Progress Made In Huge B.C. Industry

Flash

HURRICANE DOWN COAST
VANCOUVER — Hurricane winds and torrential rain hit the north end of Vancouver Island this morning. Winds of up to 78 and 80 miles an hour were recorded. An official at Sea Island airport said he had never seen anything like the storm there before. The barometer dropped like a stone. Flights from Calgary and Prince George were held up. Basements were flooded in Vancouver and wires were blown down in Victoria.
ST. LAURENT IN LONDON

LONDON—Prime Minister L. St. Laurent of Canada reached London yesterday for the Commonwealth prime ministers' conference. His plane had two forced landings. One was at Newfoundland after leaving Gander and another in Cornwall on this side owing to snow and sleet. Mr. St. Laurent called today at Buckingham Palace, No. 10 Downing Street and Canada House.

CNR DERAILMENT
EVANSBURG, Alta.—There were no injuries when the dining car and parlor car the Montreal train No. 1 was derailed near here. The train was held up for several hours.

INFLUENZA IN BRITAIN
LONDON — Thousands of Britons are confined to bed with influenza. There are, however, no deaths.

Built First Bridges Here

PERTH, Ont. — Funeral services were held today for Guy Campbell Dunn, aged 88, noted engineer who directed construction of bridges and railway lines in both eastern and western Canada. He died suddenly at his home here. In Prince Rupert in railway construction days, he helped erect bridges leading to that harbor.

Big Hungarian Mine Explosion

BUDAPEST — Hungarian rescue workers said today that they had saved forty miners trapped in an explosion Saturday night in Hungary's major mine centre of Tatabánya. The explosion killed 81 miners.

From New Zealand To Visit Sister

From far-off Wellington, New Zealand, has arrived Mrs. S. M. Saker to visit her sister, Mrs. F. M. Good, Smith Block. She reached the city yesterday morning on the Princess Norah, having crossed the Pacific Ocean from Auckland on the final voyage of the veteran motorship Aorangi which is being withdrawn on account of lack of traffic.

It is the first time that the two sisters have met in 12 years when Mrs. Good went to New Zealand for a visit. For Mrs. Saker it is the second visit to British Columbia and Canada but the first to Prince Rupert.

Mrs. Saker will be here until July and later she and Mrs. Good are planning a trip to California.

SAFE MAJORITY
The largest majority in the British House of Commons was 424, enjoyed by the National government of 1931.

1950 Was Dry Year

Weather—
Last year, with total rainfall of 83.87 inches, was the driest since 1944 when the total was 74.3 inches. Total precipitation for December was 10.64 inches (9.85 rain and 1.19 snow) in 26 days compared with December 1949's 6.77 inches.

Early 1950 was marked by record cold weather for many a year when on January 1 and 23 the thermometer slid to three above. However, mid-winter so far this winter has been exceptionally mild in contrast. In December the sun shone 19.3 hours in eight days bringing the total sunshine for the year to 948.2 compared with 860.6 in 1949.

The mean temperature of 39.9 degrees made December one of the warmest in history. In 1949 the mean temperature for December was 31.7 degrees. A low of 22.1 degrees was reached December 3 while the high was recorded December 16 at 49.2 degrees.

December was particularly notable for wind. Although the highest recorded at Digby Island weather station was 44 miles per hour from the south-west December 5, actual wind velocities on both land and sea are thought to have reached higher speeds.

A silver thaw at the first of the month broke the high voltage power line across the Skeena River near Tye. It was the first time since the line was put in that ice in dangerous quantities had formed.

Late in the month saw winds of sufficient velocity to uproot trees. But the fishing fleet was snug in harbor away from harm. In all, it was a fine month.

Cold Hits Industry

LONDON — Freezing weather Britain alarmed by Shortage Of Fuel and Power

LONDON — Freezing weather and widespread snow intensified the copping fuel and power crisis in the British Isles today. Prime Minister Attlee tipped off the government's alarm by summoning coal mine and union leaders to a conference tomorrow. They will discuss means of stepping up output and recruiting new workers.

Meantime, the state-owned electricity system broadcast a country-wide appeal for economy in the use of power. It coupled this with power cuts running up to ten percent in most parts of the country.

U.S. New Year Toll Is Lower

CHICAGO — The accidental death toll in the United States for the New Year holiday, nearly 400, represented a sharp drop from the near record Christmas toll of more than 700. This, during two long week-end holidays more than 1,100 persons lost their lives in violent accidents in the United States. More than 800 of them were killed in traffic mishaps.

Two Babies On New Year

An early 1951 visitor to Mr. and Mrs. Steve Bright was the stork, who arrived at 1:30 a.m. yesterday with a baby girl. Later in the day Mrs. Bright received a parcel containing a pair of flannel sheets, a soaker pad, a satin baby pillow, one dozen flannel baby diapers, a baby-chestnut crib spread, safety pins, a baby photo album and a baby photo album. Mr. Bright is the winner of the Stork Shoppes derby.

At 11 a.m. yesterday the stork visited Mr. and Mrs. M. Helgason and left another baby girl. Both babies were born at Prince Rupert General Hospital.

Canada to Build Big New Atomic Reactor

Dominion Going Into Production of Plutonium And Uranium on Commercial Scale

OTTAWA (CP)—Rt. Hon. C. D. Howe, minister of trade and commerce, announced today that Canada will build a $30,000,000 atomic reactor much bigger and better and many times more powerful than the one now in use at Chalk River. This means, Mr. Howe said, that Chalk River should in time be out on a paying, commercial basis by sales of greatly increased supplies of plutonium and radio isotopes. It will also be able to enter new fields of research.

Plutonium is a radioactive material produced in reactors of the atom-splitting process and used in A-bomb production and research.

Radio isotopes and tracer atoms are recognized as the greatest research tools discovered in centuries and are coming into wide use by hospitals, industry and universities.

Mr. Howe said that the new reactor or radioactive pile will alter Canada's position against going into A-bomb production but it will strengthen the country's atomic stature for either peace or war.

Disposal of fissionable materials is a highly secret matter but feeling here is that Canada hopes to sell plutonium to the United States. She already sells another radioactive element, uranium, which occurs naturally and is treated in reactors to produce plutonium, a better agent.

The reactor is a nuclear furnace where fission or splitting of the atom goes on under controlled conditions. It is the key instrument for the atomic process and officials say it will give Canada an all-round device that will allow her to go in whatever research direction circumstances indicate.

Moscow Willing To Meet In Session of Big Four

But It Must Not Be in New York—Question of Germany "First and Foremost"

LONDON (CP)—Moscow radio said today that Russia had urged the western powers to meet her to discuss the agenda for a Big Four meeting. It said that the Soviet Union would be agreeable to meet in Moscow, London or Paris, but not in New York.

The broadcast released the Russian reply to Big Three notes delivered December 22 in reply to a Russian proposal for a meeting of Big Four foreign ministers on German demilitarization.

The Moscow radio said that identical notes had been sent to the three western governments. It broadcast the next of the notes to France.

The Russian note says that the question of Germany must come first and foremost on any agenda but indicates willingness also to discuss other matters.

Communist Offensive Under Way

But Lull Today After Initial Onslaught New Year's Eve

TOKYO — Chinese Communist patrols were reported tonight only 12 miles north of the South Korean capital of Seoul.

Moving into the vacuum of United Nations withdrawal, the Communist spearheads were reported just outside of the shell-torn road centre of Uijongbu.

Unconfirmed front-line reports said that United Nations guns battered Uijongbu after Allied troops had fallen back through the town.

All day long planes made an all-out offensive against the advancing Chinese and North Koreans. The Fifth Air Force, in 496 missions, hammered troops, guns and buildings, supply and fuel dumps and transports.

But there was little ground action as United Nations troops waited in defence to take the shock of the next onslaught.

The anticipated Communist offensive was commenced New Year's Eve in the expected manner.

Quintuplets In Siberia

LONDON — Tass News Agency said today that quintuplets—four boys and a girl—have been born to a Siberian woman and four of them have survived.

The four babies are "developing normally," Tass said. It was not known which of the five, born just before the New Year, had died.

The mother is Elena Skomkina, wife of a collective farmer at Uspenka in the Altai region.

Michigan Wins In Rose Bowl

PASEDENA — Michigan, facing defeat for the first time in the Rose Bowl, exploded for two touchdowns in the final minutes yesterday and whipped the bruised and broken California eleven 14 to 6 in the thirty-seventh edition of the post-season football classic before 100,000 fans.

Trailing by six points, with little more than ten minutes remaining, Halfback Chuck Ortman sent the Wolverines whirling 80 yards to tie the score and then Michigan's conversion artist, Harry Allis, won the game to all intents by booting the extra point.

Revenue In 1950 Higher

Customs—
Customs collections in December last year amounted to $23,421.65 as compared with $17,961.51 in December 1949. Total collections in 1950 were also up from the year before. Last year's total was $568,664.52 compared with $413,271.18 in 1949. The November total in 1950 was $47,672.18.

President of Austria Dies

VIENNA — Dr. Karl Renner, 80, president of Austria, died of a heart ailment Sunday.

Dr. Renner founded both first and second Austrian republics. He was a life-long right wing Socialist.

Renner was stricken Christmas Eve but recovered somewhat. Saturday he took a sudden turn for the worse with paralysis and lung congestion developing.

Renner's death occurred as Austria retained only fractions of its former great area. That fraction is occupied by Big Four powers and is almost surrounded by Communist countries. It remains, nevertheless, free, democratic and true to the west.

Austria's freedom from Russian domination was due in part to Renner who was brought up in the Marxist tradition and philosophy as an early Socialist. He was, nevertheless, a bitter anti-Communist.

Canada's New Year Is Quiet

TORONTO — Canada turned, the mid-century corner with a celebration subdued in some respects by New Year's Eve falling on a Sunday.

A Canadian Press cross-country survey shows that Canadians in general gave 1951 a hearty yet sensible welcome. There were no major disasters. Weather was good in the most parts of the country and fatalities were light.

Twenty-two fatalities marred the week-end. Eight were in Ontario, five in Newfoundland, four in Quebec, three in Alberta and one in Manitoba, a Canadian Press compilation showed.

Five young boys of a Newfoundland family died in a fire.

Russia Has Atom Bomb

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Gordon Dean, chairman of the United States Atomic Commission, said flatly today that "Russia does have" the atomic bomb.

Mr. Dean gave the answer to a press conference question based on recent public discussion whether the Soviet actually did explode an atomic bomb in the summer of 1949.

Plane Smashes—Eight Are Unhurt

ANCHORAGE — Six members of the crew and two passengers escaped serious injury Saturday night when an ice-coated C-54 transport car-crashed into a mass of wreckage after an emergency landing at Yakutat, Alaska.

An eye-witness said it was a miracle that any one emerged alive from the four-engine plane which was stationed at Elmendorf Air Force base here.

Jockeys End Up On Even Terms

NEW YORK — Nineteen-year-old jockeys Joe Colomone and Willie Shoemaker wound up all even for 1950 national honors in a duel that did not end until the waning hours of the old year.

Each booted home three winners on foreign tracks Sunday and ended with 388 for the year after the tightest race on record.

The jockeys also tied the 44-year-old national mark set by Milt Miller.

Lying Will Not Pay

WHATEVER may be the faults of the United States government and the American press in particular, deliberate lying is not one of them.

As for the final outcome of the present struggle of the western nations with the lying propaganda issued from Moscow, and the immoral tactics of the Soviet in the cold war, there can be no doubt.

"When all its work is done, the lie will rot; The truth is great and shall prevail."

OLD DAYS AND NEW

EVERY routine occupation is monotonous, but few people think about the monotony. Someone has said that routine is one of the blessings of middle life.

Looking back upon those old days, life does appear to have been more picturesque and humanly interesting than in this mechanical age, but occupations were no less monotonous and there was certainly more drudgery with little leisure.

JANUARY DAYS

THIS dark period of early winter is when it pays to go around with your head down and not look up at the sky at all. Note, however, that you should be careful not to put your head too far down.

Certainly you must avoid comparing this dismal situation with bright summer mornings. Some people, for fear of making the comparison, prepare for the present season by carefully not noticing the good seasons.

When the alarm clock rings in the morning gloom you should not recite poems like R. L. Stevenson's little character's having to get up by night and saying his prayers by candlelight.

SCRIPTURE PASSAGE FOR TODAY

"Wisdom that is from above is first pure, then peaceable, gentle, and easy to be entreated, full of mercy and good fruits, without partiality and without hypocrisy."

As I See It

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

OUR BRITISH FAMILY

THE PRIME ministers of the British Commonwealth are in London for a family talk. It is safe to say that never before have so many people in so many parts of the world been so eager to keep together this strange aggregation.

I HAVE MADE many mistakes in my time—but thank the Lord I never fell for that one. I never for one moment believed or even feared that the British world community was all washed up.

In fact, one of the reasons why I did my bit in Canada for independence for India (though my talks in favor of such over the CBC network stirred up the frenzy of our colonial diehards) was because a free India seemed to me the vital link in the greater British Commonwealth of the future.

I had the honor to print in this column the first accurate forecast of India's future relationship to the British world community. It was given to me at San Francisco in May 1945 by the brilliant lady, Mrs. Pandit, who is now India's ambassador to the United States.

1. That a free India would declare her legal independence.

2. That, having done so, she would show willingness to become a full free partner of the British nations, and hence a more productive relationship and mutually beneficial relationship would be possible in the future than in the past.

AT SAN FRANCISCO the delegation headed by Mrs. Pandit had no official status. None of the official big wigs would dream of going to India's cocktail or tea party. They all walked past the door; looking the other way.

Again I interviewed her, for this column. Again I asked her the key question. She replied like a flash:

"As I told you at San Francisco—"

She outlined once again the relationship which has since come to pass.

India walked out the back door of the old British Empire, based on inequality. But India walked right back in the front door, as a free partner. Nehru will be, in fact, the most influential figure at the 1951 conference.

AS BETWEEN UNCLE Joe and Uncle Sam, few people in our part of the world need any more time to make up their minds. If it comes to a showdown, we will be with Uncle Sam.

But one reason for the renewed sense of family solidarity of the British Commonwealth is because Uncle Sam's way of running things is not the British way.

We never know when we wake up in the morning what our impulsive Uncle has got us all into or out of overnight. We remember that even in 1940 when Britain stood alone in Europe against the whole evil might of Hitler?

We know that most Americans are not isolationists now—but we ask ourselves—could they be again?

So for this and a thousand—in fact for over 500 million reasons—one for each of our people—we stick to the good old British world family. It's not perfect. But we know where we stand with and in it.

Robert Cruickshank is sailing Thursday night by the Prince George after spending the Christmas and New Year holiday season visiting here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cruickshank.

Victoria Report

... by J. K. Nesbitt

Making Preparations for Session—Government Postponing Esquimalt Argument

VICTORIA.—With announcement the 1951 session of the Legislature will open February 20, preparations are in full swing in the Legislative Buildings. Cabinet ministers are holding several meetings each week preparing their estimates.

This observer has long thought it might be a good idea and much more efficient if a session of the Legislature came every two years, as in some of the States. It would save money too—about $200,000 a year.

The way it is now not much is done for about six weeks after a session. The ministers are tired and they must visit their home constituencies. Then comes the summer, and holiday time, and by the time autumn comes the government says, in effect: "Well, now, we mustn't make too many important decisions—the session will soon be on and we must consult the representatives of the people."

Apparently the government is going to ignore the vacancy in Esquimalt until after the session. This is a bad slap at the people of that riding—and for political reasons.

Apparently the government is going to ignore the vacancy in Esquimalt until after the session. This is a bad slap at the people of that riding—and for political reasons.

There's going to be a State Ball at Government House this session, and the capital is greatly excited. There hasn't been a State Ball since 1938. It will follow the opening of the House and the first State Dinner.

Lieutenant Governor Clarence Wallace is now being measured for his court uniform—white satin knee breeches, white silk stockings, black slippers with silver buckles, a jacket loaded down with brass buttons and gold braid. This he will wear to the State Dinner and Ball.

Madame Speaker Nancy Hodges is going to England after the session, though she says she doesn't know anything about it yet and has practically denied newspaper reports that she will make the trip.

But it's generally known Madame Speaker, who is English-born, is going to Britain to dedicate the 108-foot Douglas fir flagpole sent by British Columbia for the Festival of Britain.

Last summer Madame Speaker represented B. C. at Newfoundland birthday celebrations in St. John's.

Credit Bureau Is Working Well

Apparently everybody associated with the Prince Rupert Credit Bureau is happy at the manner in which the new organization is functioning.

Merchants are finding the service useful and effective in checking up on credit risks and Mrs. Catherine Laurie, Bureau secretary, says that she is getting a very gratifying degree of co-operation from the merchants in her work.

The Bureau now has sixty-two members and there are over 4000 names on the credit record lists. The national connection makes the references particularly useful through the availability of credit records of persons who seek credit privileges, many of them newcomers. Then local credit records are also available for references that may come from outside.

"It's a big job and it has its headaches," says the enthusiastic Mrs. Laurie, "but it has its satisfactions and the service we feel we are able to render is something of much satisfaction."

Mrs. Laurie told of one case where a pair of men, who had been on construction work here, incurred a rather substantial bill for car repairs at a local garage. Suddenly they left town. Not long after a reference came from the Edmonton Credit Bureau as to their record.

Miss Jeananne Crawford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Crawford of Stewart, was in the city aboard the Camosun today going south on a trip to Vancouver.

Ray Reflects and Reminisces

The day is not so long that you notice the slightest difference. Yet, there is. Not much will be in evidence for many a week, and when it does set in the change will show Prince Rupert at its best.

Civil servants in Ottawa are not quite so exacting when it comes to overtime without pay. It's not uncommon to remain on duty till 6 or 6:15 instead of being away not later than 5 o'clock.

A department store Santa Claus in Milwaukee still chuckles when he tells it. A boy about eleven years old cautiously approached him and whispered that he would love to have a wife for Christmas.

Russia, one of numerous indefinite reports says, may attack Alaska. Had the Soviet never sold that part of North America to the United States, what then? Washington scored a bargain and even at that, knew little about Alaska. But for a country so much more convenient Canada knew less.

Sergeant George Burdick of California summed up the mood of weary troops in Korea recently when he remarked: "We want to get the --- out of here. We weren't exactly beat. We were just fighting a lost cause." Along with summer clothes and winter weather.

How to start a fire, comments the Juneau Empire, is today becoming a lost art. A generation or so ago, youngsters knew the mysteries of kindling. They had flames crackling and kettles singing in a jiffy.

There will be plenty to think of and talk about when youthful Canadian soldiers and sailors see home again. They are having invaluable experience. Many have never been far from the Pacific coast. Some, doubtless, have never been away from Canada.

GETTING OVER HOLIDAYS

If you've been waking up these mornings suffering from the high living of the holiday season, don't be alarmed. Plain wholesome food and plenty of rest is the cure for post-holiday dyspepsia.

If you're also getting up with empty pockets, that's another problem. About the only answer is a New Year's resolution to do better—to begin setting aside a few shekels in advance for next year.

Before the last war several of the banks used to maintain "Christmas Club" accounts. Men, women and children could contribute 50 cents, $1, or $5 weekly, and at the end of the year found themselves with a nice little stack of money for Christmas spending.

If there's a bank in your town which still gives the public a "Christmas Club"—now's the time to join. If there isn't—open a savings account. Even a "sugar" tin in the kitchen cupboard is handy for stray nickels and dimes.

The catch is not to let the fund fade through lack of nourishment—and come a lean week it sometimes takes plenty of will power to keep from dipping into the Christmas savings.

DOLING OUT NICKELS

Incidentally, now's the time to teach youngsters the value of money—while they're at the habit-forming age. Don't dole out nickels at every request—set the kids on a weekly allowance and make they stay within it.

Finally, get them used to keeping a notebook account of their expenditures—the practical value of this will show in later life.

CHRISTMAS CARDS

Don't be in too much of a hurry to banish those pretty Christmas cards to the garbage can. Maybe they can be put to good use.

The children's wing of the local hospital might be glad to receive some of them. A sick child often will spend many of the long hours in bed happy just to look at the pictures or to paste them into a scrap-book.

They also look most interesting on wastepaper baskets—the outside, not the inside. A plain basket can be turned into an artistic curio-for-den-or-living-room-with these bright cards.

Choose the better ones—the Canadian prints, snow scenes, which have been so popular this year. Cut out the picture and glue on the basket until there is a solid "mosaic" design. Cover the whole with a coat of shellac. Finally, the cards still have definite "party" value. They can

Gyros Welcome In New Year

One of the high spots of New Year's Eve social entertainment was, as usual, the Prince Rupert Gyro Club's dance where seventy-five couples gathered to enthusiastically usher in 1951.

The affair took place in the Canadian Legion ballroom which was attractively decorated with adornments of the season. Tables were arranged cabaret style.

At the midnight hour there were the usual greetings with the singing of "Auld Lang Syne" as all joined hands in mutual felicitations and well-wishing.

The proceedings kept up with merriment and jollity until 4 a.m.

Andy McNaughton provided the music for dancing.

President and Mrs. A. J. Dominato welcomed the guests and the committee in charge consisted of Joe McKay, Grant Stewart and Joe Scott. Presiding at the door was George Dawes.

With seasonal festivities over and the year 1950 ended, members of the Canadian Army look back on what proved to be their busiest twelve months ever encountered in peacetime. Their most important job was the raising of a force for service under United Nations command. In the short space of four months a 10,000 man brigade was recruited, trained, and sent to the United States and Korea where they are now undergoing advanced battle training. Early in the year more than 5,000 Canadian and U.S. troops and airmen combined to carry out Exercise Sweetbriar along the Alaska Highway system. During May, over 4,000 active and reserve force troops from across Canada were sent to the Red River Valley to fight the rampaging Manitoba flood waters. Military camps across Canada were kept busy during the summer months with an influx of nearly 22,000 personnel for annual training. They were members of the Reserve Forces, Royal Canadian Army Cadet Corps, and the Canadian Officer Training Corps. The following National Defence photos depict some of these activities:

2. The band of the Royal 22nd Regiment plays farewell music to the 2nd Battalion, Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry, as their troopship pulls out of Seattle for Korea.
3. Radar instruction is given to Officer Cadets at the Royal Canadian School of Artillery, Picton, Ont.
4. Anti-tank gun covers the approaches to a trestle bridge over the Donjek River during Exercise Sweetbriar.

Book Shows Royal Life

By EDWIN S. JOHNSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON ©—An insight into the arduous duties of royalty and their untiring service to the Commonwealth is given in a new book, "The Royal Family," (Odhams Press) illustrated and published in aid of King George's Jubilee Fund.

The author of the volume is Dermot Morrah, editor of the "Round Table," and proceeds will be devoted to the advancement of the welfare of the younger generation.

Touching briefly on the visit of the King and Queen to Canada in 1939, Mr. Morrah refers to their landing at Wolfe's Cove, where English troops had scaled the ramparts to the Plains of Abraham nearly 200 years before.

"It was a fitting sign of the reconciliation of the centuries," he writes, "that the first appearance of an English King in the new world should be on the historic ground of these battles long ago, and that not only Mr. Mackenzie King (the late prime minister but a French-Canadian Senator, with the cry of 'Vive le Roi,' should bid them welcome to their loyal city of Quebec."

MERRY MARGARET
In relating some amusing experiences in the royal household, the author underscores the wit of Princess Margaret. On one occasion some years ago, after the National Anthem had just been played, she ran to the King and asked: "Papa, do you sing God save my precious me?"

Another time, but on a more serious occasion, Princess Elizabeth asked for certain ideas to be incorporated in a speech she was to deliver on her 21st birthday. Later, a court official showed her a draft of the speech and after she had read it asked what she thought of it.

"Why, it made me cry," she replied.

"Good," said the official. "It will make 200,000,000 other people cry too. That is what we want. This was the speech in which the Princess dedicated her life to the service of the people of the Commonwealth.

This is how the author describes an average day put in by the sovereign, apart from special functions of state:

Every morning the King listens to the 8 a.m. radio news. He opens his own letters while having breakfast from a tray in his room. When parliament is sitting, breakfast time is also occupied in reading summaries of the previous day's debates. The King then looks over all the national daily papers.

BUSY DAYS
At 10:15 a.m. he is at his desk and receives his principal private secretary, followed by a session of reading and checking reports and documents from departments of state or from governments of the Commonwealth nations. It is nearly noon before he can find time to receive any visitors from outside the palace.

In the afternoon, if public engagements permit, the King reads cabinet papers and attends to other urgent business. At 5:30 p.m. on Tuesdays he has a regular conference with the prime minister.

Often when unforeseen developments upset time-tables and arrangements, it may mean overtime work far into the night.

"This program," Mr. Morrah says, "has to be carried through against a background of routine work behind the scenes which in itself would fully occupy the time of most private subjects."

The Queen's daily routine runs on parallel lines, except that she translates it into the feminine gender.

But Mr. Morrah has this to

Blackwood On Bridge

I have shown you two good reasons for over-calling: 1. If partner has some values and a fit with your hand you may be able to bid and make game even though the opponents have opened the bidding. 2. You may be able to win the scrap for the partial score on close hands.

Here is another reason. If you can't make a profit you may still be able to reduce your losses. For example, when opponents are vulnerable and you are not, it costs you almost 500 points if they bid and make a game. If you arrange for them to win 300 points instead, you are obviously effecting a saving. East-West vulnerable. East dealer.

Mr. Dale, the master of Bridge Humanics, didn't have too much in high cards for his overall in today's hand, but he had a pretty good suit—a vital consideration. If his partner didn't bid, Mr. Dale planned to make just this one call and pass thereafter. But Mr. Masters did raise the spades—and the opponents promptly got into three no trump.

Mr. Dale felt there were two important points to consider. First, a fine player like Mr. Champion probably knew what he was doing in pushing for the no trump game, and he is a practically flawless dummy player.

Second, after Mrs. Keen bid three no trump, Mr. Masters had a chance to double—and didn't. This undoubtedly meant that his raise was somewhat on the distributional side and he was leaving it up to Mr. Dale to decide whether to try and defeat the "no trump contract or sacrifice at four spades.

Mr. Dale's hand was of the aggressive type and not so good for defensive purpose. All in all he decided the enemy could make three no trump and so he

ABE SAPERSTEIN ... Coach

Those fun-loving Rover Boys of basketball, the fabulous Harlem Globetrotters, will come flying into town next Friday and Saturday to play the local Jets at Civic Centre.

The brand of merchandise the Globetrotters are dispensing this season is said to be the best. Two years ago local fans remember how their comedy antics literally laid the customers in the aisles. From the moment they take the floor for their celebrated comedy warmup to their hilarious game-ending antics, the "court jesters" are good for a thousand laughs.

Abe Saperstein's minions will come prepared with some well-rehearsed didoes, but even the dynamic owner-coach of the great quintet admits he doesn't know in advance half the stuff his talented player-comedians are apt to pull off in the course of an evening.

All this, however, doesn't detract their attention from their prime objective—that of winning ball games. The Negro stars are rightly proud of their sensational won-and-lost record and make certain a game is well in hand before going all out on the comedy. It's a rare occasion, though, when they're so hard-pressed they can't move into the comedy part of their repertoire.

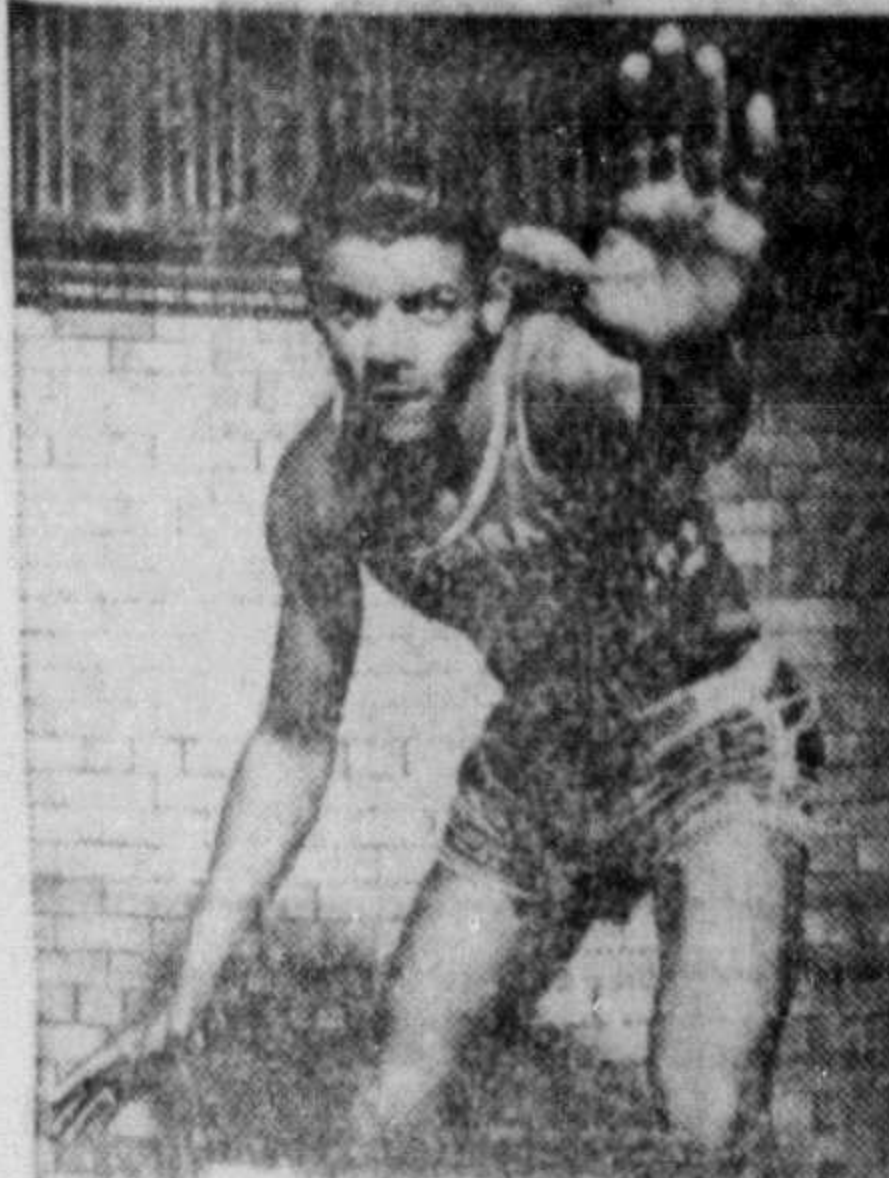

On the serious side, everything the Globetrotters do the moment a game starts constitutes a new unofficial record for basketball. That includes games and minutes played, victories, points scored, free throws made and so on down the line. Starting this campaign, Globetrotters boasted a record of 3421 wins, 245 defeats and a tie for their efforts the past 23 campaigns.

The won and lost record of the great Harlem Globetrotters basketball team, coming here this week, is amazing. The past 23 seasons have seen the magicians of the court pile up 3,421 victories against only 245 defeats and one tie for an average of .933. Last season was by far the most impressive in their career as accumulated 151 wins in 153 games during their regular schedule, then swept three straight games to capture the Cuba Invitational Tournament at Havana, won 11 victories to 7, the transcontinental World Series over the College All-Americans, and 72 out of 73 contests on a three-months tour of Europe and North Africa against the Stars of America and foreign quintets.

Percentage-wise, the Globetrotters' best seasons were 1933-34 when they won 152 and lost 2 for a .987 average, 1946-47 when 154 games were won and only three lost for .981 and 1947-48 when 152 victories and five setbacks brought a .968 rating. Each of the last two seasons they had winning streaks of over 100 in succession—101 in 1948-49, 113 in 1949-50.

Following is the Globetrotters' season-by-season record up to the start of the current campaign:

Naval Dance At New Year

The commanding officer and officers of H.M.C.S. Chatham and friends ushered in the new year with a dance at the drill hall annex. About 65 couples were present. The hall was suitably decorated for the occasion. Music by the Four Dukes orchestra continued until about 3:30 in the morning.

SHIPS and WATERFRONT

CPR steamer Princess Norah, Capt. Graham Hughes, north-bound from Vancouver to Skagway on a regular Alaska voyage, arrived in port at 11:30 New Year's morning and sailed north at 12:30 noon. Arriving here on the vessel were 52 passengers of whom eight disembarked here, the remainder continuing north. Two took passage from here for Alaska on the vessel. The passengers disembarking here were Mr. Taylor, Mrs. S. M. Saker, Miss Bernice Johnnie, J. Shevlen, Mrs. C. Worsley, J. Slatta and R. J. Holmes.

Smiles'n Chuckles

An Englishman was conversing with the clerk at the Ambassador Hotel. "Here's a riddle," said the clerk. "My mother gave birth to a child. It was neither my brother nor my sister. Who was it?"

Englishman: "I can't guess."
Clerk: "It was I."
Englishman: "Ha ha! Very clever. I must remember that."
The Englishman then told the story at his club. Said he: "Here's a riddle old top. My mother gave birth to a child, and it was neither my brother nor my sister. Who was it? You can't guess? Do you give up?"
"Yes."
"Ha, ha! It was the clerk at the Ambassador Hotel!"

The teacher had been giving a lesson on the use of the word "immaterial" and to discover what the children had learned, asked them to bring some article to school demonstrating the word.

"Well, Johnny," she asked the next day, "what have you brought?"
Johnny, rising, said, "Will you please hold this stick lightly at both ends?"
"All right, what next?"
"Now let go one end."
"Which end?" the teacher asked.
"Oh, it's immaterial. There's glue on both ends."

Mabel was all dressed up for a date with a successful man. "How do you know he's such a success?" her girl friend wanted to know.

"Well, his name is on every sucker list in the country," Mabel replied, "the Government takes most of his income, and he has two ulcers."

Motor Trip To Florida

After a three months' absence during which they motored through twenty-seven states, going as far as Miami, Florida, where they attended an electrical convention, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Forman returned to the city on the Camosun Sunday afternoon. The health of Mr. Forman, who is identified with the Northern B.C. Power Co. here, is greatly improved as a result of the change and the rest.

Mr. and Mrs. Forman spent Christmas at New Westminster with her mother, Mrs. W. P. Hall, and it was a happy family reunion for their three sons were all there—Jim, who is attending the University of Washington; Ted, who is taking a naval officer's course at Royal Roads, Victoria, and Allan, who is attending the University of British Columbia.

New Year In City Quiet

The last few moments before the ending of 1950 were exceptionally quiet, that is, as far as Prince Rupert was concerned. There were whistles and bells and all that, but the general volume of sound was far below what has been heard during past years.

Most of the New Year celebrations were confined inside and the police reported conditions very quiet.

Aero Club Dance Is Happy Affair

New Year's Eve at the Aero Club was a gay affair when about 100 couples gathered to greet 1951.

Music by Bobby Woods' Trio continued well into 1951. The festive spirit of the occasion was noted with the usual paper hats and cracker jacks popping as the clock reached the midnight hour. Arrangements were made by a committee consisting of Robert Woods, Robert Kelsey and John Findlay.

1951 Big Year—

Industries In Alaska At New High

Construction Topped Value Of $130,000,000 in 1950

JUNEAU—Production in 1950 from the Territory's fishery, mineral, timber, fur, tourist and construction industries was valued at approximately $430,000,000, a record high, according to a year-end review by the Alaska Development Board.

Coupled with the board's summary of 1950 business and industrial activity was a forecast that, barring the outbreak of world-wide hostilities, Alaskans can look forward in 1951 to another of the most prosperous years in the Territory's history.

Significant among 1950 developments, according to the board, was a substantial increase in the value of mineral production. While all information regarding the value of this basic Alaska activity is not yet available, the development board estimated it would total $17,500,000, which is $2,200,000 greater than last year and the highest level reached since World War II.

Gold mined in 1950 increased almost $2,000,000 over the previous year, the board estimated, while the production of non-metals such as sand and gravel also was greater owing to the expanded construction program.

Construction proved again in 1950 to be the largest single field of productive activity in Alaska, with more than $279,000,000 being expended by the military, by civilian government agencies and private companies and individuals for new works and buildings in the Territory.

CONSTRUCTION BIGGEST

The 1951 construction program for Alaska has been estimated at more than $300,000,000 on the basis of announcements already made. Most of this will centre in the Anchorage, Whittier and Fairbanks areas, although important projects are scheduled for almost every locality in Alaska.

Efforts looking to the establishment of large basic industry of types wholly new to Alaska continued through 1950, the development board stated. Several of the contemplated developments, including the advent of electrochemical and electrometallurgical industry in the Territory, are expected to figure prominently in the required expansion of national production to meet defense needs.

Fishery production in 1950 was valued at $100,000,000 or about the same as in the previous year, although the salmon pack in volume much reduced. The prospect for further price increases for fisheries products and large military purchases make the outlook in this field bright for 1951, according to the board summary.

Timber produced in Alaska in 1950 was valued at about $4,000,000, the board announced, the cut for 1950 totalling approximately $2,600,000 f.b.m. While the cut was down about 3,000,000 feet from the previous year, the value of products increased approximately $150,000.

With lumber requirements exceeding 100,000,000 f.b.m. for the 1951 Alaska construction program alone, a substantial production increase from the Territory's mills is expected in the current year. Plans are afoot, according to the development board, for manufacturing new timber products, including plywood, in Alaska as part of the national defense production program.

Owing to increased prices, the value of Alaska's 1950 fur production reached about $7,000,000, up $700,000 from 1949. With prices continuing their rise, Alaska trappers should have a good year in 1951, according to the board.

Slight increases were noted in the Alaska tourist industry over 1949's record volume of 67,000 visitors. Total tourist expenditures, including transportation, were estimated at more than $25,000,000. Sharp reductions in tourist travel to the Territory are feared unless the international situation clears, although such a decline might be offset in large measure by the activities of the newly organized Alaska Visitors Association.

Alaska received tangible evidence of growth during 1950 in the announcement of results from the new census. These revealed the Territory to be the fastest-growing area under the American flag. Population of Alaska last April, according to the census, was 128,643. The increase of 77.4 per cent over 1939 was far greater than that shown by any State.

Likewise substantial gains were shown by the census of business, results of which were announced during the year. Retail sales for 1948, the period studied, were up 307 per cent over 1939, while wholesale sales increased 256 per cent.

Bank deposits in Alaska as of June 30, 1950, totalled $78,000,000 which was an increase of $13,000,000 over the previous year. Increased interest in the Territory by individuals, business concerns and large industries was reflected in the many thousands of inquiries received during 1950 by the Alaska Development Board.

Country "Doc" Still On Job

How Canada Is Served By Doctors, Hospitals, Nurses and Dentists

TORONTO—What's happened to the country doctor? He's still on the job, according to the majority of Farm Forum groups that discussed this topic on November 27, 1950.

The groups were asked: Are the medical services in your community adequate in regard to doctors? Nurses? Hospitals? Dentists? The groups replied as follows:

- Doctors—Adequate ..... 62%
- Nurses—Adequate ..... 24%
- Hospitals—Adequate ..... 45%
- Dentists—Adequate ..... 40%

The people in the 1070 groups that reported on these questions are from farms, and they represent all provinces except Newfoundland. The Quebec groups, however, are only in English-speaking areas. The percentages given above are national. In some answers there were wide variations between provinces.

Only 49 per cent of the groups in the three Maritime provinces reported adequate doctors' services, as compared with 77 per cent in Quebec and 68 per cent in Manitoba. Poor roads, lack of hospital facilities and poor housing accommodation were the main reasons suggested for lack of doctors.

In regard to nurses, Ontario is the poorest served and Alberta the best served, judging from the replies. Only 16 per cent of the Ontario groups said that nurses' services are adequate as compared with 58 per cent of the Alberta groups.

The west is evidently better supplied with hospitals than the East. Seventy-one per cent of the answers in Alberta and Manitoba and 62 per cent in Saskatchewan reported adequate hospital services. In the east, Quebec was ahead with 69 per cent reporting adequate hospital services, 58 per cent in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, 50 per cent in Prince Edward Island and only 34 per cent in Ontario.

Dentists were reported scarce in all provinces except Alberta where 67 per cent of the groups said dental services are adequate. Other provinces did not vary a great deal from the national average of 40 per cent.

Union steamers Chilcotin and Camosun were in port together Sunday afternoon and evening. The Chilcotin, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived at 1:45 p.m. from south Queen Charlotte Island points and sailed at 8 p.m. for Vancouver, and the Camosun, Capt. J. Halcrow, arrived at 2:30 p.m. from Vancouver, sailing at 11 p.m. for Alice Arm and seaward whence she returned here this morning Southbound. It being New Year's Eve, travel on both vessels was light.

Captain Quinn To Magnificent

Capt. Howard L. Quinn, who started his naval career in Prince Rupert and who has been director of naval reserves since September 1949, has been transferred from that position to executive officer of H.M.C.S. Magnificent, Canada's aircraft carrier. Commander Angus G. Boulton becomes director of naval reserves in place of Capt. Quinn.

Commander Quinn started his naval career in the R.C.N.V.R., which he first entered in 1925 at Prince Rupert as an ordinary seaman. He went on active service as a lieutenant, R.C.N.V.R., in September 1940, and was appointed, after training, to the corvette H.M.C.S. Collingwood. After serving in her on North Atlantic convoy duty, he was appointed ashore in August 1942 for a navigation course. In February 1943 he took command of the corvette Eyebright.

Commander Quinn left the Eyebright in July 1944, and a month later commissioned the new frigate H.M.C.S. Strathadam. He remained in this appointment for a year, and for a short time during this period served as senior officer of the 25th Escort Group.

In April 1945, the Strathadam led two other frigates, La Hulioise and Thetford Mines, in a successful attack on the German submarine U-1302. For his service on this occasion, Commander Quinn was awarded the Distinguished Service Cross.

He transferred to the R.C.N. in March 1946, and was appointed to the cruiser Uganda as first lieutenant. In November 1947 he went ashore as first lieutenant of the R.C.N. barracks in H.M.C.S. Naden, Esquimalt. Commander Quinn was appointed to naval headquarters in August 1948 as deputy director of naval reserves.

On September 7, 1949, he was appointed director of naval reserves with the acting rank of captain.

"Now, I want everyone to write me a short description of the funniest thing you ever saw," the teacher said to her class.

After five minutes she saw that one of her pupils had put down his pencil and had apparently completed his composition.

"Surely you haven't finished already?" she asked.

"Oh yes, I have miss," was the answer. "The funniest thing I ever saw was too funny for words."

"We'll look silly telling him it's only the mumps."

Woman Takes Place In Composing Room

VANCOUVER—One of the last of the men's strongholds, a newspaper composing room, has been invaded by women here.

Mrs. Charlotte Maitland, an all-round newspaper woman, is working among 50 men in the composing room of the Vancouver Sun. One of the few female linotypists in Canada, she began her career when she left high school to set type in Hartney, Man.

Three years later she moved to another weekly newspaper at Souris, Man., and eight years later retired in favor of marriage. Now the shortage of help finds her back among the machines. She came here after the death of her husband.
