CS Athabaskan Arriving Tonight

from Korea, where she has been for the months on active service with United Nations. HMCS Athabaskan is arriving in Prince Rupert tonight. The noted destroyer had originally due to proceed direct to base at Esquimalt on Thursday of this week but a hospital forced her to put in here instead.

D. McRae of HMCS Athabaskan confirmed the sudden decision here. It is understood that the Athabaskan will proceed later tomorrow. She is due for repairs and personnel will enjoy a leave.

HMCS Athabaskan is one of the three destroyers despatched last July. More than nine months in Korean waters, HMCS Athabaskan, under the command of Cdr. Robert P. Welland, has returned. Following her arrival, she will be employed briefly on the coast before being sent to the United States for repairs. During this time, she will be engaged in operations on several occasions close inshore to the coast of British Columbia. She will be engaged in operations on several occasions close inshore to the coast of British Columbia. Cdr. Welland Being Moved

To Turn Over Athabaskan To Cdr. Dudley King
Commander Robert P. Welland, 33, of Victoria, who has commanded HMCS Athabaskan since March, 1950, will turn over command of the destroyer in mid-July to Commander Dudley G. King, 41, of Victoria and Vancouver.

The Athabaskan is due in Prince Rupert tonight from Korea. Upon coming ashore in July, Commander Welland will take up a temporary appointment as Chief of Staff to the Flag Officer Pacific Coast, the appointment at present by Commander King. Born in Glen Ewen, Sask., March 7, 1918, Commander Welland was living in McCreary, Man., when he entered the Royal Canadian Navy as a Cadet in August, 1936. In March, 1940, he was appointed to the destroyer St. Laurent, which proceeded overseas shortly afterwards and subsequently took part in the evacuation of France and served on convoy escort duty in the Western Approaches. In January, 1941, Commander Welland commenced an anti-submarine course, following which he served ashore at Halifax and as Staff Officer (Anti-Submarine) to the Commanding Officer Pacific Coast, at Esquimalt.

In January, 1943, he was appointed Executive Officer of HMCS Assiniboine and in October of that year assumed command of the destroyer. From December, 1944, until November, 1945, he commanded the destroyer Haida, then joined the staff of the then RCN College, Royal Roads, B.C. He left the college in November, 1947, and after a brief anti-submarine refresher course at Halifax he was appointed Staff Officer (Torpedo Anti-Submarine) on the staff of the Director of Weapons and Tactics at Naval Headquarters. He remained in this post until August, 1949, when he commenced staff and tactical courses which preceded his appointment in March, 1950, as commanding officer of HMCS Athabaskan. Commander Welland was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross in March, 1941, for "courage and enterprise" in an action with an enemy submarine.

FORMERLY HERE
Commander King, who takes over Athabaskan, has been Chief of Staff to the Flag Officer Pacific Coast since September, 1949. He was born in Wilson's Landing Valley and was living in Vancouver when he entered the Royal Canadian Naval Volunteer Reserve (Supplementary Reserve) in December, 1936. Called on active service in October, 1939, he served for a year in the minesweeper HMCS Arcturion and on examination and patrol duties at Prince Rupert and Esquimalt.

LAGOS, Nigeria (CP)—Reports received today said that more than 100 persons perished in a moving picture theatre fire at Kano in northern Nigeria Sunday night. Many others were injured.

Build up Offensive

TOKYO (CP)—Rain-drenched Chinese troops plodded south through Central Korean mud today in their build-up for a new offensive. Spearheads of the growing Red forces are facing the centre of the 100-mile United Nations line and are reported twelve miles south of the 38th parallel. United Nations patrols spotted the Communists in units of 500 or 600 slogging through the hills east of Kapyong. The United States Eighth Army did not indicate how close they were to United Nations lines. There was, however, no fighting reported from this area. Clashes elsewhere on the rain-swept battle line were between groups of 100 and 200.

Doctors in Difference

VANCOUVER (CP)—Conflicting evidence was given at a public inquiry Monday into circumstances surrounding the miscarriage of an 18-year-old bride. Dr. John Ross, assistant resident interne in obstetrics at Vancouver General Hospital, denied claims of Dr. A. B. Greenberg that the case of Mrs. Daniel Ritchie was referred to the hospital as an "emergency."

Knudsen Left Death Letter

HULL (CP)—A scrawled "will," found in the personal papers of Henry Knudsen has satisfied Hull police that the Port Edward, B.C., taxi operator who trailed his wife for 2,500 miles intended to take her life and then his own. Police announce that no inquest will be held into the murder-suicide shooting which brought death to the couple in a night club hotel here Friday night. Knudsen, aged 50, killed his wife with two shots from a newly-purchased 30-30 rifle. He then shot himself through the mouth. Much of a letter police could not decipher as Knudsen, Swedish-born, was not well versed in writing English. Part of the letter which could be read said he was leaving a car, $400 in cash and house to his two daughters. Knudsen, who had flown to Ottawa Thursday to join his wife, had bought a return ticket. It was revealed by Police Chief J. A. Robert. Mrs. Knudsen had struggled vainly to avoid shooting at the hands of her husband.

Bradley, MacArthur Differ

KOREAN BETTER THAN WORLD WAR
WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—General Omar N. Bradley told the Senate military affairs and foreign relations committees today that he believes General MacArthur's Korean war proposals would increase "risk of global war." As costly in lives as the Korean fighting is, it is "less expensive than the vast destruction" of a world war, Bradley said. The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff was before the committee which is investigating MacArthur's dismissal. Bradley said that the MacArthur program, calling for block-

Welcome Home, Athabaskan!

An unprecedented event will occur in Prince Rupert tonight. For the first time in the history of the port there will be the opportunity of welcoming home a warship direct from active service in waters abroad. HMCS Athabaskan, forced here to hospitalize a crew member, is due during the night enroute to her home port of Esquimalt.

Prince Rupert will be her first "back home" port following distinguished and arduous service which is described elsewhere in this paper today.

This is, indeed, a unique event in Prince Rupert and it calls for something more than a cursory and casual welcome. There should be a rousing reception.

Commander Robert P. Welland and his men have been doing a big, important and brave job and Prince Rupert would do well to go all out in extending a real recognition to those fighting men of ours.

This is no ordinary visit by a fighting ship. Let's give the boys as real a welcome "home" as the emergency circumstances will permit.

Independent But in Step

OTTAWA—Hon. Lester Pearson, minister of external affairs, told Parliament, yesterday that he wanted to see Canada stand on her own feet but march in step with her neighbors, particularly the United States. Relations with the United States today, he said, were on a "good and friendly basis."

Civil Defence Co-ordinator Arriving in City Next Week

Col. C. R. Steen, civil defence co-ordinator for British Columbia, will arrive in Prince Rupert by plane next Monday, according to a wire received by Mayor G. W. Rudderham. The mayor will call a meeting of the present defence committee for Monday night.

As Prince Rupert has been named a No. 1 target area in case of enemy aggression, it is expected plans for immediate action in preparation for civil defence will be laid during Col. Steen's presence here, the mayor said. Present members of the defence committee are key personnel in civic offices, police and Red Cross organizations.

Skeena Member Enthuses In Speech at Pembroke

PEMBROKE, Ont. (Special to Daily News)—Filling a return engagement, E. T. Applewhaite, MP for Skeena, was the guest speaker at Monday's Kiwanis Club meeting in Pembroke. Mr. Applewhaite had spoken here about one year ago at which time he dealt with the early history and settlement of his district.

Yesterday he outlined in some detail the latest development there, namely the vast aluminum project now under way by Aluminum Company of Canada Ltd. The speaker described the dams to be built, the 10-mile tunnel to be driven through the mountain range, the 2600-foot shaft inside the mountain and the powerhouse which it is expected will also be built inside the mountain. Particulars were also given of the 48-mile transmission line from the powerhouse to the eventual smelter site at Kildale, and in this connection a description was given of the test spans which have been set up at the summit of Kildale Pass, altitude 5350 feet, and the smelter with an eventual capacity of over a billion pounds annually. Mr. Applewhaite said it was expected initial production would be about one-third of that. He went into some detail as to the necessity of building a new townsite, docks, harbor, railway and highway, and pointed out that all this construction was in an area quite virgin and undeveloped and not even served with transportation facilities. The speaker quoted $555,000,000 as the overall cost of which $160,000,000 are to be spent immediately.

Pointing out that the whole project is within the Skeena district, Applewhaite said: "I hope I may be forgiven for my inordinate pride and frank enthusiasm about this. The whole thing—dams, tunnels, power-plant, smelter town and harbor—will be in my district of Skeena. "Any MP who has one firm willing and committed to spend half a billion dollars in his district may surely be excused if he can talk about little else."

The British Columbia member admitted that fears had been held that this project might have an adverse effect on the salmon fisheries but he said Alcan and fisheries department engineers had, he believed, solved this problem. The member for Skeena urged his listeners "to remember that we are all part of Canada and should all be interested in major developments anywhere in the country, for one reason because such developments provide increasing markets for the products of the whole country and also because we are in process of building a nation and adding something new and not removing existing industries from one part of the country to another."

Another Trade Opportunity

INDUSTRY at Prince Rupert cries for hired help. There is a lot of difference from the old days when men used to cry for jobs.

Without discussing conditions of employment at the cellulose plant and, notwithstanding the fact that so many of Prince Rupert's young men gravitate naturally into the fishing industry, the new pulp mill industry should have career attractions to some.

The complaint of the pulp mill management about the difficulty of getting local young men to enter the industry is nothing particularly new. Career jobs have been offered in various trades here for a long time but the interest of young men in accepting them has been lacking.

There are plenty of apprenticeship opportunities here and they become the more with the opening of the pulp mill.

The trouble, it seems, is that many young men do not want to start at the bottom. Unfortunately, too many seem to think only of the high immediate wages rather than the long range security of employment in useful and skilled work.

Chance For Bugs

BUGS may not have high ideals. They may not have any ideals at all. A fair surmise from the evidence is that bugs are as low down as they look. It is ironical that man, to whom apparently alone of all creatures came the ideal of trying to live together in peace, should be the creature that through war threatens life upon this pebble in the sky. It could be that bugs, who never heard of brotherhood, may inherit the earth.

Man's brotherhood does not include bugs. It is a brotherhood of man, not of beings. It rests on force. So far as bugs are concerned, man's brotherhood depends on the Department of Public Health and bug exterminators. There is nothing unfair, then, that in a collision of forces, the one more able to survive should succeed and the other perish.

But bugs had better not take their success for granted. Man has despaired of his success before this, but kept trying, and succeeded. He may yet prevail with his conception of a brotherhood of man. If the Christians can be strong enough to stand the Russians off from trying a war, the Christian ethic may some time run beyond the Iron Curtain, and even this side of the Iron Curtain. But the only good chance for bugs is a war. Then they alone would be likely to win.

Why An Iron Curtain?

IF COMMUNISM as a system of living is in any way superior or even equal to that democratic system in which we believe, there need be no fear of comparison, no fear of free speech, no fear of a free press, nor any limitation of universal suffrage, freely exercised, says the Canadian Industrial Preparedness Bulletin. That all these and other liberties are suppressed by Communists is proof positive of a definite knowledge of inferiority, of the inferiority of a system which can only exist by repression and force, and not in consequence of the recognition of its merit by the masses.

This very apparent piece of evidence of the value of our type of freedom should make it unnecessary to bring forward in detail other Communist testimony as to the envy felt by the "red comrades" for a way of life they are not permitted to enjoy.

We need not mention the weakness of a policy which can only be introduced here by subversion and violence, aided by the lying, cheating and disloyalty of a minority. We need not point out that modern Communist theory is produced and directed by Russia, a country which by its mistrust of others betrays its own untrustworthiness.

Report from Parliament

By E. T. APPLEWHITE, M.P.

There has been quite a storm here over John Fisher's recent report as to the treatment of persons coming to Canada from Europe. Hon. Walter Harris, minister of citizenship and immigration, had promised John Diefenbaker to make a statement concerning these comments as reported in the Toronto

Telegram, and supposed to have been made by John Fortier, Mr. Fisher has provided the department with a statement which indicates that the immigration set-up as he observed it, first at Moncton and later at Montreal, is not geared to consider the tremendous human factor involved. But offsetting the newspaper account, he closed his statement by saying "May I report again that no immigrant was beaten, pushed or cowed, but that they were not given that extra welcome which should go to any citizen coming to this land." Mr. Harris reported to the House that the plane on which Mr. Fisher arrived made an unscheduled landing at Moncton due to bad weather in Newfoundland, that at Moncton there is only one immigration officer on duty, and he completed his immigration examination of the passengers in one hour and twenty-five minutes. The Minister admitted, as Mr. Fisher remarked, "the building conditions at Moncton for the reception and examination of immigrants are not satisfactory. The Allied Aviation Service there reported: 'It is true that the facilities here are not the best, but a new waiting room is at present being constructed, and when completed should be an asset to this station.'"

As a result of the report that the complaint was made with respect to the immigration officer at Moncton, Mr. Fisher wired the immigration inspector there, "Sorry your name erroneously involved." There was no further examination of passengers on this plane by the immigration service at Dorval (Montreal), because it had already taken place at Moncton. There had been complaints as to the ability of our officers to converse with immigrants in their own tongue at this latter point—well, with respect to the linguistic qualifications of immigration personnel at Montreal, in addition to English and French they are able to converse in Italian, Swedish, Danish, Norwegian, Estonian, German, Polish, Greek, Arabic, Chinese, Jewish, Ukrainian, and Spanish, and have a working knowledge of Russian and Dutch.

While agreeing with the desirability of a warm welcome for immigrants, Mr. Harris pointed out that there is, however, a limit to the extent to which provision can be made for services of this kind. Respecting the handling of the particular flight on which Mr. Fisher was a passenger, in accordance with the policy of the department each immigrant was interviewed by an immigration officer to find out if he needed help, assistance or information. The whole thing was not only an unfortunate, but an unjustified occurrence.

I confess I was completely at sea when one day Mr. Blackmore, former leader of the Social Credit Group, rose to voice "a grievance against His Majesty's Government of Canada," to wit: that for 19 years it has dishonored and continues to dishonor those sections of the B.N.A. Act dealing with coinage and currency, banks and banking. After listening to him for 40 minutes on debt-free money, non-interest bearing bonds and such, I was more confused than ever. I was, not alone, George Drew admitted equal confusion.

I think Hon. "Doubt" Abbott had everybody with him when he spoke, very briefly, towards the close of the cost-of-living debate. He was of course perfectly right when he said that though he appreciated greatly the deep faith displayed by some members of the House that the Minister of Finance or any minister of finance can cure inflationary forces which exist in Canada or in the rest of the world, he must assure them that their faith is completely misplaced if they think that he or any other person in his position or any government can cure those forces. Although General Peckares had been critical of the government, Abbott was pretty well in agreement with the rest of his speech. General Peckares, with remarkable candor for one of our so-called politicians, had urged the people of Canada to re-discover the virtues of thrift and saving—yes, and, work.

Synthetic Fibre Causing Concern

By J. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—The threat to world wool markets from development of synthetic fibres is becoming a real problem for wool growers, suggests R. G. Lund, chairman of the International Wool Secretariat. The secretariat was formed in 1937 when wool growers undoubtedly had the threat of synthetic fibres in their minds. Lund, on his current tour of New Zealand, has been telling farmers that the threat today is much more serious.

Many new synthetics were being brought on the market, especially in the United States, and enormous sums were being spent to improve these products and to persuade the buying public that they are substitutes for wool. Lund says there is no real substitute for natural wool.

The powerful incentive for development of synthetics afforded by the present period of high wool prices may result in wool growers themselves being asked to make a greater contribution to the cost of research and promotion of the use of natural wool.

BIG BUDGET

On behalf of the international secretariat Lund has placed before the wool boards of Australia and New Zealand the largest budget in its history. He said the secretariat feels that at this time its work must be intensified in all directions, especially in the fields of research and education.

Wool has become important not only to such producing nations as South Africa, Australia and New Zealand, but to the Commonwealth as a whole, he said, since raw wool is second to rubber as the largest dollar earner.

Lund was wary about the synthetic program. Asked if expansion of synthetics might mean an increased demand for natural wool for blending purposes, he said the whole purpose of blending synthetics with wool was to cheapen the resultant product. He believed the continued use of synthetics for blending with wool was likely to result merely in damaging the reputation of wool itself.

Rice is an important item in the diet of Venezuela, which consumes about 38,000 tons annually.

THE LETTERBOX

NEWSPAPERS, ETC.

Editor, Daily News:
Your editorial of yesterday inspires me to write you feeling that we may have something in common.

I have previously had the urge to scold you for not printing more of what you produce.

Having missed my usual street boy at 4 o'clock, I could not buy a paper anywhere at 9 o'clock in the evening.

When a stranger comes to town, he asks at a news stand for a local paper, he finds scads of other papers but no local.

Where is the sign on the Daily News office? Are you afraid somebody will know where your offices are? I found the only sign of life when the boys hang about between 3 and 4 p.m.

What happened to the man covering the Negro show at the Civic Centre? I will not believe that the News missed the news. I submit the News has a duty towards its subscribers to give them the news regarding celebrities brought here by the Civic Centre.

The present angling of Mailville Catholics to get financial support for their schools, if granted, which is not likely, would not be conducive to the best interests of either Catholics or Protestants.

I was in Toronto a short time ago looking for an apartment in a district called Lansing. After some diffidence a young matron asked: "Are you Catholics?" We were dumbfounded. Visions of the Middle Ages floated before my eyes and I felt I must be dreaming. With difficulty I regained my composure, deciding this was 1950. Canada, Toronto and this young matron needed a lesson.

"No," I said, "We are not Catholics but we are too Christian to have any blanket dislike for any body of people and it seems to be irrelevant."

"You see," she said apologetically, "If you were Catholics the taxes would go to the Catholic schools. In Toronto they, apparently, have Catholic schools and separate taxes which causes religious discrimination not conducive to the best interests of any nation or people."

Another thing about Toronto I would have found it hard to believe had I not experienced it is the 25-cycle lighting system they have. All lights flicker like a candle and all household appliances must have special mo-

Narcissi and daffodils were the spring-like floral setting for a successful tea and sale Saturday by the Sonja Ladies' Aid in the Sons of Norway Hall.

The president, Mrs. George Morgan, welcomed many guests.

Serviteurs were Miss Ellen Waseng, Mrs. John Pederson, Mrs. Jack Ritchie and Mrs. Hans Knutson. In charge of the kitchen were Mrs. Hans Peterson, Mrs. Olof Skog and Mrs. Peter Anderson. The cashier was Mrs. Harold Helland.

The home cooking sale was conducted by Mrs. Reg Webber, assisted by Mrs. Jack Strand and Mrs. Carl Strand.

Mrs. Oscar Giske and Mrs. Julia Slatta looked after the sale of fancy-work.

Mrs. Walter Ballinger conducted the raffle of a three-pound jar of coffee which was donated by Mrs. Hans Peterson and won by Miss Irene Hansen.

No Money For Hospital

Prince Rupert General Hospital Association will have to go somewhere else for financial assistance, city council indicated at its meeting last night.

A further request from the hospital that financial aid be reconsidered by the city was referred to the finance committee but Ald. T. B. Black assured council there was "nothing we can do."

Ald. Harry Dagget suggested the hospital start a campaign of its own for funds.

"Perhaps local citizens would buy bonds," he said, citing a former example where funds had been raised in a similar manner to erect the first nurses' home.

Ald. Harold Whalen, council representative on the hospital board, said the hospital "certainly is in a bad spot," but he knew, too that the city was in no position to help.

WHOLE WHEAT BREAD

● Combine 3 c. boiling water, ¼ c. granulated sugar, 4 tps. salt and 1 tbs. shortening; stir until sugar and salt are dissolved and shortening melted; cool to lukewarm. Meanwhile, measure into a large bowl 1 c. lukewarm water, 1 tbs. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 3 envelopes Fleischmann's Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 minutes, THEN stir well.

City Wages Are Boosted

Employees Get Twelve Percent More—Official Salaries Upped

Civic Employees' Union No. 5 (including inside and outside employees of the city) and the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers Union (maintenance crew and telephone operators) have accepted a 12 per cent increase in salary and wages offered by the city.

Ald. T. B. Black, reporting to council last night for the wage committee, also said the salary of the assistant fire chief had been increased to $302 a month and that of the fire chief to $307 a month with living quarters.

Salaries of city clerk, treasurer, superintendent of works and telephone superintendent had been increased by $25 a month, Ald. Black said.

All increases are retroactive to January 1, 1951.

Not Satisfied With Housing

City Will Have to Get Better Housing Deal From Ottawa

What the federal government and Central Housing and Mortgage Corporation have done so far in getting housing for Prince Rupert "certainly is not satisfying and they will have to do better than that," Mayor G. W. Rudderham said last night at council meeting.

He referred to a letter from T. B. Pickersgill, B.C. region superintendent of CMHC, which said there was "nothing definite" so far.

A letter was also received from E. T. Applewhite, MP for Skeena, who had talked with the housing minister but had nothing further to report. Mr. Applewhite had admitted the situation was "not too optimistic."

Council had previously written Mr. Pickersgill saying most of the materials to construct 50 homes in Prince Rupert were expected to be available locally. In answer to that letter, Mr. Pickersgill said he had forwarded this information to Ottawa, but there was still "nothing definite."

Ald. T. B. Black moved Mr. Applewhite be sent a copy of this letter and that he be wired to "pursue the matter (housing) to the utmost."

Purchases of City Property

One dozen sales of city property were reported by Ald. T. B. Black, chairman of finance committee, at last night's council meeting. The following lots were sold:

Lots 1 and 2, Block 11, Section 5, for $1250 to Mrs. Anna E. Johnson.

Lots 33 to 38, Block 7, Section 7, and Lots 9, 12, 13 and 14, Block 24, Section 7, for $1075 to Wilfred McLean.

Lot 7, Block 23, Section 7, to Olaf Dudsick for $100.

Lots 15 and 16, Block 44, Section 5, for $550 to Marie Stanko.

Lot 11, Block 22, Section 6, for $167 to Laurence Stanwood.

Lots 37, 38 and 39, Block 7, Section 1, for $750 to Otto Breimo.

Lot 9, Block 41, Section 7, for $75 to F. B. Quinn.

Easterly half of lot 33, Block 28, Section 8, for $70 to Mrs. M. Fox and that her previous offer for the westerly half of the same lot be cancelled.

The following properties were sold subject to veterans' rebate:

Lots 17 and 18, Block 22, Section 8, for $150 to Robert D. Mitchell.

Easterly half of lot 4, Block 26, Section 5, for $125 to Mac Gagnon.

Lot 5 and westerly half of lot 6, Block 26, Section 5, for $325 to John H. Atkins.

Lots 40 and 41, Block 9, Section 5, for $820 to Vernon F. Carpenter.

Finance committee also recommended that Miss A. A. Wrathall be appointed acting city clerk during absence of City Clerk R. W. Long.

Montreal Keeps Its Women Well

MONTREAL (C)—Legend has it that the Chinese paid their physicians to keep them well. When a patient became ill the payments stopped—therefore the doctor saw to it that his patients were kept healthy.

The well-women clinic of the Royal Victoria Hospital is a modern example of this ancient practice.

Dr. N. W. Philpott, obstetrician and gynaecologist-in-chief of the hospital, says it is much easier to keep people well than to cure them after they are sick. The clinic, organized for only 2½ years, is dedicated to the task of keeping women well.

In the last year more than 2,000 women attended the clinic. Among them only 12 cancer cases were discovered and the same number of cases of tuberculosis. In addition to a physical check-up by a surgeon, gynaecologist, and specialist in internal medicine, the patient receives X-rays, blood tests, urinalysis, and cancer tests.

The clinic was intended at first for non-paying cases only, but the demand being so high for this type of check-up the clinic admits housewives from (Continued on page 5)

Shawinigan Has Birthday

SHAWINIGAN FALLS, Que. (C)—Fifty years ago Shawinigan was nothing more than a bend in the road by the falls of the St. Maurice River. From these same falls enterprising Canadians have drawn the power that built an industrial centre of steel, stone and 38,000 inhabitants.

This summer Shawinigan Falls celebrates its golden jubilee—50 years in which men have seen a colossus of manufacturing power rise from the previously unexploited lumber country of Northern Quebec. At the turn of the century the newly-formed Shawinigan Water and Power Company built the first dams that were to feed the future progress of that region. In 1903 they commenced what had previously been considered impossible: the transmission of electricity from Shawinigan to Montreal, 86 miles away.

The first line was a wooden pole affair fed by two 5000-horsepower generators. Now a total of 325,000 horsepower flows from their powerhouses into the surrounding district, one of the most heavily industrialized areas of the province.

Cheap power soon transformed the forest territory into an industrial promised land. Shawinigan soon established a subsidiary, Shawinigan Chemicals Ltd., which produces carbide, acetone and steel. Canadian Resins & Chemicals was formed during the Second World War and now produces "Vynlite" plastic materials. Consolidated Paper Corporation's mills turn out 225,000 tons of newsprint a year.

The Aluminum Company of Canada came to Shawinigan in 1900 and in 1941 constructed a new smelter plant, the second largest aluminum ingot plant in Canada.

From the factories of Canadian Industries Ltd. come such everyday marvels as "cellophane" and cellulose sponges, and many industrial products. Shawinigan Falls itself is a model city with well-defined residential, commercial and industrial areas. Its citizens are proud of their community, its efficient public services, schools and churches. Serious crime is virtually unknown and the fire insurance rate is one of the lowest in Canada.

There are no slum areas in Shawinigan Falls. A new city hall was constructed last year, and this summer a large, outdoor swimming pool ready for the residents.

NEW BEANS GIVE BIGGER
HARVEST OF TOP QUALITY

If You Cannot Use All the Beans You Harvest,
Put Them Up for Winter

The beans which grandmother called "string beans," now known as "snap beans" because the strings long ago disappeared, are excelled by few other vegetables in the food they produce, for the area occupied. One of the first triumphs of plant breeders in this country was the production of the "stringless" bean; and improvement has continued with remarkable results.

Several new varieties of high merit are now available, of top table quality combined with record yield. They bear round pods, exceptionally long, and filled with nutritious "meaty" tissue if they are picked before the seeds form. They give a large yield because they live longer, being resistant to the plant diseases which shorten the lives of older varieties.

Just keep them picked off so no seeds can form, and you will enjoy beans of such flavor and tenderness as none except home gardeners can experience.

Never sow beans until all danger of frost is over. They are extremely sensitive to cold air and cold soil. Greater improvement in quality has been made in bush beans, as distinguished from pole beans, though many find the latter excellent if they are picked young.

There are four general types of bush beans, the green and wax (yellow) each divided into flat pod and round pod. Market beans are usually flat pod, which yield better than the round pod; and the latter have the best quality.

Between the green and wax beans there are slight differences in vitamin content, the former excelling in vitamin A, the latter in vitamin B, but both are among our most nutritious foods. In recent years few wax beans have been seen in markets; but in the opinion of many they are more tender and of better flavor than green beans.

Both for the table and for canning beans should be picked before seeds form, and not more than an hour before they are cooked.

Canning pod beans requires special precautions to kill the botulinus germ, and before it is attempted the advice of canning experts should be sought.

It may be advisable to estimate your canning needs and sow a special row for putting up, so they can be harvested for that purpose. But always be ready to put up a few jars at a time, when there are more beans on the bushes than you need for the table.

Council Resolves on Clean up DECLARES WAR ON UNTIDINESS

City council is going to wage an all-out war against dirt, filth and rubble which meets the eye in Prince Rupert. Resolution to this effect was made at last night's council meeting by Ald. Douglas Frizzell with support of the whole council.

Ald. George Casey started the ball rolling. He cited several lots and business premises in the city which he termed as "filthy."

"Who is responsible for cleaning up those premises?" he asked.

Ald. Frizzell explained that in many cases the city sanitary inspector had called on owners of dirty premises and had pointed out that a "clean-up" was necessary. The owners had told the inspector to "mind your own business." The inspector did not feel he was in a position to enforce laws, and had referred such matters to the health committee.

Mayor G. W. Rudderham advised that the health committee had full right to ask police assistance in such instances and that the ruling of the sanitary officer should be enforced.

Ald. Frizzell, supported by Ald. H. F. Glassey, said his committee would "most decidedly" take necessary action to combat uncleanliness in the city and to enforce the rulings of the sanitary inspector.

PUBLIC WORKS HELP

Ald. Casey said the public works department would be glad to help where it could. He reported that the site of the burned out Central Hotel had been cleared away by his department and the expenses charged to the owners of the property as authorized by the council previously.

Ald. Harold Whalen thought strongly that something should be done immediately about Totem Park.

"Who is responsible for the condition of that park? I never saw such a dirty mess and it's out greatest tourist attraction," he said if some effort to clean up that park wasn't made soon, he had to "grab a rake and do it myself."

'Storm Warning' Is Fast-Moving

"Storm Warning," coming to the Totem Theatre Wednesday and Thursday, tells the fast-moving underworld story of a girl who witnesses the murder of a newspaper reporter but fails to reveal the truth because of fear of hoodlums who have committed the act. There is a violent love scene at the film's climax between Ginger Rogers and Steve Cochran, her sister's husband, who she has unwillingly shielded on behalf of her sister.

Doris Day is the sister. One of the featured roles is the prosecutor who combats the town's fear of the hoodlums.

Canadians Visit Yorkshire Field

MIDDLETON ST. GEORGE, Yorkshire, England (CP)—Fighter pilots from Canada's Red Indian Squadron made a brief goodwill visit to the RAF station here.

Sqdn. Ldr. Bob Davidson, commanding officer of the Canadians, renewed wartime associations with the station commander, Group Capt. Coles.

During the Second World War Middleton St. George was a bomber base from which RCAF Lancasters and Halifaxes flew to bomb Berlin.

Canadian pilots who accompanied Davidson were FOS. John Greatrix, Peterborough, Ont.; G. A. Debenham, Sinaluta, Sask.; Bruce Sheaby, Medicine Hat, Alta., and Bob Wood, Lloydminster, Sask.

The Canadian squadron is stationed at Odham, Hampshire, for a year's training with the RAF.

Canada to Share Food

MEXICO CITY (CP)—A Canadian plan for organizing worldwide distribution of food, first advanced two years ago, will again be one of the leading topics of discussion at the fifth annual conference of the International Federation of Agricultural producers.

The federation is an international farmers' organization with membership in 26 countries. It will meet here May 29. It acts in an advisory capacity to the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations.

In 1949 the federation met at Guelph, Ont., and elected H. H. Hannam of Ottawa as president. Mr. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, still holds the post.

At that 1949 conference, Canada's delegation suggested that food distribution be organized under an international agency which would strive to see that needy nations were fed at prices they could afford.

There was also a plea for increased production at that time. This year again, Mr. Hannam says, the plan for orderly distribution will be discussed by the federation.

LABOR IS TOPIC

Another subject important to Canadians will be the international movement of farm workers. Delegates have been seeking a method of moving workers across international boundaries to do farm work, both on a seasonal and year-round basis. Such a system, it is felt, would provide labor in areas when and where needed.

The federation will hear a report from the United Nations on the status of plans to relieve and reconstruct devastated areas and will discuss practical steps which it might take to aid such work.

Leading speakers include Dr. Hugh Keenleyside, former Canadian deputy minister of mines and resources, now director of the technical assistance division of the UN, and Nelson Rockefeller, chairman of the U.S. advisory committee.

Canada's delegation will number about 30 and will be led by W. J. Barker, vice-president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture and president of the Manitoba Pool Elevators, and J. A. Marion, second vice-president of the federation, who is president of Quebec's French-language farm organization.
