Accompanied by Drill Master Alex Mitchell, Mrs. Mitchell, and a host of friends, the 32-member champion team will be guests of management of the Canadian National Exhibition next week.

Job's Daughters of Prince Rupert Win First Prize in International Drill Meet

Winners of All Three Awards; Girls Win Hearts of Virginians

By ALEX MITCHELL

RICHMOND, Virginia. — Prince Rupert's own Job's Daughters are "everybody's sweethearts" today following their march to victory last night in all three military exhibition and novelty drills in an international competition today.

The grandstand was packed with enthusiastic spectators as this only Canadian team won their hearts as they took all three top place honors, and in smart Royal Stuart tartan kilts, danced four sets of Scotch quadrills. They were assisted by Piper Steven McKinnon of Montreal and cheered by their guardian, Mrs. Laura Mitchell, Drill Master Alex Mitchell, and 25 other boosters—friends and relatives who had travelled the 4000 miles with them.

Miss Margit Macarthur, a Daily News employee, was crowned Canadian Queen of the Ball yesterday, sharing honors with American Miss Marilyn Kuehn of St. Louis.

Drill Captain Margaret Giske was presented with the three cups. Capt. Robert Bruce, Capt. Therman Oliver and Lieut. James Fyost of headquarters, Virginia military district of the U.S. Army, were judges and declared the Prince Rupert girls "really

Two More Planes Crash in Alaska

ANCHORAGE (CP)—Two plane crashes within hours were added Thursday to toll of one of the most disastrous aviation months. Two latest crashes brought to six total in Alaska during past month. It brought the total of dead and missing in accidents close to 70.

Flaming crash of an Air Force C-47 Wednesday night killed nine men—crew of four and five passengers—at Summit airfield along Alaska Railroad.

A jet pilot bailed out of his plane over Anchorage International Airport Thursday. He was killed. Both planes were from Elmendorf Air Force base. Air authorities blamed icing conditions for C-47 crash from Elmendorf to Eilson Base, near Fairbanks.

BC Newsmen See Alcan's Plants In Arvida, Que.

(Special to The Daily News)

MONTREAL.—A preview picture of what the advent of Alcan in British Columbia may mean to the Pacific Coast province will be given seven B.C. newspapermen who arrived here this afternoon.

The newsmen are on their way to Arvida, in north-central Quebec, to see the operations of Aluminum Company of Canada in that area.

The western party, following the flight across Canada from Vancouver, boards a Canadian Steamships Line steamer at Montreal which will take them down the St. Lawrence River and up the Saguenay to Bagotville, where they are due Saturday night. Then follows an intensive three-day schedule visiting the Ile Maligne and Peribonka power developments, the Arvida smelter works and the Port Alfred and Shipshaw power project.

The party consists of Robert Moore, business editor, Vancouver Province; Lloyd Turner, business editor, Vancouver Sun; Ken Drury, editor, Vancouver News-Herald; Lawrie Josselin, Victoria Colonist; C. A. Warner, Prince George Citizen, and G. A. Hunter, Prince Rupert Daily News.

Crackers Singe Landmark

One of Prince Rupert's most prominent landmarks burst into flames early this afternoon following the escapade of some school-age youngsters. The fire department was called out to extinguish the burning totem pole atop of Totem Hill, in the CNR park.

Firemen report a couple of school-age children were playing with fire-crackers near the pole and one of the burning sticks apparently lodged in a crevice of the pole. In a moment the totem was burning.

Very much frightened by the blaze, the children had the presence of mind to rush to the North Star Bottling Works where they notified Mrs. Foster. With their telephone out of order Mrs. Foster went to C.F.P.R. next door and the alarm was turned in with the fire brigade responding immediately.

Getting the water up to the top of the hill was a problem that the firemen solved at once and using an auxiliary 200-gallon tank, water soon put out the fire.

The totem, which is a famous landmark and a great tourist attraction, was not badly damaged apparently, owing to the quick response of the fire brigade. But the dry cedar pole would have been ideal material for fire, said the firemen.

Little Hope Peace Talks To Continue

TOKYO (CP)—Only a thin ray of hope remained today that Korean peace talks might be resumed.

If they break down completely, the United Nations group commander said his troops will go back to fighting "with hate and eagerness."

"We feel very confident we can whip the enemy in the present battle area," Gen. James Van Fleet said at army headquarters.

He said UN forces would be able to withstand any new Communist attack, "even if the Reds employ more men, tanks, guns and planes than they have ever before used."

Remember When....

Armed, famed golden gelding of racing, was sent back to the green pastures of his Kentucky birthplace three years ago today. The animal was proclaimed the "Horse of the Year" after earning $773,750 in six years of racing. Ben A. Jones, manager of the Calumet Farms' racing interests, decided to retire Armed when he failed five times in six starts.

50 Dead in Plane Crash

OAKLAND, California (CP)—Fifty persons were killed today as a four-engine airliner was shattered into scrap metal as it crashed in a range of low hills here today.

It was United Air Lines flight No. 615 out of Boston, flying non-stop from Chicago. It carried 44 passengers and six crew members.

The big ship exploded as it fell into a pasture atop a hill. Parts scattered over two acres. Most of the bodies and debris piled up in a 200-foot ravine.

The plane was to have landed at Oakland airport at 5:32 a.m. It crashed at 5:30, three minutes after the pilot talked with control tower and mentioned no difficulty.

First bodies recovered were two boys about five years old, and a man, believed to be the pilot.

Hours later, broken bodies were being taken from the shattered wreckage. There is no road to the tragic scene. Ambulances and other rescue cars slipped and slid as they tried to make their way up slopes through many small ravines.

Important Films Of Aluminum Era

Prince Rupert Film Council announces the showing of two films of "outstanding interest" next week at the Civic Centre.

The films deal with the aluminum industry and are in Technicolor.

"They are of very timely appeal and the only 16mm films in Technicolor I have seen," says Sgt. L. A. N. Potterton, council president.

The first is entitled "Unfinished Rainbows" and traces the development of the aluminum industry from the days of Napoleon III. It tells of the failure of scientists to produce aluminum cheaply and then how 22-year-old Charles Martin Hall solved the problem with crude, homemade equipment in the woods of his father's home.

The film is a Hollywood production starring Alan Ladd as Charles Martin Hall.

The second film to be shown is a sequel to "Unfinished Rainbows." It continues the human biography of aluminum and the story of research. It is entitled "Curiosity Shop" and tells the struggle of a young scientist who has to choose between his girl's love for pleasure and his own determination to complete experiments on a new type of aluminum television aerial.

This is also in Technicolor. Each film runs about half an hour.

Canada Negotiates In Three-Power Fisheries Treaty

OTTAWA (CP)—Canada, United States and Japan are joining in a three-power treaty for protection and conservation of west coast fisheries.

Negotiations opened some weeks ago, officials here disclosed Thursday, and fisheries minister Mayhew is now on the West Coast discussing treaty provisions with representatives of British Columbia's fisheries industry. The treaty is being negotiated under newly-drafted Japanese peace treaty, which requires Japan to enter promptly into negotiations for fisheries agreements with signatory countries so desiring.

Canada, as one of the Allied nations that defeated Japan, will send a delegation to San Francisco for peace treaty signing conference opening there September 4.

Washington dispatch suggested that the fisheries treaty might be ready for signing before the end of the year. However, government sources here, doubted that it would be ready that soon.

The treaty, in diplomatic phrases, will call upon each of the three countries to recognize rights of others and integrity of their coastal waters. It also will deal with conservation problems.

But more bluntly, however, the prime aim will be to prevent Japanese fishermen from poaching in traditional waters of Canada and United States. It will be aimed at protecting the rights—and livelihood—of Canadian and American fishermen.

Fear of B.C. fishermen, often voiced through West Coast members of parliament, have been that Japanese would settle outside the three-mile territorial limit and take salmon headed for B.C. waters. Besides depleting Canada's salmon catch this would interfere with conservation measures. Pending treaty, once it is signed, must be ratified by Canadian parliament, the United States senate and the Japanese Diet. It will be the first fisheries treaty to be signed between the three countries.

$ Million Fire Razes Boat Works

TACOMA (CP)—The Tacoma Boat Building Company was destroyed by fire today. Loss is estimated at $1,000,000, including a 60-per-cent completed hull of a large tuna fishing boat. Cause of fire is undetermined.

Salmon Run Heavy Now

The run of salmon has been a very even one this year and the catch will probably exceed last year's, according to a fisheries report. In fact, it may be the best for years. The peak of the pink run is now past and in order to protect the remainder of the run, the inside areas will be closed for the time being. This includes waters adjacent to Bella Coola, Bella Bella, Butedale and Naas. The closure does not affect the outside waters.

Epidemic In Central Sask.

HAGUE, Saskatchewan (CP)—Quarantine of three municipalities, including hundreds of Mennonite homes, was ordered today to stop spread of an epidemic of deadly tropical dysentery.

Four Mennonite babies already have died and 50 others are ill.

New Routes Are Old

WITH all the various development projects in force in British Columbia the problem of transportation is more and more being solved. With the aid of air surveys, possible ground routes are easily discernable and a tremendous saving of time is the result.

One surprising development is in connection with the proposed road from Terrace to Kitimat. According to the Omineca Herald which in turn quotes a report of the deputy minister of mines in 1949, the newly proposed route was probably in use a thousand years ago.

The belief is that an offshoot of the Haida Indians established themselves at Kitimat and later moved overland and settled at Kitselas on the Skeena River.

At the time of the Yukon gold rush the route was used to carry mail to the interior. Later it was surveyed through as another terminus to the railway (Grand Trunk Pacific). Considerable work was done commencing in the winter of 1907-08 to make a proper tote road, and a small stretch of right-of-way was built or cleared at the Skeena River end.

Only a low divide in a plateau-like area separates the Lakelse and Kitimat watersheds but apparently ground surveying northward from Kitimat won't be easy. A provincial government survey party which went into the area in June, 1949, reported that it realized movement in the Kitimat valley must be planned like a military invasion. To reach the proposed control camp on the Little Wedene River, they planned to use the Kitimat River. It was swift, muddy, and filled with boulders and log-jams. The up-stream trip took eight hours and 10 shear-pins (in the outboard motor); the down-stream journey took 55 minutes. River travel at varying heights of flow was so unreliable and dangerous that a trail was commenced through the green hell of swamp, bush and muskeg of the west bank.

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Daughters Found

WHEN I got home from Saskatchewan I found a most interesting bunch of letters waiting for me.

Many of them are in answer to my query for names of firms featuring father and daughter partnerships, rather than the usual John Smith and Sons.

FIRST to arrive was from J. Weir reporting "John James and Daughters". They are photographers at Second Ave. East, Owen Sound, Ontario.

Next was a card from N.M. which says: "I just returned from the town of Midhurst in Sussex (England). One of the chemists has his sign over the shop thus: 'Blank and Daughter.' Blank is not his name, which I forget. But it was new to see 'and Daughter' on a sign so I remembered."

JOSEPH L. SMITH writes from Kimberley, B.C., reporting another such firm—this time also with two daughters.

"Roy Miller and Daughters" are guides and outfitters, at Ta Ta Creek, which is fifteen miles northeast of Kimberley on Highway 95, which runs to Radium and Banff.

Here is a real top notch family firm sign. It is in gold letters on the ground floor of the YMCA building in Halifax, Nova Scotia and reads:

"T. J. Wallace, Sons and Daughter."

Mr. George Smith writes, "My wife recalls with satisfaction how well the daughter fitted her glasses."

Mrs. Edward Loney writes that, several years ago, while walking through the market building at New Westminster, she came on this sign:

"Cooper and Daughters."

It was a florist stall, where a man and two young girls were in attendance. After a lapse of several years Mrs. Loney saw the same stall carrying on business in the new market, but the daughters were alone.

WELL it all goes to show that there really may be nothing new under the sun. Anyway it seems to me to be a grand idea. One man who sent in the name of a father and daughter business firm adds a P.S. which reads:

"How are Indian fakirs on arthritis?"

I am sorry I can't answer that one. I wasn't in India long enough to find out many of the things most interesting to me personally.

One young Indian did want to treat my arthritis. But as he barged up to me on the street in New Delhi and began insisting in a loud voice that he would treat me on a "no cure no pay" basis, he got a bit annoyed when I declined on the ground that I was too busy with my job to try him out.

HERE is a little bit that I think I forgot to write while out in India. In both India and Pakistan there are a few pensioners who served in the Canadian army in the first world war. Don't ask me how they got into our army. It was some sort of fluke. Anyway they were in it. Some of them still draw pensions—and live in style in their own native villages.

Not long ago one such pensioner died. His lawyer friend had heard that the Canadian government paid funeral expenses for all pensioners. (So it does, up to very low limit.) So the Indian lawyer did the funeral up in style. He put on a party which lasted three days, and invited the whole village!

P.S.—Did he get his money back from our government? Nay, verily!!

"Stand still, mister—we'll get through!"

RATS Of Other Days and Circumstances

(By M. E. ANDERER)

PART III

The battalion was holding the front line on Hill 60 and the particular section was "the snout." The distance from the German front line was a mere 30 yards, and when the enemy is so close, one is always very much on the alert. This section of our line was on the outside lip of a crater that had been made when the Germans blew up a mine some time previously in an attempt to get control of the ridge.

They had failed owing to the stubborn defence put up by the battalion holding the line. At the bottom of the crater there was a small pond into which drained the seepage of the rains that fell frequently. With both sides doing a considerable amount of tunnelling there was always the possibility that if the tunnellers came too near the surface the water might drain away quickly and so it was our duty to keep an eye on the water level. At the same time we were on the lookout for any other sign that might indicate the enemy was sapping underneath.

On the near side of the crater we had our front line trench that linked up with the main front line. In the parapet here at one spot was a sniping post. This was set into the parapet with a steel plate, properly camouflaged, on the outer side. An opening for the sniper's rifle was covered by a small steel plate that could be swung to one side. Then, as an additional precaution to prevent the light from shining through, there was an empty sandbag suspended from the top of the sniper's firing position.

One warm afternoon, in the month of June, 1916, I was relaxing, lying on the checken wire that made the sniper's post habitable. Suddenly I heard an unusual noise. It sounded like the suction of a pump and I immediately associated it with the possibility that the enemy had a pump at work to keep water from flooding the saps he was digging under our trench. I listened, and then called an untrained sergeant. He agreed it might be so. Then the sound stopped and we said that if it recurred we would notify the officer in charge of the platoon.

The next day the same sound occurred. I called my fellow sergeant and then one of my men, preparing to send for the officer. In looking over the situation I raised the empty sandbag hanging over the sniping post, and there was the solution and the explanation of the noise. A huge rat was performing his ablutions, with the sound of his washing the cause of our distress. I let the sandbag drop and reached for my rifle. With a strong thrust I shoved the bayonet at the rat. But the tough sandbag carried my thrust upward and the rat was uninjured. Then standing back I fired one shot into the beast. He remained upright. A second shot followed, but he still was erect. A third shot, this time through his head,

THE LETTERBOX

Editor, Daily News:
We stand in perfect accord in the last paragraph of your editorial of August 22, on Parks. And I further agree that Totem Park should be renamed Alder Park in honor of its founder, and that its borders should be decorated by planting alder and mountain ash trees. But how are we to develop parks if we dispossess ourselves of natural park sites and lands.

Roosevelt Park is the objective of a drive—not for park purposes but for a real estate venture, for profit. Such an undertaking I will oppose to my last breath of life. Roosevelt Park area is a natural setting as was recognized by the GTP designers and town planners.

As it overlooks the harbor, the park places in full view to all lovers of nature's work of art the beautiful miniature island harbor. With driveways ready made, a free gift to our people—let us protect it and develop it, as our ratepayers have directed us to do.

Regarding Algoma Park as a ball field, all I see there is a bog-hole. If it ever serves as a ball ground, the ground will have to be imported, and including drainage, the cost will be prohibitive.

This year we have already spent over two thousand dollars on Roosevelt Park in improvements, and many thousands in years gone by. Now we are being urged to abandon the whole thing.

The majority of people now travel in their own cars. That eases the hill climb. To many of the big events, I think arrangements could be made with the bus company for transportation. Just think of Vancouver without its Stanley Park. In years to come, Roosevelt Park will be to Prince Rupert what Stanley Park is to Vancouver today.

Do all the urging you can for improved parks, but please don't try to break up Roosevelt Park.

GEORGE B. CASEY,
Chairman, Parks Board.

Hangover Lodges Urged for Drinkers

HOPE, B.C. — Cocktail bars should provide some way of getting the elbow-bender back on his feet, says W. A. Schaffenberg, executive secretary of the International Temperance Association.

In an interview here he said the bars should provide the facilities for getting a man drunk in the first place.

He says a "hangover lodge" would be a way of reducing the suffering arising from drinking, who had taken one too many—or more—could be left in lodges until sober.
Before serving a drink, a bartender would ask the customer if he was drinking. "If the answer is yes," Mr. Schaffenberg said, "the bartender should ask for a record of a man's drinking and keep a record of a man's drinking. If a man has imbibed too much liquor, he should be placed in a hangover lodge for five

The wedding took place at the Church of the Immaculate Conception at Terrace with Father Leray, O.M.I., officiating.
The bride, who was given in marriage by Mr. Sam Snidal, wore a plum double-breasted suit with white gardenia corsage and grey accessories. She was attended by Miss Beth Astoria, sister of the groom, wearing grey double-breasted suit with yellow accessories and a yellow rose corsage. The groomsmen were Harry K. The couple left on a trip to Winnipeg where they will visit with the bride's parents, and will take up residence on their return in Prince Rupert where the groom is in the postal service.
The bride was formerly employed as bookkeeper in the Fishermen's Co-operative Association in Prince Rupert.

SMILING HER APPRECIATION of Prince Rupert is Miss Dawn Dawson, new flying instructor at the Aero Club. From Osooyos, Miss Dawson in one year of flying has succeeded in four flying certificates.

Aero Club Instructress Realizes Dream Here
A little slip of a girl from Osooyos, who wanted to fly ever since she could talk, is the first full-time instructor at Prince Rupert Aero Club. Miss Dawn Dawson, nothing over five feet tall, with a bobbed haircut and laughing grey eyes, has taken over the job of training future private pilots in this city.

Magazine Story Of Local Area
The August issue of the Canadian Geographical Journal contains an article of special interest to residents of this part of Canada for two reasons.

It is entitled "Trapping Crabs off the Queen Charlotte Islands," and it is written by Harry Seamon, now of Terrace but formerly on the staff of the Prince Rupert Daily News.
The eight-page article, in what is acknowledged to be one of Canada's outstanding magazines, is well illustrated with photographs, many of them taken by Mr. Seamon. Others are by the well-known Canadian writer and photographer, Richard Harrington. The persons named in the article are well known to Prince Rupert citizens.

Blind Widow Craft Artist
TORONTO (CP) — Mrs. Eva Bamber of Hamilton won't be able to see her knitted socks and cushion with crocheted flowers on display at the Canadian National Exhibition.
The 67-year-old widow, blind, deaf and partially crippled, is one of the 75 blind men and women exhibiting handicrafts in the Women's Building at the big fair.

Altogether 230 articles are entered by members of the Canadian National Institute for the Blind. Alma McIntosh of Kitchener, Ont., took first prize last year with a hand-made and dressed china doll. This year she is showing stuffed animals and baby clothes.

"Golden" Piers For New Bridge

QUESNEL — A new bridge to be built by the government-owned Pacific Great Eastern Railway may prove to be a "golden" investment.

Piers for the bridge on the Cottonwood River will be "gold-filled" gravel which will go into their construction is being dug from pits along the river bank and it shows traces of gold.

Oldtimers who can remember the gold rush days of the north panned some of it. One shovelful yielded about a half-cent in colors. When that one shovelful is multiplied by several million, the bridge piers may really be worth something.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Usually, the advantage of making an unorthodox lead to fool your opponents is more than offset by the disadvantage of fooling your partner as well. But playing with Mr. Muzzy, Mr. Dale felt such a lead was much more likely to gain than to lose. In other words, Mr. Muzzy is always confused anyway, so why not try to get everybody confused?

Mr. Dale decided to open his club suit and, of course, his normal lead is the fourth highest club. However, in an effort to give Mr. Champion a wrong picture of his distribution, the old boy promptly laid down his fifth highest club, the deuce.

Now there was no reason for Mr. Champion not to figure this lead as a "standard" fourth highest. And if it were, then Mr. Dale had exactly four clubs and Mr. Muzzy, two. Mr. Muzzy didn't think about the lead at all.

He just went up with his king and was surprised when it held the trick. He returned the seven of clubs and Mr. Champion won with the ace. Mr. Dale dropping the eight spot.

Counting up his winners, Mr. Champion saw that he had five diamonds, one club, one spade and one heart. For his ninth trick he could try either the spade or the heart finesse. But which? He decided that running the entire diamond suit might furnish some clue to the right play.

On the last three diamond leads Mr. Muzzy discarded two small hearts and a small spade. Mr. Dale shed the six and deuce of spades and the four of hearts. On the fifth diamond Mr. Champion himself had to make a discard. He chose the seven of hearts.

Well, Mr. Champion had learned practically nothing about the location of the major suit kings. It was possible that both of them were wrong. But why guess?

Remembering that Mr. Dale's opening lead had indicated possession of only four clubs, Mr. Champion simply led a club. The plan was that Mr. Dale could run his two remaining clubs but would then have to lead into the ace-queen of either hearts or spades.

Very fine! Except that the old master rattled off three more clubs. Mr. Champion followed suit twice, then discarded the seven of spades. On the last club he was down to the ace and queen in both spades and hearts. He had a tough guess—and he guessed wrong. He dropped the queen of hearts.

Mr. Dale promptly led his lone king of hearts and Mr. Champion won with the blank ace. Mr. Muzzy had stubbornly held on to the king and one spade. Not because he figured it to be the right thing to do but because he always holds on to his highest cards. Anyway, he won the setting trick.

TORONTO (CP)—Customers of Anton Wurm can let their hair down more than most people. But most of them don't, particularly women. He makes wig.

"Nature tells you you should have hair on your head. When you lose your teeth you get false ones, eh? Why not hair? It helps morale and you do not catch cold,"—nor dandruff, he says.

Mr. Wurm has been making wigs for 30 of his 76 years. He has made them for men, women and even children and says that wig-making is more common today than ever before.

More people are becoming bald through worrying too much and eating the wrong food, he claims.

Wearing a hat, he is convinced, has nothing to do with it. "It is in your stock," he explains.

In his third-floor room he sits with his assistants amidst a clutter of human hair and wooden-block heads. The hair comes mainly from convents and women's jails of Europe. Each hair which goes into a wig is knotted individually into a fine silk netting which is stretched over a wooden block. Proud of his products, Mr. Wurm has worn a wig for 30 years.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Maftern of Winnipeg are through passengers from the prairie capital to Skidegate where they plan on spending the next year or so. They will continue to the Queen Charlotte Islands by the steamer Coquitlam today.

THE EXPERTS Say...

BY KAY REX

Canadian Press Staff Writer Eggs are regarded with reverence at breakfast these days. Small wonder, when they can't be bought under 70 cents a dozen in many places; when they're as high as 87 cents in Toronto.

Mother no longer tosses half a dozen eggs into an angel-cake for the church picnic. The family seldom sees an omelet any more. In other words—eggs have become a delicacy.

That's why—with tongue in cheek—we commend to Canadian housewives a little booklet issued from Ottawa, by the consumer section of the agriculture department's marketing service. It's titled a bright egg-yolk yellow.

The title: EGGS.

There's a souffle recipe requiring four of the dainties. One—for an omelet—also requires four. Both are excellent. Even if you can't afford to try them now, file them away for the day when eggs are cheaper.

But in one way this pamphlet is timely. It contains hints on eggs buying, valuable to the homemaker who wants to get the most for her money.

GRADE MARK IMPORTANT

In buying eggs, look for the grade mark "which must appear either on each end of the case, at the top of the carton or on a tag if the eggs are displayed in bulk—as in baskets."

Whenever possible, the pamphlet suggests, buy eggs from merchants who keep them under refrigeration. Eggs exposed to room temperature soon drop in quality.

After you've bought them; keep eggs in a cool place, preferably the refrigerator; keep them away from highly flavored food; do not wash eggs until just before using; leave eggs in the carton or keep in covered container.

FRENCH TOAST

This is one of the less expensive recipes the booklet contains. It makes a good breakfast dish when you're wondering how to stretch two eggs among three persons.

Ingredients: two eggs; one cup milk; one tablespoon sugar (optional); one-half teaspoon salt; pepper; 6 1/2-inch slices bread; three tablespoons butter.

Blend together slightly beaten eggs, milk, sugar, salt and pepper. Dip both sides of each slice of bread into the mixture. Melt butter in frying-pan, brown slices of bread on both sides in hot fat. Place on a hot platter and serve at once. Yield: six slices.

This is particularly good if served with honey, maple syrup or corn syrup and bacon.

ONE-EGG CAKE

Here is a personal recipe for an inexpensive medium-sized cake.

Ingredients: one-half cup butter (if using shortening use slightly less and add one-half teaspoon salt); one cup granulated sugar; one egg; three-quarters cup milk; 1/2 cups flour (sifted); two level teaspoons baking-powder.

Use a fork to mix this cake. Cream butter and sugar. Add egg and cream all together. Sift dry ingredients and add alternately with the milk.

Bake in a square (eight-by-eight inch) tin which has been greased to prevent sticking. Time: 35 minutes in a moderate oven.

This can be flavored or iced as desired. For orange cake add grated rind of one orange to mixture. Ice with mixture of icing-sugar and one tablespoon butter plus as much orange juice as required.

One-Armed Pitcher Also Heavy Hitter

All Sports Under Eye

WASHINGTON (CP) - Representative L. G. Clemente (Dem. N.Y.) today proposed U.S. congressional investigation of sports contests.

He introduced a resolution to set up a five-man house committee to study "football, basketball, racing, boxing and other sporting contests, professional or otherwise." Purpose of the committee would be to determine whether legislation or other action is necessary to prevent illegal, unethical, corrupt or otherwise improper conduct at such sporting contests.

Eng. Cricket Team in Win

VANCOUVER - The touring Marylebone cricket team yesterday took a notable revenge on the team from the lower B.C. mainland in their second game of the series. Having won the first over M.C.C. the local eleven was trimmed by a score of 270 for the loss of four wickets to scores of 79 and 91, or a total of 170 for two innings.

Tuesday brings a two-day test match, the first ever to be staged between a Canadian team and England.

Ahoy, There, On The Moon

LONDON - The British Interplanetary Society predicts that human beings will make the first piloted return flight to the moon before the end of the century. Space-flight scientists will discuss the project at the second international congress.

Sunday will be the first game of the best-three-of-five final series between league-winning Abel & Odowes and the Hardware lot. With the type of playing the young team has been doing lately, it promises to be a stiff battle between them and the veteran Clothiers.

With one run behind, Don Scherk last night took the mound for Gordon & Anderson in the last of the fourth inning with a three and no count on the batter to win the semi-finals with a three-run lead over Commercial.

Scoring ended 9-6 in the seven-inning night game.

Packed with action from the start, the deciding game featured one home run, a lot of hitting and some thrilling base-running which left both teams with arguments on their hands.

Jam-packed with color, the cellar-boys for the season's league playing, came up to split the semi-final tie their way. Zaccarelli for Commercial was the losing pitcher, taking over from John Rosedale in the sixth inning while still one run ahead in the game.

The razzle-dazzle tactics of Stan Cornwell, one-run hitter of the game and manager of the semi-final playoff champs, more than stunned the record night crowd several times.

In the fourth inning, Matthews had given up four hits in a row with Commercial scoring three runs in two successive innings, when Cornwell yanked the 16-year-old hurler and put Third Baseman Don Scherk on the mound with bases loaded and a three and nothing count on Bruce Simundson.

Fitching cold, Scherk walked Simundson and a run was forced in free. But the next batter, Zaccarelli, struck out to retire the side.

Scherk gave up four hits on which two runs were scored in the last inning, but Commercial's couldn't overcome the lead they slip away in the top half of the seventh when the hotel men, literally "blew up."

Zaccarelli took over the mound in the top of the sixth, also from third base position, just after Rosedale gave up a hit to Young in the wrong field, but it wasn't long after that Commercial seemed to go to pieces.

First, Catcher Herb Morgan took a painful injury to a formerly injured forefinger through a bad ball and had to take to centre field, with Windle going in as catcher. Hotelmen were playing with all men in the field - no one on the bench.

The last inning was a hectic one for both teams, but the Hardware men did the damage as they stormed in with four runs off two errors, a wild pitch and two hits.

SAND-LOT BRIEFS:

Stan Cornwell knocked in his first homer of the season in the fourth inning last night as he clouted a high pitch deep into left field and over the fence on one bounce.

Most consistent hitting in the game was done by Larry Matthews, starting pitcher for G&A, with three for three, and by Herb Morgan, Commercial's catcher, who had three for four, and got on once by an error.

Zaccarelli almost made a homer, for he actually got home on his hit, but Marshall laid a glove on - the drive, also into deep left, but lost in the weeds, for a three-base hit and home on an error.

In a furious rhabarb in the last inning in which G & A scored four runs, Umpire-in-chief Andy Letourneau stood fast by two safe and close calls at the plate. But third base umpire Ian McHardy didn't think the call was right and Kilted maidens from the far northwest are giving Prince Rupert rare publicity just now. That photo of them, standing on the local Court House steps, is appearing in dozens of eastern Canadian newspapers. One of the latest is to be seen on the front page of the St. Thomas (Ontario) Times-Journal. Here, the industrial boom keeps going strong and Canada and the U.S. remain interested, so when that smart and captivating group known as Job's Daughters, headed by the pipes, march into Richmond, the voice of Prince Rupert will be heard as never before.

A dentist shortage is confronting Canada, according to a speaker in Toronto. Those available will have to pull together.

Terrace Plans Labor Day Fete

TERRACE.—Plans for Labor Day celebrations were completed at a meeting of the Terrace Civic Centre Association held on Tuesday with President Darrall Collins in the chair.

The loggers' sports and barbecue will be held as in the past few years and special events for the children will start at 1 p.m. Should the weather be unsettled there will be indoor games in the Civic Centre.

Two ball games are being arranged with teams from Prince Rupert and there will be a grand ball at the close of the day's events. To bring the orchestra nearer to the crowd it was decided to arrange a band platform in the corner under the imitation moon.

The program for the day will be as follows:
1 P.M.—Children's sports and barbecue.
2 P.M.—Loggers' sports.
3 P.M.—Ball game.
6:30 P.M.—Second ball game.

The Canadian Red Cross Blood Donor Clinic drove into town on Thursday and set up their quarters in the IOOF Hall which had been prepared by Mrs. C. J. Norington, chairman of the local Blood Donor Clinic. By 5 p.m. fifty donors had been registered.

Mrs. D. Woods, the former Mildred P. Anks, and small daughter have been visiting with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Franks and left on Thursday morning by train for Burns Lake where she will meet her husband.

Thelma and Jean Olsen and their father, Mr. Walter Olsen, have been visiting with their sister, Mrs. Fred Gibbs. They leave on Thursday by train for Prince Rupert where they will enplane for their home in Vancouver.

Mr. and Mrs. John Haaland and son, Aaron have returned from Winnipeg where Mrs. Haaland and son have been visiting for the past year.

Alaska Sees 'How' In PR

Ralph Browne, assistant general manager of the Alaska Development Board, was recently in Prince Rupert, and is expected to visit again. Now that the Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd. has been established here, he plans on interviewing local officials. A large pulp and paper industry is to be built at Ketchikan and Mr. Browne's presence here will be to see how construction problems have been handled. He lived in Prince Rupert for a while, prior to moving to Juneau.

THE SILENT MORN
Breakfast hour in Prince Rupert, particularly if early, can easily be dismal. In the average cafe casual conversation is more apt to be infrequent and brief, than leisurely and pleasant. Yet, there are reasons. There is almost certain to be a time limit, and so it all comes down to a matter of strict business—eat, drink and beat it. Some, of course, do a bit of waiting for the bus. But that's part of routine.

Within 10 miles of Prince Rupert—perhaps not that far—there's all sorts of opportunity for sport of the out-of-door sort—sailing, sketching, taking pictures of some of Canada's noblest scenery, fishing, camping, hunting, safe and not so cold swimming, adventurous climbing, and many a little hazard that promises some sort of kick to work up an appetite and provide another and new story. Yankee visitors are quick to comment on this. Wilderness and city so near to each other. Nothing like it back home. No siree.
