Just Propaganda

PRAVDA, the official newspaper of the Soviet Communist Party, has printed in full an article by the British Foreign Secretary. Recently the United States Congress sent a goodwill message to the Supreme Soviet. With it went a letter from President Truman to President Svernik. Yesterday these were printed in the Soviet press. Now the Moscow Times and New York News have arranged to exchange views for publication.

These are something of international events. For normally the utterances of Western statesmen and politicians have been getting little or no publicity in the Soviet Union, even though they may be of first importance. Many people now see possible signs of a coming change of attitude in Moscow.

But these hopes have scarcely been fulfilled. Pravda indeed printed Mr. Morrison's article in full. It has, as it was well entitled to, printed its own reply on the same page. Yet the tone shows no trace of any desire for better relations.

The concluding sentences of the British minister and of the Russian editor are in the sharpest contrast.

"I send you the friendly greetings of my fellow countrymen and our sincere wish for the genuine co-operation of your country in advancing the peace and progress of the world." That is courteous Mr. Morrison.

"That is why the Soviet people regard present-day Anglo-American politicians as instigators of a new world war." That is the insulting editor of Pravda.

The deduction is only too obvious. The Soviets have still no desire for friendship or for co-operation. For their own purposes they are passionately anxious that nothing shall be done to disturb the belief they seek day after day to create in their own people and in those of their dependencies that the British and United States governments are malevolent enemies, busily planning to "instigate a new world war." For the power of the Soviet dictatorship, both in its own country and in the "satellite states," rests in no small measure upon the maintenance of belief in that egregious myth.

Prince George Progress

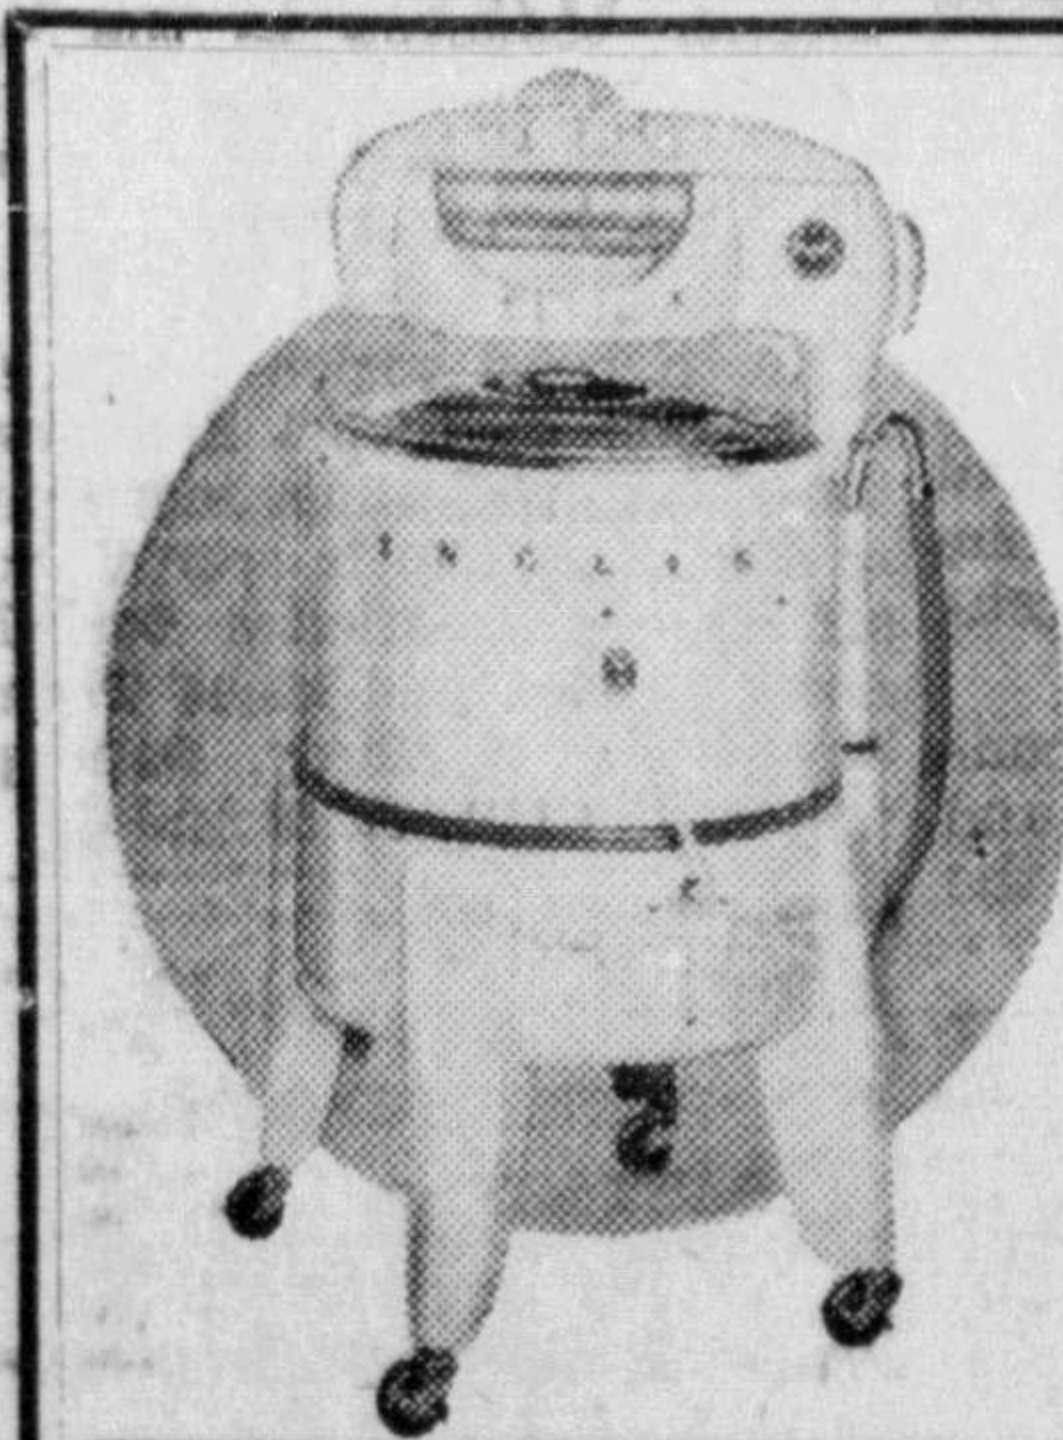

IN RECENT weeks Princes George Property owners have had tangible evidence of where their tax dollars are going, and they have every reason to be gratified with the results. New water and sewer mains are being laid in the downtown section and in residential areas which are being rapidly filled up with new homes. Work is well advanced on nearly two miles of paved sidewalks, and the council is contemplating other major projects which will add to the city's atmosphere of permanency.

This latest program of civic improvements will go a long way toward reassuring townspeople that those in charge of our municipal affairs are determined to bolster our reputation as the most modern and progressive community in Central B.C., and the largest from a population standpoint.

If business activity and general prosperity can be maintained at anything near the present levels, there would unlikely be any serious opposition from taxpayers should the city council decide to embark on a continuation of its present policy of handling municipal improvements. A majority of residents probably realize we have reached a stage where we cannot afford to stand still and should be preparing now to service an even greater population.—Prince George Citizen.

As I See It

Police Action—How?

GULL LAKE, Alberta.—

Here at the 1951 session of the Alberta School of Religion a sharp difference of opinion has developed about the war in Korea.

There is general agreement that the UN went off the track when it failed to admit the new government of China, as soon as it in fact became the government. Most of the folks here agree that there never would have been a war in Korea if the U.S.A. had not blocked the admission of the real government of China. But there is a sharp difference of opinion about what should have been done when the North Korean army swept across the 38th parallel. One or two people here mildly question the main fact—namely that it was the North Koreans who did attack. But that is not where the real difference of opinion comes.

The great majority agree that North Korea did invade South Korea, and that such an invasion was a clear violation of the UN Charter. But they do not agree that the means taken to resist and reverse the aggression were the right means. They point to the vast numbers of innocent Koreans killed, the property destroyed, the hates created by the actions of the "liberators" as well as by the "invaders."

In short they argue that the cure was worse than the disease.

BUT WHEN I ask this group a plain question I get no clear answer. The question is:

What is the right method of dealing with an invasion? What should the UN do in such cases?

Suppose we do succeed in changing the constitution of the UN, and make it into a real world parliament, empowered to make real world law. One of the first laws that will have to be made will deal with aggression—attack by armed forces coming from one country into another. How will the World Police Force deal with such aggression—if as and when they occur?

THE MORAL weakness of the UN position in Korea was because there was such a marked difference in what it did there, as compared with what it did in Israel and in Kashmir.

Since the UN was formed in 1945 there have been three open cases of war, in violation of the UN Charter. The first was in Kashmir where armed forces from Pakistan entered that formerly independent state, in clear violation of the UN Charter. Yet the UN never then took any such action as it took later in Korea.

There was a short but full scale war in Palestine, involving not only Israel, the newly declared Jewish state, but Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Trans-Jordan and Lebanon. Surely you can't have a war involving six nations without somebody being the wrongdoer. Or can you?

The point is that whereas in Israel and Kashmir the UN acted in the capacity of a neutral third force—a mediator—an umpire in the dispute, in Korea it adopted very different methods. It met the aggression head on for a reason that everybody knows. Here was the point where the power zones of the United States and Russia met head on. The United States used all her immense weight to induce the UN to take steps completely different than UN had taken in Kashmir or Israel.

WE HAVE very clear cut methods for dealing with robbers, or persons who attempt violent attacks on other human beings. The police are trained to use only the amount of force necessary to get the law-breaker before a court—where all aspects of the case are decided on the basis of law based on justice.

But so far, when international aggressions occur the "police" take counter measures against whole peoples. Is this right? What else could they do? What do YOU think?

When Stalin came to inspect a Moscow insane asylum the inmates were assembled in the hall. According to instructions they shouted, "Long live our beloved leader, the great Stalin!"—all except one man, who was immediately accosted by an agent of the secret police.

"Why did you not greet our beloved Comrade Stalin?" was the stern question. "Because," the man answered, "I'm not insane. I'm just the janitor."

GOING ALOFT!

Perhaps had we been intended to fly, in the natural way, wings would have been provided. It's just an idle suggestion but, after all, would it have been best had the human family never heard of, nor could have imagined, flying. Would Great Wars have been impossible? Would there be less adoration of speed?

Ninety West Point cadets are said to be guilty of having cheated or in other words that there was crookedness in examinations. The cadet of today is the commanding officer of tomorrow. The fate of other men will rest in his hands. Better one subaltern who, alone, succeeds in his exams, than a hundred who try and would fail but for assistance. There is nothing the United States can afford less than put trust in Army men who do not know their trade.

Half a dozen carloads of half-bred formed part of Monday evening's train, but no one seemed to take any particular notice. But that much would have made a sensation had the GTP been a few years old instead of thirty-seven. Once, two carloads was enough to make it the day's big news.

Dickensians in Victorian Menu

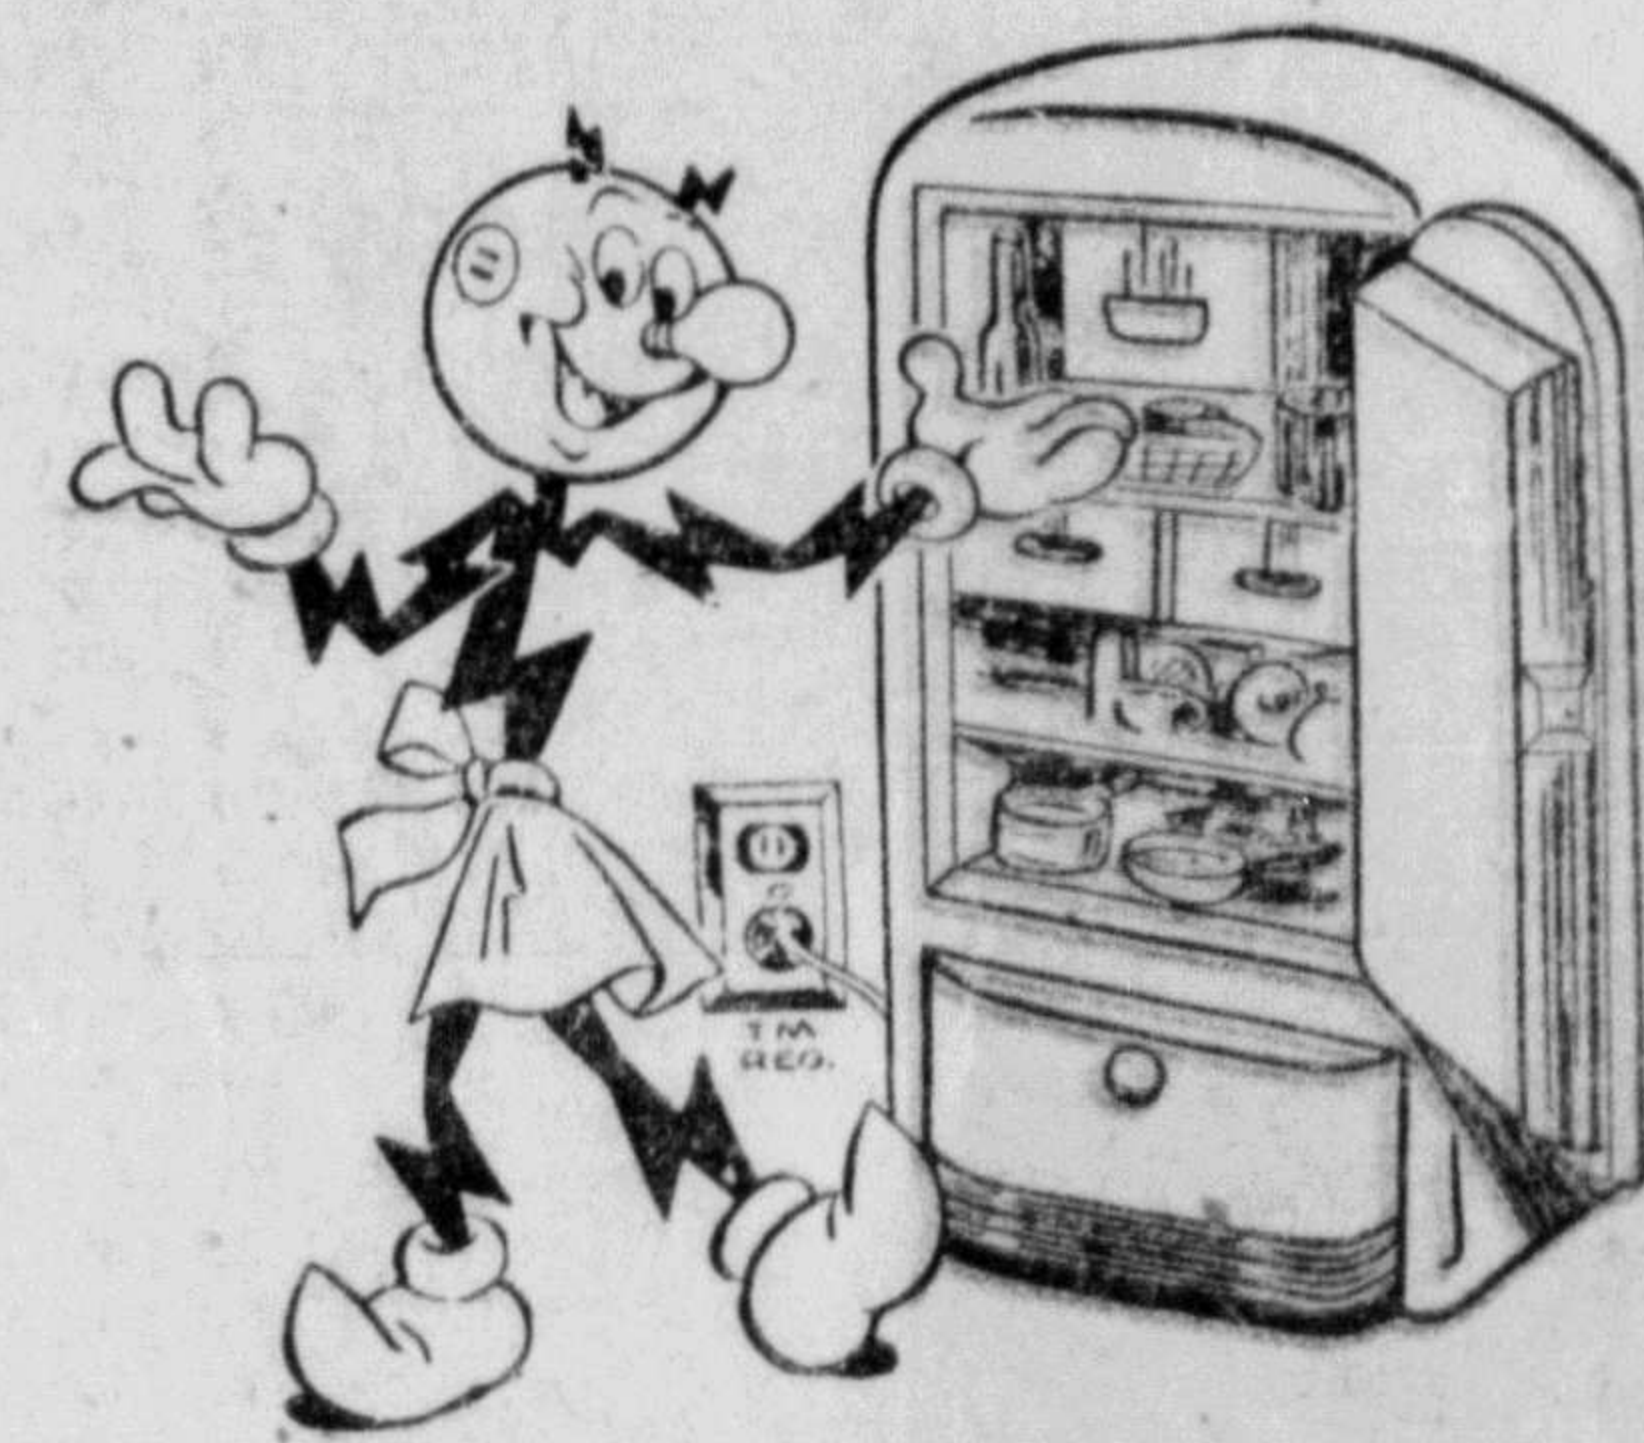

LONDON (CP)—Rationed England returned fleetingly to the abundance of Victorian feast days at a dinner here.

Actors representing characters from the novels of Charles Dickens—Mrs. Cratchit, Pickwick, the Fat Boy and Micawber—drove from the author's old home in Camberwell to a restaurant on the south bank of the Thames River, where an annual Dickens dinner was inaugurated.

Menus were printed on cambric edged with lace. But the real wonder was the food itself—cold roast ducks, crabs, turkeys, lobster, crayfish, game pies, a boar's head, barons of beef and saddles of lamb, hams in Chaudfroid sauce and river trout.

Those were just supplementaries. The 130 guests, including members of the Dickens Fellowship, at as much as they could of such other delicacies as mushroom patties, chicken fricasses, Yorkshire tripe, braised sweetbreads, Scotch woodcock, milk punch, hock, ales and punch bowls.

The rationed foods came largely from the United States.

The doctors hold that the present fees make it impossible for them to give adequate treatment as they have to handle too many patients in order to obtain a sufficient income. An upward revision in the rates paid by the government is sought.

The doctors had threatened mass resignation from the state health insurance service July 19.

Announcement of the government's concession was made by Health Minister Hilary Mairquand and Hector McNeil, Secretary of State for Scotland, in a letter to the General Medical Services Committee.

Charts Races, to be Nurse

TORONTO — Mary Crosby has herself a job this summer as chart-maker for the "trotts" at the Toronto Raceway. Pert, 19-year-old Mary wasn't thinking of nursing.

Then reporters discovered her to be the first girl to sit in a Toronto race-track press box and report the performances of the horses.

They dug further into records and found she may be the first in North America.

"Now they believe I'm the only one in the world," gasped Crosby.

There have been photographs of interviews, Mary fluttered her black eyelashes. Interviews with her, she said.

Research as well as chart-making is involved in this job. The "trotts" are six weeks of harness racing at Thorncliffe, sponsored by the Canadian Trotting Association. Mary must keep charts of each horse's history and performance in the race.

Now fall she hopes to be keeping a different kind of chart—temperature charts. Because Mary is going to train to be a nurse.

"I would like eventually to go to Toronto's Sick Children's Hospital," she said. "You like nursing."

What activities? Mary likes basketball especially. Basketball and volleyball are her favorites. She is fond of music.

What friends? She's not "conquering them now."

"I've got a career ahead of me," she said.

Meanwhile she's learning all about race tracks—including the language.

For instance: "When a horse takes a break that means it has to get back into step," she explained.

However, races don't excite her as they do most people.

"I suppose if I bet on them they might," she conceded.

VICTORIA — Mayor Percy George said yesterday that a full scale investigation into Victoria police affairs was not necessary. He felt that dissension which had occurred in the department could be aired out administratively.

Infant Dies In Hospital

A four-week-old baby died Sunday at Prince Rupert General Hospital. He was Jerry Kondratuk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander Kondratuk, 1241 East Eighth Avenue. Funeral arrangements, in charge of B. C. Undertakers, will be announced later.

Mr. and Mrs. B. P. Jordan arrived on last night's train from Jasper for the wedding of their daughter, Edith, to Jack Eby. Mr. and Mrs. Jordan will be leaving for Vancouver on Saturday's plane.

The ceremony was held at the site of the old Fort Garry, close by the confluence of the Red and Assiniboine Rivers. The historic gate served as a backdrop.

The Duke of Windsor, as Prince of Wales, received the same homage here in 1927.

With the itinerary of the Princess, being drawn up by government officials, not yet complete, it is not known for certain when the ceremony will be held.

Timely RECIPES

HONEY COCOANUT BISCUITS

3 cups sifted flour
3 3/4 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
1 teaspoon salt
1/2 cup sugar
1/2 cup shortening
1 cup milk
1 egg, beaten
1/2 cup firmly packed brown sugar
1 1/2 teaspoons cinnamon
1/2 teaspoon salt
3/4 teaspoon orange rind
2 1/2 tablespoons butter
1/2 cup honey
3/4 cup shredded coconut.

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, and sugar, and sift again. Cut in shortening. Combine milk and eggs and add to flour mixture. Stir with fork until soft dough is formed (about 20 strokes). Turn out on lightly floured board and knead 30 seconds. Roll into a 15x10-inch rectangle, 1/4-inch thick. Mix together brown sugar, cinnamon, salt, orange rind, butter, and honey. Spread half of the mixture on dough and sprinkle with half of the coconut. Roll as for jelly roll and cut in 1-inch slices. Arrange cut-side down in lightly greased muffin tins. Spread top with remaining brown sugar mixture and sprinkle with remaining coconut. Bake in hot oven (425°F) 20 minutes, or until done. Makes 15 rolls.

Mrs. R. Evans of Smithers is visiting her sister, Mrs. Mary Peterson, who is in the Prince Rupert General Hospital recuperating from a short illness.

Australia defeated Canada in the Davis Cup inter-zone semi-final when the great doubles team of Jack Bromwich and Colin Long won an easy victory four years ago at Montreal. After winning the first two singles matches, the Aussies won the doubles 6-2, 6-1, 6-0 over Gordon MacNeil and Edgar Lanthier, taking little more than an hour for the decisive victory.

The French-Canadian fighter Lou Brouillard won the world's middleweight boxing title 18 years ago tonight at New York by disposing of Ben Joby in seven rounds. The New England fighter held the title only a few months before losing to Vince Dundee the same year.

Clothiers Near Cinch

Defeated Gordon & Anderson in Baseball Last Night

With only three league games left before the playoffs, Abel & Odowes baseball nine all but cinched the championship by downing Gordon & Anderson last night in a 2-0 shutout.

Scoring was at a minimum and the game featured a pitching duel between Vern Ciccone, for G & A, and Dick Letourneau, pitching five innings and Jack Sharpe, hurling two, for the clothiers.

There were only two free passes to first base in the game, both allowed by Ciccone as he walked Catcher McHardy in the second and hit Giordano with a pitched ball in the sixth.

Ciccone went all the way for G & A, yielding only four hits—singles—but an error by third baseman Don Scherk in the fifth cost Ciccone two runs and the game.

Letourneau pitched five innings, allowing three hits, giving up no runs or walks, and got credit for his fifth win. Sharpe came in to pitch the remaining two innings when Letourneau was lifted for a pinch-hitter. Sharpe allowed no hits, walks or runs.

Leading hitter for the game was Stan Cornwell, player-manager for G & A, who doubled in the second inning and lined a triple in the fourth but was left stranded on base.

Only scoring of the game came in the last of the fifth inning for the clothiers. McHardy struck out to start the inning but was followed by Arney who blooped a single into short left field. Giordano singled to right centre, sending Arney to second. With two on and one away, Manager Alex Bill lifted Pitcher Letourneau for pinch-hitter DAVE ABEL, hard-hitting catcher who has been out of action for two weeks with a sprained ankle.

But Abel wasn't going to get his hit for he was passed to first in last minute strategy, loading the bases.

Lead-off man, Tom Pope, struck out for two down. Pavlikis, A & O centrefielder, sent a bounced down the third base line which was muffed momentarily by Scherk for an error, causing one run to come in and three safe on bases. Cliff Dahl, rifled a single into centre to drive in the second and last run of the game. Lindsay, who followed Dahl, was thrown out at first.

Skeleton May Be Fisherman's

A skeleton which was found late last week on Rose Spit, Graham Island, may have been that of John Jolliffe, an Alert Bay fisherman who was lost about four months ago from a fishing boat in Hecate Straits. Jolliffe and a companion perished when they essayed to row ashore in rough seas. He was never seen again.

Identification has not yet been definitely established but heavy dental work contained in the skull is said to resemble that which Jolliffe was known to have had.

A sister of Jolliffe has been notified and the remains are being held at Masset pending identification.

First report was that the body

Bumper Crop Is Coming up

OTTAWA—A bumper crop of wheat for Canada this year is predicted by the Department of Agriculture. It should be over 400,000,000 bushels.

The year's quota for export shipment is 233,000,000 bushels while the domestic market is expected to take 155,000,000 bushels.

In view of the world demand for wheat, any surplus can be readily disposed of, it is anticipated.

Allan Ramsay, Scottish poet who died in 1758, made a comfortable living as a wig-maker.

was in a good state of preservation. Later investigation shows it consisted of little more than the skeleton.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Mr. Dale is always courteous to Mr. Abel. Therefore when Mr. Abel has the old master for a partner he bids and plays aggressively and confidently.

Against Mr. Dale's four spade contract on this hand, Mrs. Keen promptly cashed her ace and king of hearts. She then shifted to a spade and the ten from Mr. Masters forced the jack from Mr. Dale's hand.

The old boy saw that he was going to have to set dummy's club suit or go set. One way to go about this was to lead out trumps and then finesse the jack of clubs on the second round, hoping Mrs. Keen had started with the queen and not more than two others.

Another way was to lead the ace and king of clubs immediately and, if the queen failed to drop, ruff a third round of clubs in the closed hand.

In this latter case trumps could not be pulled as the ace of spades would have to be preserved in dummy as an entry. No way was absolutely certain of success but Mr. Dale decided to follow the latter course.

At the fourth trick, then, he led the ace of clubs and followed with the deuce to dummy's king. Both opponents followed suit. All right so far. Now he led a small club from dummy and ruffed it with the queen of spades, to prevent a possible over-ruff by Mrs. Keen.

At this point Mr. Dale's only remaining worry was the trump suit. Three trumps were still outstanding and if one opponent had them all, the whole hand was going to blow up in the old master's face.

But the spades were divided as Mr. Dale found out when he laid down the king. So he happily continued with another spade to the ace on the board and ran the rest of the club suit, discarding three diamonds from the closed hand. A diamond trick had to be conceded at the end, but 10 tricks were in the bag.

Premier NEWS

Miss Pat Lane of Vancouver has arrived here to spend three weeks visiting her father, Ronald Lane.

Henry L. Hill, consulting engineer of Vancouver, was in Premier last week in connection with the Indian Mine.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hughes are home after six weeks' vacation, part of which was spent in Montreal visiting the latter's mother. They travelled by air to the eastern city from Vancouver and back.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. (Slim) Smith have returned after their holiday spent on Vancouver Island and Washington.

STEWART NEWS

The body of the late Ernest McMullen was forwarded to his home in New Westminster on the Camosun yesterday. H. A. Stewart was in charge of arrangements here.

A sports dance was held in the Moose Hall on Saturday. Taking part in the dance, which was a very successful affair financially and socially, were residents from Hyder, Alaska, Premier and Stewart.

Owen McFadden came down from the Indian mine for the week-end. He has been busy taking in supplies of sand and gravel for the concrete anchor for the upper terminal of the aerial tram to the mine.

Negotiations are still in progress for the future operation of the Stewart Canal mine and it is hoped that a renewed program of development work will be instituted at an early date.

Stewart Man's Body to South

Body of Ernest McMullen, veteran miner and prospector of Stewart, who died on the trail in the American Creek area recently, victim of a heart attack, was here last evening aboard the Camosun bound for New Westminster where interment will take place.

Mr. McMullen was part owner of the Alto group of mineral claims. He was a former provincial public works department foreman at Stewart and at one time was employed at Silbak-Premier mine.

A widow and one son and two married daughters survive.

Dunwell is Active Again

Extensive Program of Diamond Drilling Planned

STEWART.—That renewed activity is taking place on the Dunwell mine is a source of gratification to the people of this community. Time after time, from 1910 on to the present, this property has undergone the transition from a prospect to a producing mine and then back into apparent oblivion. Now it is hoped may be the time when it will take its place again as a producer and assure a new lease of life to the Portland Canal area.

During the past week Alex Falconer Sinclair, who arrived from Vancouver, has been busy putting the property in shape for an extensive program of diamond drilling, the outcome of which will determine its future. The road to the mine is being cleared and prepared for the ready transportation of men and supplies and the perennial optimism of a mining community is again very much in evidence here.

The major powers of Europe guaranteed Switzerland's independence in 1815 to prevent border incidents among France, Italy and Bavaria.

Fish Council Head Coming

C. Gordon O'Brien, manager of the Fisheries Council of Canada, is on the coast from Ottawa on a trip to British Columbia for the first time in that capacity and is due to arrive in Prince Rupert Friday afternoon aboard the Coquitlam, returning to Vancouver by plane Saturday morning. He is attending meetings of the industry and inspecting all aspects of fishing operations on this coast. Activities during his visit to Prince Rupert will include an informal reception Friday evening.

Accompanying Mr. O'Brien here will be Francis Miller, veteran coast salmon cannery operator and president of the Fisheries Council of Canada, and Jack Macdonald, secretary of the British Columbia Salmon Canneries' Operating Committee.

Mr. O'Brien was appointed General Manager of the Fisheries Council of Canada in January of this year, taking up his post on a full time basis on March 1. He succeeded Clive Pianta, now Deputy Minister of Fisheries for Newfoundland.

Prior to his appointment, Mr. O'Brien was General Secretary of the Agricultural Institute of Canada. He had served in that position from 1939 to 1951, although during the war he was granted leave of absence to serve overseas with the Royal Canadian Corps of Signals.

His professional experience also includes several years with the Experimental Farm Services and with the North American Cyanamide Limited, in which company he served as Technical Agricultural Director.

He is a graduate of Macdonald College of McGill University, a Fellow of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, and a Member of the National Advisory Committee of Agricultural Services.

The Fisheries Council of Canada, with head offices in Ottawa, is the national organization of the Canadian fishing industry. It is representative of fisheries management in all ten provinces.

Pink Run on Naas River

Sciners and Gillnetters
Have Been Making
Unusual Haul There

The Naas River has been having an exceptionally good run of pink salmon—that is for the Naas River which has never been considered a typical pink river. During the past week 75 sciners and 180 gillnetters took about 300,000 of the pinks which came to the Skeena River for canning.

Sockeye run is tapering off on both the Naas and Skeena Rivers and will be closed soon. Seine catches in Whale Channel near Butedale have been picking up. Eighteen seiners have been averaging 2700 to 3000 pinks chums and cohoes.

In the Bella Bella area fifty sciners have been averaging 2000 pinks. Shortly there will be a complete closure of the Skeena River for all varieties in order to let the fish get through and facilitate the research work of the Fisheries Research Board of Canada on the spawning grounds. Following the week's closure fishing will be reopened to larger mesh nets.

Meantime gillnetters have slowed down to 45 pinks on the Skeena.

Shot Father— Head "Reason"

DALLAS, Texas—Wallace Hawkins, millionaire oil man, has been shot and killed by his sixteen-year-old son, John Michael Hawkins, who told police his father, who was slain while sleeping, objected to him remaining out late.

"I had justification for shooting the old man," he said.

"Let's not discuss it."

GOLF SENSATION—Rae Milligan, 17-year-old Jasper girl, recently became the youngest person ever to win the Alberta women's golf crown. Daughter of a golf club pro, Miss Milligan had competed in only one other tournament—which she won—before entering the Alberta championships. She won 8 and 6 in 36 holes to take a spot on the provincial team in the inter-provincial play at Montreal. (CP PHOTO)

Indian Tram Near Ready

Fifty Men Needed
At Silbak-Premier,
Says Dale Pitt

Ore from the Indian mine should be running into the Silbak-Premier mill by fall, said D. J. Pitt, managing director of Silbak-Premier, who was in the city on the Camosun last evening bound from Premier to Vancouver. Indian tram line construction to connect that mine the distance of two miles with Silbak-Premier is going along well. Excavation is completed and building of the upper Terminal at the Indian end is now under way.

Getting men is the most vexing problem at Silbak-Premier just now, Mr. Pitt told a Daily News interviewer. "We have 175 men now but need another fifty to bring the crew up to strength."

The day he left Premier ten immigrants arrived from Italy to be employed at the mine. Mr. Pitt was pleased with their appearance and thought they would make good. "We would be glad to take a lot more of them if we could get them," he added.

Silbak-Premier has been having some visitors lately. John Bell of Vancouver, a director of the company, is spending a week there. Henry Hill, consulting engineer for Indian, and Dr. W. A. Fontland, geologist for Premier Border, have been there.

NIGHT SPOT FIRE—A New York drummer, Ralph Antonio Gomez, 22, suffocated when a Sunday morning fire destroyed Standish Hotel, night spot and hotel in Hull across the river from Ottawa. Gomez reached the street safely but died when he returned to the building for some clothing. Dales Jones, 49-year-old Omaha, Ne., bass player with Louis Armstrong's band, was seriously hurt and 15 other guests injured in the $200,000 blaze. (CP PHOTO)

"Prince of Peace" Fine

A modern setting even with comedy interludes does not detract from the reverent treatment of a holy pageant in the unusual picture "Prince of Peace" which has been drawing packed and appreciative audiences to the Capitol Theatre Monday and Tuesday nights and will have its final showings tonight. Those who have not already seen this wonderful picture should indeed take advantage of this final opportunity.

The real characters of the famous small town pageant (Lawton, Oklahoma) play the key parts in the depicting of the story of the life of Jesus and their lack of professionalism actually enhances the production which is in natural color. For the story which carries the pageant there are some Hollywood figures.

Outstanding in the cast is six-year-old Ginger Prince who may be accepted as a screen "find" as a result of her performance.
