Cleveland Lead Cut

Cleveland — The Yankees defeated Washington Senators for the third time, 5 to 3, picked up a 1 1/2 game lead over the St. Louis Browns. Tommy Byrne, southpaw, pitched and drove in all of his team's runs.

PIONEER PRIVILEGE—Only unshaven man on passing-out parade of the first N.C.O. school in Korea was Pte. Fred Lobb, right, of Winchester, Ont. Pte. Lobb used his traditional privilege as a pioneer—he is a member of the pioneer platoon, 2nd Battalion, RCR—to wear a beard. Inspection of the parade was made by Brig. J. M. Rockingham, left. Casualty lists later reported that Pte. Lobb had been wounded. (CP from National Defence)

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Yankees Thursday reduced the Cleveland Indians' first place lead to 1 1/2 games and they thank a discarded team-mate, southpaw Tommy Byrne, for their victory.

NEW YORK (CP)—Another record for spectators for a single game will be set when the forthcoming world series is televised to coast for the first time. At 60,000,000 to 70,000,000 watch the baseball classic. Opening of the Bell Telephone Company's $40,000,000 transcontinental microwave relay to television September 30 will clear way for the series, starting ten days later, to have the best video audience yet.

Toronto Woman Swims Channel

Mrs. Leuszler Wins $500 in Race From Cap Griz Nez To Dover
DOVER (CP)—A Toronto housewife Thursday became the first Canadian woman ever to swim the English Channel when she finished second in a £7000 Daily Mail race.

Winnie Roach Leuszler, 25-year-old mother of three children, survived the chilling waters and a backbreaking pace to cross the 21 miles from Cap Griz Nez, France, to the Dover beaches in 13 hours and 45 minutes.

Mrs. Leuszler will receive $500 second prize for women.
A field of 20 swimmers—13 men and seven women—took part in the gruelling race.
Hassan Hammad, 34-year-old Egyptian, won the men's first prize of £1000 by finishing only one minute ahead of Roger le Morvan of France. Hammad clambered ashore at Shakespear Cliff after 12 hours and 12 minutes in the water.

Rain-Making Plane Arrives

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Rock-cliffe ice Wagon, National Research experimental plane carrying four top-flight Canadian scientists, arrived here today to make a rain-making experiment.
They will "seed" the clouds with dry ice if clouds of the right type can be found and try to bring relief to the dried-out Lower Mainland.

No Report on Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—A Senate committee, inquiring into the ouster of General Douglas MacArthur, voted 20 to 3 today against making any report on its two months of hearings.
Majority feeling was that any report now on the firing of MacArthur would only "revive bitter controversy at a critical period in Korean peace talks."
Individual members of the committee will be permitted to express their views.

Princess Ship Having Trouble

VICTORIA — On account of mechanical trouble, the veteran Canadian Pacific steamer Princess Maquinna has had to cancel a sailing for the West Coast of Vancouver Island.

QCA and Central B.C. Airways Prepared to Share Alcan Business
VANCOUVER (CP)—Two main feeder air lines—Queen Charlotte Air Lines and Central B.C. Airways—competitors for the Aluminum Co. of Canada project's air transport business, have agreed to share the traffic.

Each has applied to the Air Transport Board for permission to begin new and extend present services into the Alcan area and opposed applications of one another.
However, a spokesman for both announced at board hearings here that they have reached agreement.
If the board approves, they will service Kitimat, Kemano and other Alcan points.

Satisfied With Japanese Pact

OTTAWA—Hon. L. B. Pearson, minister of external affairs, said last night that he is reasonably satisfied with the United States-British draft of the Japanese peace treaty. Canada has proposed no changes.
Mr. Pearson will head the delegation to San Francisco next month with Herbert Norman as his chief adviser.

New Cease Fire Hope

MUNSAN (CP)—There were no new developments today at the Korean cease-fire talks but it was hoped that, as a result of the deliberations of a sub-committee, agreement might be reached on the buffer zone issue.
As the four-man sub-committee met again today to tackle the buffer zone deadlock, official indications were that the Communists are ready to compromise.
When the committee members adjourned Thursday, United Nations and Communist delegates posed together for the first time. Major General Harry Hodges of the United States put his arm around Major General Lee Sang Cho of North Korea.
The other two delegates also appeared to be in good spirits.
It was a complete reversal of cold formality which featured previous meetings.

Another Alaska Plane Lost

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (CP)—Another plane is missing today in Alaska—the fourth in less than a month.
A plane, flown by the bush pilot, Glen Hudson, failed to return from a flight Wednesday to a lake near Dead Man Mountain, 170 miles northeast of here. Among three passengers was a ten-year-old boy.
Names have not been disclosed.

Towed to Sea By Huge Tuna

TRURO, Mass.—A fisherman hooked a tuna and the tuna was strong enough to tow him and his boat out to sea. The fisherman, Alfred Darmetko, finally cut the line and lost the tuna. He was finally sighted by a coast guard plane and given aid in returning home because his motor failed to run.

Ziemiński, who has been serving in Winnipeg, made the announcement to the Canadian Press.
During the last two years several members of the Polish legations and other Russian-dominated missions have taken similar action.

McGugan is Liquor Czar

VICTORIA (CP)—Col. Dcn McGugan was today appointed chairman of the British Columbia Liquor Control Board by the provincial cabinet, succeeding the late W. F. Kennedy, who died a few days ago.
McGugan, who has been with the board 29 years, in recent years was supervisor of law enforcement and in charge of the liquor warehouse.

Anscomb Does Not Run Me, Pooley Informs Convention

VICTORIA (CP)—Mayor Percy George of Victoria has been elected Coalition candidate for the Esquimalt by-election—with one explosive dissension. He was elected at a joint meeting of Liberal and Progressive-Conservative bodies.
The dissenter was the former Conservative Attorney General who demanded that nominations be taken from the floor. He declared: "The whole proceedings are out of order."
Mr. Pooley said: "Mr. Anscomb does not run me and I want to name another candidate."
His motion was defeated by a large majority.

Should Get Some Grain

THERE is a place for at least one million and a quarter bushels of Canada's record wheat crop of 580 million bushels, the disposal of which is already causing a headache because both storage and shipping facilities are already taxed even with last year's crop still unmoved. That is the capacity of Prince Rupert's elevator which some of the authorities may think about although it has, apparently, been a forgotten plant for so many years.

Of course, we would like to see our elevator, and think it should be, used for something more than a mere storage bin for Canada's grain when there is no other place to put it.

But, seeing they are so short of space, it is reasonable to suppose that some of the grain will roll this way. If not, we will be thinking that there is something rotten in the grain business.

In fact, Prince Rupert's elevator should be about due for its decennial filling of grain.

Army Calls Again

A NOUNCEMENT is made elsewhere in the Daily News today of the impending 1951 Red Shield Appeal of the Salvation Army which is set for September 4 to 25.

Once again, we have no hesitation, in fact we are very anxious to do so, in commending the Army's campaign to the very generous support of all citizens who are inclined to support worthy causes.

It is not necessary for us to go over again in this column the many good works of the Army in season and out.

The Army, as is well known, reaches out to give a helping hand in places and to people not reached by other avenues. Its many good works are familiar enough not to require repetition here.

It is a couple of weeks yet before the campaign opens but it is not too early to put down the Red Shield appeal as a must for our support to the most generous extent possible.

Reflects and Reminisces

Rats plagued Prince Rupert 40 years ago. Of course, that far back, Vancouverites were unkind enough to say that rats were to be expected in that sort of town. Anyway, they swarmed, so it's nothing new today. Most of the supply of poison in the new city was exhausted before it could be said the pests were about exterminated. Yet it was worth the effort. And it's worth it today, speedily and effectively.

Daylight Saving for 1951 will conclude on Sunday, September 30. By this time, having become used to nearly all kinds of changes and attempts at saving (even money), who cares!

PRESTIGE, OF COURSE!
It is said there are no fewer than 25,000 chauffeurs for official cars in Washington. That's about twice the population of Prince Rupert. This defence business is becoming costly. Especially when one learns that the swank government cars are often seen parked outside cocktail lounges, night clubs and smart departmental stores.

NOT SO SIMPLE

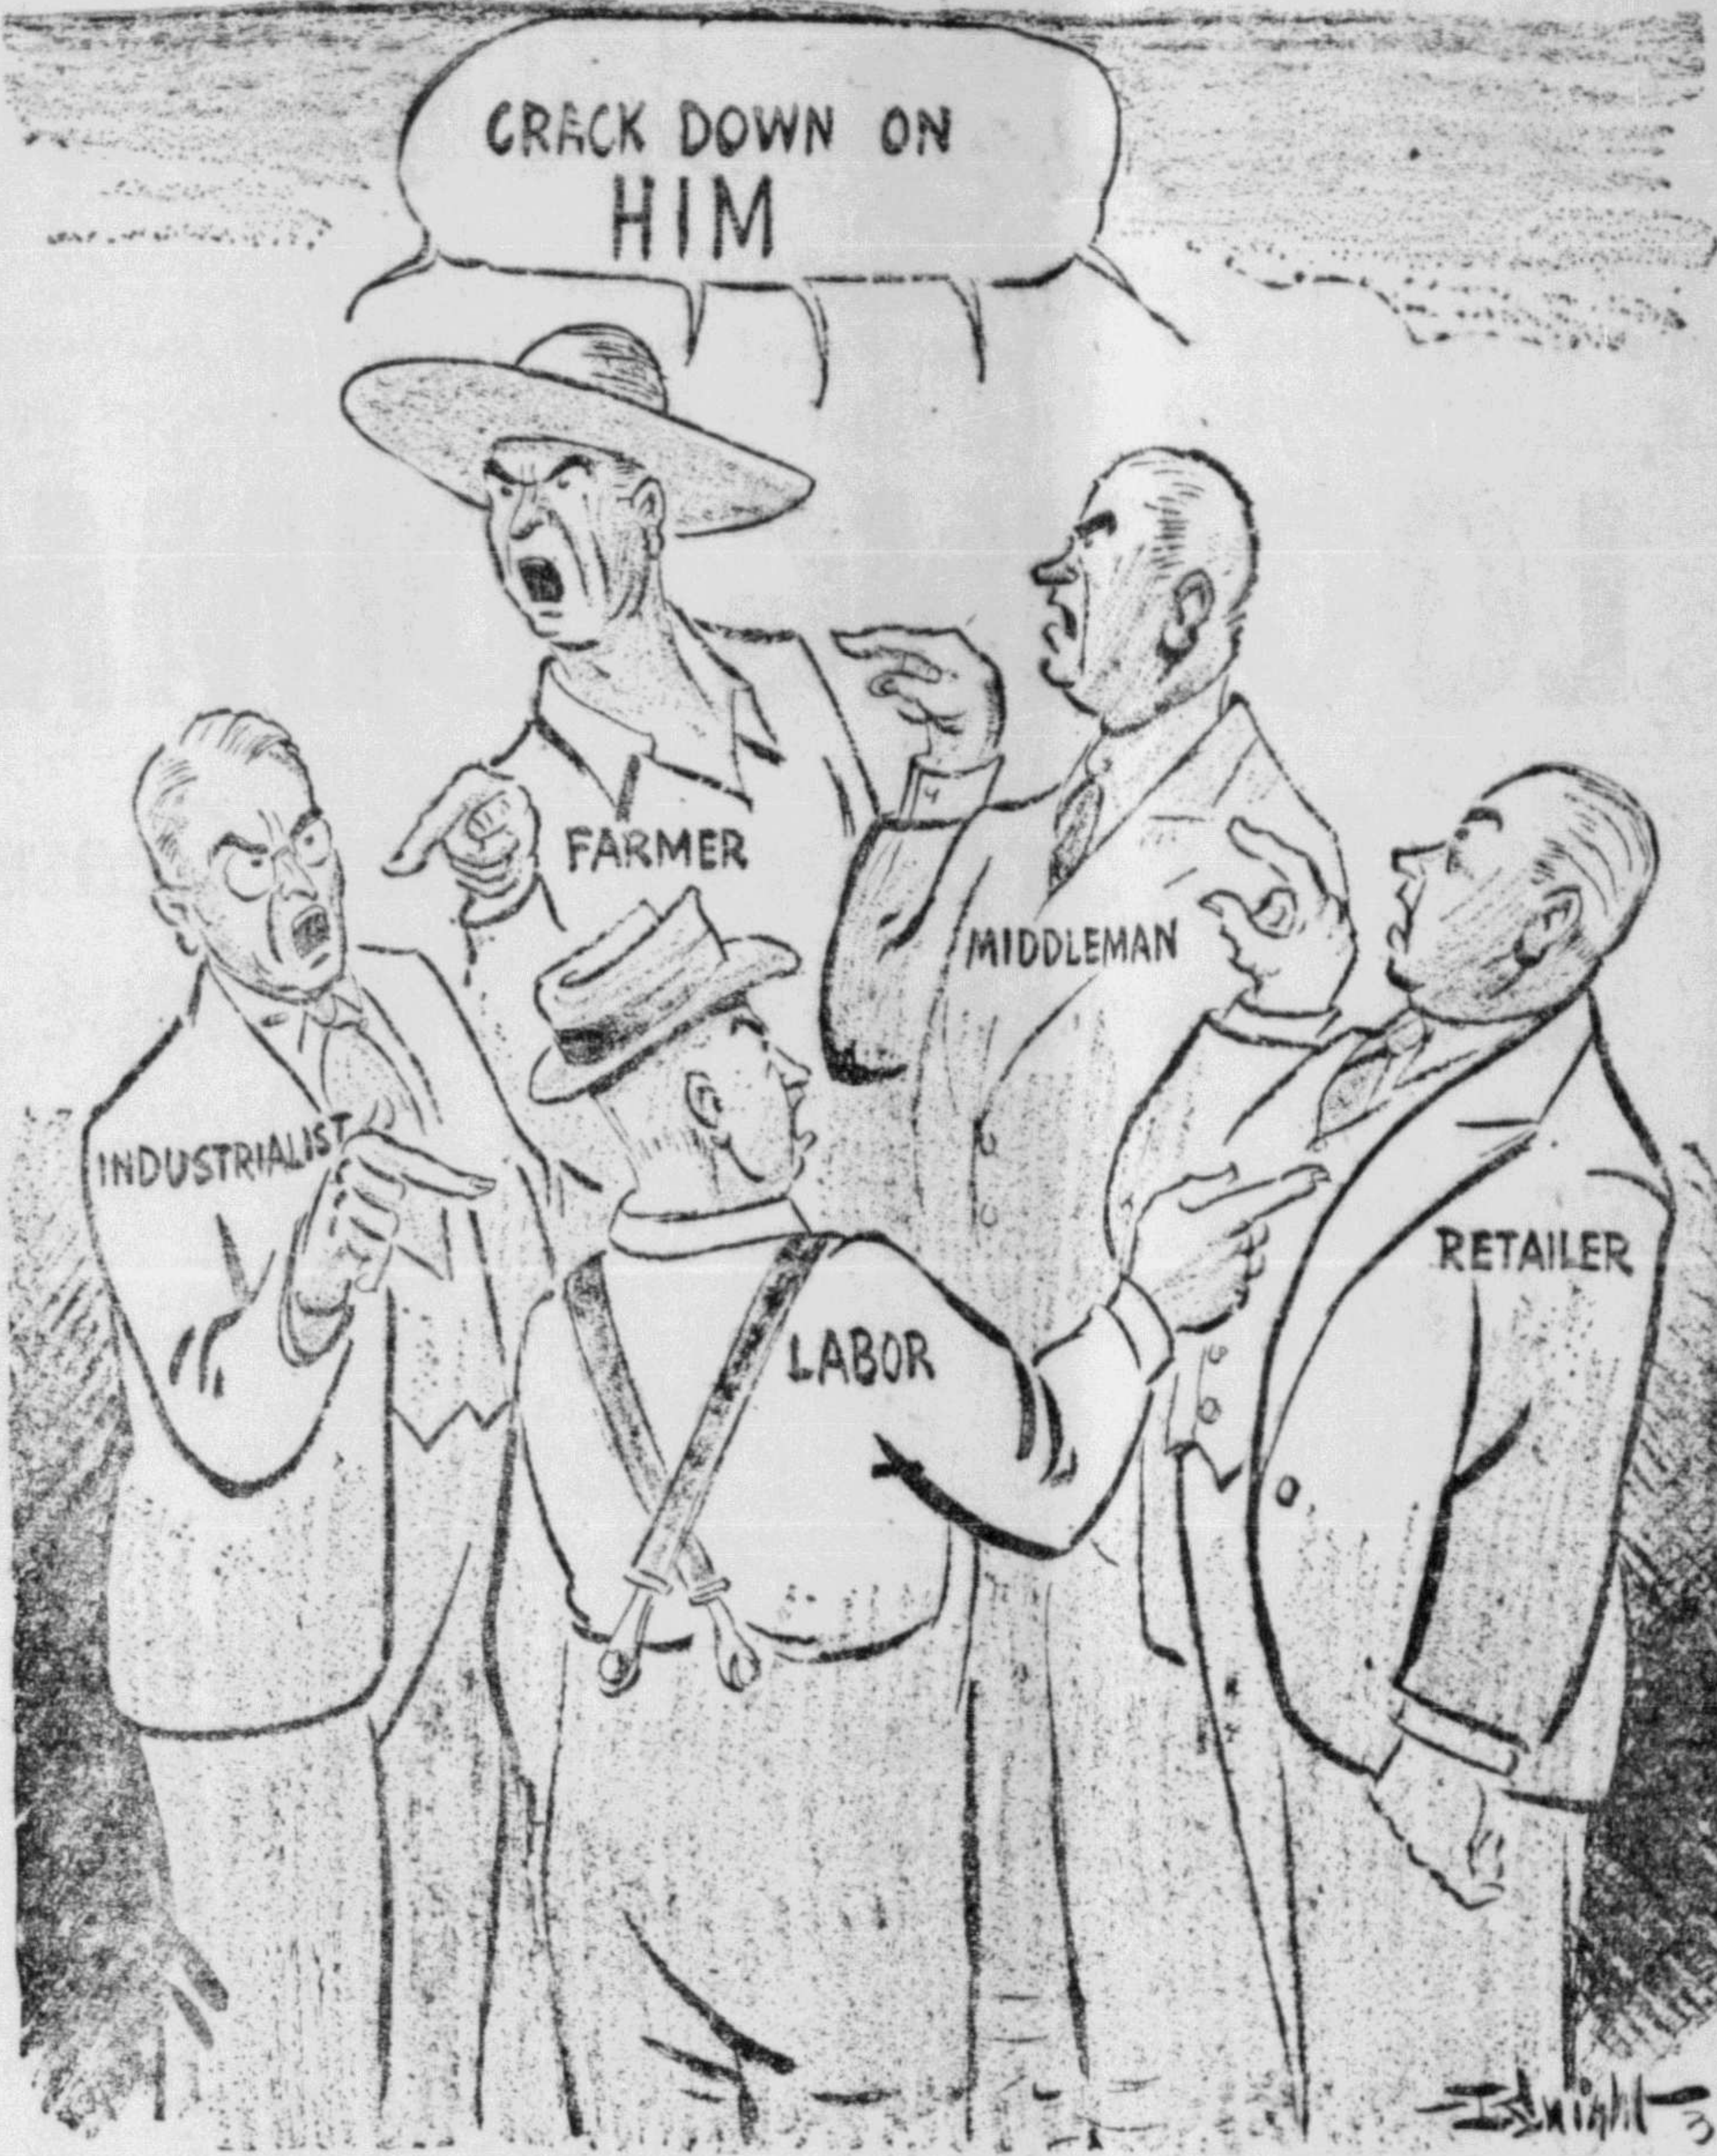

If someone walked up to you and asked, "How old are you?" it would be no trouble to give him an answer, comments the Edmonton Journal. But, if he asked you to prove your age, where would you stand? It isn't as easy as it seems. At least it isn't so easy when the proof has to satisfy the government.

A fellow the people call Billy Wallace may wed a British Princess, according to gossip writers. The advance of democracy could be more distressing. It might be "Willie."

Advice from Ontario says an abundant crop of raspberries is looked for. We were smacking through a dish of Kalen Island raspberries and cream a month ago as well as wondering what the chances were for a second helping. Strawberry shortcake was also fine, although scarce.

THIS WAY FOR ROOM

It is estimated the wheat crop this fall will have a billion dollars value. Huge quantities of last season's grain still remain in storage. Scores of references to Prince Rupert's empty elevator have been made—year after year—in print, by word of mouth, and in correspondence. What's the use?

Canadian National Railways Conundrum

By PAGE RIDEOUT

The Canadian National Railways organization has 33,046 miles of line spread over ten provinces and 11 states of the Union. Its four main terminals are at Halifax, Montreal, Chicago and Vancouver. The CN main route is from Montreal to Halifax, from Montreal to Vancouver, and from Montreal to Chicago.

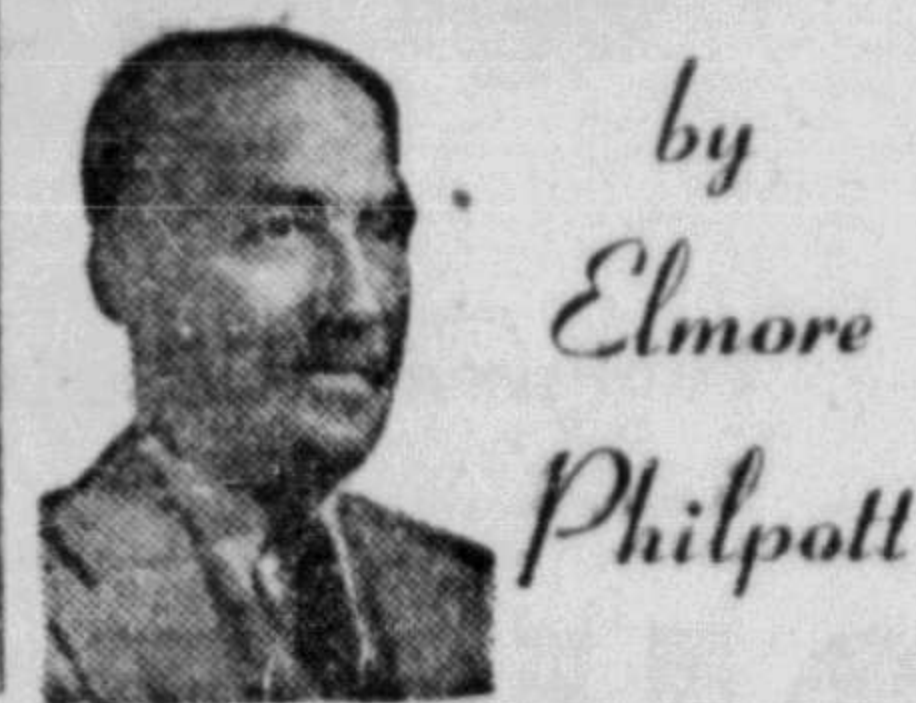

The policy of the CNR seems to be the four terminals and their main routes referred to constitutes the major proposition of their system, hence the towns, cities and districts off of and apart from those terminals and routes are not so fortunate as they would like to be.

By the old Canada Atlantic and Canadian Northern Railways falling into the lap of the CNR give them a direct line between a lake boat in Depot harbor on Georgian Bay, and an ocean freighter in the harbor of Quebec City. This route was capable of handling a world of traffic, and keep it out of Montreal but, as the line passed up Montreal some 40 miles to the north, this is what happened. They lifted the rails on the sections between Algoma Park and Two Rivers, Ottawa and Huxborough, Genville and Jerome, Rawdon Junction and Joliet. And it may be recalled they lifted those rails around the time the CNR was moving both heaven and earth to complete the new terminals in Montreal in order to break the bottleneck on Isle Royal where, if this route had been worked to capacity, there would not have been such a bottleneck created.

The Transcontinental Railway was designed by its promoters as a dispatch route between the grain centres on the Red River and Quebec City and the Atlantic seaports. If space permitted one could quote plenty of authority to prove the fact that if this route was worked to capacity there would not be so much talk of our seaways. Recalling the fact that the route was cut through the wilderness, let one consider Table 78 of the CN folder, and observe the number of passenger trains plying over this line between Quebec City and Cochrane. But there is a stop and one must turn to Table 79 where one finds two trains per day leaving Cochrane for the west but everything stops at Hearst. Here one is obliged to look up Table 177 where one finds that a freight train trailing a day coach, which was first-class many years ago, leaves Hearst for Nakina on Sunday and Thursday, which as can be seen brings everything to a standstill insofar as through traffic is concerned. Of course the capital question in the layman's mind is, "Why is this?" Well, he who can figure out what would happen at Fort William, Port Arthur and Montreal if the Transcontinental route was worked to its capacity has the answer to the layman's question. In discussion in the Railway Committee on June 27, 1940, it was revealed that there was applications before the Railway Commission for the abandoning of 501 miles of tracks. Thus the people between Hearst and Nakina were in wonderland as to their 144 miles of line being in the 501 miles of line to be torn up. Then J. A. Bradette, the member of Cochrane, appearing before the Railway Committee on July 16, 1940, said: "I refer to this fact be-

As I See It

Edmonton's Pops

EDMONTON—It was my lucky day when I landed in Edmonton for a brief stay. It gave me a chance to hear Edmonton's Pops Orchestra.

Not being a music critic, I would hesitate to express even a guess as to which Pops is Tops—how Edmonton's Pops concerts rate in expert ears in comparison with those in other great North American cities. But one thing strikes even a layman like myself:

Edmonton's Pops concerts are much more a product of the soil and people from which they spring than are those in most other cities I know.

That is, Edmonton is building up her music on a sounder and more solid basis than are some other Canadian big cities. They are working with what they have, right on the spot. And they are getting results which I believe will soon make all musical Canada sit up and take notice.

THEY HOLD their Pops concerts at the Livestock Sales Pavilion.

The hall itself is good for hearing, and I for one do not mind the tangy animal odor that is a reminder of the building's real function. However, as the CNR mainline to the east is just out the long WHO WHO of the locomotive whistle might be an upsetting note to perfectionists.

Edmonton Pops people are not perfectionists. But they are going out better music than is sold in many big cities where foolish people with more money than good taste insist on Celebrities, and Big Names—preferably very, very Foreign.

The core and dynamic centre of Edmonton's Pops concert is Lee Hepner—a thirtyish RCAF war veteran who got most of his musical education through the Veterans' Affairs grants. He is tall, broad shouldered, rather fair, genial and unassuming—in fact I would say a typical example of the best in young Alberta manhood.

He's smart, too—has just taken unto himself a lovely, also musical young bride, who was Patricia Rolston, from Vancouver.

Lee puts on no phoney showmanship when he conducts. To my just-plain-Canadian eyes and ears he seemed just about as competent as some of those with the biggest names, and with many more years of experience. I go out on a limb, right now, and prophesy big things for the Hepners.

I hear they are going off to Europe, maybe Austria, to get more musical experience—but I surely hope for not too long. For western Canada needs what such as Lee Pepper has to offer. And we have so few of our own, yet.

THE NIGHT I heard Edmonton's Pops another RCAF veteran, Bob McMullin, conducted two of his own competitions from Rocky Mountain Sketches. To me they seemed really good, not only for themselves—but for the clear promise they convey of future, better, more theme-ful creations from the same mind and heart.

A modest, almost demure young pianist, with lovely hair and willowy figure, Doreen Stanton, played the piano solo parts from Greig's concerto. She has technical perfection—plus that quality which it seems to me so many good pianists lack—and which I still call "soul."

The thing that struck me about Edmonton's Pops orchestra was as an agency for friendliness, not just musical harmony. You can see that the musicians in the orchestra would do just about anything for their conductor, Lee Hepner.

You can also feel the pride in and friendship for the Pops that the in-the-know Edmonton audiences have.

Frankly, I was surprised and just a little disappointed that there were some empty seats. I wondered "Can it be that the folks in Edmonton do not know just how good, and up and coming, this outfit is?"

Job's Daughters Get Big Welcome at Jasper Park

See Sight, Ride Horseback and Swim— Reception at Prince George, too

By ALEX MITCHELL

JASPER.—Mrs. Herron, worthy matron of the Order of the Eastern Star here, was the leader of a royal reception which was accorded Prince Rupert's Job's Daughters party during their stay at this famous mountain resort today.

They arrived by the early morning train from the coast and were soon whisked off for a sightseeing tour into beautiful Jasper Park. Twelve cars transported the enthusiastic visitors.

Horseback riding lent further to the diversion and some took a dip in the green-blue crystal waters of the pool in front of the park lodge overlooking shining Lac Beauvert.

The party entrained early this afternoon in continuation of their memorable journey, the next break in which will be at Toronto where they change trains for Niagara Falls to spend a day and then on to the Lehigh Valley line for New York and Richmond.

AT PRINCE GEORGE
Last night at Prince George Masons and Eastern Star ladies turned out to meet the party. Mrs. A. T. Lashmar led in the reception. During a half an hour stay the visitors were driven around the town and had dinner.

Assisting Mr. Christie will be R. E. (Ed) Gladding, the local manager for G. P. Tinker & Co. Ltd. Ed Gladding is successor to G. R. S. Blackaby who has been the perennial treasurer since the very first Red Shield Appeal in 1940.

The Red Shield Appeal, which is the backbone of the financing of the social service work of the Salvation Army across Canada, will be conducted in Prince Rupert from September 4 to September 25.

Terrace Mill Man Married

The Pro-Cathedral of the Annunciation was the scene Wednesday morning of a beautiful marriage ceremony when Frank Pongracz, general foreman of the Little Haugland & Kerr Ltd. mill in Terrace, was united in marriage to Elizabeth Vurzinger of Abbotsford.

The nuptial mass was said by Rev. Father LeRay, O.M.I., who came to the city from Terrace for the occasion.

Louis Amadio and Elizabeth Amadio acted as witnesses.

Immediately after the ceremony the happy couple left by plane for Vancouver. They will return to Terrace shortly where they will make their residence. They have the best wishes of many friends.

Assisting the couple in receiving were the mother of the bride in a wine begaline dress with grey accessories, and the mother of the groom, in rose crepe with grey accessories.

The bride's going-away costume was of brown gabardine with white accessories.

Both bride and groom, who will make their home on Ninth Avenue West, are employed by the Columbia Cellulose Co. The bride was born in Prince Rupert and received her education here.

Earl Macleod was groomsmen and Lester Yaremchuk and Charles Place were ushers.

Boys Back From Camp

Their camp at Few Acre Bible Camp, Terrace, ended, 22 Prince Rupert boys returned home on last night's train with their leader, Rev. Fred Antrobus. Thirty-eight boys were encamped and they kept Mr. Antrobus and his assistant, Pastor Charles Sinclair, both very busy. The swimming hole was visited several times a day and there were excursions, treasure hunts, marshmallow roasts and other fun to add to the enjoyment of the days.

Miss Gertrude Mitchell and Mrs. Hampshire, in the kitchen, received generous help of Terrace girls and women who gave so freely of their time.

The boys became deeply interested in the story of "Pilgrim's Progress" taught by flannelgraph, as well as in the evening gospel illustrations.

The camp came to a climax Wednesday night when a large audience listened to the singing by the boys and the recital of scripture and other memory work achieved by them.

His Funeral In Vancouver

Funeral of the late Alexander McRae, pioneer Prince Rupert business man, who passed away at 3:45 yesterday afternoon in the Prince Rupert General Hospital, will take place next Wednesday afternoon in Vancouver under Masonic auspices. The remains will be taken south Sunday night aboard the Coquitlam, accompanied by the widow and her sister, Mrs. L. M. Randall, of Nanoose Bay, Vancouver Island.

A Masonic service and a public service will be held in First Presbyterian Church here Sunday afternoon.

Death came to Mr. McRae after a final illness which had commenced on July 1 when he was stricken with a heart attack. Assistant census commissioner, he was then forced to discontinue those duties and had been confined either to home in the Leeds Apartments or in hospital since that time.

Mr. McRae was born April 10, 1880, at Mooretown, Ontario, and attended business college in London, Ontario. He came west first to Keewatin, Ontario, and was also on the prairies for a time before coming to Phoenix in the Boundary district soon after the turn of the century. It was there that the stationary firm of McRae Bros. was formed by four brothers—James, John, Duncan and Alex McRae—all of whom have now passed away. In 1909 the firm opened in business in Prince Rupert and deceased moved here in April, 1910. Later he took over the firm's job printing business and two years ago sold out to E. F. Saunders.

In December 1923 Mr. McRae was married to Miss Rose Wall, a returned overseas nurse of the Canadian Army Medical Corps.

Deceased was a past master and former secretary of Tye Lodge, A.F. & A.M., a former treasurer of the Prince Rupert Rotary Club and former secretary of Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club. He was also a former member of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce.

In politics he was an enthusiastic Liberal and by religion was a Presbyterian.

Mayor's Life One of Service

A part of life's greatness is service and, in giving service, deceased had played a vital part in the life and development of the community, said Rev. L. G. Sieber at the funeral service of the late Mayor George Weston Rudderham in First United Church yesterday afternoon. Mr. Sieber delivered an appropriate sermon on the subject of service. He found words of comfort and respect in various passages from the scriptures.

The congregation which gathered to pay final tributes of esteem and respect to the late chief magistrate represented a wide cross-section of the community testifying to the wide circle of the mayor's friends and acquaintances.

Following the service, interment was made in the family plot in Fairview Cemetery.

Hymns were "Unto the Hills" and "Jesus, Lover of My Soul," with Mrs. G. E. Freeman as organist.

Active pallbearers were William Brett, James Black, A. E. Jones, Harry Love, David Macphie and George Howe.

Honorary pallbearers were members of the city council, Aldermen, T. B. Black, G. B. Casey, H. M. Daggett, D. F. Fitch, G. D. Frizzell, H. F. Glassey, Darrel Gomez, H. S. Whalen; Park Commissioners Arthur Murray and Pat Forman; E. T. Appiewhaite, MP, and J. D. McRae, M.L.A.;

G. F. Forbes, Oscar Smith, George Hills, R. W. Long, A. E. Jones, H. M. Foote, D. C. Stewart; Sgt. A. E. Wales and Sgt. L. A. N. Potterton, RCMP;

Fire Chief Earl Becker, Mrs. Norah Arnold, Judge W. O. Fulton, T. W. Brown, KC; Sheriff M. M. Stephens; Angus Macphie, William Gordon, Walter Vance, Dr. Duncan Black, George Geddes, Carl Gustafson, Harry Arney and Kenneth Harding.

Ushers at the church were Arthur Murray, William Long, Eric Jones and Don Stewart.

Sending floral tributes were: His loving wife and family; Atlin Fisheries Ltd.; Shirlene Blamberg, Hilda Sterling and Pat Clark; Mr. and Mrs. Ed Saunders; Mrs. Vesta Deane, City Hall staff, Fashion Footwear, A. J. Dominato; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Balagno and family, Mr. and Mrs. S. Dominato, Mr. and Mrs. A. DULL DAYS no longer mean dull clothes, according to a British rainwear stylist who has recently shown his latest models in the leading U.S. cities. Pictured are two of them in a mixture of nylon and rayon claimed to retain its shower-proof qualities after dry cleaning. Left: A style for cocktails or evening in white, black-lined Satina. The beret is from the same fabric and the sleeves can be pushed up to elbow length. Right: Also in Satina, a gold coat with medieval sleeves and pointed collar.

Says Prince Philip Frowns on Crew-Cut

TORONTO (CP)—Leslie Higgins, Liverpool-born barber, says the Duke of Edinburgh likes his hair "a bit long, but neat." And it suits him perfectly, says the 45-year-old hair snipper. He should know—he cut the duke's hair in England for 14 years.

Higgins, once barber to the Duke of Kent and the Duke of Gloucester, and to King Carol of Rumania and Paul of Yugoslavia, now is working in a Toronto barber shop.

He plans to offer his services to the duke during the royal tour in October.

"It would be nice to get back to the artistic side of hair-cutting," he says. "Canadians just jump into the chair and shout: 'Short, front and back!'"

IMPORTED ROBBER
Claude Duval, notorious 17th century highwayman, was a native of Normandy who went to England as a servant of a duke.

Usually it is easy to see how to set up a long, nearly solid suit, or even a short suit which is missing only one or two honors. Sometimes, however, it is the short, shabby-looking suit that saves the day.

of spades and followed with the 10. Mr. Abel won the second spade. Mr. Dale realized that a diamond lead at this point would be ruffed in dummy and a loser discarded from the closed hand. Therefore he came out with the deuce of clubs. Mr. Dale played the nine from the board and Miss Brash won with the ace.

Now Miss Brash had three choices—all of them bad. A diamond return would permit a ruff in dummy and discard from Mr. Dale's hand. A low club return would undoubtedly ride to dummy's jack. And if the queen of spades were cashed, the eight spot on the board would become a very big card indeed.

The only hope seemed to be that Mr. Abel had the king of clubs so Miss Brash returned the seven of that suit. But, as she had feared, dummy's jack won and Mr. Dale spread the hand, conceding a spade trick, but making four odd.

Wedding At Usk

Miss Marjorie Adams Bride Of William McRae

A very interesting wedding took place at Usk last Saturday when Marjorie Helene Adams, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Adams of Usk, was united in marriage to William Hugh McRae, son of James McRae of Skeena Crossing, by Rev. P. H. Mallett of Terrace.

Attending the bride as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. Margaret Earley of New Westminster. The groomsmen were Colin Sargent of Hazelton.

The bride wore white satin, ballerina length, with matching bolero of nylon lace and a coronet of white satin trimmed with pearls and carrying a corsage of red roses and lily-of-the-valley.

Mrs. Earley made a charming matron of honor, attired in pink nylon sheer over satin, ballerina length. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

The wedding ceremony was held at the home of the bride's parents which was tastefully decorated in a wedding motif of pink and white and amidst a profusion of flowers.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, W. R. Adams.

After the ceremony, the happy couple attended a wedding dinner with immediate friends. The toast to the bride was proposed by H. W. Varner and responded to very suitably by the best man.

In the evening, about a hundred friends of the couple attended a reception and dance held in the Community Hall and at which the pair were the recipients of many beautiful wedding gifts. Friends of the family were present from points as far west as Prince Rupert and south from 150 Mile House. Out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Durham, Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bowie, 150 Mile House; Mrs. James Smith, Terrace; Mrs. E. Whitlow, Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Blackhall, Mr. and Mrs. E. Christison and Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Woodside, all of Prince Rupert.

The bride is the granddaughter of Charles Durham, well known and respected pioneer of the north, who was one of the guests of honor and who really enjoyed himself, meeting old friends and acquaintances.

The newly-married couple left by car on Sunday morning for a leisurely honeymoon in the south of the province, making the centre of their visit at Sumnerland, after which they will take up residence at Usk. The groom was formerly proprietor of the store at Usk but will now enter the sawmill business with his father-in-law.

Softball Playoffs Starting Tonight

Tonight, weather permitting, Hawks and Firemen will get their softball playoff series under way. The semi-finals are to be best-of-three-games with the second game set for Monday night. If a third game is necessary it will be played Wednesday night.

The winners of this series will meet Rupert Radio in the finals starting next Friday night. All playoff games will start half an hour earlier than before, to ensure lots of light to complete them.

P.S.—There were about 35 kids up at the wiener roast the Fan Club had today at McClymont Park.

Boxing Club Active Again

Joe Ward, trainer of Prince Rupert's Boxing Club, is back in the city after a month's relief job at Prince George RCMP radio station. And Joe didn't waste any time in getting "his boys" back into shape after their holiday.

Last night the training room at the Civic Centre was again echoing to grunts and puffs as Prince Rupert fistic enthusiasts went back into training.

"We still hear a lot of good talk about the last bout (at the exhibition) we put on here," says Joe, who is looking forward to the next card. Boxing in Prince Rupert once had a "bad name," Joe said once, "but I want to see it get set straight." Trainer Joe is welcoming all new entries to the club "if they're serious about amateur boxing." Joe doesn't think amateurs should "go professional—unless, of course, they're really very good and have hit the top in amateur fighting. And if that's the kind of life the boys are sure they want."

About Prince George, Joe says the city is growing rapidly and there is a lot of talk about building more beer parlors and more cafes. "It's a hard-drinking town," he says, and thinks Prince Rupert plays "second fiddle" to it now in that respect.

Hotel Men Score Win

Commercial Defeat
Gordon & Anderson 2 to 1

A bitter, fighting, and rhabarbar-jammed battle on the Roosevelt Park baseball diamond last night went the full nine innings despite darkness. But Gordon & Anderson still could not overcome a one-run lead they gave away on an error for a defeat by Commercials and had coaching near the end of the game lost their biggest chance to tie the score.

Scoring ended 2-1 for the Hotelmen. Several times the Hardware men loaded the bases but most attempts to steal or desperate headers for the home plate were picked off just in the nick of time. And each time a G & A runner was put away, Umpire Alex Bill had a man-size argument with the jokers who lamponed, sneered and yelled down practically every decision which wasn't in their favor.

Both runs for the winners, however, were given to them on a silver platter. Bill Robinson, pumping righthander for G & A, playing with the team for the second time this season, walked in the first run with bases loaded in the second inning.

Second run came in the sixth inning, following two errors on Shortstop Sunberg and an error on Hartwig, first baseman, which allowed Joe Davis, pinch hitting for Hawryluk, to score.

"Zac" Zaccarelli side-armed his way through nine complete innings with 11 strike-outs. He got mad in the fourth inning when Catcher Herb Morgan allowed a strike-out—Darrel Young—to steal first, and from then on, it seemed as though his pitches were jet-propelled.

But there was one man who hit every time at bat. Stan Cornwell, C & A's manager who is tops on the batting list this season, hit three for three and brought in the only run, batted in by a Marshall's double. And in the eighth inning, Cornwell had the game tied up with a running homer but was held on third by Hartwig, coaching at the bag.

That was one of the hardest-hit balls all season which Cornwell sent screaming into the rock-pit just inside first base line. Running his utmost, the centre-fielder-manager had plenty of time to gain the plate, but apparently Hartwig didn't think so and held him on third.

And when Cornwell tried to steal home on a bunt by Young, he was picked off at the plate by return fire from first baseman Desaulnier, much to Cornwell's loud-mouthed objections.

In their final try, the Hardware men, with darkness and drizzle practically obliterating the ball, had two men on bases, both with free passes. But in each case, the runners, Dunbar and Robinson, were picked off at second trying to steal.

While the game was the worst show yet as far as sportsmanship is concerned, it had a lot of thrills for the small crowd during the drizzly evening. Robinson pitched a steady game and held the Commercials down to only four hits, while tobacco-chewing, erratic Zaccarelli gave up five hits, and sent eight men to first for gratis.

SAND-LOT BRIEFS:

Commercial's Desaulnier drove out a liner for a sliding triple, for his second hit of the season—Umpire Alex Bill warned Gordon & Anderson players twice to put them out of the game—and the umpire threatened one to call "Ball" when Commercials took time out—Joe Davis, out fishing most of the season, is back with Commercials again and got a big shock last night when a double he thought he hit turned out to be a foul along first base line... then he struck out.

Fine Art School High in Rockies

BANFF, Alta. (CP)—It's a revelation to talk of art with Donald Cameron, director of the Banff School of Fine Arts. He connects art with the popular needs of the people, not with "long hair" theories.

Mr. Cameron sees the hunger of the people for knowledge as the reason for the remarkable growth of the school, which some supporters believe may eventually become a Canadian counterpart of the historic Salzburg centre in Austria.

They figure such an eminence may take five to 15 years to achieve, but they're working on it and in the meantime they would appreciate if the long-hair types set up shop somewhere else.

In other words, people attending the 19th summer session of the Banff School of Fine Arts are the same types that may sit around your room of an evening and discuss things simply because they enjoy food for thought and good fellowship.

And Mr. Cameron, who directs the extension department of the University of Alberta, apart from the Banff school, is a son of the farm, in the days when the farm home parlor was a community gathering place.

Today he engages the continent's leaders in various fields for the summer school staff, but his own education stems from a one-room country school at Innisfail, Alta.

EXPERIENCED TEACHER

While studying for his Master's degree in agricultural economics at the University of Alberta, he saw possibilities of adult education.

So in 1930 he entered the education field with appointment to the University's extension service. In 1933 he studied adult education in Europe on a Carnegie Scholarship. In 1936 he was named director of the extension service and also of the Banff school, with which he has been associated in an administrative capacity for 18 years.

When the Banff school was started in 1933 on a Carnegie grant to the University of Alberta to encourage fine arts, they figured 40 would show up. But the attendance was 130 to study the elements of stage production and acting.

Lacking dining room and dormitory facilities, the school farmed out the students all over town. The classes were held in the old Dr. Brett theatre, where a little shoring of the beams was necessary on more than one occasion.

From that poor-cousin beginning, the school has grown to an average session enrollment of 600. It draws students from most of Canada, the United States, and even Norway, Hawaii, Mexico and Alaska.

WELL-EQUIPPED

At one time it had 82 different buildings under summer contract in the town of Banff. Today, having developed into a major continuation centre of the university, it owns three beautiful chalets, has 10 cabins and another building on long-term leases.

By these it accommodates 300 for sleeping. For classes, it has a co-operative arrangement for use of town schools and receives co-operation of the federal parks department.

With its "short courses and meetings—there were 28 of them this year—the school actually operates nine months of the year, drawing 3,000 persons to Banff. The school eventually will operate all year round.

The school is financed by private funds, and a $2,500 grant

VICTORY KISS—Seventeen-year-old Mariene Stewart of Fonthill, Ont., kisses her putter after holing out on the final green at Laval-sur-le-Lac, Que., to win the Canadian Ladies' Open golf championship. She defeated former champion Grace Lenczyk of Hartford, Conn., one up in the final match, to be the first Canadian to take the title since the Second World War. The Closed championship she won the previous week made Mariene the first double winner since 1933, when Toronto's Ada MacKenzie turned the trick. (CP PHOTO)

When giving the baby a bath, a thermometer is unnecessary. If the baby turns red, the water is too hot; if the baby turns blue, the water is too cold; if the baby turns white, you will know he needed the bath.

A husband went out with the boys one night, and before he realized it the next day had already dawned. He hesitated to call his wife, but finally hit upon an idea. "I'm back," he shouted into the phone. "Don't pay the ransom!"

"What's the matter with Smith? He looks sad."

"He's just been contesting his wife's will."

"Oh, I didn't know she was dead."

"That's just it. She isn't."

Of all the manifestations of power, restraint impresses men most.

A Hollywood producer received a story entitled "The Optimist." He called his staff together and said: "Gentlemen, this title must

Although the school has grown from drama to the other arts, the policy is still the same. Mr. Cameron says it is to invite as guest instructors leading artists to the world to develop a richer Canadian culture in the friendly atmosphere of the Canadian west.

Prairies Need Sunshine

WINNIPEG.—During the past week weather has been much cooler throughout the prairie provinces and good rains have been fairly general, according to the weekly crop report of the department of agriculture of the Canadian National Railways.

Heaviest precipitation was in the Red River valley where 2½ inches were recorded. All harvesting operations which have commenced in southern Manitoba will be delayed for about a week due to the recent wet weather.

The immediate requirement is warm sunny weather to hasten maturity of crops in the most northern areas and throughout Alberta.

IN OKANAGAN

In the Okanagan, weather continued hot and dry. Peaches are now moving in full volume and the plum movement is about finished.

Bartlett pears are commencing to move and are a little smaller in size than usual.

Prunes will move from the south end of the valley in about two weeks and from northern sections by the end of the month.

The vegetable movement is continuing in fair volume.

Pulp Mill Problems

Ketchikan Council Would Prepare for Development

KETCHIKAN.—In an effort to prepare their city for early growth expected with the beginning of construction on Alaska's first pulp mill next year, the Ketchikan city council has requested the Alaska Development Board to make a special study of problems which will face the city in connection with that development.

The Ketchikan Pulp and Paper Co. has completed arrangements for the building of a 550-ton-per-day capacity mill at Ward's Cove eight miles north of Ketchikan. Under the terms of the company's contract with the Forest Service, construction must begin by August of 1952. The population of Ketchikan is expected to increase by many thousands who will be directly or indirectly involved in this industrial development.

The Alaska Development Board previously has published community surveys of Northwestern Alaska, Sitka, Cordova and Fort Yukon, and has similar reports planned for Anchorage and Haines.

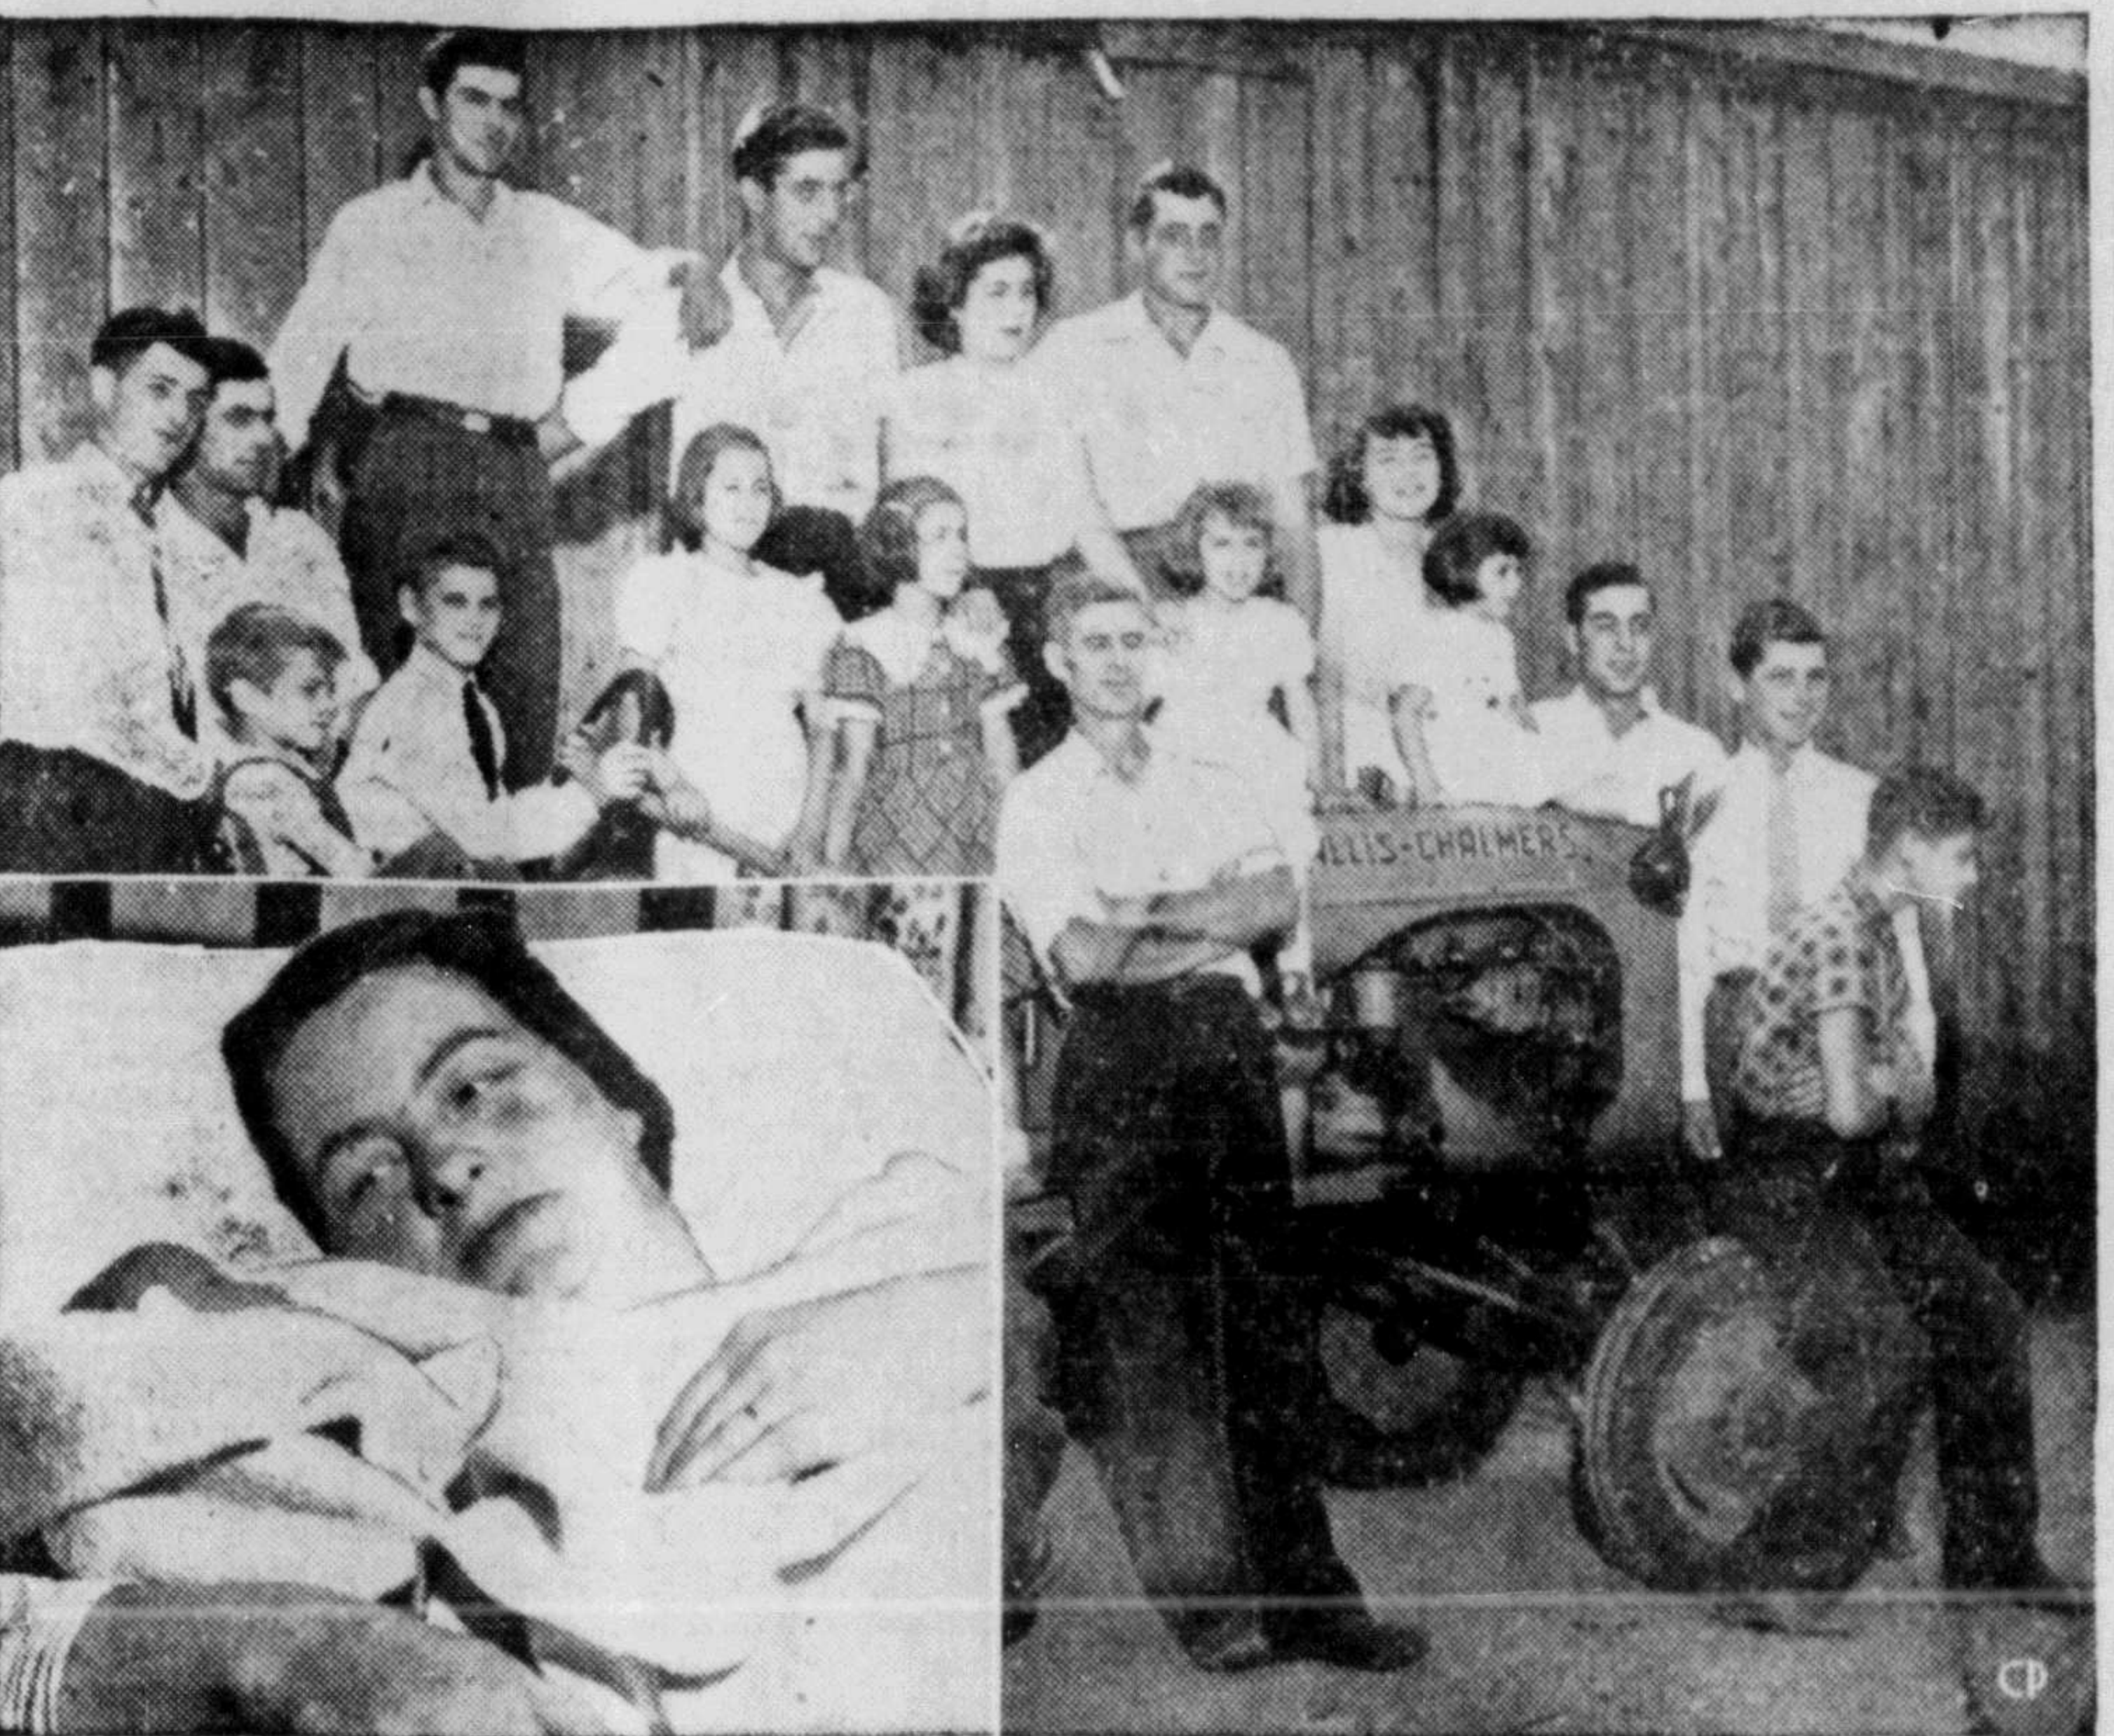

CANADIAN NATIONAL

days of the year, one is obliged to consult both the calendar and the timetable in his planning of leaving the city. And one cannot get out of Fredericton, the capital city of New Brunswick, by a scheduled passenger train on Sunday.

If a man goes into the CNR depot in St. John, N.B., and asks for a ticket to Winnipeg, the management routes that man east to Moncton, thence up around the north shore and southwest to Montreal and, since lifting the rails referred to, they will send him some 40 miles southwest to Coteau, thence start him northwest until he reaches a transcontinental line, and they will then shoot him straight west to Winnipeg, but 244 miles extra in order to put him through the bottleneck on Isle Royal where if they had sent him up the St. John River to Fredericton, see Timetable 55, then to MacGevooney, see Timetable 61, then straight for Quebec City, see Timetable 58, then west to Winnipeg, see Timetables 78 and 79 and 177 and 20 of the CN folder, they would save hauling this man for 244 extra miles, thus if this route was opened up by a daily train plying between St. John and Winnipeg, and name that train the "Fundy," well, we will let anybody figure it out as to what it would mean to the country, towns and cities located on the route, and if Halifax can have three crack trains arriving in their city per day, the capital city and the seaport of N.B. are entitled to one such train per day. Just to show there is a bit of a conundrum about this thing may I refer to a bit of correspondence with one Mr. McAvity then MP for St. John, when he said in a letter: "No one would think of going into the station at St. John and buying a ticket for Winnipeg via the CNR, as they don't consider any passenger travel over the CN lines. If a man wanted to go from St. John to Edmonton by the CNR he would have to go to Moncton before he could start west to Edmonton."

The CPR have four main train connections each way between St. John and Fredericton by changing trains at Fredericton Junction, see Table 14, while the CNR has a direct line between Woodstock, Fredericton and St. John, but the service is a mixed train out of St. John on Tuesdays, Thursdays and Saturdays for Fredericton, and out of Fredericton on Monday, Wednesday and Fridays for Woodstock, and the same schedule back from Woodstock to Fredericton and St. John, see Table 55, CN folder. Thus the CP accepts the business forced on them.

(To be concluded Saturday)

Hart Cut-off to Open in 1952

SHIPS AND WATERFRONT

JUNEAU.—The so-called Hart cutoff, which will save Alaska Highway travellers 600 miles to and from Pacific coast cities, will not be opened later this year as earlier announced.

The Alaska Development Board has received word from E. C. Carson, minister of public works of British Columbia, that because of construction difficulties brought about by unusually wet weather the John Hart Highway between Prince George and Dawson Creek, B.C., will not be completed until early in 1952. Earlier it had been expected the road would open in September of 1951.

After this important cutoff is ready for travel, it will no longer be necessary for motorists bound to or from Alaska to travel as far east as Edmonton or drive over the 475 miles of low grade Alberta provincial highway between there and Dawson Creek.

NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that on the 12th day of September next the undersigned intends to apply to the Liquor Control Board for consent to transfer of Beer Licence Number 8995, issued in respect of premises being part of a building known as Belmont Hotel situated at 725 and 727 Third Avenue West, Prince Rupert, British Columbia, upon the lands described as Lots 5 and 6, Block 32, Section 1, Map 923, Prince Rupert Land Registration District of the Province of British Columbia, from John Hoskins to Belrupert Hotel Limited of 404 Randal Building, 535 West Georgia Street, Vancouver, British Columbia, the transferee.

A local notice to mariners from Department of Transport announces the red conical buoy off Tree Bluff (Chatham Sound) has been replaced by a red flashing buoy.

After going adrift off the north coast with one adult and two children aboard, the 53-foot Alaskan fishing boat Rover is being towed to Port Etches near Cordova by the Coast Guard cutter Storis. The Rover has a broken tall shaft.

An Alaska fishing vessel, the Roberta, 64 feet long, was recently pumped out and given minor repairs, to stand being towed to Petersburg, Alaska, by the coast guard cutter Citrus. Not many details have been learned as to the cause of the accident although it is known her stern had been crushed, and that she became half full of water, and was beached at Gut Bay. She had been chartered by the New England Fishing Company.
