

Looks Like End of War in Korea

Forest Fires on Vancouver Is.

Forest fires on Vancouver Island since 1938, blazed on the fronts today in the Campbell River district on Vancouver Island. The flames raced over an area of ten square miles and were through hastily-built fire lines during the night.

More than six hundred men, sixteen bulldozers, a scout-plane and dozens of trucks were on the fire lines.

The fires are fifteen miles north of Campbell River. The area of 2500 persons today was "covered" as great billows of flame-tinged smoke rolled in from the forest lands.

There has been no rain for six days and temperatures are rising into the eighties with no sign in sight today.

New fires mushroomed during the night. One was only three miles from the big Elk River fire which is now being fought by a nine-mile front.

Another fire is sweeping through timber stands of the Hildon Logging Co. Fifteen miles to the south of Campbell River, this fire is at some places more than a mile long.

The Elk River Timber Co. has an estimated 5,000,000 board feet of timber and an additional 1,000,000 board feet of felled

Iran is Not So Bright

Both Sides Remain Obdurate in Dispute

TEHRAN (CP) — United States Ambassador Henry F. Grady said today that chances for easing Iran's oil crisis "do not look too bright" but British officials, with the refinery under the guns of one of their cruisers, appear more hopeful.

Grady talked to reporters after a 90-minute meeting with Premier Mohammed Mossadegh during which he appealed anew for concessions that would insure the flow of oil to the west.

A British spokesman said that employees of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Co. would not be withdrawn so long as the refinery, the world's largest, stays open. Withdrawal of technicians would close the refinery.

The United States ambassador made it clear that the Premier would not budge an inch on the nationalization program.

and bucked logs are endangered. Wild animals and birds are in flight from the flames and deer are seen with scorched hoofs.

Every available man is being called into forest fire fighting service. Beer parlors and theatres are being combed.

Fighting Dwindles With Authority to Talk Cease Fire

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP) — While fighting dwindled almost to a standstill General Matthew B. Ridgway was given general instructions on negotiation of a cease-fire in Korea. Robert A. Lovett, deputy secretary of defence, announced this officially today. He told a press conference that instructions had been sent through the defence department and have the approval of President Truman. They were developed by the National Security Council in discussions with the Department of State.

The Council is the nation's top advisory body. It includes President H. S. Truman, Vice-President Albin Barkley, Secretary of State Dean Acheson and Secretary of Defence George Marshall.

Lovett said that the instructions gave Ridgway, United Nations commander for Korea, authority to go ahead along certain lines. Lovett did not say what these lines were. He said further that any terms for cease-fire developed in a field conference of military representatives would have to be approved in Washington.

Ridgway has or will have general instructions which have been worked out by responsible agencies of government here.

Asked whether any actual negotiations would be conducted by Ridgway or by Lt. Gen. James A. Van Fleet, Eighth Army Commander in Korea, Lovett said he did not know.

In London informed sources said that orders went out to Ridgway after sixteen United Nations with fighting forces in Korea agreed to accept Russia's proposals for starting peace talks.

FIGHTING ENDS

Meantime Tokyo reported that war had virtually disappeared from the Korean front today under a mounting wave of cease fire talk. Small, fierce fights raged throughout the afternoon for a single hill northwest of Konchon on the western front.

Ball Races Tighten up

NEW YORK (CP) — Pennant races in both leagues tightened up yesterday as New York Yankees closed up to within half a game of Chicago White Sox in the American League and New York Giants pulled to within five lengths of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Cliff Mapes' three-run pinch hit in the eighth inning gave the Yanks a 3-0 victory over Washington and the opportunity to gain on the White Sox who were rained out of their game with Detroit.

The Giants gained a full game on Brooklyn by nipping the Dodgers 5-4 on Monte Irvin's three-run homer, his second home run of the day, in the eighth inning. That blast made up for three errors by the Giant third baseman, Hank Thompson. Bobbes permitted two Dodgers to score and set up the third run.

WEATHER

Synopsis

The warmest weather so far this year will occur at many points through the province today. Tomorrow is expected to be just as warm in the interior but some coastal areas should get relief if winds off the ocean tend to increase.

A few sprinkles of rain fell in Prince George this morning but there is nothing to indicate an end to the present dry spell which has reached drought proportion in the south coast.

Forecast

North coast region — A few clouds today. Considerable low cloudiness and fog near the shoreline tomorrow. Not quite so warm tomorrow. Wind north-west. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow — at Port Hardy and Sandspit, 50 and 65; Prince Rupert 50 and 70.

A YEAR OF WAR IN KOREA

THIS WEEK marks the first anniversary of the Communist invasion of South Korea. As shown in the maps, the battlefronts have shifted far to the North and to the South, the 38th parallel having been repeatedly crossed and recrossed. Both sides have suffered heavy losses. Communist casualties, according to latest estimates, are approaching the million mark, while the United Nations losses amount to more than a quarter of a million. The severest losses amongst the United Nations forces have been sustained by the South Koreans (approximately 200,000) and the United States (70,317). United Kingdom casualties up to June 1 totalled 2,167. Prospects for peace in Korea are brightening.

Terrace Community Considers Taking Over Outpost Hospital

TERRACE — Although several other meetings were in progress on Tuesday evening, that held in the Credit Union Hall to discuss the future of the hospital drew an attendance of over 60 people.

W. MacDonnell, president of the provincial Red Cross presented the facts pertaining to the present Outpost Hospital which meant the withdrawal of the Red Cross Society from the administration.

At the beginning of the meetings feelings ran somewhat high over the short notice given by the Red Cross concerning the disposal of the hospital but it was explained by Col. Scott, B.C. commissioner, that they had no intention of closing the hospital immediately and that a certain amount of time would be given to turn it over.

A telegram had been received by the village commissioners stating that the hospital would be turned over to the town, "lock, stock and barrel" at a nominal sum to be paid to the government, who had contributed $8,000. of the initial cost.

It was stated that the two officials were only carrying out the decision of the executive council who are finding that Outpost Hospitals are more than they can handle. The local hospital had a deficit last year and considering the increased industrial activity and population in the province, it had not contributed as much as they felt it could have to the National Red Cross. There was not the money to operate Outpost Hospitals but the Society would continue to maintain the 3-bed hospitals as was their policy.

Terrace has outgrown even an Outpost Hospital and it was disclosed that a twenty-bed hospital here could be operated as cheaply as the 11-bed set-up. There should also be channels of assistance from various sources such as the Columbia Cellulose Company.

Columbia Cellulose Job is Making Pulp

New Industry Provides Opportunities for local People to Take Advantage of Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. is in business only to produce pulp, Dr. R. H. Ball, general manager, told Rotarians at luncheon yesterday.

"Many people here have suggested we go into this business, or that. We could be in a lot of businesses, but our objective is making pulp and that's what we're here for," he said.

"A large industry such as ours brings a lot of business opportunities." But these opportunities would be left to others.

Dr. Ball was answering criticism of the public which, he said, had been apparent for some time.

"Why do we expect business people and the community to provide side-services?"

It wasn't practical, Dr. Ball said, for the company to be in the coal, transportation or house-building business and concentrate on making pulp as well.

"And if we were to go into other businesses, we would be criticized as a monopoly, and justly so."

PLACE IN COMMUNITY

Dr. Ball explained the company had not supported community activities thus far because "we have still had no income from our business."

So far there had only been expenses, capital expenditure and investment of money from bond issues in Canada.

But with production under way, "next year we hope to take our place in support of the community," the speaker promised.

Dr. Ball gave to Rotarians the story of forest management and how and why the company was producing pulp.

At the Watson Island mill, the highest grade of dissolving pulp would be produced, he said. It was also the most difficult process, but very flexible from a "business point of view."

Because the mill was designed to make the highest grade of acetate dissolving pulp, lesser grades could be produced easily by short-circuiting different stages of the process.

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

shot is that one about the racial origin of the "head of the family."

The women are all burned up because they are ignored two ways—first only the husband's origin is asked, and second, only the origin of his earliest known male grandparent is asked. After all, who bears the children? Actually, the question is not as stupid as it might seem at first sight. For what it will give is a fairly accurate picture of the countries of origin of the Canadian people as a whole. Of course, it will give only the percentages—and it would have been just as accurate (and far more diplomatic) to take the wives only, and to ignore the husbands.

THOSE IRISH LEGS

HERE WE ARE home again and there is a pile of mail almost to the ceiling.

Good old mail—for without it what would I write about after such a long trip? Here's a honey right on top. It's from David Hayes, Press Relations Officer of Aer Lingus, the Irish Air Line. It's about the article I wrote about the beautiful Irish airport hostess at Shannon. He thanks me for all the nice things I said about the girls but adds:

"I think you were mistaken when you described the girl you saw as being stocky. At that time of year I doubt that any lady, however intrepid, would brave the rigors of the weather in that condition, apart from the fact that the company regulations prohibit the female staff from appearing barelegged. I can only conclude that her appearance at that time was an indirect tribute to the sheerness of our Irish-made nylon."

All I know is that they were very nice legs and if the lady says she had them duly sheered nyloned I accept and apologize for saying that they looked bare to me. I never contradict a lady, and am certainly not going to start on an Irish lady as beautiful as that one.

I have news for that young lady. An old bachelor who is a consulting engineer by profession was so much taken by my description of that colleen that he thinks he would like to marry her! He wanted me to try and get him a picture of the girl and admits that though he has been a bachelor for a long time he might, even yet, consider entering the state of matrimony if the young lady is as beautiful as he says she sounded when I wrote.

But hold everything—both girls and old bachelors. I have done all sorts of odd jobs in my day as newspaper columnist. But I draw the line at matrimonial agency work. If the rich old bachelor really wants to look the Shannon lovely over he had better hop a TCA plane for Shannon. From then on, he's on his own and don't let anybody blame me.

EVERY PLACE I HAVE BEEN in Canada, since returning, people have been talking of what they call the stupid questions on the census paper. The one that gets the hottest ray..

Reflects and Reminisces

The closest Prince Rupert ever came to seeing a hotel of a new and more modernized type was when Sir Henry Thorton spent a few days here years ago. His choice of site was where the Canadian Legion now stands. He mentioned a substantial sum had already been put aside. It would be possible on such a commanding location, he said, to give every room a view of the unrivalled harbor. Sir Henry, however, failed to find agreement among the citizens.

LOOKING THIS WAY

In the past, travellers and others were sometimes not above being a bit critical, today the reason is even more obvious. For if ever an augmentation in the general hotel situation was justified, it is now. Strange faces crowd the street. Old timers are practically out of the picture. This is a new, a vibrant Prince Rupert. Thousands will be coming this way.

Prince Rupert has, doubtless, no fewer than a dozen hotels. It's all very well to urge accommodation of the big town stamp or to say that today there should, after forty years, be something better. But it is impossible not to realize how everything is costing more, and in this, nothing is more evident than in building and construction. To put up a hostelry such as pictured would call for a major outlay, capable of continuing in business at a loss during periods of depression. As, at present, are carrying on, doing, one presumes, the best they can under prevailing circumstances.

MUST COME

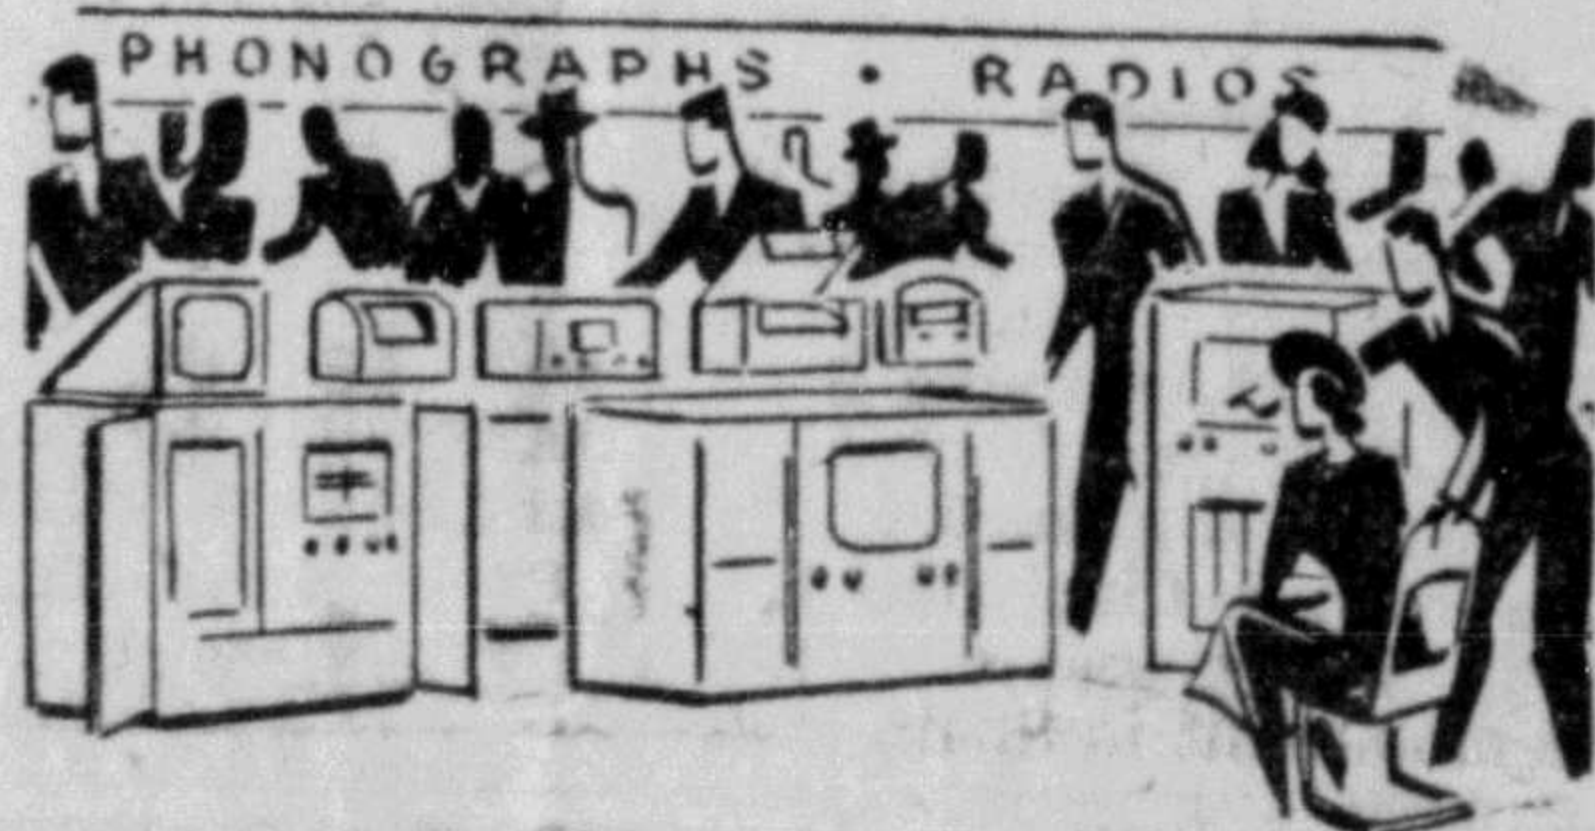

But with industry and expansion on an immense scale directly affecting all northern British

IT SEEMS TO ME THAT IT would have been better to ask for the "country of origin" and not "racial origin." For that matter "Canadian" is almost as accurate a description and ethnic as is English, as Defoe pointed out in his famous poem, "God's Englishman."

Personally, I can't see why the census people want anything more precise as to racial origin than European, African, Asian, and so on.

Columbia, and certainly Prince Rupert, the hotel problem cannot be indefinitely neglected. Present costs, it might just as well be admitted, are prohibitive. This, though will not in the long run bar the spread of population and employment, once the pressure of enterprise becomes sufficiently powerful.

TAKING A PRIDE

There is an advantage, living in a city large or small, old or comparatively new, where the hotel service is something in which people feel a pride. As a community, such a city is always the gainer and should scenic surroundings be above the average so much better. This was obvious during the recent opening ceremonies of the Columbia Cellulose plant here. The hundreds of guests included some who had never been here before. Dozens were heard to comment on "Prince Rupert's beautiful setting."

A Good Show

ALONG an altogether new and different pattern, the annual fund-raising effort on behalf of Prince Rupert's Civic Centre commences tonight.

A real attempt has been made this year to give the public a run for its money and a preview of what is being offered indicates that success along this line has been achieved.

The spectacular feature is the natural resources and industrial show. Here something worthwhile has been organized in an interesting and ambitious assembly of exhibits representing the various industries of the district. Included are impressive exhibitions of aluminum and cellulose which are so much in the public eye these days and which are bringing Prince Rupert and this part of the province so suddenly to the fore. Fisheries and forests are also the fore again as well as some of the secondary industries. Local business and services are also represented.

New entertainment features have been introduced and some of the more attractive of the old ones retained. All those concerned are to be commended on bringing the former Civic Carnival up to a new high standard.

The public is assured of a good show with something of interest for all tastes during the next week and it is to be hoped that the people will be generous again in their support of a good cause for which the organizers have put in a lot of hard and effective work.

Peter Lien

AN APPRECIATIVE word is appropriate today to a man who for twenty years or more has been contributing in a quiet yet substantial way to the cultural life of Prince Rupert. We refer to Peter Lien who last night celebrated the twentieth anniversary of becoming organist of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral by presenting a recital in which he himself was the principal contributor and at which many of his musical friends gathered as much to pay personal tribute as to enjoy an evening of good music.

Ever since Mr. Lien, a young Norwegian, came to Prince Rupert he has interested himself in the development of better music. We remember his starting with the Varden Singers, that fine group of Norwegian choristers, who are still functioning enthusiastically. In orchestral and band circles he has also played a leading and effective part. In large measure it is to be acknowledged the present city band owes its success to the enthusiastic and talented leadership of Mr. Lien. The Prince Rupert Symphony Orchestra also benefits by his direction. Still another testimonial is the choir of St. Andrew's, the leadership of which he assumed in addition to being organist of the church.

It has not always been easy going in the field of musical development but Mr. Lien has persisted where others might have become discouraged. He has contributed to community life in an unassuming but an important way.

Another Aurora Appears

THE 1951 edition of "Aurora," Booth Memorial High School's annual, has made its appearance, adding another to the lost list of creditable issues which have expanded and improved from year to year.

Replete with the usual editorial features and a few innovations, the activities of the school are reviewed and reflected upon in word and picture, ably presented and admirably published.

The editorial staff of the Aurora, led by Evelyn Smith, the editor-in-chief, and her able staff of associate editors, business staff, reporters and advertising salesmen are to be congratulated on their good job.

It is enough to say that "Aurora," as a publication, is in keeping with the high standards of Bo-Me-Hi as an institution of learning.

Freedom of the Press
What precisely is meant by that familiar phrase, "freedom of the press?"
Fundamentally it is not a special privilege reserved for newspaper publishers. It is rather a phase of a much larger freedom—the freedom of all men to speak their minds openly and without fear. The press claims no right which should not belong to every citizen in a democracy. But freedom of the press is an all-important part of this larger freedom because, under modern conditions, the press is the principal agency by which the ordinary man receives the information he needs to judge the actions of his rulers and make up his mind on public affairs. Without newspapers, or with only gagged and blindfolded ones, he is in the dark, and helpless. An unfettered press is therefore one of the essential bulwarks of a democratic nation.
If any proof be needed, it is supplied by the record of the totalitarian dictatorships which have darkened the twentieth century. Rigid control of all sources of public information, and especially of newspapers, was the cornerstone on which all these regimes—Nazi, Fascist and Communist alike—were founded. Without it, they could hardly have lasted for more than a few months. With it, they could keep their peoples in blinkers and drive them on any course they chose. The calamities of our age, its fear and insecurity, stem in no small measure from the simple fact that, at critical periods, great sections of the earth's population have been prevented by their rulers from learning the real news of the world.
These examples should provide a warning against any attempt, by governments or by private interests, to restrict the essential freedom of the press. A free people must stand on guard not only against direct censorship, but also against more insidious encroachments. Nominal freedom is not enough. The only truly free press is one which can record the news faithfully and comment on it frankly, without fear of direct or indirect punishment. Neither the press nor the public is safe with anything less than this.
All liberty, of course, involves obligations. That of a free newspaper, is to be truly free. It must strive to be thorough, accurate and unbiased in its reporting, sincere and thoughtful in its editorials, and resistant to all outside pressure. It must be both cautious and bold—cautious until it knows all the facts, bold when it is sure of its ground. It must, above all, be inspired by devotion to the public welfare as its staff understand it.
Such a newspaper is worthy of the privileges which the free peoples of the world have traditionally granted to their press. Such a newspaper is also the best guardian of the liberties of the people.

Former Road Sup't Passes

A resident of Prince Rupert for 18 years between 1928 and 1946 when he retired, Edward J. Fitzpatrick, former public works superintendent here, passed away last week at Nelson in the Kootenay Lake General Hospital.

Funeral services were held at Nelson. Requiem mass was celebrated by Father R. D. Anderson at the Cathedral of Mary Immaculate. Burial took place at Nelson Memorial Cemetery.

A resident of Nelson since his retirement four years ago, Mr. Fitzpatrick, aged 69, had served 30 years with the provincial Public Works Department at Prince Rupert and Grand Forks, Arthur, Ont., was his birthplace. Surviving are his wife Mrs. E. Fitzpatrick, 415 Falls St., Nelson, and three sons Ernest at Kinnard, Earl at Seattle and Eugene at the coast and four grandchildren.

BUSIEST STREET

Editor, Daily News:
The section of Third Avenue from McBride Street to Cow Bay undoubtedly the busiest thoroughfare in the city. It is also, the exception of Rushbrook Street, the worst section.
The amount of traffic over this street certainly justifies the immediate surfacing of this section. This could be attained without seriously disrupting the flow of traffic if the north side were done first and then the south side.
Those of us who drive cars and trucks know the punishment that a vehicle takes every time it crosses over this "road."
I hope that this will remind the Council that the summer is just by and that road surfacing should be done in fine weather. Yours for good roads,

Tourist Ships In Port Thursday

Two tourist cruise ships docked in Prince Rupert at almost the same time yesterday morning, bringing to city streets and stores the most between-ports visitors so far this season.

In at 9 a.m., the CNR liner Prince George carried 211 passengers, most of whom were round-trip tourists. High-ranking executives among them were H. J. Nelson, general western traffic manager for the Illinois Central Railroad, and Mrs. Nelson, from San Francisco; L. O. Inkan, director of Pacific Coast Independent Theatre Owners, and Mrs. Inkan.

Disembarking at Prince Rupert were:
A. E. Nix, A. M. Watson, P. Watson, William Cruikshank, and Miss E. L. Clement.

Embarking were:
Mr. and Mrs. Mason, returning to Tenakee, Alaska, from a holiday in Nova Scotia, and E. D. Medley, from Seattle, bound for Skagway.

PRINCESS KATHLEEN

The CPR steamer, Princess Kathleen, docked at 9:30 a.m., southbound with 300 round trip passengers, including 190 tourists in the Sam Campbell tour.

Mr. Campbell, well-known author and lecturer, organized the tour as he has for several years, and during the trip showed several color movies of different countries he has visited.

Peter Lien Outstanding

An "outstanding performance" is how listeners expressed their opinion last night of the organ recital by Peter Lien, at the St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral.

Mr. Lien observed his twentieth anniversary as organist in the church by giving a one and a half hour performance. About 200 people attended.

The recital was interspersed with selections by the Cathedral Choir and assisted by G. B. Hangerud, Mr. Lien's organ student for one and a half years.

"I believe the people liked the music," Mr. Lien said modestly, but he prefers to play church music.

"There is something different in the music which puts people in the mood to worship. With me it comes from inside. It isn't ordinary music."

"I guess it is the deep feeling of religion," Mr. Lien said, after the recital.

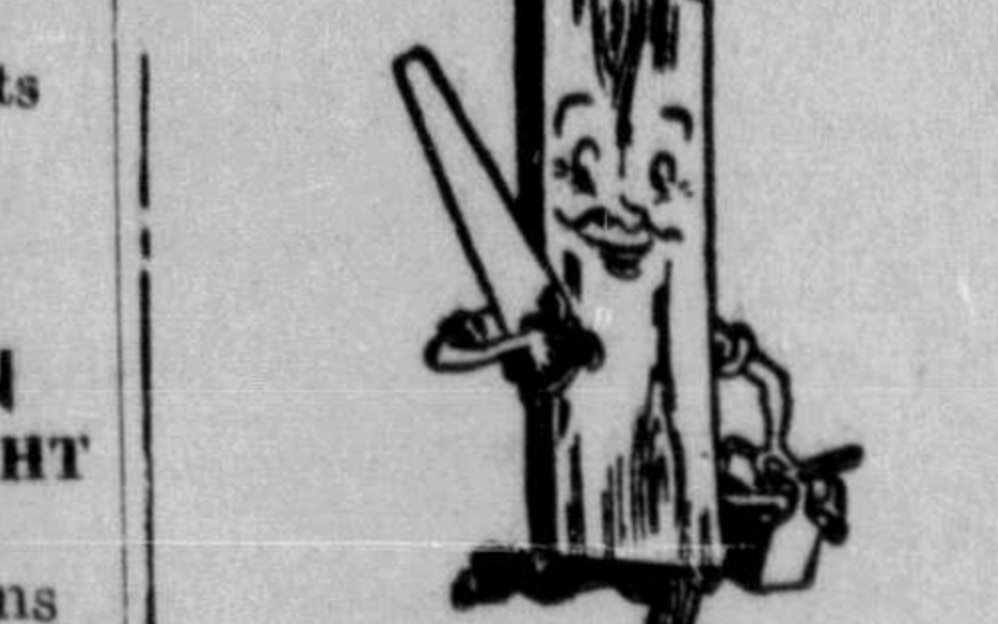

The outstanding musician also favors the Symphony Orchestra, of which he is the conductor, and third, comes the band, he says.

"People may be surprised, but above band work I prefer the organ and the orchestra. That is music."

Mr. Lien has given several organ recitals during the past few years.

Is Honored At McBride

Railwayman Peter Titiryn Retires

McBRIDE—A Ukrainian-born railway section foreman, Peter Titiryn, who came to Canada as a boy, will conclude almost half a century of railroading in the west when he retires July 1 from the Canadian National Railway.

Mr. Titiryn, located in McBride since 1925, started his rail career in 1902 as a track laborer on construction in Manitoba. He then joined the Grand Trunk Pacific at Portage la Prairie in 1906, moved west with construction gangs and served on various sections of the Canadian National Railway's Smithers division since 1910.

Proud possessor of an engraved watch, still in use, given to him by a Grand Trunk Pacific Railway vice-president in 1914 for the part he played as a young section foreman in connection with joining up of steel near Fort Fraser, Mr. Titiryn now has an additional, treasured memento, from another top railway executive, to mark the closing of his long career.

At a farewell presentation ceremony held in Pete's honor last week, the popular section foreman received a well-filled purse from Roadmaster E. S. Foster on behalf of fellow workers. During the ceremony, however, Mr. Titiryn was greatly surprised when Mr. Foster handed him a telegram from the "Big Boss" President Donald Gordon.

The message read: "Understand your associates are meeting today on the eve of your retirement to pay tribute to you personally and to your fine record of service with the railway, all performed in Western Canada and dating back to the construction of the Grand Trunk Pacific main line. I recall with pleasure meeting you for a few moments on the line last year and would like the privilege of joining your friends today in expressing appreciation of your excellent services to the railway and the country of your adoption and in extending warmest wishes for your future health and happiness."

Mr. Titiryn well recalled having met Mr. Gordon when the CNR president was making his first western tour in May, 1950, shortly after taking over his new post, on January 1, last year. But the wiry little section foreman didn't dream that the "Chief" would ever remember being told that Pete had just

Francois Lake

George Hadden of the Unemployment Insurance Commission of Prince George is spending a month working in this district.

Nine members rode with the Riding Club on Sunday, with two from Burns Lake—Miss Facchin and Mrs. Slesinger. They started about one year to go to complete nearly fifty years railroading. But Mr. Gordon did remember and because of his particular interest in Mr. Titiryn and his colorful career, the message was sent at the appropriate time.

In addition to the president's message, Mr. Titiryn was happy to receive a congratulatory telegram from his superintendent, C. A. Berner, of Prince Rupert, a long-time friend. Mr. Berner said that Peter, though small in stature, proved his ability and endurance in many varied tasks, on cable gangs, as a snow plow foreman, steel laying foreman and in nearly all phases of work during the hectic days of the construction to the present time.

Mr. Titiryn will continue to reside here and plans, in his own words, "to keep myself occupied with a little farming."

TERRACE COMMUNITY

MacDonnell and Colonel Scott left the meeting and debate was called for. On their return they were informed that an interim committee had been formed to inquire into all the details of acquiring and operating a hospital with a view to taking this one over if possible. The village commissioners would not assume the responsibility of the village taking it over.

In closing, Colonel Scott wished to express on behalf of the Society and himself all those who had, each year, assisted with the hospital including George Little senior whose generosity has given the hospital building.

Relations here had been most happy but a shortage of nurses had hampered the smooth operation of the hospital. He expressed the hope that the community would realize that the Red Cross had stepped in and brought a hospital to Terrace when it would have been impossible otherwise.

Mr. and Mrs. John Scott left on Thursday for a week's holiday in Vancouver and Williams Lake. Mrs. Rensby and a friend are staying with the Scott children.

Mrs. Roy Morton has her mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson, staying with them from Victoria.

Another decision was that the present interim committee take steps to form an association with a view to approaching the government for a hospital district form a hospital district.

Mrs. M. Wightman, president of the local branch of the Red Cross Society, was also asked to act as chairman of the interim committee formed. Others

Hotel Men in Shut-Out

Commercials Robbed Of No-Hit Victory
A single base hit near the end of last night's baseball game spoiled what otherwise would have been a no-hit victory for Commercials as they pounded Gordon & Anderson in a shut-out defeat of 6-0.
Slow moving Don Hawryluk struck out 10 men and gave up the only hit to Gordon & Anderson's first baseman, Sunberg, in the first of the sixth inning. Then he continued to pitch his shut-out, the first this season.
But the six runs brought in by the Hotelmen wasn't all due to their strong playing for the infield of G & A went completely to pot after the fourth inning. In all, 10 errors were accounted for, three by 3rd baseman Hartwig; four by shortstop Don Scherk; one by catcher Carelli, and two by left fielder Marshall.
So, while rookie chucker Larry Matthews gave up eight hits, only two runs of their six were earned by Commercials.
The game started out fast with both pitchers showing good control. But although 15-year-old Matthews threw a good ball with only one base on balls against him, he got little support from the field.
The best showing Matthews made was in the last of the third when, with bases loaded, he pitched two strike-outs one after the other to clinch the inning without a score.
With three assists already to his credit, Matthews gave up two hits, one to Morgan, the other to Bruce Simundson. Desonnier got on through a fumbled ball by third-baseman Hartwig.
Miner Simundson stepped into the batter's box ready for the kill for with bases loaded any kind of a hit would bring in a run. And the pitches came, one-two-three—all strikes. That made two away, for Linney had looped out to left field. Left-handed Gunn stepped in next and repeated Miner's performance before him. The crowd loved that and rose with a mighty cheer.
But in the fourth inning, the game got away from Matthews. Benny Windle dropped a curving loop into short centre for a single. Warner singled again. Hawryluk got on by a fielder's choice when Hartwig threw home to put out Windle coming in for the run. In a fast play between catcher Carelli and third, Windle was run down.
With two men left on, Desonnier walked and loaded the bases once more. Up stepped Morgan and hit the first pitch on the ground, fumbled by shortstop Scherk. Warner came in with the first run. A hit by Bruce Simundson deep into right field brought in Hawryluk but a long peg to home from rightfielder

Ray Spring put out Desonnier to end the scoring for that inning.
The fifth inning was almost a repeat performance by Commercials. They loaded the bases twice with two hits and three errors. Two more errors brought in runs and two runs were knocked in. Centrefielder Cornwell scooped up a swooping line drive by Windle, about the only good field play for his team.
Losing pitcher Matthews, hurling all seven innings of the game, allowed 30 men at bat and eight hits, struck out four and gave one base on balls and another by hitting a batter.
Shut-out pitcher Hawryluk allowed one hit off 24 men at bat, two bases on balls and struck out 10 with no runs.

Reorganizing Of Softball

A new deal in the Senior Softball League will go into effect next week in an effort to improve the competition. The North Star entry is folding up and their players will strengthen the Hawks and Firemen teams.
Pitcher Lloyd Lahti, Catcher Windy Schwab and Outfielder-Pitcher Frency Vigar will go to the Hawks while the remainder of the Stars will aid the short-handed Firemen.
Rupert Radio and Cellulose had proved much too good and loose games were the result but it is felt that the changes should result in a much tighter league.
The new schedule will start next week with the first game on Wednesday, July 4.
Tonight Rupert Radio and Cellulose will meet in a game to decide the first half winner. The Cellulose boys won 8-1 and will be out to repeat. Manager LePage will probably start fastballer Chuck Teachman on the mound while Rusty Ford of the Radiomen has Monk Sundberg, Jerry Ford and himself all ready to start.

Alcan Showing Featured at Exhibition

This display at Civic Centre Exhibition represents an aluminum plant. Two model trains are moving constantly in and out of the plant. One of the trains represents the delivery of raw materials to the plant (bauxite—the ore of aluminum—from British Guiana, Cryolite from Greenland and Fluorspar from Newfoundland). The other train represents delivery of ingots and semi-fabricated forms of aluminum from the plant to manufacturers of finished aluminum products. A selecto-slide enclosed in a case in the foreground projects colored pictures onto a screen in the background, telling the aluminum story of "Mine to Metal." (The two "Alcan Chemical Panels" shown at the right and left of the photograph are not included in the Prince Rupert display.)

goods, suits, draperies and rugs, "to mention a few." The short fibre of acetate rayon could be combined with other fibres such as wool and cotton, to make the textiles highly demanded today.

Another product of acetate pulp is an extremely strong fibre, which Dr. Ball said, was used "almost exclusively for defence purposes in parachutes.

Photographic film was still another product, as well as cellulose acetate plastic-ware and a thin, film-like plastic which recently had become popular in packaging fresh fruits and vegetables.

The thin, plastic covering material eliminated waste in marketing farm produce and constituted a saving of 25 per cent to dealers and consumers.

"But the only reason we are here is because of the forests," Dr. Ball explained the forest management license as "a bargain between the people of British Columbia through their government with the company."

with many people, Dr. Ball said. "There are people who think that conservation of forest means not to cut them. That is completely ridiculous."

Trees reached an age when they become mature. Forests were no asset unless utilized and would yield more if cut under management such as employed by the company under the sustained yield program.

Dr. Ball said that actual cost of patch-logging was greater than "clean-cut logging" but compensation of having a sustained yield in the future made such a management worth while.

Dr. Ball said he was confident that a stable future for Prince Rupert was in store but that its people would have to provide the initiative to take advantage of expansion opportunities.

Premiere of the first showing in Canada of the story of the ALCAN project at Kitimat-Nechako was given at Civic Centre last night to a handful of Prince Rupert residents in the form of a 34-minute colored movie produced by Lew Parry, a B.C. film concern.

The film will be in this district for two weeks and will be a daily feature of the Exhibition at the Civic Centre where it was shown last night by George G. Vincent, public relations official for Aluminum Company of Canada, Ltd., and P. G. Matthews, operator.

The film opens with shots of B.C. fishing, mining and lumbering, stressing the work Lands Minister E. T. Kenney and others of the B.C. government did in inducing Alcan to look over the potentialities of B.C. Then come shots of the actual drilling and testing, carrying of men and equipment by river boat, plane and helicopter, and laboratory analysis of the findings which resulted in the go-ahead on the $500,000,000 project.

Shots of Alcan plants in the eastern provinces and drawings of the Kitimat model townsite, dams and transmission lines complete the movie. Vincent said the big new plant is expected to be producing ingots by mid-1954. The film includes spectacular scenic shots in the Nechako River, Ootsa Lake, Tweedsmuir Park, Kitimat, Kemano Bay and intervening areas. It graphically portrays the massive power developments which Alcan already has underway and which will culminate in the establishment of the new and model industrial city at Kitimat with an eventual population of 50,000 people in connection with the production of 1,100,000 pounds of aluminum ingots per year. The great Nechako dam, 280 feet high, 1800 feet long and which will involve the eventual raising of the level of Ootsa Lake by 140 feet, is graphically depicted.

OTHER PICTURES
For the showing of this outstanding Alcan as well as other films, a miniature movie picture house has been set up in the small gymnasium at Civic Centre and will operate every day in connection with the Exhibition.

Pictures to be shown include: "Aluminum Overture" and "Nechako Survey" (Aluminum Co. of Canada.)

"Pacific Halibut" and "Hell's Gate," story of sockeye (Canadian Fishing Co.)

"The Story of Silk" (Ideal Cleaners and Laundry)

"Peoples of the Potlach," "Forest Conservation," "Forest Producers" and "The Forest Grows," "Children's Films,"

"Highway Sixteen."
