BRITISH SUBMARINE VANISHES

Seventy Men Are Down With Large Navy Submersible

PORTSMOUTH, England (CP) — The Royal Navy submarine Affray, with at least 75 men aboard, vanished without trace last night after a test dive in the English Channel. An oil slick sighted today southwest of the Isle of Wight confirmed fears of "serious trouble."

Helicopters, airplanes and ships began searching a stretch of sea 75 miles long and 25 miles wide along the south Channel coast of England for the 1600-ton submarine which has schnorkel breath apparatus and escape devices.

Zig-zagging along the Affray's assumed course, airmen were watching for an oil slick, debris or emergency marker buoys around the point where the submarine went into her dive at 8 p.m. She was to have resurfaced this morning.

The depth of the Channel in the search area ranges from 30 to 40 fathoms or 180 to 190 feet.

Budget is Under Fire

Non-confidence Motions In House of Commons

OTTAWA (CP) — Three-pronged Opposition attack on the 1951-52 budget, accompanied by two motions of non-confidence in the government, was launched yesterday in the House of Commons.

Progressive-Conservative, CCF and Social Credit parties joined in criticizing the tax-boosting budget as inflationary and deploring Finance Minister Abbott's action in raising the general sales tax to ten percent from eight percent.

As the traditional budget debate opened, Progressive-Conservative and CCF parties introduced their customary motions of non-confidence, containing specific criticisms.

The CCF motion called for limiting the new 20 percent defence tax on incomes to single persons who earn more than $1500 a year and married persons earning more than $3,000. Under the budget, the tax will apply to income payments beginning July 1.

The Progressive-Conservatives thrust specifically expressed regret at the government's "failure" to take effective steps to "deal with profiteering."

Solon Low, Social Credit leader, suggested the excise tax on liquor could have been increased further.

Natives to Convention

Delegates from here attending the British Columbia Native Brotherhood's annual convention in Bella Bella included the secretary, Edward Bolton. The convention will open Thursday.

Accompanying Mr. Bolton to the Bella Bella convention are M. J. Williams, Mr. and Mrs. L. Morrison, C. Dudoward, James McKay, P. Isaac, H. McMillan, Roger Wilson, H. Sinclair, Silas Johnson and William Mathews.

Battle For Dam is on

Allied troops still moving North in Korea

Tokyo (CP) — Allied troops today ripped into Communist forces on Korea's east central front in well-angled battles for Hwachon dam.

The Red's man-made smoke screens began to lift late this afternoon.

United Nations planes then roared into action with jellied gasoline bombs, rockets and machine guns.

On the ground the Allies battered the Reds with artillery and rifle fire.

Thousands of Communist soldiers are massed in the hills north of the strategic dam. The attack was aimed to block their long expected spring offensive.

On the western front United Nations troops maintained their pressure south of Chonwon. This heavily-bombed town, 17 miles north of the border, is an important Chinese base.

RENT CONTROL IS APPROVED

VICTORIA (CP) — The Legislature last night gave final reading to a bill giving the province the power to assume rent controls when they are relinquished at the end of April by the federal government.

CAYUGA RETURNS—Symbolic of greeting from thousands of relatives and friends to destroyer Cayuga on its return to Esquimalt from Korea, is this first ship-to-shore handshake between Able Seaman George Smith of Victoria, B.C. and father A. C. Smith. Since Cayuga sailed last July 5, she has steamed 55,000 miles on patrol duty. (CP PHOTO)

Ottawa River Flood Starts

OTTAWA — The worst flood potential since 1909 appears to be building up in the Ottawa River which has started overflowing its banks. At Montreal Island the water level is six feet higher than normal at this time of year.

No Convention At Burns Lake

BURNS LAKE (Special to the Daily News) — On account of overtaxing of hotels and other accommodations due to Aluminum Co. developments, the Burns Lake and District Board of Trade decided last night that it will be unable to go through with plans to hold the annual convention of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia here this summer.

W. J. Scott, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central B.C., commenting on this dispatch, said that he would be advising with the executive of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce before the end of the month in regard to the selection of a new venue for the convention. It might be held here or at Ketchikan, he suggested. The convention had been scheduled to open at Burns Lake August 28 but this may be changed now.

Cigarette Price up

MONTREAL (CP) — E. C. Wood, president of Imperial Tobacco Co. Ltd., today announced a four-cent increase for package cigarettes, effective today. The boost applies to new stock being issued to retailers today.

Mr. Wood said the three-cent excise boost and two per cent increase in sales tax caused the sale price to rise on 20 cigarettes from 36 cents to 40 cents.

(The provincial sales tax will bring the price in British Columbia up to 41 cents.)

Coalition to End Unless War on, Asserts Anscomb

VANCOUVER (CP) — The coalition government will be a thing of the past at the next general election unless Canada is involved in a world war, Finance Minister Herbert Anscomb said last night.

The provincial Progressive Conservative leader, in an address over the provincial network of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation, made the statement as he referred to the transferable voting system which the government introduced during the current session of the Legislature.

"In the event the world is 'reasonably stable' at the time of the next election, the Conservative party will have a candidate in every riding in British Columbia who 'will contest each seat as a straight Conservative,'" he said.

Discussion Is Denied

Legislature Refuses To Hear Labor's Hospital Hike Resolution

VICTORIA (CP) — Labor's 205,000-name petition protesting at increases in hospital insurance payments was received last night by the Legislature. But a CCF-sponsored motion that the petition be discussed on the floor of the House was defeated on division by a vote of 34 to 9.

W. A. C. Bennett, Independent—South Okanagan, and Thomas Uphill, Labor—Fernie, joined with the seven-member opposition in asking for discussion.

Britain Chided, Also Assured

LONDON (CP) — Iran charged Great Britain and the United States last night with meddling in her internal affairs.

An official statement, issued at the same time by Ali Soheily, Iranian ambassador in London, at the same time assured Great Britain that Iran has no intention of giving her oil to any other country or of depriving Great Britain of its use.

Thomas Parkin, northern representative for the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, left for Bella Bella today on the Camosun to attend the provincial Native Brotherhood's annual convention. Secretary of the U.F. & A.W.U., Homer Steven, will be attending the convention, representing Vancouver headquarters.

T. Athlen of Three Rivers, Quebec, is listed in the Canadian Pacific Airlines office as due to arrive here on today's plane from Vancouver.

St. Paul Flooded

Highest Water Since 1882 Hits Packing Industry.

ST. PAUL, Minnesota (CP) — Mississippi River communities in northeastern Minnesota are getting their worst flooding in seventy years.

The river reached a crest of 19.2 feet in St. Paul last night—highest since the 1881 peak of 19.7 feet—and South St. Paul stockyards are flooded out of operation for the first time since their opening. Several packing plants are also shut down.

North Mankato, where the Minnesota flooded out 5,000 persons April 8 is still a deserted community.

Big League Opening—

Pirates Win In Opener

NEW YORK (CP) — Kings for a day, anyway, are Branch Rickey's pace-setting Pittsburgh Pirates.

Getting the jump on the rest of the National League clubs, which were scheduled to open today, Pittsburgh spoiled Cincinnati's preview yesterday, routing the Reds before 30,441 shivering fans. Near-freezing temperatures and snow flurries further marred the Reds' home inaugural.

Rain washed out the ceremonial opening at Washington between the Senators and the defending champions, New York Yankees, who were to have ushered in the American League season.

Weather permitting, all 16 clubs were to get under way today with an estimated 242,000 customers expected to attend the eight contests.

A. L. Wudel, manager of Canada Packers here, returned to the city yesterday by plane from Edmonton where he has been attending a company convention.

Fort Frances Winner Again

FORT FRANCES—Fort Frances Canadians defeated Nanaimo Clippers 4 to 2 last night and took a 3 to 1 game stranglehold on the best of seven Allan Cup western finals.

Far Eastern Probe Urged

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP) — Senate Republicans today proposed creation of a 24-member Senate-House committee to make broad investigation of Far Eastern policy.

The resolution calls for complete evaluation of United States' policies in the Far East and their relation to foreign and military policies of the United States as a whole.

Ottawa River is in Flood

THREE MEN LOSE THEIR LIVES

OTTAWA (CP) — Although one of its tributaries is reported to be dropping, the Ottawa River today is spreading and rising in a manner, river men are equalled since the bad 1909 flood. Three men lost their lives in capsizing of a boat in the flood waters.

Up and down the Ottawa River evacuation by boat is being considered or under way in a dozen district centres.

Hardest hit town is Gatineau Point where it is estimated almost half the homes are affected by the floods.

About 30 people have had to leave their homes and 100 more have moved from lower to upper floors.

The three drowned men were Allan Donnell, aged 27; William Holland, 34, and John Sloan, 34, all of Vinco, Quebec. Six others were saved from the swollen river.

Terrace Hotel Gets Addition

Plenty of potholes but no mud is the report of Mrs. Hans Koch who drove in from Terrace yesterday afternoon and is returning home today. She is accompanied by Mrs. Ted Brue and little daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Koch are proprietors of the Skeena Hotel at Terrace which is now undergoing a two-storey addition 32 by 60 feet which will include new lobby, ladies' refreshment parlor and eight more rooms — five with bath.

R. E. Edwards of the Department of Fisheries here left today on the Camosun to attend a conference at Bella Bella.

The Pulp Mill Starts

AN EVENT of utmost importance and vital significance in the permanent economy of Prince Rupert has quietly occurred. The great pulp mill of Columbia Cellulose Co. at Watson Island has gone into operation. With a minimum of fanfare—the official opening ceremonies being reserved until early June—the big plant is now in production.

The long period of massive construction is almost over and it is now but a matter of ironing out the creases and cleaning up.

It has been an enormous undertaking of both organization and actual construction and has had a great impact upon the life and affairs of Prince Rupert. Even yet, however, we have hardly become geared to the new industrial era which the pulp mill has brought to Prince Rupert and which, in its wake, is bringing other business and industry here.

Pulp mill, expanding fisheries and all the new developments are quickly bringing Prince Rupert to the place in the sun we have waited for so long but perhaps a lot of the citizens are not fully appreciative now it is here.

Building Prohibitive

PEOPLE in communities like Prince Rupert, where there is such a grim shortage of housing, will find it difficult to see any rhyme or reason in the proposal of Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation to increase the rate of interest on housing loans from four-and-a-half per cent to five per cent.

What with mounting costs of construction through increasing material and labor prices, it is already getting prohibitive enough for the ordinary person, harassed by higher living costs, to do any building. The increase in the interest rate on building loans will just about price the average person out of the possibility of building.

Why Do We Do It?

DID YOU ever notice how hard-worked is that left-hand door at the Post Office entrance—how there is a bottleneck of traffic trying to get through there while the right-hand door is hardly, if ever, used? One would think everybody in Prince Rupert had gone left-landed.

The psychological reason is probably the tendency against pulling out of doors. If they moved inwards instead of outwards or were swing doors, the natural inclination would probably be soon toward the normal right side.

It is an interesting study in instinctive action. Now we'll just go up the street ourselves and try to buck the outcoming traffic by trying to get in through the left door while the right goes idle.

B.C.'s Example

AN AGGRESSIVE program of school overhauling in British Columbia provides strong proof that Canada's shamefully antiquated schools can be eliminated, Fred Bodsworth writes in an article titled "The Shacks We Call Schools" in the current issue of Maclean's.

Boasting by Canadians about their modern schools has completely obscured the fact that education still goes on in thousands of dilapidated, dungeon-like, ill-furnished and badly lit shacks which no progressive farmer would use to shelter a milk herd, says Bodsworth.

But in British Columbia, a report by Dr. Max Cameron, professor of education at the University of B.C., at the end of the war, brought prompt action by the province, which reorganized 649 scattered school districts into 74, began to spend 150 times as much per year on schools as it did before the war, and launched a school building program which has cost $40 millions in the past two and a half years. It is now estimated that eighty percent of B.C. children are now attending either new or extensively renovated schools.

British Columbia, says Bodsworth, affords the strongest proof that antiquated schools can be eliminated just as soon as citizens admit the need. The province now pays 70 percent of new school costs as against the former 30 percent. Rebuilding in B.C. is going on so fast the Minister of Education has time to do little more than run around the province officiating at opening ceremonies.

"CHARTER MEMBER"—Brig. W. G. Colquhoun, a former commanding officer of the PPCLI, was on hand to bid farewell to officers and men of the Special Force advance party as they recently sailed for Korea. Now retired, Brig. Colquhoun was appointed a lieutenant with the unit when it was formed in August, 1914, and won the Military Cross for his exploits in France. He is shown with Maj. E. J. H. Pearson Outlines Four Principles for Nations

Four-Point, Keep-Your-Eye-on-the-Ball Policy

By DOUGLAS HOW
Canadian Press Staff Writer

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada is expounding a four-point, keep-your-eye-on-the-ball policy as a guide for the free world in case the Communists spring any more "secondary aggressions" similar to Korea.

The view has been enunciated twice recently by External Affairs Minister Pearson, once in a speech, once in the annual report of his department on Canada and the United Nations.

The gist of it is this: the free nations still aren't strong enough, tough enough to be able to stamp out every aggression that may occur. They should govern themselves accordingly. They should "conserve their limited resources in order to be able to apply them where they are most needed."

And the main front for the free world, Mr. Pearson says, still is Western Europe.

In his address to the Ontario Bar Association, the minister described the world as being "shared between two great super-states around which most of the rest of us gather in varying degrees of confidence or uneasiness."

Now that the Communist sphere had shown it is prepared to risk general war, the dilemma of how far the United Nations could and should go in enforcing collective security by military action in a two-power world had become acute. It first became acute when China invaded Korea and the dilemma still remained squarely before the democracies.

BIG PROBLEM

"We are still faced now more than ever with the question whether the United Nations should try to take military enforcement measures against a secondary aggressor when that action might either dissipate our strength in the face of the main aggressor or lead to a new world war in which our strength would be so dissipated," said Mr. Pearson. "What should we do if the potential aggressor should exploit the provisions of the United Nations charter for the maintenance of peace everywhere in order to weaken us so that one day the peace cannot be maintained anywhere?"

Mr. Pearson went on to suggest that "the outlines of a way out of this dilemma are beginning to emerge." They would require the acceptance of four main principles:

1. In every situation, our obligation under the charter to do whatever we can to maintain the principle of collective security should be discharged. We must recognize unprovoked aggression, whether committed by great or small powers, for what it is, and take appropriate action. This action may have to vary, however, according to circumstances.

2. We should never formally condemn an aggressor until the fact of his aggression is clearly proven by impartial evidence and until the mediator and conciliatory functions of U.N. have been exhausted.

3. Condemnation of aggressor does not mean that in every case economic and military sanctions must follow. The enforcement action to be taken against an aggressor must be related to the practicability of such action; to the general strategic and political situation; and to the possibility of such enforcement action weakening the peaceful and law-abiding powers in other areas, thereby tempting another and a far more serious threat to the peace.

4. We should recognize our limitations in this way, even when condemnatory action has to be taken. There is nothing immoral in this. It is immoral, however, when passing resolutions at the United Nations condemning aggressors, to give the impression that they will be followed by strong and effective economic and military action, when we know that, in fact, such action will not or cannot be taken.

Ft. Churchill To Hazelton

A party of members of parliament including Ted Applewhite, member for Skeena, visited the National Defence installations at Fort Churchill, Manitoba.

Speaking at a dinner tendered the members by the combined services, Rt. Hon. James Gardiner, Minister of Agriculture, said that not very long ago he had been visiting in the Peace River area where a grand old gentleman, eighty-four years of age, had said that he had hoped to live to see a railway from Hazelton to Churchill. Mr. Gardiner said that he too hopes this old man may see such a railway in his lifetime.

LETTERBOX

HOSPITALS AND WCB

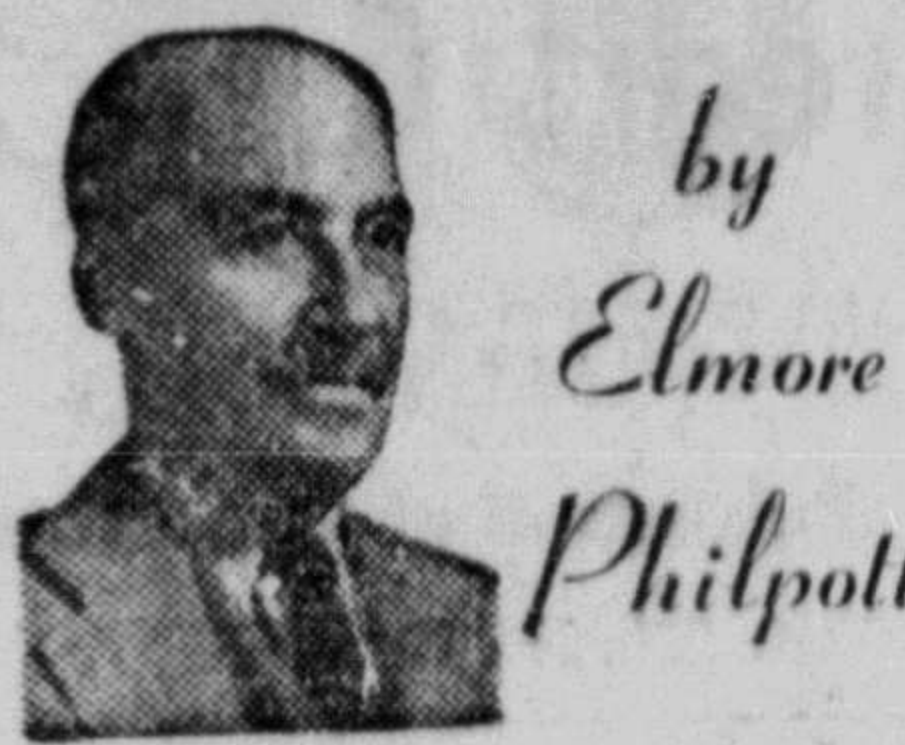

Editor, Daily News,
Would appreciate space to correct a misquotation by your paper in Monday's issue as to statements purportedly made in connection with my remarks at the Trades and Labor Council's sponsored public meeting Sunday evening last. I did not state that the BCHS was absorbing the losses of the Compensation Board. With millions upon millions of dollars accumulated throughout the years of its existence, many of which are in Victory Bonds and other investments, it is news to me if anyone ever heard tell of the Workmen's Compensation Board of B.C. ever losing money.

On the contrary, the gist of what I said in part in this connection was, if the rightful owners—the hospitals of B.C. in general—had their share of those monies and investments turned over to them, then it wouldn't be necessary to foist legislation upon the citizens of this province to pay for back debts, additions and furnishings, which the hospital boards could more or less take care of themselves had they been paid legitimate per diems instead of the dictatorial ones prescribed by the Compensation Board during the past years.

And I cited the case of the Alberni Hospital of some few years since in substantiation of my contention, which was to the effect that on their 10 per cent paying cases they netted a profit of approximately $4000, whereas on their 90 per cent compensation cases they suffered a loss of roughly $7000, putting them in the red to the extent of around $3000. And the Compensation Board flatly refused to give them any consideration in this respect whatsoever. Then the city council, which was the Hospital Board in this case, took the matter to the courts but what happened from there on I am at a loss to know because the papers either ceased publicizing the proceedings or else I missed them therein. But I have been informed by our MLA that the board has been now paying for the past year or so a per diem rate acceptable to the hospitals. Why only the past year? Why not all and every year? But then, that's where my remarks about unholy alliance come in.

Thanking you in anticipation of this favor, Mr. Editor,
JOHN MULRONEY.

As I See It

INDIA'S WORST PERIL

NEW DELHI, India —

The BOAC plane ran into some kind of trouble, or bad weather, today, and here I am back in a New Delhi hotel when I expected to be landing at the airport near Jerusalem.

But it's a welcome delay, for it gives me time to write a sum-up on India, while I am still in the atmosphere and spirit of the place.

The greatest of all questions in India is how something over 350 million people can get enough food to stay alive — especially since their population is increasing at the rate of one percent a year.

That is, in spite of backwardness and ignorance, and lack of proper diet or sanitation, births still outnumber deaths by over three million per year.

The rapid extension of all kinds of education may soon raise the level of production. But it will even more surely cut down the death rate. It would be a bold soul who would predict that Indians could be taught birth control, or any form of family planning, quickly enough to keep population and production in balance.

IT IS SUCH FACTS AS THE above which help to create the spirit of fatalism and pessimism which is so widespread in India today, especially amongst intellectuals.

For one of the hardest things in all the world to change is the way of thinking of the Indian village—the peasant and the peasant's wife and daughter.

Take the question of debt. When I travelled up and down this vast land it puzzled me how the peasants could ever have got themselves so deeply in debt to the landlords in the first place. The answer was: "Weddings."

I find that, even now, a poor village family will go thousands of rupees into debt to finance a daughter's wedding. The good old North American vice of keeping up with the Joneses is kid stuff compared with the struggle even in the village, to uphold the family prestige by putting up an imposing front.

chap: "Why are they such fools as to spend about ten years' earnings on a mere wedding?" He answered: "It is more like twenty years' income for most of them."

Yet a little later on he told me that he himself had financed his own sister's wedding last year, and gone very heavily into debt — although he hated the whole idea. He just could not stand the thought of the contempt of the family's neighbors.

I CITE THE ABOVE AS ONE illustration of what seems to me most wrong with India.

She needs a great conversion, a mighty mental revolution which starts to rebuild the whole of her society from the very ground up. The enlightened leaders like Nehru are completely aware of this and are doing their best, against great odds, to pave the way for it.

But meanwhile there is tremendous pressure from another direction. That is a "back to the old Hindu way of life" drive.

And don't let anybody tell you that it is not a powerful force in this ancient land. Politically, the rightists and reactionaries have lost ground since the murder of Gandhi—which was, of course, a direct product of the kind of thinking for which they stand. But I ask all the best informed people I can find for the deeper trends. And I find that some of the most hard-headed and best-informed people in India are of the opinion that if anything were to happen to Mr. Nehru or his government—that if for any reason there were to be a collapse—that this country

Credit Care Emphasized

Net Profit Essential Basis of Doing Business, Accountant Declares

Speaking before the Prince Rupert Retail Grantors' Association last night, Scott McLaren, chartered accountant, urged the sound wisdom of judging the trend of business from the net profit standpoint rather than from that of volume of sales. He warned against embarking upon a policy of credit selling without a proper appraisal of the implications of credit sales.

The cost of credit selling, considering capital outlay, selling, administering and accounting cost, was usually from seven to ten percent of the sales dollar, the speaker estimated. The importance of careful control of accounts receivable was stressed by Mr. McLaren.

The speaker discussed in detail the higher cost of carrying on credit business, as compared with cash, and the risks connected therewith. Importance was attached to the necessity of exercising care in granting credit and the subsequent supervision of accounts receivable to ensure collection.

Mr. McLaren felt that merchants in Prince Rupert were now fortunate in being able to obtain credit information through the local Credit Bureau on the same basis as business men in larger communities.

The speaker, in conclusion, expressed the opinion that credit sales were necessary in some businesses and warranted in all businesses—providing always that there was a proper investigation of the cost of credit selling to establish a proper net profit when compared with the cash sales basis.

In the absence of both President R. H. Parker and Vice-President A. S. Nickerson, the chair at last night's meeting was taken by W. F. Stone. The speaker was thanked by P. H. Linzey, manager of the credit bureau.

FIRST ANNIVERSARY
Note was taken of the fact that May 1 would mark the first anniversary of the establishment of the Credit Bureau in Prince Rupert.

"The bureau has been a great boon to business men," remarked Mr. Stone. "I cannot understand why any business men should not join and avail himself of the service."

Norman Moorehouse was also enthusiastic over the valuable work of the Credit Bureau. He felt the Bureau, and its effective advertising, had done much to encourage payment of bills by the tenth of the month following.

Bureau Manager Linzey acknowledged the loyalty and support of members which had been a large factor in putting the bureau on a good basis. There were now 5,000 names on the credit file and the bureau was here to stay.

The meeting heard a report from the executive on having protest at new federal credit controls which had been imposed March 19 and which were considered unnecessarily stringent and discriminatory upon ordinary purchasers.

The membership committee reported fifty full members of the Bureau now with eight associate members and five companies national members and entitled to use of local facilities.

Latest new members are Ideal Cleaners and 99 Taxi. Hugo Kraupner of Ideal Cleaners was welcomed to the meeting.

Condolences were extended to Norman Moorehouse, on the recent death of his father, and Tommy Boulter on the tragic loss of his business partner, Percy Welter.

Mrs. Catherine Laurie, secretary, announced she would be attending a national credit bureau convention to be held in Portland May 19, 20, 21 and 22. Next regular meeting of the local association will be May 14.

Dave Abel is Coming Home

Prince Rupert's rookie candidate for professional baseball isn't having any—Dave Abel is coming home from the Capilanos' spring training camp at Penticton, instead of going to Sunny California.

In a telephone call to Johnny Ogowes, his business partner, Abel said he was "fed up." He didn't make the Capilanos team but had been offered a contract to go to California.

"I'm going back to Rupert," Dave told them. He arrives home Wednesday.

Fine Day But No Steelhead

Mr. Steelhead did not cooperate at all last Sunday, although experienced anglers used every lure and inducement known to them in an effort to land a Derby entry.

About half a hundred fishermen trugged the banks of the Cloyah River. The weather was beautiful, but the fish didn't bite. No one came close to Harold Thom and his scales although it was thought he'd be particularly busy weighing-in catches. And no one else had anything brighter to report.

"Maybe those fish are too well fed," said one fisherman, but shook his head. "Really don't know." Another thought the weather was "too good."

Mr. Terence McCann and Rocky, who arrived here on the Princess Louise yesterday, will visit here with Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Larson, 537 8th Avenue West, before returning to Vancouver.

JELLY BUNS

Measure into small bowl, 1 c. lukewarm water, 2 tps. granulated sugar; stir until sugar is dissolved. Sprinkle with 2 envelopes Fleischmann's Royal Fast Rising Dry Yeast. Let stand 10 min., THEN stir well. Cream 3/4 c. shortening; gradually blend in 1 c. granulated sugar, 2 tps. salt, 1 tsp. grated nutmeg. Gradually beat in 2 well-beaten eggs. Stir in 1/2 tsp. lemon extract, 1/2 c. milk which has been scalded and cooled to lukewarm, and yeast mixture. Stir in 3 c. once-sifted bread flour; beat until smooth. Work in 1 c. more once-sifted bread flour. Knead until smooth and elastic; place in greased bowl and brush top with melted butter or shortening. Cover and set in warm place, free from draught. Let rise until doubled in bulk. Punch down dough, and cut into 36 equal portions; knead into smooth balls. Brush with melted butter or margarine, roll in fine granulated sugar and arrange 1/2" apart on greased baking pans. Cover and let rise, until doubled in bulk. Twist the handle of a knife in the top of each roll to form an indentation; fill with jelly. Cover and let rise 15 min. longer. Bake in moderately hot oven, 375°, about 18 min.

No more disappointments because the yeast has spoiled! Fleischmann's Fast DRY Yeast replaces old-fashioned perishable yeast because it keeps fresh and full strength — right in your cupboard! For fast-rising dough and grand oven results get Fleischmann's Fast DRY Yeast to-day!

SOW GARDEN PEAS AS SOON AS SOIL CAN BE PREPARED

soil remains cold and damp too long after they are sown. Smooth seeded peas will not decay so easily, but they are not of as high quality as the wrinkled kind.

Where spring comes late, and summer follows quickly, only one crop of peas is likely to be successful, and for this an early dwarf variety should be grown under the most favorable conditions. In new gardens, or old ones where peas have not been grown before, the seed will grow better if inoculated with a bacterial culture which can be obtained for that purpose.

Seed should be sown at least 1 inch apart in the row, in fertile soil. Plant food should be applied at the rate of 4 pounds to 100 feet of row, either mixed well with the soil before sowing, or spread in trenches on either side of the row a little deeper than the seeds are sown. The seed should be covered 1 to 2 inches deep.

In sections where weather conditions are favorable to peas, it is possible to grow them in twin rows six inches apart; in the space between the rows the weeds are pulled, but the soil is not cultivated. In less favorable sections, however, single rows, regularly cultivated, will be found more dependable.

Though peas give a small harvest for the space occupied, they are so delicious when grown in the home garden, and cooked immediately after harvesting, that many gardeners are willing to give them the space needed.

Hot weather is their greatest enemy, so they do best in sections where spring comes early, or in the north where summers are cool.

Everywhere the first sowing of peas should be made early as possible, having in mind that the finer varieties, which have wrinkled seed, may decay if the

Improving of
CNR Reefers

MONTREAL—An annual saving of half a million dollars in the cost of refrigerator car maintenance is in prospect for Canadian National Railways if results obtained in laboratory tests of a new corrosion inhibitor can be duplicated in actual operation.

S. W. Fairweather, vice-president, research and development, said today that a new type anti-corrosion compound developed and proved by CNR research men is now being tested on three refrigerator cars. Laboratory results indicate the inhibitor is capable of arresting 78 to 95 per cent of the corrosive action for brine and water in these cars.

The inhibitor is composed of sodium hexametaphosphate and powdered calcium chloride and is placed in the car bunkers in proportion to the amounts of ice and brine used. As it is only partially expended in the refrigeration process, the surplus inhibitor will tend to reduce corrosion of track and bridge structures caused by brine and water drip.

Under each car chosen for tests, four panels bearing sample of rail track tie plate, tie spike and structural steel have been mounted near the drip drains. Inside the cars, other panels have been installed in the wet fixtures. These bear samples of car rivets, galvanized steel, flooring steel, body sheeting and structural steel.

Of two of the cars four bunkers are being treated with the inhibitor while the remaining four are being left in the usual manner. The third car is being left without the inhibitor to provide a control test which will indicate the rate of corrosion under normal icing methods.

The three cars are operating between the Pacific Coast and Halifax, icing stations across the system have been supplied with the inhibitor and personnel have been briefed in the conduct of the tests. A close check is being kept of the cars' movements and after a year in service they will be recalled to the company's Montreal shops where research experts will determine the outcome of the experiment.

CIVIC CENTRE

The leathercraft classes at the Civic Centre are extremely busy these days with the craft workers hurrying to finish projects to display at the coming Arts and Crafts exhibits. All classes have been opened to all groups now so that the adults and teenagers alike may attend and thus take advantage of the extra instruction offered at these periods.

Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday nights as well as Wednesday and Thursday afternoons are the times that leathercraft instruction is given to Civic Centre members and any who may have unfinished work at home are being urged to bring it down for instruction and completion.

Three beautiful handbags which are to be raffled by the leathercraft classes in connection with the combine exhibition are almost completed and will be on display in the window of Vance's Fine Arts in the near future. An oil painting has been donated by Mrs. J. T. Harvey with frame donated by T. M. Christie of Woodbitt Products and will also be raffled at that time. This picture is a scene of local interest pertaining to herding fishery and has won praise for its authenticity. Other prizes include a combination sewing box and brooch and a leather pocket secretary.

TO Meet Zooming Church Membership in U.S.

By ADELAIDE KERR

NEW YORK (AP) — Churches in the United States are facing a serious manpower shortage.

Religious sources report 20,000 more church members are needed to meet a revival which has zoomed church membership to an all-time high of 81,000,000.

Little churches all over the United States are crying for help. Many have no minister. Some towns which mushroomed during the second world war have neither enough churches nor pastors. Growing city churches need more ministerial assistants.

On the other hand, more men are studying for the ministry than ever before—almost 13,000 in Protestant seminaries, 25,000 in Roman Catholic seminaries and about 300 in Rabbinical schools.

The churches are recruiting thousands more. The National Council of Christ in the U.S.A. reports the Methodist Church has launched a four-year drive for 10,000 ministers; the Disciples of Christ seek 3,000 in three years. The Presbyterian Church of the U.S.A. has 2,000 parishes without ministers, the Episcopal Church needs 600, and other denominations varying numbers.

Msgr. Thomas J. McCarthy, director of the bureau of information of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, Washington, D.C., says the Roman Catholic Church "could use 3,000 or 4,000 more priests."

There is one exception. A dozen fundamentalist sects, which grew up in the last 50 years, report no shortage of ministers.

Leading churchmen believe the cause of the shortage is a 17-00,000 gain in membership in the last decade. Some think the low salaries have played a certain part.

"The average Protestant minister receives $1,200 a year and a parsonage," said one. "Compare this with $3,500 which New York city pays experienced men for cleaning streets."

Fines Imposed, Game Act Cases

Two fines under the Game Act were imposed on D. C. Baldwin of Port Edward who appeared before Stipendiary Magistrate H. F. Glassey Saturday.

For carrying a loaded firearm in a motor vehicle and a fishing rod without a licence, Baldwin was fined $10. Charges were laid by Game Warden H. Jamieson.

Appearing before Magistrate Glassey yesterday was T. A. Lebevre of Prince George, who was fined $10 and $5 costs for carrying a fishing rod without a licence. Cpl. Edward Marain laid the charges.

RED INDIANS TURN COMMANDO—The order of dress was war paint, water-proof kerosene suits, and coveralls as the RCAF's 421 Red Indians disrupted the peaceful evening slumber of the countryside around Osham, Eng., recently, by attacking their own airport. Crawling through deep grass and barbed wire entanglements, the raiders swarmed down on the airport and "destroyed" many of the airfield's vital installations with thunderflashes before being overwhelmed by the defending RAF airmen. The above photo shows four Red Indians in their battle array. Left to right are: Leading Aircraftman Joe Arsenault, of Richmond, P.E.I.; Lou Maracle, of Pointe Anne, Ont.; Paul Cartmell, of Merriton, Ont.; and Frank Dalton, of Chipman, N.B. Jamming Out West Radio

By RICHARD O'REGAN

VIENNA (AP)—East Europe's Communist governments are putting the "wire" back into the wireless radio to stop secret listening to western broadcasts. "Radio by wire" is the latest attempt of the Red governments in Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria to muffle the Voice of America, Radio Free Europe and the BBC.

Under this system, instead of buying a radio, you rent a loud-speaker for a small monthly sum. It is connected by wire to a central point in your town and you get only the local Communist program.

According to the Hungarian press, "radio by wire" is being installed in hundreds of villages where homes have no electricity.

In Bulgaria, more than 40,000 central points from where government programs are relayed to individual homes have been set up, according to the newspaper Rabotnitschesko Delo.

Western radio experts in Vienna said the big Communist campaign to install "radio by wire" apparently was due to the effectiveness of the BBC, the Voice and other Western programs beamed to Communist Europe.

Western diplomats in Hungary report that when they send their own radios to repair shops they come back adjusted to eliminate all long-distance programs.

George Harris, veteran Naas River canneryman, was a past-Sunday evening going north from Vancouver to Mill Bay for the season. Mr. and Mrs. F. Davis were also heading for the same destination.

Inflation, Reds Are Major Issues in Aussie Balloting

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—The issues in Australia's April 28 election are expected to be clear-cut. The present coalition government is asking for a majority in both Senate and House of Representatives so it can deal effectively with Communist-fomented industrial troubles. Labor is expected to put forward a program designed to stop inflation.

The two issues will be intertwined. The Liberal-Country party coalition government claims that rising prices are chiefly the result of Communist union bosses' sabotaging production by strikes, bans on overtime work and "go slowism."

Labor says that rising prices are causing industrial troubles and that the government's failure to check inflation has put a powerful weapon into the hands of the Communist party.

The strength and weakness of each side's case may be summarized as follows: Government strength: Its 1949 policy placed emphasis on control of the Communist party.

It has made a sincere and powerful effort to carry out that policy but its efforts to outlaw the Communist party were delayed for months by the Labor party which used its majority in the Senate to delay the Communist Party Dissolution Act (the anti-Red act).

Finally the high court ruled the act unconstitutional. Weakness: Practically every government candidate in the 1949 campaign made frequent use of the phrase "putting value back in the pound."

By that the government meant that it would stop the rise in prices which had become evident in the last days of the Chifley Labor government.

But since the government took office prices and wages have skyrocketed and the government's only positive actions have been the raising of a $100,000,000 loan and a 20-per-cent levy on wool cheques.

Labor strength: Prices have risen sharply during the 16 months that the Menzies government has been in power—a trend which Labor warned would follow election of an anti-Labor government.

Weakness: It has shilly-shalied on the Communist issue, delaying the anti-Red act for months and finally passing it. It has revealed a fundamental cleavage within its own ranks on its attitude to Communism.

DEFENCE PARAMOUNT

The government argues that Australia and the rest of the democratic world faces a crisis. Defence requirements are paramount and Communists in Australia are sabotaging the Australian economy by fomenting strikes and industrial unrest. Consequently with money for exports pouring into the country and no increase in the supply of goods, prices are bound to rise.

It says that inflation cannot be halted until output of coal and steel is increased and until strikes and "go-slowism" on the waterfront and on ships are checked. The key unions in those industries are Communist-controlled and no improvement is possible until Red union leaders are thrown out of office.

Labor contends that the government is trying to confuse the issue and says prices have risen because the government has done nothing to control them.

Of the government's attempt to make secret union ballots compulsory, Labor says this is unnecessary, impractical and ineffective. It contends:

If a secret ballot of unionists voted for a strike, what would the government do? If Communists can rig election ballots now, why could they not do so under court supervision?

The result will depend on the relative importance, in the electors' minds, of the rise in prices and the Communist issue.

Public opinion polls taken about six weeks ago suggest that the government then commanded the same support as it did in December, 1949—roughly 52 per cent of the total vote.

But the government will need a handsome win to solve the Senate deadlock.

Whereas members of the House of Representatives are elected for single-seat electorates where voting is on the preferential system, the Senate is elected in 10-seat constituencies consisting of an entire state, and voting is by proportional representation.

Unless one party or the other can get a 55-per-cent vote for the Senate each state will return five government and five Labor senators resulting in a new Senate divided 30 to 30.

New Celanese Plant in Texas

NEW YORK —Celanese Corporation of America today announced plans for the construction of a modern chemical plant located at Pampa, Texas, in the Panhandle area. The materials to be produced are used in the manufacture of yarns and plastics, synthetic rubber, explosives, pharmaceuticals and many other products.

Erection of the plant is calculated to serve a dual purpose, according to Harold Blancke, president of Celanese. It will not only provide an additional source of the raw materials necessary to meet the increasing demand for the company's products, he said, but will also broaden the supply of chemicals for an accelerated defense program.

The process to be utilized at the new plant is a result of the petroleum chemical research and development work carried out at the Celanese laboratories at Clarkwood, Texas.

"Output of the plant," Mr. Blancke declared, "will supplement the chemical producing activities of the company at Bishop, Texas. The plant site at Pampa is 50 miles east of Amarillo in West Texas, and is in the heart of a rich petroleum area which will furnish both the hydrocarbon feed stocks for chemical processing and the natural gas for fuel."

"The new plant represents another step in the general expansion program of Celanese Corporation of America. This program has as its objective the building of additional productive facilities for the manufacture of textiles and plastics in defense and civilian economies and, simultaneously, increasing the supply of cellulose and other raw materials required in its operations."

"A Canadian affiliate, Columbia Cellulose Company Limited, is just coming into production at Prince Rupert, B.C., with an initial annual capacity of approximately 70,000 tons of high alpha dissolving pulp."

"Another affiliate, Canadian Chemical Company Limited, will shortly begin construction of a plant in Edmonton, Alberta, also for the production of petrochemicals."

Mrs. Mary Barton, who came here on the weekend to receive dental attention, will return to Kiloctith Thursday morning. Mrs. Barton, secretary-treasurer of the Anglican women's auxiliary in her village, will go up the Naas River in her son's (Charles) boat, "Sea Queen."

Bishop Extols Late H.T. Cross

High tribute to the long and zealous service to his church of Herbert Thomas Cross, who passed away at the end of last week in Vancouver, was paid at morning service in St. Andrew's Cathedral Sunday by Rt. Rev. James B. Gibson, Bishop of Caledonia.

For many years Mr. Cross was people's warden of the cathedral here.

In the absence of the rector, Canon Basil S. Prockter, the service was conducted Sunday morning by Rev. C. L. Lomas of the mission boat Northern Cross. The Bishop read the lesson.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Here is another situation where a hold-up is made to turn a 50-50 chance into a 3-to-1 proposition in favor of the declarer.

Mrs. Keen's opening lead was the queen of clubs and before playing from either hand Mr. Masters paused to plan his play. By winning the first trick and leading diamonds he could have ended up taking 10 tricks. Mrs. Keen would have won the first or second diamond lead with her ace. She would continue clubs. But when Miss Brash got in with the ace of hearts, she would not have a club to return.

But, on winning the first trick, how would Mr. Masters know whether to start diamond or hearts? Note that both suits had the same length and high card strength. If he happened to lead hearts at trick two, Miss Brash would win while she still had a club to lead—and while she still had a club to lead—and while her partner still had a club to lead—and while her partner still had the ace of diamonds for an entry.

The answer is that Mr. Masters would have no way of knowing which red suit should be led first. It was a 50-50 guess. And Mr. Masters doesn't like guesses. He always tries for something more definite to go on.

So he ducked the first trick. He figured if the clubs were divided 4-3 between the opponents' hands he would lose only two club tricks and the red races. If Mrs. Keen had five clubs and both red aces, the hand very probably couldn't be made. But if the red aces were divided, then ducking the first club lead would cut the enemy's communications.

Mr. Masters had to take the second club lead and he came out with the king of hearts. Miss Brash won with the ace but had no club to return. So Mr. Masters made four no trump after all. Another triumph for the hold-up play.

Want Stewart Agency Opened

STEWART — The question of the closing of the Stewart sub-agency of the provincial government continues to be a main topic of conversation here. It would appear that further action is imminent and that a resolution will presently be presented to the government requesting a reopening of and reconsideration of the whole question.

There is a strong feeling that administration of both the Public Works office and the sub-agency could be combined and the same saving accomplished as under the present set-up. If the Department of Mines or whatever Department is responsible for the present step has some other reason for the move it is felt that they should let the district know.

Fishermen to Learn Cooking

A local committee has a Fisheries Vocational School under the sponsorship of Department of Education. Its local representative, School Principal Allan M. The school, a new venture, educational field presents cooking course for fishermen. From September to April young men will receive instruction in the preparation of fish for the table.

Basic in the first year of course, however, were such subjects as English, Studies and Effective Learning with Fisheries Technology, Mechanical Science and Industrial Flavor. Much planning for this school done by Prince Rupert members.
