."

And here is a punch line:
"The real answer then is to raise the efficiency of all firms to the standard of the best—in other words, to increase productivity."

"Disaster" in Teeth Here

School Children in Deplorable Dental Condition

Some sort of special dental service for the children of this city is necessary to cope with a "grave state of disability" which at present prevails in the condition of the children's teeth and which, if it is not rectified, may lead to a dental disaster, Dr. Duncan Black, medical director of the Prince Rupert and District Health Unit, told the Unit Board of Health at its quarterly meeting in the city this week. "The situation is being sadly neglected in Prince Rupert," Dr. Black said.

In contrast to Prince Rupert where nothing is being done, such smaller communities in the area as Bella Coola, Terrace and Smithers have their dental clinics services where the dentists co-operate by giving part-time service to the children.
Mrs. Earl Becker felt that there should be no difficulty in financing dental clinic service here providing the dentists could find time to do the work. She believed the Parent-Teacher Association would be glad to co-operate.
A survey by Dr. Black of dental conditions in the schools here showed that from 37 to 56 per cent of the children were in need of dental treatment.

SWISS LESSON FOR US

GENEVA, Switzerland —This country fascinates me for many reasons. As a Canadian, I ask myself this:

Why is it when we in Canada can't get two different races and language groups to live together, with real cordiality, that the Swiss have succeeded with no less than four?

And, even more, as a human being, I ask myself: What lesson has Switzerland to teach all us ornery critters called men?

Is it by mere accident that she is the most prosperous land in all Europe? Did her policy of perpetual neutrality just happen, or did it grow into maturity, like any other living thing?

I SHALL NOT WRITE MUCH more about a comparison of the Canadian and the Swiss confederations. Yet I think everybody will agree that the famous French writer, Andre Siegfried, aptly described French-English language group relations in Canada when he called it: "Modus vivendi, without cordiality."

The difference between Canada and Switzerland seems to me to be:

We in Canada live together, but neither the French nor English-speaking groups really pretend to like it. We just tolerate the set-up because we can't think of anything else to do.

In Switzerland, they have four language groups living in complete harmony — French, German, Italian and one other tiny minority. It is not modus vivendi WITHOUT CORDIALITY, but rather WITH cordiality.

The main difference that I see here is that nobody resents the other fellow's right to speak his own language and have his own culture. But also, you do not try to inject one area's language into another language area.

IT IS ON THE WORLD LEVEL that it seems to me that the Swiss have most to teach. While I was in Rome, I met two deep experts on Swiss history. One was an American research student. The other was a Swiss professor of history. Together they corrected some of the shallow ideas I had of how the Swiss got this way.

APPARENTLY THE IDEA OF Swiss neutrality grew up slowly over centuries. Moreover, there was a time not so many hundreds of years ago when the separate cantons in Switzerland were fierce rivals and even at times enemies in outright actual war—just like Uncle Sam and Uncle Joe today.

Between these two strong rivals was a smaller canton—too weak to resist either of its big neighbors by force. But that small "on the spot" canton did on a small scale what, in later centuries, the Swiss confederation has done in Europe.

That is, it declared its deliberate abstention from all future wars of its two neighbors. It once made a formal declaration to this effect:

That if the big rivals DID go to war it would remain neutral and use all its energies toward mediation and conciliation between the antagonists.

CYNICS CAN FIND GROUND to criticize modern Switzerland. They say, with some truth, that part of the present prosperity is due to the fact that she made money out of both sides in both world wars. That, of course, is partly true. But it was not the reason why Switzerland stayed out of those wars.

The Swiss are convinced that their policy—rather their bedrock principle—of perpetual neutrality is right for them. They are determined to stay out of all wars and to keep all wars out of Switzerland.

Even in the two years since we were in this country before, they have greatly increased their defenses. Their best illustrated weekly has just published pictures of some of the large numbers of Patton tanks which this country has recently bought from the U.S.A. If any aggressor ever again tries to invade this country, he will pay dearly for his crime.

IT SEEMS TO ME THAT THE human race will never get peace on earth until we start by applying the principle that the Swiss and the Swedes have applied:

That is, by granting every nation the right to defend itself, by its own defense forces based

Judicial Deliverance

(By A. E. RUARK)

God said, "Be ye holy" (1 Peter 1:16). Is this command given in vain? Is a Holy God demanding of a sinner that which is impossible? God surely expects this to be fulfilled or He would not make such a demand.

How is God's requirement to be satisfied? No man can make himself sinlessly perfect yet he must measure up to this standard or remain under the condemnation of a broken commandment of God. He is unable to attain to a perfect state experimentally, so his only hope must lie in a judicial deliverance. God, who claims to be just, cannot make an unjust or impossible demand so He must have a judicial way of escape for the man.

God sent His Son with "All power in heaven and in earth" (Matthew 28:18) to "Bear our sins in His own body on the tree" (1 Peter 2:24) (JUDICIAL-LY), so He might "Present you FAULTLESS before the presence of His glory with exceeding joy" (Jude 24). Thus God made arrangement whereby His demand can be met to His satisfaction.

ray... Reflects and Reminisces

What Tex Morton is going to do next keeps you watching and wondering.
It was that way again at the Civic Centre last night. This was the third show and was there a packed house! From entrance to within a few feet of the stage there was no spare space.

It was like this until as late as 11:20 and there was nothing to suggest there would be adjournment until midnight if not later. It was really about 12:30.

Dr. Robert Morton has the gift of speeding time. His entertainment has variety and his treatment of subjects such as psychology, hypnotism, science and many others gave pleasure. His guitar playing afforded plenty of pleasure as well as solid amusement. Light rifle shooting afforded a thrill. A cigarette, disappearing from between one's teeth, is anything but dull.

Much of the second part was devoted to mesmerism, hypnotism and the general theme of science and psychology.

Asked someone from well back in the audience: "Can anyone who's taken a couple of beers be hypnotized?"

Dr. Morton paused and smiled slightly. Then he said: "Up to a point, it might aid." And that was about all there was on that point.

Another feature of interest was the memory test. On a blackboard appeared 25 words called at random from the crowd, while Dr. Morton stood by, blindfolded. All were readily repeated.

There must have been close to a couple of dozen from the audience, on the stage. All were prepared to go through with what was expected of them, if suitable. For those who did slumber it was undoubtedly profound.

Drapes Brighten Up Health Unit

Attractive drapes which have been recently put up enhance the Health Unit headquarters on Second Avenue. Complimentary comments were made at the quarterly meeting of the Prince Rupert and District United Board of Health meeting this week and a vote of thanks was extended to Mrs. Earl Becker, Miss Freda Hilton P. H. N., Miss Margaret Steeves P. H. N., Miss Shirley Main and Mrs. Armine Boas.

on its own soil—but by declaring it a national and individual crime against world law ever to send the soldiers, sailors or airmen of any country to attack any other by land, sea or air.

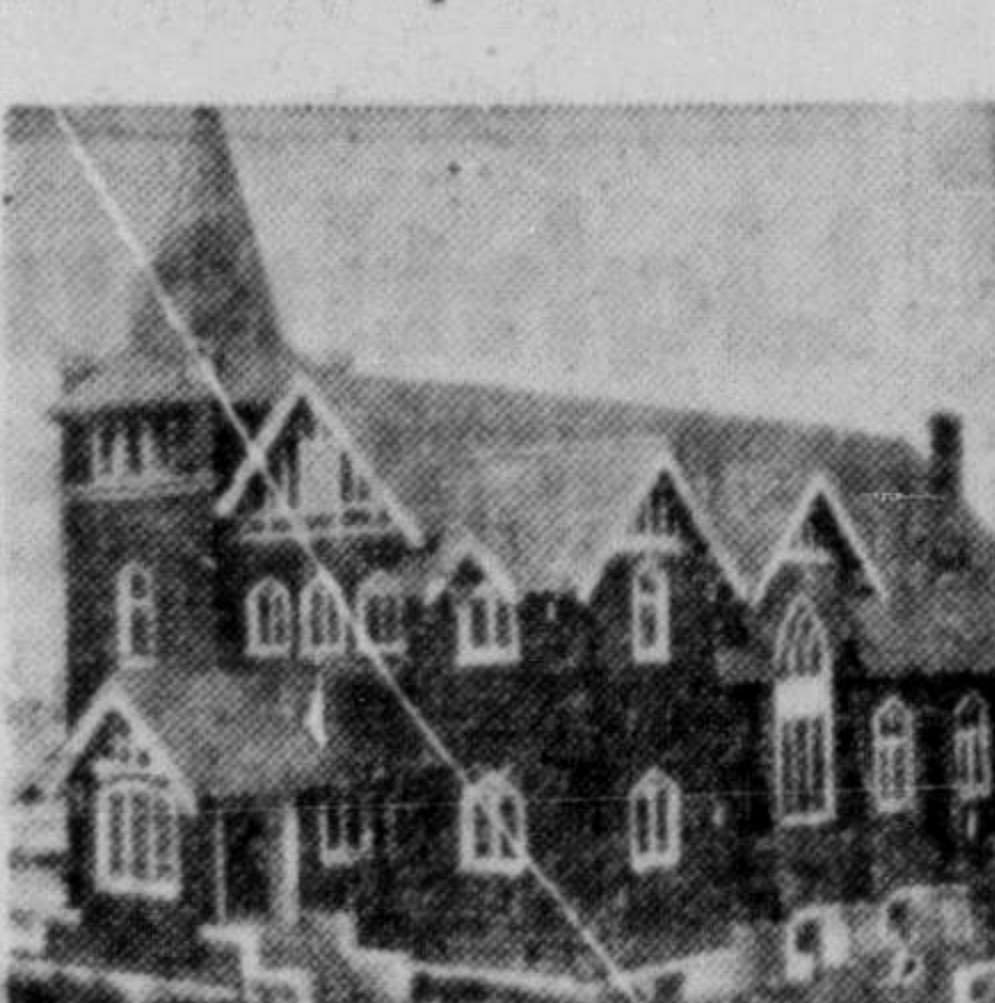

That sounds simple—but it would require an epoch-making change to make it effective. For it would mean that no soldier of any country could ever operate beyond the borders of his own nation.

There would have to be a World Peace Police Force—adequate to deal with any nation's attempt to defy the world law. And there would have to be a world parliament to make democratic laws and give orders to its employees, the World Peace.

No charge can be laid against one whose sins are judicially borne under God's arranged plan.

It was said of Jesus before His birth "He shall save His people from their sins" (Matthew 1:21). It does not say "He shall save His people IN their sins. Our only hope then, is to turn from sin and give ourselves entirely over to the One who can present us without sin. He cannot remain just and clear us unless we, of our own free-will, do our part, and turn from sin. If we refuse to co-operate with Him, we must remain under the condemnation of a Holy God. So repent and turn to Christ!

Would Meet Clergy Deficiency With Ordination of Natives

Caledonia Diocese Feeling Impact Of Industry—Synod in Session

A suggestion that, while the Church was unable to provide fully-ordained pastors for local Anglican native villages, the Bishop should select native lay-readers for ordination was made to the Anglican Synod of the Diocese of Caledonia meeting in St. Andrew's Cathedral Hall this week.

The proposal was made on behalf of the Church Council of Christ Church, Kincolith, by Solomon Doolan, lay reader and minister's warden. It was supported by Wallace Morgan of Kitwanga who named Chief Albert Douse of Kitwanga as a man worthy of ordination for that village.

Speaking as a synod delegate F. E. Anfield said that he was convinced that a native ministry was the proper way to supply this need and he urged that the thought of vocation to the ministry be strongly placed before native boys from the Naas and other villages now attending High School in Prince Rupert.

The synod commended both the proposal of Mr. Doolan and that of Mr. Anfield.

The President of the Diocesan Board of the Women's Auxiliary Mrs. J. B. Gibson, reported that in the diocese there are 32 senior women's auxiliary branches; one girl's branch; four junior branches and eight "Little Helper's" branches. In these 45 branches there are 567 members. Last year, in addition to work in their own parishes, these branches contributed $339 in cash to the general work of the church and gave Dorcas articles to the value of $202 to the Indian Residential School, Prince Rupert, Sask.

ALUMINUM FELT

Reporting for the work of the Anglican Church in the deanery of Hazelton, which extends from Terrace east to Vanderhoof, Canon C. A. Hinchliffe of Smithers said that the aluminum project at Kitimat was already greatly increasing the opportunities for church work in the parishes of Terrace, Burns Lake, Vanderhoof. The deanery was now manned by the same number of clergy as it had 25 years ago when the population was half what it is now. To seize the present opportunity the deanery needed more men and more money for travelling expenses. Canon Hinchliffe commended the long faithful services of Fred Fowler, Sunday School superintendent at Smithers for 25 years and at Terrace before that. He spoke of the need for a building at Houston.

Canon B. S. Prockter read a written report from Miss C. W. Seaman, of Smithers, diocesan "Sunday School by Post" worker, that over 1400 children were receiving Sunday School literature by mail. He added that three parishes in the diocese had entered children for the dominion wide Sunday School examinations.

In reporting on the work of the Peace River, Rev. W. H. Blackstock, of Fort St. John, spoke highly of the work done by Miss Monica Storrs, daughter of a former Dean of Rochester, England, who for over 20 years before returning to England last year gave voluntary service as a Bishop's messenger north of the Peace River.

ELECTING BISHOPS

The synod agreed to consider details of a plan to have all the Anglican Bishops in British Columbia elected by a provincial electoral college rather than by local synods—provided that all the other dioceses in the province agreed to the plan in principle but refused to cede its right to veto changes in diocesan boundaries which might be suggested by the Provincial Synod.

It approved of a proposal to change the title of the Church from The Church of England in Canada to the Anglican ### Church of Canada.

The Bishop announced that negotiations were proceeding with the Columbia Coast Mission of Vancouver for them to take over operation in the waters of the Mission Boat "Northern Cross."

Canon B. S. Prockter, Rev. H. G. Bird, F. E. Anfield and George Dawes were elected to the executive of the Diocese. Archdeacon E. Hodson, Registrar R. E. Mortimer and Secretary-Treasurer E. Gladding are ex-officio members and the Bishop has the right to nominate two other clergy and two other laymen.

Parks Board Is Indignant

Thinks Council Has A Lot of "Nerve" Prince Rupert parks board thinks city council "had a lot of nerve" when it announced it would begin a clean-up campaign. Park commissioners are specially indignant at a recent "derogatory remark" by an alderman referring to condition of T-tent Park.

"Ald. Whalen should not have pointed a finger at us," said Parks Commissioner Art Murray at a board meeting Thursday, "when he knows we have no money to do anything."

Mr. Murray said that estimates of $4,500 called for by the board had not been approved and, without such an approval, what could be done, he asked.

(Ald. Harold Whalen at Monday night's council meeting had pointed out T-tent Park as in a "disgraceful condition." Ald. Whalen had also said if something wasn't done soon he would "grab a rake" and do it himself.)

"I'll buy every alderman on the council a rake and they can go to it," Mr. Murray said heatedly. He said he was "sick and tired" of having city council "pass the buck" to the Parks Board.

Parks Commissioner Pat Forman pointed out city council had promised to clean up Roosevelt Park. To date nothing had been done about it.

"Then they have the nerve to say they will start a clean-up campaign when it was the parks board that brought the city's uncleanness to the attention of the council," said Mr. Murray.

Both commissioners felt the parks board chairman, Ald. George Casey, should have "stood up for the parks board" at the council meeting.

Ald. Casey said he didn't "feel like arguing" any more with council about the parks.

Regarding the park near the police station, known as Service Park, Ald. Casey said police had informed him they had no authority to put prisoners to work keeping the park in shape but that they would write Ottawa for a ruling on this matter.

Meanwhile, parks board found themselves without a caretaker of parks as a man they hired had left the city. The position is still open.

The board decided it would relocate the football field on Roosevelt Park. This will be done immediately in order to keep players off the infield of the baseball diamond.

"Doing fine, I'll have him up today," said the local naval doctor, when asked this morning as to the condition of Able Seaman Raymond Dean of Toronto whom HMCS Athabaskan landed here Tuesday night for an emergency appendectomy operation.

D. S. Love of the provincial public works department is sailing on the Camosun tomorrow night for a trip to Alice Arm on official duties.

SPORT SHOTS

The honor of all-star ranking has been conferred on 14 Canadians who dazzled British fans during the 1950-51 English National Hockey League campaign. Their reward of achievement was announced by the Ice Hockey World, sponsors of the all-star poll, as the teams raced down the stretch with the championship in doubt until the final game of the regular schedule. Selected by a panel of coaches, captains, referees and sports writers, here are the boys assigned to the two dream teams. Canadian hometowns of the players are shown in brackets:

Three of the players, Zarnick, Hutchinson and Strongman, had comparatively easy going in the battle of the ballots. The experts, however, had a tougher time distributing the laurel wreaths among the other contenders.

Strapless Gown Evokes Comment

PRINCE ALBERT, Sask. (CP)—Prince Albert women take the view that if you have the figure, you can wear strapless gowns.

Local women were asked about strapless formal gowns as a result of prominence given news dispatches telling how Princess Margaret had worn one publicly for the first time in London.

Alderman Marion Sherman of Prince Albert said she thought the style "most flattering to some women." Girls out of their teens with well proportioned figures were most becoming when wearing this style.

The alderman suggested that those purchasing such a gown select one with proper construction which, she said, is most essential to both the wearer and the garment.

Mrs. E. T. Martin said: "The figure must permit the wearing of the gown which will both flatter the wearer and the garment."

"They are certainly not built for strenuous dancing," was the comment of Mrs. F. Prasse, jr., a young matron who has worn such a gown on occasions.

"You have to remain a lady if you wear one. It is an extreme style which most women wear nowadays, but it is not as controversial a subject as the 'plunging neckline.'"

Miss Agnes Campbell, superintendent of nurses at the Prince Albert Sanatorium, felt that strapless gowns were only a "timely fashion" and would be replaced by other styles.

"If girls or women can wear them without a feeling of being undressed, I think it is quite all right," said Miss Campbell.

How it Feels to "Go Out Like a Light" and Have "Whale of Time"

By LARRY STANWOOD

They tell me I "went out like a light" and "just had a whale of a time" last night. Maybe I wasn't the "perfect subject" for a hypnotic experiment for I do remember some things as I alternately slept and went through antics (they tell me) before hypnotist Dr. "Tex" Morton on the stage of Civic Centre auditorium.

I was not alone on the stage. There were about a dozen other people there, facing a packed house the third night of the great show.

Dr. Morton advised me before and I would feel a "tingling sensation" before he put me to sleep. But I wanted to remember more than that.

I looked deep into the eyes of the "Master Mind." I felt he spoke to me alone. I felt there was no one else in the whole place—in fact, this huge, empty hall was getting bigger all the time, until the bigness of it engulfed my powers of thought and all I realized was a voice from the distance and I was swaying on my feet.

Suddenly I opened my eyes to bright lights and I was alone on the stage. I remember the others, sitting on chairs behind me, grinning.

That was the first test, as Dr. Morton called it.

HYPNOTIC MOOD

Then followed the "hypnotic mood." This wasn't so easy. I had trouble relaxing the way Dr. Morton wanted it. Yet I could feel a tingling in my scalp which began to spread down into my face and neck. I remember clearly how hard it was to keep up my head and so I let it drop to my chest. But still I heard clearly Dr. Morton say over and over again "you are falling into a deep sleep."

But although I found it quite impossible to raise my head I was not asleep. I heard Dr. Morton's monotone voice and I heard the audience laughing. I wanted to look—to open my eyes—but I could not and I found it very easy to do the things Dr. Morton commanded, but I knew that I was doing them.

However, there must have been times when I was completely unconscious of my actions. Daily News columnist William Raymond, told me later that I had been in "fits of convulsive laughter." I can't remember that.

All through the half-hour or so experiment I felt a strong desire to get up and leave as though some urgent matter required my presence elsewhere. I was greatly relieved when Dr. Morton asked me to get up and walk towards him.

I looked at my watch—it was 11:10 p.m. Then I remembered that I had asked the hypnotist to relieve me of my condition at that time. For a moment I did not realize where I was but it came back to me a few minutes later.

I don't think I was completely hypnotized. The sensation was similar to the stage between sound sleep and awakening when one is conscious of existence but cannot account for actions or speech.

There is no doubt in my mind of the power of hypnotism induced by suggestion, but there must be complete relaxation and a will to follow suggestions in order for a person to enter that stage of somnambulism.

I felt extremely rested when I left the stage and had difficulty going asleep again last night.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

My friend Mr. Muzzy was sitting behind Mr. Masters when this hand was played and he registered strong disapproval of the way Mr. Masters handled it.

It was another case where the pulling of opponents' trumps had to be postponed and where the timing had to be perfect.

When Mr. Meek led the king of spades and the dummy went down, Mr. Masters saw he must lose two spades and one diamond. The problem was to avoid the loss of two diamonds. If diamonds broke 3-3 this was simple. But if they broke 4-2, Mr. Masters would have to hope he could trump a diamond in dummy—without getting it overtrumped.

He won the first trick with dummy's ace of spades. Then he took one round of hearts, winning with the queen. That was the only trump he could afford at the moment. He shifted to a low diamond. Mr. Abel played the nine and Mr. Masters played low, as did Mr. Meek.

This was the key play and a beautiful bit of timing. But Mr. Muzzy didn't think so. He made a face and held his nose. The whole thing looked mighty silly to him.

Mr. Abel came out with a spade and Mr. Meek won two spade tricks. He then led a small diamond and Mr. Abel's queen fell to the king in the closed hand.

Mr. Masters now took a second round of trumps and followed with a small diamond to dummy's ace. When Mr. Abel did not trump this trick Mr. Masters knew he was home. This was the situation he had hoped and planned for—that the opponent short in diamonds also would be short in trumps.

He led back to his ace of clubs, played his last diamond and ruffed it with dummy's last trump. He got back to his hand again by ruffing a club, took

Sanitation At Kitimat

A. Schellenberg, construction superintendent for Canadian Fishing Co., who has been here in connection with the building of the company's new cannery on the ocean dock here, is sailing tomorrow night on the Coquitlam for Butedale.

And if Mr. Masters had led the ace, king and then another diamond starting at trick three, Mr. Meek could have won the third round and led a fourth diamond for Mr. Abel to trump.

Incidentally, this latter is the line of play Mr. Muzzy recommended. "You sure played it the hard and dangerous way, Masters," he said "I'd have made it much more easily."

Mr. Masters only smiled.

The Aluminum Co. of Canada development at Kitimat may soon make itself felt on the public health service of this district.

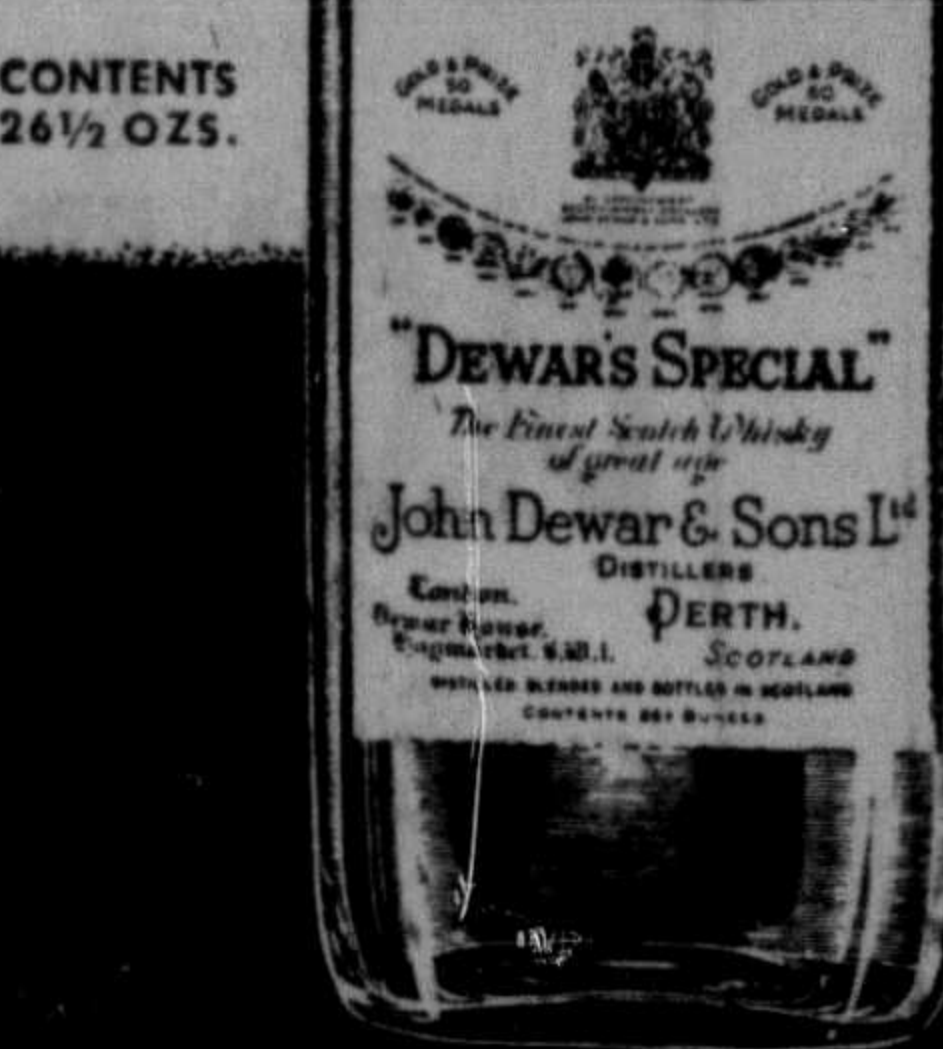

At present Kitimat and Kemano Bay sanitation is being looked after by Sanitarian Hugel Hart of Terrace who goes there by aircraft but the United Board of Health, at its quarterly meeting this week, foresaw where a full time man would soon be needed at Kitimat.

The matter is being drawn to the attention of the provincial minister of health and welfare.

Canadian Navy and U.S. Coastguard in Rescue— First Phase of Halibut Season Nears End

On her way from Kodiak to Seattle, the American halibutter Cape Spencer suddenly stopped about 380 miles due west of Prince Rupert. After several attempts to get her motors functioning again, Capt. Egil Hanson was informed from the engine room that it was useless. The timing gear was stripped, he was told.

Hundreds of miles from nowhere, the Cape Spencer drifted by radiophone, Capt. Hanson tried to contact other vessels but he got no answer. He was thinking about the 80,000 pounds of valuable cargo on which his crew of ten men depended for a living. The halibut was well-iced and in good condition—but how long would it stay that way? How long before help would come?

Eight hours later there was sighted, just before sundown, the form of a ship on the horizon. It drew nearer and the crew saw the ensign flying at the stern of the approaching vessel. It was a Canadian Navy ship, Capt. Hanson made contact by radiophone and it was not long before HMCS Cedarwood drew alongside and the crippled halibutter was under tow.

For 16 hours the Canadian Navy weather ship coached and guided the huge Cape Spencer towards the shore. The United States Coastguard at Ketchikan had been contacted and a patrol cutter had been despatched immediately.

From out of the early morning mist US Coastguard W13 hove into sight and it was only a matter of minutes before the Cedarwood was on her way again and the Cape Spencer, in tow of her new rescuer, proceeded to Prince Rupert, where she arrived at 4 p.m. yesterday, nearly 30 hours later.

At Prince Rupert dry dock, it was only a three-hour job to get the Cape Spencer under way again and headed onward to Seattle with her cargo of northern halibut. It was the first time for several of the crew to land here. Others had been here eight and 10 years ago.

Meanwhile, the rescue boat had tied up alongside a barge at the dry dock jetty. Capt. Lieut. R. Shane said they must go at once but his 15-man crew boo-ed the suggestion good-naturedly. It was decided that refreshments were first in order. As there was no way for the W13 crew to get ashore—the jetty hovered some 30 feet above them—a bucketful of money was passed up to an assistant on the dock who reappeared some minutes later with the required refreshments.

The W13 has been based at Ketchikan since March, where she finally landed after a continuous trip from Cleveland, Ohio.

The shortest halibut fishing season on record for Area No. 2A and 1B, which includes waters between Cape Blanco, Oregon, and Cape Spencer, Alaska, will come to a close at midnight May 28, a week from next Monday, which has been set as the deadline for the closure by the International Fisheries Commission. The season for this area is three days shorter than in 1950 when June 1 was the closing date. The Commission says that the limit of 25,500,000 pounds for Area 2A is expected to be reached by the deadline. Area 1B closes automatically with 2A. Fishing started on May 1. Explaining the shortness of the season, Commission spokesmen explain that the fishing fleet was larger this year and fishing was good. Fishing in Areas No. 3 and 4 will continue until later when their quota has been exhausted. In Areas 2B and 2C, newly designated this year, there will be a special open season for the first time between July 26 and August 4.

A definition of the various areas might be interesting:

Area 1A—south of Cape Blanco, Oregon.

Area 1B—Cape Blanco, Oregon, to Willapa Harbor, Washington.

Area 2A—Willapa Harbor, Washington, to Cape Spencer, Alaska, excluding Areas 2B and 2C.

Area 2B—Off the east coast of Moresby Island.

Area 2C—Off the west coast of Dall and other islands between Cape Addington and Dixon Entrance.

Area 3—Between Cape Spencer and a line running true west from Sarichef to Unimak Island.

Area 4—Bering Sea north of the Cape Sarichef line.

Up to and including yesterday halibut landings at Prince Rupert for the season to date totalled 7,429,000 pounds compared with 5,482,800 pounds at a corresponding date last year and 4,739,000 pounds in 1949.

The total landing figure for this year includes 5,300,000 pounds landed by Canadian boats from Area No. 2 247,000 pounds by Canadian vessels from Area No. 3 and 1,882,000 pounds by American vessels from Areas No. 2 and 3.

Prices on the Prince Rupert Exchange showed somewhat of a stiffening when they went up to 18c, 15c and 13c yesterday but this does not look so good against the 23c, 21c and 20c which were being averaged this time last year.

Frank Waterhouse freighter, SS Chilliwack, Capt. G. Pengelly, arrived in Prince Rupert at 6 a.m. this Wednesday with 190 tons of general cargo for this port; 50 tons of aluminum sulphate and 100 tons of cement for Columbia Cellulose Company at Watson Island, and 300 tons of cement for Albert & McCaffery Ltd.

At Stewart the SS Chilliwack will load Silbak-Premier ore and on her return will stop to load piling at Prince Rupert. Then she will proceed to the West Coast of Vancouver Island to take on a load of fish meal.

SS Alaska Prince, B.C. Steamships Ltd., arrived last Tuesday morning with cannery machinery for Canadian Fish Co. Ltd., and 100 tons of general cargo for Prince Rupert. The Alaska Prince also serviced the canneries along the Skeena River and Port Edward unloading machinery and equipment. Oil products were unloaded at the B.A. dock. At Alice Arm Alaska Prince will take on 200 tons of Torbolt ore before returning south.

Two more freighters are leaving Vancouver this week-end laden full with cargo for Prince Rupert. The Island King, Capt. Bert Gough, left the southern port at noon yesterday. The Yukon Princess, Capt. John Campbell, is leaving there Sunday night. Both vessels are due here Wednesday.

John W. Atkinson, vice-president and general manager of Kaiser-Fraser Corporation of Canada, and Mrs. Atkinson also are making the round trip this week on the Princess Louise.

Thirty-five other tourists are enjoying the inside passage cruise on the Louise this trip.
