Rooms and the viewing of education in operation.

To organize education week, Prince Rupert Teachers' Association called an organizations' meeting early in February to which many city clubs responded heartily, said R. St. Davidson, chairman.

It was not because teachers wanted to get out of doing the work, said Mr. Davidson. A "freer expression of opinion" would result if public clubs took over organization of education week, he said.

This "yes, yes, schools-are-wonderful routine" is something we want to get away from. Education week is instituted to bring closer to the public the problems of education and work of the students today," said Mr. Davidson.

Representatives of city organizations who are contributing to education week are Mayor G. W. Rudderham and Ald. H. F. Glassey, City Council; Mrs. Becker, school board; Marc Gormley, Gyro Club; Rev. Basil Proctor, Ministerial Association; J. S. Black, Trades and Labor Council; Mr. Hill, Junior Chamber of Commerce, and Mrs. R. E. Mortimer, P-TA.

Members of the special school committee in charge of open house and window displays for their respective schools are Mrs. Vestia Douglas, Conrad; Miss Margaret Caldwell, King Edward; Miss Lillian Smith, Borden Street; John Henry and Alex Robertson, BMHS.

RC Fathers' Home Burns

STE. ANNE, Manitoba (CP)—A 16-hour fire Saturday injured five persons and destroyed the Redemptorist Fathers' monastery here, causing estimated property loss of $175,000.

The fire broke out in the three-story building Saturday afternoon. It was believed started by a short circuit in the second storey office of Father J. Blanchette.

RC Fathers' Home Burns

Several oil barrels were stacked overhead but were removed before they had a chance to blow up.

"I threw my coat over the flame, turning off the torch, but the fire shot right up the shingles on the side of the wall," said the plumber, who ran out into the alley shouting the alarm.

"It must have been only two minutes before the fire trucks arrived," said Holliston, who praised Const. Redhead's and the firemen's work.

"The firemen must have done marvelous work," said Vernon Ciccone, manager of Eaton's Store who noticed billows of black smoke and flames only four minutes after he had left the store for the post office. Furnishings from his store, next to the blaze, were quickly moved.

Const. Redhead had left the Grand Cafe, saw the blaze, and rushed with several civilians among whom were Gene Holliston, Jeffrey Robinson, Jimmy McLean, Ald. Harold Whalen and David Alexander. While firemen were cutting off the flames and connecting two hydrants, Const. Redhead seized a fire hose, turning it onto five oil barrels that were swelling with heat near the flames.

"She burnt our hands—and the gas from the oil drums was squirting in our face," said Jeff Robinson of the city engineer's department, and David Alexander, who were rolling the swollen oil barrels out from between the inflated walls of the alley.

"I've seen those oil barrels explode whole blocks into fire—and there were no vents on at least two of them," said Assistant Fire Chief W. H. (Buster) Hill, pointing to the full barrels of oil used for domestic purposes. They were puffed out like balloons from the heat.

"It's a lucky thing there weren't two or three dead firemen around," said the chief, condemning use of barrels without vents.

Several thousand dollars worth of stock, including a new $1500 shipment of suitcases, was the lost to the Sport Shop, conducted by Mrs. Myrtle Franklin and Mr. Jack Christensen.

"I heard what seemed like sand thrown on the wall, then I saw the flames and cried 'Fire!'" said Mrs. Heikki Seppa, recently here from Denmark, working in the store.

"Flames burst through the window at the back of the store. I grabbed some toy dogs, but it was no use, so we left with just the cash and papers," said Mrs. Seppa.

The building is owned by Louis Ross.

The fire call was sent from the Men's and Boys' Store by the city garbage collection crew, who were in the alley at the time Halliston was thawing the pipes.

Mrs. Jack Furness of the B.C. Messenger's office also sent in a report.

Both fire trucks were used. Smoke had also entered George Hill & Sons store, while occupants of the Aldine Apartments prepared to move.

The Eaton store building is owned by Henry Meyerhoof of Penticton.

Big Four Get-Together In Paris

Cold Morning Blaze—Quick Fire Fighting Saves Business Area

Sports Shop, Mail Order House and Apartments Damaged by Flames, Smoke and Water

Three families were made homeless in a several thousand dollar fire that started at the rear of The Sport Shop, 303 3rd Ave. about 9 o'clock this morning. The Sport Shop suffered much damage to interior fittings and stock as did the adjoining T. Eaton mail order house.

Only quick action by the city fire brigade and Royal Canadian Mounted Police officer George Redhead with a civilian work party prevented the fire from gutting blocks of city stores.

"I had lighted my blow torch and went inside under the steps between the alley and the bank of rocks. As soon as I put the heat on the open water pipe, flame blew up," said Gene Holliston, a local plumber.

Water, smoke and fire damage to a moderate extent was done to the living quarters of Mrs. W. R. Kennedy, living in the front upstairs apartment.

F. C. Barger's car was in the back garage and pushed out before he arrived.

Several thousand dollars worth of stock, including a new $1500 shipment of suitcases, was the lost to the Sport Shop, conducted by Mrs. Myrtle Franklin and Mr. Jack Christensen.

"I heard what seemed like sand thrown on the wall, then I saw the flames and cried 'Fire!'" said Mrs. Heikki Seppa, recently here from Denmark, working in the store.

Agenda Subjects Under Discussion

PARIS—The Big Four preparatory conference, called to draw up an agenda for the forthcoming foreign ministers' parley, got under way today and heard Russia's proposals.

No official statement was made but it is authoritatively stated that Russia asked for:

1. A peace treaty for Germany.
2. Withdrawal of United Nations forces from Germany.
3. Reduction of armaments by the big powers.

It was also reported that the Soviet seeks to have Communist China and the peace treaty with Japan on the agenda.

WESTERN POWERS AGREED
Meantime the western powers are agreed on a full discussion of the armament question, the German question and the granting of independence to Austria.

The Russian and western deputies sat down at the conference table here after Great Britain, France and United States had served notice that there would not be any major Big Four conference unless the Russians were prepared to talk about problems other than Germany.

The deputies of the four nations met at the Pink Marble Palace on Avenue Foch. Their job is to find out whether an agenda can be arranged for the foreign ministers of the four big powers.

Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko was the last of the four to arrive. He was smiling as he joined Philip Jessup, United States ambassador at large, Britain's Ernest Davies and France's Alexandre Parodi.

Unseasonable March Weather Brings Winter's Coldest Snap

Leaving in its wake frozen water pipes, icy roads and other inconveniences, this winter's record cold hit Prince Rupert this morning.

Temperature was 6 above at 7 a.m.; wind northwest 20. Lowest temperatures last year were in January when thermometer went to 3 above. It is the coldest March weather as far back as Daily News records go.

Plumbing businesses reported they were swamped with calls to thaw frozen water pipes. There were about 50 calls by 9 a.m., and more were coming.

Driving was reported as dangerous on many roads and city streets due to icy conditions.

There was skating again on nearby lakes and ponds.

But the weather man has good news, too. Regional forecast for Prince Rupert during the next 24 hours is for snow and warmer temperatures.

Princess Pats Congratulated

PUSAN — General Ridgway, commander-in-chief of United Nations forces in Korea, has sent a message of congratulations to the Princess Patricia's Canadian regiment after their first experiences under fire. General Ridgway in a message, sends best wishes to Lieut. Col. J. R. Stone and his command.

The Princess Patricia's have been in action twelve days and have advanced eight miles. They were on their hands and knees at times and came as close as five yards to the enemy lines.

GOOD SOCIAL SECURITY—
$1,600 Old Age Pension in Sweden and No Means Test

Recently returned from six-month's visit to northern Sweden, Gust Quist, a Porcher Island fisherman, says he found "remarkable changes" in 44 years since he left his homeland.

"Mainly it's the roads. Before they were either dirt or gravel. Now all the roads are at least as good as Second Avenue here."

Mr. Quist thinks the country is more beautiful now than ever, and he proved the scenery was grand. A Daily News reporter was shown some color-prints, taken on the holiday of Gillevara, Sweden, 20 miles north of the Arctic circle.

Modern parks and streets bore strange contrast to century old buildings, such as the stone churches.

Communication, said Mr. Quist, was excellent. Government-operated trains ran on convenient schedules throughout the country and were met by adequate bus service to transfer people to their doors.

But he thought one of the best improvements by the government was its plan of social assistance, or old-age pensions.

"Everyone has to take it after they reach 67. It makes no difference whether one is poor or has a million. In that way the old people don't think they are accepting charity," he said. The pension was comparable to $1600 yearly and no means test was required.

"But was I glad to get home!" He declared that when he saw the Statue of Liberty entering

Bevin is Retiring

Russia Could be Destroyed

U.S. Scientist Sees Strength In Ground Forces and A-Bomb

WASHINGTON (CP)—One of United States' foremost scientists said last night if the Soviets start a war in Europe now American bombs "would destroy Russia."

"We could do it without question as matters stand today," said Dr. Vannevar Bush. For this reason, he predicted, Russia would not make the attempt.

"No war will occur now, but," he warned, "that is true only now. We cannot count indefinitely upon strategic bombing as a sole means of averting war."

Therefore ground forces must be built up in Europe to "hold back the hordes while we strike by other means."

These together—strong western ground defence plus continued A-bomb development—will avert a third world war by discouraging Russian aggression, he said.

As I See It

by Elmore Philpott

Last Day—First Day

DELHI, INDIA—During my brief visit to Pakistan I naturally heard plenty about the red hot question of Kashmir.

Pakistan is very "Kashmir conscious." So far as I could find out, the relationship between India and Pakistan is the most important state concern in Pakistan; and so far as Pakistan leaders are concerned, a settlement of the Kashmir question is what loggers in Canada would call the "key log" in the jam which is holding up a really over-all settlement of the differences, which are gravely injurious to both nations.

From the highest statesmen, as from humble people, like Mohammed, the bearer who waited on me in my hotel, I got the Pakistani side of the argument.

But I made up my mind not to write about that ticklish question unless and until I could get the Indian side of the story, too; and, if possible, the story of the Kashmiri people who are still on the spot.

GOOD LUCK, PLUS A lively young lady, was certainly on my side, for no sooner had I finished my first breakfast in India than Helen Bridle (originally from Preston, Ontario) turned up with a car. A tiny inside page item in the paper said that "Sheik Abdullah, the Premier of Kashmir, arrived in New Delhi Saturday" and was expected to leave again Monday.

Could I see him, without prior appointment?

We drove through the old bazaar, and also the cattle market, where cows are sold right on the street, and Mrs. Paul Bridle popped into the Kashmir headquarters. Yes, the Sheik would see the visiting newspaperman from Canada.

THE NET UPSHOT IS THAT I have a date to visit Kashmir and get as much as possible of the on-the-spot feel of the people.

I took a great liking to Premier Abdullah as soon as I met him—took the liberty of kidding him a bit about the number of times he had been in jail. Was it six or seven?

"Seven times." The last sentence was for nine years—not for committing any crime, but merely for advocating the kind of step-by-step democracy which we have long enjoyed in Canada—but for advocating which Nehru had to spend half his adult life in jail, as did Abdullah in Kashmir.

SO I WILL LINK THIS piece about my last day in Pakistan and first day in India, without apology for the mix-up and the flash-backs.

THE LETTERBOX

APPROVES EDITORIAL

Editor, Daily News: Your late editorial "Are We All Dumb?" is timely, and probably apropos generally. There is, however, much fresh, interested, new blood coming in to Central British Columbia and we may look for revived vigor.

Japan wants huge quantities of wheat and can pay for it. W. C. McNamara, assistant chief commissioner of the Canadian Wheat Board, says that the chief problem in selling wheat to Japan is getting the grain to Vancouver because of the box-car shortage.

The natural outlet for wheat from the Peace River and Edmonton areas is via Prince Rupert. There is market and we could more than double our output of lumber from Central British Columbia had we sufficient railway boxcars. Your wheat elevator could be kept busy and the boxcars, in returning, loaded with lumber. The distance and cost savings should be evident to our Canadian National Railway people. Shipping time would be conserved. (Would the C.N.R. catch?)

Under separate cover I am sending you a copy of a Colorado mining daily, which as a specimen might interest you. "Sprags and Stulls" is often quite good. The Daily News is so much more worth while. I think I shall send a copy to the Editor of this "Times Record."

Reflects and Reminisces

When Prince Rupert woke up Sunday it was to see no snow storm but to feel, instead, a vigorous breeze cold enough to have a bite. There were frozen pools. Some hastening early birds going out to buy breakfast first rubbed one ear and then the other. The sky was bright and clear. Everyone talked weather.

No one could say definitely what the temperature was except that most of them thought it was seven above.

"But I'm not saying it's official" would come as a reminder. "How about the water in your house?" inquired a neighbor un-casily.

The other fellow confessed he was not worrying. That is, he wasn't, when last there. But how could he, standing there talking, tell him the latest?

SINGING AND STARING

A few years after the turn of the century, the first Doukhobors to ever set foot in Canada, filed ashore at Sand Point, in West St. John, New Brunswick. As the CPR liner neared the dock all were on deck, singing and staring. What they were really a prayer of gratitude for having safely crossed a mighty ocean. There were only a few hundred, if that many. Men and (Continued on page 6)

Report from Parliament

Fisheries Council to Meet—Telecommunication Coming Up

Of particular interest to Prince Rupert and others along the Coast will be the announcement that the sixth annual meeting of the Fisheries Council of Canada will be held in Ottawa's Chateau Laurier, March 19, 20 and 21, under the chairmanship of President J. H. MacKiehan of Halifax.

The program will feature discussions on export trade, research, conservation, inspection and other pertinent subjects. Monday afternoon, March 19, will be devoted to specialized sessions on various phases of the industry—canning, salt, fresh and frozen, and by-products. How the fisheries industry in the United States is co-operating with government to work under controls affecting wages, manpower, materials and prices will be outlined by C. ("Charlie") E. Jackson, General Manager, National Fisheries Institute, Washington, who is looking forward to renewing acquaintance with many Canadian friends. It is anticipated that the Hon. R. W. Mayhew, Federal Minister of Fisheries, will be on hand on Tuesday morning to welcome the delegates and also to address the luncheon gathering on the same day. Arrangements are being made for other special speakers.

Turning from fish to radio: a bill has reached us from the Senate, making certain amendments to the Radio Act, including a new and all-embracing definition of the word "telecommunication." This bill has a section to empower the Governor in Council to accede to any international convention in the whole field of telecommunication. It also has a section whose purpose is to amend the exemption from licensing requirements, now given to tourists, to radio equipment in other classes of stations, including installations in aircraft, trains and motor vehicles temporarily in Canada. Another section is to permit the employment on radio stations in Canada of radio operators who are not British subjects and are not residents of Canada, but hold Canadian certificates of proficiency or their equivalent, in cases where reciprocal permission is granted to Canadian citizens.

The Prime Minister has tabled an Order in Council transferring all powers, duties and functions relating to civil defence and the control and supervision of the personnel concerned therewith from the Minister of National Defence to the Department of National Health and Welfare.

I want to finish this report with a few remarks about the proposed new Department of Defence Production, the bill for which is now before us, having passed the resolution stage. Mr. St. Laurent introduced this measure and Howard Green acted as official spokesman for the Opposition. The new Department was first announced in the Speech from the Throne, and Mr. St. Laurent did not have to take up much time to get the bill introduced as all Parties had said they would not oppose its introduction. Education Week

EDUCATION IS truly "everybody's business," as a special observance of Canadian Education Week is endeavouring to impress. However, it is a business which the most of citizens are inclined to neglect, possibly taking it too much for granted and something that does not require a great deal of their attention.

That we can take it for granted that our educational affairs are being well attended to without much thought or effort of our own may be a good testimonial to those who are entrusted with the administration and carrying out of our educational services.

But it is not good enough that we should leave the preponderance of responsibility of education to our school administrators and our teachers, good and efficient as they may be. After all, their responsibilities are only for the aspects of education involved in the schools—and education is even more in the home and in the hands of the parents directly as it is in the schools.

However, it is fitting that, as Education Week opens, we should stress the importance and desirability of the co-operation and interest of the citizens, in general, and the parents, in particular, in the work that goes on within the schools.

We all take a direct interest in such assets and material things as our money, our concrete possessions, our jobs and such things. Maybe we do not always realize that our greatest and most worthy asset is our children and our young people and that education is the function of developing and shaping those assets.

What our country is tomorrow depends upon what the people of tomorrow will make it—and the children of today are those people of tomorrow. Therefore their education—be it in the school, the home, the church, the street—is something of the greatest importance in the developing of citizenship and the building of the nation which is merely collective citizenship.

Yes, education is "everybody's business" and mighty important business at that. If Education Week can incite a fuller and more active interest in matters educational, it will be worthwhile. It is desirable, too, that the interest which this week may develop on education should be a sustained and continued interest.

Might Be Worse

JUDGED BY present day standards, soldiers and sailors years ago (flying was unknown) were miserably paid. But today, the young fellow with an eye on the future can do a lot worse than get into a uniform and stay there. And this goes for all ranks. He will have no unemployment or maintenance problems, draw a decent income, dress well, see a lot of the world and have leisure when still young enough to enjoy it—and, if the worst comes to the worst, he has weapons to protect himself.

Uncha Valley Farmer Passes
BURNS LAKE—Funeral services were held on Thursday at the United Church by Rev. Robert McPhee for Gustav Braaten, who passed away at the W.M.S. Hospital after a brief illness.
The church was filled with relatives and friends from all over the Lakes District. The funeral had been held over pending the return of Mrs. Braaten from a visit to North Dakota.
Deceased was born in North Dakota in 1886. He came to Saskatchewan in 1910 and thence to the Uncha Valley in 1923, where he met the famous oil trapper and prospector the late Charles D. Haven, with whom he formed a partnership, and developed the big farm until it became the best in the Uncha Valley.
"Shorty" Haven, as he was widely known from the Black Hills to the Barren Lands, was free to follow his favorite occupations of hunting and prospecting. As he stated on his eightieth birthday, he had spent the best years of his life at the Braaten Home where he was always free to come or go as his fancy might dictate.
Gus Braaten was highly respected and known as one of the most successful farmers of the district. Although he had lost his fore-arm in a hunting accident some years ago, he was always the first to have his crops in in the Spring, and safely harvested in early fall while those of most of his neighbors were still out in the fields.
Every homesteader in the prolific Uncha Valley attended the funeral, even to the natives from the Uncha Reservation.
Mourning his loss are his wife; a son Edwin, at home, a son, Alvin of Vancouver, a daughter Myrtle, widow of the late Russ, Peterson, of Southbank; a niece, Lillian, now Mrs. Clarence Hickey of Colley-mount; many grandchildren and two brothers in the Dakotas.
Pallbearers were Hume Linton, Ed. Stone, Harold Sundin, Mike Tetreau, Ernest Howlett and Verne Bennett.
Honorary pallbearers were Clarence Hickey, W. Wiley, Verne Taylor and James Hickey, with many volunteers to carry the mass of floral memorials to the graveside.

Wages, Union Are Discussed
Substantial wage increases and union hiring for all packers were subjects discussed at the fishermen's local meeting of the United Fishermen's and Allied Workers Union in the Metropole Hall.
William Machura was elected delegate from the local for the convention to be held the week beginning March 19 in Vancouver.
Agreement of the tendermen decided at the meeting will be made public upon ratification of southern locals.

Victoria Girl Is Bride Here
A quiet wedding uniting a couple from the south was solemnized by Rev. L. G. Steber in First United Church Saturday afternoon.
Miss Marilyn Joyce Heaton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Heaton of Victoria, became the bride of Jack Malcolm Mockford of Abbotsford.
The groom, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Mockford of Abbotsford, has been working here for the past two months with the Columbia Cellulose Company. He was raised in Abbotsford. The bride attended school in Victoria, working in the civil service there before her marriage.
Attendants at the wedding were Kathiyen Carson, bridesmaid, and T. Underwood, bridegroom.

The bidding:

Pass	3 H	2 S	3 C
All Pass	5 H	3 S	4 H

Mr. Muzzy's two-club bid was rather foolish. After his partner had overcalled vulnerable in the heart suit he should have recognized that hearts represented the best spot for his side. He should have raised at once, suppressing the club suit entirely. Actually a four-heart bid at this point would have been a pretty good call. Now Mr. Dale would have had to come in at the four range if he wanted to show his spade suit.
Mr. Dale thought of doubling the five-heart bid, believing he could set it if his partner opened a club for him to trump. As you see, he was right.
Mr. Dale finally decided it was too close to fool with and he felt sure five spades couldn't be set over one or two tricks and might even be makable.
"Good old Muzzy! As soon as the bidding was over he banged down the jack of hearts. Now the jack is not the right lead from this holding. He should have led his fourth best. But the real trouble was that it was not Mr. Muzzy's lead.

As usual Mr. Judge, the demon kibitzer, was close at hand, licking his chops over the prospect of practicing his favorite occupation—settling a dispute at the bridge table.
He said that the lead could be accepted as a correct lead. But if Mr. Dale didn't want to accept it he could require Mr. Muzzy to retract the lead and make the jack of hearts a penalty card, to be played at the first legal opportunity. Or, Mr. Dale could forbid Mr. Champion to lead hearts, in which case Mr. Muzzy could pick up his jack. Mr. Dale chose this latter penalty.
Forbidden to lead hearts at all, Mr. Champion led the four of clubs. Mr. Dale ruffed and laid down the ace of spades. He then started the diamonds and poor Mr. Champion had to follow to three rounds. He trumped the fourth round with his king of spades but on this trick Mr. Dale got rid of one of dummy's two losing hearts. Thus he lost only two tricks — the king of spades and one heart.

AS I SEE IT

neighbor nations, or as a reunited whole, destiny has intertwined the fate of these two peoples.

ON MY LAST NIGHT IN KARACHI I had a grand chicken dinner with my oldest made-in-Canada Pakistani friend and his lovely Saskatchewan-born wife.

I knew Mohammed Khan in the three years he studied as a food scientist at the University of British Columbia; in fact, he had been to our house for tea, and we had spoken together on the independence day of India and Pakistan, and also at a memorial meeting for the slain Mahatma Gandhi.

Like most other government servants, Mohammed lives with his wife in an army-type hut, much like those at Fort Camp, UBC. As we ate the grand dinner, Helen told me her life story. Her father was born in Syria, but came to Canada and operates a general store at Ceylon, south of Regina. There are ten children, all born in Canada, and Helen is the eldest girl.

It was pretty well love at first sight when she and Mohammed met. Both being good Moslems, they were married at the Mosque in Edmonton, after Mohammed's graduation last spring.

She looks lovely in her sari—which is, of course, the Indian-style dress made by some intricate wrap-around process.

I teased Helen a bit about it and said I bet she had a terrible time getting the knock of it. What if the dashed thing unwound? Helen admitted that at first she did use a safety pin at the shoulder.

Like my own young married daughter, Helen works during the daytime. Mohammed said that he would never forget his beloved Canada. Well, that's not strange, since he took a lovely Canadian-born wife back home to Pakistan with him.

REPORT FROM PARLIAMENT

address in reply, the Minister of National Defence (Mr. Claxton) had referred to the necessity for a separate department to deal with all matters of production and supply that were entailed by the increased defence program that he announced at that time. The government feels that the implementation of this very great program cannot properly be left to agencies or branches of any of the departments which already have important functions to perform, but that it requires a full-fledged department of its own dealing exclusively with these matters. In the last war the Department of Munitions and Supply was not set up at once, but that program, in the early years, was not nearly as big. After the close of hostilities with Germany and Japan, the powers connected with defence supply were transferred to the minister of reconstruction and supply and were carried out in co-ordination with the demobilization that was proceeding at that time; later still these duties were carried out by Trade and Commerce. Now, again, there will be a special department for the purpose.

Metlakatla Beats Jets

Prince Rupert Still Under Jinx at Alaska Village

METLAKATLA, Alaska (Special to Daily News)—Prince Rupert's Jets lost to Metlakatla Vets by a score of 67 to 58 Saturday night, the home team staging a sensational final period rally to snatch victory from defeat and maintain the record of having never been beaten on the home court by a Prince Rupert team.

At the end of the third quarter the Jets, who had led all the way there, were ahead 49 to 45. Then, in the last quarter, with the help of Wally Leask, the Vets outscored the visitors 19 to 9 in the final quarter.

It was a well-fought game and Coach Alex Bill vows that the Jets will take it Tuesday night when they play their second engagement with the Jets. Jeff David scored 29 points with Don Scherk, Rupert's high man, eighteen.

The scoring: Prince Rupert—Hollstad 6, D. Scheik 18, S. Scherk 2, Spring 11, Beynon, Marshall, Gill, Flaaten 6, Olsen 15.

Metlakatla—David 29, R. Atkinson 2, M. Booth, T. Atkinson 4, W. Leask 9, J. Booth 12, D. Atkinson 6, I. Leask, D. Bilton 5, M. Booth.

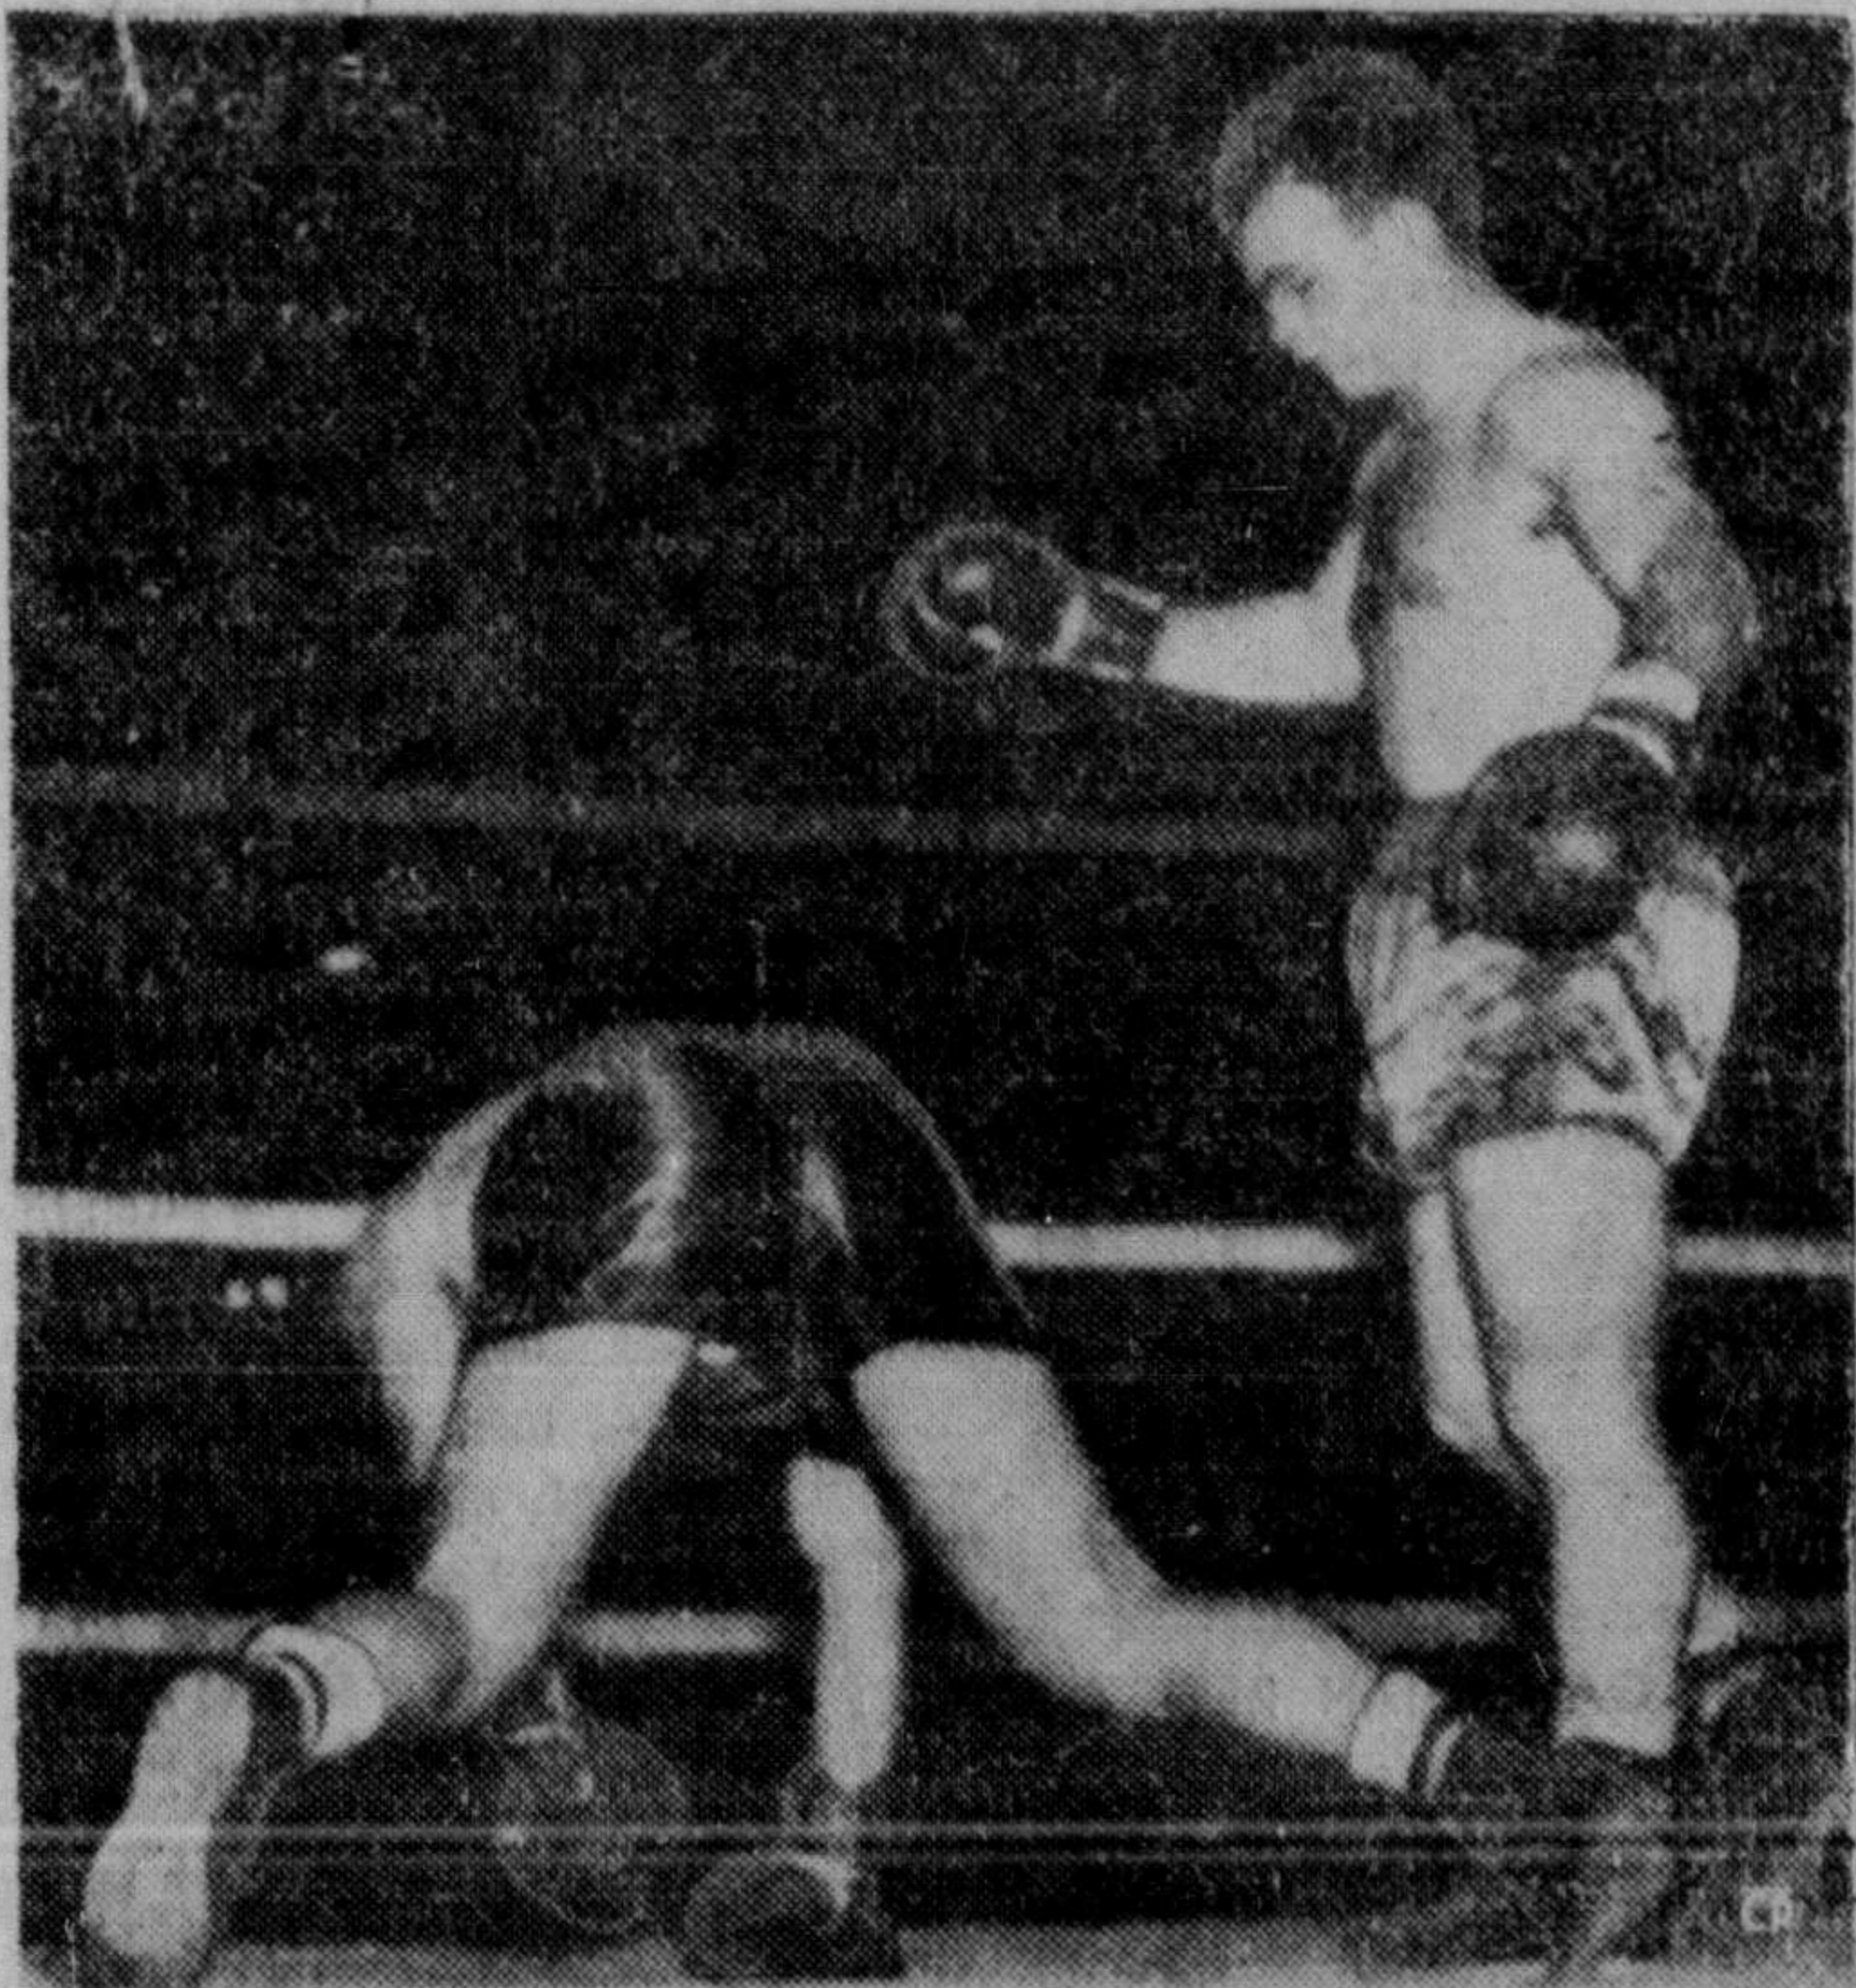

The Jets are in Ketchikan tonight for their second game with the Rockets, having won the first Friday night 63 to 53.

Bo-Me-Hi Beaten—Petersburg is Hoop Winner

PETERSBURG, Alaska (Special)—Unable to cope with the superior height of Petersburg High School players, Prince Rupert's Bo-Me-Hi Saturday night lost their first series game in a close 55-53 score.

High scorers were Petersburg—Reid, 17; Bo-Me-Hi—McChesney, 18.

Bo-Me-Hi's led all the way until the last few minutes of play when six-foot-three Petersburg's Reid dropped in a rebound in last 10 seconds.

Petersburg has four players over six-foot-three inches tall. But Bo-Me-Hi's speed is superior and it is expected here they will take Monday's game.

The Prince Rupert team led 16-10 in first quarter, 27-18 at first half, but went wild after that. They couldn't take care of the rebounds and made only three of 12 free throws.

Individual scores: Bo-Me-Hi—McChesney 18, Hatchford 6, Kristmanson 8, Young 4, Blackaby 6, Letourneau 9, Morrison 2, K. Ekerson, Simonson. Total 53.

Saturday night the leading Detroit Red Wings and the runner-up Toronto Maple Leafs both won their games. Old Turk Broda and the Leafs shut Chicago out 3 to 0. Detroit trimmed the Canadiens 3 to 1. New York and Boston had a three-all draw.

Ski Heil—

(By Marnie Bulger) Sunday afternoon the main slope and the "kindergarten" swarmed with skiers who fully enjoyed the deep, powdery snow and brilliant sunshine. (Snow is about six feet deep).

Cold wind, which persisted most of the afternoon, actually was beneficial to skiers. It was just too cold to fall. Therefore many techniques were perfected in short order.

Several new skiers were welcomed on the slopes, including former member Nina Youngman who is holidaying in the city—those trips up Grouse and Baker are really making local skiers envious.

John Bannon, who sports a Vancouver Seymour Club badge, also enjoyed the slopes and is hoped to be seen again next week.

The club was also honored to have a Victoria club member, Bill Higgins, on the hill. Bill is a member of the Canadian Alpine Association and has just returned from Sunrise Ski Resort at Banff. He was found most interesting by all skiers who had the opportunity to chat with him.

And Bill had nothing but praise for the PRSC and feels that the club here is very fortunate in having ski terrain and club facilities so accessible. (Victoria week-end, fellows?)

The climb up the mountain is sometimes strenuous and tiring but the descent is certainly the opposite, especially when seated on a piece of carboard. (Honestly, Shirley, it does save wear and TEAR on one's ski-pants.)

Prince Rupert Citizens Answer a Question
Interviewer—VESTA A. DOUGLAS, Conrad Street School

Do We Expect Too Much of Schools?

W. L. Woods—This is a broad question. Actually, the schools are doing a good job and people often fail to appreciate the fact.

Russ Cameron—Yes, people are more education conscious today and expect more knowledge per grade than we had. The first requisite is home training of high standard.

Roy Collinson—Yes, we do. Home is the basis of all training and school training is simply an addition.

Mrs. D. A. Johnston—Yes. Pre-school habits formed linger with a child. Satisfactory home life would mean no problem for the school. Blame placed upon teachers is simply a weak parental excuse.

Lydia Thom—Yes, the majority of modern parents are prone to expect the school to supplant instead of supplement the home.

Jean Cameron—In many ways, yes. The responsibility of teaching children manners and health rules seems to be expected of teachers who have only approx-

Parliamentary Building This Year Higher Hats For MP's

LONDON (CP)—A new type of headgear to be known as the "Parliamentary Hat" has been suggested by Col. L. Ropner, Conservative member for Barkston Ash, as a means of speeding up the business of the British House of Commons.

The proposal came when a member sought to raise a point of order during a debate on foreign affairs. Tradition, dating back 166 years, decrees that a member may not speak to a point of order while a division is being taken unless he is seated and wearing a hat.

When proceedings were delayed by a search for appropriate headgear, Col. Ropner asked the Speaker if the rule requiring the use of a hat could not be abolished.

"Hats," he said, "are on the verge of extinction. The hunt for a hat during a division is hard going. Even if the run ends in a kill, the chase is often undignified and sometimes unseemly."

He believed adoption of an official Parliamentary Hat would solve the problem. To roars of laughter he suggested that for the sake of neutrality such colors as red, pink, blue or yellow should be avoided. But once the members agreed on the type of head covering, it should be kept "in close custody" by the Sergeant-at-arms for use when required.

The Speaker urged the House to give careful consideration to the proposal before acceding to it.

Prince Rupert building permits for the first two months of 1951 have totalled $32,995 as compared with $16,420 in the first two months of 1950.

Permits this February totalled $24,555 as compared with $4,720 in February 1950.

The building list for this February was as follows:

E. R. Scott, residence construction, Eleventh Avenue, $2,200.

Andrew Kaardal, foundation repairs, 701—5th Ave. West, $200.

Fred Kohse, new house construction, Fifth Avenue, $8,000.

R. K. Olsen, chimney construction, 1319 Piggott Ave., $100.

Frank Goertzen, addition of two bedroom and attic work, $500.

J. Basso, repairs to burned out building, Park Avenue, $675.

M. Gagnon, new construction, 1315—6th Ave. East, $6,000.

B. S. Bjornson, foundation repairs, 440—8th Ave. East, $130.

Ethel Sladie, altering shed for living quarters, 800 Alfred Street, $400.

W. H. Koughan, new house construction, Fourth Ave. East, $5,000.

R. E. Mortimer, concrete foundation and repairs, demolishing and rebuilding chimney, 508—4th Ave. East, $1,000.

T. N. Rowe, building sheds for mining, 935 McNicol Street, $350.

Mines Inspector Is Transferred

F. J. Hemsworth, inspector of mines in Prince Rupert, has been transferred to Cranbrook, effective some time in April.

He will be replaced by J. H. Bennett, Victoria, who arrives here by train Tuesday. Mr. Hemsworth will accompany Mr. Bennett on a northern district tour which will last through the month.

Recently, to take care of increased mining activity in the Kootenays, the district there has been divided into two sections, East and West Kootenays. Mr. Hemsworth will take charge of the eastern section. Nelson, formerly headquarters for the district, will remain base for the western section.

The northern tour is expected to begin Thursday, when the two inspectors plan to leave for Alice Arm. The trip will carry them to Stewart, Tulsequah, Atlin and the interior, which will be made by plane, boat and train.

J. P. MacDonald of the local Forest Branch left on today's plane for a trip to Queen Charlotte City to inspect progress of construction of a ranger's cottage. He will return tomorrow.

women were of rugged build, and in early middle life. Many were simply, roughly dressed, many in sheep skin.

SQUARING HIMSELF!

St. John's police chief was standing by, an interested observer. In uniform dress he cut a smart and efficient looking figure. To the Doukhobors, this represented authority, and therefore, all powerful. One was quick to cross over to where the chief was standing. He removed his hat, gave what might have passed for a salute, and bowed about as low as he could.

The Douks were not long in town, being soon aboard the line of waiting cars. A reporter looking up Peter Veregin—wearing long boots and longish whiskers. The interview was probably the first of the kind to take place, following the coming of the new and unknown settlers. Public opinion favored them. These industrious, peace-loving Russians, whose strength and artless virtues could mean so much to the west, were to be welcomed. At any rate so thought the Maritimers half a century ago.

NO MORE TITANICS

On screen and paper and over the air we follow the movements of ships—all kinds of ships—except the strong little sea-going tugs away up in the North Atlantic. They are hardly heard of. But their importance need not be minimized. They are on patrol to keep check on a merciless menace—monster icebergs drifting from the Arctic into passenger liner channels.

With Capt. John Boden back in command after an extended vacation, Union steamer Camosun arrived in port at 1:15 yesterday afternoon from Vancouver and waypoints, sailing at 11 p.m. for Alice Arm, Stewart and other northern points whence she will return here tomorrow morning to sail at noon on her return south. Second Union liner yesterday, the steamer Chilcotin, Capt. Harry McLean, arrived in port at 3 p.m. from Masset Inlet points and sailed at 8 p.m. for Vancouver and waypoints.

PLEASANT TO BEHOLD

The age of stately homes is said to be passing because there are so few owners who can afford to maintain them. Some, perhaps, see in this a new redistribution of wealth in the shape of a mechanical tax system, less effective and tiresome. Yet to think of beautifully cultivated acres—handsome homes—richness and culture—coming to an end is close to absurdity. This is not yet so sorry a world.
