$10,000 Fire Lipsett Warehouse Smoked and Soaked

A stubborn, smoky fire late this morning did an estimated $10,000 damage to stock in a warehouse of Edward Lipsett Limited on the local waterfront.

Robert Gilmour, sales manager suffered a rather severely cut hand trying to fight the blaze.

Manager Harry Hanson said the fire-loss was covered by insurance.

"MONTY NAMED — General Eisenhower today named Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery as his deputy commander in the Atlantic Pact Army. He chose Air Chief Marshal Sir Hugh Saunders of the Royal Air Force as his air deputy.

Cause of the fire, which started in an upstairs storage room, was thought to be faulty electric wiring. City firemen, who arrived within minutes, fought the smouldering blaze for 45 minutes, before it was brought under control.

Alarm was turned in at 10:45 a.m. by Harold Muncey, Home Oil employee, who, with Jack Cook, of Albert & McCaffery, saw smoke.

Tommy Mulhern, Lipsett salesclerk, also sent in an alarm when Helen Hamilton, stenographer, ran down from upstairs offices to say she "saw flames leaping from the warehouse roof."

Robert Gilmour, sales manager, rushed to meet the fire truck and hose in hand broke the warehouse window to shoot water on the smouldering interior. He cut his hand and was later taken to hospital. His doctor's office said both hands were "badly cut and two tendons in the right hand severed."

Fire was confined to the attic of the warehouse, where old records were stored, and in a stack of single bunk mattresses, which caused most of the billowing smoke, firemen said.

The warehouse is a 25 by 25-foot structure, adjoining main building of Edward Lipsett. It contained several barrels of fish-oil and tar which escaped the heat. Bamboo poles, several hundred feet or iron pipe and other hardware was stored there. Some sewer pipe in rear of the building was broken.

Business and dock men in the vicinity pitched in to help firemen working firemen. Heavy tin roof and sides of the warehouse helped confine the fire, said W. H. Hill, acting fire chief.

A. D. Vance, manager of Albert & McCaffery, was on the roof helping firemen punch a hole to insert hoses.

A fire hose burst, said Chief Hill. "The water pressure was terrific, but that's a lot better than too little pressure." Good use was made, he said, of two permanent fire hoses connected to water supply in the rear of the smoking building.

THE WEATHER

ALCAN'S PROJECT—The significance to central British Columbia coast and interior of the great $550,000,000 Aluminum Co. of Canada project which is now being commenced from two ends—Gardner Canal on the coast and from Vanderhoof in the interior—is effectively shown in this new map which indicates the locations of the various phases of the vast undertaking. Extensive road work has already commenced—from Kemano Bay on Gardner Canal, a distance of ten miles to the Kemano River power house site, and from Vanderhoof to the Nechako River diversion and reservoir areas.

Casualty In Korea

OTTAWA (CP)—The Army has issued its sixth casualty list of the Korean war, showing one man dead of wounds and one injured in a battle accident.

Dead is Pte. William Lapka, whose next-of-kin, Mrs. Sophia Lapka, his mother, lives on Lulu Island.

Pte. Lapka was previously reported wounded in a casualty list issued March 10.

The list brought to 74 the number of casualties suffered by the Second battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, in Korean action. They include 19 dead, 49 wounded and six injured in battle accidents.

Freedom of the Press

FREEDOM of the press is one of the great bulwarks of liberty and therefore ought never to be restrained...

A press is free when it can inform, criticize, entertain and influence without fear of reprisal or retaliation; when those in authority welcome dissemination of truth and appeal to reason.

A newsman is free to inform only when he is given access to officials, records and meetings. When is he free to entertain? Only when he can write freely, without fear. What he writes may be humorous, or satirical—it may even expose the prominent to ridicule. Be that as it may, he must feel free to present his impressions and ideas.

And when a newsman feels he must influence, or criticize, in order to best serve the public, he must have the right—and accept the responsibility—to expose and oppose the government, the church, business or labor.

When we shackle the press, we shackle ourselves, for wherever people govern themselves they must have freedom of communication. We cannot limit or censor the press on one hand and still maintain our liberty or democracy on the other.

Who can strangle the press? This can be done internally and externally. From the outside, such forces as the government, churches, pressure groups and vested interests may attempt to tinker with the truth.

Any of these forces may say: "Don't print that"—which is censorship, or "Print that," which is propaganda. Officials may withhold information temporarily or even permanently. Certain groups may refuse to approve or support, thus also bludgeoning the press into silence.

Internally, by lack of coverage or a choice of headline, location in the paper and position on the page, news may be suppressed.

Our press, comparatively, is free today, but for how long? Only as long as we guard jealously our heritage which has commanded that we "hold the freedom of the press sacred;" only as long as we uphold the factors contributing to this freedom.

There still are people today who cannot distinguish between news and opinions in a newspaper. And such people will take a stand against the newspaper, often when it has served them best.

Only on the editorial page should there be expression of opinion, or policy, which has been laid down for the express benefit of the community served by the newspaper. A news story is an item of interest to the public which carries an unbiased report of events, interviews, public speeches or actions of those in public or private life which affect the lives of others, and thus becomes news.

Opinions, ideas, statements or facts in a news story are not opinions, ideas, statements or facts given by the newspaper, but by individuals or groups concerned. A reporter conveys to readers "what happened," as closely as possible covering the actual situation.

But a newsman is far from infallible, although his highest aim is toward truth and accuracy.

INDIA'S 'SECTION 98'

NEW DELHI, India.—For the past week and a half I have watched the parliament of the newest and, potentially, mightiest democracy in the world dealing with democracy's deepest dilemma.

I have watched India's parliament enact the new Preventive Detention Act, which to a Canadian is all-too-reminiscent of the Section 98 of our Criminal Code.

India's Preventive Detention Act gives the government power to arrest and imprison any persons carrying on activities which are held (by the government) to endanger the nation. Apart from the compulsory review of the documents of each case by an advisory board, the persons arrested have no right to trial, no right of habeas corpus—in fact, none of the rights which are supposed to be the very bedrock of Western-style democracy.

ALTHOUGH THE BILL HAD A rough ride, and although the debate on it was keen and long, it finally passed with only one audible "No."

One could not help but ask, in looking down at that Chamber, whether the members themselves realized the deep significance of what they were doing.

Many of them—I imagine most of them—had themselves been in prison, under a much similar act, in the last decades of British imperial rule here. Yet here they were calmly passing a law almost identical with the law which they themselves so loudly and properly denounced when they were its victims.

THERE ARE AT PRESENT between two thousand and three thousand persons held in detention under this act. Most of these detained persons are Communists. But there are some militant Sikh nationalists, also some extreme right wingers of the type implicated in the murder of Gandhi.

Yet in the course of the debate I heard one speaker say that no less than 889 Socialists had been imprisoned under this act at one time or another. Nobody denied that charge, and I myself have asked many MPs about it. They do not deny its truth, but they explain (and the Socialists themselves admit) that the arrests took place where organized Pay-Not-Rent campaigns were under way.

That is, the Socialists here in some parts, tangle with the law because they indulge in direct action tactics such as calling on peasants in such and such an area not to pay any rent to the landlords. The government itself is behind a very far-reaching scheme of land-ownership reform, which is not being challenged in the courts as "ultra vires."

But meanwhile, under the Emergency Detention Act, it steps in to halt activities of a direct-action pattern.

THE DILEMMA SO HIGHLIGHTED in India is obvious:

Can a democracy remain a democracy if it adopts police state methods which deny an accused person of fair trial in court?

But on the other hand, can a democracy survive if it permits the extension of violent methods to the point where they, in fact, paralyze whole sections of the country or, in effect, over-ride the laws of the land?

I HEARD ONE SOCIALIST MP snap at an interrupter: "Your turn will come, under this very law." He went on to say that when the parties now victimized by the law came into parliamentary power they themselves could use the very law of detention-without-trial to work revenge.

It must be a sobering truth for all democrats to ponder the fact that the very law now used to combat the Communists could be used, without changing a single letter, to legalize and justify detaining the vast numbers held in forced labor camps in Communist countries.

UNDER THE PRESENT CONGRESS Party leadership, there is no more question of the abuse of this law than under our own very similar wartime statutes. Yet, even the friendliest and most hopeful outside observer, such as myself, cannot help but ask what would happen in a country like India if the political pendulum swung either to the far left or far right.

Of course, I have no patience with the argument that demo-

PLANNING A NEW DOMINION

NEW DOMINION—Proposals to establish a new British Dominion in Central Africa are being explored. The problems and advantages of closer association between Southern and Northern Rhodesia and Nyasaland are being investigated. The total area of the three territories is 472,000 square miles—five times as big as the United Kingdom. The total population is under 2,000,000 of whom only 163,000 are Europeans. These two facts provide the main problems the experts will have to consider. Because of the vastness of the territory and its under-population the cost of central services is likely to be high. The desire of the tiny white minority to assert political domination over the African majority—as in Southern Rhodesia, the most constitutionally advanced of the three territories—creates a serious, if not insuperable, obstacle.

Report from Parliament

By E. T. APPLEWHITE, M.P.

Would Help Gold Industry—New Form of Estimates—Migratory Birds

Hon. Douglas Abbott, minister of finance, with, as he said, the concurrence of Hon. George Prudham, minister of mines and technical surveys, recently made a statement regarding gold. He said that representations had been made relating to the prevailing difficult conditions in the industry resulting from the increasing cost of production in the face of a fixed price for the industry's product, and including recommendations for various changes in legislation or policy designed to assist the industry in meeting conditions and to avoid the closing down of mines with the hardship this would cause to a number of small northern communities largely or wholly dependent upon such mines. The Canadian government had been informed by the International Monetary Fund that its staff was currently studying the situation arising out of the recent sharp increase in sales of gold in hoarding markets and had already decided to request the board to give urgent consideration to the whole question. He then quoted the board's resolution which in effect admitted at least partial failure. Therefore for the present at any rate—the Emergency Gold Mining Assistance Act will be continued with modifications which it is hoped will more effectively assist the industry. Full details will be given us by Mr. Prudham later.

Mr. Abbott has also tabled the main estimates for the coming fiscal year. These are in a new form which is supposed to assist one in finding a particular item. I confess I did better with the old form. This year the Treasury Board has followed the suggestion of the Public Accounts Committee that it avoid, so far as possible, votes having a legislative purpose instead of an appropriation purpose—this really is an improvement. The suggestion that various departments crats in India or elsewhere should sit passive while the whole basis of operating democracy is undermined by those who admit that they intend to abolish democracy at the earliest opportunity.

DISPRIN is soluble and substantially neutral. When taken in water as recommended, it enters the stomach as a true solution and not as undissolved particles. It is therefore less liable to cause stomach discomfort.

DISPRIN is readily absorbed. Because it definitely dissolves (not merely disintegrates) DISPRIN permits speedy absorption and gives quicker relief.

DISPRIN is palatable. Even children will take it readily.

Palm Sunday Nuns Are Is Observed Charged

Large congregations attended both morning and evening services in First United Church on Palm Sunday. Rev. Lawrence G. Sieber spoke at both services and Holy Communion was observed. A pleasing feature was that twelve new members had joined the church at this season of the year.

Continuing his series of talks on the significance of the Lord's Prayer, Mr. Sieber spoke of the fuller meaning of the phrase, "Forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us." The junior choir sang a special number. Miss Yvonne Larson was a competent accompanist at the organ.

In the evening service the church choir, with John E. Davey as guest soloist, gave the sacred cantata "The Seven Words," by Theodore Duvois. Dr. R. G. Large sang the baritone numbers and Mrs. R. G. Large and Mrs. A. P. Crawley soprano items. The choir was heard to good advantage in their rendering of this dramatic interpretation of the Seven Words. Mr. Sieber introduced the cantata and gave the historic background of the events portrayed. Mr. Davey gave a moving interpretation of the tenor numbers with their poignant messages. Dr. Large sang with rare feelings his solos. Their duet with the choir supplying a choral background was possibly the outstanding number. An unaccompanied male chorus was very effectively done and the ladies' voices were notably sweet even in the fortissimo passages. Henry Pluym was a very capable accompanist. The whole was under the direction of choir leader John S. Wilson.

The offertory voluntary in which Mrs. G. Freeman at the piano, and Mr. Pluym at the organ, combined was a very much appreciated number. These piano and organ duets are becoming a notable feature of the musical part of the church services.

COMICS MOST POPULAR

There was a time, the newsy went on, when "the pulps" pulled down the big sales but they're gradually being replaced by pocket books. Still big sellers to women readers are the confession magazines, the love and romance pulps.

"You know, the real hot stuff," A good newsy is supposed to read his own magazines, but he added with a laugh: "Gosh, I'd get so muddled up, what with all the intimate secrets of the authors, and my own secrets—I wouldn't know which belonged to whom."

Although there are no longer the organized arguments of the past, a news stand is still a colorful place, in Jones' opinion. "It's a great place to study people, because you get them all in here. You can tell their desires, their preferences and in many cases their way of thinking just by the kind of reading matter they buy."

OTTAWA — Commenting on dispatches from Hong Kong that Communist authorities in China are holding Canadian nuns under arrest for neglecting orphans under their care, Hon. L. B. Pearson, minister of external affairs, said that the nuns were being held for propaganda purposes.

E. D. Fulton, M.P. for Kamloops, declared the charges were "obviously trumped up." Mr. Pearson said that steps would be taken to investigate the charges through the British embassy at Peking. There was little that could be done directly through Canadian channels since there was no diplomatic representation in China.

HONG KONG (CP)—Five Canadian Roman Catholic nuns, who have devoted their lives to caring for Chinese orphans, are under arrest awaiting trial by Communist authorities in Canton.

Hong Kong's pro-Communist newspapers today featured lengthy reports on the nuns. They were not named. Reports said that the nuns will be charged with neglecting orphans in their care at an orphanage attached to the Convent of the Immaculate Conception at Canton in South China. They are alleged to have caused the deaths of 2,000 children.

The newspaper, in an article early this month, criticized the work of the nuns.

Experts, long connected with welfare work in China, said here that the charges are "utterly fantastic."

ICED HOT CROSS BUNS

They're "topping" made with new fast Dry Yeast

Scale 1 1/4 c. milk, 1/4 c. granulated sugar, 2 tps. salt and 5 tbs. shortening; stir in 1 c. crisp breakfast-bran cereal and cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile, measure into a large bowl 1/2 c. lukewarm water, 2 tps. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 2 envelopes Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 mins. THEN stir well. Add cooled milk mixture and stir in 2 well-beaten eggs. Sift together twice 4 c. once-sifted bread flour, 3 tps. ground cinnamon, 1 tsp. grated nutmeg. Stir about half of this mixture into yeast mixture; beat until smooth. Mix in 1 c. seedless raisins and 1/4 c. chopped candied peels. Work in remaining flour mixture. Grease top of dough. Cover and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Turn out on lightly-floured board and knead until smooth and elastic. Divide into 2 equal portions; cut each portion into 12 equal-size pieces; knead each piece into a smooth round bun. Place, well apart, on greased cookie sheets and cross each bun with narrow strips of pastry, if desired. Grease tops. Cover and let rise until doubled in bulk. Bake in a hot oven, 425°, 18-20 mins. Glaze hot buns by brushing them lightly with corn syrup. Other treatments: Use confectioners' icing for crosses, on baked buns... or spread cooled buns with white icing and make crosses with chopped nuts.

COMICS MOST POPULAR

There was a time, the newsy went on, when "the pulps" pulled down the big sales but they're gradually being replaced by pocket books. Still big sellers to women readers are the confession magazines, the love and romance pulps.

"You know, the real hot stuff," A good newsy is supposed to read his own magazines, but he added with a laugh: "Gosh, I'd get so muddled up, what with all the intimate secrets of the authors, and my own secrets—I wouldn't know which belonged to whom."

Although there are no longer the organized arguments of the past, a news stand is still a colorful place, in Jones' opinion. "It's a great place to study people, because you get them all in here. You can tell their desires, their preferences and in many cases their way of thinking just by the kind of reading matter they buy."

George Evans at Front in Korea

Another letter has been received from George Evans of Prince Rupert, serving with the Canadian troops in Korea. It was mailed March 4 to his father, E.

A. Evans, in this city. George wrote that he was no longer in the military police service, being now right in the ranks and on duty at the front. At the time of writing, weather was still wintry. A supply of charcoal had helped in providing at least some warmth.

Mr. Masters had to do a very special bit of trump suit management to bring home his contract in today's hand. Seemingly the contract depended on guessing the location of the queen of trumps. Mr. Masters guessed that correctly but he still had a lot of work to do.

The opponents started off by winning three club tricks, ending in Mr. Abel's hand. He then shifted to a small diamond and Mrs. Keen's eight spot forced the ace from the closed hand. Mr. Masters led a small trump to dummy's king and a trump back, finessing the 10. The 10 field and that was good, but Mr. Abel snowed out discarding a little diamond—which was very bad indeed. The queen of hearts was located in Mrs. Keen's hand but unfortunately there were no more trumps in rummy to lead through for another finesse.

There was still a chance to make the hand and the first thing Mr. Masters had to do was to reduce his trumps to the same number held by Mrs. Keen. He led a diamond to the king on the board, played a diamond back and ruffed it.

Then, needing two more entries to the dummy, he led the seven of spades and put the jack in from the board when Mr. Abel played low.

Dummy's last diamond was now trumped with the seven of hearts. Mrs. Keen discarding the five of spades.

Mr. Masters now overtook his king of spades with the ace and the hand was made when Mrs. Keen followed. Mr. Masters was down to the ace-jack of hearts while Mrs. Keen had left the queen and nine of hearts. A spade was led from the dummy at the 21st trick and it was all over.

(By Arthur Bruce Brown Secretary)

FAVORS CO-OP

Tonight around eleven August MacPhee and his Co-op crew should be celebrating another Senior League basketball championship and for many supporters of the Brownwood entry it may mean the end of a season of frustrated hopes which were sometimes given a life by watching their favorites run all over the opposition and then be suddenly slapped down in an exhibition of listless playing.

At this late date it is hard for me to say I have not shown a leaning towards the shoemen and with a few others I am disappointed over the showing they made Saturday night when they had their big chance to pick off the city title. It must be granted that Co-op had a good evening, that Ted Arney was nothing short of spectacular, and that Brownwoods were finding the hoop rather elusive. Yet those conditions hardly warranted a difference of thirty points on the evening's performance. It could be different tonight and, for the Brownwoods sponsors, it would be nice to see a victory for their side and a league championship at last.

PRINCE GEORGE COMING

This week we will see Prince George's representatives at the Civic Centre playing our Jets in a semi-final for the B.C. Senior B championships. Prince George is not expected to produce anything much in the line of stiff opposition for the local team as this is their first attempt in such company. It will be interesting, however, to see what strength the interior city can muster for their initial assault.

VANCOUVER OR PENTICTON

Vancouver Arctics and Penticton start the other end of the semi-final at Penticton this week and the winner of that series will play the winner of the Prince Rupert-Prince George series early in April. Coach Alex Bill of the Jets is eagerly awaiting a chance to tangle with Penticton's best who beat us out in the finals last season. Penticton took our lads two straight in the peach centre to grab the Senior B title after it had rested here for two seasons. This would be a logical year for the return of the laurels to our city and it looks as though we have the material to handle the job.

LEAFS UNLIKELY

Vancouver Clover Leafs who were supposed to show here some time this season are now unlikely prospects, according to Don Forward and local B.C. Packer representative Doug Souter. It seems

TRAILING the MELON

— with —

the Leafs are now deep in play-offs and unable to make the trip until after the Dominion finals which might be some time around Labor Day.

MOHAWK CASUALTY

The California Mohawks, who were also supposed to put in an appearance here, were stricken with the flu epidemic in the south and their ranks were so depleted they had to cancel many engagements including ours and return home.

A HAND FOR COMADINA

Sat beside Ernie Santurbane through Saturday night's games and Ernie, now Captain, was much impressed with the basketball picture locally. Recalling the days when he shone brilliantly as an athlete hereabouts, Ernie spoke of the many changes and of the opportunity afforded the youngsters in the game nowadays. "The only feature that hasn't changed is Johnny Comadina," stated Ernie. "He still calls them as tough as anyone I've seen anywhere." While looking back with Ernie it was obvious that we have been very sparing in our praise of the work Johnny has done for the game down through the years and at times yet we are inclined to show little appreciation.

FASHION TAKES IT

Maurice Teng and his Fashion Footwear suddenly came to life in picking off the Bo-Me-Hi squad for the intermediate championship and surely it must have been a shock to the students. Rumor has it that Coach Jack Evans and his lads were having a bit of trouble prior to the final game the other evening and probably the boys have learned a lesson from the showing they put up after leading the league all season. Possibly they could be reminded that not long ago Bo-Me-Hi won the senior title two years in a row after proving themselves for too good for an intermediate league. It is not my intention to take any of the credit away from the Fashion crew as they played much better in the two games of the finals than they did any of their showings during the regular league. They were, undoubtedly, the better team and I am sure they were elated over the outcome.

SEE JUVENILES

If you can get out in time tonight try to get down in time to see the Juveniles in action in the first game of the evening. These youngsters, playing their first night games, are both clever and amusing and have a dash of college try in every play.

RECORD ENTRY LIST—
Music and Drama Festival
Has International Aspect

With over 160 entries, the organizing committee has great hopes for the Music and Drama Festival here May 2, 3 and 4. Entries come from Ketchikan, Aiyansh, Terrace and New Hazelton, with an abundance of participation from the city.

"Last year we had 106 and the large number of entries this year will be a problem—but we are very pleased with the interest shown," said Mrs. E. W. Becker, president of the Music and Drama Association here.

Program convener R. G. Moore is now compiling the program that will adjust the entry schedule.

Because of the heavy program the executive feel that they may have to hold morning adjudication as well as the usual afternoon and evening sessions.

Although the final list has not been completed for publication, city drama entries will include plays from the Girl Guides, Business and Professional Women's Club, Booth Memorial High School and the Little Theatre. Much elocution, pianoforte and dancing will also compete, the president said.

Something different in Prince Rupert entries will be two all-boy choirs that will be included in the program.

Mrs. Becker reports good participation from the schools with five separate entries, including Annunciation School.

From the district there are brass band and the adult St. Peter's Church choir, from Aiyansh; many musical entries from Ketchikan, including violin, cello and a string quartet; a vocal and adult drama entry from Terrace, and vocal and choir entries from New Hazelton.

Lillian Knutson Beautiful
Bride of California Man

A lovely candlelight wedding was solemnized at St. Paul's Lutheran Church on Sunday at 4 p.m., when Lillian Agnes, younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Knutson of this city, became the bride of Roy Eugene, only son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Hurlig of Patterson, California. Rev. Earl Sollard officiated at the double ring ceremony. The church was tastefully decorated with baskets of spring flowers.

The bride, beautifully gowned in rich white satin, with heavy lace overskirt, made a pretty picture as she entered the church on the arm of her father. Her dainty veil, falling from a pretty headpiece, was of fingertip length. She carried a bouquet of deep red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Ethel Knutson, sister of the bride, was the only attendant. She was attired in a gown of pale pink lace with full net overskirt and carried a bouquet of pink carnations. For her hair she chose a matching pink net cap.

The groom was attended by his brother-in-law, Julian Rapp of Crow's Landing, California.

Ushers were Clifford Knutson and James Georgeson.

RECEPTION

After the ceremony guests gathered at the Civic Centre Common Lounge for the reception. They were received by the mother of the bride and the sister of the groom, Mrs. J. Rapp, who came up from California for the occasion.

The bride's mother was attired in an afternoon length dress of deep blue with grey accessories and wore a corsage of pink carnations, while the groom's sister was attired in a navy blue dress with pink and navy accessories and wore a corsage of white carnations.

The bride and groom stood in front of the fireplace, which had been decorated with pussy willows and spring flowers, to receive the felicitations of their many friends.

Pete Petersen acted as master of ceremonies. Rev. Earl Sollard proposed the toast to the bride, which was suitably responded to by the groom, while Percy Knutson proposed the toast to the bridesmaid.

The bride's table was covered with a lovely lace cloth and centred with a beautiful 3-tier wedding cake, made by the

Legion W.A.

Celebrating its eighteenth birthday, the Canadian Legion Auxiliary held a banquet and card party at the Legion Hall last week.

After presentation of flags by the standard bearers, grace was said by the Sergeant at Arms and a turkey dinner followed.

Glowing with 18 candles, a large birthday cake was cut by the president, Mrs. G. V. Hanley. Referring to the time when the ladies' auxiliary in its 1933 inception was but a "baby," Mrs. Hanley said that the auxiliary was now in its teens but still required a lot of looking after.

After her report Mrs. Hanley presented Mrs. W. Rothwell with the past president's pin, to which was added the gold bar, for being re-elected to the chair. Mrs. Rothwell was also president in 1940-41. After being presented with a bouquet of spring flowers, Mrs. Rothwell replied to the presentation.

Toasts to the King and the charter members, several of whom attended, were included in the dinner ceremonies attended by 67 auxiliary members.

Following the banquet, bridge, whist and cribbage was played. On the committee in charge were Mrs. Harley Lewis and Mrs. A. Holbrook.

TRAINED MOTHERS

VANCOUVER (CP)—Medical health officer Dr. Stewart Murray and his assistant Dr. George Elliott said, on return from a civil defence conference at Ottawa, that every mother should learn first aid work. They believed women in a future war would be called on heavily for emergency work.

bride's mother. The cake was cut by Mrs. J. Morin.

Servitors were Misses Lois Long, Yvonne Morin, Elizabeth Holmes and Mrs. Dupuis. Miss Alford Knutson passed the bride's book.

Several telegrams of congratulations were received from friends in California and were read by Mr. Sollard.

The happy couple left on the Chilcotin for Vancouver. From there they will motor to Modesto, California, where they will reside. The groom is at present attending Modesto Junior College.

For going away the bride chose a tan tailored suit, topped by a coral shortie coat and accented with black accessories. She wore a corsage of white gardenias. A gold wrist watch was the groom's gift to the bride.

The bride has been a resident of Prince Rupert since childhood and took her schooling here. Since graduation she has been a popular member of the office staff of the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

But Still Snow

STEWART—The weather has moderated slightly but snow continues to fall and all the ardent gardeners, who were hoping for an early spring, are now wondering when they will be able to get busy planting. They are optimistically preparing things for the opening of the season even though there is still four feet of snow on the flats.

A mercy flight to Kemano Bay brought two Northern Construction Co. road construction men to Prince Rupert Saturday afternoon. Gorth Nicholson was admitted to the Prince Rupert General Hospital while W. Buhler, who had an eye injury, continued to Vancouver by Canadian Pacific Airlines yesterday. Norman Jermyn was the pilot of the Queen Charlottes Airlines plane that flew the men here.

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

Another Law to Break—Hospital Insurance
Stirs People—What Next for Bennett?

VICTORIA.—It now appears we have another law that the government knows it can't enforce in its entirety. For years the Liquor Law has been on the books and the government knows it can't be enforced because the public won't co-operate in enforcing it.

Now we have the Hospital Insurance Act and the government has enunciated the thoroughly bad principle that if you can't pay—well, nothing much will happen to you. True, blood can't be drawn from a stone—but for cabinet ministers to stand in the Legislature and advise people to break the law is not only dangerous, it leads to contempt for all laws on the part of the public.

Mrs. Tilly Rolston said at the beginning of the session that, with hospital insurance, the government has a lion by the tail. Her statement seemed extreme at the time but not so now. In the memory of this reviewer, no subject has stirred up the people quite like hospital insurance.

It has become a political question within the Coalition, of course. Finance Minister Anscomb is determined that it will pay its own way. The Liberal wing of the Coalition would have taken the deficits from Consolidated Revenue or increased the sales tax—the painless way. Mr. Anscomb would have no part of it. Maurice Finnelly, Liberal-Coalitionist of Similkameen, gave the show away. He said hospital deficits couldn't come from consolidated revenue because of the political viewpoint of the Minister of Finance. Mr. Anscomb, giving his budget, said a most extraordinary thing—as from one cabinet minister minister to another. He said he hoped Health and Welfare Minister Turnbull would administer the Act in a realistic fashion because, if he didn't, there'd be more shortages. Mr. Anscomb seemed to say that he hadn't much faith in Mr. Turnbull and his Liberal colleagues.

It's not often a Government loses five supporters over a major measure. But that's what happened over hospital insurance—and W. A. C. Bennett, Conservative-Coalition, South Okanagan quit the government benches altogether and became an Independent. And, standing in their places on the floor of the House and defiantly voting against the Government were Andrew Whisker of Cowichan-Newcastle; Maurice Finnelly of Similkameen; Mrs. Tilly Rolston of Point Grey and Dr. J. J. Gillis of Yale.

Mr. Bennett, having made his decision, and gone through with it, seemed to have a sense of new-found freedom. His desk was changed from the front should be charged with rent for the space they occupy in government buildings, and for other services, including postage, was carefully considered and was not—I am glad to say—adopted.

It was my privilege to move the second reading of the B.C. Telephone Company bill applying for amendments to their incorporation Act. I endeavored—I doubt if successfully—to ward off discussion of the merits of the various sections, by quoting authorities which stated that such discussions should take place in committee. The bill was "talked out" which means that it was not concluded the day it was introduced and has now gone to the foot of the list to await its turn on the "next round."

I was very much impressed with the friendly and helpful way in which "Mike Pearson" of External Affairs intervened in a debate on a private member's resolution asking for certain consideration for Newfoundland under the Migratory Birds Convention. Mike, with a disarming smile, admitted complete ignorance of turrs and bullbirds which were the subject of the resolution. He defended the Convention as advantageous to both Canada and the United States and thought that an amendment to the Convention as demanded in the Newfoundland resolution might be impossible, but he volunteered without delay to enter into discussions with the U. S. government to try to get for the Newfoundlanders the privileges they were asking for.

You certainly never know what you are going to run into in this business. We have received from the Senate a special Act of Parliament to extend the time for completing the patent application of one George R. Hanks, who apparently made some technical slip in this application, which cannot be corrected any other way.

government benches and placed up against the CCF. Mr. Bennett seemed happy and content. Everyone speculated on his future. What does the future hold for this stormy petrel? There were those who said he's finished; others that he's just starting to become a noted provincial political figure, that he would organize the Social Credit and attempt to lead that party to victory in the next election.

The Government, after the first shock of seeing one of its supporters walk out, was doubtless glad for Mr. Bennett has been a constant trouble-maker in caucus. Now that he has gone the Government will get its way a little more easily.

Mr. Bennett's action created a housing problem in the Legislative Buildings. He no longer can use the Coalition members' room, and there isn't anywhere else to put him but some corner will be found after the Easter recess. The CCF members have a big common room; Opposition Leader Harold Winch has his own office; Tom Uphill, being a party of one, has his own room and Mrs. Tilly Rolston has a room to herself.

VEGETABLES ON PARADE—MANY FACTORS ENTER INTO COOKING

In the store, closely grouped together, are vegetables—the crisp, green leafy ones, bright yellow ones, the red, the whites, the strong flavored, and the mild flavored, all awaiting the lot that shall be theirs. Just think of the good color, the interesting texture, and the variety as well as food value, they give to our meals.

Long ago people didn't know about the many vegetables which we use today. We remember reading old stories where tomatoes were considered poisonous. What would we do without them today? Spinach came to us from Persia; onions and their kin originated in Asia and were used in Biblical times; carrots got their start in the near East; Letts and Swiss chard were known to the Romans; the Irish potato, contrary to its name, is supposed to be a native of the Americas.

According to food rules we should have at least one serving of potatoes and at least two servings of other vegetables, preferably leafy, green or yellow, and frequently raw, each day. Does your family get its fair share of vegetables? Canadians, we find, do not eat nearly as many vegetables as do our neighbors to the south.

Granted, many families are using sufficient amounts of vegetables but much of the food value the vegetables should contain may have been destroyed by improper cooking. The very best vegetable, be it fresh, canned or frozen, is excellent when properly cooked, but may be ruined by poor cooking technique. Vegetables should be cooked only long enough to soften the cellulose, but not long enough to make them mushy. We like them best when they have that crisp-tender texture which each home-maker strives to attain in cooked vegetables. This, of course, all leads up to one important point—timing. When properly timed, all the sweet, natural flavor of the vegetable is retained. When overcooked, the flavor is literally cooked away. Perfect timing is not as easy as it sounds. A minute milder or timing clock will help to do the job right, but the wise homemaker uses a lot of common sense as well. Naturally, young carrots, tiny, crisp and tender and old carrots which are big, husky and mature will need different cooking times. Follow timing directions of course, but vary the timing to suit the size of the vegetable, the age, its freshness and even its variety.

To retain much of the goodness of the vegetables they should be cooked in the least possible amount of water and the cooking liquid should be saved for gravies, soups and vegetable juice cocktails.

How should you cook your vegetables? To answer that, a great many factors enter into the picture. First of all, to what method of cookery does the vegetable lend itself. Green vegetables call mainly for boiling or steaming, but with most root vegetables almost any method of cookery may be used.

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

B.C. Steamships freighter Alaska Prince, Capt. Tom Garrett, arrived in port at 7 o'clock last evening from Vancouver and is unloading general cargo here today before proceeding to Watson Island. After discharging cargo there for Columbia Cellulose, the vessel will leave tomorrow for various points on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

More supplies for the Aluminum Co. of Canada road construction camp at Kemano Bay were unloaded Friday afternoon from the northbound Frank Waterhouse freighter Island King, Capt. A. E. Gough. They consisted of 28 tons of diesel oil in barrels; 150 gasoline kegs; a shipment of pipe and two large tanks for the Imperial Oil station. On her way up, the coast freighter unloaded two tanks at Namu, an eight-ton tractor for the Department of Indian Affairs at Bella Bella. General freight was left at Butedale by the Island King, which continued to Prince Rupert Saturday morning. Aluminum sulphate, cement and other supplies for Watson Is. were unloaded Saturday from the vessel which went on to Kincolith with wood pipe. While at Alice Arm, rails, lumber and one ore car are to be unloaded and 75 tons of coal will be left at Stewart. On the south-bound trip, 600 tons of concentrates will be taken on at Stewart, with the cargo completed by 200 tons of sacked concentrates from Alice Arm.

Strange Love
Story Filmed

Moving recital of a strange and idyllic love story, "September Affair," starring Joan Fontaine, Joseph Cotton and Francoise Rosay, comes to the screen of the Capitol Theatre here this Wednesday and Thursday. It is the story of two Americans in Italy who are mistakenly reported dead and make the most of the error by breaking all ties with the past to embark on a new life together.

Joan Fontaine, as an American pianist studying on the continent, meets Joseph Cotton on a New York-bound plane. Cotton is estranged from his wife and, when their plane is forced down in Naples, the two go into the city on a sight-seeing tour. The plane leaves without them and, when it crashes at sea, they are listed among those lost. This gives them the opportunity to start life anew. However, Cotton's family finally learns that he is still alive and the two return to America to choose between their new love and their old lives. The solution of the affair is reached in a stirring climax.

FIRST AID PROGRAM

At a special first aid program sponsored by the Junior Chamber of Commerce, R. E. Eyoifson, St. John Ambulance instructor, will be guest speaker over the local radio station CFPR this evening. Interviewed by Hugh MacKenzie, Mr. Eyoifson will talk on the need of first aid instruction for civil defence. "We welcome all those who are interested in first aid to attend our classes. Women, since they are in the homes, are particularly urged to learn first aid," said the local instructor, Mr. Eyoifson. Roy MacKenzie will be the Jay-Cee news broadcaster.
