Princess Elizabeth's Trip to Canada Going on—King Better Today

LONDON (CP)—Princess Elizabeth decided last night to postpone her Canadian tour until October 1, when she may stay near the bedside of the King during the next few anxious days of his recovery from a major operation.

The Princess and Duke of Edinburgh have put off for one week their royal tour of Canada, which was to have started on October 2. The 55-year-old monarch had originally planned to arrive in Quebec next Tuesday. The Royal couple will disclose later whether it will still be possible for them to carry out their plan to visit President Truman in Washington. Announcement of the postponement came from Clarence House, the London residence of the Princess and the Duke, after Buckingham Palace had warned that the King's condition would cause "some anxiety for the next week or ten days." Reports today were much more encouraging. The 55-year-old monarch underwent a serious lung operation on Sunday. Yesterday's announcements said his strength was improving but their tone was not so optimistic as previous bulletins.

Today however, the King's doctors announced he had spent a better night, was stronger, appetite improving and progress continuing. The King's health is the key to whether the tour still occurs this fall or is put over until next spring. In Ottawa officials who read announcement of the postponement interpreted it as meaning she and the Duke of Edinburgh intended to come later in October if the King's condition will permit. They thought it might be another two or three days before the situation finally clarifies. At least a one week's delay—that is sooner than October 9 was predicted by one official. This was later confirmed in London.

Vancouver Evens up

VICTORIA (CP)—Vancouver Combines found their running legs last night and outtraced the Peterborough Petes 11 to 7 to tie the best of seven game series at one game apiece. The Combines did not look like the same team which stumbled to a 16 to 9 loss in the first game Monday.

Arrangements Complete For News Colored Comics

After some difficulty in arranging for the necessary newsprint, the Daily News has been able to finalize negotiations whereby a regular 8-page color comic section will be added as a weekly feature to this paper.

Assurances have been received that should make first publication possible in the issue of October 27. The supplement will appear each Saturday.

Considerable expense has been involved in the securing of this new feature with a view to improving the service and increasing the popularity of the paper. That it will be appreciated by old and young alike is indicated by comment heard since the first announcement was made. The features to be offered are:

Li'l Abner, Abbie and Slat, Captain and the Kids, Nancy, Fritzi-Ritz, Tarzan, Ella Cinders, and Casey Ruggles.

Japanese Striving to Regain Marine Place

TOKYO, (Reuters)—Japan lost nearly 9,000,000 tons of shipping in the war and now works hard to win back something like her former place on the world's sea lanes.

Anticipating the peace treaty, the American-directed occupation loosened former controls on Japanese ship operation. The "Maru" ships are operating their first major post-war scheduled services to North America, Slam, Pakistan and India.

Permission to resume regular berth services came on June of this year. Occupation authorities, announcing approval of Japan's re-entry into this service, said the step was prompted by the recent performance of the Japanese shipping industry and by Japanese government measures which ensured "fair practices" and prohibition of "false billing, weighing, tallying, and invoicing of cargo to obtain a lower freight rate." The goal is for the country's fleet eventually to carry up to 50 per cent of her export and import trade in his own vessels.

Before the war, Japan carried up to 60 per cent of her foreign trade. Now her shipping experts estimate that Japanese vessels carry 40 per cent of the country's foreign trade at best.

Mobilization of maximum tonnage would include the competition of the post-war ship construction program; remodeling of wartime standard ships; salvaging of sunken vessels, purchase of second-hand ships from abroad, and chartering of foreign vessels.

At the end of March, 1951, Japan had little more than 1,500,000 gross tons, including both coastal and seagoing vessels. This was considered enough to carry little more than 22.5 per cent of Japan's 1951 foreign trade volume estimated at 22.6 million metric tons.

At present, Japan is authorized for these monthly sailings on these international shipping routes: four to North America, one to South America, four to Okinawa, two to India and Pakistan, and three to Bangkok, Slam. In addition, the Japanese have applied for permission to open regular shipping lines to the Philippines, Indonesia, Hong Kong, Formosa, Korea, the Marianas, the Bonins and Australia.

Four Japanese lines participate in the reopened North American run, each with one monthly sailing.

Tory Odds Being Cut

LONDON (CP)—British bookmakers today view the prospects of a Conservative victory in the October 25 election more cautiously than a week ago. They laid odds of 2 to 1 in favor of the Conservatives winning where last week it was 5 to 1, so confident were the bookmakers then of a Labor defeat.

Smithers Bus to Run by Day Instead of By Night

Canadian National Transportation Ltd. announces change in bus operation to provide day service between Prince Rupert and Smithers commencing Sunday, September 30.

The bus will leave Prince Rupert at 8:00 a.m. Sunday and Friday and arrive at Smithers at 6:40 p.m., the same days. Returning, it will leave Smithers at 8:00 a.m. Monday and Saturday, arriving at Prince Rupert at 6:40 p.m. the same days.

It is felt that a day service will prove more popular with residents at various points served and it is for this reason the change has been made.

Since its inauguration a few months ago, the bus service has been run by night.

Stenographer To Princess

H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth
Gets Thrilling Assignment

OTTAWA — Taking dictation from H.R.H. Princess Elizabeth and H.R.H. the Duke of Edinburgh during their tour of Canada would be a dream for any stenographer.

And that is just what it is for Leading Airwoman Roberta (Bobbie) Richards of Edmundston, N.B., with one important exception—it is a dream that may well come true.

Bobbie answered all the requirements of being bilingual, intelligent and an excellent stenographer so now she has been chosen as a stenographer to accompany the royal couple on their October tour of Canada and the United States. She will be a member of the secretarial group in charge of typing letters, speeches and other official documents for Their Royal Highnesses.

"I think I'm the luckiest girl in Canada," says Bobbie about her new Air Force assignment. "When they told me about it, I couldn't believe my ears and I still think it's too wonderful for words. I keep asking myself 'How lucky can you be?'"

On loan from her RCAF station at St. John's, P.Q., she has been singing the happy secretary's song at Air Force headquarters these past two weeks getting geared up on her new duties and is scheduled to spend some time in the office of the Under Secretary of State receiving final instructions.

Among the important but non-secretarial duties she is learning is how to curtsy and address royalty. These and other rules of office court procedure will become a familiar story to her before the tour ends in November.

She will occupy a compartment on the Royal train and because she must look smart and neat at all times—a requisite for secretaries and airwomen alike

Masons Return From Ocean Falls

A party of local Masons returned yesterday on the Prince George from Ocean Falls, following institution of the Mount Marion Lodge there. Party included Oswald-Hokins, Smithers, district deputy grand master; C. A. Lerner, M. M. Stephens, C. C. Mill's, Robert Parker, R. O. Evans, John Thompson Dr. R. G. Large and James Brough (Smithers).

She has been allowed leeway in the matter of luggage. She has been given extra service clothing and plans to pack five uniforms, two hats, seven Air Force shirts, four ties, nine pair of stockings and three pairs of shoes into her suitcases for the grand tour.

Born in Fredericton, N.B., she went as a small child to Edmundston with her parents and there learned French and English simultaneously. "I've always known two languages," she says, "I guess it's paying off now."

At the RCAF Station, St. John's, I.Q., she was in the process of finishing a Physical Recreation training instructor's course when news of the posting came through. "The whole station was as excited as I was," she recalls, "and I'll have lots to tell them when I get back."

She was a member of the Women's Division of the RCAF during the Second World War as a supply clerk, and served at Mont Joli, St. John's, Que., and Lachine. She took her secretarial course as part of her rehabilitation to civilian life after the war and worked in a pulp and paper company in Edmundston until joining up in June, of this year. She is a charter member of the 251 Madawaska Wing RCAF Association.

Her mother, Mrs. Robert H. Richards, lives at Edmundston as do her brothers, Oscar and Frederick, and a sister, Mrs. Marshall Smith, lives at Madawaska, Maine.

ROYAL TOUR. A ball gown designed to delight any woman planning a special gown for the Canadian visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh, is this creation by Angèle Delanghe of London. Called "Royal Tour" it is in green brocade starred in gold, has skirt fullness falling from a low neckline and a deep cuff-top to emphasize the bustline. Shoulder straps are wide and a tiny peplum at the back gives the effect of a full train skirt escaping from the confines of jacket tails. (CP PHOTO)

Camel caravans, horses, donkeys and flat-bottomed river boats are among the means of transportation used by the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF), to distribute milk, food, raw materials and medicines to needy children in some 60 different countries around the globe. ## 41 New Legionnaires

Treatment of Pensioners
Discussed With MP Present

The first regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Branch of the Canadian Legion was held last evening after the summer recess when President Red McLeod was in the chair and there was a large attendance of members. An outstanding feature was the approval of applications for membership from forty-one veterans. The other feature of the meeting was the discussion on the Legion's presentation to the Dominion Government of their brief for better financial treatment for pensioners, War Veteran Allowance recipients and widows of ex-service men.

The matter of pensioners' treatment was introduced by Zone Commander John S. Wilson who urged the support by a local member of the federal government, E. T. Applewhite, of the Legion's demands. Resolutions submitted by Mr. Wilson and W. H. Murray were unanimously endorsed. A strong letter from the Alice Arm branch also asked for endorsement of the Legion's presentation.

Mr. Applewhite spoke at length. He was wholeheartedly in favor of better treatment for the returned man and his dependents. He assured his audience that he would listen carefully to all submissions and, while he refrained from promising to support any actual figures at the moment, at that might limit action later on, he would take every proper action to have the Legion's submission approved.

Mr. Wilson also reported that the legislative committee of the provincial executive had appeared before the B.C. Hospital Insurance Inquiry Board submitting the case on the Legion's views on the operation of the scheme.

Various routine matters were also discussed with reports on visits to the hospital by members of the visiting committee and the provision of comforts for ex-service patients. The executive committee will hold a special meeting to plan for the observance of Remembrance Day and the annual parade and sale of poppies.

Drove Long Way Thru New Snow

Snow was falling all the way from Lac la Hache to Telkwa as they returned to the city this week from a motor trip to Vancouver, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Black report. At Vanderhoof there was four inches of snow on the ground.

"Just terrible" was the way Mr. Black described the road between Lac la Hache and Prince George on which maintenance work appears to have been discontinued completely.

Detours on the road between Prince Rupert and Vanderhoof make driving difficult but, with the minister of public works due to travel over it this week, the road from Vanderhoof through to Prince Rupert was in good shape.

HERE and NOW

By LARRY STANWOOD

TODAY IS OPEN-letter day. If other columnists can do it, I told myself, there is no reason why I shouldn't do it too... let the public read some of my letters. After all, it is my only recourse to prove that I do write letters.

Public Works Committee,
City Council.

Dear Sirs:

I see by the newspapers that your committee has finally taken initiative in your own hands and has procured in considerable quantity gravel for road paving work in the city. I consider this a most commendable course of action on your part.

However, I have been doing a little wondering. Is there any chance of some of this gravel being used for its designed purpose this year? A neighbor of mine tells me that it is quite likely we will have about two weeks of good weather this fall. If he is right, I would consider it very prudent and good, sound, political strategy if, say the Cow Bay road were paved.

Yours truly,

Hospital Campaign Committee
"The Old Liquor Store," Prince Rupert.

Dear Sirs:

I think you people have been doing a fine job, too. From all the publicity in the newspapers and over the air, I'm convinced of two things: the hospital needs a new heating plant, and it needs around 40 more beds.

Your campaign now has been going two weeks, and from the news item in last night's paper I gather that everyone is very much alive to the desperate need of the hospital. But what puzzles me a little, in your campaign, I have not noticed a day-to-day thermometer or donation chart.

I believe this is of considerable interest to all people. They, you say, are very much interested in your campaign. Well, I think they would be just as much interested in seeing how much other people are interested. And that by seeing how much they have contributed, as a total, of course.

Hoping for more contributions to your good cause, please accept this enclosed donation on my behalf, and I'll remain,

Yours truly,

To My Good Neighbor,
Ninth Avenue East.

Dear Neighbor:

What was that you said about good weather for two more weeks? Yesterday I believed you with all my heart. Today, well, maybe I still believe you but most of heart has gone out of it.

I hope you were up early enough this morning—about nine—when the clouds ripped all their seams and deluged everything in sight.

I also hope you were in sight. But maybe I'm too harsh, or too unbelieving. That two weeks of good weather may still come. Those forecast gales and rainstorms will likely blow themselves out at sea or bypass this city. Likely, you have no doubt at all but that we are only subjected to a "few little showers," just as you told me yesterday.

Hoping that your weather forecasting record is of good standing, I believe remain,

Yours truly,

HOTTEST CLIMATE

Relocate Ski Run

New Tow to be Installed If Contours Found Satisfactory

The main ski run on Mount Hays will be re-located this year and a new ski-tow installed if the "Kindergarten" run prove satisfactory following initial attempts.

A working party will hit the mountain trail this week-end, it was decided last night at the annual general meeting of Prince Rupert Ski Club.

President-elect George Mostad told the meeting he had tentative figures of some $800 which would be needed for a complete new towing unit, using a 25-horse-power engine. It was decided, if the new unit was purchased, to leave the smaller tow on what is now the main ski run, on top of the mountain.

Meanwhile, Mr. Mostad reviewed the cabin space situation advising all members to apply as soon as possible for accommodation in order to know which cabins would be used so repairs could be made in time for the skiing season.

The main lodge, a building one large room with fireplace containing one large room with fireplace and several small-rooms adjoining, was left in the hands of the housing committee to decide on disposal during the season.

Problem encountered in the past, said Mr. Mostad, was that because of lack of supervision a lot of non-members had been using the lodge indiscriminately and without care, and in certain instances had caused actual damage.

It was unanimously agreed by the meeting that from now until skiing begins, as much work as possible would be done on the new ski run, cutting of winter supply wood and giving attention to cabins.

BOOSTS LITTLE THEATRE

Editor, Daily News:

As a newcomer to this city, I would like to comment on the public apathy towards one of our main sources of cultural interest—the Prince Rupert Little Theatre Association.

I attended one of their meetings recently and was impressed by the spirit of a few new members but dismayed by the apparent lack of support shown by former club affiliates.

Here is a grand opportunity to contribute to the general civic welfare and to provide a welcome activity for new citizens.

Speaking as one of those new citizens, I would like to say, "come on Prince Rupert and get behind your local drama group."

Heading for Native Meet

To attend a meeting of the executive of the Native Brotherhood of British Columbia which will deal principally with the impact of the new Indian Act upon the native people, district Indian leaders are heading for Vancouver. The meeting will be held this week-end.

Johnson Russ of Greenville, vice-president of the Brotherhood for the Naas River, left on today's plane for Vancouver. Harold Sinclair of Kitwanga, vice-president for the interior district, and Charles Dudoward of Port Simpson, vice-president for the Skeena River district, are already there.

Frank Calder, MLA for Atlin, will also attend.

Speaking to the Daily News this morning before he left, Mr. Russ said that some exception was being taken to the natives having to waive certain rights and having to pay land taxes in order to get the federal vote—something that the provincial government did not require in granting the franchise.

There was some discontent also about half-breeds having to register in future as whites without any option in the matter.

J. R. Bundison, prominent Boston industrialist, and Mrs. Bundison, in the course of a vacation trip to the Pacific Coast, arrived in the city from the East on Tuesday night's train. They sailed last night on the Prince George to make the round trip to Ketchikan and thence to Vancouver.

Divorce petition of Birtle Larson vs Violet Cecelia Larson, which was listed at the recent Supreme Court session here and which the Daily News intimated yesterday had been granted, was adjourned until the spring session of the court. Frederick M. Hill of Cow Bay was cited as co-respondent in this case, a name which should not be confused with F. C. Hill, 1413 Eighth Avenue East.

Aluminums are Being Offered

MONTREAL—Some large new financing is to be undertaken by Aluminium Ltd. Preliminary approval has been given, the company announces, to a proposal for offering additional common shares to shareholders at the rate of one new share for each 10 already held.

It is proposed, the company stated, to issue the additional common at a price not to exceed $65 a share (Can.). At $65 each, this would mean total receipts of $24,933,325 for the 372,205 shares to be offered. Early this week, Aluminium Ltd.

common was being traded at $101½ per share. Application will be made shortly to register the additional stock under the United States Securities Act of 1933. Subject to this being done, the directors, it is expected, will issue the warrants for record on or about Oct. 18, 1951.

This will be the first time since December, 1930, that Aluminium Ltd. has issued warrants to shareholders for purchasing new common shares. At that time a total of 54,059 shares were sold on the warrants at $30 each (Aluminium common was split five-for-one in 1943). It will be the first time since 1937 that common stock has been sold by the company; at that time 50,000 shares were sold for a total of $5,420,078.

N.H.A. DESIGN-OF-THE-MONTH

This popular bungalow design has many features to attract a prospective house-builder who is interested in modern comfort, sleek lines and luxury touches in a three-bedroom house. It would be suitable in either a suburban setting or a narrow residential lot in the city.

The most interesting points of the living room are the large stone fireplace and the wide expanse of window overlooking the surrounding patio. The dining room and kitchen are well-planned and aimed towards convenience and efficiency in house-keeping.

Bedrooms are all equipped with sufficient closet space and located conveniently near the bathroom. The basement may be reached either directly from the back door, which is adjacent to the kitchen, or from the center of the house.

This comfortable home is 28 feet by 47 feet 9 inches and for estimating purposes has an area of 984 square feet. Cubic contents measure 19,735 cubic feet.

Festival Dates Set

Date for next spring's Music and Drama Festival here will be from April 29 to May 2, the club decided at its meeting Wednesday night. Last two days in April will be used for musical presentations; the first two days in May, for drama.

First project which is being worked on in preparation for the festival is compilation and printing in booklet form the festival syllabus, which is in charge this year of Sister Mary Lawrence, assisted by Henry Phym.

Others assisting with the syllabus are Mrs. C. Anderson, Peter Lien and Mrs. H. S. Cobb.

The booklet, which contains a list of all possible entries in the Festival, will be distributed among schools from Burns Lake to Stewart and southeastern Alaska.

It was decided also that this year's adjudicator, Burken L. Keith, supervisor of music in Vancouver schools, will again be asked to judge music in the 1952 festival.

Department of Education supplies an adjudicator of drama and would be approached for this service.

The meeting was well represented and President Mrs. Ecker commended those attending, welcoming newcomers to the club. Executive, which was elected at the end of last spring's festival, includes also the following:

R. H. Davidson, first vice-president; Mr. Olsen, second vice-president; Mrs. H. S. Whalen, secretary; Charles Roberts, treasurer; Frank Skinner, business manager; Mrs. J. S. Black, Mrs.

U.N. Fellows Get Some Medical Secrets

A surgeon and a pretty blond physician, both from Yugoslavia, say the United Nations program of technical assistance is helping their country in its efforts to restore nearly 500,000 disabled persons to as fully a normal life as possible. Dr. Miroslav Zolovic, Belgrade traumatologist and orthopedic surgeon (center), and Dr. Valerija Franjo Pavletic, 29-year-old doctor and lecturer in pathological anatomy (right), get a practical demonstration of the latest methods of rehabilitation of the physically handicapped from a world authority, Dr. Henry H. Kessler, who is a U.N. consultant in this field.

Wacky College Football Films

An hilariously zany view of college life, as it was never lived before, is provided by Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis in "That's My Boy," entertaining booking between now and Saturday at the Capitol Theatre.

Jerry plays the part of a bedraggled youth who suffers from anaemia, allergies and miscellaneous ailments, much to the pain of his father, a hairy-chested, health-conscious former all American football star who feels that nature has played him a dirty trick.

When Jerry is sent off to college with instructions to make the varsity football team, the fun rolls into high gear. His room mate is Dean Martin, star of the team and campus Romeo who takes Jerry into tow and tries to teach him some tricks which results in both getting into side-splitting trouble. Eventually, Jerry makes the team and a few co-eds besides.

Is in a Name?

People have been suggesting lately that capitalism would have a better chance of withstanding the challenge of socialism if it could get rid of "capitalism." A new name—possibly some "mutualism," or "productivism" is suggested.

The system does need a fresh definition. Practice and business philosophy are in change. New methods of production, sales management are being constantly tried. New relationships are emerging. The very nature of the system has been greatly altered since the name came into use.

There was a time when capitalism was synonymous with the exploitation of labor and the concentration of wealth in the hands of a handful. Today it has a somewhat different meaning. Perhaps this is the important thing.

Changing the name is the best that can be done in the contest for men's minds, then capitalism will throw in the sponge now. Ultimately the system for capitalism—or any other system—must stand on its own intrinsic merits.

Socialists believe that capitalism will promote well being for mankind than socialism. They have every right to their opinion. Unlike the capitalists, they do not take orders from foreign powers nor do they wish to destroy the government. They want to expand it and make it more powerful. They want the state—by legal democratic processes—to take over more and more functions.

The proponents of capitalism, on the other hand, believe their system has clearly demonstrated its superiority.

The chief enemy of human freedom through history has been a too powerful state and, whether how protective and paternalistic its policies may have been at times, it has been feared.

There is also a fundamental fact of human nature that cannot be ignored: A man will exert himself if he can benefit himself and his family in an improved standard of living in the ownership of property or in a better social standing in his community. These things, he knows, are available in a system that requires extra individual effort.

For the capitalistic system, it can be said that it turned the luxury of yesterday into the commonplace of today, be that better or worse for the people, incentive and initiative of the people.

As I See It

by
Elmore Philpott

Anxious London

LONDON — Even before your plane touches down in this ancient but still vibrant world capital you feel the pangs of anxiety over the health of His bejeweled Majesty, King George. Sombre crowds wait at our airport for Princess Margaret is flying in from Scotland. Just behind our TCA North Star, in front of Buckingham Palace, there are many hundreds more, hushed, waiting. "Just sympathy, gov'nor, just sympathy." The matter-of-fact policeman explains their presence.

MEANWHILE the first International Parliamentary Conference on World Government is off to a good—and thorough British—sendoff. I was just too late for the garden party yesterday here at Bedford College where many of the 300 delegates from 14 different countries are billeted. But I was on deck early this morning when the entire assemblage was invited over to the Festival of Britain. In fact I had a wonderful chance to get a plug in for B.C. plywood.

We had been received by the director general of the festival, Sir Gerald Barry. For some unknown reason the working chairman of this convention, Gilbert McAllister, passed over all the MP's and Senators present and asked me to take the reply.

I remarked on the beautiful wood in the Royal Pavilion where we were given coffee and then said what a wonderful thing it seemed to us that, with an election only a month away, British MP's of all three parties would still go ahead in friendly partnership to help draw the international blue-prints for the future parliament of all mankind. Sir Barry replied—after the laughter about the plywood—that while I had guessed wrong about the source of the wood in the Royal Pavilion, they had used B.C. plywood in the wonderfully impressive outdoor laminated arches.

SUNDAY afternoon they staged a special service for us in St. Paul's. The Canadians at this convention were well represented in the vast congregation. I noticed all three Horner brothers also Senator Byron Horner's wife. The Senator is a Conservative but his brother, Norval, was a CCF MLA and officially represents Premier Douglas of Saskatchewan.

As we sat near the front of the cathedral waiting for the service to start, I thought how giant were the strides which have been taken toward world government since the meeting only last April in Rome.

There the British MP's had also played a key role by arranging an audience with the Pope. They must surely have favorably impressed His Holiness. For next day that great world figure blessed and strongly supported the movement which had literally grown up from the grassroots from the people, of many lands, colors and religions.

NOW HERE we are, in the core and heart of the English church, to get the blessing and advice of another great Christian communion. You would be pretty insensitive not to feel the radiations of spiritual power that came out of this hallowed spot, St. Paul's, at such a time as this.

It is the typical Church of England evening service shortened a bit and modified only by an unusual prayer for the King, who for all we know may be at this very moment on the operating table.

Then the preacher mounts the pulpit. He is Canon Collins, darkish, fortyish, lean, earnest, commonsense English of the English in his ultra matter-of-fact approach. He starts from the end of the First World War and touches on man's attempts to build machinery to keep world order.

He traces the crumbling of the old League of Nations and the second attempt creation of UN. He pictures the dire predicament that faces mankind if the war monster is not overcome. He concedes that it requires faith, vision and idealism to work for something as beyond us as a world government, but will you gamble on something good? he asks.

Where the odds against you are a million to one "many of you bet every week on the football pools," he declares, looking straight at the sea cadets who are out in full force. They snigger, nudge one another, for the shot has struck home. Man must have world govern-

"Trashy" Books Cause Offences

MONTREAL (C)—The National Council of Women was told that a sharp increase in the number of "highly dramatic crimes" in recent years is largely attributable to "the sad plight of the modern, so-called literature."

Mrs. C. L. Pearson of Toronto, in her report as chairman of the council's committee on cinema and printed matter, said such crimes usually follow "one or the other of the threadbare patterns of trashy books."

Unless there is greater care in encouraging good books and discouraging the bad, "we shall be faced with an impossible situation."

"One rapid glance at the cheap bookstalls of any modern city reveals an appalling number of filthy magazines, morbid picture and comic books and smutty novels. These are quite capable of directing their victims into paths of crime and vice."

Reports from local committees indicated active work in promoting the use of library facilities, enlisting the co-operation of theatre managers, endeavoring to have unseemly films and literature eliminated, and encouraging the showing of good films.

Reporting for the committee on moral standards, Mrs. A. W. Martin of Burwash, Ont., told of the work of local committees acting on circulars dealing with such subjects as alcoholism, gambling, beauty contests, the unmarried mother and the Christian Sunday.

A report from Victoria severely criticized lurid comics, while commending teachers who endeavored to supplant these with ment, the Canon continues, but they will labor in vain who build it unless they build in the spirit of the Master whose words we had just read. (Isaiah 11 and Luke 7:8.)

TOMORROW WE start the working sessions of the conference in the building where the British House of Commons met during wartime when its own home had been smashed down. This conference, I think, will decide whether or not the sacrifice of those British people, made for all humanity at the time of direct need, were in vain.

For today I chatted with Professor Hans Thirring of Austria who in 1946 wrote the papers on which the hydrogen bomb is based. This latest bomb cannot destroy the whole earth, he tells me, for the talk of a chain reaction to blow up the earth is a myth. But it is deadly enough to put all mankind square on spot of choice: unite under law or perish under anarchy.

ray.. Reflects and Reminisces

All one can say about Simon Fraser today is that, should he revisit the vicinity of where he wrote his name on a coast cliff more than a century ago, and where the Aluminum people are now making rocks fly, he simply wouldn't know the place.

EXPENSES WERE REAL

Mrs. Nadlo Goya yesterday walked out from a glass case in Italy, where she was sealed for 62 days. She drank salted water, ate no food and smoked twelve cigarettes daily. Plainly, she had an able financier.

Ex-Alderman Douglas Frizzell used to swim across the harbor every New Year's Day. This was up to some years ago. He exulted in his strength and to beholders, he simply defied the deep. We have not, of late, witnessed, or heard of anything of the kind but refuse to believe that these achievements are gone for aye. Thus, 1952 is awaited with confidence.

MORE LIKELY

All of the eleven bodies of those on the plane that crashed on a Vancouver Island peak have been recovered after many months of exposure. Someone near Seward sighted what he took for more than thirty passengers, lost when flying from Vancouver to Tokyo. All this amounted to was a chunk of ice. Scores of expert fliers searched for weeks in all likely and unlikely places. Never a vestige! More and more does it seem the sea can disclose their fate.

A picture of Prince Rupert waterfront in 1906 described by the mayor in his Tuesday evening broadcast, reveals a tiny wharf, makeshift warehouse, a few shacks and tents and woods. With all that could be said, there is nothing to blush for the development of forty-five years.

NATURALLY

Commercial fishing ended for the season last evening in the northern area. It might again be asked why do so many easterners say they prefer the eastern salmon. It's been heard they would rather have it because of the flavor. Any article of food tastes better when there is less of it.

DUTCH WATERWAYS

The Netherlands has 4,300 miles of navigable rivers and canals.

YOUR HOSPITAL HAS A PROBLEM ....

And it's a serious one.

Prince Rupert's population has been growing with leaps and bounds in the past few years.

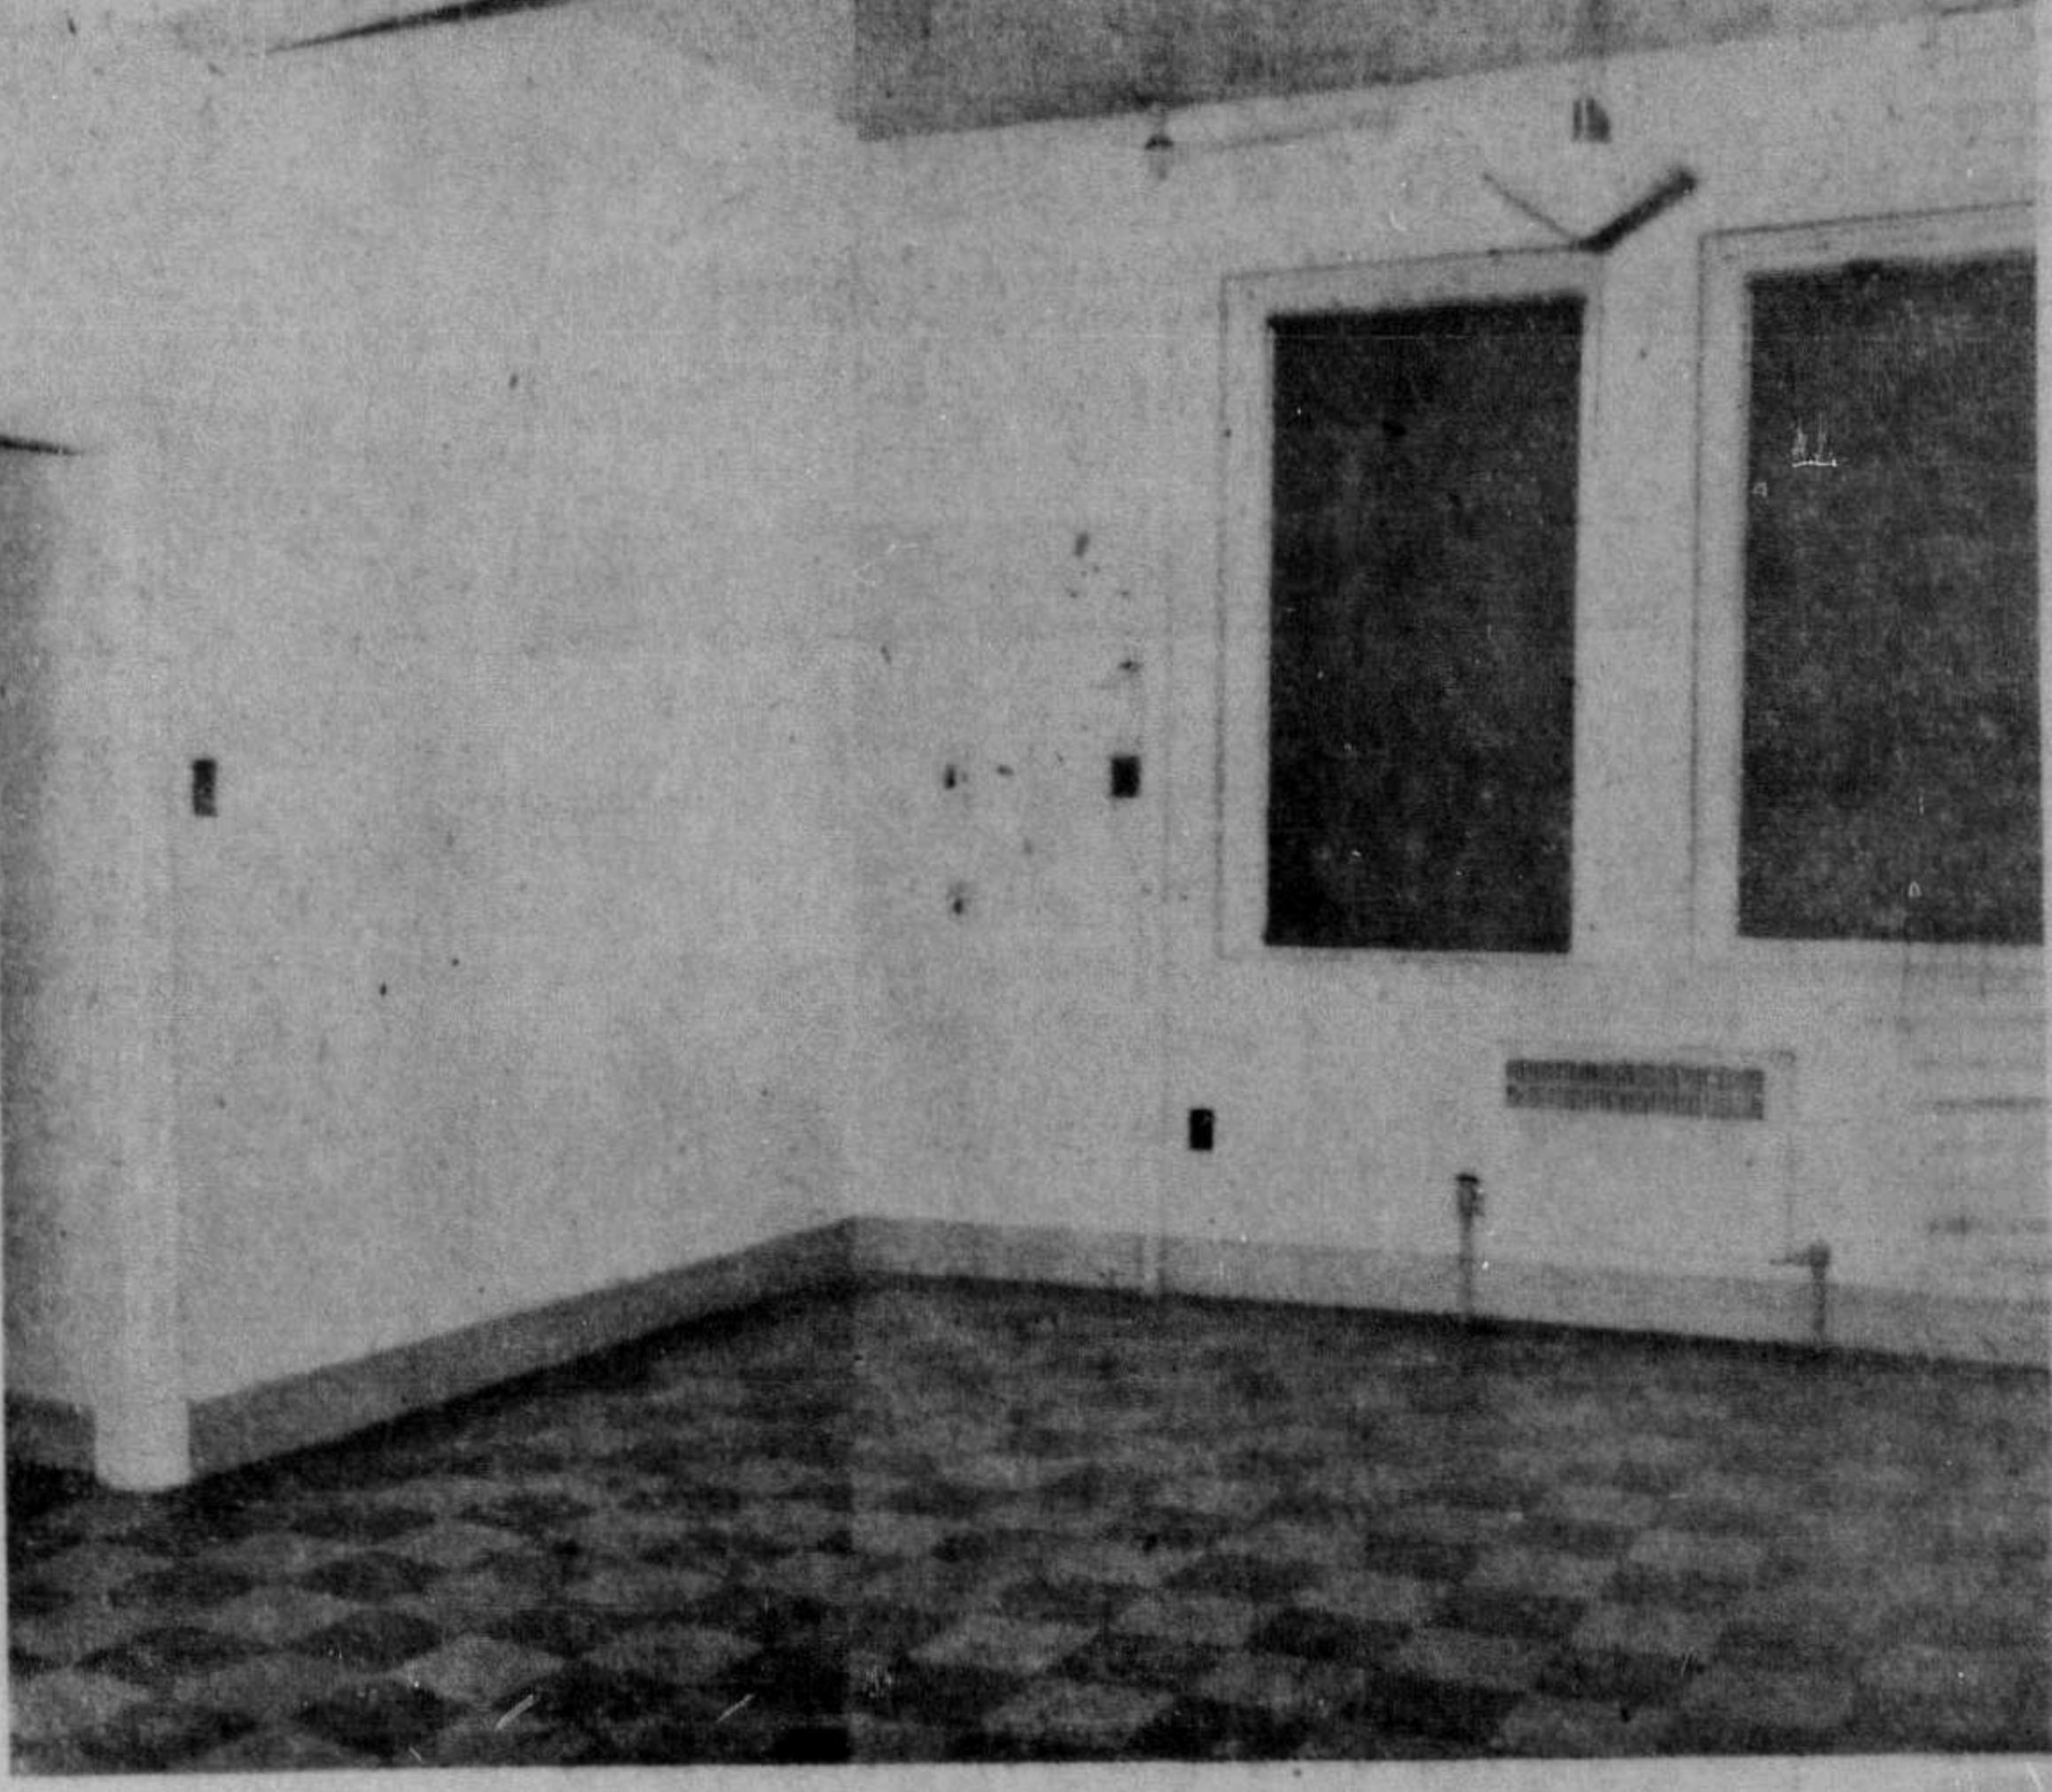

Several years ago, the Prince Rupert General Hospital had ample space to accommodate the sick.

Today it's a different story....

The space is still there, but there are no beds. There is enough room for 40 additional beds... eight wards... and this space is desperately needed. You can help avoid the unthinkable situation where a loved one is refused admission to the hospital because...

Married Women Getting More Jobs as Cost up

MONTREAL (CP)—Surveys showing that large numbers of married women are entering the employment field because of the increased cost of living were presented today to the national council of women.

The surveys, by local committees, were embodied in a report by Mrs. Roy Campbell of Regina, national convener of the councils trades and professions committee.

During the last year the councils concentrated on "the older woman in employment" as one phase of the national theme, "the Canadian family." Results indicate that, on the whole, the labor picture across Canada appears "quite bright," although certain seasonal layoffs were noted.

Establishment by the Ontario government of the principle of equal pay for men and women doing the same work was regarded as "a tremendous step forward" although some disappointment was voiced over the wording of the act. The hope was expressed that other provinces would not be far behind Ontario.

Vancouver reported that married women accounted for much of the increase in the number of women entering employment in British Columbia. Employers were beginning to realize women must be employed for the work they can do, and not according to marital status or age. Nurses were in good supply but teachers were needed. A slight demand was reported for laboratory technicians and air stewardesses. The United Church is seeking 125 young women annually for work in Christian education and other fields both in Canada and in foreign countries.

Victoria reported an increasing number of women seeking employment largely because of the higher cost of living or the seasonal unemployment of the husband. The committee found that positions are always available for trained, qualified women, even the older women with special skill and experience.

In Medicine Hat the committee chairman served on the advisory committee of the Unemployment Insurance Commission. Substantial assistance is given there to work for the disabled and the blind.

Regina studied contributory pension schemes, particularly from the viewpoint of older women not gainfully employed. Fort William reported good opportunities in business for single girls with the necessary qualifications. Little demand existed for women in the higher professional groups, except in hospitals. Because of good pay, some women were seeking jobs on coats and as cooks and helpers in bus work.

The Toronto committee reported that if older women are trained in their profession, are alert and have attractive personalities, there is no difficulty in placing them.

The Kingston, Ont., committee found that women over 45 were not as acceptable as the younger ones in the general labor market except where training, experience and personality were deciding factors. Age was a less important consideration in the professions.

Ottawa reported that while some employers felt the married woman with home responsibilities was an "uncertain quantity," they still wanted experienced workers. It was stated that if all married women whose husbands are working withdrew their pay services and pay cheques, "a depression would develop overnight." If all married nurses quit their jobs, one third of the hospitals in Ontario would have to close.

Women Seek Lower Prices

MONTREAL (CP)—A report to the National Council of Women attributed increases in meat prices to the "almost insatiable desire" of the United States for Canadian meat, and the apparent willingness of Canadians to buy meat "at almost any price."

The report was prepared by Mrs. W. R. Lang of Toronto, liaison officer between the council and the Canadian Association of Consumers.

The report said provincial organizations of the council are continuing the fight for the consumer "in the matter of ever-rising prices for milk, meat and bread, though not always with success."

The Manitoba and Ontario provincial associations won the right to have a consumer representative on their milk boards. In addition, Manitoba obtained the right to have full particulars of all facts obtained by the board released to the Canadian Association of consumers.

The report noted distributors' claims that cost of door-to-door delivery is largely responsible for higher prices of milk, and suggested it is only reasonable to ask for a greater differential between delivered and cash-and-carry prices.

A switch to skim milk and powdered skim milk was noted. Unfortunately, said Mrs. Lang's report, increased demand for these products had brought a rise in their prices, working a hardship on lower income groups and large families.

SUGGESTED REMEDIES

The high cost of living had brought about a demand for re-institution of all-over price control, said the report, while practically the only possible permanent ways of curing the situation were to produce more goods or to demand fewer goods. At the moment the people of Canada are doing neither, said Mrs. Lang.

She suggested it might be necessary in view of the priority of labor for defence projects, for labor to consent temporarily to working slightly longer hours. This would again result in making more money available to demand more goods. Thus it might be necessary to pay the extra wages in some form of deferred purchasing power which would act as a cushion against a possible future deflation.

Mrs. Lang suggested "each of us realize our responsibility to check the spending spree which is the vogue of the moment."

Canuck Girls See Display

By MURIEL NARRAWAY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP)—A charming green velvet dress that would add glamor to the wardrobe of any Canadian teen-ager has been designed by Angele Delanghe as a tribute to the 50 Canadian girls who visited her salon during their August tour of Britain.

Miss Delanghe, who has a salon in one of London's best-known department stores (Fortnum and Mason) designed 35 outfits in about three weeks—including elaborate and glittering ball-gowns of grande-dame magnificence—to give a special show for the young Canadians.

And the delight of these girls, some of whom live miles from the nearest store in Canada, gave the designer inspiration to create a special teen-age dress that would commemorate their visit. The girls' trip to Britain was sponsored by Garfield Weston, wealthy Canadian business man.

The dress, made after the girls returned to Canada, has French influence and is called Versailles. Actually a blouse and skirt with tight detachable cummerbund, it can be separated, the blouse used with a suit and the skirt worn with contrast blouse.

With slit Napoleonic neckline, its Magar sleeves given yoke interest by a line of Burgundy hemstitching, the blouse is buttoned with tiny Burgundy ball buttons that have green hemstitching. Buttons emphasize the vertical line of the drum pockets on the skirt with its softly-gathered back. Slim and dark, Miss Delanghe at 51 is one of London's best-known designers. For many years a member of the "Big Ten," she resigned in 1948 to accept a 10-year contract with the store where she now has her own salon and five workrooms.

TWO BALL-GOWNS

Among her winter collection this Belgian-born designer has included two ball-gowns that would delight any woman planning a special gown for the Canadian visit of Princess Elizabeth and the Duke of Edinburgh. Called "Balmoral" and "Royal Visit" they would be suitable for a state ball in Buckingham Palace itself.

The first is a glamor gown of period style in folds of black Lyon velvet that form a full-skirted, slim-hipped dress with strapless shoulderline. The bra-shaped top is outlined in old-gold brocade embroidery of petal design, which also encircles the skirt to give an apron effect.

Scottish interest is added by an attached train lined with gleaming blue and green checked taffeta that shows at every move. The train is detachable and can be used to form a cape while a tight-waisted, long-sleeved jacket with fluted peplum and deep-cut neckline may be added to form a dinner gown. "Royal Tour," created in green brocade starred in gold, has skirt fullness ranging from a low hip-line and a deep cuff-top is designed to emphasize the bustling. Shoulder straps are wide and a tiny peplum at the back waist gives the effect of a full train skirt escaping from the confines of jacket tails.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Taper returned to the city yesterday on the Prince George after visiting their son Dan in Winnipeg. Dan is leaving for Montreal to take a position with the faculty of McGill University.

MONTREAL, Sept. 27th—I often wondered what made the Cheshire Cat in Walt Disney's "Alice in Wonderland" grin so much. Then I decided he'd just finished something very extra special to eat—something like JELL-O PUDDINGS. I've noticed the same pleased expression on the faces of the family when they've enjoyed a milk-rich, satisfying Jell-O Pudding dessert... not that I blame them! And when I think how easily and economically such delicious desserts can be prepared with Jell-O Puddings, I know I'm just as sure as the family is to eat them. Serve a Jell-O Pudding tonight for dessert and the same "Cheshire Cat smile" appear!

Long before our Royal Visitors, Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip, came to Canada from England, and, speaking of England, reminds me of London, its great and beautiful capital. Most famous of London sights is fascinating Piccadilly Circus, dominated by the huge Bovril sign. And, rightly so. For beefy-good BOVRIL is truly an English "tradition"... ## HOUSEKEEPING ...

CHEESE HAS MANY USES—MAIN COURSE IN MANY WAYS

It has been said that "apple without cheese is like a kiss without a squeeze." Certainly to achieve the fullest satisfaction from apple pie, or any other fruit pie for that matter, the accent of tangy cheese is needed. Mince pie has added richness, and gooseberry pie is a culinary triumph when served with a sharp cheese, such as old Cheddar or Canadian blue-vein Roquefort type.

However, cheese need not be confined to the dessert course for there is a place for it in every course. What could be a better starter for any meal than tiny toasted cheese hors d'oeuvres topped with a pickle or an olive? If soups are to be the first course, they too may take a new character if a small amount of cheese is added to them. Onion soup without it would be nondescript in flavor and cheese gives new life to cream soups and consommés.

For main course dishes, cheese is a well-known food. It is interesting to note that the average Canadian eats only about 4.2 pounds of cheese during a whole year. This amount is only half of that consumed by our neighbors to the south. This recipe from the home economists is for a main course dish which features cheese:

TANGY CHEESE ROLL
2 tablespoons butter or mild-flavored fat
1/4 cup chopped onion
2 cups grated Canadian Cheddar cheese (medium or old)
2 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1/4 cup chili sauce
Biscuit dough sufficient for 12 biscuits.

Melt butter, add chopped onion and sauté until golden brown, about 2 minutes. Remove from heat. Combine cheese, hard cooked eggs, chili sauce and sautéed onions.

Roll biscuit dough into oblong sheet 12 inches by 8 inches. Spread filling evenly over dough and roll as for jelly roll. Bake in a very hot oven, 425°F., for 20 to 25 minutes. Serve with tomato sauce. Yield: Six 2-inch slices.

Such recipes as this one may be used as main dishes in your meals to cut down the cost of other more expensive protein dishes.

Of course, it must not be forgotten that cheese is an excellent food for use in salads. Most salads are greatly improved by the addition of cheese both from the standpoint of nutrition and appetite satisfaction. When using cottage cheese, pep up its rather bland flavor with proper seasonings such as pimiento, onion, celery, green or red pepper and so on.

Cheese has the rare facility of blending well with other foods. A little cheese added to the pastry for apple or blueberry pie or fruit dumplings gives a new and different flavor. Cheese breads are excellent and home-makers will do well to serve them often for variety. Any family may become tired of plain brown or white bread and cheese bread or cheese biscuits may be a welcome change.

Cheese, often known as a "golden treasure," is a standby for sandwiches. A grilled cheese sandwich makes an ideal luncheon or bedtime snack. Incidentally, the old complaint that cheese is hard to digest is not really true.

To avoid any trouble which might be caused by eating too much protein at one time it is a good plan to eat a cheese bedtime snack following a light evening meal rather than one which contains a large amount of protein food such as meat, fish or eggs.

Some people feel that they cannot serve grilled cheese sandwiches because they haven't a sandwich toaster. This is no excuse. If a little butter is melted in a heavy frying pan the sandwich can be grilled to a tee in the pan. A waffle iron can also be used to grill the sandwiches and it gives an attractive waffle pattern to the toasted bread. Hearty cheese sandwiches are the answer to back-to-school lunches. Such combinations as hard-cooked egg and cheese, ham and cheese or cucumbers and cheese make excellent fillings for lunch box sandwiches. For party fare sandwich loaves frosted with cream cheese or toasted cheese dreams are easy to make and inexpensive to serve.

WHY IRISH EMIGRATED

The Irish must have had the right idea—they emigrated when they couldn't get enough potatoes to eat at home.

Now the Canadian Fruit Wholesalers Association comes up with what could be interpreted as an explanation for Ireland's historic dependence on spuds. The tuber is an "energy food," says the C.F.W.A. more than just starch and water, it contains protein, minerals and vitamins. Finally, if mother thinks cutting potatoes out of her diet means cutting down on her weight—she had better think again.

Health department officials say that 100 calories of potatoes are no more fattening than 100 calories of anything else. In fact, a slice of bread contains about the same caloric content as a medium-sized baked or boiled potato.

Last night's mashed potatoes always can be turned into tonight's potato cheese puff.

Ingredients: one cup grated cheese; two eggs yolks; one third cup milk; two tablespoons melted fat; one-half teaspoon salt; one-quarter teaspoon pepper; one-eighth teaspoon mustard; two egg whites.

Method: mix grated cheese thoroughly with potato. Beat egg yolks until thick and lemon colored and combine with milk, lemon, fat, salt, pepper and mustard. Add the potato mixture and beat until smooth. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Turn into a well-greased baking dish, set in a pan of hot water and oven-poach in a moderate oven (350 degrees Fahrenheit) until set, about 40 minutes. Yield: five to six servings.

Any number of cheese recipes are being published these days to coax housewives to use more cheese in their cooking.

For instance—cheese and onion soup:

Ingredients: three tablespoons butter 1½ cups thinly sliced onion; two tablespoons flour; one tablespoon salt; dash of pepper; five cups milk; one cup grated cheese.

Melt butter, add sliced onions and cook covered over low heat, stirring occasionally until clear (about five minutes). Place over hot water, blend in flour, salt and pepper. Add milk slowly and cook, stirring constantly until thickened. Continue cooking about five minutes. Add cheese and stir until melted. Garnish with chopped parsley before serving. Yield: Six servings.

A friend of ours who is a particularly good cook says she always uses a fork when making scrambled eggs. She claims that whipping the mixture around with a fork instead of a spoon makes the eggs much lighter.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

If Mr. Meek had held Miss Brash's hand he wouldn't have doubled even if his opponents had reached seven no trump. But to Miss Brash nothing is impossible.

She doubled four spades because to her the bidding sounded a little forced. She was willing to gamble that both opponents were stretching their hands.

And then, of course, there was the fact that Mr. Muzzy was going to be the declarer.

Miss Brash opened the king of clubs and Mr. Muzzy won with the ace. In a terrible dither to get the trumps out, he immediately laid down the ace of spades. He followed with a small spade and put in the ten from dummy when Miss Brash played low.

Mr. Meek won with the jack and returned a club. Miss Brash won with the jack and led her last trump, the queen.

No Way to Escape

Mr. Muzzy won this trick with dummy's king but all the opponents had to do now was to sit back and wait for one diamond trick and one heart trick. There was no way for Mr. Muzzy to avert defeat.

Mr. Champion had a stricken look on his face. "Three against one again," he said bitterly. "It happens to me all the time."

"You mean I could have made it?" Mr. Muzzy asked.

"Of course," Mr. Champion screamed. "You're always in such a big hurry to bang out your trumps or to take a finesse or something. Take your time. You had a sure losing club. Lead it at the second trick. Put the opponents in and let them guess how to defeat the hand. As it happens they couldn't have beat you."
