ON CANADIAN MAINLAND—Princess Elizabeth, at the moment this photo was taken, had her foot a mere three inches from the runway at Dorval Airport, Montreal, as she and the Duke of Edinburgh leave the BOAC strato-cruiser which brought them to Canada for their cross-country tour. Happy And "at Home"—Coming Back Again

OTTAWA (CP)—Princess Elizabeth told a civic luncheon today that she and Prince Philip hope to come back to Canada and soon.

Speaking particularly of a warm welcome they received in this capital yesterday, Her Royal Highness told the luncheon gathering, over which Mayor Charlotte Whitton presided, that "it has made us hope that we may be able to come here again before too long has passed."

Princess Elizabeth told the Canadian people Wednesday night that their welcome has made her feel "very much at home—so to speak, still in the family circle."
She was glad, Her Royal Highness said, to be able to make her first visit "with my husband who, like I do, feels very happy to be among you."
She hoped her own children should not have to wait so long before they came to Canada.
The Princess spoke at a glittering state dinner in Government House in reply to a toast by the Governor-General, Viscount Alexander. There were 102 persons present.
The Princess' 800-word address was broadcast by the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation.

Her Royal Highness reported progress in the King's condition and said he was "gaining strength daily." He, her mother and all the royal family had been "wonderfully sustained and comforted" by thoughts and prayers from Canada, the Commonwealth and the whole world.

The Princess confessed that her visit to Canada was the fulfilment of a "cherished" dream. She said she and the Duke were looking forward to their "fascinating" journey across the continent and told Canadians she knew they always will be "in the forefront" of the defence of freedom.

Speaking briefly in French, the Princess said she was happy to have arrived first in Quebec, home of loyal and industrious people who have held "faithful to their language and culture, faithful to their religion and faithful to the crown of Canada."

The young Princess was a sparkling and radiant picture in her gown of gold and white length with simple bodice, long sweeping train-like skirt. In her bright brown hair she wore a low diamond tiara, light as lace and centred with a fleur-de-lis, which was the gift of her grandmother, Queen Mary. She had diamond earrings and diamond necklace. Viscountess Alexander wore a pale pink evening dress with bouffant skirt, gold embroidered, and had a stole. She, too, had diamond necklace and earrings.

New Deal For Cities

Wants Help in Financing Self-Liquidating Projects

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP)—The Union of British Columbia Municipalities wants the provincial government to help in financing self-liquidating loans.
A resolution, passed by the union at its convention here Wednesday, called on the government to set up a fund to aid municipalities in financing self-liquidating projects at a rate of interest not to exceed two per cent.

The resolution followed a speech by George S. Mooney, Montreal executive director of the Canadian Federation of Mayors and Municipalities, who advocated the plan.

Municipalities of Canada are going after a new deal to bolster their diminishing revenues, Mooney said. In the last eighteen years municipal revenues have shrunk from 39.7 to 12.7 percent of the total national taxation. Municipalities from all ten provinces will confer with the federal government in the near future.

Mayor Frank Goldsworthy of North Vancouver was elected president of the Union. Ald. George Miller of Vancouver refusing re-nomination as he has already been president.

All-Star Puck Game Even

TORONTO (CP)—Two teams of stars played to a 2-all tie Tuesday night in the National Hockey League's annual all-star game which produced $25,259 for the players' pension fund. A crowd of 11,455 watched in the Maple Leaf Gardens.

Palace Confirms Australian Tour

LONDON (CP)—Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh will tour Australia and New Zealand early next year in place of the King and Queen. Buckingham Palace has officially announced in confirmation of previous reports to that effect.

The decision was made on the advice of a team of doctors who, just over two weeks ago, operated on the King's lung.

Departure date and length of the tour remain unchanged. The King was to have sailed January 22, 1952. That will be just a little more than two months after the return of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh from their tour of Canada.

Vancouver Busy

VANCOUVER—There were 26 deep sea ships in Vancouver last week. Of these, 15 were loading grain, or preparing to. Seven will be taking full grain cargoes. Grain has been arriving in Vancouver at the rate of 400,000 to 500,000 bushels per day.

Russia and Iran Break

TEHRAN (CP)—An Iranian newspaper said today that Russia has broken off trade talks with Iran, charging lack of goodwill. There was no official confirmation and a western economic expert said that a break is not unlikely but may be only temporary.

Truce Talked But Korean Fighting Still Goes On

MUNSAN, Korea (CP)—Allied and Communist liaison officers met again at Panmunjom today in an effort to iron out the last kink barring resumption of the Korean cease-fire talks at a new compromise site.

The remaining issue is understood to be just how and when to settle differences over the extent of the neutrality zone.

In Munsan a five-man United Nations truce team waited in tents in an apple orchard for word to resume the talks.

Red leaders have suggested that the question they raised extending the neutral zone to include advanced Allied truce headquarters at Munsan be reserved for discussion by truce delegations later.

The Allies have objected to such extension of the zone.

The Reds, broadcasting from Peiping text of their note to the Supreme Allied commander in advance of its actual delivery, said they had instructed their liaison officers to meet the Allied officers to discuss the resumption of full-dress conferences by major powers.

Two Allied liaison officers then left Munsan by motor convoy for Panmunjom, six miles east of Kaesong, site of the first fruitless talks.

AT THE FRONT

Meantime United States Eighth Army headquarters in Korea reported that United States tanks had knifed up valleys on each side of Heartbreak Ridge in eastern Korea today in a running battle with Communist artillery and mortars.

Iraq Wants Pact Changed

BAGDAD (CP)—Hot on the heels of the Iranian and Egyptian situation, Iraq has now approached the British government for a revision of existing treaty negotiations, it was officially announced tonight.

Under a 25-year treaty which was signed in 1930, Iraq granted Britain use of two air bases and permission to keep troops in Iraq.

Three Die in Alaska Crash

FAIRBANKS (CP)—A Wien-Alaska Air Lines plane crashed north of the Arctic circle yesterday, killing the pilot and two of three passengers.

The pilot was identified as George Harrington.

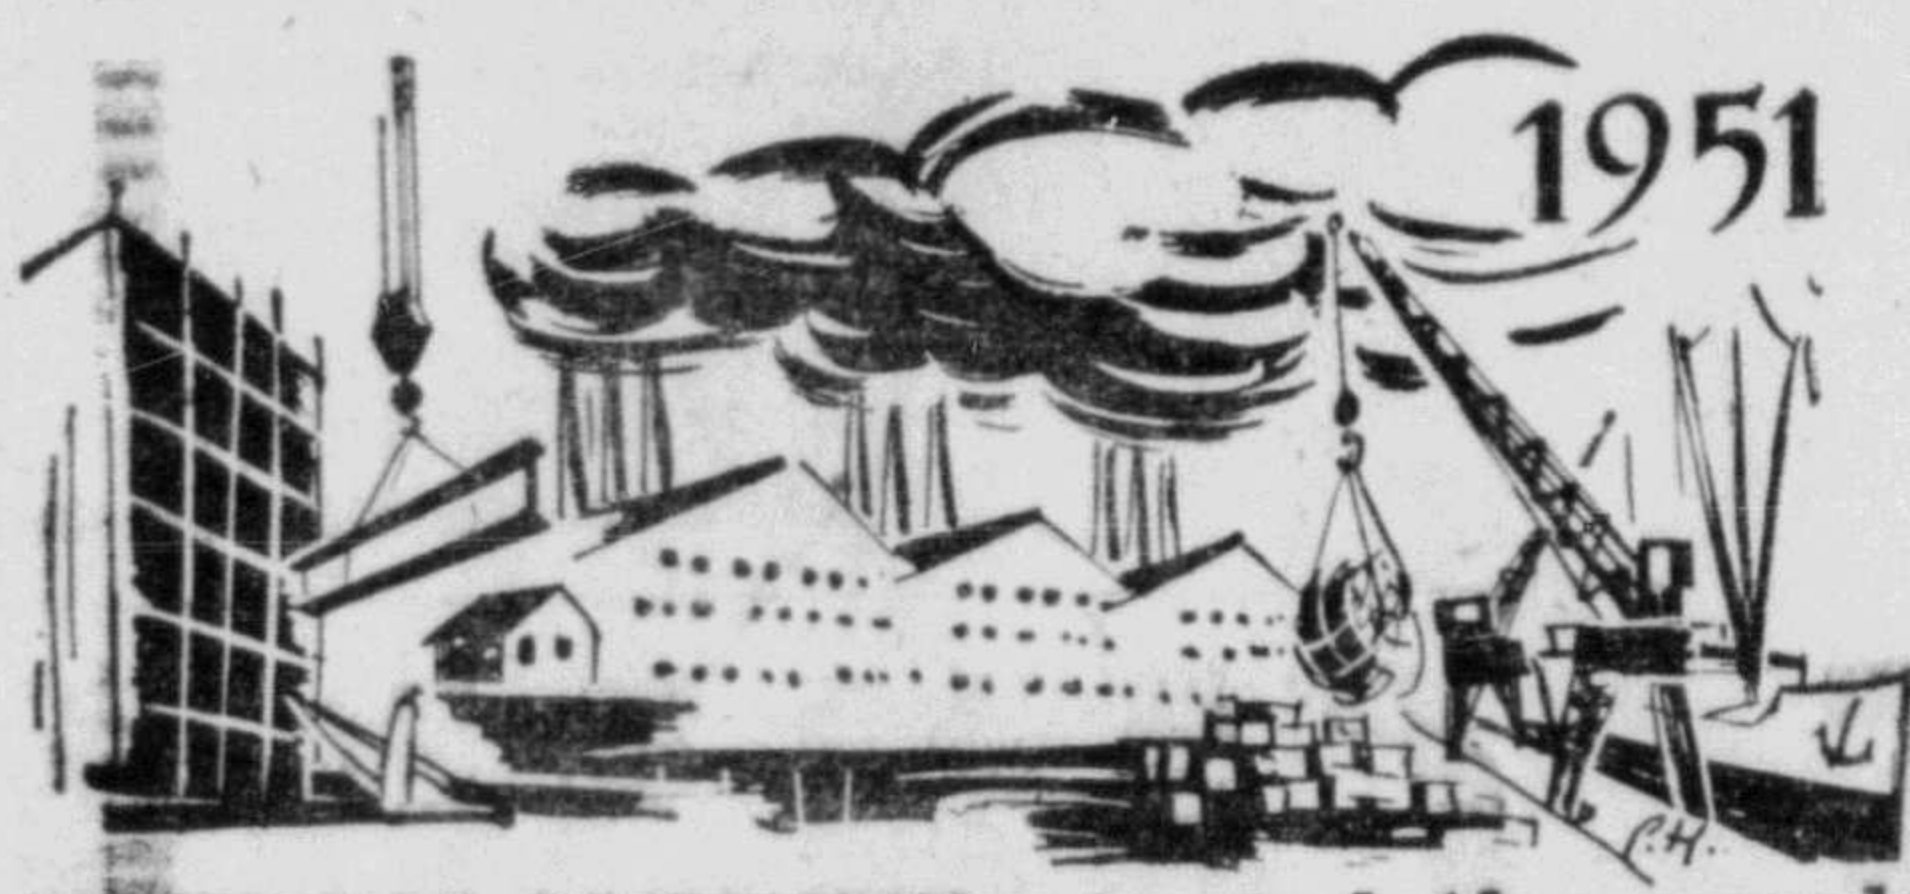

The names of the other victims—a woman and her infant child—and a survivor, believed to be a 26-year-old man, were not learned immediately.

The plane crashed on a scheduled "bush" flight from Point Barrow to Meade River. Eskimos reported they saw an explosion in the sky just before the plane crashed to the ground.

First Women Care Urged in Join R.C.A.F. Salary Matters

Two of the first three Prince Rupert Women to have enlisted in the peace-time RCAF Women's Division leave tonight on the Prince George for Vancouver to enter a new career.

Misses Kathleen Smith and Marjorie Leeman have decided that their new jobs will be serving their country as communications operators and both are eagerly looking forward to begin their fundamental training of eight weeks at St. John's, Quebec.

Pay and rank promotions in the newly formed division of the RCAF is equal to that of the men and the peace-time uniforms have been revised for the better, Miss Smith says.

Miss Jean Cameron, the first Prince Rupert woman to join the ranks with Canada's flying men, left for training several weeks ago.

Miss Smith formerly worked for the telephone department here and as a dress designer in Vancouver.

Miss Leeman was employed in the office of Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative Association here and with B.C. Electric Co. Ltd. in Vancouver.

Both wish to make the Air Force their career, they say. They were home on a week's leave.

Supervision Left At Half-Day Week

Board of school trustees feels that half a day a week should be sufficient for principals of the elementary schools to devote to supervision of the grade classrooms—provided that efficient teaching is going on in the classrooms.

There could be such a thing as too much supervision, Chairman R. C. Large felt.

After considerable discussion of a suggestion that the principals be allowed a full day per week for such supervision, it was decided to leave it at half a day.

Are Studying Natives Here

A man and wife team of freelance writers stayed in Prince Rupert a brief overnight before taking a plane to the Queen Charlotte Islands yesterday. They are Mr. and Mrs. G. Fitz of New York, who are gathering material on the present-day life of British Columbia Indians for the American Museum of Natural History.

Following an interview with F. E. Anfield, Indian superintendent here, the pair said they would return to Prince Rupert in a few weeks.

Premier Man Is Recovering

Gardner B. Thompson, former mechanical superintendent of Slibak-Premier mines, is recovering satisfactorily in Vancouver General Hospital after undergoing an operation.

Mr. Thompson expects to be discharged next week and will travel with Mrs. Thompson to join their children who have been visiting with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Thompson, at Sorrento, B.C.

Bill Scuby Talks Furs

Business and Professional Women's Club heard a talk by Bill Scuby on furs, "From the Trapper to You," at the first meeting last night following the summer recess.

The club also voted a $10 donation to the Canadian Institute for the Blind current drive and $39 to the Prince Rupert General Hospital Modernization Fund.

Miss Mary McMillan, president, was in the chair.

Aesthetic Slant At Board Meet

Discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the board of school trustees took an aesthetic slant with difference of opinion between the men and women members.

It was all about the venetian blinds or drapes which should be installed in the spacious windows at King Edward School.

The ladies seemed to favor drapes—feeling that they were more attractive in appearance and were now in general use. And—that a chore, the dusting of venetian blinds.

The men leaned to venetian blinds. They looked more businesslike and allowed freer access of light if necessary. And what about the fading of unwieldy awkward drapes?

Finally, it was decided there was no hurry anyway now that short days were here and there was no need to worry about keeping out the sunlight.

Action on blinds or drapes which were tendered upon by Gordon & Anderson and MacKenzie's Furniture was deferred until brighter days—from both the sunlight and cash standpoint.

Installation of newly elected officers for 1951-52 was carried out by retiring President Mrs. John Denning, who handed the reins to the new president, W. J. Griffiths.

A penant was presented to Mr. Olsen's class, combined Grades 4 and 5, whose pupils had the greatest number of parents at the meeting. The penant will be awarded each month to the class with most parents attending the meetings.

Members were asked in a letter from the Prince Rupert General Hospital Modernization Fund committee for support of their present drive. Members were urged by the president to lend their individual support.

It was decided to contact the Gyo Club regarding a small playground on Alred Street which is at present regarded as a hazard to the children who play there, chiefly because children must climb a rocky slope right into the path of traffic to enter or leave the playground.

The club will be queried regarding their plans for this playground. If it is to be maintained, the P-TA hopes to have the surrounding area declared a playground zone.

Dam Work is Well on Way

A good start has been made with construction of the canyon dam on the Nechako River, about 60 miles south of Vanderhoof, this being in connection with the power developments at Kemano near Kitimat for the Aluminum Co. of Canada.

According to expectations, the dam will be finished in November 1952. It will be about 300 feet high, containing 3,500,000 cubic yards of material.

By means of it the Nechako River will be backed up to create a large reservoir to force the waters through a chain of lakes and streams, as well as tunnels.

Citizens' Committee

Conrad Street P-TA Supports Idea—Dental Clinic Mooted

Full support to the formation here of a citizen's committee to aid and teach new Canadians was pledged by members of the Conrad Street School Parent-Teacher Association at their monthly meeting Tuesday evening. Mr. Girardet was chosen as their delegate to the citizens' committee inaugural meeting scheduled for October 23.

Installation of newly elected officers for 1951-52 was carried out by retiring President Mrs. John Denning, who handed the reins to the new president, W. J. Griffiths.

A penant was presented to Mr. Olsen's class, combined Grades 4 and 5, whose pupils had the greatest number of parents at the meeting. The penant will be awarded each month to the class with most parents attending the meetings.

Members were asked in a letter from the Prince Rupert General Hospital Modernization Fund committee for support of their present drive. Members were urged by the president to lend their individual support.

It was decided to contact the Gyo Club regarding a small playground on Alred Street which is at present regarded as a hazard to the children who play there, chiefly because children must climb a rocky slope right into the path of traffic to enter or leave the playground.

The club will be queried regarding their plans for this playground. If it is to be maintained, the P-TA hopes to have the surrounding area declared a playground zone.

A suitable presentation was made by Principal T. G. Bateman on behalf of members to Mrs. C. Johansen, a valued member and worker who is leaving the city shortly.

WANT DENTAL CLINIC
Frank Derry, secretary, was chosen to represent Conrad P-TA on a committee formed of P-TA members throughout the city, headed by J. S. Wilson, principal of Borden Street School, to look thoroughly into possibilities for setting up a dental clinic for children here.

P-TA members went on record as being opposed to the continuance of daylight saving time and will press for its abolition.

Saturday, October 27, was set as the date for the P-TA's annual Halloween Hoedown. Arrangements are in the hands of Mrs. W. Murdoch and Miss Hamilton, program conveners.

In an effort to determine whether card parties will have a large enough attendance to warrant their monthly continuance, a trial card party will be held on the third Friday in November.

Guests attending the meeting were R. G. Moore, president of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teacher Council, and Joseph Goscoe.

Following the meeting, community singing was enjoyed and refreshments were served.

He captured the Birks trophy, a handsome silver cigarette box, with his entry—a copy of his recently published book Soogwillis.

P.T.A. Lunches Appreciated

If the Parent-Teacher's Association is prepared to provide hot soup and cocoa for school children's lunches, the board should certainly furnish the necessary dishes. Trustee A. B. Brown urged at Tuesday night's meeting of the school board when a request came up for such dishes for the new lunchroom of King Edward School. The board was similarly minded and authorized the purchase of the dishes.

The board authorized a number of other purchases such as tumbling mats for Booth and King Edward schools and teacher's desk and chairs for Borden.

Board Giving Preliminary Consideration as Population Grows There

With ninety pupils now in attendance at Port Edward school, matter of accommodation is becoming a problem and the board of school trustees is casting its thoughts towards the matter of a new and adequate school building there. The board decided Tuesday night, however, that definite consideration was still a little premature.

The question of site is still to be finally settled. There will have to be preliminary financing arrangements and, ultimately, a bylaw will have to be presented and voted upon by the property owners of the whole school district.

At present premises are being occupied at Port Edward which Nelson Bros Fisheries Ltd. would like to acquire. There is a school site provided for on the new townsite at Port Edward.

Sailors' Friends

Move To Canada

LONDON

—Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Squires, known to sailors all over the world as "Ma" and "Dad," are emigrating to Canada to join their only son, a sailor himself and a survivor of the steamer Jervis Bay, sunk by a German warship. The Squires for many years ran a 17-roomed hotel for sailors. More than 35,000 men of all nationalities have stayed there. The sailors regard Squires as their banker, confidante and lawyer. He has probably been best man at more sailors' weddings than anyone else.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Before you can fully understand the Humanities of bridge you must have a firm grasp of the fundamental mathematics of the game. Now don't shy away. This won't hurt a bit—just a little simple arithmetic that is absolutely essential for winning play.

When you make a game or a partial, remember that you have earned not only the score you down on the score sheet but you have also made some progress toward a bonus—the bonus for winning the rubber.

Add these to the 120 actual trick points and, from the mathematical point of view, Mr. Masters scored 470 points in all.

This is modified slightly by the fact that he is now vulnerable and cannot be so active in defensive bidding as can his opponents. This reduces his profit by about 50 points. So let's say he scored a little more than 400 points by making the game.

Here is the practical application. Whenever you figure you have one chance in three to make game on a hand, go ahead and bid it—because of the liberal rubber bonus which you are always aiming for.

Mr. Dale has tremendous confidence in Mr. Masters and he bid rather optimistically. But his optimism paid off.

Mr. Keen opened the queen of diamonds which Mr. Masters ducked, hoping to keep Mr. Abel out of the lead. Mr. Abel was asleep at the switch. He should have overtaken the queen of diamonds and led the queen of clubs through Mr. Masters' king.

But he didn't and Mrs. Keen continued with another diamond. Mr. Masters won with dummy's ace, took two rounds of trumps, trumped his last diamond in dummy and then led the jack of hearts, letting it ride.

Mrs. Keen won with the queen and now there is no way to defeat the contract. The ace of clubs was cashed and that was all. If Mrs. Keen had returned

Civic Centre badminton went into full swing last week as 74 members of the swelling club turned out for the second regular playing session in a new

The 1951-52 season is headed by President John Hickey. Others are: Vice-President—Alan Hickey. Treasurer—Miss Frances Parson. Secretary—Miss Frances Parson.

The club has been adopted where members will play according to the succession in which their names are listed on the board. In this way, the executive hopes to give beginners equal opportunity with experienced players.

"Rawhide" Exciting

With powerful star appeal and performance from Tyrone Power, Susan Hayward and their supporting cast, an original story approach and biting dialogue bound together with plenty of action and suspense, an exciting western adventure drama—"Rawhide"—comes to the Capitol Theatre screen here from tonight to Saturday.

It is the mounting story of what befalls a forlorn frontier outpost when it is left unguarded except for a man, woman and child and falls prey to a gang of outlaws and killers.

Tyrone Power is the citted young man left to cope with a problem which an experienced Ranger might find unsurpassable. Susan Hayward is the attractive young heroine who lands in a desperate situation.

Hugh Marlowe is a thin-lipped tight-eyed killer who terrorizes the trio. Dean Jagger is a bandit who is too soft for his calling. Edgar Buchanan is a grizzled outpost lieutenant who falls victim to the marauding gang. Jack Elam is a ruthless crazed killer.

George Tobias, Jeff Corey, James Millican and Lewis Jean Heydt are also included in the cast.

What's doing at— CIVIC CENTRE

The juniors' class will meet Wednesday and Thursday afternoons each week and are an excellent chance to prepare gifts for Christmas. The evening classes for adults meet on Monday and Thursday.

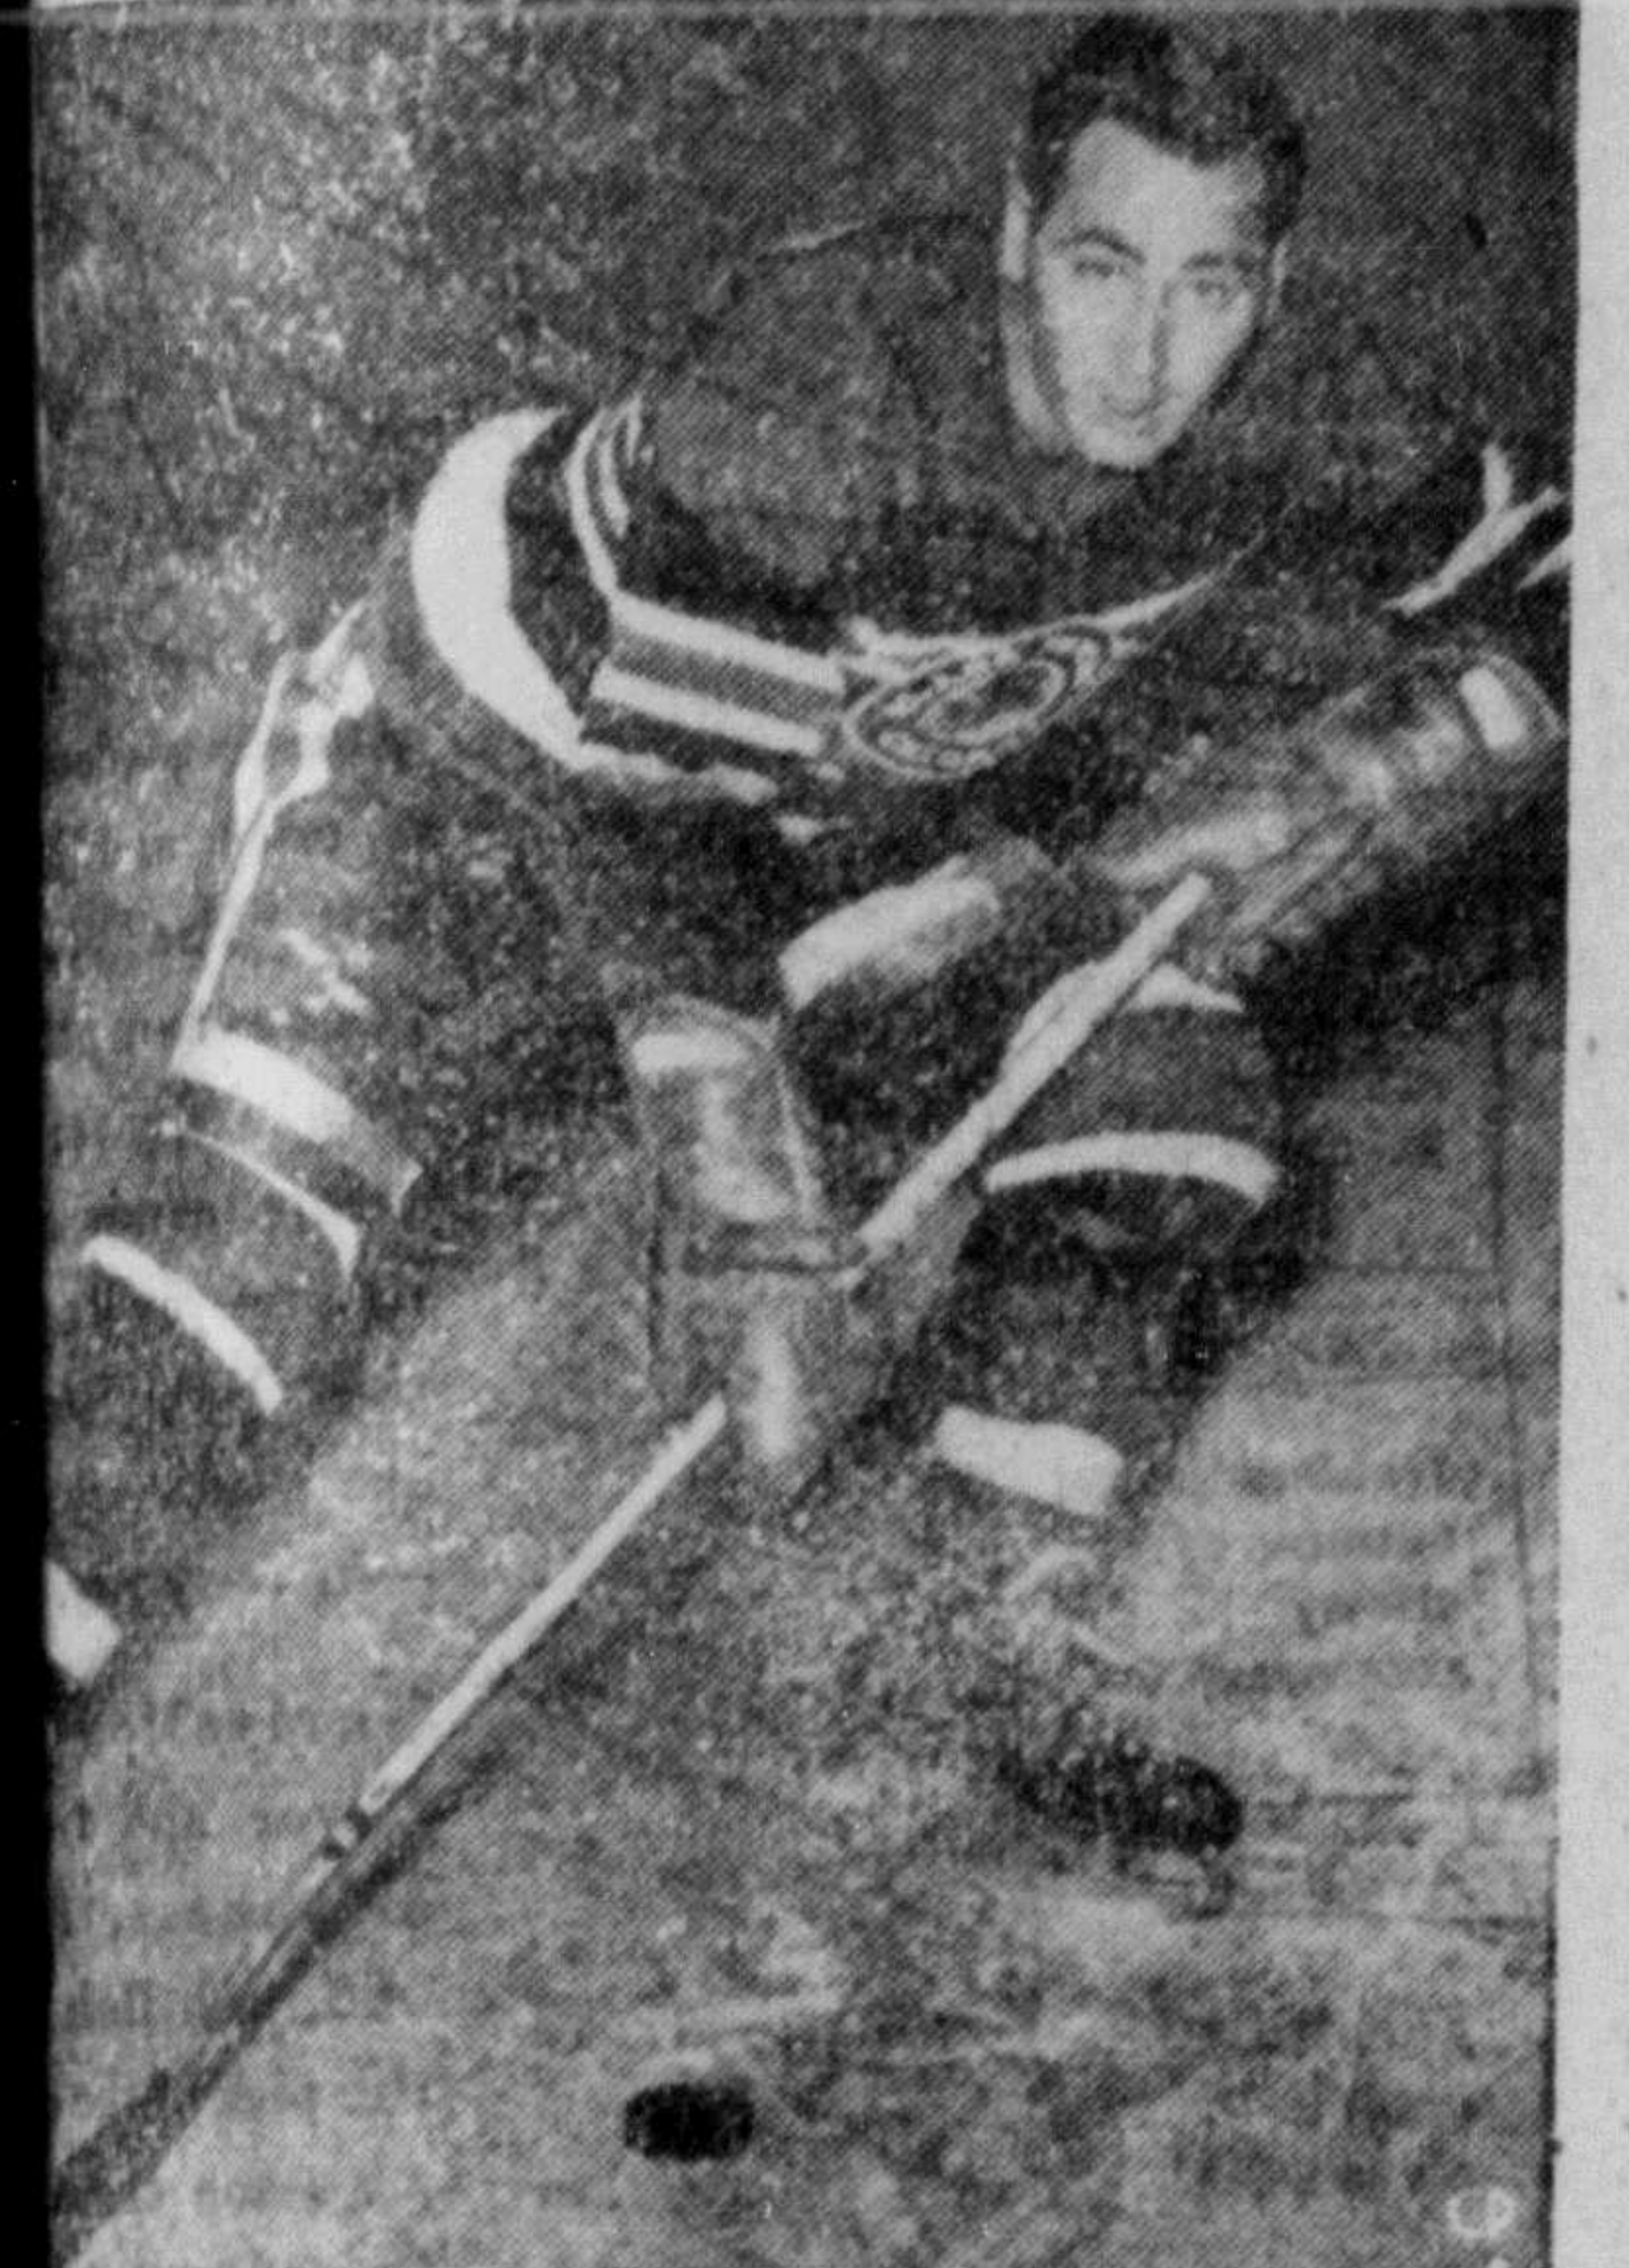

CRAFT DISPLAY—In connection with the opening of the craft season at the Civic Centre a display of finished projects in leathercraft and felt articles are on view in the trophy case. These articles are an example of what may be accomplished in the craft classes at the Centre. As these items are on loan for one week only from a Vancouver craft supply house, those who are interested should make a point of seeing this display in the lobby of the Civic Centre.

ADULTS' CLASSES—The afternoon classes for adults started Wednesday afternoon with new ideas and crafts being introduced. Interest was shown in the new projects available in felt and leather. Metal foil repousse is to be started in the near future. This is an ideal opportunity for the mothers of the tiny tots to spend an hour of profitable relaxation. The bright, comfortable craft room will accommodate many of the ladies who are at present just sitting in the lobby waiting for

Boost for Boxing Here

Elks' Club Taking Over And Planning Active Season

For a long time "under the weather" in Prince Rupert, boxing got a substantial boost last night when the Elks Club announced it would sponsor the present unorganized boxing club.

Although no executive has been formed, Joe Ward, popular trainer of a handful of boxers, automatically fell into the slot of training master and matchmaker.

"With the support we'll be getting now, boxing should find a real place in organized sport in this city," said Ward today, "pleased as anything" that someone else has become actively interested in his hobby.

And already he is working on his first fight card, to be held this month-end, if possible.

A return match with the Morgan brothers of Kitwanga will be sought and a heavyweight Golden Gloves contender, Art Senft, has been located at Masset whom Joe will pit against Prince Rupert's Glenn Carlson.

FROM PRINCE GEORGE

Prince George is to be the next source of competitors for Prince Rupert fighters, who are:

Ore Laden Ship Calls in Port

Already laden with a substantial quantity of ore and concentrates picked up at various northern points, Frank Waterhouse freighter, Cassiar, Capt. William Gleason, was in port from 11:30 until 1:30 over mid-night last night. Cargo already on the vessel included 190 tons of Keno Hill concentrates loaded at Skagway, 234 tons from Tulsequah, 105 tons from Stewart and 67 tons from Alice Arm. Also on board were a tractor and truck and 250 cylinders picked up at Anxox where dismantling of the old smelter plant is going on.

On the way from here to Vancouver, the Cassiar is calling at Klemtu to load 3500 cases of salmon, at Ocean Falls for 250 tons of paper to take to Powell River, and at Port Alice on the west coast of Vancouver Island to load pulp.

Gloves contenders.

The doors of the club, Joe assured, are now open to any others who wish to fight under the banner of the Elks Boxing Club.

Trainer Ward will also contact Vancouver, New Westminster, Chilliwack and other boxing centres in an attempt to arrange "at least a card every month."

The new sponsors will provide robes and boxing shoes. Training will continue at the Civic Centre. Interest in the boxing club, the sponsors say, was sparked by the sensational win of Morrison and Marshall in this year's Golden Gloves tournament.

Lose Fine Fruit

PRINCE RUPERT'S reception of the Alaska Trail has up to now been cool. One wonders certainly cannot be said that the people of the city lack culture, have no artistic taste, are uneducated or are self-centred. That would be to say that the people of this city are not interested in the furtherance of their children's education, that there is no advantage to be gained from outstanding artists and performers from other countries, that there is no solace to be gained from reading and hearing the famous works of famous composers interpreted by famous musicians would be fantastic.

Let's look at it this way. First, no one likes to eat what to eat, what to drink, what to read, what to listen to on the radio, or likes to have education thrust upon him. If a rare unknown performer were to be put in front of us and we were told that we would refuse, naturally; if we were told it was good to eat, we would be very interested. If it were put in front of us and we were told it was fruit, in the fulness of time we would eat it, small bite and, liking it, we would devour it. Some things good about drinks, books, shows or movies. Being free-thinking Canadians, we will do for ourselves what we like and what we like without the help of others, no matter how we know them and how good their intentions.

About two years ago a man had what we would call a good idea. He was not only a student composer but was a world-famous pianist. He liked music, he liked people who like music, and he liked people who didn't like music. The drawback was that he couldn't talk with other musicians as freely as the music lovers because they didn't have the same background and, loosely speaking, they did not speak the same language. He decided to quietly increase their musical background, realizing of course that they would realize the idea that they were being "improved." If they were not being improved, their friendships being cultivated, and real friendship is one of the finest forms of wealth there is. In order to carry out his idea, he arranged for them an opportunity to hear and see first-class artists or performers in each field of music. Not down-and-outers or artists who were working their way to the top, but actually top-rated musicians who gave up all of their holidays or made the concert their holidays in order to help make the idea of increased musical knowledge a reality.

Musicians like to eat, regularly, and it costs more to eat when travelling. It costs even more to have wardrobes than is sufficient for both the Alaska and Alaska, to pay booking agents, to sleep in hotels, etc., and the people of small communities are not prepared to spend that kind of money on any artist. However, if one can afford the expense of entertaining an idea, one should be prepared to forego some comforts in order to further the goal was set up whereby each community paid for the concert, each getting the same concert. After the expenses were paid the musicians received what was left, if any. The communities were asked, first, the bigger ones sharing with the smaller; secondly, that over half of the money involved was returned to the merchants by way of the sale of tickets for food, lodging, travelling and sundries. In this way it promoted business and no one can say that more business is anything other than a good thing.

That is how the Alaska Trail began, and that is how the small villages like Cordova, small cities like Prince Rupert enjoy the same high calibre concerts as the big cities like Vancouver, Los Angeles, New York and London. Fantastic too, but true. And furthermore we can hear these concerts for about half the admission charged at the bigger centres. The second and possibly the last Alaska Trail concert begins on October 25. The fruit is there, it's highly edible, but will be left too long.

WE GIVE THREE THANKS—Since the first Thanksgiving 330 years ago the Church and the Harvest have been joint symbols of the annual time of thanks. It is the time of year when autumn chill spreads across quiet fields and Canadians pause in their work to realize and appreciate the countless bounties conferred on them in this favored land. A restful Thanksgiving scene is pictured by Malak of Ottawa. (CP Photo)

Prize Offer For Modern Designers

Amateur inventors, as well as professionals, can get in on some easy money. Canadian National Industrial Design Committee has announced its needs for brand new ideas and is willing to pay $1,000 or more for them.

For instance, you may have a new design for door knockers, house numbers, letter boxes—it can be worth a cool thousand.

A total of $7,000 in prize money is offered for new creations in chairs and writing desks.

This is a country-wide contest launched by the NIDC to build up industrial designing talent in Canada.

Behind the committee's offer is the hope that Canada may be able to stimulate greater use of trained Canadian talent in designing mass-produced manufactured goods which can compete with similar goods of other countries.

The new competition, which closes next January 15, covers products of both wood and aluminum. Designs can be submitted for:

1. A chair made basically of wood or plywood for use in Canadian homes.
 2. A chair made basically of aluminum for use either in homes, gardens, restaurants or offices.
 3. A writing desk made basically of wood or plywood for a small home or apartment.
 4. A set of designs for any four of these aluminum door hardware items: Knob or lever with escutcheon plate but without lock mechanism; knocker or bell push; exterior letter box or plate and border to surround mail slot in door; name card holder; house number, kick plate.
- For the best three entries in each category there will be a first prize of $1,000; second of $500 and third of $250.

Complains About View Obstruction

A complaint to city council laid by Mrs. Jessie Bennett, 822 Borden Street, that her neighbor is building a garage where it will obstruct her view will be investigated by Superintendent of Works D. C. Stewart.

A letter from Mrs. Bennett to city council, read at the meeting Tuesday night, complained that the proposed garage to be built by F. A. Eby would be so close to her house as to devalue her property.

Meantime, Mr. Eby contends that part of Mrs. Bennett's buildings or sidewalk is encroaching on his property, according to Ald. George Casey.

"But it would be a real detriment to her property, there is no doubt about that," Ald. Casey declared, and suggested that Mr. Eby be asked not to build his garage there.

And in order to establish the property line, both parties will be asked to have their respective lots surveyed. Meanwhile, Mr. Eby's permit to build will be held in abeyance.

MORE THAN ONE SOURCE
Alberta oil flows through newly laid pipes to shipping ports on the Great Lakes. It looks like early action on the St. Lawrence Waterways, either jointly with the U.S. or by Canada alone. More oil discoveries in Saskatchewan are reported. There is a likelihood of oil pipes tapping the British Columbia coast. While all this may mean nothing more than ordinary, every day progress, one cannot help noting that it's all happening since Iran started making a noise in the world.

A Vancouver daily has been called on to pay $1,025 for having made a mistake in the paper. And paper climbing up and up the way it is!

Another few weeks and the British political air will be cleared, one way or another, by a general election. Some few days ago, the Iran government told Britain to go home and stay there and that's what is happening. Since then, Egypt ordered Britain to sever whatever connection she has with the Suez Canal, which has been unbroken and extensive for the better part of a century. Nothing has been heard, to date, suggesting evacuating Gibraltar. Yes, it's time the air was cleared.

DO IT NOW!

Table Bay's Anniversary

CAPE TOWN — Next year will be the three hundredth anniversary of the first white settlement on the shores of Table Bay, under the Dutch commander, Jhann van Riebeeck. The links between South Africa and London are old. So venerable are these that they go back long before there was any question of a white colony below the equator—to the years soon after the seaway from Europe to the Indies had been discovered by the Portuguese late in the 15th century.

LONDON — When they led this horse to water he started swimming. A five-year-old pony taken to the Grand Union canal for a drink plunged and was dragged out two hours later by firemen using a horse-sling.

Janitors to Be Surveyed

Janitorial services at city schools will be surveyed by Trustee A. J. Dominato who was appointed a committee of one for the purpose at Tuesday night's school board meeting.

With two large new schools now in operation, new engineering and caretaking problems are arising with augmented help also being needed.

Secretary Mrs. Roper thought that the time might be coming when something in the way of a superintendent of maintenance might be required.

Two applications from prospective janitors were received by the board and filed for future reference.

The members of the Stewart branch of the Canadian Legion are busy preparing for Remembrance Day and the sale of wreaths and poppies is expected to be even better than last year. The response by the public has always been very good in this district. The usual service at the Cenotaph will be held on November 11 in the forenoon but it is undecided whether a dance will be held in the evening or a supper and dance.

Rain has been falling steadily for the past week and fresh snow has appeared on the mountain tops. Fall is certainly here with a vengeance. Mechanics of the Department of Public Works are busy getting the snowplows in readiness for the winter struggle. Keeping the mine open to the Silbak Premier is an almost superhuman task but the department's crews do it readily.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis A. Behn- sen celebrated their silver wedding anniversary on October 4. The popular couple were the recipients of many congratulations and beautiful gifts in token of the esteem in which they are held.

E. C. Stewart, city superintendent of works, returned Tuesday night by plane from holidays in Vancouver and Victoria. Mr. Stewart also attended a municipal engineers' convention at Victoria.

United Church May Re-open— Logging for Cellulose— Rain and Snow

Rev. T. C. Colwell, minister of the United Church at Port Simpson, was here last week to investigate the possibilities of making arrangements for a monthly service for this district. There has been no resident minister for some considerable time and it is felt that the time is now ripe to have, at least, a monthly service to the community. The United Church has been closed since Rev. W. Nixon left here for another pastorate. Service was held at Premier on Thursday and in Stewart on Sunday in the Anglican Church. Both services were well attended.

Order of Moose, held a dance in honor of Tranksgiving Day, commencing at midnight Sunday and continuing on to the wee small hours of the Monday morning. It was a well attended and very successful affair.

A small crew is at work getting out logs for the Cellulose operations at Prince Rupert. The snowfall will determine whether operations will continue during the winter months. At any rate, fairly extensive operations will be undertaken in the early spring of next year.

Portland Canal Lodge, Loyal

A VILLAGE GROWS— Houston Now Thriving Community—500 People

By EVANGELINE VANN HOUSTON.—From a village in 1947 with two cars, two telephones, old hotel, old garage, one-roomed school and two million feet a year shipped out, Houston has become a thriving community, of over five hundred from the figures of the last census, with twenty million feet a year shipped out from two planer mills, with a total payroll of $30,000 a month—the Houston Planer Co. Ltd. and the E. G. Bellicini Planing Mill.

Surveyed in 1910, Houston was planned as a divisional point for the railway but was abandoned in favor of Smithers. In these early years, farming, the making and a little mining were the chief activities. In 1930 there were tie contracts to be dealt with, and in 1940, Dutch immigrants began to arrive and started to give the district a stability with their industry in agriculture. Now over half the population is Dutch, with a hundred per cent Dutch crew in the Houston mill. There is a ready market for the produce of the farming community in the camps of the fifteen to twenty sawmills in the district.

Lumber demands during the war, and the boom in lumber in 1943 and 1947 has made the village what it is. A four-roomed school built last year, with the possibility of another room having to be added, a new garage, three cafes, a modern butcher's shop, two modern stores, a clothing store, fancy goods' shop, and new hotel with eighteen rooms, six having private baths, provide for the needs of the community. There are four churches, including a Christian Reformed, which has services in both Dutch and English, and new Forestry buildings.

In an interview, C. Parish, manager of Houston Planer Mill Co. Ltd., showed the plans for the proposed Medical-Dental building, which it is hoped to build next year. Two thousand dollars have already been raised. A picture show is held each week, and the proceeds go to the fund. "A definite future in the industry is insured," volunteered Mr. Parish. "The Houston Planer Mill is working to full capacity, the greater part of the development has taken place in the last two years and production doubled last year. We are planning new machinery for next year, and there is an application in for a management licence. We have secured markets of our own. Unfortunately, the village is served with one congested party telephone which for business purposes is an impossible situation."

In 1947, a Community Club was incorporated to serve the interests of the community. Picnic grounds were set aside. "For the use, recreation, and enjoyment of the public," and one of its undertakings is street lighting. Over a year ago, the B. C. Power Commission installed a plant on a part time basis, as an experiment. Within a very short time it was paying for itself and additions in the plant have had to be made, and are about to be made again to take care of the increase. Plans are in hand to open up an old road, between Houston and the west end of Francois Lake, and the Forestry Branch are considering putting a road from Houston, south, for twenty or thirty miles into a tract of timber. There are indications of development in mining.

A sign of the present prosperity, is that a sub-branch of the Royal Bank of Canada is shortly to be opened here, giving a weekly service to start with, later to be extended to a full branch bank.

Storm at Ketchikan

Two Boats Sunk and One Burned—Ward's Cove Isolated KETCHIKAN.—A check-up of the week-end storm in South-eastern Alaska showed two trol- ling boats sunk, one burned and numerous others damaged.

There was no loss of life in the storm which brought winds estimated at 70 miles an hour and there was 5 1/2 inches of rain here. The trol- ling boat Hazel, owned by Arden Cole, sank at Metlakatla Harbor entrance. The troller Elsie III was abandoned on the rocks of Mossman Inlet by the owners, Lars Larson, and two companions. The 30-foot troller Pamarajah, owned by Russ Cowger, caught fire and exploded while Cowger was in the woods hunting. Other boats were torn loose from their moorings without serious loss or damage. First bridge on the road to Ward's Cove was washed out.

Good Gravy doesn't just "happen", as I'm sure you know. But it cooks agree with me that there's one way to make it—always. That's by making it with BOVRIL. Bovril adds to your gravy that's a real delight... as a seasoning for cheese, a sandwich spread, in soups or casseroles. It's such a favourable way to use-bovril that budget—for just a little of the body-ness of Bovril goes a long, long way. You'll save beef goodness more cheaply than Bovril— Bovril Concentrate. It's A Funny Thing how habit gets us into the groove when it comes to shopping. And it works both ways. It's a good habit to keep on buying a satisfactory product... but only if it isn't a "blindfold" that keeps you from buying something better! Take tissue hand- kerchiefs for example—I was happy enough with my old familiar brand until I tried FACE-ELLE. What a difference! Yet, it's not costing t that goes with Face-elle more per box to enjoy the extra comfort of the extra-soft, exquisite softness and absorbency. You'll like the extra softness when you get 3-ply cushioned Face-elle in the pink box. So make a habit to ask for Face-elle and enjoy the luxury of better tissue hand- kerchiefs as your reward for think-before-you-buy shopping!

... Evangeline Vann's Diary

Was at the toast and marmalade stage, when I heard the arriving train. Clarence Businger collected me and we arrived at the station before the train stopped. Reminds me of the time when, nearly missing a bus in Victoria, I seized my cookies and put one in the box, instead of a ticket.

Suffered torments of Hades, with Houston planer mill working to full capacity, until two in the morning, just outside my window. Crackly pillows, encased in plastic, and sawdust burner, emulating burning fiery furnace, made it frighteningly realistic. Got up, and had a bath, thinking of the time in the summer, further east, when I bathed in a farm yard, behind a hen house and in front of the privy, and gazed through the trees, from a long galvanized bath, complete with plug. Vowed would work till early hours next night—more profitable. Manager says he wakes when it stops.

A picturesque crowd in Houston Hotel Cafe—Claude Parish surrounded by children "eating out," so that his wife could prepare for W.I. meeting. A collie dog with a dollar bill in his mouth, to buy a feed-nothing under these days. The inevitable drunk; a mining expert from Manitoba returned from a trip with E. G. Belleini, and four handsome cowboys, eyed by both men and girls, but for different reasons.

Ran into Mr. and Mrs. Craker. He, being English, and his wife Canadian, his offspring was heard to say: "Do I say, harf and harf, or haf and haf, or harf and haf?"

Was asked to speak to the school children on Australia. Thought I was "down under" from the heat in the up-to-date building but knew I wasn't as the children wore shoes and socks. Were most interested in the animals and had difficulty in believing that "joey" kangaroos are only an inch long when born. When signing the visitors' book, noticed that Eva Hasell of the Anglican Mission Vans, had passed that way exactly the same day twenty-three years ago. She is now finishing her trip in the Yukon for the third year in succession.

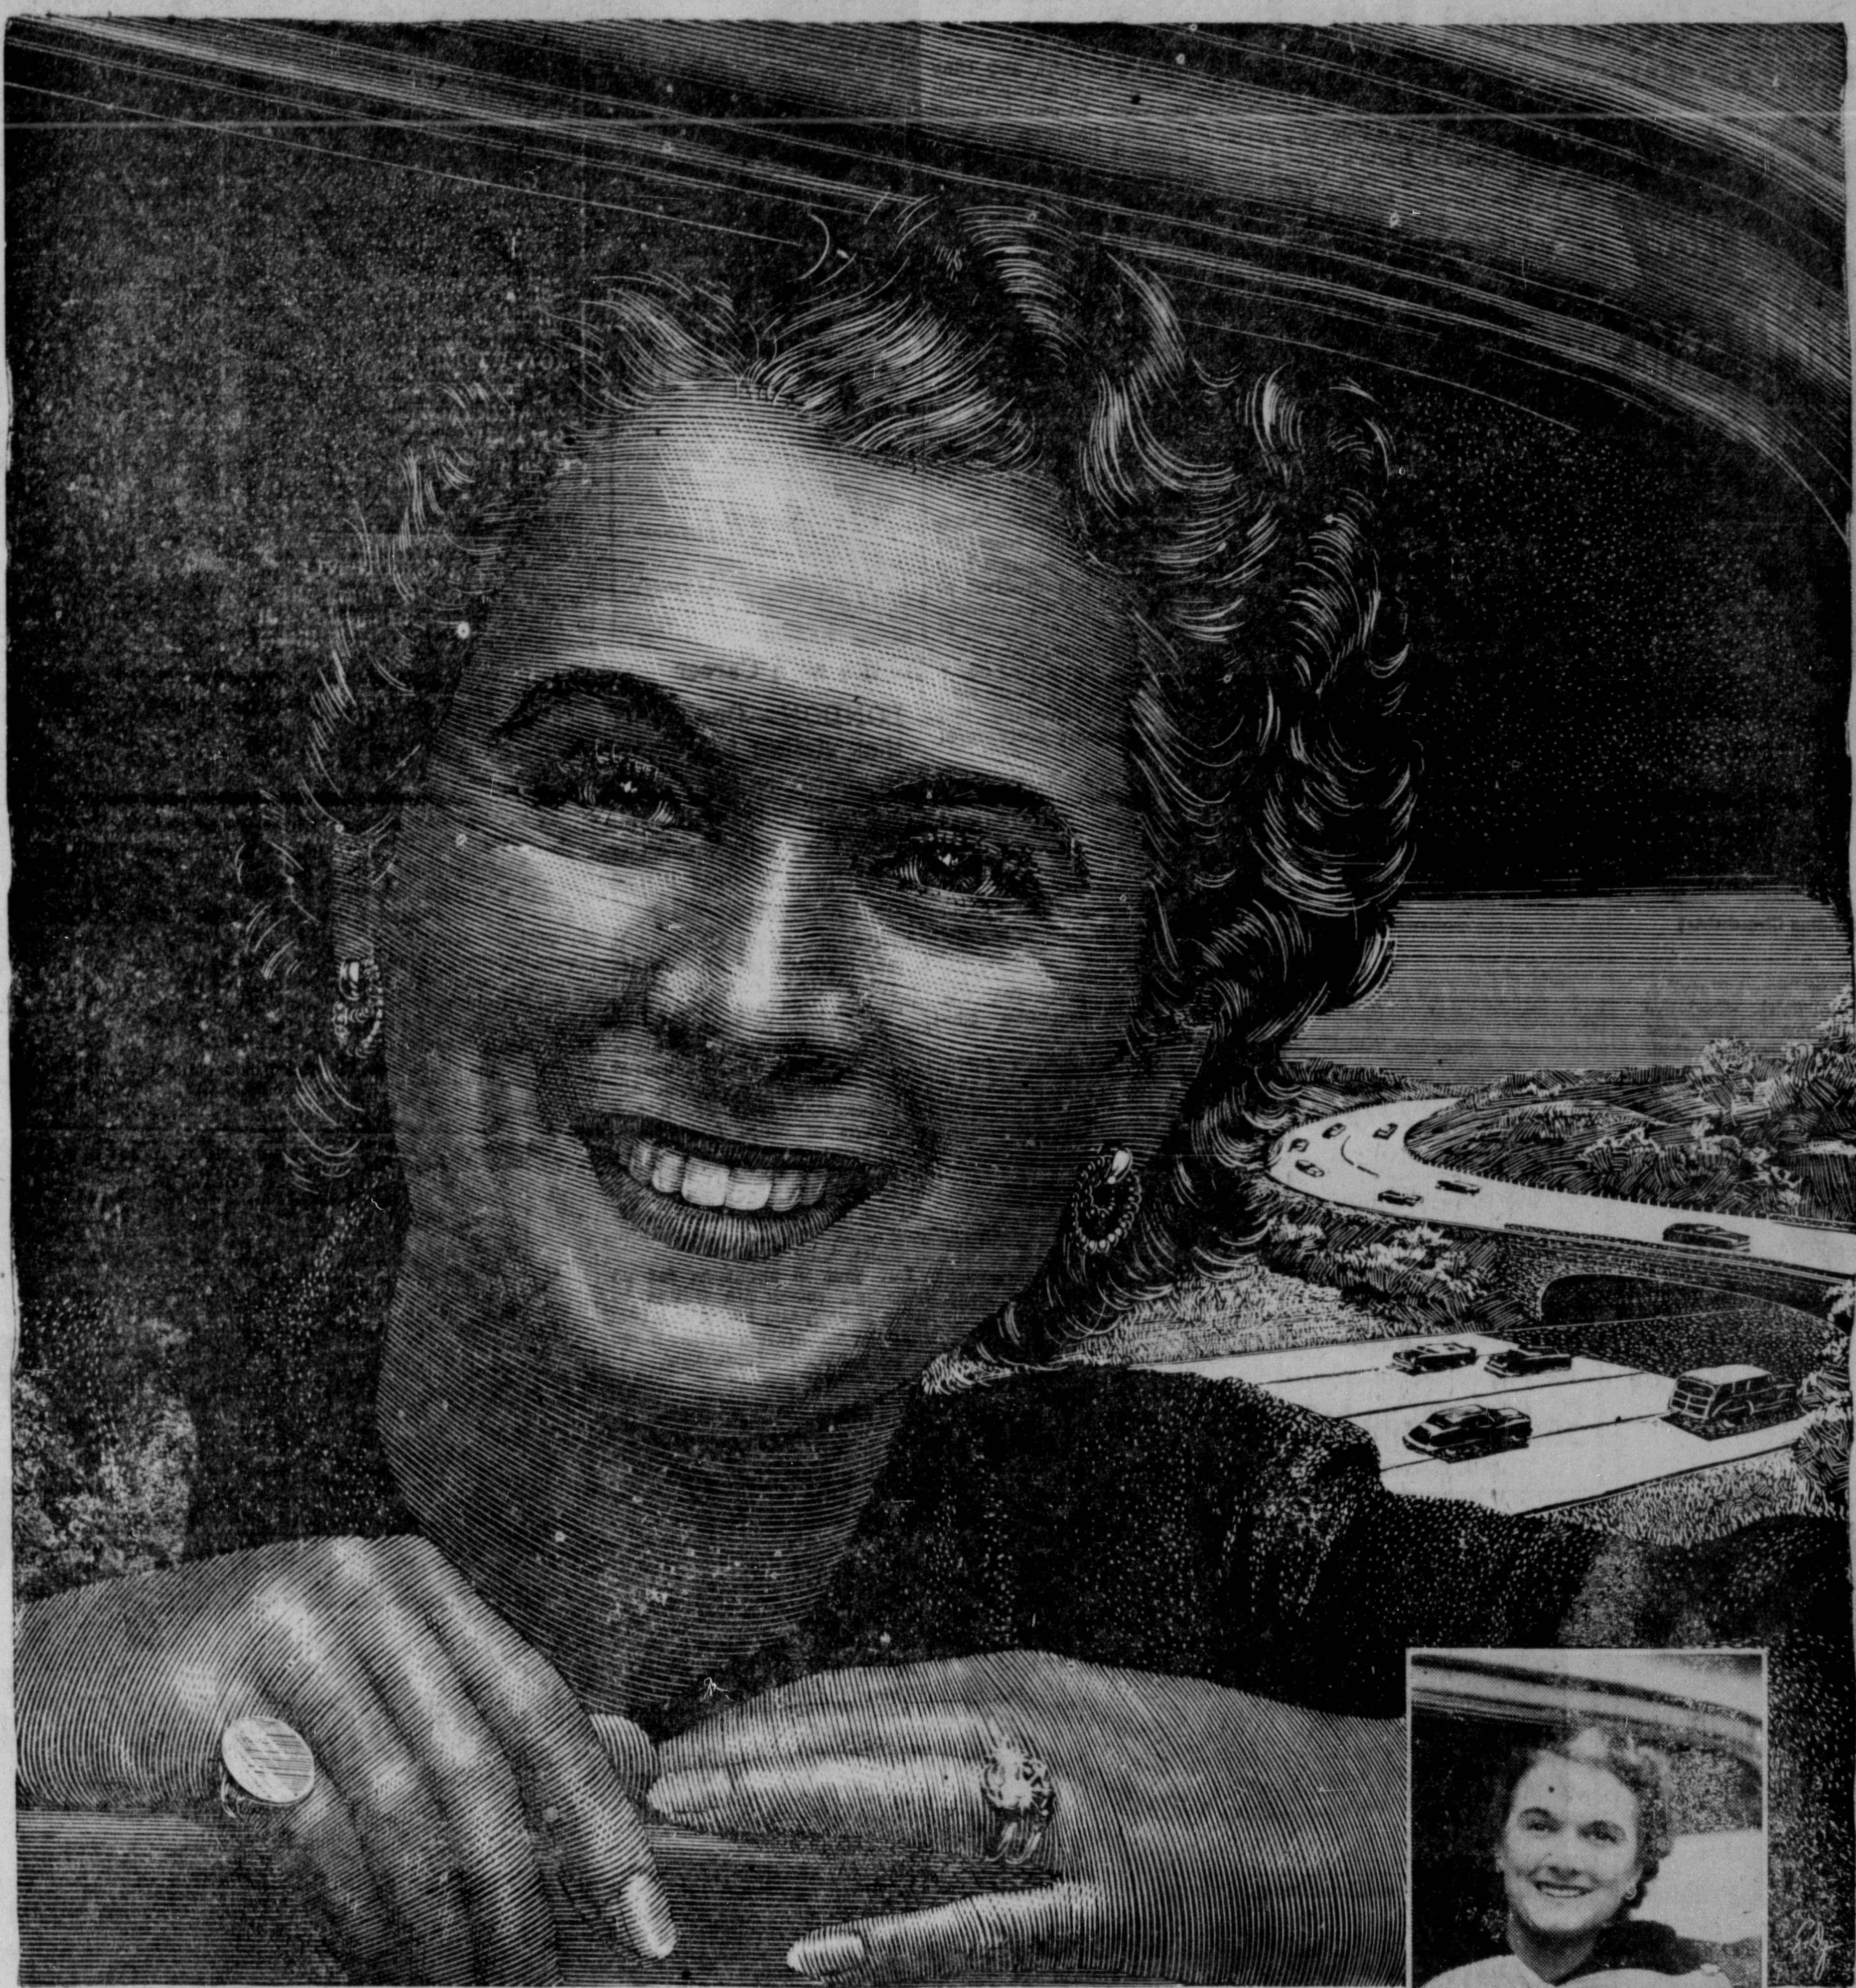

Was invited to the bachelor apartment of Jack Andrusko, and Norman Schulberg, pedagogues, to eat supper. Dorothy Alcock and Dempsey, a wee kitten, completed the party. Saw an excellent color film of Telegraph Creek, taken by Jack. Worked till mill stopped but was haunted by memory of the revolting carcass of skinned timber wolf.

FIRE WAS MISSING
KENTVILLE, N.S. — The Kentville fire department has been informed from Ottawa that the moving picture of Kentville and its volunteer fire department in action, taken by the National Film Board, will be released in December. The only serious deficiency was lack of a big fire, "but we could hardly wish that on Kentville," said the producers.

Former Local Banker Moved

C. W. Dawson, who several years ago was accountant in the local branch of the Bank of Montreal and more recently has been manager at Ganges, Salt Spring Island, has been transferred to White Rock. Before leaving Ganges, Mr. Dawson was given a farewell dinner by the Salt Spring Island Board of Trade.

*MRS. CONSTABLE...

... Mrs. Constable, have you been a purchaser of Canada Savings Bonds?

Yes. I've bought bonds every year.

What led you to buy them?

Well, it really began back in the wartime days. At that time I was working in Toronto and I began putting some of my pay into War Savings Certificates. Then, as my work improved and my pay increased, I added the increase to my purchases.

What was uppermost in your mind when you made these investments?

Savings. I have always felt it was important to have cash put by for things you might need later on. I like to pay cash for everything. Paying up for things on a time payment plan seems to me like "mortgaging" your income.

Have you had any occasion to use the savings that have accumulated in Canada Savings Bonds?

Yes. Some time ago the plant where I work was moved to the outskirts of London and the question of getting to and from work became a problem. Because I had bought Canada Savings Bonds in past years I was able to buy a car and the problem was solved. I paid cash for it too.

How did you buy your Canada Savings Bonds?

Through deductions from my pay at the office. I have seen so many people get behind with things just because they have no regular system of saving that I have an extra appreciation of this method. You know... I always remember the depression days when so many people found themselves in difficulty because they had not saved regularly.

Do you expect to buy the new Canada Savings Bonds?

Yes. I will be signing up for them as I always do.

NOW BETTER THAN EVER

- Canada Savings Bonds — 6th Series — mature in 10 years and 9 months from date of issue and bear ten 3½% coupons.

The limit for holdings in any one name is $5,000 in the 6th Series. The bonds are cashable at full face value, plus interest at any time at any bank in Canada.
- They are registered in the owner's name. They are non-assignable and non-transferable.

*Mrs Dorothy Constable lives at 81 Blackfriars St., London, Ontario, and is one of more than a million Canadians, who have invested regularly in Canada Savings Bonds. She is assistant to the personnel manager of Somerville Ltd., in London, Ontario. She is a member of the Highland Golf Club, Vice-President of the Business and Professional Women's Club and Secretary-Treasurer of the Personnel Association of London. She finds time in her active business life for many community activities and teaches a Sunday School class. She has no particular hobbies but when time permits likes to swim and take it easy in the sun on a sandy beach. She has one sister now living in Montreal.

HERE and NOW

By LARRY STANWOOD

CCC STANDS FOR Columbia Cellulose Company, but it's also the name of a brand new organization, although differently translated. The 300 Club was formed several weeks ago by CCC employees who feel they are here to stay and want to take part in the social, sport, and cultural activity of the community.

The club now boasts 60 members and it's increasing day by day, says Bill Halliwell, treasurer. And here is how the club hopes to contribute to community activity.

First of all, in sport, 300 Club intends to sponsor a basketball team this year. Its own bowling league already has been formed but a team is to be entered in the city leagues as well.

In the field of summer sports, the club intends to sponsor both a softball and a baseball team next year.

"But we have quite a lot of talent, not only in sport but also in the arts," Mr. Halliwell, one of the organizers, assured and so an amateur dramatic group has been formed, as well as a choral singing group. In the future, with the aid of these two departments, the club intends to present public concerts.

IN THE SOCIAL BRACKET, club members will get together for the sake of acquainting themselves with one another at informal parties and for promoting friendship with members of the community generally.

This Friday, for instance, a dance and show with a huge welcome mat as a vanguard will kick off the season's activity of the club.

And besides this, a program of education also is in the offing, but plans are still tentative and more will be said about them at a later date.

A BIG PROJECT which will of necessity be confined to company employees only, on which the club will begin work soon, is a giant Christmas party for the children of all company employees.

"But other than such projects, we want to merge our activities as much as possible with that of the Civic Centre," Mr. Halliwell states.

Executives of the club are: Dan Dossell, chairman; Fred Adames, vice-chairman; Bill Halliwell, treasurer; Miss Agnes Mack, secretary; Olen Bennett, sports committee; Ray Sahlen, music and drama director; Gerry Estey, in charge of social activity.

As I See It

Politics as a Career

LONDON—One thing that strikes the Canadian visitor as marking a great difference between our politics and the British is the way they nurse their prospective MPs.

In Canada, as we all know, it is very difficult for an outsider to get elected from a district where he does not live. There are exceptions to this rule, of course. Great leaders like Mackenzie King can get themselves elected in seats (like Prince Albert, Saskatchewan) which are thousands of miles from their own homes. Also, in big cities like Montreal, Toronto, Vancouver or Winnipeg, candidates can and do get elected in different local constituencies from those in which they live.

But that is about as far as Canadian voters are willing to go to stretch the unwritten rule that the MP must have his home in the riding he represents.

I HAVEN'T HAD a chance to analyze the final figures for this British election. But looking them over I am astonished to see how few of the people running really reside in the districts they hope to represent.

Here in this "tight little isle" the voters are obviously less locally jealous than we are in Canada. Hence scores of MPs get elected from places where they do not live—and, in fact, would not live.

You even see Englishmen getting themselves elected from Scotland—not to mention, of course, the much more familiar sight of Scots being elected in England.

HERE IN BRITAIN just about anybody who wants to make politics a career can do so.

In both the Conservative and Labor parties the thing to do is to join the party.

You work in the "machine." You make speeches in the campaigns, at the places which are not very important. Then if you show any aptitude for the work, the party (either party) will give you a nomination at the next election. You have to "work your way up" so to speak.

They get you the nomination, in some riding where you haven't got much chance to be elected. But if you do not too badly first time up, they switch you over to better and better ones.

In two or three elections any capable, sincere young person has a good chance to work up to a constituency which he or she has a good chance to win—and hold.

I MET a nice Edinburgh Tory lass by name of Janet Murray, who is running in one of the Dundee seats. This is her second try. Maybe if there is a big swing over to the Tories this time she will make it. Maybe not—but if she does well as a party fighter for the second time they are just about sure to put her in a seat where she can win next time.

Here on the outskirts of London young Norman Mackenzie, of the New Statesman and Nation, is running as Labor. The seat he is trying is pretty solidly Tory—and it would take pretty nearly an earthquake for him to win.

Still, he's just a boy, so to speak. If he does well, Labor will surely give him a good fighting seat next time.

AT THE DISSOLUTION of Parliament, a few days ago, the longest-service MP retired. He was the Earl of Winterton, who 47 years ago went down from Oxford to a county constituency to run as a Tory. To his and everybody's astonishment he was elected—and has sat there continuously since.

The British are very sentimental about such things, and there were many moist eyes when he, and also the Speaker of the House, uttered their last words in that historic chamber.
