Controls On Everything

CALGARY (CP)—H. H. Hannam, president of the Canadian Federation of Agriculture, said today if price controls are imposed by the government, it should be made effective "clear across the board on all prices, profits, fees, salaries and wages."

Build Hospitals For Peacetime

VANCOUVER (CP)—Lloyd F. Detwiler, hospital insurance commissioner, said here yesterday that hospital construction in British Columbia should not be dictated by needs of civil defence.

He told a meeting of Progressive Conservatives construction should continue on a peace-time basis but always keeping in mind the possibility of an emergency. "Build for peacetime but don't forget the emergency the atomic bomb would bring," he said.

He did say, however, that total hospital operating costs in B.C. jumped from $15,800,000 in 1948 to $22,000,000 in 1950.

C. A. Berner, C.N.R. divisional superintendent, returned to the city at the week-end from a ten day trip over the line on inspection duties.

Big Fire In Fairbanks

FAIRBANKS (CP)—Firmen laboring in 50-below zero temperatures battled flames in downtown Fairbanks early today. They estimated damage at $500,000.

A bakery and drug store were destroyed before the fire was brought under control.

U.S. Needs More Troops

WASHINGTON (CP)—Defence Secretary Marshall said today United States troops under Gen. MacArthur needs 15,000 replacements every month and it will be April before his divisions are built up to normal strength.

"Military manpower goal is 3,462,000 by June 30," and Marshall said "we will have to increase our forces beyond this strength if the situation worsens."

Attlee Hopeful Of Korea Peace

LONDON (CP)—Prime Minister Attlee declared today Britain refuses to give up hope for a peaceful settlement with Communist China in Korea.

In apparent reference to American demands that United Nations formally brand the Peiping government as an aggressor, Attlee told Commons:

"We are of the opinion that the United Nations should not at this stage take a new and important decision. We have not lost hope of negotiating a settlement in Korea. Nor have we lost hope that China may live on friendly terms with other members of the world community."

Winston Churchill warned Attlee to be on guard against manoeuvres by China "which are obviously to the interest of Soviet Russia."

At this point the labor minister cried: "We are not going to be dragged into war."

Attlee said Britain is "on guard" against attempts to split up the United Nations.

Parking On Second Avenue

Matter of Taxi Zones Is Deferred

With one amendment, the report of the health, social assistance, police and licensing committee to last night's regular meeting of the city council was approved and adopted.

A recommendation that prosecution be instituted in all cases where building, plumbing or electrical work is done prior to application for permit therefor was amended to delete "electrical work" as that now comes under jurisdiction of the provincial government.

Application of Famous Players Canadian Corporation for a licence to operate a moving picture theatre be granted.

The Street Traffic and Parking Bylaw is to be amended to provide for diagonal parking on the north side of Second Avenue from McBride to Eighth Streets rather than only between McBride and First and Sixth and Seventh Streets.

The committee reported it was deferring consideration of applications for taxi parking zones pending determination of the cost of such signs, as it is the intention of the applicant to bear the cost of the signs and their installation.

Four Thousand Persons Are Dead In New Guinea Volcano

PORT MORESBY, Australia (CP)—Officials said today 4000 persons were killed, injured or missing in the wake of a mighty volcanic eruption which blasted out the entire side of Mount Lamington, New Guinea's extinct volcano.

Eruption, which spread seething lava and red-hot ash over a wide area, may have caused the century's worst disaster in this section.

Mount Lamington began to erupt Thursday. Six major blasts appeared to have taken place Sunday.

At least one European was killed and 34 others—traders, missionaries and government officials—were missing.

Terrified natives had taken shelter in the humid jungles in attempts to escape the fiery blasts.

The volcano is a four-peaked mountain, 100 miles northeast of Port Moresby in the heart of the jungle, and at its base were a few dozen New Guinea villages.

Jet Air Fight Biggest Yet

TOKYO (CP)—American Thunderbirds, streaking over north-west Korea, shot down four Russian-made MIG-15's today in history's biggest jet air battle. F-84's also scored on probable kill and damaged four more Russian speedsters with back-swept wings. All American planes returned safely.

On the ground, Allied combat teams today re-occupied central Korean road-rail hub of Wonju and its airstrip. They also seized two nearby hills, ousting a force of nearly 100 Communists from one hill with an artillery barrage. United Nations forces were reported "in control of all Wonju."

Thirty-one miles southeast, Allied forces are battling Red Koreans in Yongwol. Heavy fighting also raged southeast of Tanyang.

In an air fight, thirty-three U.S. Thunderjets tangled with 18 to 28 MIGs over Sinuiju, just across the Yalu River from Manchuria. For 30 minutes the air battle flamed before the enemy planes streaked back to Manchurian sanctuary.

In a companion raid, 46 F-86 Shooting Star jets screamed down on flak defences of Pyongyang to clear the way for a massive B-29 stroke on the Red Korean capital.

Cellulose Predicament On Housing Is Before Council

The city council at their regular meeting last night was waited upon by a large delegation from Columbia Cellulose Company in regard to housing. Following the report of the housing committee on what was being done, Ray Jones, mill manager at Watson Island, spoke on behalf of the delegation.

Mr. Jones said the company had brought key men to Prince Rupert and that it had been embarrassed by lack of housing.

It was becoming increasingly difficult all the time. In answer to a statement by Ald. T. B. Black that the council had only Monday received the first written request from Columbia Cellulose Company for additional housing accommodation, Mr. Jones said the company had been in the place for three years and that the city should have realized that some day there would be people here to run the plant.

Mr. Jones said he appreciated what the city was doing toward obtaining additional housing. He suggested the council might pass a resolution thanking the organizations in town that had been backing them in obtaining additional housing.

In making his report for the housing committee, Ald. George Casey said the committee had inspected the proposed locations for building and that a further letter had been sent to the housing commissioner in order to speed up construction of the houses. The city clerk had outlined the recommended sites on a map in red pencil. Also a report on unsatisfactory and unsanitary housing conditions from Dr. D. McC. Black, medical health officer had been forwarded. The committee had received a letter from Columbia Cellulose Company describing the predicament the company was in regarding obtaining housing for its employees.

Ald. T. B. Black said the letter was the first written request from the company for housing. SUPPORT WELCOMED Following Mr. Jones' remarks, VIENNA (CP)—Giant avalanches, thundering down Austria's mountains, brought new peril today to isolated villages and towns as estimates of alpine Europe's death toll reached 234 persons. Between 112 and 127 persons were buried by snow in Austria. Switzerland reported 68 bodies recovered, and at least 11 more believed dead. Italy reported 25 dead, and France, three.

MADRID (CP)—Seventeen persons were killed and 28 others injured when the Valencia-to-Barcelona mail train collided with a truck at a railroad crossing today.

NO ADVANCE IN FARES OTTAWA—George Buckingham, Canadian Pacific general traffic manager, told the Board of Transport Commissioners today that there was no intention of asking for an increase in railway passenger fares because of competition of other methods of transportation.

BRITONS DIE IN KOREA OTTAWA—Minister of War John Strachey told Parliament today that 120 British officers and men had been killed in fighting in Korea. He charged that there was little co-operation by the Chinese Communists or North Koreans in tracing the missing.

BUY BULLETIN PLANT EDMONTON — In spite of earlier statements saying that the Edmonton Journal had not bought out the Edmonton Bulletin, it was announced today that the Southam Publishing Co. had purchased practically all the physical assets of the Edmonton Bulletin and they would be distributed among various Southam plants in Canada.

B.C. Plant Under Fire

Richard Reynolds Talks About Aluminum And Canada

WASHINGTON, D.C. (CP)—Richard Reynolds, president of the Reynolds Aluminum Co., told a congressional committee today that Canada had been shipping scarce aluminum to Soviet-dominated countries such as Communist China, Poland and Czechoslovakia. The exports may not have been large but it was the principle that was involved.

Reynolds was critical of the underwriting of the construction of a new aluminum plant in British Columbia by United States. Such a plant would be built in United States in two years instead of five years. The Aluminum Co. of Canada has promised to present its case to the committee.

Sewer Contract Is Reported On

A letter from the city solicitor to Mitchell & Currie in connection with the sewer contract was included in the report of the board of works to last night's meeting of the city council.

The letter said that the reduction in measurement of earth removed from ditches was not arbitrary and that the city was not responsible for infalls.

The city wants detailed figures as to why certain portions of the work should cost $86 per foot, the letter continued, since Ald. George Casey had been informed the work could be done at a much lower figure.

All tenders, it was pointed out, had had access to a tunnel that was being used in the new pipeline and it had been dry at the time tenders were called. The city did not agree that it had said the tunnel would take a 52-inch pipe. The letter said the firm was more in error than the city.

ALASKA AROUSED—

Choice Of Kitimaat For Aluminum Plant Called Double Cross

[Alaskan protests at the Kitimaat aluminum project do not mention that the Skagway project would be dependent on Canadian water for its power.—ED.]

Agreement between the Aluminum Co. of Canada and the Province of British Columbia whereby a $500,000,000 aluminum industry will be established in the Kitimaat-Tweedsmuir Park area appears to be accepted in Southeastern Alaska as meaning the scuttling of a similar project in the Skagway area.

Bad Mistake—Alcan Plans Scored

WASHINGTON, (CP)—Proposed United States help in expanding Canadian aluminum production brought sharp objections yesterday at a congressional hearing.

A monopoly investigating committee of the House of Representatives opened two weeks of hearings on plans for expansion of aluminum supplies during the defence emergency and the monopoly effect of such expansion of industry.

Senator James Murray (Democrat, Montana), first witness, denounced the proposal by Aluminum Company of Canada to construct a $500,000,000 plant in Kitimaat area of British Columbia with large scale aid from the U.S. in the form of critical materials, priorities and contract commitments.

GREAT MISTAKE Murray called the proposal a "striking parallel" to U.S. aid to Alcan in the Second World War. When Alcan built its Shipshaw, Quebec, plant with American help, Murray said this arrangement was a "great mistake." And he recommended against any similar arrangement now with Alcan.

The Anchorage Times has editorialized as follows: "One of the most staggering blows to the development of Alaska has come in the loss of a $300,000,000 aluminum plant near Skagway."

"Cabinet rank federal officials at Washington participated in a deal under which United States funds will be made available for the gigantic project to be located in Canada, just south of (Continued on page 5)

Aluminum Site

AN IMPORTANT factor—the all-important for that matter—in the determination of the site for the great new aluminum plant, which now appears to be settled for Kitimaat, was that of water power, the only resource or material required for the manufacture of this essential commodity which cannot be moved from one part of the world to another. It so happens that, after a world search, British Columbia was found to be the most advantageous location from that standpoint and the Kitimaat site, with the necessary power close by in the Tweedsmuir Park area, was selected. There was world competition for the industry.

Certain interests in Alaska and the United States appear to be up in arms over the selection of Kitimaat, charging that, by some machinations, a site in the Skagway area was scuttled in favor of Kitimaat. A very important point that is seemingly being overlooked is that, even at the Skagway site, operation of such a plant would be dependent on water from British Columbia or the Yukon for development of the necessary power.

Had sites in Alaska been chosen for power plant and mill drawing their water from Canada, we can imagine the hue and cry that might have been conversely raised on this side of the line.

More Canadians Needed

MOST Canadians are coming, perhaps slowly, to the realization that there are dangers in being both a weak and a favored nation, observes a Toronto politico-economist. They are remembering the record of history, that nowhere has a nation been permitted to control, forever, vast resources that have not been fully possessed. They are realizing that we too are citizens of one of the most richly endowed countries in the world; that we have barely touched these riches; that today we face the alternatives of developing these resources or losing them.

To achieve this end of development we must, of course, face other dangers; the danger that in bringing new people to our shores they may bring with them their animosities and prejudices and sectional biases. Against this hazard there stands the record of their will to come; the evidence that the welfare state, in its various manifestations of socialism and communism, has failed to satisfy them. One does not accept new hazards just to exchange one form of paternalism for another. They seek a country that is more free, more secure, more politically stable. Their obvious, if perhaps unknown and unstated, ideal is to regain the captaincy of their own souls—the right to work where and as they wish; to retain some measure of the advantage of whatever they create; to be free to move and act as they see fit; to assume the personal responsibilities that are theirs.

It is people of such thinking that we need, people who are ready to contribute to the sort of citizenship that we have found good. We do not want groups or classes or ideologies that are foreign to us. We want men and women with eyes open to a great future and a will to be part of it. We want no one who leaves his first loyalty at home, but rather those who are ready to sink their sectional identities, as we have done, in a passion for a new land. We want those who are ready to join with us in hewing out Canada's manifest destiny.

FRENCH CANADA STIRS.

MONTREAL. — Ever since the outbreak of the war in Korea I studied the press of French Canada to see whether there was any change in the traditional isolationist tendencies of Quebec people.

So far as I could judge, from the printed word, there was little if any difference.

Despite the fact that the Vatican line is so ardently anti-Communist, neither the back-country parish priest nor the habitant family of French Canada had shown much disposition to abandon the firm teaching of three or four centuries—that is, that the surest guarantee of the security of the Canadian (not to be confused with Canadian) way of life is for the Canadians to stay home, work hard, marry and raise large, healthy families in peace, and for peace.

So far as I could judge from the newspaper comments, French Canada was willing to go along with the Vatican line in such things as non-admittance to the U.S. U. S. Communist government of China. But it was not at all eager to go along with any outside authority's line if that meant sending French Canadians to fight and die in distant lands.

Long before the Korean war started, influential papers like Le Devoir were warning against such embroilments. Since the increasingly unhappy outcome of that conflict, there has been a restrained, but nevertheless pointed inclination to say "We told you so."

IN TALKING personally with representative French Canadians, however, I do find a significant modification of the former attitudes.

The instinct of the French Canadian seems to be just as ardently "anti-foreign-war" as ever. But, on the intellectual level of French Canada, there is much more advanced leadership than there is in English-speaking Canada that world wars are the inevitable product of the lack of world law.

French Canada will be powerfully represented at next April's conference in Rome of all organizations in the world which hope and plan to transform the UN into a world parliament, empowered to make actual law, as distinguished from making mere recommendations to sovereign nations.

FATHER RICHARD ARES is a noted Montreal Jesuit who is supplying much of the intellectual leadership and drive in Quebec for the principle of world law.

In a brilliant series of articles in a key monthly publication, Action Nationale, Father Ares demonstrated that modern wars are the inevitable product of the literal lack of law governing relations between nations.

So long as there is no higher authority than the sovereign nation, he argued, the world will get no relief from power politics. In the last analysis, power politics is always played by war, or the threat of war.

Under world law, made by a democratic world parliament, the individual nation loses the right to make war against any other nation (unless, of course, illegally attacked on its own territory). National armaments are reduced, by world law, to a point only sufficient to maintain internal security. The function of keeping the peace between the nations is conferred on a world parliament—whose decisions are backed by a world police force.

A FEW HOURS after the outbreak of the Korean war, our Canadian Senate passed a strong resolution calling for American-British-French initiative in strengthening UN into a limited world government. In this debate, only one French Canadian senator spoke in opposition. The great majority of French Canadians vied with English-speaking senators in supporting the principle of world federation extending the principle of Canadian confederation.

English-speaking, Protestant Canada will have to step lively if it wants to keep up with Catholic French Canada in this.

VICTORIA REPORT

by J. K. Nesbitt

Why Should 18, 19 and 20-Year-Olds Not Vote?—They Pay Taxes and Fight

VICTORIA.—If the Provincial Elections Act is to be opened in the coming session—to bring in the single transferable vote—wouldn't it be a good idea to bring in the vote for 18, 19 and 20-year-olds? A lot of people think it would.

How much longer are we going to keep the vote from men and women of 18, 19 and 20? It's something like the dark ages when they weren't supposed to be intelligent enough to vote. Maybe—once upon a time—18, 19 and 20-year-olds were children—but they're not today.

The government, of course, is afraid that 18, 19 and 20-year-olds get the vote they'll all rush out and vote CCF. The government, believing this and shaking in its boots about it, merely falls flat before a campaign of fear. There's absolutely no reason to believe a majority of our youth is CCF.

But there is the danger that 18, 19 and 20-year-olds, forbidden to vote, will vote CCF when they're 21, to get even with the government that denies them the first right of citizenship when they're 18.

The CCF has long said 18, 19 and 20-year-olds should have the vote. Liberals and Conservatives, though they court young people's interest, insist that 18, 19 and 20-year-olds are not wise enough to vote. Flighty—that's what 18, 19 and 20-year-olds are—say Liberals and Conservatives—much too flighty and irresponsible to vote.

After a slap in the face like that is it any wonder a lot of 21-year-olds go CCF?

Let's look at the picture realistically. Most 18, 19 and 20-year-olds are working. They're paying taxes. They can be conscripted if there's a war. They're not too immature, physically, to die for their country. But, apparently, they're too immature, mentally, to vote. In other words, the government says 18, 19 and 20-year-olds are adults when it comes to paying taxes and offering their lives, but mere scatterbrained juveniles when it comes to voting.

Is it any wonder, then, that 18, 19 and 20-year-olds take no interest in public affairs? Would you, if you couldn't vote? Of course you wouldn't. In the last year of high school you'd be interested in public affairs and you'd go out into the world prepared to play your part. And then, with a shock, you'd find the government has so poor an opinion of you that you can't vote.

So it is that plenty of 18, 19 and 20-year-olds, frustrated, indignant, insulted, bitter, ignore the public questions of the day. By the time they're 21 they're no longer willing—or able—to play their part.

Dr. Richmond Barbour, Ph.D., famous advisor to young people on their modern-day problems (and they're more complex than the problems we had 25 years ago), says this: "I've been petitioning and agitating votes for 18-year-olds for many a year. If you want to help, write your congressman, your senators and your state legislators."

That's good advice. We Canadians can follow the same; we can bombard our M.P.'s and our M.L.A.'s. If we think 18, 19 and 20-year-olds should have the vote, it's our duty to let our elected representatives know.

The Panda bear, found only in the Himalayas, is an almost exclusively vegetarian animal.

RAY... Reflects and Reminisces

Seven shiploads of Johnsons arrived in Alaska and Yukon during the gold stampede and this may help explain why so many of the name still dwell in the north. There are plenty in Skeena as well. When Alaska was sold to the United States in 1867, the name of the president was Andrew Johnson. In Dawson in 1901, there were 143 Johnsons, Johnstons and Jonsons and hundreds of Johnston Mountains and Johnston Creeks and Johnstone Islands. Alaska and Yukon post masters had their little perplexities.

General Omar Bradley says the United States air defences, with the Canadians, could "avert complete disaster." And it also might be well to avert complacency in Canada.

One of the most staggering blows to the development of Alaska has come in the loss of a $300,000,000 aluminum plant near Skagway, comments a northern paper. Has anyone ever heard of the United States developing a natural resource in Canada when one of the 48 had an equal resource available? History shows Alaska always gets the rind when the United States slices a melon.

There still can be found in Prince Rupert some wedded to the idea that a town has no business growing up. A small community, they feel, is good enough, particularly if they are doing well. More people could mean crowds and expenses and not enough time for jaywalking.

A window display of old pictures in Juneau keeps drawing a lot of attention, where, years ago, it would not have meant so much. The oldest photograph in the group was taken in 1890. While Prince Rupert cannot go back that far, there are many scenes here that already can command deep interest. It is probably true that the majority of present day residents know but little what Prince Rupert looked like forty years ago.

Any wild animals found on Kalen Island always appear as if having been tamed. Bears have been seen and they kept on, calmly eating berries. Saturday evening a couple driving out the highway, passed two large black wolves which leisurely crossed the road without even asking to be excused.

Back in 1945 somebody called out "Cease Fire." Only it's taking a heliwa lot longer today.

Train Housewives By British Plan

LONDON (Reuters) — Jean Wyatt, 16, has just become a fully qualified housewife—at a cost of about $588 to the British government.

She is one of the youngest graduates of the state-sponsored National Institute of Houseworkers Ltd. in suburban East Croydon.

During a nine-month course at the institute, Jean learned how to plan and cook three-course meals twice daily, do a big wash and ironing, houseclean, look after invalids, and make her own clothes. She was also taught how to write a business letter and basic facts of parliamentary procedure and civic government.

Labor Minister George Isaacs is to present Jean with a diploma showing she has completed the course. The diploma will be her passport to standardized domestic working conditions and wages.

Girls taking the course are paid about $5.50 weekly while in training and are guaranteed jobs after they finish. Aim of the scheme is to give universal training to household workers.

Daily Health Hint

Eat a nourishing breakfast—the first meal of the day should provide at least one-third of the day's food requirements. As a rule breakfast comes after the day's longest period of fasting—therefore, it is unfair to ask the human system to carry on without fuel.

What CITY COUNCIL Did

Referred to the traffic committee for investigation and report a letter from Ideal Cleaners asking for a loading zone in front of their establishment on McBride Street.

Instructed the city clerk to inform J. H. Mair the city did not have the power to grant a lease for property on a roadway. This was in reply to a letter from Mr. Mair asking for a lease on the property on which his house stands.

Received and acknowledged a letter from Nelson Bros. Fisheries Ltd. thanking the city for sending out a fire truck and crew the night fire threatened their plant at Port Edward.

Tradition Changes At Famous School
ETON, England—Access to the famous playing fields of Eton is becoming more difficult than ever for prospective students. Old Etonians have discovered that the tradition which in the past has meant almost certain acceptance of their sons by the school no longer holds good.

The reason for the change in policy is that the waiting-list for admission to the 500-year-old school for "blue-bloods" is already filled up to 1963. This despite a boost in the school's tuition fees to nearly $1000 a year.

Robert Birley, Eton's 46-year-old headmaster, says every effort is being made to take in any boy who has family associations with the school. Primarily, however, everything depends on the boy himself, and not his family. To be certain of acceptance, a candidate must produce a good report card from his preparatory school and pass the common entrance examination.

With all departments showing renewed interest and activity and the financial situation much improved while marked betterments have been made in church property, the congregation of First Presbyterian Church, at its annual meeting last night, heard that 1950 had been the most successful year in the last twenty-five. Credit was given to the new pastor, Rev. Dr. E. A. Wright, a "human dynamo," for his progressive activity. Support was pledged to the pastor and optimism was expressed that 1951 would be another banner year as the church moved toward its old time strength as an active factor in the religious and spiritual life of the community.

Abbott and Mrs. Thomas McCubbin.

The report of the board of managers, by E. J. Smith, showed envelope and loose collections during 1951 far exceeded the previous year and years immediately before that.

City Adopts Police Pact

After hearing a thorough report from the police committee of their investigation of the proposed contract with Royal Canadian Mounted Police, the city council voted last night to enter into the contract. The committee was also authorized to spend $1,000 for the purpose of converting the present caretaker's quarters into police barracks.

The report stated the expenditure for car operation was approximately the same in the 1951 contract as it had been in 1950 and that the total saving in men's salaries would be between $15,164.28 and $17,691.66, depending upon how many constables were employed. The number will range from 12 to 14.

Offsetting that financial advantage were expenditures that would have to be incurred:

The erection of a lean-to garage for public vehicles;

Purchase of furniture for police quarters.

Some alterations to the existing caretaker's quarters to make them suitable for police barracks. It was estimated $1,000 would be required for that task.

In addition it would be necessary to give the city hall janitor additional remuneration for looking after the public lavatories.

Concerning some points that needed clarification, the report said, that the committee had been advised that the RCMP would defray the entire cost of prisoners' meals and bill the city only for those accruing to municipal prisoners before conviction. That would make the net cost of prisoners' meals the same as before. There might be some additional cost for matrons' services, but the city would be required to provide matrons for city prisoners only prior to conviction when no other matron was on duty. This should be a rare occurrence, the report said and should not exceed $100 per annum. The commissioner, the report continued had definitely undertaken to restrict the number of single men on the city force to 30 percent.

The report was adopted after approval.

Port Simpson Hoop Winners

Defeated Metlakatla by One Point on 78-77 Score

Port Simpson Athletic Club basketballers aided Metlakatla last week-end and won the game after a five minute overtime period by a slender one-point margin, 78-77.

Metlakatla started the game by making one quick basket, only to find the visitors taking over by scoring 7 points before the home team scored another basket. From then on, it was a ding dong scoring. At the end of the first breather, home team was leading with the score, Metlakatla 28, visitors 21.

The second period was full of action and it taxed the abilities of the two referees to keep the tussle well in hand. Home team increased their lead to 10 points and threatened to take the game. At the end of the second period the score was Metlakatla 46, visitors 33.

The start of the second half found both teams on their toes as evidenced by the low score. Metlakatla managed to add only 10 more points to the visitor's 33. The score at the end of the third period was Metlakatla 58, visitors 52.

The exciting final period was marked by a terrific pace. When the din quieted down after this hectic period it was announced that it was a tie game, 74-74.

A five minute overtime was played and, in the dying moments of the game, Metlakatla was lagging behind by one point when they lost possession of the ball. Then the visitors played a stalling game to protect their one point lead.

C. Cooper was the bad boy of the evening with 5 personal fouls. Thirteen personal fouls went to Metlakatla and 14 to Port Simpson.

Bill Leask was high scorer for the losers with 43. For the winners, Larry Ryan had 20.

Individual scores:

5-Year Licence Is Protested

A motion of protest against the five-year driver's licence was passed at the regular meeting of the city council Monday night.

In offering the motion, Ald. T. B. Black said the payment of $5 for drivers' licences would be an imposition on many people, particularly families where there were a number of drivers. It would also be a hardship on those companies who paid licence fees for their drivers. Most drivers, he said, did not stay with a company for that period of time and it meant another $5 would have to be paid out each time a new driver was hired. He felt it was not good business on the part of the government and that it was exceeding the authority of any licensing body.

In seconding the motion, Ald. H. S. Whalen said he agreed with the statements made by Ald. Black.

Ald. G. D. Frizzell said the $5 for a driver's licence was the least of what the motorist would pay in the form of taxes during the year. He said the prepayment of the fee would save the government $80,000 a year in collection fees. He added that the tax on a new automobile was one third of the cost of the car or truck. There had been no protests about that. He said the law had been passed by order-in-council and the council was too late to prevent the law. The best it could do was register a protest against a law that was already in force.

Ald. Black said the order-in-council had to come before the legislature and that he wanted the city's protest registered immediately.

The motion passed with Ald. Frizzell and Ald. Darrow Gomez not voting.

LONG BEACH, California (C) — Cary Middlecoff, firing 13 under par with a total of 271 for a 72-hole distance, yesterday won the $10,000 Lakewood Park open golf tournament.

Vancouver's Stan Leonard shot 71 yesterday to finish in a four-way tie for eleventh place with rounds of 62-72-67-71. Total 277.

SPORT SHOTS

Canada's Trail Smoke Eaters, concluding a hockey tour of Germany in which they met no defeats, trounced a picked all-German team 7-2 at Garnisch-Partenkirchen 11 years ago. The British Columbia team led 3-2 at the end of the first period and scored four goals in the last frame.

A National Hockey League record for most goals scored by one team in one period was set by Detroit Red Wings, eight goals in the third period, when they defeated New York Rangers 15-0 seven years ago. Red Wings also had 22 assists for a record team total of 37 points.

Williams KO's Zanelli

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (C) — Ike Williams, world lightweight champion, knocked out Ralph Zanelli of Providence in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-rounder last night.

CHOICE OF KITIMAAT

the Alaska border.
 "The deal has all the badges of a double-cross. It came after some four years of preliminary investigations had been conducted. The Skagway project had won approval of engineers, fin-anciers and operators. It was recognized as one of the most feasible sources for a huge hydro-electric power development, the controlling factor in the establishment of a light metals industry.

"The aluminum development
 in Alaska would have revolutionized the economy of the territory. It would have created a new city of 15,000 to 50,000 population. It would have opened the way for the development of a long list of new industries as
 by-products of the main aluminum development.

"The switching of the project to Kitimaat, B.C., delays but does not kill the Alaska development.
 Unfortunately, $300,000,000 developments are few and far between.

"It is likely that the reasoning
 behind the aluminum decision
 may never be known in Alaska.
 Federal officials are accountable to no one in the territory. Alaska has no representation in Washington with the prestige and power to thump a fist on desks of cabinet officers and demand answers to their questions.

"But Alaskans can speculate that big money made the decision. Based on past experiences, it is reasonable to conclude that the big money found it for its own best interests to have the aluminum plant in Canada instead of on soil of the United States—perhaps for tax purposes.

"One thing is certain: the switch to British Columbia could not possibly be for defence reasons. There is nothing to support such a belief. The Kitimaat project will be more vulnerable to enemy attack than would the Skagway project.

"Both the Skagway and Kitimaat sites are at the heads of fi-jords. The fact that Kitimaat is a few hundred miles south and east of Skagway would make no appreciable difference from the defence angle. An enemy able to reach one could, just as readily, reach the other.

"The big difference is in the physical structure of the two developments, and Skagway has definite advantages over Kitimaat.
 The project in Alaska
 would have tunnels through rugged mountains to bring water from interior lakes to the power plants on the shoreline. At Kitimaat the waters would be impounded by an open dam—a ready target for enemy bombs.

"If the aluminum plant were at Skagway or Dyea the enemy could fly many days over the sawtooth peaks of the area and be unsuccessful in finding a place to drop a bomb that would destroy the power development. But at Kitimaat, a few well-placed bombs could wreck
 the dam and leave the entire factory without electricity to turn its wheels.

"Too, it must be recognized that the defence line in Alaska is the defence for Kitimaat as well as for Skagway. That defence line is 600 miles west of Skagway. It is equally effective for either site.

"The aluminum deal opens the way for questioning the sincerity of the federal government in its program for Alaskan developments. By locating this plant in the territory the government would have taken the greatest step possible in expanding the economy of Alaska.

"Meanwhile, Alaskans see British Columbia developing new pulp mills while American interests are suffering a series of crippling delays in similar developments in Alaska.

"Alaskans are justified in wondering whether they must wait for the full development of British Columbia before the United States will take an interest in her own soil and people in this great northern rampart.

"History shows that Alaska always gets the rind when the United States slices a melon. It has been that way ever since the purchase of Alaska from Russia in 1867.

"Has anyone ever heard of the United States developing a natural resource in Canada when one of the 48 states had an equal resource available for development?"

JUNEAU EMPIRE

The Juneau Empire newspaper
 comments as follows:

"The announcement of the scuttling of the Alcoa project in the Skagway area has aroused the ire of the townspeople of that 'Gateway to the Yukon.'
 They ask why the investment of American dollars in Canada, instead of the Alcoa project, making it necessary to purchase
 aluminum from Canada.

"The Skagway people, according to exclusive advices received from there by The Empire, have sent protesting wires to the President of the U.S.; Stuart Symington, ECA; Charles E. Wilson,
 Director of Defense Mobilization; Charles Sawyer, Department of Commerce; Oscar Chapman, Department of Interior; Seattle
 Chamber of Commerce; G. H.
 Skinner, President of the Alaska Steamship Company and also Senator Lester G. Hunt, Senator
 Wayne Morse and Senator L.
 Saltonstall.

According to the Skagway reports, it looks as if Alaska is being left out of both the defense and development pictures. Both the Skagway City Council and Skagway Chamber of Commerce, in their protesting wires, want to know why preference is being given the Northern British Columbia site at Kitimaat for the production of aluminum for defense purposes over the proposed site in Taiya Valley in Southeast Alaska.

"A number of advantages exist
 which should make the Taiya project more feasible. There is already in existence the most modern dock in Alaska; a road has been built to the proposed site; there is a new airport capable of handling large planes; a railroad communication line between the project and the city of Whitehorse, Y.T.; and an established city with more modern utilities and immediate space for offices and warehouses.

"The tax return—if the project is built on U.S. soil—should be given serious consideration. The original cost of the Taiya project as estimated—is approximately half that of the Canadian project. There will be no transmission problems to consider as industrial plants may be built on the project site. It is understood that the Aluminum Company of America desires the site in Dyea.
 Both projects are located within relatively the same distance from potential enemy bases.

The questions arising are not ones and more protests to the scuttling of an American project in favor of one in Canada, are certain.

THE BARBIZON has a deceptively wide appearance. Actually the width is only 32 feet and the depth of the house proper is 26 feet. Circulation between rooms and convenience of layout are worth study. For instance, all rooms can be reached from the front entrance with a minimum of hall. A screened porch opens to front and rear yards. It can be used as a sleeping porch connected to the bedrooms with French doors. Both the kitchendinette combination and the living room face the garden. All are corner rooms. Low bookcases flank the fireplace under the corner windows. Kitchen cabinets line two walls with a snack bar separating kitchen and dinette. Storage space is amply provided for by wardrobes in the bedrooms, coat and linen closets in the hall, towel cabinet and entry closets. Plans call for an exterior finish of siding and asphalt shingles. Floor area is 932 square feet. Cubage is 17,971 cubic feet.

In bridge there is no such word as "always." Do you always play third hand high, always cover an etc? If you do you are not getting the best possible

Sewing Portrait Of Late G.B.S.

LONDON (C)—A life-like portrait of George Bernard Shaw is being made in silk by 73-year-old Mrs. Dora Owen.

For the past 15 years, Mrs.
 Owen has spent hours at her sewing machine, turning out portraits and landscapes. The result are so good, experts say, they look like paintings, but a close-up view shows millions of tiny,
 intricate stitches.

"The chief qualifications for the job, are patience and good eyesight," said Mrs. Owen. "The work is so detailed it takes three months to finish each portrait."

The pictures are worked on organdie, backed by stiff linen and placed in an embroidery frame. Most of the models are taken from newspaper pictures.

The portrait of Shaw will join
 many other famous names,
 among them Winston Churchill,
 Neville Chamberlain, Anthony Eden and Sir Henry Wood.

Want Shorts Listed As Utility Apparel

LONDON (C)—The Board of Trade has turned down an application by British manufacturers, for inclusion of shorts in government-priced utility wearing apparel. At present, divided skirts are included in the utility range, but only if they are of skirt-length. Anything above the knee is classified as shorts
 and subject to purchase tax.
 Sportswear manufacturers say they have many inquiries for shorter divided skirts, and have appealed to the board to reverse its decision.

nary run of hands—the types of hands that come up most frequently. They cannot possibly guide you on the freak hands
 which you are bound to get now do the best you can. If the

 you have to use your best judg-

 best guide anyway.

The partner who bids the Blackwood four no-trump is "always" captain of the hand and it is he who should decide whether to bid a slam or not. But on this hand Mr. Dale, the old mas-

 "always."

The bidding:

Mrs. Keen's jump bid to four no-trump on the second round of bidding was a little abrupt.
 Mr. Dale bid five diamonds to show one ace and Mrs. Keen signed off at five hearts. At this point Mr. Dale knew for the first time that his partner had very strong heart support.

He knew something else that his partner didn't know. He knew that his side had no diamond losers.

Now do you think the odds
 were that Mrs. Keen held the ace of hearts on the bidding as given? Mr. Dale thought they were at least 10 to one. And if she did hold this card Mr. Dale figured the chances of making a slam were too good for him to pass—as Mr. Meek would probably have done.

Mr. Dale vetoed his partner's decision to stop at five hearts and put the hand in six which,
 as you see, is ice-cold.

Yes, the responder does have the right to veto the four no-trump bidder's decision when he holds a void suit and can be reasonably sure that his void does not represent duplication of values.

MONTREAL—G. W. V. Shaw, assistant to the president, Canadian National Railways, died last night in the western division of the Montreal General hospital. He was in his fifty-sixth year.

Mr. Shaw was born in Worcester, England, and, after experience in chartered accountants' and legal offices, he entered the service of the Grand Trunk Railway in 1916 in the general passenger department at Montreal and acted as secretary to the passenger traffic manager and in other capacities until late in 1922. Upon the formation at that time of the Canadian National organization, he joined the staff of the chairman and president and, after experience as assistant chief clerk in that office, was made assistant secretary to the president. When the board of trustees took office in 1934, he was appointed secretary to the chairman of trustees, and in October, 1936, was promoted to chief clerk to the chairman and president. Two years later, Mr. Shaw was named assistant secretary of the company and was appointed assistant to president in August 1945.

Mr. Shaw assisted Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George for the duration of his Canadian and United States tour in 1923 in a secretarial capacity.

He was a member of the Thistle Curling Club, Kanawaki Golf Club and Canadian Railway Club of Montreal.

Mr. Shaw is survived by his wife, the former Edith Foster, of Ottawa; a sister, Mrs. Dorothy Hocking, of Martinez, Calif., and a brother Harold G., of Milner, B.C.

Police Court
At Hospital

Magistrate W. D. Vance and city police court visited Prince Rupert General Hospital to hear the evidence of Anthony McDonald in the case of Lorne Murray LeBlanc charged following a traffic incident on Christmas Eve when McDonald and two other men were allegedly struck on Hays Cove Avenue by a car driven by LeBlanc.

McDonald has been in hospital ever since receiving treatment for injuries.

The charge against LeBlanc—one that has never been laid in Prince Rupert before—is that he unlawfully did drive a motor vehicle on a highway without reasonable consideration for other persons using said highway.

T. W. Brown is defending LeBlanc. The case stands adjourned for eight days.

Dispersal Plan
To Avoid Bombs

LONDON (C)—A plan to disperse part of Britain's population and essential armament industries through Commonwealth territories that are relatively safe from atomic attack is proposed by Sir Clifford Heathcote-Smith, deputy chairman of the Council for the New Era of Emigration.

Sir Clifford in a letter to the Times describes the problem as one of the gravest and most urgent for the Commonwealth to decide.

The council contends that the strength or even the survival of the British Commonwealth may depend on swift action in transferring the nation's industrial strength from target areas to the chief European-settled countries of the Commonwealth.

"This is far from being a crisis measure," he writes. "A better distribution of industry and population would strengthen Britain and all the Commonwealth nations, both economically and as a matter of defence."

With migrants from Britain, he adds, should go some of the many refugees and displaced persons at present scattered throughout Western Europe. In the younger countries overseas, they would become an invaluable asset to the whole free world.

HAS OPPONENTS

Brinley Thomas, professor of economics at University College, Cardiff, described Sir Clifford's proposal as "unconvincing and unrealistic."

"This is an extraordinary policy to recommend at the very mo-

The border shows a number of varieties of fisheries products important in the Canadian economy.

France Revives
Maginot Line

LONDON—General Eisenhower on his tour of inspection in Europe, was asked by France to examine the Maginot Line. Officers feel it could become a very powerful feature of European defence, although Germany was too far advanced when the line became established.

Today, it consists of 25 huge concrete fortresses. Some are seven stories under ground. Hundreds of smaller, but strong positions are carefully hidden in woods and hills.

ment when everything depends on a situation of strength being rapidly built up in Western Europe," he said. "In other words, our particular contribution to the defence of the free world would be to stage a gigantic Dunkerque."

The proposal, he added, would undermine the very foundations of the Atlantic Treaty.

"Imagine the effects on the United States and the nations of Western Europe," said Prof. Thomas. "Does anyone seriously think that the rules of Russia would hold back because the British Commonwealth was redistributing its population?"

Britain's destiny, he insisted, was bound up with the worldwide group of free nations, of which the United States was the corner-stone. Any plan treating Britain's security as a mere Commonwealth problem would be "unconvincing and completely unrealistic."

Compensation To Horror Victims

By HANS NEUERBOURG

MUNICH, Germany (AP) — Thousands of Germans sterilized by the Nazis have organized to demand compensation and to fight any future attempt at compulsory sterilization law.

The organization claims 3,500,000 people were sterilized by Hitler in his efforts to "purify" the "master race."

There are more than 2,000 in the new "Central Association of Sterilized People in West Germany" and more are joining every week. Chairman Bruno Koeniger says thousands of others are deterred from joining by feelings of embarrassment.

Koeniger's association demands equal recognition with concentration camp prisoners and war veterans as deserving public assistance. It asks a life-term pension of 80 marks ($20) a month, and life-long free medical care for all sterilization victims.

At its first public meeting in Munich, the association declared its intention to oppose any future attempt to compel sterilization for any reason—even though "medically justified."

"Who could control the application of such a law?" asked Koeniger. "The Nazi sterilization order claims to be based on eugenic reasons, too. But what became of it?"

He charged the Nazis used the law brutally to punish or wipe out "undesirables," and that its application was more political than medical.

A HALF JEW
Koeniger, 31, was sterilized in 1933 when the Nazis accused him of hereditary feeble-mindedness.

All Female Play
Grim Production

NEW YORK (AP)—Broadway occasionally sees plays with all-female casts, but they're usually on the comedy side, such as Clare Booth Luce's "The Women" which had a good run a few years back.

The latest all-feminine play however is completely in the opposite mood. Newly-arrived on Broadway, "The House of Bernarda Alba" is a drama of a domineering mother and her five frustrated daughters, a story of Spain 50 years ago.

As the new presentation of the American National Theatre, "Bernarda Alba" is a grim production. It does not seem likely to attract more audiences than those small groups who support the usual art movements.

Written by Federico Garcia Lorca, a distinguished Spanish dramatist who was killed by Fascists in 1936, the play presents a harsh, morose and brooding story of Senora Bernarda. With her five marriageable daughters confined almost like prisoners in small, austere rooms arranged like cells, she rules with a hand of iron. The reason Senora Bernarda gives for this suppression is they must remain in strict mourning for eight years for their father.

In this tragic, introverted family, sister becomes enemy of sister and eventually the whole household is one of bitterness that threatens to explode any second. And it does, ending in a shooting and a suicide.

MOURNING WOMEN
Naturally in a drama of this type, where there are no men on stage for contrast, there is a tremendous anxiety and burden on an all-feminine cast. They do it in the style of Greek tragedy, even to the point of opening the play with a procession of mourning women weeping for the death of the father.

Katrina Paxinou, recently from several impressive film performances in Hollywood, is moving and impressive in the firm, disciplined role of the mother who is determined to cut off her daughters from the world—especially from men. Helen Craig and Ruth Ford are excellent as two of the daughters.

But it is an unhappy, disagreeable play, more suited to drama festivals where audiences are in the mood for serious study of theatrical subjects.

IT'S A CONTINENT
The area of the mainland of Australia is estimated at 2,948,366 miles.

Actually, Kieniger says, he was known to the Nazis as a half-Jew. He spent the last years of the second world war in a concentration camp.

Koeniger estimates 60 per cent of the 3,500,000 men and women sterilized by the Nazis between 1923 and 1945 were women.

Many couples were divorced because one partner was sterilized, Koeniger said.

There have been reports of some cases where fertility was restored, but Koeniger said he opposed personally any new operation performed on him—even if it would lead to "refertilization."

"Maytime in Mayfair," coming to the Capitol Theatre this Wednesday and Thursday is a delightful entertainment which again co-stars Britain's most popular romantic team, Anna Neagle and Michael Wilding. Supporting them are Peter Graves, Nicholas Phipps, who also wrote the screenplay, and Thora Hird.

Produced in technicolor, the gay romantic comedy tells how the impoverished, but irresistible Michael Wilding inherits a Mayfair fashion salon, which is managed by Anna Neagle. He falls in love with her. But the head of a rival establishment, Peter Graves, wants Anna to join him, and secretly plots to achieve this end and ruin Michael. How the latter copes with Graves and at the same time pursues Anna makes amusing screen fare. Nicholas Phipps, as Michael's
