Allies Have Quit Wonju After Fierce Battle

STRENGTH AND WEAKNESS IN EUROPE

The strength and development of Russia's Red Army have been conjectured since the Iron Curtain descended five and a half years ago. Recently it was accepted that of her known 175 divisions a minimum of 100 are in the West, that is, in European Russia and Eastern Europe. To this must be added 75 satellite divisions and approximately 100,000 East German "people's police," armed, trained and organized as military units. The figures given in the map are based on the best authority available.

Season's Biggest Storm Today

The worst storm of the year with gusts as high as 125 miles per hour and average velocity of 80 miles per hour is lashing waters from Prince Rupert to the Queen Charlotte Islands today.

At 11 a.m. the wind velocity recorded at Cape St. James on the Northern Queen Charlotte Islands showed steady southeast winds of 95 miles per hour with gusts reaching as high as 125 miles per hour. At Dead Tree Point winds were estimated at 70 miles per hour. Sandspit reported gusts of 70 miles per hour with gusts to 100.

The Canadian government weather ship Stonetown, about 100 miles off the Queen Charlotte Islands reported earlier steady winds of 60 miles per hour with gusts up to 100.

Rain was reported with the high winds at Cape St. James and at Dead Tree Point.

Forecast for this district shows wind velocities of from 50 to 65 miles per hour during the afternoon.

To date no reports of damage to ships in distress have reached here.

Queen Charlotte Airlines planes have been held down by the storm. At 2:30 p.m. Canadian Pacific Airlines reported their plane from Vancouver to Sandspit had not taken off. Accordingly the operation both from here and from Vancouver was postponed until tomorrow at the same hours.

As it could be determined this morning, there were no fishing boats caught in the storm. Most were in harbor when the storm struck. The wind was not affecting the Prince Rupert waterfront seriously. It had changed from southeast to northeast this afternoon.

Truman Names Joseph Stalin

NEW YORK—President Truman seldom mentions Joseph Stalin by name but he did so last night. Stalin, he said, was the same as all dictators. There was no difference between Hitler, Mussolini and Stalin. State dictatorships, putting state before individual, were the same everywhere.

The President bluntly linked the Russian Premier with all dictators who sought "enslavement of the common people." He predicted that the free world will win the struggle against "the materialist forces" arrayed against them.

Truman said: "There isn't any difference" between Hitler, Mussolini, Charles I of England, Louis XIV and other dictators and the Russian leader. They are all just alike."

The President was speaking at a dinner of the Society of Business Magazine Editors.

Last night's was one of the rare occasions Truman has taken Stalin personally to task in public.

Confession By Bad Man

JOPLIN, Mo. —The Federal Bureau of Investigation announced yesterday that William E. Cook Jr. had confessed to the massacre of the five-member Carl Mosser family.

The FBI said that Cook told them in San Diego that he opened fire upon the family inside their car when Mrs. Mosser and children started screaming after a police car passed them in the outskirts of Joplin January 2.

Then Cook proceeded to the mine shaft where he dumped the bodies.

WINNIPEG —A. H. Mercer of Vancouver, general manager of the Fraser Valley Milk Producers' Association, said yesterday he believes there is a distinct possibility of dairy-product rationing in Canada within a year.

He spoke at a preliminary policy discussion of dairy farmers in Canada. Resolutions will be presented for approval by main body delegates today.

Mercer believes consumers will be in jeopardy if current trends continue. Protection for the industry was in the interest of consumers as well as producers he said.

SWANSEA, Wales —Wales defeated England 25 to 5 in an international Rugby Union game today.

Edmonton Paper "Too Successful"

EDMONTON —H. L. Straight publisher of the Edmonton Bulletin, announced today that the paper will suspend publication with the issue of one final edition today.

The decision was announced at a meeting of employees as the last issue of the paper, founded here in 1880 by the late Frank Oliver, was going to press.

Straight said that the 179 employees would be given two weeks' pay.

He said that decision to close the paper resulted from it being "too successful." The Bulletin had increased its circulation 66 per cent in three years and advertising lineage by 88 per cent.

Now the paper was confronted with the problem of building a new plant and buying a new press at an outlay of a million dollars. Also the paper was unable to obtain adequate newsprint supplies.

Straight said the paper would be bought by the Edmonton Journal but this statement was denied by W. A. Macdonald, publisher of the Journal.

"We have not bought the Bulletin," Macdonald said.

Offered "Money And Women" In Return For Information

BERLIN —Two British soldiers, held by the Russians for 31 days, said today they were given champagne and were offered "money and women" for military information. The two were released Wednesday after a British protest.

The soldiers told correspondents they were interrogated 14 hours daily in Potsdam intelligence headquarters of the Soviet army.

They said they were lured into Soviet captivity December 16 by a German-speaking man they met in a beer parlor.

"Not Being Driven Into Sea," MacArthur Asserts

TOKYO (CP)—Communist forces today hit Allied troops in recaptured Wonju on three sides. Fighting raged inside the key road-rail centre of the central Korean front.

The Red attack flared as General Douglas MacArthur arrived in Korea and said: "No one is going to drive us into the sea."

Later it was announced that the Allies withdrew from Wonju after an "intense battle."

LONDON.—Influenza deaths in England and Wales for the week totalled 890—double those of the preceding week.

Eighty-five per cent of the deaths were of persons over 55 years of age. Young people are not seriously affected.

Most of the deaths have been around Tyneside and Merseyside.

Engineer Is Killed

OTTAWA —A crack Canadian Pacific Railway train, rolling through the outskirts of the capital at 60 miles an hour, today knifed into a coal truck at a level crossing, jumped the rails and killed one person, sending 25 others to hospital with comparatively minor injuries.

The truck driver and his helper jumped to safety split seconds before the impact but the train engineer, G. Albert Scharfe of Ottawa, was injured fatally when his locomotive plunged into a narrow gully 150 yards ahead.

The fireman, Edward Ferguson of Smith's Falls, Ontario, and 24 passengers were injured.

The train was enroute from Vancouver to Montreal and was running late.

The injured passengers include Joseph Gray, Terence Burgess, William Foster, Robert Leckey, Murray Ganong and Mrs. E. Ganong, all of Vancouver.

Work Toward Arena Here

Brief Formulated at Curling Club Meeting

A meeting of the Prince Rupert Curling Club executive Friday night formulated a brief on the reasons for forming the club.

The brief reads in part: "To promote interest in artificial ice facilities in this community, allowing an evaluation of public opinion, numbers interested and likely methods of financing such a project, not for curling alone, but with the hope that in addition, skating at least might be provided for the children and youth of Prince Rupert."

The brief acknowledges that world conditions might delay the project but adds that the executive feels a beginning toward it should be made. It also says that in view of the opinion expressed at the Civic Centre 1950 annual meeting in favor of providing artificial ice that any arena project considered should, if possible, be a part of that association, rather than a separate community effort.

The brief further stated that word had been received from Cranbrook that an arena complete with bleachers had been built there at a total cost of $70,000, not including refrigeration. If curling and skating alone were considered, two 40-foot quonset-type buildings might be procured at a cost of only $30,000.

A proposal was prepared for presentation to the Civic Centre Association at its annual meeting next Thursday.

The club plans to send at least two rinks to the Smithers bonspiel in mid-February.

President Neely Moore was in the chair with eight members of the executive present.

BRITAIN BRANDS CHINA AGGRESSOR

LONDON —Great Britain will vote in the United Nations to brand Red China as aggressor in Korea but will oppose any move to impose economic sanctions on the Peiping government, informed sources reported today.

9,000 More Recruits Needed

VANCOUVER —The Vancouver News-Herald said today the lack of recruits for the reserve army is posing a threat to security of British Columbia.

The newspaper said army officers here, without exception, admitted their reserve army units are far below strength.

"Throughout the whole of B.C. army command there are roughly 3000 men in reserves, mainly concentrated in the lower mainland. To put units in B.C. on war preparedness footing they would need immediately 9000 more recruits.

"Commanders feel that compulsory training could be the answer," added the newspaper.

WEATHER

Synopsis

The worst gales of the winter were pounding the north coast this morning. Sustained winds of 65 miles per hour were reported from the Queen Charlotte Islands and other coastal stations reported increasing southeast winds. CGS Stonetown, on weather duty 900 miles west of the Queen Charlottes, reported sustained winds of 55 knots and a gust to 100 miles per hour.

The storm is bringing milder weather to the whole province. Coastal snow will turn to rain and rain will also fall in parts of the southern interior. Tomorrow will see a general improvement in weather with a decrease in wind and only scattered showers of rain or snow.

Gale Warning

North Coast Region — Gale warning. Rain today, cloudy with showers tomorrow. Milder. Winds southeast, 50 miles per hour, shifting to southwest (25) this afternoon and decreasing to southerly (15) overnight. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow.—At Port Hardy, Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 35 and 42.

Safeguard Fisheries In Aluminum Project

VANCOUVER (CP)—A plan to safeguard fisheries in the proposed $500,000,000 development of the Aluminum Company of Canada was announced here today in a report released by the federal Department of Fisheries.

A solution offered to save fisheries with an annual value of approximately $1,817,000 requires regulated release of water originally not considered necessary to the project.

Project is planned for Tweedsmuir Park area with power development of 1,600,000 horsepower on the Nechako and Nanika rivers.

The report said location of the damsite on Nechako River has been changed. Site now proposed is near the head of the Nechako Canyon, well downstream from its first location.

"It is therefore suggested that use of the Nanika be postponed and that every effort be made to increase storage in the main reservoir by temporary dams," said the report.

If this is not feasible, the report recommends sufficient water may be found from other nearby sources to maintain salmon runs.

"The solution is biologically feasible and economically practical to the company," the report ended.

Delayed by snow conditions, tonight's train, due from the East at 10:15, was reported this afternoon to be two hours and thirty minutes late.

Canoe River Wreck Report

OTTAWA —A board of transport commissioners, in its findings on the Canoe River train wreck, November 21, today recommended measures for improving safety of train operations in mountain regions.

Twenty-one persons, including 17 soldiers, were killed when a CNR troop train collided with a passenger train.

The board recommended block signals be installed as soon as possible through the entire mountain region, urged other safety measures, and said railways should review their systems of instructing operating employees in the board's rules of operation.

The board also said railways and unions should discuss practicability of having all crew members trained in first aid work.

Communist Duplicity

GENERAL EISENHOWER'S arrival in Europe and the new announcements about the British and American defence programs are being hotly denounced by all Communist propagandists as "feverish preparations for unleashing a new world war." There have been anti-Eisenhower demonstrations.

That the western nations are seeking war is direct converse of the truth. The whole purpose of the new defensive measures is purely defensive. And the terms of the North Atlantic Treaty are very narrowly and strictly worded, so that its military obligations only come into effect in the event of an actual armed attack on the territory or troops of the members.

The historical facts are in themselves proof of this. For three years after the end of the war the western democracies did nothing to organize any collective security system. They drastically reduced their armed forces and their expenditure on defence. They worked on the assumption that they could count upon a long period of peace.

Meanwhile the Soviet Union—in the words of the British note to Moscow of January 8—"maintained in being vast military forces out of all proportion to those retained by her wartime allies." Not only that but the east European states associated with Russia were welded into close military alliance. The ex-enemy states among them were re-armed. And the armed forces of the whole coalition were closely integrated with those of the Soviet Union.

A formidable military machine was created in eastern Europe. For what purpose? It could not be for defence. For the only other armies in Europe were so small and so unequipped that the very idea of their conducting an offensive against the east was ludicrous.

There could only be two reasons for Russia's preparations. Either this great force was intended for use in an attack on the west, or the intention was to support Soviet diplomacy by such an overwhelming preponderance of armed strength that any western country would be compelled, by the mere possibility of its use, to yield to any and every demand which Moscow chose to make.

There could be no other explanation. And as Russia's preponderance of strength increased, so Russian diplomacy became more openly and avowedly hostile to the west.

The "balance of power" is a phrase which has fallen into disrepute. But a far greater danger comes from a complete unbalance of power, from the possession of overwhelming force by a government intent on extending its territory or its influence. And Soviet Russia has given plenty of evidence of such intention. Despite the pledge of the Anglo-Soviet Treaty of 1943 that it would seek no territorial aggrandizement, it insisted in 1945 in adding thousands of square miles to its territories. It has brought six "independent" European countries under its control. And it has those still unfulfilled "territorial aspirations" in the Middle East on which Molotov laid such stress in his negotiations with Hitler and Von Ribbentrop in 1940.

The unbalance of power in Europe is becoming more and more dangerous. What the western powers are doing is in effect to restore that balance—to create a power situation which Stalin will understand and in which he will be willing to reach reasonable understandings and will not be tempted to use the threat of force as an instrument of policy. The point is that the western powers are seeking to restore the balance which has become so dangerously tilted. If there is an "arms race" it was started by the Soviet Union.

That is a historical fact. And it was once discovered as a "law of history" that a test of intention is that peacefully-minded states are always slower and later in military preparations than are aggressively-minded ones. The "discoverer" of that "law" was Josef Stalin. It certainly applies to circumstances of today.

OUR REWARD

(By Rev. E. Solland, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church)
"Then answered Peter and said unto him, Behold we have forsaken all, and followed Thee; what shall we have therefore?"—Matt. 19:27.

The question of reward is important to us. A child will work and do its best if he or she is rewarded with a gold star pasted on the lesson page. A stroke on the head, a nod of an approving teacher or a word of praise is all that is required to get a willing response from most children. If no praise is forthcoming for work well done, there is a state of depression that makes it difficult for the child to even try to get its lessons. The desire for recognition of effort is present in all ages of life.

Does it sound strange to you then that the apostles were wondering what kind of a reward should be given to them? They were asking a normal question. What would be their reward for investing themselves, after having left all in order to follow Jesus. It is not difficult to understand this question. It did however, come from a wrong impulse. Peter and the others had an idea that Jesus would re-establish the glorious Kingdom of Israel. So they were of the opinion that they would be having a political reward as soon as the kingdom would be founded.

Jesus answered their question. It was somewhat different than they had expected. He spoke of the kingdom of glory where they would sit upon thrones, act as judges. Then He told them about the reward of eternal life. Not least in importance, Jesus told them that they could never give up anything for His sake unless they would receive a hundred fold reward. Such a promise was beyond anything one could imagine and beyond immediate understanding.

Have you wondered what your reward for following Christ might be? If you have wondered, then be assured that there is a reward for you. First it is found in this life. Then in its final form it is the reward of eternal life. The present reward is not always paid in dollars out is often in the form of spiritual blessings which are more worth while than money. For instance, a Christian has the forgiveness of sins. What is more precious than that? Then he has peace in his conscience. What could you compare in value with God's peace? He also has the promise of God's abiding presence. What is the value to you of knowing that Jesus is ever near. Finally there is the fullness of eternal life. And God asks you what you can give in exchange for heaven.

There are also earthly rewards. Ask anyone who gives at least one-tenth of his income to God. Such a person will tell that he has experienced that the remainder of his funds have taken on an added value. Several people say that their income has increased since they began to give liberally to God. God never goes back on His promise. You are able to depend on Him at all times.

What shall be your reward for a life lived for Christ? It is found in life's blessings here and it has the promise of the reward of heaven.

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT
THANKS, SIKHS

THIS IS to say thank you to Sikh friends, from many parts of British Columbia, who gave me such a handsome cash present, on the eve of my journey to the homeland of their forefathers. This nice gift will enable my wife to join me for much of my forthcoming trip.

TWO MEMBERS of our family are not altogether pleased at my forthcoming tour. Stu, our 17-year-old son, always raises an awful rumpus if I put his name in the paper. He values only mention on the sport page, as a rugby performer. But this time Stu's indignation will blast into thin air—for I will be far above or even across the ocean before he knows anything about this. "I know you, dad," says Stu. "You're such a darn fanatic that if you ever get out there to India we'll never get you home again. You'll get up there in one of those monasteries, trying out Yogi or something, and I'll have to come out and get you." (Come to think of it, Stu may be working an advance alibi to dodge the matriculation examinations.)

THE OTHER member of our family who is very down-in-the-mouth about it all is Ruff, our jet black Springer spaniel who is never more than a couple of yards away from me, when I write these articles, or even when I go to the barber-shop.

Ruff is a middleaged lady now but, unlike many other such, is not the least bit troubled about her overweight. You might mistake her for a black bear. That is, till you heard her bark. Don't tell me that dogs don't know what's going on. Ruff always knows when one or more of us is going away. She just can't stand solitude. In fact, she's more like Mae West than Greta Garbo. Very definitely, Ruff does NOT want to be alone. And so fickle is fate that almost every year Ruff gets condemned to long spells of loneliness.

At such times the poor girl almost dies of anxiety. That sometimes puts the whole family in a spot, such as the time that daughter Martha wrote home from the Cariboo. No sooner had the postman put that letter through the letter-slot than the overjoyed Ruff literally ate the thing up.

AN AMERICAN girl, Mary, who is even more psychic than our Ruff, writes all the way from Arizona to say how glad she and her Canadian husband are that I am going to India. She has always seen Asia in my aura, she says, and thinks that "your past incarnations may catch up with you." Maybe I will catch up with my past incarnations. Who knows?

150,000 New Immigrants

WINNIPEG (C)—The number of new arrivals in Canada in 1951 may reach a total of 150,000. Practically all would be from the United Kingdom and Europe. Minister of Immigration Harris, speaking here last night, predicted the possible advent of such a number of new immigrants in Canada this year. They would include 30,000 from the United Kingdom. In 1950 immigrants admitted to Canada totalled 74,000. "Our objective this year, assuming that conditions remain the same, is in the neighborhood of 150,000."

The immigrants will include women, children and a substantial number of farm settlers.

Daily Health Hint

Take care of your feet—a properly fitted shoe should be 1/4 to 3/4 inches longer than the longest toe—be sure your new shoes are fitted to both feet.

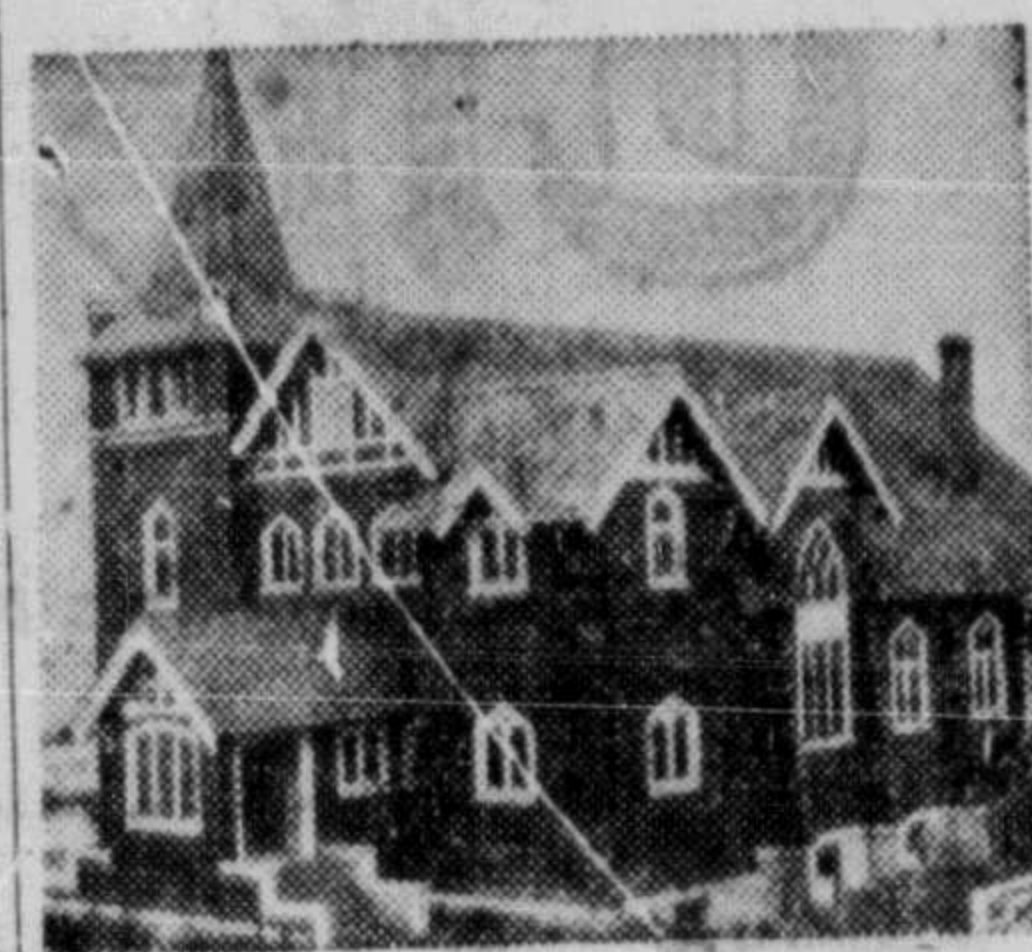

Mary further kids me that my wife will catch up with me long before I get back to Rome, where we have a date to meet (I mean the wife and I, not the other lady). Mary sees my wife, Hope, meeting me on the airstrip either at Cairo or Karachi.

I MUST HAVE at least one good Muslim reader, for a nice card comes, with no name but the inscription, "May Allah go with you." Reminds me of my college days when I was assigned to write an essay on Carlyle's work on Mohamet, and got so interested that I read the whole Koran.

A UNIVERSITY professor came up with this, slightly purged by me: One thing we all know about Elmore

That when he comes back he will tell more. With a column on Yogi He will clear up the bogey Of world war—yes, he may even sell more!

Hospital WA Is Very Busy

Much business was transacted and reports on many activities were presented when the regular monthly meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary was held in the Ladies' Lounge of the Civic Centre on Thursday with a record number, 29 members, present.

Mrs. R. Davidson reported on the decoration of the hospital wards with small trees. Fourteen different rooms were brightened up by these gay trees and they were left in the rooms until January 2 when the Library Committee dismantled them. Patients expressed appreciation of this added gaiety to their rooms.

A further letter and more books have been received from Mrs. Wilson, President, B.C. Association Hospital Auxiliaries. Mrs. A. Boas reported that the Library Committee have now indexed all the books and additional books continue to arrive fairly regularly. The members of the Hospital Auxiliary assisting this committee in distributing the books to hospital patients, in the twice weekly rounds of the whole hospital, are delighted with the reception they receive from the hospital patients, many of whom now look on these ladies as old friends.

LONDON—Great Britain, according to well informed sources, is seriously considering withdrawing diplomatic recognition from Communist China. There is, however, no official statement.

ancouver and Prince Rupert were being held because of the high winds.

Mrs. A. H. Hurst gave a report on the sale of raffle tickets for the Russian squirrel scarf.

Mrs. H. A. Breen gave a report on the furnishings that have been supplied by the Hospital Auxiliary to the Nurses' Home.

One sectional chesterfield, purchased; one chesterfield re-covered; one large chair re-covered and new cushion added; four occasional chairs covered; one footstool and one table refinished; ten pairs floor length drapes purchased, made and hung and rods for same supplied.

As the Nurses' Home is now ready the long promised tea is to take place there on February 1. All ladies in Prince Rupert, and men as well, are being invited to attend this tea and see the Nurses' Home. A home cooking sale will be held at the same time as the tea. It is hoped that non-members of the Hospital Auxiliary will assist the home cooking committee with donations.

Mrs. Norton Youngs reported the Prince Rupert Rotary Club donated $20 a few days prior to Christmas so that toys could be purchased for all children in hospital over Christmas. Mrs. Youngs and Mrs. A. W. Large bought toys for each child in the hospital and these were handed to the small patients just prior to Christmas Day. The remaining money being used, on a suggestion of Miss Clements, Lady Superintendent, to purchase permanent toys for the children's wards in the hospital. These are very badly needed to help amuse the convalescent children.

The annual meeting of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary will be held on March 15.

The annual Rummage Sale is planned for May 4 and 5.

It is hoped to make 12th—National Hospital Day—in remembrance of Florence Nightingale's birthday—a special day. A tea has been planned for that date and will be held annually in future.

Interference leads to trouble in international affairs, as well as private affairs. The only way the world can be at peace is to establish decent trade relations despite political agitators.

I may add: The U.S. interference in the China civil war has resulted in unting China as it is. Stalin saw the opportunity and made a 30-year alliance with his big neighbor so as to keep peace in turbulent Asia. It is in the interest of all the nations that comprise this world that a strong power keeps the peace there.

Brittany in France, one of Europe's most picturesque areas, was conquered by Julius Caesar in 56 B.C.

THE LETTERBOX

CANADA'S POSITION

Editor,
Daily News—
Regarding Canada and other countries of the British Commonwealth, as it is called, it seems we have had enough experience and knowledge that we now can play a more wise and progressive role in world affairs. The time has come to ask questions:

"Are we going to follow the Yanks, right or wrong?"
As the leaders of the U.S.A. persist in Americanizing other people with guns and bombs, we should let them go at it alone. They'll learn after a while (like Germany did) that war doesn't pay. The great powers have been discussing freedom so long with insults to one another that the common man is more than fed up with it. It seems to me that the only freedom we have now is to starve to death at home or get killed in the battlefield.

Those who are boasting of or anticipating another war will be badly left, because the wounds of the last war are not yet healed. Note, that anyone with a sound mind will not get into war unless deliberately attacked and his interests demand to be defended. As long as there remain scars of war in Germany, Poland and Russia, there won't be any war in Europe—so that ought to convince many.

Surely the time has come for those who have the knowledge and humanity at heart, to assume an attitude in the grave situation. For my part I say: Let the Asiatics solve their own problems. All they want is to be left alone to administer their own affairs.

Convened by Mr. and Mrs. Alex Mitchell, committees were: Check room — Pat Mitchell, Olive Strand, Margaret Strachan and Margit MacArthur.

Hot-dogs—Mary Addison, Joan Gribble, Karen Wright, Agnes Smith, Dianne Kennedy, Noon Webster and Donna MacArthur.

Slim Simplicity Fashion Keynote

By DOROTHY ROE

NEW YORK (AP)—The woman who shops for a new spring outfit this year should consider it as a long-term investment.

Though the silhouette remains substantially unchanged, expectation of new government controls, shortages and restrictions adds interest to the current United States collections, which may represent the public's last chance for a number of years to choose from an unlimited selection of fine fabrics and unrestricted styles.

In general, spring fashions are slim, simple and understated for daytime, with elaboration of line and detail reserved for after-five outfits.

The tailored suit is the most important single item in the new style roundup. The most popular color is grey, the favorite fabrics flannel, men's wear worsted or lightweight tweed.

Skirts are almost uniformly narrow, often with pleats below the knee in back to give walking room; jackets often are slightly longer than those of last fall with a number of tunic styles making their appearance. The exaggerated curved neckline is out though waistlines still are slightly nipped. Shoulders are slightly padded, but achieve a natural, rounded look. Skirt lengths are slightly shorter than those of last fall.

The suit takes in a wide range this season. It may be the conventional skirt and jacket, or it may turn out to be a sheath dress with matching tailored jacket. Dressier versions, designed for cocktail and theatre wear, often consist of a strapless or low-cut dress and cover-up jacket.

POPULAR ENSEMBLE
The "suit plus" also makes fashion news. This may be a skirt and jacket with a detachable matching cape, or a dress-jacket outfit with matching long stole. Many of the new suits include a blouse designed to harmonize or contrast with the outfit, with jacket lining to match.

Spring coats lean to high colors in fine fleeces or imported tweeds. The loose, full-cut coat, either full-length, three-quarter or hip-length is the favorite style, though dressier spring coats in navy or black often are fitted.

Sleeve interest is high. The most popular coat sleeve is three-quarter or elbow length, cut wide and loose, with a convertible cuff which may be turned up or down. Balloon sleeves also are new, and are seen on suits and dresses as well as coats. These usually are elbow length and loose.

Short capes are in evidence in many collections, teaming well

Meets Friends— Touring With Game Warden

Uneventful Usually but Sometimes Exciting. Often Interesting

Cpl. Ed. Martin, game warden of Prince Rupert, leaves Monday on a routine patrol aboard PML 4, which he skips. He will go south as far as Bella Bella and will be gone about three weeks.

Most of these trips, says Cpl. Martin, are quite uneventful. Of course, he will meet and chat with friends, many of whom he has known for more than a decade.

There are, for example, Patty Duffley, 78, at Klekane Inlet, and George Corbett, 70, at Khutze Inlet, both trappers. Patty, says the warden, has lived there since 1909 and seldom sees other people. Last year, however, he took a trip to Vancouver—his first in 30 years. It was to have his teeth fixed, Patty said.

A Vancouver newspaper, learning of Patty's arrival, asked for his impression of the Big City.

"Terrible!" the newspaper quoted. "Too much noise for a fellow to live." And he said he wasn't coming back.

Last trip something unusual did happen, according to Cpl. Martin. Because of a quirk of fate, he and a companion were able to save a fisherman's life. Before leaving Prince Rupert, the warden had checked the fire extinguishers on the PML 4. He found them to be defective and replaced them with modern CO2 equipment.

At Victory Cove the PML 4

berthed just ahead of a gill-netter. Suddenly flames shot up behind the cruiser. The fishboat was on fire. With the CO2 extinguishers, Martin and his companion quickly brought the flames under control, saving the life of the fisherman.

Investigation revealed the man had mistaken a can of gasoline for one of fresh water, filled his tea-kettle and heated it on an open flame. The explosion had knocked him semi-conscious.

The fisherman is known as "Old Dick."

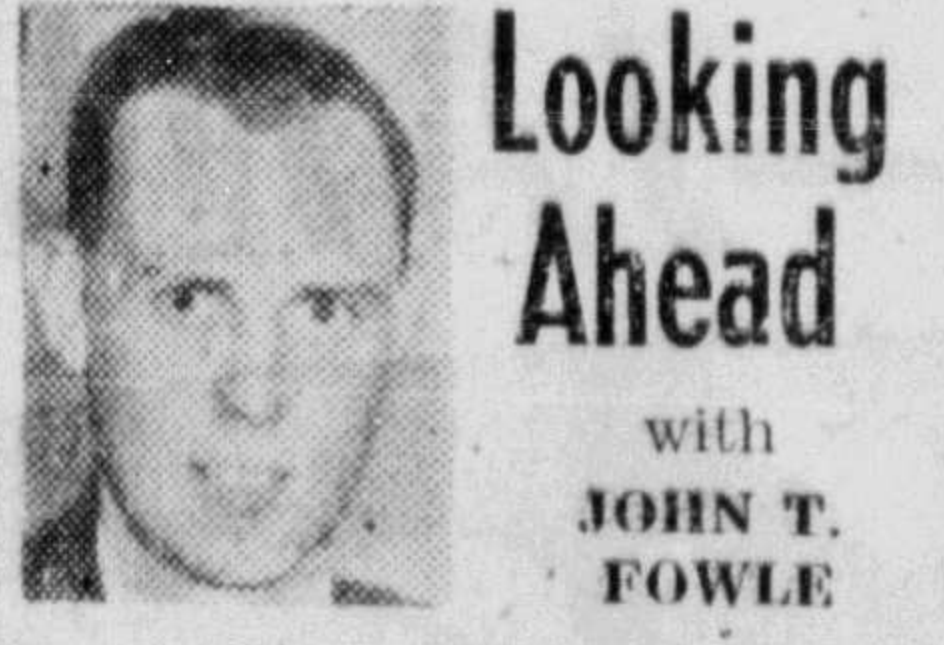

Mixed Bowling— League Leaders Suffer Reverse

Prince Rupert Plumbing, who have led the Mixed Bowling League right from the start of the second half and still lead by a one point margin, lost four points this week to the Headliners who maintain they are only starting to go places in a big way.

Cy Kellet sparked the Headliners with the evening's high men's single and three game totals of 318 and 813. High ladies' single game was made by J. Shenton of Shenton Sheet and high ladies' three game total was scored by M. Copeland of Overwaita with 653.

Looking Ahead with JOHN T. FOWLE

Most of us are reluctant to face unpalatable truths. That sensitive spot on our molar is probably just a temporary irritation; that twinge of pain in the region of the heart will no doubt go away if we give it time. Too many of us put off seeing our dentist or consulting our physician for a periodic check-up. Similarly, possibility of early death is an unpleasant fact that we try hard not to think about. Yet only two categories of people can afford to disregard such a contingency—those who have no dependents and those who have made, through life assurance, sufficient provision for their loved ones against the chance of untimely death. If you cannot conscientiously claim to be in either of these categories drop me a line—or telephone.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Have you ever been reluctant to reply to your partner's four no trump bid, feeling that your response will get the hand too high?

When that happens it is almost always because one or more of your previous bids was unsound. The antidote for this poisonous situation, obviously, is to make all of your bids sound.

I am often asked: "How do you keep from getting into a jam using the Blackwood Convention?" The answer is—be sure your earlier bids are correct. Remember that a bad bid, once made, cannot be corrected. You are headed for trouble whether you are showing aces by means of the Blackwood or by means of notes handed to partner under the table.

None vulnerable.

I saw Miss Lucy Brash throw a nice hand out the window today. West opened the queen of clubs and Miss Brash won with the ace on the board. However, there was no way to avoid the loss of a club trick and the ace of hearts, so the contract was down one.

After the play Miss Brash told

Sons of Norway Whist And Dance

The Sons of Norway weekly whist drive and dance continues to be a popular entertainment spot Friday nights. There were 12 tables of cards at play and a large crowd at the dance that followed.

Winners at whist were:
 Ladies—First, Mrs. T. Latch; second, Mrs. H. Grindstrand.
 Men—First, T. Latch; second, R. McLean.

Dancing from 10 to 2 a.m. was to the music of Mike Colussi and his accordion.

Delicious refreshments were served at midnight by a committee consisting of Mrs. Alf Jensen, convener, Mr. and Mrs. T. Gustafson, Mr. and Mrs. J. Johnson, Roy Johansen and Frank Schroeder.

me she wished she had followed her hunch and bid five diamonds after the four no trump bid, "suppressing" one of her aces. She asked if that would have been the proper course.

I had to tell her that the trouble was not with the Blackwood. The trouble was traceable directly to the jump rebid of three spades. This was a gross overbid. Actually Miss Brash had no way of knowing that the hand wasn't a complete misfit. And apparent misfits should be bid with extreme caution.

The proper second round bid on the South hand was two spades. Now if Mrs. Keen cannot find another bid, game is most unlikely.

RAY... Reflects and Reminisces

Hotel promoters are reported to have again paid a brief and discreet visit to Prince Rupert within the week. It is devoutly to be hoped the call will be fruitful. There have been crop failures long enough.

An aluminum development in Alaska, says Anchorage Times, would have revolutionized the economy of the territory. It would have created a new city of 15,000 to 50,000 population. It would have opened the way for the commencement of a long list of new industries as by-products of the main aluminum.

A tendency of the times is wider use of the short and more easily understood word, Winston Churchill, for example, often says "Fory," which is no reflection on his political loyalty or on the party. It's much superior to Progressive Conservative which has 23 letters. That's enough to lead headline writers into the very depths of profanity. Liberal strikes a happy medium but "Grit" is even better.

When Fairbanks folks learned of American soft coal miners drawing $16.35 a day they did not say much but perhaps thought a lot. When this meant an increase of five or six per cent in the cost of fuel they both looked and sounded sad. When the mercury hit 52 below, and icy fog gripped the plane service, both consumers and pe-shables started feeling exhausted.

There is nothing to the rumor that a new industry could be expected here any time. The enterprise, it seems, was a cup-making plant, the produce to go with the flying saucers. Carefully checked, it entirely lacked confirmation.

Brooke Claxton told Halifax on Thursday the Maritimes will have new and large scale defenses. This does not mean history is to be repeated but there is a similarity. Once in Acadia, exploring and figuring out ways and means to stand off attacks could be called an industry.

For the first time in years the name of Hallie Selassie was in the paper yesterday. The ruler of Ethiopia is doing quite well. He's older and perhaps wiser. He knows how it feels to be a king without a country and virtually a fugitive. And he also understands how it feels to see an invader himself overthrown and hanged in ignominy and disgrace. When Mussolini started thinking what he would do in East Africa he made the blunder of his life.

White accents are evident throughout all collections. There are a number of suits and costumes in which the jackets have complete button-in linings of white pique, especially effective with navy. Others have removable white starched linen or pique revers or collars and cuffs. White accessories also are in the spotlight.

Designers have worked out a number of devices to soften the severity of the straight sheath silhouette. Some use long scarf draperies beginning at the neckline and continuing beneath the belt to make a side drapery on the skirt. Others add detachable apron overskirts. Still others employ tiered effects.

Alexander MacKenzie on Dry Dock—Readying For Cod-Fishing—Ritchie's New Boat

After six months' service, the Department of Transport lighthouse tender Alexander MacKenzie is in Prince Rupert dry dock for cleaning and painting. No barnacles were found on the ship's bottom when she was raised from the water. The cleaning and painting is in preparation for a supply trip to Cape St. James on the Queen Charlotte Islands. She went into dry dock Thursday and is expected to leave Monday.

One of the larger jobs to be undertaken by Prince Rupert dry dock recently is renewal of plating on part of the bottom of one of the Columbia Cellulose Company Skeena River barges.

Liver prices are edging upward because of an increased demand, it was learned here this week.

Among boats preparing for cod fishing are the Miss Jean, which plans to go out in about one week; the Hero No. 1 the week-end following, and the Kaien II. Fishing now is the Balsac. The B.C. Producer arrived this week from Vancouver to prepare for fishing when the weather becomes better.

Capt. David Ritchie and sons Alf and Jack have purchased a fishing boat in Vancouver to replace the Finella, which they sold to Nelson Bros. They are expected back in the city shortly after the week-end.

OLD BIRNIE GOES SOUTH

Thirty-one years ago, Department of Transport officials waited excitedly on the department wharf at Digby Island for Capt. W. Butler to dock the new light-house tender, C.G.S. Birnie.

It is doubtful if there were very many gathered at the Seal Cove base today to watch her being towed away by Island Warrior, Capt. J. C. Farley, Island Tug and Barge Ltd. tug boat on her return to her native Victoria.

Also on hand when the Birnie arrived was the larger vessel C.G.S. Newington, later replaced by the Alberni. It was a great day for Prince Rupert as well as the department.

Command of the Birnie passed from Capt. Butler to Capt. Harry Ormiston, who served under Capt. Butler as first mate during the trip from Victoria. Later Capt. Ormiston went to the Newington and was succeeded on the Birnie by Capt. Norman McKay who piloted her through her last years in the government service. Capt. McKay now commands the replacement vessel C.G.S. Alexander MacKenzie.

The Birnie's sister ship, C.G.S. Berens, is still in the service at Victoria. With the de-commissioning of the Birnie, the only wooden hulled vessel in the Department of Transport service here is the smaller vessel, C.G.S. Catherine B., Capt. H. Calderwood.

When C.G.S. Alexander MacKenzie arrived here in August, the Birnie was turned over to Crown Assets and put up for tender. The tender of the tug company was the one accepted by Crown Assets Vancouver office. It is the intention of the company to convert the faithful old ship into a tug boat.

Capt. Iasson Nicholachis of the steamer Santa Ana, which unloaded sulphur at Columbia Cellulose Company's Watson Island plant this week, was once a Greek Olympic team star. A partner in the company which owns the ship, he has been a sea captain for 27 years.

Percy Hallett, popular assistant purser on the Prince George, is being retired from Canadian National Steamships service at the end of February. A special article on his colorful career which has taken him to all parts of the world will appear in the Daily News soon.

The C.N. steamship Prince Rupert will soon be emerging from her annual overhaul in dry dock to relieve the Prince George on the Vancouver-Ketchikan run. The Prince George will then enter dry dock for her overhaul. Both vessels are being equipped with extensive fire fighting equipment in connection with

Cigarette Price Is Same Meantime

OTTAWA—There will be no immediate boost in the price of cigarettes, although there have been rumors of a two cent rise. There is said to be a possibility of higher taxes being levied in the next budget but nothing seems actually known as to a higher cigarette price.

Color And Excitement

Errol Flynn and Alexis Smith go western in a stirring adventure drama of the frontier days in "Montana" which comes to the Capitol Theatre here next Monday and Tuesday.

The story is that of a sheep-rancher and his determination to move his flock through cattle country despite strong opposition of outnumbering cattlemen. How Flynn, as the sheepherder, manages to gain his own ends provides the action backdrop of the film. In doing so he becomes embroiled in campfire raids, street brawls, stampedes, a rousing sequence with an unbroken "devil horse" and a sound lashing from his beautiful co-star, Alexis Smith.

The supporting cast includes Douglas Kennedy, James Brown and Ian Macdonald.

Cars Crossing Francois Lake

FRANCOIS LAKE (Special to Daily News)—Cars are now crossing Francois Lake on the ice, just a week after navigation closed and the ferry was tied up for the season.

A stump burning under the new King Edward school this afternoon caused the fire department to be called out. The stump was believed to have caught fire when overheated by a plumber's torch. No damage was caused.

The preliminary hearing of the charge of murder laid against Harold Ryan was adjourned this morning until January 29. The charge was laid following the death December 23 of Lorraine Tait found in the water near Port Simpson.
