

People's Army Raised To Fight Communists

FOR THREE YEARS the homes of Malaysians have been ravaged by Chinese Communist bandits sweeping out of the jungles. Now, under British leadership, the people are raising their own army to defend their lives and property. Pictured (right holding cane) is Sir Henry Gurney, British High Commissioner, addressing a parade of the Bentong Home Guard, the first raised in Malaysia's State of Pahang. Britain has so far raised about 50,000 men in the Far East, Korea accounting for some 25,000 and Malaysia for 17,500.

Sulphur Plant Projected St. Laurent Coming West

Writing in the Vancouver Sun, Lloyd Turner, business editor of that paper, says that Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. is considering the putting in of a plant in connection with the Watson Island mill which would use iron pyrites from British Columbia for the making of sulphur used in the plant.

It has been previously reported that Columbia Cellulose had been negotiating with the British government near Vancouver for pyrites lying on the dump in large quantities.

There is also an important pyrites property on the Esquimalt River on which development operations are being resumed again. It has been suggested that this ore might also be used with the pulp mill industry.

Would Aid Yugoslavia

Austin Makes All-out Promise of Help in Case of Soviet Attack

NEW YORK — Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate to the United Nations, said Monday night that, if Yugoslavia is attacked by Russia, the United Nations will go to the rescue.

Austin made his statement in response to questions by United Nations correspondents on the radio-television show "United or Not?" He said that the United Nations last fall adopted a program called "Peace Through Deeds" which committed all members to a program of "All For One and One for All." This, he said, meant military aid in case of attacks.

"There is one thing I would like to say," the United Nations delegate declared, "if Yugoslavia is attacked, we—the United Nations—will go to her rescue."

Austin added, however, that he does not believe any Soviet attack on Yugoslavia is imminent.

Later Report Discounted

WHEATON—Searching authorities today discounted a report yesterday that the missing Canadian Pacific Air Lines Tokyo-bound plane had communicated with Whitehorse early on the morning of July 21, an hour after the Cape Spencer message which is again stated officially to have been the last heard. The search continues on that basis with no trace yet found of the missing aircraft.

IRAN OIL FLOW DRIES UP TODAY

Vietnam Governor Is Slain Standard Demanded DiMaggio Makes Up For Boner Greatest Refinery In World At Standstill

Canada To Make No More Shipments until Rifle Type Settled

MONTREAL (CP) — Canada served notice on her Atlantic Pact allies today that she is through making major arms shipments to Europe until the wrangle over a common rifle is settled.

Defence Minister Claxton indicated that Canada is prepared to take a tough stand on standardization at a meeting to be held in Washington August 2.

The rifle question involves the use of either the United States Garand or the .280 British type rifle.

"This is likely the last large shipment of arms we shall make for some time," he told the Italian ambassador at a ceremony of turning over a large consignment of arms for use of the Italian army.

NEW YORK (CP) — Joe DiMaggio singled in Joe Collins from second with two out in the last of the ninth inning to give New York Yankees a 5 to 4 victory over Detroit Tigers Monday night.

DiMaggio's clutch hit atoned for a "boner" he pulled in the eighth inning when, after catching a long fly by Steve Couchcock for the second Tiger out, he allowed George Kell to score from second. Joe held the ball, thinking it was the third out.

The victory, New York's 33rd in 44 games at the Yankee Stadium, increased the Yankees' first place margin over the idle Cleveland Indians and the Boston Red Sox to 2 1/2 games.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Cincinnati Reds came fighting back grimly from a five-run deficit and broke a five-all deadlock with Philadelphia in the last of the ninth off Bobby Adams' single and Connie Ryan's triple to win 6 to 5. The victory snapped a seven-game National League losing streak for the Reds.

Broke Faith With Natives

Alert Bay Hospital Uses Special Funds to Pay Salary Checks

ALERT BAY—The Alert Bay Hospital, a 61-bed institution, had to "break faith" with natives who raised $4000—$3000 from a Victoria Day celebration and $1000 from other events for special hospital purposes—by digging into this fund to pay salary checks when the bank cut off an overdraft, the committee of the legislature investigating the British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service was told here.

M. S. Todd, a director of the hospital, made this admission to the committee which called here Saturday while flying to Ocean Falls and Prince Rupert.

Mr. Todd said there had been trouble making collections from the Workmen's Compensation Board which owed it $11,000.

"Since BCHIS came into operation, we can't make our own plans," Mr. Todd said. "We just feel helpless."

It was last month that this occurred. "We are in such bad shape that the bank cut off our overdraft," Mr. Todd testified. "All we could do was take that $4000 and break faith with the Indians. Now we feel that we owe them that money."

New Halibut Landed Here

First landing in Prince Rupert of halibut from the new areas was made this morning by the Canadian Fishing Co. packer, Cape Perry, Capt. Henry Helin, with 55,000 pounds. Fish are from Area 2B.

Weather "is holding fair and prospects look good," reports the Cape Perry. No word so far has been received from the northern area, 2C.

Meanwhile, trolling near the north end of the Queen Charlotte Islands is still holding "strong" with fishermen taking every advantage of the weather.

Selching has improved in the Naas, it was reported today. Several vessels also are working Ogden Channel and Whale Channel.

Gillnetting in the Naas and Skeena River areas has settled to averages of about 25 daily.

Still Hope For Truce

But Fighting Goes On Steadily in Korea—Pyongyang Hard Hit

UNITED NATIONS HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA — Cease-fire negotiators bargained for more than three hours yesterday and again for one hour and 34 minutes today but made no progress toward ending the shooting. Instead, they agreed that the war would continue while they talk.

As this understanding was reached, Allied planes smashed at the Red Korean capital, Pyongyang, in one of the most determined air assaults of the war. Communist sources reported that the capital building had been shattered.

On the eastern front a hill was captured by the United Nations from the Communists.

United Nations spokesmen were still hopeful as the fifteenth session closed today.

FIFTH STRAIGHT DAY

This was the fifth successive day which the United Nations and Communist armistice negotiating delegations devoted to the buffer zone issue—that is, where to draw the cease-fire line.

United Nations wants the demilitarized zone established along the present battle lines, cutting across North Korea for more than eighty miles. The Reds want the buffer zone centered on the 38th parallel.

Board Chairman Discusses Rupert's Hotel Situation

Hotel situation in Prince Rupert is particularly referred to in a letter written recently by W. F. Kennedy, chairman of the Liquor Control Board of British Columbia, to the Vancouver News-Herald which had written an editorial under the title of "Hotels Not Keeping Up."

Mr. Kennedy speaks of nearly $15,000,000 worth of new hotel construction which has taken place in the province since 1947 when it became possible for the Liquor Control Board to insist on suitable room accommodation in licensed premises. Now, however, it seemed that new hotel construction was being brought to a standstill because of federal restrictions which have been put on hotel construction.

Mr. Kennedy's letter is as follows:

"I was interested in reading The News-Herald editorial, 'Hotels Not Keeping Up,' because I certainly would have appreciated this assistance many years ago when we were fighting a lone hand to have the hotels in this province improve their accommodation for the travelling public, especially those having a beer licence, over which we had certain jurisdiction.

"It is not generally known but previous to April 3, 1947, this board had no authority whatsoever in connection with the general supervision of hotels, even though they possessed a beer licence, and while it is true where new licences were applied for we insisted on a certain type of structure before giving consideration to the application, we did accomplish some good work in this connection.

Modernize Building

Major Remodelling Job Provided For at Wallace's

Complete modernization with redwood, stucco and chrome trimmings of the exterior of the present Wallace's store building at the corner of Third Avenue and Fulton Street in which will be combined the former Overwater store which adjoins is provided for in a contract which has been let to the Northwest Construction Co., L. M. Felsenthal announced today.

The job also provides for complete renovation of the interior of the Overwater store which will be opened up to the main Wallace's store.

In addition, the second storey of the Wallace's building, formerly occupied by apartments, is being remodelled and will contain rental offices as well as storeroom accommodation for the store.

Mr. Felsenthal returned yesterday from a business trip to Vancouver.

Jasper Park Golf Record

JASPER PARK LODGE.—A new amateur record for the golf course at Jasper Park Lodge was set here by Jay Garth of Houston, Texas. The 18-year-old Texan, who is vacationing at this Canadian Rockies resort, finished the famous 18-hole, 71-par course with a score of 66.

In setting the new record for amateurs, Garth chalked up an eagle and five birdies.

The record score was made during a foursome with Ray Graham of New York, Leroy Goldsworthy, Jasper Park Lodge professional, and Bud McMillen of Fort Wayne, Ind., who recently became the first guest in two years to score a hole in one.

Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Smith and family are holidaying at Lake Kathryn near Smithers. Mr. Smith is district engineer for the provincial department of public works here.

Big Rain In Edmonton

EDMONTON.—Electric light and power was off for half an hour in 50 city blocks yesterday after a heavy electrical and rain storm. Half an inch of rain fell in half an hour.

Vermilion had 1 1/2 inches of rain in half an hour.

Stabbed His Grandparents

ORMISTOWN, Quebec — Police reported today that a 31-year-old soldier, Alcide Martin, had confessed the murder of his grandmother, grandfather and a neighbor at Anderson Corners, near here. He used a penknife.

The victims were Mrs. Antheine Allen, aged 74, her husband, Antheine Allen, 67, and Nelson Cusson, 74. All were stabbed to death with a penknife.

Martin told police that an argument began when his grandmother complained about him not visiting her during the last six months.

Co-Insurance Keeps Patients Out of Central B.C. Hospitals

SMITHERS (CP)—Testimony before the British Columbia Legislature's special committee investigating British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service indicates that only half of some Central British Columbia hospitals are occupied.

This situation is attributed to the co-insurance clause which provides that patients must pay part of the cost for the first 10 days in hospital.

Hospital officials testify also that, when they do not get patients, their revenue suffers.

Another complaint is that it takes too long to get replies to queries from British Columbia Hospital Insurance Service headquarters—sometimes as long as three months.

Dr. S. G. Mills of Terrace estimated that half of his patients do not carry hospital insurance and most of those not paying refuse to go to hospital when he recommends they be there.

Grand Slam By Kid Swim Team

VANCOUVER — Gerry McNamee, aged 17, and his sister, Kay, 20, Olympic calibre kids from Vancouver, scored an unprecedented grand slam of all senior free-style events at the Canadian swimming championships.

Gerry won the gruelling 1500-yard grind in 18 minutes, 31.9 seconds—15.5 seconds off the Canadian record held by Bob Pirif of Toronto, after earlier victories in the 100, 200 and 400-yard events.

Kay took the 100-yard women's title after previous wins in the 200 and 400.

Question of Douk Leader

VANCOUVER — Son of Michael (the Archangel) Verigin disclosed on Monday that he is a Jehovah's Witness minister and thus cannot take over his father's title as spiritual leader of the Doukhobors at Hilliers, Vancouver Island.

Russell Verigin, aged 28, said the title "Archangel" died Saturday with his father. He said the Doukhobors at Hilliers would decide by voting whether a new leader should be chosen. He indicated they might decide to continue without a leader—much the same as they have for the last year during the imprisonment and illness of Michael Verigin.

Alcan And Rupert

IMPACT of the advent of Aluminum Co. of Canada at Kitimat, 80 miles down the coast from here, may be indirect but, nevertheless, it is bound to be felt in a very considerable way by the port and city of Prince Rupert as suggested by the president of Alcan, R. E. Powell, who visited here yesterday and was interviewed by the Daily News.

Being a potential producer of further large tonnage for the railway line, by a branch possibly from Terrace to Kitimat for which the CNR is now undertaking surveys, the Alcan project will make itself felt by increased traffic for the division. The ships which come north to Kitimat with the bauxite will welcome return cargoes at Prince Rupert. To provide those return cargoes is something that will, doubtless, be worked on, during the next two or three years while Kitimat is readying—if not sooner since there will, doubtless, be deepsea ships coming into Kitimat with materials during construction.

Indeed, there would seem to be no further valid arguments and explanations from here on as to why Prince Rupert should not come into its own at long last as a deepsea shipping port. Grain for export should become available either for full or part cargoes and the part cargoes should no longer be such a problem in view of the new developments in connection with the timber and fishing industries.

There should be new enthusiasm in working for the development of shipping from this port now that the major industries are being located in this area. There will be new big factors working in our favor.

How Others See Us

MAYBE it is not just the best kind of outside publicity—although any kind of publicity which arouses discussion and even argument is effective publicity—nevertheless the impressions which Austin F. Cross wrote for the Ottawa Citizen after he came here to attend the pulp mill opening can give local people some cause for thought—and possible action.

After all, it is a good thing for us to hear what outsiders really think of us. If they see eyesores as well as beauty spots, it is just as well that we should know about them. A little criticism once in a while is just as good for our souls as praise which, of course, it is far more pleasant to take.

Visiting newspapermen other than Mr. Cross have commented in the past on the untidy appearance of Prince Rupert. We remember a few years ago that the well-known and highly-respected Bruce McKelvie gave us quite a blast along the same lines. In fact, the Daily News itself has more than once commented on the matter.

The thing is to see if something cannot be done to make it impossible for visiting publicists to say things about us that are not to our advantage—in other words remove, if we can, the conditions that make us vulnerable to such comment.

And the continued prevalence of eyesores is discouraging to those who have or would make improvements.

Milk Prices

IN CERTAIN cities in Canada there is a move afoot to cut part of the cost of delivering milk by distributing only three days a week.

That would be fine for the folks with electric refrigerators but what about the thousands who live in rooms?

A far better plan would be to allow sale of milk however it can be sold cheapest. If it is true that milk could be sold through stores on the "Cash and Carry" plan for much less than it costs to sell it door to door—why keep the monopoly to the door to door method?

IT SEEMS to me that this would be a good time to apply some of the findings of the Price Spreads Commission, which was set up under Hon. Harry Stevens back in the days of the Bennett government.

The one thing which emerges clearly from that investigation was that exorbitant and wasteful costs of distribution injure both the farmer and the consumer.

Milk is a glaring example. It costs too much to get the milk from the farm gate into the kitchen of the home in the city. Hence, because city folks cannot afford to buy all the milk they need at such high prices, the farmer has to sell much of his milk to creameries, cheese factories, and other processing plants, at much less than he gets for the milk which is sold for drinking.

I DON'T believe in piecemeal price controls, except where there is a physical shortage of the commodity to be controlled.

If we are going to have price control, let's have it right across the boards. Let's control ALL profits, salaries, wages and rents, as well as retail prices.

But let's not make such mistakes as thinking that we can control the price of milk without also controlling the price of beef. For obviously, if a farmer can make more money by feeding beef cattle than he can make by feeding dairy herds he is going to switch to beef cattle.

A GOOD friend who has just moved to an acreage outside a big city wants to know how my dad kept two cows, horses, pigs and chickens—not to mention thirteen offspring—all on one acre!

I should have said that in those days there was plenty of good pasture land, outside our own property. Much of this was on the Hamilton "mountain" side, which we used in the early years, free.

ANOTHER LADY writes me about the other side of the "keep a cow" question:

"We dabbled long with the idea of keeping a cow and some chickens. Having plenty of milk, butter and eggs, plus an idyllic setting—ah, bliss!" she says.

"But there's a catch to it. A good cow would cost approximately $125. It is hard to obtain materials for the buildings required. During the time of year the cow is not producing, she still eats. So it is either a feast or a famine . . . We figured out approximate costs and found that the cash required to make a start would buy eggs and milk for several years, despite present FURBAR prices."

A footnote explains that FURBAR is army slang for "fouled up beyond all recognition."

Clock to Stop All Arguments

CALGARY (CP)—Calgary Stampede officials have ordered a special four-foot clock to save arguments at future stampedes. They say the clock, visible to rodeo contestants and audience alike, will save a lot of disputes about timing of stampede events.

It is not unusual to have as many as a dozen stop watches operating at once during rodeo events and often none of the times agree with the official timekeeper.

The specially ordered clock will be operated by electricity and controlled by a button by the timekeeper. It will be specially wired to sound the 10-second horn.

authorities. These will prevent a continuation of this record.

"For instance, hotels with beer licences are on the restricted list, as far as steel is concerned.

"In addition to this an order has been made prohibiting them from securing financial assistance with which to enter into new construction. I am afraid that until these restrictions are lifted, we are going to be placed in the unfortunate position of having to mark time, not only with new construction, but also with alterations and improvements to existing hotels.

PRINCE RUPERT

"With particular reference to the hotel situation at Prince Rupert, I may say that at present we have seven licensed hotels with room accommodation for 233 and fortunately one of the hotels is at the present time adding a further 12 rooms as they had secured material previous to the restrictions.

"Some two years ago a proposition was advanced to the board for the construction of a 100-roomed hotel at Prince Rupert, and naturally the board gave every assurance that a licence would be granted. But unfortunately they were unable to finance this deal and we then entered into negotiations with another group for the construction of a hotel of some 40 rooms, and gave these people our assurance that a beer licence would be issued to this hotel. However, this group withdrew their application as they could not see their way clear to making a financial success of this project.

IN INTERIOR

"I might also explain that due to the restrictions referred to above, the existing hotels at Vanderhoof, New Hazelton and Terrace have been unable to carry out their own desire of expanding, remodeling and making available a large number of rooms.

"However, as The News-Herald states, the situation is developing so rapidly, and in all probability additional accommodation would be provided if it were not for these restrictions.

"As far as this board is concerned, we have wherever possible encouraged the erection of proper hotels. Our only difficulty has been that so many approached the board with the idea of providing a building with a large space for the sale of beer and six or seven bedrooms in order to call this structure a hotel. Of course, these are in every case refused, as we are now interested in providing service to the travelling public, which has been neglected previously to the authority being transferred to the Liquor Control Board.

"While it is quite true that hotels in every city or town in any part of the country at some time or other have been filled to capacity, due to seasonal trade, construction projects, conventions, etc., I agree with you that in spite of this, and taking into consideration the huge development during recent years, there is still a great deal to be done to bring our system up to what we consider a proper standard. This, of course, is made much more difficult because of the rapid expansion in so many parts of our province."

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

We might as well have a husband-and-wife team in the Legislature. Mrs. Andrew Whisker has decided to run in the forthcoming Esquimalt by-election as an independent. Her husband is the member for the adjoining riding of Cowichan-Newcastle.

Mrs. Whisker might stand a good chance. There's a lot of discontent in Esquimalt. The people are annoyed because the government has left their legislative seat vacant so long—nearly a year. A vote for Mrs. Whisker would be a vote against the government and yet would not give any aid and comfort to the CCF.

If we get a husband and wife team we'll have quite a legislative, unique in Canada. For already we have a father and son team—Opposition leader Harold Winch and his dad Ernie.

There's a lot of talk about Premier Johnson retiring from office before the next election. If he does that the Liberals won't have nearly as good a chance at the polls. The Premier has a tremendous campaign personality, a happy faculty of running around the country and getting to know everyone. It was largely his personality that so overwhelmingly won for the Coalition two years ago.

The Conservatives, of course, hope Mr. Johnson will get fed up with politics and quit before the next election. With the Premier out of the way the Tories would have a better chance of winning.

This observer would say now that the Premier won't quit. There's a strong streak of the stubborn deep down in him and he'd like to see what he could do as a pure Liberal premier, freed of the strings that have tied him to the Conservatives.

If Johnson stays the Liberals have a pretty good chance of forming the government; if he goes the Tories could well win, for Herb Anscomb's personality on the public platform is no mean one. He knows how to swing votes too, by turning on the charm.

The scion of a noted B.C. Conservative family is out campaigning in Victoria these days for the Tories. He's A. E. deB. McPhillips, son of the late Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips, who was the attorney-general in the first Conservative administration in B.C.—in 1903, under Premiership of Sir Richard McBride. Burke McPhillips is a great-grandson of Dr. J. C. Davie, member of a Legislative Assembly of Vancouver Island, and a grandson of Hon. A. E. B. Davie, and grand-nephew of Hon. Theodore Davie, both of whom served as Attorney-general and Premier of B.C. before the turn of the century. He is a first cousin of E. Davie Fulton, M.P. for Kamloops.

With a Conservative background like that, Burke McPhillips could well be a formidable opponent in Victoria, though he tried several times to get elected in Vancouver, but could never quite make it. He's a lawyer and has come back to Victoria to live, thinking he has a better political chance here.

Reflects and Reminisces

Imagination has been defined by a close observer as something which sits up with a woman when her husband is out late.

MUST BE FIRST CLASS

If eighteen freighters will load wheat for the United Kingdom this winter at Port Churchill, it can also be stated a dozen Japanese steamers will call at Vancouver to load full grain cargoes. They are to take all grades from No. 1 Northern to low cost grade 5. If there is such a thing as an explanation as to why a first class grain elevator was built in Prince Rupert without being put to use it should be not only honest but devilishly ingenious as well.

OUT OF THE PAST

Englishman, 25 years old, five feet eight inches high, indifferent build, bends forward when he walks, pale appearance, reddish-brown hair, small mustache, talks through his nose, cannot pronounce the letter "S" properly and does not know any Dutch. From the Transvaal Government poster offering £25 for the recapture of Winston Spencer Churchill, prisoner of war, after his escape from Pretoria prison in December, 1899—Readers Digest.

Resumption of Iranian oil conferences is believed to be near and how the general situation looks is said to be of a hopeful nature. It may not mean so much yet it cannot be denied two more British cruisers, four destroyers and two frigates recently anchored nearer . . .

KEEP ON!

To abandon further search for the missing plane, as some have suggested, is to surrender hope too easily. Even if none are ever seen again in life, it would, in a measure, be satisfying to unfold the mystery of what did happen, even if merely approximately. For kin and loved ones to ponder whether or not they lie in the depths of the Pacific, or somewhere in the raw immensity of Alaska's mountains—a cruel uncertainty—is like asking too much.

Bank notes, five bucks on one side and ten on the other, are reported in Eastern Canada. We have seen that one pulled already—by a fellow who called himself a magician. And he was believed, too. Something odd, by heck!

Would Reinstall Banned Phrase

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON, N.Z. (AP)—Speaker of New Zealand House of Representatives kept a book of banned words, phrases, of which he brought a reprimand to the Minister of External Affairs, F. W. Dodge, when speaking in the House recently. "When you speak as chump, dense, hokey, and make-believe lingo in parliamentary," he said.

"But if we turn to the House of Commons, we find an amazing list of words as a squalid nuisance. Bevan calling Mr. Churchill a paranoiac without reproach. "In Australia we find more remarkable instances. One occasion William Hughes attacked the then Prime Minister, A. Deakin, and called him unreliable and corrupt. Speaker actually apologized Mr. Hughes for interrupting speech.

"Critics could ridicule the words listed in our book. It is all right as a guide to a young lady's school, but in an assembly this members should be given some latitude without responsible for a breach of decorum."

The Speaker, M. H. said the main question was to determine whether the words were offensive in the House. He had never bound himself by the words in the book.

Queen Mary Expert On Antique China
LONDON (CP)—Queen Mary, visiting Chelsea's exhibition of china, passed quickly around one stand.
"That's all modern stuff," she said.
The Queen Mother spent much time viewing the old china exhibits and during the visit became the first of the royal family to borrow from Chelsea's public library. She chose a book called "The Imperial Russian Dinner Service."

Alaska Doctor Notes Big Boom

The Commissioner of Health for Alaska, Dr. C. E. Albrecht, and family arrived in the city last week returning north, having motored from the Atlantic Coast, where the doctor was Alaska's delegate to a convention of the American Medical Association at Atlantic City. He was also in Washington, D.C., on business.
Dr. Albrecht, speaking of the drive from Seattle north, remarked that it is clear to anyone, how widely the B.C. Boom, resulting from cellulose and aluminum activities, is affecting the province.
Between construction, mining and lumber operations, B.C. labor has never been more in demand. He mentioned that, during the course of the drive through the province, he had opportunity to look into the dairy and milk conditions. This was of particular interest to him.
The family sailed from Prince Rupert for Juneau aboard the Princess Louise. In the whole two months' absence they experienced less than two hours of rain.

BASIC FRENCH DRESSING

This is Canadian Salad Week, designed to stimulate an interest in fresh fruit and vegetables and other ingredients which make for cool taste-tantalizing refreshment on warm days. Amongst the most important of these "other ingredients" is the salad dressing. A salad without dressing is like a lemon pie without meringue. One of the simplest and tastiest dressings is made with these ingredients:
1/2 cup vinegar (cider, malt, or distilled white)
1 1/2 cups salad oil
1/2 teaspoon paprika
2 teaspoons sugar
1 teaspoon salt
Combine all ingredients in a large jar or French dressing flask. Shake well to blend. Makes one pint.

Rotary Receives Fishermen District Governor Find "Thing"

District Governor James Lightbody of Vancouver gave an enlightening address to Rotarians at dinner last night. It was well attended and the senior Rotarian was received with enthusiasm. President Fred Scadden was in the chair.
After the dinner, a special conference with the executive and committee chairmen was held with Mr. Lightbody to discuss the year's work by Rotarians.
Fishermen recently found the body of a creature on the Shuyak Island banks, sixty miles north of Kodiak, for which they have no name. Photographs have been taken, to see if identification can be made at the Fish and Wild Life office in Seattle.
The discovery is headless, with hand-like front feet. There is a covering of hair or fur, of brownish-yellow color; a tail like that of a whale, and two 72-inch flukes.
Mr. Lightbody is on tour of all Rotary Clubs in his district which stretches from the State of Washington to all of Alaska.

Announcing the Grand Opening of the Savoy Annex

Prince Rupert's Only Fully Modern Hotel

All Rooms Equipped With Pembroke Baths

Under the managership of Mr. W. L. Woods, a new Savoy Hotel addition will be officially opened tomorrow. The new hotel addition is rated as one of the finest units of its kind in the northwest.

Mr. Woods, by no means a stranger to Prince Rupert, has been in the hotel business for a great many years and likes to recall a stint as assistant manager of the Jasper Park Lodge as one of his most exciting experiences in the hotel business.

Before coming to Prince Rupert, Bill Woods built several hotels, and modernized several more. Former residents of Vancouver, New Westminster and the Fraser Valley will remember the Woods Hotel and the Jubilee Hotel in Maillardville, and the Rainier Hotel in Vancouver. The Rainier was taken over by Woods and completely modernized. It was lifted from an ordinary hotel to one of the better hotels in the city of Vancouver.

The hotel to be opened officially in Prince Rupert tomorrow is a credit to the city. The exterior is finished in Roman Tile Brick, with the upper portion in stucco. The lobby is carpeted throughout, with contrasting carpet shades on stairs, upper hallways, and in the rooms themselves. The furnishings are the finest money can buy, with the beds as modern as tomorrow. Headboards are touched off with satin upholstery and finished in pastel shades. Another unique feature is the telephones, also finished in pastel shades. Each room is equipped with pembroke bath, pedestal wash basin and all the latest style fittings.

MODEL LOBBY

The downstairs lobby will feature automatic pull drapes for the windows. A slight tug on the draw string will start automatic mechanism which draws the curtains.

The beverage rooms feature indirect lighting and modern furniture. In the ladies' section, thick wall-to-wall carpeting will set off smartly upholstered chairs. The men's beverage room is equipped with rubber tile flooring, and between the two sections, the bar in modern design, features a fully automatic glass washer.

W. L. WOODS

The present addition to the hotel is just the beginning, says Mr. Wood. Plans have already been drawn for an additional building fifty feet by one hundred feet. The permit for steel required has been approved and work will soon commence. The present building is so constructed as to allow for another 26 rooms and that further floors can be added.

Mr. Woods purchased the hotel in June 1948 from Carl Zarelli and immediately started with remodelling plans. Lumber, carpeting and furniture were purchased long before the actual building permit was approved.

With the opening tomorrow, 12 additional hotel rooms, modern as those to be found anywhere, will provide the city of Prince Rupert with a much needed facility.

Old Wing Is Up To Date

While interest centres around the new Savoy Wing, the old part of the hotel is undergoing face lifting as well. New floor coverings and new furniture, along with fresh wallpaper and paint have given the old building new atmosphere.

The downstairs beverage room has been completely redone, with smart rubber tile floor, and plywood finished walls. The bar, centered between the men's and ladies' sections, is as modern as tomorrow with an automatic glass washing machine for assured cleanliness.

The women's section is perhaps the smartest beverage room to be found anywhere. Thick carpeting, and interior decorating in pastels, provide a pleasant place for relaxation.

The Savoy Hotel and New Annex

New Savoy Hotel Staffs Thirteen

Apart from the service to Prince Rupert, in supplying a much needed facility the new Savoy Hotel provides employment for some thirteen citizens. The various requirements of a modern hotel need fully qualified and experienced personnel, and 'Bill' Woods has staffed his new premises with men and women of high calibre.

In the front office at the desk, Mrs. Mary Collinson is chief clerk, with Mrs. J. Mendels as assistant. Also in the front office is R. S. Woods, no relation of the proprietor. Kenny Campbell holds down the desk job during the evening. In the beverage room, Carl McEwen holds the reins, with Mike Postak, Leo Young, Bill Rody, K. Kozak and S. Mistenko his capable assistants.

No hotel would be complete without charming upstairs maids, and Miss Vivian Wilson and Mrs. Kermode handle the chores on the upper floor. During the night hours, Leo Grutroy keeps an experienced hand on the affairs of the hotel.

Mr. Woods expects to enlarge the staff to keep pace with the progress of the hotel.

Local Savoy Opening Tomorrow and Thursday

New Hotel Needed

The Savoy Annex is a addition to the transient accommodation facilities of the city. With the ever-developing of the city, the need for more and more quarters of more and more business men and travellers is at a low ebb. The new Savoy, with twelve rooms, will help fill

In addition, according to the owner-manager of the Savoy Hotel, the new addition is only the start. Plans for the rear of the present building will soon be developed. The new structure is built to accommodate further storeys. Plans have already been made for the steel required, and other important materials. When finally completed, the new building will be an imposing addition to the future development of the city.

Proprietor Bill Woods of the Savoy Hotel announces that the opening celebrations will be held tomorrow and Thursday evenings to accommodate the large crowd expected. Doors will open at seven o'clock and persons will be admitted to the premises until capacity is reached. It will be a case of first come, first admitted.

Congratulations

W. L. Woods, proprietor-manager of the Savoy Hotel, is to be congratulated on the fine new annex to his Savoy Hotel which he is now opening.

It is a decided and acceptable acquisition to the hotel facilities of the city which are in such short supply.

Fine rooms of the type which the Savoy is providing are badly needed by the city which is assuming an importance and developing traffic which requires more and more such first-class accommodation.

Mr. Woods will be wished the best of success in his new venture.

It is interesting to hear that he has even further plans for further expansion along the same lines.

The Savoy Hotel has been identified since the beginnings of the city. It is a much transformed hostelry today as W. L. Woods takes another important step in keeping it up with the times and the progress of Prince Rupert.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

After serving a long sentence as a kibitzer, Mr. New finally got in the game. This is the third deal in his first rubber. He hadn't done so well up to this point but when he picked up the South cards in today's hand he felt a little better.

Following three passes, he opened with a forcing bid of two hearts. Holding less than one plus honor tricks, Mr. Champion replied with two no trump. Mr. New then tried three diamonds and Mr. Champion bid three spades. Here Mr. New found himself in a spot. He couldn't bid three no trump on account of the club weakness and apparently his partner wasn't interested in either of the red suits. He finally decided to raise to fair spades even though he held only two cards in that suit.

"Where did you get that two-bid?" demanded Mr. Champion when the dummy went down.

"I had five and a half quick tricks," replied Mr. New.

"Look," said Mr. Champion, "I don't care how many quick tricks you had. If I didn't have better than a trick in my hand, how did you expect to make game? And if I did have that much I would reply to your one bid. Don't open with a two-bid unless you've got at least nine winners in your own hand including at least four honor tricks."

Mr. Champion then set about the task of making four spades. He won the opening diamond lead in dummy with the king, cashed the ace of diamonds, the ace of hearts, then the king of diamonds on which he discarded his third diamond. Next he led a small diamond from the board and ruffed it with the deuce of spades when Mr. Dale discarded a small heart.

The spade finesse was now aken, Mr. Dale winning with the king and returning a spade to dummy's ace. Dummy's last diamond was now led and ruffed by Mr. Champion with the eight of spades. The jack of spades was Mr. Champion's last trick. Down two.

"Well, I read a book," said Mr. New, foolishly reopening the argument, "and it said to open with a forcing bid when you have 5 1/2 tricks."

"Do me a favor—burn that book, will you?" was Mr. Champion's final remark.

Old London's Lady Mayoress Noted Beauty

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—When London's Lady Lowson visits British Columbia and Ontario, Canadians will get their first official look at a woman whose photogenic features keep flash bulbs popping wherever she goes.

In the nine months since her husband became Lord Mayor of London, honey-blond, 32-year-old Lady Lowson has earned distinction as Britain's most photographed celebrity. Always recognized as an elegant woman, she has brought new sparkle and vivacity to dignified Mansion House, residence of London mayors.

The Lord Mayor's office was created in 1192 and a suitable atmosphere of antiquity still surrounds it. Even the King has to perform a special ritual before he can enter the sacred precincts of the City, the "Square Mile" of business office in the heart of London.

The name of the present Lord Mayor is appropriately impressive. Under a recent baronetcy, he became Sir Denys Colquhoun Flowerdew Lowson of Westlaw, Perthshire. Young Lady Lowson's classic taste in clothes, regal bearing and genuine Scottish beauty make her a perfect foil for her tall, 45-year-old husband, one of the youngest Lord Mayors in history.

NOT FIRST VISIT

The Canadian tour of the Lord Mayor and Lady Lowson starts Aug. 30 and will take in such cities as Victoria, Vancouver, Winnipeg, Toronto and Ottawa. Lady Lowson—or Lady Patricia as she is sometimes called—said she has already visited the Dominion several times, but is looking forward to going again in her new official capacity.

"I hope to renew acquaintances with many of the friends I met there before," she said.

A proud mother of three children—Gay Anne, 13, Melaine, 10 and Ian, 6—Lady Lowson does not plan to take the children with her to Canada. She thinks they could be kept in the background during the pomp and ceremony that go with Britain's No. 1 civic office.

Clothes? Surprisingly enough, no special shopping spree will precede the Canadian tour. Lady Lowson bought an extensive wardrobe last year and hopes it will carry her through even the possible extremes of Canadian climate.

One choice for special functions is a full-skirted gown in stiff silk or satin with a softly-draped winterhalter neckline. For day wear she favors slim, tailored suits in navy, brown and black but her choice of evening colors tends to emerald, royal blue, violet and crimson.

For the first time in her life she has a lady's maid. "It would be impossible to manage all by myself," she said. "There just isn't time and one needs help with the full skirts of the evening gowns."

Old Divorce Is Invalid

LONDON (CP)—Britain's high court has declared invalid a divorce granted 53 years ago to a wealthy Briton who married his family's housemaid in Quebec.

The court's judgment also had the effect of dismissing a petition for legitimacy of 50-year-old Philip Gatty of Preston, Lancashire, whose counsel said the decision would have a bearing on death duties paid on the estate of Gatty's mother.

Evidence in court brought out this story:

Frederick Gatty, whose family owned a flourishing dye works, emigrated to North America in the 1890's when the family objected to his engagement to Margaret Baker, a young housemaid employed at his home. Frederick sent a gift to Miss Baker and she used it to buy a ticket to Canada.

In November, 1895, the couple was married in Quebec. Two years later Gatty was granted a divorce in North Dakota on the ground of desertion and subsequently married Francis Irwin in Winnipeg. They had two children, including Philip Gatty who brought the petition of legitimacy.

The court ruled that Frederick Gatty had shown no intention of living in North Dakota and that by English law the decree of divorce could not be recognized.

Channel Tempts Swimming Nurse

By KINGSLEY BROWN
Canadian Press Staff Writer

KEPPOCH, P.E.I. (CP)—Evelyn Henry would not balk at a chance to swim the English Channel.

The attractive, 23-year-old Keppoch nurse, who swam Northumberland Strait July 15, said in an interview she would give the English Channel a try "if someone wanted to pay my way over."

She is the first person to swim the tricky, swift-flowing waters which separate Prince Edward Island and the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick mainland.

Miss Henry made the crossing from Cape Tormentine, N.B., to Borden, P.E.I., in eight hours, 49 minutes. The distance is roughly nine miles but she figures she covered about 15 because of strong tides.

The nurse who became an R.N. only last month drank coffee and soup and ate sandwiches and a chocolate bar on the way. Her 56-year-old father followed in a rowboat.

Did she have any doubts about the swim?

"I knew I could make it even though I never swam more than six miles before," she said.

Her reason: "I just wanted to see if I could swim that far."

The Northumberland Strait is noted for its cold water, currents and strong tides.

"I used the breast stroke most of the way," she said, "but switched to the side and back strokes for a change."

"I wasn't tired, I felt fine. I left Cape Tormentine at 8:26 a.m. and had it fairly calm until I was about three miles from Borden. Then it started to get rough and the tide rip was stronger."

Miss Henry was born at Keppoch, a village five miles south of Charlottetown. She swims nearly every day and is an expert horsewoman. After a year at Prince of Wales College, she began training at Charlottetown's Prince Edward Island Hospital, where she now works.

Oddly Shaped Potato Grown

An oddly shaped potato was brought into the Daily News office yesterday by Mrs. R. Munro from her garden at 1690 Moresby Avenue, Westview. It was an almost perfect shape of a miniature softball glove with four distinct fingers and thumb. Mrs. Munro is already getting a good crop of potatoes of substantial size as a result of this summer's early growing season.

BAD WATERFRONT NEED—

Lack of Facilities to Load Fishing Vessels Drives Business Away

By LARRY STANWOOD

The fisherman tied his rope to another box of groceries and swung it over the edge of the dock, lowering it down to the deck of his seiner hand over hand. The box joined others on the deck, about 20 feet below.

All along the edge of the wharf were rope burns, evidence of other fishermen having done the same thing many times before.

"Well, that's the last one." The fisherman straightened up and leaned back against a winchless derrick beside him. "That's two weeks grub for a crew of five," he said, mopping his brow.

He had his supplies aboard, alright, but he was bitter. So was another fisherman who joined him. One of them lived on an island, perhaps five hours' run from here.

MILLION DOLLAR BUSINESS

"We should have a better way to take on supplies than this old rope." The first fisherman tossed away the frayed cord. "Why, I bet you all the fishermen coming here and living here buy over $1,000,000 worth of supplies in Prince Rupert each year."

"And each year it's the same thing. We've got no place or no way of loading our grub and stuff."

"Why couldn't they put a little winch on this derrick?" asked the second fisherman, a tall man with weatherbeaten, slightly bearded cheeks and deep blue eyes. His hair, blond, was graying.

"Wouldn't take so much for the gov't to put a hoist here or maybe somewhere else, if they didn't like it here," he mused. "I been cartin' grub on my boat for years by hand."

"Like I was saying," continued the skipper of the seiner, the mast of which, just over the level of the dock, was rocking gently. "The merchants in this town are kept alive by us fishermen. Wouldn't any of them be doing any business to speak of if it weren't for us. You'd think they'd appreciate this fact, and help us out a little. I bet if they wanted to they could help us get a place to load."

"Nope, I don't think so. Fact I'm sure they won't ever turn a hand. All they're after is our business. Once they've got it, they don't give a d---." The tall man spat, disgusted.

Several hundred yards along, in an easterly direction, around 100 boats—seiners, trollers and gillnetters—were rocking against each other tied six to eight and more deep to Cow Bay floats. A cleated gangway leads to the floats, near which were piled high similar paper cartons of groceries as were seen loaded on the seiners. Several men, dark-haired and swarthy in complexion, were packing these boxes, one after the other, down the gangplank, along the floats and across several vessels before they reached their own.

How long does it take to pack a week's supply of food? One can make a guess. Most of them don't even bother to buy supplies here any more. They buy from fish camps.

Another group of men were waiting in a taxi office downtown for a car to take them to the dry dock fishermen's floats. They were loaded with parcels from a shopping tour.

"Those floats out there are a good thing but they made a big mistake just putting in floats," one of them said.

"Yeah," joined in another. "What we need there is a little dock and some kind of a lift so you could pack grub aboard."

"Well, I don't see how you're going to get it," said the taxi-driver brusquely, "not in this town, anyway."

CENTRAL FACILITY

"I think most of the fishermen's loading problems would be solved," insisted the second speaker, "if there was a place somewhere in town where we could take turns loading our supplies without begging to use some company's winch."

"Taxi's ready, boys," interrupted the driver.

"You give me a hand with my stuff tonight?" one of them asked the other as they dropped in the back seat of the cab. "I got a truck comin'—"

New Aids to Navigation Provided—Prominent People Among Ship Tourists

Installation of new aids to navigation in waters contiguous to Prince Rupert are announced by N. A. Beketov, agent of the Marine Department. A fairway (black and red painted) spar buoy has been established on Clara Shoal in the entrance of Inverness Passage at the north end of DeHorsy Island. It is through this channel that Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. has its main towing route for logs coming from the Skeena River to the Watson Island pulp mill. The passage is also used by fishermen and mill operators.

Other recently installed navigation aids have been at Tasoo Sound on Flat Rock Island at the western entrance to Houston Stewart Channel on the west coast of Queen Charlotte Islands. Many years ago there was a light in position on that island but, after the whaling station at Rose Harbor was discontinued, so was the light. The reason it is now being re-established is for the benefit of tuna fishermen.

A. J. Whitmore, chief supervisor of fisheries for British Columbia, is a visitor in the district on an official tour of the season's fishing operations. He arrived yesterday from the Queen Charlotte Islands where G. S. Reade, local supervisor, went to meet him. He is travelling on the patrol vessel Laurier.

Northbound from Vancouver to Skagway with 230 passengers, most of them round-trippers on board, CPR steamer Princess Louise called here from 12 noon to 2 p.m. yesterday. Local cargo included a carload of newspaper from Ocean Falls for the Daily News. Mr. and Mrs. J. Eyber and Mrs. E. J. Saunders disembarked at Prince Rupert. The following took passage north: Mrs. D. Etzerza, Mrs. J. W. Rochlitzer, Miss E. Ehlinger, Mrs. M. Richards, R. Finley, G. Simpson, all to Ket-chikan; Mr. and Mrs. W. Berry, Miss Nancy Hurd and Miss Fay Robinson, to Juneau. The Fogle Tour Party, of 21 passengers, from Lexington, Kentucky, was included in the round-trip tourist list.

With 250 passengers on board, including ten who disembarked here, CNR steamer Prince George, Capt. E. B. Caldwell, was in port from 9 a.m. to 12:30 noon Sunday, northbound from Vancouver to Skagway on a regular tourist voyage. Prominent among the round-trip passengers were Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Sewab and two sons, Rev. Father R. W. Schwab and R. C. Schwab. They come from Buffalo where Mr. Schwab Sr. is president of the Buffalo Electric Co. Another prominent passenger was G. Hart, vice-president of the California Casualty and Indemnity Co. of San Francisco.

Patrol Boat Waging War On Stupid Basking Shark

War against one of the biggest nuisances in the fishing industry—the basking shark—is being intensified by the federal fisheries department.

Taking part in the battle is the 68-foot vessel Comox Park which covers much of the west coast of British Columbia. (A "sea serpent," which brought widespread publicity to Prince Rupert some years ago, turned out to be a basking shark.) Basking sharks, so called because they just loaf along with dorsal fins showing above the water, are "pretty stupid," Capt. H. P. Nightingale of the Comox Park says.

"They can probably travel at very substantial speeds, but all I have seen were just lazily along the surface."

It is not uncommon for the patrol vessel's sharp prow to ram a shark, and quite a few have been killed that way. But most kills are made with a special harpoon.

A mature shark is between 40 and 50 feet long, weighing several tons, and when harpooned displays tremendous strength. "We can get very close to the sharks," said the skipper, "and they don't appear to be a bit concerned until the harpoon finds its mark."

Sharks have been known to tear around in the water for as long as two hours trailing the heavy 600-foot rope attached to the harpoon with a drum on the other end before becoming exhausted.

"They raise pure Cain with fishermen's gear, especially gill nets," said Capt. Nightingale. During war years the big sharks were sought for their livers, but today there is no demand for them. It is not unusual for a shark liver to weigh up to 1,700 pounds.

This is the first of the series to be actually filmed in Africa. The picture revolves around a war between two native tribes and Tarzan's attempts to end the conflict and wreak vengeance of the scoundrelly gun-runner responsible for it.

Striking action sequences and picturesque native dances photographed in British East Africa feature the offering.

HMCS Cedarwood In Port Monday

HMCS Cedarwood, Capt. Ltd.-Cdr. J. E. Wolfenden, docked at Prince Rupert Monday at 1:30 p.m. The naval oceanographic vessel, from Esquimalt, leaves tomorrow for northern sea duty. Two United States destroyer escorts, which have been in port since Friday, left Monday.

Henry E. Sellers, C.P.R. director, of Winnipeg, and Edwin G. Baker, of Toronto, chairman of Canadian Life Insurance Co. and C.P.R. director, were travelling north aboard the steamer, Princess Louise, which was in port Monday. The directors, in company with William P. Walker, Toronto industrialist, are making an extensive tour of Alaska.
