400 COMMUNISTS PERISH IN PLANES OFF FLORIDA

UNITS CROWDING AHEAD TOWARD SEOUL

Unarmed Communists Seen in Latest Drive

SEOUL (CP)—Masses of Communist troops moved forward along the entire western half of the Korean battlefield today in their third invasion of the peninsula. To the east, however, counter-attacking United Nations columns stopped the Reds in their tracks and hurled them back at some points.

In the central front United Nations forces pulled back and broke contact with the Communists. The withdrawal was made in such a way that some rear elements were trapped. One was captured by Communists wearing civilian garb or blue uniforms of South Korean soldiers.

In the west, the Allies in an orderly fashion beat back the Chinese exploiters in the river crossing. In less than 25 miles from Seoul, South Korean troops and United Nations forces met in a dust-clouded column.

United Nations forces attacked as Lt. Gen. A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army commander, told his troops in three days' battle you showed your superiority in attacking Reds.

Expressed confidence that the battle would be won by the "enormous superiority in power and all types of equipment" of the Chinese in the pouring down the rain. The Ufonbu invasion in this highway also leads to advances were made in pushing one division forward.

Troops are pushing forward, wounded and fatigued on "dusty battlefields" and "dusty battlefields."

Baseball— Vets Win Victories

NEW YORK — Bob Feller and Ed Lopat, a pair of veterans, turned in their second straight victories of the season Tuesday.

Feller was aided by tight fielding in taming Chicago White Sox who lost to Cleveland Indians, front-running team, in the American League 5-2.

Lopat turned back the Philadelphia Athletics 3-0 on a neat four-hitter for New York Yankees.

Agreement With Chiang

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Secretary of State Dean Acheson said today that American military aid to the Chinese Nationalists on Formosa is being sent under agreement that it will be used only for "internal security" or "legitimate self-defence."

Acheson made public an exchange of notes with Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek's government which lays down that basic policy as to arms sent to his forces—a policy laid down last June by President Truman on the outbreak of war in Korea.

Congressional critics, chiefly Republicans, have been demanding that these troops and arms be employed against the Chinese Communists.

Northwest Important

Railway Chief Sees Alaska In New Industrial Picture
PORTLAND, Ore.—A "strong and steady rise" in the importance of the Pacific Northwest and Alaska in the nation's economy was predicted by John P. Kiley of Chicago, president of the Milwaukee Road.

Speaking here before the Pacific Northwest Trade Association, an organization that promotes co-operation among the communities of the Pacific Northwest located upon both sides of the Canadian-United States boundary line, Mr. Kiley pointed out that as the present westward shift of the country's centres of industry continues, the Pacific Northwest will become the new home of a growing number of industrial enterprises.

A former resident of Seattle where he was vice-president of his railroad and former president of the association, Mr. Kiley added that the region's agricultural potentials also are increasing and that climate, opportunity and better living conditions are serving as magnets for new, desirable citizens.

Mr. Kiley declared that the growth the Pacific Northwest has achieved so far has been due to the application of the principles of free enterprise, and praised the association for its aim to preserve these principles.

"The best way in the world to accomplish this aim," he said, "is to preserve the principles of competition. Here in this comparatively new region of the Pacific Northwest, where enormous resources are still untapped, you have an ideal opportunity to show the world that our American system of free enterprise and competition still works."

Presiding at the two-day conference of the association which closed yesterday afternoon was Frank E. McCaslin of Portland.

Guests of honor at the past presidents' banquet at which Mr. Kiley spoke were Canadian Senator Stanley S. McKeen of Vancouver Charles B. Lindeman of Seattle, E. L. Skeel of Seattle, and Kenneth M. Kennell of Tacoma.

Pats Elude Enemy Trap

TOKYO — A Reuters News Agency dispatch said today that a Canadian battalion was one of two that broke out of a Korean Communist trap in the west central sector yesterday. The report was unconfirmed.

Reuters said that the Canadians, along with a Belgian battalion, were cut off when the Chinese threw in several attacks against the new Allied line south and southeast of Yoncheon.

The report gave no details. The Second Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, recently completed a rest period after a stretch in the front lines.

Censorship prevents naming units or precise location of forces in the Korean front.

Gov't Wins Confidence

OTTAWA — Commons last night defeated a CCF motion of non-confidence in the government based on its 1950-52 budget. The vote was 127 to 53.

The motion would have censured the government for "failure to exempt from 20 percent defence surtax incomes of single persons earning up to $1500 and married earning up to $3000 per year."

Progressive Conservative and Social Credit members backed the non-confidence motion along with two Quebec Independents.

Women Rush To Join up

OTTAWA — There was a rush of women for recruiting yesterday following announcement by Minister of National Defence that women are going back into Canada's armed forces with new uniforms and nylon stockings—and equal status with men.

Recruiting will be for the regular Royal Canadian Air Force and for reserve forces of navy, army and air force. Married women will not be taken.

Champions Are Home

Prince Rupert's victorious Golden Glove boxers came home today. Sixteen-year-old William (Mouse) Morrison, who won the middleweight championship in the Vancouver Daily Province tournament, carried his war trophies off the Prince Rupert this morning. He sported a presentation for the "best left hand"—a set of boxing gloves from the sponsors.

Besides the championship emblem stitched on his windbreaker, Morrison wore a faint glimmer of a black left eye. It was delivered by Bianco in the championship match.

"It was the only punch he got," said trainer Joe Ward, of the RCMP here who also returned. Ward is coach and trainer of the Prince Rupert Civic Centre Boxing Club, which took away two first and a runner-up with an entry of only four boxers.

Andy Marshall, 25, who is returning by plane today, won the lightweight championship. Glen "Tiny" Carlson also returned today. Carlson was the Prince Rupert entry in the heavyweight.

Lightweight Chuck Place also returned on the Prince Rupert today. Place, 19, and Carlson reached the finals.

"They made a real showing," said Capt. William Eccles skipper of the Canadian National boat which docked here from Vancouver this morning. Capt. Eccles saw the matches in Vancouver.

Russia Joins Olympics

Contrast In Politics

IT HAS been interesting during recent days to observe and compare how politics work in Great Britain and the United States both of which countries have been having their crises of sorts.

Reckless of the serious reactions which might result both at home and abroad, politicians allowed a great storm to develop in the United States over the case of General Douglas MacArthur. Losing sight entirely of the simple fact of the case which was that General MacArthur had put himself in a position where there was nothing for the President to do but dismiss him, political passion and vituperation, fanned by the American love for sensationalism, threw the nation into a virtual frenzy. And it certainly has not been conducive to national unity in the face of a grave international situation.

There seemed something more honest and dignified about the crisis which developed in Britain due to the cleavage within the Labor party over the Attlee government's budget. Notwithstanding fundamental differences which led to the final split between the two wings of the Labor party, there was always that restraint based on the consideration of the national if not the party interest. It was the cool, steady and deliberate British way of doing things—a way that is confidence-inspiring, too. Politics in Britain seem inherently imbued with a sense of statesmanship and responsibility which is perceptible in so few of United States top public men.

One wonders which line Canada is more inclined to follow. It is probably a middle way—not quite so staid and respectful as Britain but certainly not so excitable and reckless as that of the United States.

Alaska Too

THE FACT that great cellulose pulp and aluminum manufacturing plants have been or are being established in British Columbia does not deter the hopeful enthusiasm of Editor Bill Baker of the Ketchikan Chronicle for the ultimate establishment of like industries in southeastern Alaska.

Baker sees renewed hope for the pulp mill project at Wacker City, a short distance out of Ketchikan, by reason of the fact that the House of Representatives in Washington a few days ago passed an appropriation of about $3,000,000 for pulp mill access roads in Tongass National Forest. He also takes hope from the fact that market conditions are good and prospects are for shortages for some time to come.

As for aluminum, Baker says: "We can only hope that the way the world is using aluminum, Alaska will have to be used to some extent, no matter what Japan and Canada have to offer."

One Way Of Figuring

AN OLD-FASHIONED Hebrew employer demonstrated when one of his employees asked for a raise on the ground that he worked too hard. "Why," protested the employer, "you have an easy time of it. You do not work at all. Look! There are 365 days in a year. Eight hours each day you sleep. That makes 122 days, leaving 243 days. Eight hours of every day you have all for yourself. That leaves 121 days. I give you an hour for lunch every day and that amounts to 15 days more, leaving 106. You do not work on Sundays—52 more days off, leaving 54. You get Saturday afternoons off—another 26 days, leaving 28 days. You get two weeks for vacation every summer and you take off about a week for sickness. Only seven days a year to work—and New Year, Good Friday, May 24, July 1, Labor Day, Thanksgiving Day and Christmas are holidays. Besides you take Yom Kippur off. I should give you a raise? You owe me money!"

VICTORIA REPORT

... by J. K. Nesbitt

VICTORIA.—Officers of the British Columbia Liberal Association are convinced that Tory chieftain Herb Anscomb outmanoeuvred Liberal chieftain Byron Johnson when it came to announcing that the Coalition won't go to the people at the next general election as a Coalition.

Mr. Anscomb was the first one to make the announcement. The Liberal Association people feel such an announcement should have come from Premier Johnson, as indeed it should have.

Some observers say that the Premier should have immediately asked for Mr. Anscomb's resignation on the grounds that no cabinet minister should run around the country announcing major government policy without the Premier's permission. There's no indication that the Premier knew what Mr. Anscomb was going to say. And certainly announcing the end of Coalition in two years is major government policy.

LIBERALS ON DEFENSIVE

Liberal cabinet ministers are going on the defensive over hospital insurance. The big guns—the Premier, Attorney General Wismer, Education Minister Straith, Health and Welfare Minister Turnbull, Lands and Forests Minister E. T. Kenney—are going on province-wide tours in an effort to explain the necessity for increasing hospital insurance premiums.

The Conservative ministers don't feel the same necessity for some reason. Premier Johnson has said so often that he takes full responsibility for hospital insurance and will sink or swim with it that the Tories are quite willing to let him have his way—hoping, of course, he'll sink his Liberals with him at the next general election. Hospital insurance was the Premier's baby in the first place, so let him worry about raising it to a healthy adult. That's the way the Conservatives figure it even though they must bear their full share of the responsibility.

But you can see the way the wind blows when you look back to budget days and recall that Mr. Anscomb stood in his place in the House and gave facts and figures about hospital insurance and then said he doubted if the new increases would work unless Health and Welfare Minister Turnbull took a realistic view. That, in the opinion of many, was a most extraordinary statement—one cabinet minister doubting in public that another cabinet minister could make a success of his part of government policy.

ANSOMB ON MARCH

Whatever way you look at it, Mr. Anscomb is on the march. He is rallying his Conservatives in all parts of the province. If he falls in that (and he will) the Conservatives will be the Opposition for four years—and then, as oppositions usually do, they'll most likely become the government. That won't be until 1957. It's a long-range view and a gamble whatever way you look at it, but Mr. Anscomb is

Finns Are Anxious

HELSINKI — Finns foresee a possible tightening of Soviet influence over their little "western" democracy situated at the gateway to northern Russia.

They express apprehension that a change in the Soviet minister here, announced April 8, might indicate a "get tough" policy on the part of Russia, whose press has been firing broadsides at the Agrarian-led Finnish coalition Cabinet.

Observers pointed to the fact that Lt. Gen. Grigori Mikhailovich Savonenkov, the minister, "relieved of his duties" by the Kremlin, was generally regarded here as a moderate. He headed the Allied Control Commission here before being appointed head of the Russian diplomatic mission.

The observers said the newly appointed minister, Viktor Zakharovich Lebedev, was "a different type." Mr. Lebedev is a graduate of Moscow University, was previously Soviet Ambassador to Poland.

According to reports here Mr. Lebedev played a leading part in hitching Poland's economy firmly to Russia's and paved the way for the appointment in November, 1949, of a Russian—Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky—as Polish Defense Minister and chief of the armed forces.

quite correct in his campaign if ever he's to get the Tory party back into power.

Politically speaking, the next two years are going to be very interesting.

LIBERAL CONVENTION

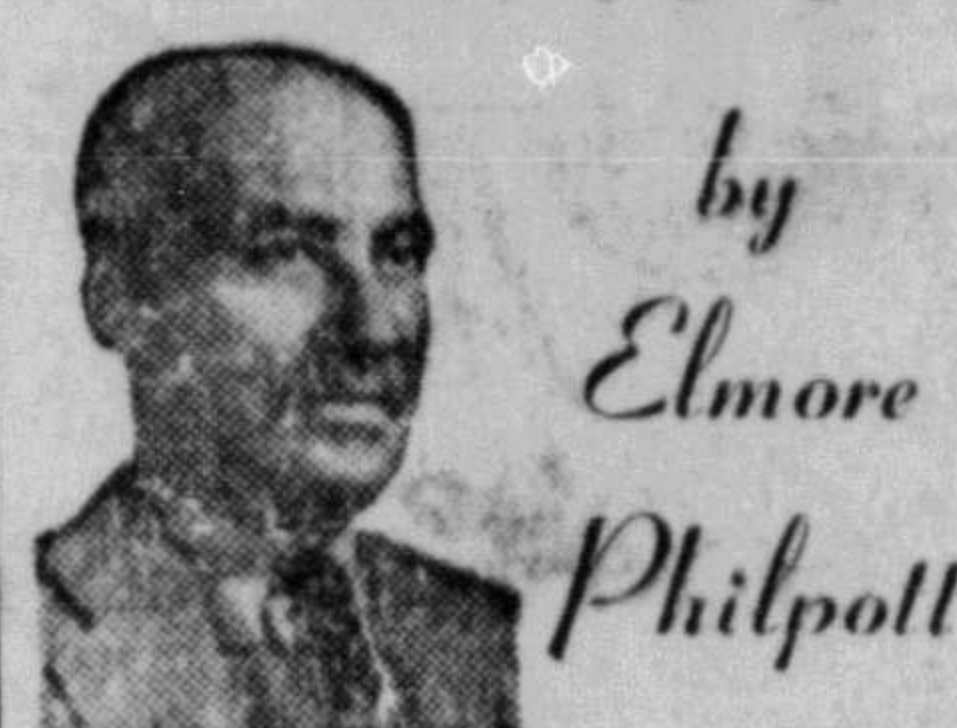

It could well be that the Liberals may call a convention within a few months. There's a stirring to this end throughout the province. If President H. G. T. Perry, now living in Victoria, receives 10 official requests he must call a convention.

Such a convention, it is believed, would re-endorse Premier Johnson as leader but insist that Liberals get out of Coalition right away, so in two years it would be a Liberal government that will appeal for re-election.

COMPLICATIONS

The situation is complicated, filled with intrigues, but people who love politics can think and talk of nothing else these days. There are so many possibilities and probabilities, so many hypothetical answers to hypothetical questions, so many impossible predicaments in which both Liberals and Conservatives are finding themselves.

As I See It

ISRAEL'S 1951 ARMY

TEL AVIV, ISRAEL.—If you travel quickly over the whole state of Israel, as I did in the past few days, you cannot help but be impressed by the size, efficiency and alertness of the army.

Actually, Israel has an army, navy and air force, but it was the army of which I saw most, for I saw the army on training operations, even in the middle of the night when I arrived at Lydda, from Pakistan.

OF COURSE, YOU DO NOT ask questions about military matters in Israel—for this little land is very definitely on a sentry-go basis. Yet you read that on the full-scale manoeuvres a few months ago, Israel had 75,000 troops actually in the field.

There is universal conscription in Israel. Both boys and girls must serve for two years from age 18. Up till now, girls have not served (officially) in combat units, and theoretically are not liable for service nearer the front than divisional headquarters. But as all the world knows, or should know, girls fought with the men in the actual war of 1948. In fact, men, women and children fought in the pioneer settlements, just as they used to in America in the old days of the "Wild West."

Also, up till now, any girl could claim exemption from military or national conscript service on religious grounds. It seems to me tremendously significant that, although Israel's parliament is just winding up its business before the general election of early July, they are rushing through a bill to end this exemption. That is, despite the objections of the conservative religious groups, the majority parties are saying in effect, "every fit person must stand ready to help defend our land."

THE ISRAELI ARMY WEARS British style uniforms. Believe it or not, it's more blond than dark! Time after time, I had to pinch myself to make sure that I was NOT looking at just another British army.

It is a fact that the Jews of Israel, and certainly the army of Israel, does not look so "Jewish looking" as we imagine that groups of Jews look in our own lands. Some wise or witty fellow explained this to me as follows: "Most of the Jewish people in Western lands look pretty much like everybody else. But some are clearly recognizable as Jews. Hence, everybody assumes that all Jews look different. Here you know that this is not so."

Whether the above theory is sound or not, I do not know. I do know that the men, and especially younger officers, look so darn British that I feel a sharp, sudden pang of sorrow that they are NOT now a part of the Commonwealth.

Had we had wiser leaders, realistic enough and honest enough to stand like a rock on the Balfour Declaration we would never have lost what should have been "The Seventh Dominion," and we would have had a firm and even fanatically fervent friend where right now we need friends.

CONTRARY TO ALL THE silly talk that preceded the actual war of 1948, that followed the proclamation of the sovereign state of Israel, British military leaders were never surprised at the outcome. As I reported in my own column before the event (not after), British generals knew the quality of the comparative armies.

The Israel army of 1948 was a find it.

City Police Court Having Busiest Month on Record

City police court is experiencing the busiest month on record. April has still almost a week to go but there have already been 256 cases before Magistrate W. D. Vance. The previous high record was 252 cases in a month during the latter part of the war. The large number of traffic prosecutions, since the city council needed the police a few weeks ago, have caused the increase.

Presbyterian
Men Hear Story

Armine Boas, sanitarian of the Prince Rupert Public Health Unit, was the speaker at a meeting of the First Presbyterian Church Men's Club Monday night, telling of his experiences as a medical sergeant with the Royal Canadian Air Forces in northern Newfoundland during the war. About thirty members of the club heard Mr. Boas who was introduced by George Mitchell and thanked by Fred Conrad. President Bob Eby was in the chair. The Men's Club decided to take over sponsorship of the Cub Pack of First Presbyterian Church.

Yacht Race
Coming up

Prince Rupert will be the finishing point for one of two major motor boat races in June. Originating in Juneau, Alaska, and Bremerton, Washington, the annual Capital-to-Capital race starts at Bremerton, June 16. The finish line for the Bremerton-Prince Rupert leg of the race will be the extension of the oil wharf at Prince Rupert. The finish at Prince Rupert is set at 1 p.m. (PST), June 20, with the finish at Juneau calculated for 1 p.m. (PST), June 23. This year an earlier finish time at Prince Rupert is set for the first leg of the race. "Lay-over" time is granted to each contestant; Bremerton to Prince Rupert is 24 hours, Prince Rupert to Juneau is 12 hours. For the first part of the race cruisers may come by Seymour Narrows or Yucella Rapids, and the last leg of the race via Zinovia or Eastern Passage. Trophies will be given for each of the two legs.

P.T. Council
In Session

Prince Rupert Parent Teacher Council, at its monthly meeting last evening, received various reports and also heard the president, Mrs. E. Mortimer, preview the items to be considered in preparation for the May meeting at which the election of officers for the ensuing year takes place. Reports showing that the organization is functioning actively and progressively. Greeted with favorable comment was the report on the provincial annual convention by Mrs. J. Bowman. This report had already been presented at the different Parent-Teacher Associations and each had been stimulated by the inspiration that the delegate had passed on. The increasing volume of work to be done at the headquarters in Vancouver has now grown beyond the capacity of volunteer workers and a paid staff will be necessary. This may result in an increase in the annual fee. As a result of the representation of the Safety Committee, a sidewalk at Hays Cove Circle is being built. Traffic zone signs have been erected on Fraser Street below the northern approach to Borden Street School. Congratulations were extended to Mrs. H. Lindseth who had been given a certificate on successfully completing the course in leadership. The treasurer's report showed a satisfactory bank balance and a donation was voted to the Civic Centre Association. Mrs. Greisal reported that she had obtained billets for nine contestants in the Music and Drama Festival. A nominating committee of Mrs. Flood, Mrs. Dominato, Mrs. Mark and Mrs. J. Denning was named. Mrs. R. E. Mortimer presided, and others present were Mrs. John Denning, Mrs. H. Lindseth, Mrs. F. Mark, Mrs. K. Hardy, Mrs. J. Lowman and G. Freeman, T. G. Bateman, W. D. Griffiths and J. S. Wilson.

Ulster Eyes World Trade

BELFAST, Northern Ireland.—Col. S. G. Haughton, president of the Belfast Chamber of Commerce, has launched a fund to link Northern Ireland with the British trade promotion centres in New York and Toronto.

Colonel Haughton, who has just returned from a 10-week visit to the United States and Canada, said he was impressed by the success of the Scottish Council in attracting new industries to Scotland by working through the centres.

He had followed their example by forming committees of men interested in Ulster affairs to advance Northern Ireland's interests in New York, Philadelphia, Chicago, Toronto, and Montreal.

"I am certain that Northern Ireland's link with the two centres will lead to a development in reciprocal trade with America and Canada," he told the chamber.

Finds Wartime Camaraderie Still Prevails in Old Land

Friendliness and consideration one for the other which people of the Old Country developed under the stress and sufferings of the war are qualities which have projected themselves into the post-war period and are undoubtedly contributory factors toward the fortitude and understanding with which the people bear shortages and restrictions which no other nation in the world might tolerate.

So feels James Nicoll, local immigration officer, who has returned to the city after a trip to his native Scotland.

"Pitiful" is the way Mr. Nicoll describes the war casualties among the civilian population which are still so evident in the Old Country. They seem particularly numerous among the young people due to the bombings by the Luftwaffe.

Mr. Nicoll's visit was confined largely to the centre of Scotland but he saw again many of the old historic points including Edinburgh Castle, Holyrood Castle, Linlithgow Palace and Stirling Castle.

W. J. Scott, president of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central British Columbia, is leaving by car tomorrow afternoon for a brief trip to Terrace to confer with Duncan Kerr, secretary of the Associated Boards.

Have Baby, Get House

RICHMOND, Surrey, England.—Britain's housing shortage is resulting in a sort of "baby race," Councillor F. W. Pengilly told Richmond council.

To qualify for a house or flat, couples seem to concentrate on having the greatest number of children in the shortest possible time, said the councillor.

Pengilly said he has personal knowledge of such cases. For instance, one couple who married three years ago admitted they deliberately had children in the hope of improving their accommodation.

Another couple, living in one room with two children, was told by the authorities there would be a greater chance of a house if there were three children. They obliged—and called again at the council offices the day after the third child was born.

Pengilly warned that "each child rates only one point under the priority system for housing. It's much simpler to get housing priority points on things like overcrowding, war service, or separation."

Solicitors for the defendant are McLeod and Ray.

As if for diversion, many people in Scotland seemed to be more interested for the time in the fate of the Stone of Scone (removed from Westminster Abbey at Christmas and found a few days ago at Arbroath Abbey in Scotland) than in war and rumors of war and economic conditions.

An amusing incident occurred in Glasgow. The Lord Provost of Glasgow had expressed disgust at Scotsmen (they were suspected) stealing the stone. The next morning a big stone was found in front of his house.

NATIONALIST SCOTLAND
"There seems to be a strong renewal of nationalist feeling in Scotland," Mr. Nicoll reports. There is much talk of setting up a separate provisional government—and they seem to have some good arguments too.

Like many of the industrial cities of the world, Glasgow is suffering a power shortage. With no electric signs and curtailment of street lighting, it is reminiscent of the dark days of the war.

Rationing and shortages are still patiently borne, Mr. Nicoll found. They even line up for horsemeat but few people will admit they eat it for their dogs, some will say.

Canadians have much to be thankful for Mr. Nicoll feels, even though they may have to accept controls on account of the requirements of defence and possible war.

It was a "wonderful education," said Mr. Nicoll, to fly across Canada and see the vastness of the open country, spec-

My friend Mr. Champion plays his cards so well that he can afford to bid very aggressively. The trouble is that he bids just as aggressively when his partner is going to play the hand. When his partner is Mr. Muzzy, that can be bad.

The bidding:

1 C Pass 1 NT Pass

Mr. Dale opened the deuce of hearts against Mr. Muzzy's three no trump bid. Dummy played the five, Mr. Masters the ten and Mr. Muzzy held up playing the four.

Now Mr. Masters didn't blindly "return partner's lead." He thought first—a neglected but commendable practice. The opening lead of the deuce told him something that Mr. Muzzy had missed—that Mr. Dale had exactly four hearts. The dummy looked very forbidding. It seemed that a diamond shift would best the hand or nothing would. So, at trick two, Mr. Masters led the three of diamonds.

Mr. Muzzy was in a quandary. On how many suits can you afford to hold up? He played the deuce of diamonds and permitted Mr. Dale's nine to hold the trick. Mr. Dale continued with the jack of diamonds, and Mr. Muzzy ducked this also. For a moment, Mr. Dale had visions of winning all the tricks. He shifted to the eight of hearts and Mr. Masters' queen covered dummy's jack. Mr. Muzzy couldn't keep on giving the opponents tricks forever, so he won with the ace and tried the club finesse. When this lost, Mr. Masters and Mr. Dale took two more heart tricks for down two.

Cleaned up considerably, what Mr. Champion said was something like this: "When you have reason to fear another suit, you shouldn't hold up. Diamonds were just as dangerous as hearts. Besides, the opening lead indicated each of the opponents had just four hearts."

"What you should have done was to take the first trick and finesse clubs at once. If the finesse worked, you would take ten tricks. If it failed you would lose one club and almost surely only three heart tricks, still making your contract."

"It is all right to know how to make a certain play, but it is more important to know when to make it."

Good Catchers Help to Make Great Pitchers—Mickey Owen

LOS ANGELES—As a long-established major league catcher, Mickey Owen has a profound respect for the men who throw to him. Mickey almost believes a catcher's best friend is his pitcher.

Like more young, inexperienced catchers have been looked good by the veteran catcher, Owen has a profound respect for the men who throw to him. Mickey almost believes a catcher's best friend is his pitcher.

"I have found that when I call time and go out to talk to a pitcher, the less I say to him the better. Usually I try to take his mind off of what he is concentrating on. I might tell him that if a ball is hit back at him, he is to make the play at such and such a base. That gets his thinking out of the groove into which his concentration on the hitter has shaped it. Another thing, I usually try to encourage pitchers. I have found that way is a whole lot more effective than bawling him out.

"The only time I get on a pitcher is when he shifts the blame to one of his fielders. Once in a while a pitcher will make an obvious shrug toward an infielder who has just made an error. When I see that," Owen retorted, "I get out there fast and really give it to the pitcher. And you know, I've never had a pitcher who pulled something like that come back at me for the bawling out I gave him."

DIZZY DEAN
"If he is smart, a pitcher can help himself an awful lot with his teammates. I remember when Dizzy Dean was with the Cardinals. Diz' wasn't very well educated, but he was awfully smart. Every time it was his turn to pitch he'd get the whole team around him and make the same little speech. 'Boys,' he'd say, 'Ole Diz is pitching today. That means we're gonna get a lot of runs and hits.'

"Diz told that to the Cardinal ball players so often they actually got so they believed they hit better when he was pitching," Mickey laughed. "He won a lot of 10-6 ball games that way."

"Another thing. Whenever anyone made a particularly fine fielding play behind him, Diz' used to call time. He'd hold up the game just to go over and shake the infielder's hand or put his arm around his shoulders to show the crowd what great support he was getting. What effect do you think that had on the infielder? The next time a ball was hit in his direction, the fellow likely would have divvied through a wall just to save Ole Diz' game."

JACK WILSON.

Record Set By Globe Trotters

SAN DIEGO, California—The crowd was loose and the crowd was as big as the Harlem Globetrotters, well known in Prince Rupert, slipped and slid to a victory over the College Stars in the Rose Bowl's basketball game.

The Trotters gave the College Stars a 7-0 lead in a 19-game cross-country tour. The crowd of 10,000 was believed to be the largest ever to attend a cage basketball game.

Goose Tatum was a standout both in the laugh department and on the score-sheet. He scored 24 points, and his half the winning team's total. A dew-dampened court lent zip to his antics and for a while all the players were slowed by skidding falls. Eventually they became accustomed to the poor playing conditions and used the court like a skating rink.

FOREIGN INFLUX
The number of foreign workers absorbed in British industries in 1948 and 1949 was about 180,000.

RETURN—Lethbridge Maple Leafs, who won the world hockey championship in 1948, returned to Canada last week aboard the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of France. They are shown here as the ship pulled into Montreal harbor. The World Hockey Trophy and the Churchill Cup, won in England, are displayed in front of the team. Led by 31-year-old Harry Gray, manager and playing captain, they toured the Continent and Britain, piling up victories in 55 games. Left to right, front row, are: Bill Gibson, Don McLean, Bill Chandler, Hughes, Nap Milroy, Karl Sorokoski and Bert Bibbs. Back row, Tom Wood, Dick Gray, Rimstead, Lew Siray, Hee Negrello, Don Vogan, Stan Obodiac and Nicky Roth. (CP PHOTO)

The Sport Letterbox

THANKS, JOE WARD!
Editor, Daily News:
Sports enthusiasts particularly, but all citizens generally, must be gratified at the fine record made by the four boxers from the city who made such a good showing at the Golden Gloves tournament just concluded in Vancouver. Congratulations are in order to each of the four and especially to the two who won their championships. Their efforts bring credit to themselves and to the community.

The successes were due to various factors. There must have been a keen interest in the "manly art." There must have been determination and confidence; and there must have been sacrifices. They must have done without many things; they must have given up much time to train and to condition themselves for the competitions. All credit to each of them.

But I know that the boxers themselves will be the first to admit that there was someone else who deserves recognition. He is Joe Ward, the quiet, unassuming coach and trainer. Joe has given a lot of time for weeks and weeks to train the lads. He has the skill and knowledge, he can impart it to the lads and he has the patience to persevere and develop their skills. It must be a source of joy to him to have the boys do so well. And it is surely the least that we can do to pay tribute to the coach who has brought the boys along to that pitch where they can win provincial championships. To bring two championships home with four contestants is a worthy record.

Good sportsmanship, good physical condition, good training make good athletes, but even more they build up good citizens and therefore a good community. To Joe Ward and his boxers go our sincere congratulations and a thank you from the whole community.

SPORT SHOTS

Charlie Gardiner, then with the Winnipeg team of the American Hockey Association, was signed by Chicago Black Hawks 24 years ago. The Scottish-born Gardiner was a stand-out goalie with the Hawks until his death in June, 1934, two months after helping Chicago to win the Stanley Cup for the first time.

Joe Jacobs, popular boxing manager and promoter, died 11 years ago Tuesday after a heart attack. At the time he was managing Tony Galento but had been better known as manager of Max Schmeling when the latter won the heavyweight title from Jack Sharkey in 1930.

Bill Quackenbush, great defenceman of the Detroit Red Wings, two years ago was announced winner of the Lady Byng trophy. He was the first defenceman to win the National Hockey League award for the most sportsmanlike conduct combined with playing ability since its inception in 1925.

Terrace—
Chairmen for Civic Centre

TERRACE—Committee chairmen were appointed by President Darrell Collins at Friday night's meeting of the Civic Centre directorate which was held in the Civic Centre. These are:

Membership and Organization—B. R. Dodds.
Finance—D. Bain.
Building and Maintenance—J. MacKay.
Choral and Dramatics—P. Van Heck.

Choice of chairmen of the children's recreation committee and the athletics committee is pending until the principals of the High School and Elementary School can be approached to appoint representatives to the Directorate who may be interested in heading these two committees.

Revision of the constitution was brought up as President Collins felt that some of the clauses were not applicable to Terrace. The matter will be gone into thoroughly by the executive and brought before the next meeting.

MORE INTEREST
In order to increase the attendance at the monthly meetings, the members decided to ask the organizations to replace delegates who had missed more than two consecutive meetings.

Mr. Newoven, Columbia Cellulose delegate, felt that the directors would have a greater interest in the affairs of the centre if each one contributed personally to a loan to meet the present deficit. If they were willing to do this, he would start the loan with his contribution of $1,000. This was left for further discussion.

The weekly Friday night dances in the auditorium will be kept going and more publicity given to them. The orchestras, "Terrace Ramblers" and "Mell-O-Tones" will be hired for these dances on a fifty-fifty basis. Once a month, the dance will be for the teen-agers.

Nick Schmeling announced his program of coming events at the centre which includes:
May 4—Firemen's Ball.
May 10—Calgary Range Riders.
May 24—Kinsmen activities and dance.
July 1—Celebration.

Tide Lake Ore Proving Rich

STEWART.—Al Phillips, who has just returned from his Tide Lake property on the Upper Salmon River, reports he did 14 feet of drifting and that the ore still persists. He has just received smelter returns from the last shipment of 166 3/4 tons netting $4585. This compares well with former shipments.

Nothing definite has been decided about work on the property this year, the deterrent factor being the high cost of transportation, whether by plane or pack train.

Stewart is Indignant

STEWART.—Orders to close down the Atlin district office of the Department of Public Works were received here last week and all records and office personnel left for the divisional office at Prince Rupert on Monday.

The action of moving the district office outside the area is unprecedented in the history of British Columbia and an effort is being made to find out the reason.
Had it merely been a move from one part of the Atlin electoral district to another part, there might have been some reason out to move the district office outside the district is quite another thing. Liberal and Coalition Associations are indignant and are taking action to have the matter cleared up to their satisfaction. Meantime, it has taken place. First the sub-agency and mining recorder's office—now the Public Works district office.

Officers of Terrace Choir

TERRACE—The Civic Centre Choral Club held the annual meeting on the stage of the Civic Centre on Monday evening and officers for the coming season were elected. Harry Philip was re-elected president and Mrs. Van Heck was elected vice-president. The new secretary-treasurer is Mrs. D. Collins.

C. J. Norrington will continue as conductor with Mrs. Norrington as accompanist.

A music selection committee, headed by Mr. Norrington, was appointed, consisting of Mrs. Alice Campbell, David Hamilton, Oliver Baxter and Mrs. T. Fraser. These will choose the music for the next production, practices for which will begin early in the fall.

The group is interested in getting new members, particularly male singers of whom there are, at present, only six.

Terrace Coming To Drama Fest

TERRACE—A number of the Terrace elementary school children will participate in the vocal solo classes in the Prince Rupert Music and Drama Festival to be held next week.

They are: John Gillanders, Marilyn de Kergommeaux, Lynne Bjork, Gabrielle Tetreault, Diane Peters, Pat McLachlan and Judy Spicer.

Their accompanist will be Lorna Melvin who is also entering in the pianoforte solo class. The Civic Centre Drama Club expected to enter a play but this had to be cancelled.

TERRACE TOPICS

Miss Edith Little, R.N., of the nursing staff of the Prince Rupert Hospital, was in Terrace at the weekend to visit with her father, George Little.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Baker and children arrived by car on Sunday from Prince Rupert to spend a few days with Mr. Baker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Baker.

John Haaland has returned to Terrace from Winnipeg where he has spent the past two or three weeks.

Harry King received word by wire on Friday morning from Jack Maltman, organizer of the B.C. Liberal Association, of the coming to Terrace of Hon. A. D. Turnbull and a meeting has been arranged for Friday evening, May 25, in the I.O.O.F. Hall at which the Minister of Health and Welfare will be the speaker.

Clean-up week has started in Terrace in readiness for the summer season. The Columbia Cellulose is having a big job on hand cleaning up after the long winter and the extensive alterations that have been going on in the buildings there. Trees are being planted in the grounds and every effort is being made to beautify the surroundings.

Clouds gathered over Terrace on Tuesday after ten days of exceptionally fine sunny weather, with cold nights and frosty mornings. The snow has gone from the town and highway but there is still a lot lying in the woods out of town. Traffic is very heavy on Lakelse Avenue and, despite several applications of calcium chloride, there is still a certain amount of dust flying.

Local collections to date for the Conquer Cancer Campaign amount to $238.60.

Anniversary of Stewart Lodge

STEWART—Celebrating the 12th anniversary of their inauguration, Portland Canal Women of the Moose held open house on Thursday in the Moose Home. Including members of Moose Lodge and guests there was 57 present to enjoy the entertainment and excellent report provided by the home-making committee under the capable direction of Miss Violet Manojlovich.

Several tables of whist were played, winners being: Ladies' first, Mrs. Marie Burnett; consolation, Mrs. Louise Hutchings. Men's first, Al Phillips; consolation, Nick Gillof.

An amusing ankle competition ended in a draw for first prize between Mrs. Catherine McLeod and Mrs. Louise Hutchings, the former winning on a cut of the cards.

Miss Violet Manojlovich, who left the district on Monday, was presented with a silver spoon with the Moose crest engraved on it and a beautiful bouquet of roses. A very active member of the chapter, she will be missed.

It was recalled by Recorder Hazel Tooth that nine charter members are still active.

The evening was a very enjoyable one.

Commonwealth Navy Ends Its Manoeuvres

MELBOURNE—Ships from the Navies of Canada, Australia, Britain, New Zealand and Pakistan recently ended the longest and most realistic maneuvers ever held in peacetime in Australian waters.

The ships dispersed for visits to Australian ports after the commonwealth fleet maneuvers off the New South Wales Coast.

The maneuvers ended with a spectacular display of six-inch gun firing by the Canadian cruiser Ontario.

Miss Churchill
On Screen Here

Red-haired, green-eyed Sarah Churchill, actress daughter of Britain's famous war-time Prime Minister, makes her debut in the Technicolor musical, "Royal Wedding," coming to the Totem Theatre here this Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

The picture tells the story of a Broadway singing-dancing team who repeat their stage triumphs in London and who encounter respective romances there. Jane Powell, distaff member of the team, falls in love with an English lord, played by Peter Lawford, while Fred Astaire loses his heart to Miss Churchill. Most of the action takes place against scenes of London during a royal wedding celebration.

Miss Churchill first became interested in the theatre through her study of ballet dancing. With the outbreak of World War II she enlisted in the Women's Auxiliary Air Force, serving through the period of 1941-45. At the cessation of hostilities she resumed her theatrical career and for the next five years appeared in plays in England, France and Italy. In addition, she acted in a number of English motion pictures as well as in two filmed in Italy.

Miss Churchill is married to the well-known British photographer, Anthony Beauchamp, who accompanied his wife to the coast, where they occupied the Santa Monica beach house of Ben Lyon and Bebe Daniels during filming of "Royal Wedding."
