

Nothing To Stop General MacArthur

Commander Free Cross 38th Line

LONDON. — In an important pronouncement the Minister of State told Parliament that Douglas MacArthur cannot be bound to stay the 38th parallel in the Korean war.

However, such a crossing might have significant political and military reactions.

The British stand to now had presumably been that the 38th parallel should not be re-crossed.

The United States official stand had been in favor of a free hand for MacArthur.

Free Miles on 38th

(CP) — An American-led patrol with mine-hunters today shot its way through Communist ambushes less than five miles from the North Korean border.

They were moving up one side of the River, north of Chunchun, the infantry was plying the opposite bank.

Reds opened fire. From the river they poured machine rifle and mortar fire on the patrol.

They pulled back to Chunchun, leaving the wounded.

The central Korean section of the Communist line appeared to have slipped the 38th parallel.

Strike Crisis Opening

(CP) — France today cancelled for all Army and Air Force personnel as strikes halted the country's trains.

They were ordered to rejoin their units or face court-martial.

Henri Queuille ordered after a series of conferences with ministers and labor leaders concerning the country's strike which appeared to be ending.

In the nationalized railway who struck in Paris extended the stoppage to Rouen and Reims.

There was no gas rationing. Food supplies to reach Paris by truck and train are being made to resume running.

FLYING TWINS—These premature twins, a girl and a boy, were flown from Terrace to Vancouver in an RCAF plane through a blizzard last week. Doctors advised the move because of an influenza outbreak at Terrace. Parents of the twins, now in St. Paul's Hospital at Vancouver, are Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Bilton of Lakelse. (CP PHOTO)

Snow Here But Gale in South

Even though winter again visited this northern coastal port last night with two inches of snow, the weather here "has it all over the south" this year.

According to the Digby Island weather office, Vancouver, Vancouver Island and vicinity fared much worse than Prince Rupert and the north coast.

"They even get the gales that are predicted for here," the weatherman chuckled, saying that last night's predicted storm by-passed this area and now was concentrated in Georgia Straits.

Overnight temperatures remained mild with a low of 30.1, no wind recorded.

Outlook for the next 24 hours is "showery," which may mean either occasional snow or rain.

INDIAN RESERVES—

Concentration Camps Says Native Member For Atlin

VICTORIA (CP)—Frank Calder (CCF-Atlin) told Legislature introduction in British Columbia of the reserve system had stripped Indians of their initiative and independence.

The only Indian MLA in Canada said in his opinion reservations were "nothing but concentration camps" and made a plea for amendments which would allow Indians to purchase homestead land.

Legislature started Easter holiday today. Work will start again Tuesday.

Wheat Payment Is Approved

OTTAWA.—Attempt to block the payment of $65,000,000 to Canadian farmers to make up losses on wheat shipments to Britain was beaten back in the Senate yesterday. A motion by Senator Norman Lambert to eliminate the payment was defeated 27 to 8.

The House approved the payment 85 to 27, Progressive Conservatives, a handful of Liberals and one independent voting against it.

4,500 Spies In States

WASHINGTON —Rep. Clarence Cannon (Dem-Mo.) said in the House of Representatives yesterday the FBI knows of 4,500 foreign spies now at large in United States. He said they are being left unmolested so the FBI can see who their associates are.

Hospital Deficit $23,381 in 1950

Total deficit of operating Prince Rupert General Hospital in 1950 was $23,381.32, according to the financial statement presented Tuesday night at the annual meeting of the hospital association. Revenue was $252,768.82.

Total plant fund assets of the hospital, including buildings, equipment and property is $286,304.60.

Liabilities, of which $19,445.51 still is owed on the new nurses' residence, total $46,447.08, leaving a plant fund surplus of $286,304.60.

Labor Act Unchanged

Nor Will Anything Be Done About Workmen's Compensation

VICTORIA (CP)—Labor groups were told yesterday the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act will stay as it is for the next year to prevent hasty—and perhaps unwise—changes.

Labor Minister John Cates announced in the Legislature there would be no amending at the current session of either the ICA Act or the Workmen's Compensation Act but steps would be taken toward improvement after careful study.

He said a House committee would be named to meet with labor organizations and management representatives with a view of making improvements next year.

His statement was the government's answer to demands of B.C.'s three major labor bodies, which last week made representations for immediate change in the labor act.

Strikes Tie Toronto Milk

TORONTO (CP)—A strike cutting off milk supplies to more than one million persons in Great Toronto started today.

A walk-out of 1700 dairy workers was called on schedule after failure of an all-night meeting of union and employer representatives to settle final differences.

The Toronto Milk Distributors' Association and Milk Drivers' Union held meetings until almost 5 a.m. before they gave up their attempts to reach a settlement and avert a milk delivery strike.

Last point at issue was the retroactivity of a $3 a week salary increase which had been agreed upon by both parties.

It was learned that, before the discussions broke up in a huff, the union and operators had been within two weeks of settling the dispute over the effective date for the increase.

A morning check with larger Toronto dealers indicated the shutdown was effective. In the most of cases workers were sitting around doing nothing.

The union indicated it will not place picket lines around Toronto's 70-odd dairies unless they attempt to operate with non-union labor.

The striking workers include inside dairy employees as well as milk drivers and their idleness cripples all dairy operations.

THE WEATHER

(Synopsis)
Strong westerly winds struck at Vancouver and Victoria overnight as cool Pacific air pushed inland over the province. At one time early this morning Vancouver wind rose close to fifty miles an hour in a brief gust.

More southeast gales are indicated for northern coastal waters later today as another rapidly moving weather system reaches the Queen Charlottes from the west. Rain from this system will spread southward along the coast tomorrow but strong winds are not expected over the southern coast with this storm.

(Gale Warning)
North coast region—gale warning issued.
Cloudy today and Friday. Showers this morning. Rain beginning this afternoon and becoming showery overnight. Mild or tonight. Winds—westerly 15 miles per hour increasing to southerly (35) this afternoon and shifting to southwest (30) tonight. Lows tonight and highs tomorrow—at Port Hardy 38 and 45, Prince Rupert 35 and 42.

SENIOR "B" BASKETBALL—

Prince George Defaults And Prince Rupert in Hoop Final

The Prince George Clippers have defaulted their northern zone Senior B playoffs which were scheduled for Prince Rupert this week-end. This means that the Prince Rupert Jets will now meet the winner of the Vancouver Arctic-Penticton Omegas playoff which will take place Friday and Saturday at Penticton.

"Uganda" to Be "Quebec"

OTTAWA (CP)—The Navy announced today the cruiser Uganda, in mothballs for some years at Victoria, is going to be placed back in service early next year as a training ship.

She is to undergo an extensive refit in Esquimalt, and will be renamed "Quebec."

Russia Holds US Vessels

Refuses To Return Ships Obtained Under Lend-Lease

WASHINGTON (CP)—Russia has told the United States flatly it refuses to consider returning 670 American vessels obtained under lend-lease during the Second World War.

State Department negotiators reported the Russians accused the United States of violating their promise to sell the fleet to the Soviet Union.

The Soviet government also took the position United States does not need merchant and naval ships in its accelerated defence program, as it claims.

The note said the country has sold surplus ships to several South American and other countries recently.

American negotiators made it plain in talking to reporters they would not accept the Russian refusal.

It is being suggested that in future Prince George be included in the Kamloops district play-downs the cities are much closer together and the roads are open in this area the year round.

But driving from Prince Rupert to Terrace this week-end doubtful

Provincial public works department offices today qualified with a "doubtful" their hopes that the highway between Prince Rupert and Terrace might be reopened for the Easter week-end.

With bulldozers, plows and caterpillars, crews from both the Prince Rupert and Terrace ends have been endeavouring to break through slides and drifts, at some places six feet deep and filled with debris, which had become frozen during the cold snap of a couple of weeks ago.

The blockade distance has now been narrowed to the 20-odd miles between Kwantlen and Ex-stew.

To add to the difficulty, there has been trouble with some of the snow-clearing equipment—and the snow which has fallen in the lower Skeena Valley during the last couple of days has not helped matters any.

Easter

EASTER, the season of rebirth for spirit and nature, is with us again and it is well that we should consider its significance and freshen ourselves with new hopes and resolve.

True, it seems a sorry world with little of the inspiration of the real Christian spirit effectively extant. Yet, despite all our great precautions and preparations, that it what we must eventually come to if peace and harmony, and the elements which make them, are to be established and permanently prevail.

And yet hope springs eternal but, if our hopes are to be implemented and realized, they must be supported by action in the true Christian spirit—in carrying out which we each and all may play our part.

If we would only reflect upon the significance of these Easter days, recall in humility and reverence the events of which they are the anniversary—the desperation of death overcome, the triumph of resurrection—we should have done something toward the establishment of a better world which is so sorely needed.

She Played A Part

PRINCE RUPERT mourns in the passing of the late Mrs. D. C. Stuart the loss of one of her good citizens whose works in various types of patriotic and humanitarian activities had been so tirelessly and devotedly carried out during the four decades that she had been an esteemed resident of the city.

Mrs. Stuart was one of those pioneer women whose unselfish and persevering efforts through many years helped to make Prince Rupert a better and more creditable place in which to live. She was not only a leader and an organizer but a zealous worker herself. Her life was full of good deeds, the memory of which will not be soon forgotten and the effects of which will go on for many a year.

As I See It

FASHION. NOTT

NEW DELHI, India.—This is a sort of goodbye article from India's capital. For in a few hours I am off for a swing around part of this vast land.

I particularly want to see Hyderabad and some of the other spots which are most affected by the Communist-led anti-landlord campaigns and how India's Preventive Detention Act works out.

In a way I hate to leave this hostel for Indian MP's. Every day you meet interesting people here. Last night I had dinner with the noted London lawyer, Mr. Pollak, who was so closely connected with Gandhi in the latter's South African days. In fact, it was Mr. Pollak who handed Gandhi that little book of Ruskin's which changed Gandhi's life.

I ASKED MR. POLLAK FOR the relative effect on Gandhi of the teachings of Tolstol and Thoreau.

"Tolstol, yes; but Thoreau, no," was his sum-up. Gandhi had held the rank of sergeant-major in the British Army in the Boer War, though he served in the Ambulance Corps. He had respect for Tolstol's pacifism because he, Mr. Tolstol, had himself been a good Russian soldier before renouncing violence, on principle.

Gandhi did read Thoreau and hence knew all about the American's civil disobedience campaign. But he did so only after he was deeply involved in his own activities. Hence he studied Thoreau only to compare techniques.

AROUND THIS HOSTEL YOU can see just about every type of dress. Most of the women wear the Indian sari (usually spelled saree here). The ladies tell me that they run from four and a half yards to nine yards in length. A woman can tell at a glance where another woman comes from by the type of sari she wears. The patterns vary greatly, also the colors and of course materials.

While the sari is a garment that adorns and beautifies the Indian female, I cannot say the same for some of the garments worn by the mere male. Here they wear just about every style. The most unbecoming garment is the dhoti—which is a sort of sheet draped about the forepart of the male with plenty of ventilation behind.

ONE KEEN INDIAN TOLD ME that there is less prejudice against Western things now that the British Raj is over. In the old days, to wear Western dress was to make oneself suspect. Now all that is gone.

Now the British are, incidentally, by far the most respected of all outsiders, so far as I can see. You hear people talking almost wistfully of "the good old days." Now that the British era is over, intelligent people realize how much India owes to the British. Of course, we all know the other side of the story, too. But that's all "let bygones be bygones" now.

NORMAN COUSINS, the editor of the Saturday Review of Literature told me he was amazed and appalled by the anti-American feeling in India. I have found no trace of it myself, but have heard and read plenty about it.

My own explanation of this sentiment is as follows: The Indian intellectuals see the U.S.A. of 1951 as being in the same economic position as Britain was in the earlier time of the ray..

Reflects and Reminisces

The New York Daily Worker, Communist Party paper, says it's been running behind to the tune of $200,000 annually and, woe and behold, is on the brink of bankruptcy. It appeals for contributions of $5 each. Well, in Prince Rupert most of the surplus five spots disappeared Monday. They were taken by the Red Cross instead of the Reds.

The first Friday in April is on the sixth. This is merely mentioned in advance so you will know.

CONTACT WITH CANADA
Alfred Krupp von Bohlen und Halbach, released after six years' clink as a war criminal, is seeking to reorganize the vast Krupp armament works. This involves negotiations that might mean a Canadian contact. The port of Montreal has been heard mentioned. It might not be interesting to know the views of the United Nations. Perhaps some had dealings with him a generation or so ago.

MORE DOLLARS
The Minister of Fisheries advocates attractiveness in the merchandising of sea food. That's all very well but, pray, do not too quickly lament the cost of living. Skilled and dainty services run into hard cash. The average housewife is not insensible to the enticement, — to the allurements

East India Company era. India desperately needs the capital to develop this country, and the U.S.A. is one obvious source of supply. But Indians just don't believe that this capital can come in in large measure without political strings attached to it.

Down in their hearts they fear a new sort of financial or dollar imperialism.

THE DIET HERE IS PRETTY grim for a foreign visitor. Just about everybody from the West gets dysentery. (My score—three attacks in one month — quickly knocked out by sulphaguanadine.) One could live well on a non-meat diet. But no one can touch raw salads or anything else not boiled without inviting the inevitable dysentery. There is no beef or pork on any menu. That is why you get to think if you see that word "mutton" once again you will go nuts. But here (unlike North America, where no lamb ever becomes mutton) it really is mutton, no fooling.

Which reminds me of my latest idea to make a million: Start a world circling chain of American cooking restaurants—to cater to of variety in color, special wrappers and frosted food cabinets. But eventually, the consumer gets down to the actual fish, and "the trimmings."

ROOM FOR DOUBT

Yesterday was hailed officially as the first day of Spring. This morning, after a bit of eye-rubbing and putting up the bedroom blind, it was natural enough to wonder if there had been an error somewhere. It was so easy to feel suspicious.

A few weeks ago, the world paused to contemplate what was introduced as The Big Four. From their deliberations would flow results designed to make a real start toward the healing and calming of an ailing and distressed universe. Do you, by this time, feel relief? Or the slightest suggestion of saner times? Could they have really intended to say The Big Four Flushers?

WHERE THEY COMMENCED

One need not necessarily believe all he hears. How about the oft heard statement to the effect that the principal causes of war are poverty and ignorance. Each can be inconvenient as well as sources of hardship. History shows clearly enough they had nothing to do with the old wars between Britain and France, the English Civil War, the American Civil War, the Thirty Years War, the War of the Spanish succession, the Franco-Prussian War, the Spanish-American War, the First and Second World War, the freezing and fighting in Korea—and Oh Yes—the Northwest Rebellion. We'd almost forgotten that one.

Mr. and Mrs. Shelford Darton returned to the city yesterday on the Prince Rupert, after a trip to Vancouver and Victoria.

Good Work by Hospital WA

A year ago, under direction of Mrs. Jens Munthe, president, the Women's Auxiliary of the Prince Rupert General Hospital was formed. Tuesday night the Auxiliary reported to the annual hospital association meeting that $1,000 worth of services had been rendered.

A patients' library has been established, which includes servicing twice a week all patients with reading matter by the library committee.

"This service has been met with enthusiasm on the part of the patients and we feel the personal contact with the patients is as essential as the service itself," said Mrs. Munthe.

The other project completed was extra furnishing of the nurses' residence. For the living room were purchased one sectional chesterfield, six pairs of drapes and curtain rods; for occasional chairs and a footstool; one table refinished.

Money for this purpose was raised by a rummage sale, tea and grocery hamper, a tag day, a tea and fur neck-piece raffish last month, and augmented by refreshment charges at each meeting.

Purpose of forming the auxiliary was "to aid and assist the hospital or nurses' home in providing equipment or service that cannot be included in the hospital budget." Mrs. Munthe said, "There are a great many things that do not come under the strictly essential class but are necessary for the smooth carrying of an institution."

"Time spent in hospital is trying for patients, and where so many come from outside points with no friends or relatives to procure things for them, or visit them, some form of service is necessary," Mrs. Munthe read from the report submitted by Secretary Mrs. R. G. Moore.

"And to have and keep a satisfied personnel it is only thoughtful that the housing accommodation be made as attractive as possible."

Other executive members are Mrs. L. M. Green, vice-president, and Mrs. M. B. Lemon, treasurer. Total membership is 65.

Library Shows Steady Gains

Steady gains in circulation and patrons highlighted the report of the librarian to the Prince Rupert Public Library at their regular meeting Tuesday evening.

The board, with five members present acknowledged receipt of two sets of books from the Prince Rupert Credit Union entitled "Credit for the Millions" and "The Poor Man's Prayer." These books are now on the shelves. Gifts of books from organizations are always appreciated, the librarian commented.

New volumes for the youngsters and the young people are on order and should be available for these readers in the near future. The Book Committee, Mrs. W. S. Kergin, told the meeting of plans for gradual improvement in the reference section of the reading room in the library.

During the month of February well over two thousand volumes were borrowed from the Public Library by its members.

Preaches Commonwealth Unity Pioneer of New Zealand Commissioner Club Speaker

One knows not what the future may hold in store but, with the inspiration and ideals of freedom and the perpetuation of the common bonds of their origins, nations of the British Commonwealth may be expected to again stand firm and united, as they have already done in two great wars, in facing any menace so that those who follow may still live free.

Such was the stirring conclusion of an address which Hon. T. C. A. Hislop, New Zealand High Commissioner to Canada, delivered before a meeting of the Women's Canadian Club last evening.

Mr. Hislop, who speaks in an intriguing manner with a spark of dry humor to impregnate the sequences of his discourse, told his listeners many facts which led to a better knowledge and understanding of the Dominion down under for which he is such an able and enthusiastic emissary.

"The main reason I am in Canada," he explained, "is so that I may do something to make our two countries better acquainted. Therefore, I should tell you something about New Zealand."

In 1642 a Dutchman, Abel Tasman, had discovered New Zealand and in 1740 Captain Cook had landed and claimed it as part of the British Dominion. It was not until 1840, however, that organized settlement by English, Scotch, Welsh and Irish people, taking over from Maoris, had commenced.

Mr. Hislop cleared up some misapprehensions about New Zealand which he had found to be general in Canada.

Area of New Zealand was 103,416 square miles or only about one-fortieth of Canada. The population was about two million compared with Canada's fourteen million. The temperate climate of New Zealand—temperature ranging from 45 to 75 degrees above—the speaker likened to that of the British Columbia coast.

Agriculture was the basis of New Zealand's national economy and the endeavour had been to develop the farming industry by an orderly economy, not to be directed but by the good sense of the people. Taking advantage of the advances in scientific methods and with hard work, the exploitation of the land had been built up along sound and prosperous lines.

A Safety Program should be taught in the schools bearing in mind that pedestrians keep to the side of the road and bicycles obey traffic regulations.

A stricter police supervision of all motor traffic especially near public buildings and intersections.

Parents should be more alert to traffic dangers and set an example.

During the business session presided over by Mrs. P. Mark, the president, it was reported by the treasurer that a net profit of $257.99 was made on the Tea and White Elephant sale held recently.

Mrs. Edith Bowmen was chosen as delegate in place of Miss Patterson who will be unable to attend the Parent-Teacher Convention.

The Association endorsed a resolution that the British Columbia Parent-Teacher Federation recognize the matter of juvenile delinquency as being the most urgent responsibility that it faces and by means of committees, study groups, and consultations one with its member organizations, endeavor to solve this national emergency.

Members of King Edward Parent-Teacher Association were given instruction in Square dancing by Mrs. W. H. Doumont and Don Leitch. A good time was had by all. There was a larger turnout of men than usual.

At the close of the meeting delicious refreshments were served.

now that you had four million or even eight million pounds," he dryly suggested. It was something that could have been done if the order had been placed early enough.

The Commissioner took advantage of the opportunity, as he explained he did on every possible occasion, to bring the appreciative greetings to Canada of the New Zealand boys (as well as their mothers and fathers and, indeed, the government of New Zealand) who had come to Canada, a vast and strange land, for air training in the last war and had been so splendidly received and made to feel that they were indeed among friends. "Those boys will never forget all you people did for them. It helped to form a bond of friendship that will not soon be broken."

In the course of his discourse, Mr. Hislop told of the important and completely equal part that the aboriginal Maoris, there 600 years before the whites, played today in the affairs of the country. Completely equal in the rights and privileges of citizenship, all the jobs and the professions were open to them and there were not a few who had distinguished themselves.

Mr. Hislop revealed how the Maoris had their representation in Parliament. Although the had their reserves, on which many carried on successful communal farming, they took part on an equal basis in all civilian avocations. They were also on the same terms in the matter of liquor restrictions in connection with which had been the last to be dropped.

The speaker told the audience something of the secondary industries of his country, all of which were subsidiary, of course, to the farming.

"But do not think," he added, "that we are a dull, uninteresting people, isolated in a remote part of the world. We have horse racing for everybody and football is a popular sport."

Presiding over the Women's Canadian Club gathering was Mrs. C. R. Graham, president of the club. A. Rutherford presided at the piano in accompanying the national anthems.

W. E. Drake, general manager of Edward Lissett Ltd., arrived in the city yesterday from Vancouver, being here on business in connection with the fire which visited the company's branch here at the first of the week.

Pioneer of City Dies

John William Moorehouse Identified With City Since Early Days

Gone today is another pioneer of Prince Rupert, John William Moorehouse, 74. He died yesterday after ill health of several years.

Mr. Moorehouse was born in Nottingham, England, and came to Toronto in 1904, where he worked as a carpenter. He came to Prince Rupert in October, 1909, and resided here since.

An employee of Canadian National Railways in the early days, Mr. Moorehouse was also a pioneer member of Prince Rupert Fire Department. Until eight years ago, when he retired, he was engineer on patrol boats for the Fisheries Department. Years ago he suffered the loss of a leg when he became entangled with machinery on a fishing boat which he operated.

He is survived by his wife; three sons, Tom, Norman and William, of this city; two daughters, Mrs. Ethel Graham, Vancouver, and Mrs. Ida Hogan, Prince Rupert; and eight grandchildren.

The couple had celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary this year.

Funeral arrangements will be announced later.

Help Prevent Tooth Decay

BEFORE IT STARTS... INSTEAD OF AFTER IT APPEARS

This famous formula, developed by the University of Illinois Foundation, caused enormous interest in dental circles because of its promising method of attacking tooth decay. In preliminary tests conducted at the University, case after case of reduction in the incidence of tooth decay was reported.

Now the manufacturers of Listerine Antiseptic make this same formula readily available to you and to your family. Use Listerine Ammoniated Tooth Paste regularly, as directed, morning and night and right after eating. Lambert Pharmaceutical Co. (Canada) Ltd., Toronto.

AMMONIATED LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE

1. Chemical action reduces mouth acidity. Mouth acidity encourages decay.
2. Mechanical action cleans surfaces as teeth are brushed—helps break up and remove decay-breeding deposits.
3. Chemical action checks acid-forming bacteria—a major cause of decay.

Land Boom is Being Started

As Aluminum Company of Canada intensifies its activities with a view to the establishment of its half a billion plant in the Kitimat area, eighty miles south of Prince Rupert, something in the nature of a land boom appears to be developing.

From Vancouver came word last week of interests there being about to start townsite development.

At the first of the week, a party of local business men, with Richard Braun, one of the original pre-emptors at Kitimat, made a trip by Queen Charlotte Air Lines plane to inspect property of which one parcel has already been acquired from Mr. Braun.

Members of the land inspection party were T. N. Youngs, A. F. Smith, R. H. Parker, Howard Reid, Thomas Newton, Giles McKenzie. "It looks like a miniature Fraser Valley," said one member of the party describing the vicinity. "It is a splendid townsite area even if there is still four feet of snow there."

The local men reported remains of camps of surveyors of Alcan who had been there last year lining up land for various sites concerned with the location of the great plant.

Costello Boasts—

Is Powerful In Politics

NEW YORK (CP) — Racketeer Frank Costello admitted this week he was powerful enough in Democratic city politics to help make a leader of Tammany Hall.

Back before Senate crime probes—and more talkative than the late Michael J. Kennedy—Costello testified he helped become head of a potent Democratic Manhattan organization some years ago.

"What was your ability to persuade politicians?" Costello was asked by the Senate crime investigating committee.

"I can't explain it," replied the racketeer who once insisted he didn't even have enough pull to get a traffic ticket fixed.

Earlier Ex-Mayor William O'Dwyer told the hearing—which entered its second week today—he believed a pal of Costello's may have helped him in the mayoralty campaign of 1945.

He denied, however, what he needed Costello's support to gain Democratic nomination for mayor.

Fisheries—

Must Appeal To Housewife

OTTAWA (CP) — The fishing industry must learn to merchandise its product with efficiency of the meat industry if it expects to get a proper share of the housewives' dollars, Fisheries Minister R. W. Mayhew said yesterday.

"The fishing industry dare not lose sight of the kitchen," he said in an address to the sixth annual meeting of the Fisheries Council of Canada.

The housewife is interested in colors, packages, wrappers, weights and sizes, vitamins, cleanliness and frosted food cabinets. Housewives are demanding and paying for these services and, Mr. Mayhew said, the fishing industry is moving into this merchandising.

valuable of preventive and corrective foods. Sauerkraut not only rates high in food value, but is one of the most healthful and economical dishes you can buy.

A FAVOURITE FOR CENTURIES because of its pleasantly stimulating flavour, sauerkraut richly deserves its new-found popularity. It is delicious eaten raw — just as it comes from the tin, makes a wonderful salad or baked dish. And—housewives, take note—a hearty serving costs less than 5¢.

WHEN COOKING sauerkraut always use a saucepan with a tightly fitting cover. This safeguards against loss of vitamins in cooking.

USE JUICE when serving sauerkraut. When Sauerkraut is served dry, the useful lactic acid content is diminished.

Libby's SAUERKRAUT IS ONE OF THE MOST HEALTHFUL VEGETABLES YOU CAN EAT!

Science is finding out some remarkable things about that ancient food—sauerkraut. For example, sauerkraut contains the same kind of lactic bacilli which is found in yogurt, buttermilk and sour milk, all of which are well known for their wholesome properties.

Sauerkraut has all the beneficial properties of cabbage in a more easily digested form, and it is more valuable as a food. It actually increases appetite. A favourite for centuries because of its pleasantly stimulating flavour, science has discovered that it is among the most SAUERKRAUT AND FRANKFURTS—In heavy skillet or frying pan, put one can of Libby's Sauerkraut, including juice. Top with one pound of Frankfurts. Cover tightly. Bring to boiling point. Turn down heat and simmer for 7 minutes. Serve as in picture, garnished with tomato slices and dill pickles. Serves 4.

SAUERKRAUT AND SPARERIBS—Brown two pounds spareribs in heavy skillet or frying pan with a little fat. When well browned, remove from skillet. Place undrained sauerkraut in skillet. Top with browned spareribs. Cover tightly. Bake in moderate oven (350°F.) about one hour, or until ribs are fork-tender. Serve as shown, garnished with green pepper slices. Serves 4.

SAUERKRAUT CUCUMBER SALAD—Soften two tablespoons gelatin in half cup cold water ten minutes. Bring one can Libby's Tomato Soup to a boil and dissolve softened gelatin in it. When cool, add two cups Libby's Sauerkraut; 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion; 2 frankfurts, sliced penny-wise; 1/4 teaspoon salt; 1/4 teaspoon paprika. Slice cucumber in thin rings and place in bottom of mold. Fill with tomato sauerkraut mixture. Chill. When ready to serve, turn out on lettuce leaves. Garnish with lemon wedges, hard-cooked eggs and olives. Serve with mayonnaise.

Organizing Rifle Club

The Prince Rupert Rod and Gun Club last night heard recommended bylaws for the Rupert Rifle Club to be organized following the opening last week of the new rifle range in Civic Centre basement.

Some of the main points recommended were:

1. The club should affiliate with the Canadian Civilian Association of Marksmen, with advantages of range rules, targets, and bulletins advertising competitions. It should also register with Dominion Marksmen.
 2. A supervisor should be appointed to enforce rules and regulations and to be in charge of the range at all times when shooting is carried on.
 3. Safety precautions should be adhered to without exception and each member would be responsible for his right to possess and carry firearms.
 4. Memberships would be open to Civic Centre and Rod and Gun Club members.
- The executive was authorized to draw up the bylaws.

Follow up Trout Eggs

Further Plantings Deferred—Transplant Fresh Water Crabs

No trout eggs will be ordered by Prince Rupert's Rod and Gun Club this year, it was decided last night at the club's general meeting.

Although in the past, several hundred thousand rainbow trout eggs had been planted in streams here, results of such plantings had not been definitely determined, said W. J. "Jim" Bacon. "I move we do not get any eggs until we know what happens to these eggs. It's a waste of valuable material."

Hatching and planting of trout eggs had been a subject of much controversy and much talk, said President Norman Christensen. Dr. Peter Larkin, Game Department biologist, would be here this summer to make investigations of the streams where the eggs had been planted and the lakes adjacent—Frudhomme and Rainbow.

"Then we will know where we stand." Meanwhile, Corp. Ed Martin, game warden reminded the club that fresh-water crabs would be sent from Smithers to test their survival in Frudhomme lake. If the crabs survived successfully, "a lot of them" would be planted there for trout feeding, he said.

He also urged club members to get permission from his office to keep a few small trout and ship their scales, measurements of length and weight to the Vancouver Game Commission where analysis would show the age and environment of the fish.

TO ERECT SIGN

Members also endorsed a plan of the executive to erect a large sign at city limits to welcome tourists to Prince Rupert. On the sign would be names of whom to contact for information on hunting and fishing.

MORE MOOSE

Corp. Martin said he had received reports that more moose than in previous years had been seen in the Bulkley valley this winter. Grouse, he said, were also on the upswing.

A recommendation will be forwarded to Jarvis McLeod, again delegated to the game convention this year, that both, blue and willow grouse season open with the deer season.

Other regulations in force regarding migratory birds and big game were approved.

The club voted a $25 donation to the Civic Centre.

Because of great interest shown in the club's activity and judging by attendance at the meeting Jim Bacon moved that the club hold a meeting every month.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

It's good to hold solid combinations of honors like ace-king-queen but it seems they don't come along often enough. When you hold broken sequences like ace-queen or king-jack, you know it is best to lead up to such combinations rather than to lead away from them.

The bidding:

The number of tricks you can win from such broken sequences depends upon which opponent has the missing honor or honors. A holding of A Q J 2 in dummy opposite three small cards in your hand may win four tricks—just the same as if dummy's holding were A K Q J. It all depends upon which opponent has the king, and how the suit breaks.

The finesse is the strategic device by which you may win tricks with "secondary" honors of the position if a higher honor or honors is favorable.

A finesse is not a gamble. It is an attempt to improve your chances of winning a trick. A simple finesse will win only half of the time. However, if the finesse is not taken the trick will be lost very much more often than half of the time.

I want to show you a hand which my fortunate friend Miss Brash played involving an elementary finessing situation, and in following articles I want to show you some more complicated varieties.

Miss Brash seems to have the kind of luck with which the bold are often blessed. Mrs. Keen opened the king of diamonds in today's deal and Miss Brash won with the ace.

Potentially she had five losers in the hand but she started off by leading a small heart and finessing dummy's jack which held. Then she led a low spade and put in the jack from her hand. Next another low heart, finessing dummy's queen.

A little spade brought forth Mr. Masters' king which was killed by Miss Brash's ace. Now another heart to the ace on the board and the suit broke.

Dummy's deuce of hearts furnished a parking place for the six of diamonds in the closed hand. Miss Brash had to lose two clubs at the end but fortunate finessing gave her five-odd on the hand.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Korhonen of Port Essington sailed on the Princess Norah last evening for Vancouver.

Funeral is Impressive

An impressive funeral service was held yesterday afternoon at the Salvation Army Citadel for John Everett (Joe) Johansen, 18, who was drowned in a boat accident at Seal Cove March 17.

Kind and understanding words were addressed to the congregation which overflowed onto the steps and street of the Citadel by Capt. W. C. Poulton, who officiated at the service and spoke words of consolation.

By request a special solo, "Safe in the Arms of Jesus" was sung by Capt. Poulton.

Rev. Fred Antrobus of First United Church said a special prayer.

"Rock of Ages" and "Nearer My God to Thee" were the hymns sung to the piano accompaniment of Miss Clara Pierce.

Pallbearers were Dick Hedstrom, Lewis Sandhals, Jack Clee, Charles Graham, Norman Skogmo and Lloyd Pedersen.

Immediate next of kin include Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johansen, the parents, and a sister Margaret Elizabeth 18; and two brothers, Richard Lewis, 15, and Allan Howard, 12.

Mr. Johansen had returned from Vancouver following the accident. Since then his brother has died, with burial held in the cemetery today.

Funeral services were held at Fairview Cemetery.

Those sending floral tributes were:

School Pupils Enjoy Bagpipes

To give the children of Borden Street School an opportunity to become more familiar with bagpipes, Principal J. S. Wilson arranged for William McKay, well-known local piper, to bring his pipes to the school and demonstrate them to the pupils. Mr. McKay arrived yesterday forenoon.

The three senior grades assembled in the music room and Mr. McKay explained the two tenor and the base drone and the need for tuning them properly. He then played a lament, a Scottish folk song, a dance and a march. He was given a great reception by the children.

Later the whole school assembled in the girls' basement and Piper McKay again played selections typical of the different phases of Scottish music.

For one of the marches he had Grade Six march behind him. The children liked "Over the Sea to Skye" as they sing that number.

Two unexpected developments included the fact of one class hearing the unusual music and, taking it for a fire alarm, evacuating the school in almost record time. In a discussion later, two girls said that they had recognized "The Road to the Isles." Their father used to sing it to them and they used to cry!

Piper McKay's visit to the school was much appreciated and will be long remembered. He is to return at a later date when the children will sing some Scottish and other songs for him.

Airport Facilities, Civil Defence Occupy Jaycees

Air service facilities, civil defence and a brief review of the Junior Chamber of Commerce's history were among matters coming up at the J.C.C. dinner meeting last night in the Civic Centre.

In the absence of President Geoffrey Hill, Vice-President Archie Wudel introduced the guest speakers including J. C. Gilker, senior chamber president, and A. J. Spillsbury, president of the Queen Charlotte Airlines.

Pointing out that it was the Junior Chamber of Commerce which consolidated external revenues into one Civic Centre fund a decade ago, Mr. Gilker praised the work of the present Jaycee program for city street signs.

It was through this work that arrangements were being facilitated with the government for house to house mail deliveries. The speaker thought that both the city council and the Senior Chamber of Commerce had been backward in this work.

In his talk of encouragement to the younger men, Mr. Gilker said: "Prince Rupert is coming into its own but we must take care to look before we leap."

Warning that subversive elements from within and without might impinge on the democratic rights the chamber believed in, the senior president said: "Scrutinize all groups to see that they are for the welfare of Canada."

Advocating more population, Mr. Gilker said that Canada had resources that no other country, even United States of America, had. "But this must be used rightly. And members of our groups must work. Distribution is in proportion to the contribution we make," said Mr. Gilker referring to the opportunity of the north.

BETTER AIR FACILITIES
In regard to air facilities Neely Moore said that he had read that the B.C. Central Airlines would only be operating from Prince George to Terrace, by-passing Prince Rupert.

Since the licence granted the airlines included Prince Rupert, the secretary, Robert Davis, was requested to write inquiring of the matter.

Referring to the inadequate facilities of the Seal Cove base, A. J. Spillsbury, on behalf of the Q.C.A., said that he had written to government officials asking immediate attention.

"The present dock should be discarded. It is becoming a hazard," said the Q.C.A. president.

He said that, due to the importance of their own service, as well as the Canadian Pacific Airlines and that of the Aero Club, hope is held for improvements to be included in supplementary estimates this year.

Combined effort on aircraft questions will be made between the two chambers, Mr. Gilker said. Neely Moore and Robert Davis were appointed to represent the Jaycees on the junior chamber's committee, Mr. Davis relieving in Mr. Moore's absence.

CIVIL DEFENCE
Bert Jeffries was appointed to investigate work being done in the city with regard to civil defence preparation and the stand taken by other groups.

The junior chamber felt that no definite plan or organization had been made, with full responsibility on one commander in view of an emergency.

"Everybody is doing something but not getting very far—what we need is a foolproof system," said Mr. Jeffries.

TO WATCH COUNCIL

Since the Jaycees had been voicing criticism of the city council and aldermen, Hugh MacKenzie, chairman of the Civic Affairs, was asked to arrange representation at regular council meetings with a report being made to the J.C.C. of what is done in the city council meetings.

In a report from the entertainment committee, Mr. Moore said that $125 was realized at the recent Valentine's dance.

Walter Landon and Robert Davis were appointed representatives to the next senior chamber meeting.

With Nick Mazzone welcomed as a new member of the J.C.C., guests for the evening included Ivor Anderson, Jim Hymman, A. J. Spillsbury, Harry Louis and Ernie Vaughan.

Al Miller won a raffle.

In order to consider resolutions for the regional convention, the next regular meeting date was advanced from April 18 to April 11.
