NATIONAL ALCAN DECISION DUE THIS WEEK

$110 Million So Far Spent on Kitimat

VANCOUVER (CP)—Preliminary work on the proposed plant of the Aluminum Co. of Canada at Kitimat has cost $110,000,000 so far, it was reported here yesterday.

Final decision on construction of the $550,000,000 plant is expected to be made at a meeting of directors and shareholders in Montreal this week.

Fire Danger Mounting

VANCOUVER (CP)—Fire danger mounted in British Columbia today as the near-record April drought continued to dry out the forests.

To Finish Black Top

Highway reconstruction and black topping from the city limits to Galloway Rapids and on to Watson Island is to be completed this season by the provincial department of public works.

The British Columbia Forest Service reports a total of 25 fires burning in the southwestern section of the province alone.

None of the fires are out of control but a blaze on the slopes of Vedder Mountain, 65 miles east of here, cast a pall of smoke over the lower Fraser Valley. The area has gone 25 days without measurable rain, one day short of the record drought period. The weather bureau said there was no relief in sight.

About 100 men are fighting the Vedder Mountain fire while scores of others keep a wary eye on other blazes.

Warmer weather is replacing the cold snap which brought fruit-killing frosts to the rich Okanagan Valley.

Yokohama Holocaust

Ninety-Eight Persons Perish in Train Fire

YOKOHAMA (CP)—Ninety-eight persons, including seven American soldiers, were killed today and 200 injured when fire swept a six-coach electric train at Yokohama rail terminal.

The train, on the state-run Yokohama line, was pulling into Sakuragicho station when sparks from an overhead power cable set fire to the engineer's cabin.

Flames raged through the leading coach and spread to other cars. They left the leading coach a grim skeleton of twisted steel piled with charred bodies.

Bodies of 40 women and eight children were among the charred corpses pulled from the smoldering coach.

Panic-stricken passengers fought their way to the doors but flames had cut off the power needed to open them. Some smashed windows and scrambled out, only to fall to their deaths on a sidewalk below the elevated trestle.

Only five persons in the first coach escaped death.

Leaving the city today is A. McDonald, who has been employed with the Columbia Cellulose Company. He embarked for Vancouver on the Camosun this afternoon.

Lee Kendall Passes Away

Resident of Prince Rupert thirty years ago and brother of two well known local women, Lehman Dennis (Lee) Kendall passed away yesterday in Los Angeles. A machinist in the city and at Skeena River canneries before and after World War I in which he served overseas with the 102nd (Northern British Columbia) Battalion, Mr. Kendall was the brother of Mrs. C. H. Elkins and Mrs. H. A. Breen.

Mr. Kendall was sixty-one years of age. Death followed an illness of some years. He had last visited here about five years ago.

Another sister is Mrs. J. P. McMillan, formerly of Prince Rupert, and now of Vancouver, who is flying to Los Angeles to attend the funeral.

Mr. Kendall's widow was the former Katie Shaw, pioneer local girl and sister of Mrs. J. J. Judge of this city.

Elbert Hogan Laid at Rest

Funeral services for the late Elbert Hogan, 72, retired Dodge Cove fisherman, were held yesterday afternoon from Grenville Court Chapel. After a long illness, Mr. Hogan died April 13, in the Prince Rupert General Hospital.

Rev. Fred Antrobus officiated with Mrs. J. C. Gilker playing the organ for hymns which were "Rock of Ages," and "What a Friend We Have in Jesus."

Palbearers were Claus Hellan, Tor Engderson, Edward Tette, Axle Enocksen, Edward Wahl and A. E. Ferguson.

Burial was in Fairview Cemetery, with arrangements in charge of the B.C. Undertakers.

PERSONAL FAREWELL—Brig. J. M. Rockingham, commander of the 25th Canadian Infantry Brigade, says goodbye to the first shipload of his men as they prepare to sail for Korea. Assembly Details Discussed by Lie

PARIS—Trygve Lie, United Nations Secretary-General, has discussed details of the coming UN General Assembly session with officials at the French Foreign Ministry.

A ministry spokesman said Mr. Lie is trying to see if the General Assembly opening can be moved up from November 6 to sometime in October.

When the French Government rather reluctantly consented to play host to the General Assembly it stipulated it would do so if the United Nations meeting was held no earlier than Nov. 6.

This was done because of the possibility of French elections being held at the time of the General Assembly. The French do not want this to happen.

Regina Pats Are Still in WINNIPEG (CP)—Regina Pats last night kept alive their play-off hopes by defeating Winnipeg Monarchs 2 to 1 in the sixth game of the western junior hockey final before 5000 fans.

Monarchs still lead the best of seven series 3 to 2 with one game tied.

British Gov't Is Sustained

LONDON—The Attlee government was sustained 297 to 293 last night on a bill to increase railway rates. Aneurin Bevan, who had just resigned as minister of labor, voted with the government.

City Settles Wage Matters

A 12 percent increase in wages offered by city council to the Civic Employees Union (inside and outside workers) and to the Electrical Workers' Union (telephone employees) has been accepted by both unions.

City council last night authorized the increase.

Meanwhile, the conciliation award to Prince Rupert Fire Fighters Association of 15.7 percent increase to first class firemen and an average of 66.6 percent to other classifications was accepted by the council.

Recommendations of the conciliation board findings that four qualified first class firemen be appointed and supplementary pension scheme be established was accepted and referred to next year's council.

United Nations Are Falling Back

KOREAN SITUATION SERIOUS

TOKYO (CP)—Nearly one half a million battle-tested Reds smashed a hole in the centre of the United Nations line today in their third invasion of South Korea and the Allies were forced ten miles back from the 38th parallel.

Communist troops streamed through the gap and bent back the right flank of the Allied line. They are striking savagely with the aim of breaking up the International Eighth Army into piecemeal units.

South Korean units, manning the centre of the 100-mile front, crumbled before the fury of the Red spring offensive. Their retreat exposed other Allied divisions.

Front line officers consider the situation serious but headquarters commanders are confident that rejuvenated Allied forces can stem the offensive.

Red losses Monday were estimated at 12,000, about one-fourth of them from round the clock air attacks.

EASTERN FRONT

On the eastern flank Red Koreans overran Inje. They struck with surprising strength. Defence of the town, four miles south of the border, collapsed.

The South Koreans gave way before similar Chinese assault

Should Keep Labor in Office

MEETMENT REACHED—NEW MINISTERS

LONDON—Following a defection, an agreement was reported to have been reached between right and left Laborites.

A possible defeat of the government in Parliament may be obtained. This would enable the government to call a general election in autumn and when the fortunes of the party are at a low ebb.

John Freeman, Parliamentary secretary to the minister of supply, joined Harold Wilson, President of the Board of Trade, and Aneurin Bevan, minister of labor, in resigning from the government today.

Announcement of the appointment of Sir Hartley William Shawcross, Attorney-General, as President of the Board of Trade and Alfred Robins, Parliamentary secretary to the minister of fuel, as minister of labor was announced today.

Burglaries Last Night

A waterfront oil company office and a McBride Street store were the objectives of amateurish-looking overnight breaking and entering episodes.

Between 8 o'clock last night, when Manager N. R. Youngs was last on the premises, and 8 o'clock this morning, when he opened up for business, the Standard Oil Co. office on a wharf just east of Cow Bay was entered. A window sash had been cut with a knife in an apparent effort to remove window panes without breaking them and entry was made that way. About $30 was taken from a cash drawer. Other drawers were also opened. Exit was made by the latch-equipped office door.

Dom's Department Store on McBride Street was entered by forcing the wooden catch on a back door. It is estimated that some twelve pairs of boys' socks and about $2 in change in a box were taken. The door was found open this morning.

Big Catches Of Codfish

Record grey cod catches are being made by Prince Rupert fishing vessels.

In one day's catch, the Barkley Sound, Capt. J. F. Barker, brought in 55,000 pounds of grey cod for the B.C. Packers here.

Other boats and their catches caught in dragging south of Butterworth Rocks are:

Carolina Maria, Capt. Frank Gale, 53,000 pounds.

Sharon M., Capt. H. McBride, 45,000 pounds.

Addelaide J., Capt. Peter Jones, 30,000 pounds.

Finella, Capt. Geoff. Benson, 22,000 pounds.

Violet P., Capt. R. C. Prince, 54,000 pounds.

Vinetta Prince, Adolph Prince, 21,000 pounds.

Citizens Visit Taxation Office

Citizens seeking assistance in connection with personal income tax problems are calling steadily at the temporary office which has been opened up at National Employment Service headquarters by Kenneth Leckie and Stewart Marrs, departmental assessors from Vancouver.

The office will remain open each morning and afternoon, including Saturday, until next Monday, the deadline day for the filing of personal returns. The assessors will fly back to Vancouver next Tuesday.

Britain-Argentine—New Pact For Meat

BUENOS AIRES (CP)—Great Britain and Argentina agreed today to a new meat contract under which Argentina will undertake to ship 200,000 tons of meat to Britain as soon as possible. The agreement, signed last night, concludes seven weeks of negotiation.

The amount to be shipped is about 100,000 tons less than normal annual shipments to Britain in recent years due to large part to drought and Argentine sales in other markets.

Britain will be paying considerable more than the average price of £97 per long ton paid under the last agreement in 1949.

Shipments had been suspended for ten months because of Britain's refusal to pay higher prices demanded by the Argentine.

New prices announced are £146 a long ton for chilled beef.

Air Day Looming

New Aviation Plans Being Cleared—Planes to Supersede Rail

HARRISON HOT SPRINGS (CP)—Civilian-manned maintenance depots to service Royal Canadian Air Force aircraft will be established across Canada.

Air Marshal D. M. Smith of Ottawa outlined the depot plan at the semi-annual meeting of the Air Industries and Transport Association of Canada.

Plans are to operate five depots in Calgary and Winnipeg and three in the East.

A two-day meeting of the association, representing 167 firms employing upwards of 40,000 persons, opened here yesterday.

A forecast that air revenue will surpass railway revenue in Canada in ten years was made by Grant MacConachie, president of Canadian Pacific Air Lines. By that time air transportation will be safe and cheaper than travelling by rail, he added.

Council Talks Beautification

Old Exhibition Site Being Cleared Up—Park Improvements

Site of the former exhibition building on Roosevelt park, since demolished, will be levelled off by the city public works department. Art Murray, parks board member was told last night at city council meeting.

Murray wanted to know whose responsibility was the cleaning up of the debris left by the demolition crew. Clean-up of the site was responsibility of the contractors who demolished the building said Ald. T. B. Black, and assurance had been given this would be done.

Ald. Doug Frizzell said he heard it "had been done recently." Levelling of the grounds was referred to public works for action.

The parks board member also requested city council to contact police regarding supervision of the park area immediately behind the police office.

Council said in the past police had looked after this work, using inmates of the jail as gardeners. It felt the police would again co-operate, "unless there are no lawbreakers this summer," someone added with a chuckle.

Carl Furillo Comes Thru

Slump Ridden Bum 16th Inning Hero

NEW YORK (CP)—The slump-ridden Carl Furillo came through in the clutch again Monday to give Brooklyn Dodgers a dramatic 16-inning 2 to 1 victory over Boston Braves.

Furillo broke up the longest game so far this season with a two-out single that scored Billy Cox from third and ruined a brilliant pitching effort by Lefty Warren Spahn who went the distance for Boston.

The game wrecked was Furillo's only hit in seven trips to the plate and only his third of the season.

The previous day he had broken up a ten-inning game against the New York Giants with a home run.

The City Parks

CITY property, including that in the immediate vicinity of the City Hall, could well do with some smartening up, thus setting a good example to the city as a whole. There are those who remember how a few years ago the gardens in Service Park, adjacent to the City Hall, were a scene of beauty and source of admiration with their carefully laid out and well tended plots, attractive trails and well kept fences and benches. Not much would be required to improve things a lot and it would be money well spent in the favorable comments and publicity that the city receives from the tourist and other visitors who will be here in large numbers during the coming summer. Conversely, we can derive bad publicity from unkempt premises — and there are enough of them without the city itself also an offender by permitting eyesores of its own.

Now that Prince Rupert has a fully constituted Parks Board these are the sort of things it can and should be looking after with the city council doing all it can to co-operate.

This is the time to start for spring is getting well along and summer will be here before we know it.

Will Government Stand

THE DEFECTION in the Attlee government over Hugh Gaitskell's budget may have surprised some observers of the British political scene. It would be more surprising if Aneurin Bevin and Harold Wilson, in addition to leaving the cabinet, would permit their following to contribute an unfavorable vote which would precipitate a general election at this serious time.

There was not much danger of an adverse vote on the charges on dentures and spectacles which have been proposed under the budget and to which Mr. Bevan at first objected since the Conservative opposition is broadly in favor of economies in the health service.

Now, however, that Mr. Bevan has widened his attack on the budget as a whole, the situation could be more perilous for the government.

Work After 65

EVIDENCE of the undesirability of automatically laying off employees at the age of 65 regardless of their ability continues to develop. The Bureau of Old-Age and Survivors Insurance in the United States finds that most people work as long as they can and retire only because they are forced to do so. Generally they need the money. The Social Security Bulletin cites studies of the retirements of the beneficiaries of the government's insurance showing that only about five percent left their jobs of their own accord, in good health, to enjoy leisure.

Many fortunately manage to locate other work. The United States Census Bureau reports that in February of this year 768,000 men and women of 65 years and over were employed.

Several desirable policies are indicated by these facts. First is retention by management of the employee who at 65 still gives first-class performance. Second is a program for better shaping of job conditions by industry and retraining of older workers. Third, the state may furnish a specialized counseling and placement service for older people.

Radiologist in City Possible

J. D. McRae, MLA for Prince Rupert, has hopes that there will be a satisfactory settlement of the matter of adequate x-ray service at the Prince Rupert General Hospital. The minister of health and welfare, Hon. A. D. Turnbull, has already advised the hospital board that $3500 to $4000 annually may be made available to the hospital towards such a service. The idea is now being entertained that between work available at the hospital itself and the requirements of such district points as Ocean Falls, a financial basis

Young Woman Grows Worms

VICTORIA — Miss K. L. Johnson has "wormed" her way into a business—the worm-raising business.

Worms mean big money in California and after a visit to that state to learn the importance of worms to soil fertility the young woman decided to try her hand at it.

She imported 1,500 worms from California and placed them in shallow earth-filled boxes at Bayview Farm on Rocky Point, Vancouver Island. Every three weeks she collects the egg capsules and puts them in more boxes.

That's about all there is to it, she explained. But California worms, long and thin, are considered a better type than the local variety. She raises some of the latter, too, for the fishermen's trade.

Miss Johnson has been in business since last February, when she bought the farm.

With this as a starter she hopes to be able to develop the more usual aspects of farming. She aims to raise a crop of wheat this summer in order to make her own bread.

Apart from the sale of local type worms for bait, Miss Johnson has bigger hopes for her development of the California-type worms. The long, thin type is said to be the best for use in aerating and generally improving soil on farms and in vegetable and flower gardens.

Police Instruction To School Patrols

City police will be asked by the council to post a constable at each school for two days during noon hour and recess to give instructions to school patrols. This was the recommendation at last night's council meeting by Ald. Doug Frizzell, chairman of police and licensing committee.

Following trade licenses were granted:

Totem Theatre—666 seats and confectionery; Mrs. P. O'Leary, taxi, one car; Primo Vaccher, taxi, one car.

ON LOAN TO R.C.N. — Commodore Charles Kelghley-Feach, Royal Navy aviation specialist, has been appointed assistant chief of the Canadian Naval Staff for air and becomes a member of the Canadian Naval Board. He succeeds Commodore C. N. Lentaigne, who returns to the Royal Navy after two years on loan to the R.C.N. (CP from National Defence).

ray.. Reflects and Reminisces

I caught the flu last month and for the first time in forty years spent a while in Prince Rupert General Hospital as a patient.

It's great to be healthy. Oh, it's grand to revel in freedom from even hints of illness. One, in time, comes to accept physical soundness as a permanent state. He takes it all as a matter of course. The thing never thought of is possibility of a change.

What is it like, being in a hospital bed? Actually, there is not so much to it. There is more entertainment attempting to describe one's wanderings in other parts of Canada, and where the daily routine had nothing whatever to do with healing the infirm. For we have slept anywhere between here and the Atlantic, aboard fishing boats and other craft, all sorts of buildings from shacks and shanties to chateau and on the ground between blankets. And on occasion there would be company. But that's another story.

First night served as opportunity for introduction to fellow patients. This, one understands, is not at all customary. The occasion was purely unlooked for and the circumstances anything but amiable. The nurses could have been excused for showing, at least, slight traces of annoyance, but never could there be seen such a suggestion.

It seems, as evening came on, the new comer, with head full of flu, and dull warnings to keep warm and snug, drifted off to dreamland. Just when it occurred is of no consequence. But what does matter is the fact that Rupert's newest hospital patient was crawling around under his bed seeking a watch and chain a dream had disclosed could be found there. From bed to floor had not been accomplished secretly, or with finesse. Far, far from it! A table had been upset. "He was admitted shortly before noon," someone told another. "What made him think of fooling around beneath his bed?" "Search me, but you know what the flu is apt to do to one."

City Cannot Help Hospital

"Simply Impossible," 'tis Found

"With greatest regret" city council last night decided it would be unable to give Prince Rupert General Hospital the requested grant of $50,000.

Ald. T. B. Black, chairman of finance, said that his committee had "carefully investigated" the possibility of rendering such assistance, but found it impossible at this time.

"It is with regret that we make this recommendation," he said.

Ald. Black pointed out that it would be "ill advised" to try to float bonds now when the market was depressed. The city had no available cash or reserve funds to meet the request of the hospital board and the city had exhausted its borrowing power to issue bonds for general purposes.

"Even if we got permission to issue bonds, and the ratepayers approved such a bylaw, I don't believe we could dispose of the bonds at this time," Ald. Black felt.

Council admitted it was "in sympathy with" the hospital and realized the need but, said Ald. Black, he was speaking "purely from a financial viewpoint" and such assistance was not possible.

Meanwhile the hospital board has considered asking major industries here for donations in order to raise the community's one-third share of a required $130,000, necessary for immediate improvements to the hospital. Balance of the money would be provided by provincial and federal governments, Hospital Administrator D. C. Stevenson has said.

Hospital Hike Justified

450,000 Patients Get Benefits With No Bills

There has been a lot of loose talk about inefficiency and wastefulness in connection with British Columbia Health Insurance, yet, with such an apparently awkward scheme, no less than 450,000 patients have been admitted, treated and discharged without having to pay hospital bills in the two years hospital insurance has been in effect.

It is asserted by J. D. McRae, MLA for Prince Rupert in an interview with the Daily News, they received the full advantage of complete hospital service.

Justifying the increase in hospital insurance rates which he supported in the Legislature, Mr. McRae felt that the public had failed to realize that increased costs of wages and supplies affected government and hospitals the same as they affected industry and it was, therefore, obvious that they had to have higher revenues. "Hospitals were never on a sounder financial position than they are today," declares Mr. McRae. "At the same time the public is deriving rich benefit." Objections, he felt, were on a "monetary" rather than on "humanitarian" grounds.

The co-insurance hospital charge had already justified itself, Mr. McRae felt, and some large hospitals had more beds available today than in the past two years.

People of Prince Rupert will have the opportunity of hearing more about the government's case on hospital insurance when Hon. A. D. Turnbull, minister of health and welfare, comes here May 23 and will address a public meeting.

Meantime, Mr. McRae has said that he is prepared to meet any executives or organized bodies to explain in detail the government's position on hospital insurance. His first speaking engagement since his return to the city will be before the Prince Rupert Gyro Club tomorrow and he has indicated that hospital insurance will be the main burden of his discourse there.

Working Hard For Housing

"I cannot see how a greater measure of direct interest could have been taken, says J. D. McRae, MLA for Prince Rupert, in commenting hopefully on efforts that are being made to bring about a relief of the housing stringency in Prince Rupert.

Mr. McRae said that he was assured by the Premier of the fullest co-operation in any way possible under provincial jurisdiction and, further, Mr. Johnson had telephoned and visited Ottawa urging fullest and most sympathetic special consideration to Prince Rupert in the relief of housing.

Just before leaving Victoria, Mr. McRae met J. E. Brown, provincial housing commissioner, who had just returned to the capital from a visit to Prince Rupert.

Alcan is Definite

Is Greatest Single Industrial Development in World

Any doubts about the Aluminum Co. of Canada's $500,000,000 project, the greatest single industrial development in the world, being definitely settled for Kilmat, can be safely ignored, says J. D. McRae, MLA for Prince Rupert, following his return to the city from Victoria where the Legislature, at its recent session, passed legislation confirming the agreement with the province respecting lands, water rights etc.

Alcan is already spending half a million dollars a week in connection with the project, Mr. McRae says.

It is estimated the government will receive $25,000,000 in taxes during construction of the plant project. Taxes when the plant gets into operation are expected to be $7,000,000 per year. Mr. McRae adds that Hon. E.

T. Kenney, minister and forests, is negotiating with Alcan to British Columbia well as for the Canada-Alcan agreement. The advance on Prince Rupert is a great deal of money in this area these days. The amount of money in this area these days is a great deal of money in this area these days.

... was presented with a gold key chain, the gift of the groom. William Clark and Albert Dickens were ushers.

RECEPTION

A reception held at the Ninth Avenue home of the bride's parents, followed the service.

Among the many guests received by Mrs. Edward Morrow, was the bride's maternal grandmother, Mrs. H. D. Jarvis, from Portland, Ore.

The bride's maternal grandmother and aunt, Mrs. William Rothwell, made the wedding cake.

The three-tiered cake, flanked by pink tapers in silver candle holders and spring flowers, was cut by the newlyweds.

The couple stood under a prettily decorated arch of pink and white streamers and white wedding bells.

William Clark proposed the toasts to the newlyweds, the groomsmen and the bridesmaids. The couple received many beautiful gifts.

Buffet style refreshments were served.

Pourers and serviteurs were Mrs. N. Lund, Mrs. G. Maundrell and Mrs. Dickens.

The bride is on the staff of Miller Bay Hospital, while the groom is employed with the Columbia Cellulose Company.

They will reside on Eighth Avenue West.

Chef Suggests Meat Savings

By VIVIAN BROWN

QUEBEC, (CP)—Women can't be lazy if they want to save on their food bills, says chef Louis Baltera.

"Buy a little meat and a sharp knife," is his advice to housewives.

"Then when you go to the butcher shop, buy your meat in chunks and don't pay for the butcher's labor. You can buy a half-loin of pork and cut the chops yourself for much less than you can buy the same number of pork chops already cut.

"A leg of veal can supply cutlets, stew meat and bones for soup. A loin of beef will furnish many steaks, much cheaper than butcher cuts. Leftovers of any meat can be ground at home for hamburgers, croquettes and meat pies.

Housewives concentrate too much on buying choice cuts of meat, Baltera says. Much can be done with other inexpensive cuts if the time and trouble are taken to evolve good recipes. It takes a little more effort perhaps, than broiling a porterhouse steak, but Baltera says it's worth it.

In his kitchen at the Chateau Frontenac, where he has been chef de cuisine with 100 odd helpers since 1923, Italian-born Baltera maneuvers to please Canadian, United States, French and English appetites.

When the 1945 United Nations food conference met there, he satisfied representatives of 39 nations with foods ranging from "keftedes and kokorelia" for the Greeks to a dish called "side-salat" for the Norwegians.

When the King and Queen visited in 1939, it took 2,000 boned snow birds for "petits oiseaux d'Annes de L'ile D'Orleans on Belle Vue."

TASTY RECIPES

Here are a couple of his suds-dish recipes that housewives will find a real treat:

Canadian Pork Pic—Put two pounds of lean pork from the shoulder, two small onions, one pound fresh back fat, one ounce salt, a little pepper, nutmeg and all-spice through the meat chopper. (medium grind). Put in water and cook half an hour on a moderate fire, stirring often to prevent it from sticking to the pan. Remove from the fire and add three cups of white bread crumbs, mixing well and letting cool. Fill like an ordinary pie and serve either hot or cold.

Beefsteak and Kidney Pie—Cut a pound of rump in cubes and flatten with the cleaver. Slice about the same quantity of beef kidneys one-quarter inch thick. Fry these separately over a quick fire and drain in a colander. Put in a pot together with some chopped onions, salt and pepper and moisten with brown stock (or beef consommé). When nearly done, thicken with some brown sauce and a little tomato paste. Five minutes before removing from the fire add a small bunch of parsley with one bay leaf, chopped. Put in an individual dish or large pan. Cover with pie paste and bake until the crust is done. Serves four.

MATTER OF HOUSING HUNTINGTON, Worcester, England—A hospital received a sterilizing machine which was so large that it would not go into any room. So it was decided to leave it in the hospital grounds and build a room around it.

Good News Is Expected

Final decision as to whether Prince Rupert will get federal-provincial aid in housing rests with Robert Winters, federal housing minister. J. D. McRae, M.L.A. for Prince Rupert, said in a letter to city council last night that the provincial government had done all it could do in respect to housing. Mr. McRae said final decision was being reserved for recommendations from housing officials recently visiting the city. Council members passed a vote of thanks to Premier Byron Johnson, Lands Minister E. T. Kenney and Mr. McRae for their support in the housing problem. E. T. Applewhite, MP for Skeena, was also thanked, and council was optimistic that "good news" would soon come from Ottawa.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Mr. Muzzy has a friend, a Mr. New, who is trying to learn bridge. At present, Mr. New's activities are confined mainly to watching the old timers and picking up information about the game.

The role of teacher delights Mr. Muzzy. He has adopted a painfully condescending air in unloading his store of misinformation. Lately he has been reading up on hold-up plays and that was the subject of his lecture today.

Mr. Dale opened his fourth best spade, the five spot, and Mr. Muzzy promptly ducked it, permitting Mrs. Keen to win with the queen. As he did so he turned to Mr. New with a superior smile and said, "You'd have gone up with the ace in dummy wouldn't you, my boy? The play

I made is a little advanced but you'll get onto it in time?"

"You see," he continued, warning to his subject, "if Mrs. Keen has the ace of diamonds, I am home for three no trumps. When she is in with the ace of diamonds she will not have a spade to lead back, and I can control all the other suits. If she does have a spade at that point, then Mr. Dale must have started with only four of the suit and I will lose only three spades and a diamond. Complicated, isn't it?"

"... and long-winded and absolutely wrong," muttered Mr. Champion who was also kibitzing the game.

At trick two Mrs. Keen returned the six of spades which dummy's ace won. Mr. Muzzy then led his king of diamonds and Mr. Dale pounced on it with the ace and laid down three good spades. Down one.

Mr. Masters said nothing but later he laid the hand out for Mr. New and explained that, while the hold-up is a good play, this was not the place for it. Mr. Muzzy should have gone up with the ace of spades at trick one because he had an excellent chance for two stops in the suit.

Mr. Dale obviously didn't have the king, queen, jack of spades or he would have led the king.

Therefore Mrs. Keen had at least one of these honors. Now if Mr. Dale had started with one of his four spades, the contract was always safe. And if he had started with five spades, then Mrs. Keen had only two, with at least one honor—so that the suit would block.

No, the hold-up is not the play with this combination of cards. As Mr. Masters says, in learning these special plays you must learn when to use them—as well as how to use them.

All-Year Round Baseball Played by Australians

MELBOURNE.—There are features of baseball in Australia that are probable nonexistent in any other country. For instance, baseball may be played in any season—in fact, it is played in both winter and summer. In the southern State of Victoria there are both winter and summer leagues.

Because there is all-the-year-round baseball in Melbourne, the Richmond Baseball Club has been able to carry out a quick-fire plan of "rehabilitation," and at the same time demonstrate the efficacy of the Victorian Baseball Association's method of "progressive" baseball.

The Richmond Club ("Tigers") play for many years in the major league of the BVA, but last season slumped and won only five games of the 18 played. Yes, the competition consists of that number spread over five months—once a week (Saturday). Richmond finished the 1950 season (winter—the "big" season for baseball in Australia) at the bottom of Major A list, and the club's three teams must play in Major B section (three grades) in 1951. They will be replaced in Major A by Carlton, the 1950 premier team of Major B.

The Victorian Baseball Association is made up of sections alphabetically down to Minor E, and 1951 will see 132 teams fielded.

In the Major League A and B the 10 clubs in each section must place three teams in the field—that is, last season Richmond fielded teams in A, A1 and A2; this season the Tigers will play in B, B1 and B2.

PROGRESSIVE BASEBALL

"Progressive baseball" is a comparatively recent innovation by the VBA and at its introduction the controlling body was strongly criticized by those who placed the club before the game. Stronger clubs have resulted and the VBA has gained record numerical strength.

Do clubs relegated give up the ghost or do they fight back? To cite the recent case of Carlton, it would seem "punishment" for a bad season acts as a spur to do better. Last season's play in B Section was a highlight in the Blues' history. Pitcher Bert Numa rose to great heights and opponents scored less than a run a game—only 17 were scored against Carlton.

That brings up another point: second-string pitchers have a lean time in Australian baseball, as the No. 1 pitcher does practically all the work, starting all matches, except when deliberately spelled against a weak team.

The successful culmination of the Blues' fight-back will see IN RE ESTATE OF ERNEST UNWIN, DECEASED.

CIVIC CENTRE

Last Friday afternoon the Junior Girls craft group had a busy time with their sewing in preparation for the coming display. The project started was the making of picture plaques depicting nursery rhymes. Dorothy Stone chose "See Saw—Marjory Daw," while sister Ada did "Jack Be Nimble." There are plenty of nursery rhymes left and these are quite simple to make. Just mount the colored picture on cardboard and glue the edges, which afterwards are colorfully embroidered. These will be put on display along with the other work which the girls have done. Finished projects will be brought to the desk.

The Junior Woodworkers have their last periods this week and are rushing to finish their work. Some fine articles have been made and anyone wishing to do a touch-up job on the paint is advised to bring it along this week.

SOME FACTS ABOUT JAMS AND USES; TIME TO TAKE STOCK

One will deny that there are great many sweet things in the world as far as foods are concerned. No one will deny that one of the sweet things of everyday living is jam.

If you are one of those industrious, far-sighted homemakers who made a good supply of jams in the summer and still have quite a few full jars on your fruit-board shelves, the time has come to take stock of what you have on hand. In other words, start your spring cleaning among the jam jars.

You'll probably find that those which are specially popular in your family have already appeared, but you may find a jar or two of such jams tucked away on a high shelf or put on breakfast table some fine thing when one of the family has a birthday, or a favorite aunt or uncle is paying a visit. The smart thing to do is to alternate the few kinds of jams you have left, so that you won't be carrying any of the popular ones over into next year and for greater variety, you may want to buy some jams to use along with your homemade ones.

Has it ever occurred to you that when we talk about the kinds of jam we buy, "kind" has a double meaning? It is natural to think of jam as describing the fruit used in making the jam, in other words strawberry jam, cherry plum jam, to name only a few. However, in another sense the word there are three kinds of jam made and sold in our stores. The Consumer Section says that jams are made according to definite standards, or as might call them, commercial or large quantity recipes accurately followed. First, there is "Pure Jam" made from fruit and sugar only, except that, in the case of a fruit naturally low in either acid or pectin, a small amount of either, or both, may be added to make up the deficiency so that the jam will thicken properly. Then there is "Jam with Added Pectin," while the third kind of jam is a combination of apple or rhubarb and another fruit, apple and plum jam for example. A pure jam has about one and one-half times as much fruit in it as a jam with added pectin, and about four times as much of the more expensive fruit as a jam containing apple or rhubarb.

You'll notice that the kind of jam, in both senses of the word, is always shown on the label of the jam jar or tin. It gives the name of the jam according to the fruit used and also you'll see the words "pure jam" or "jam with added pectin" or "apple or rhubarb and," naming the other fruit jam." Something else that is there for us to read, is the net weight of the jam or the amount in fluid ounces. Incidentally, jams may be sold in only five sizes of containers ranging all the way from a six fluid ounce jar which holds half a pound of jam to a forty-eight fluid ounce container, which holds four pounds of jam.

Home economists remind us that jams have other uses besides being a spread for the breakfast toast. They recommend that you try these tested and unanimously approved Strawberry Tea Cakes or Jam Squares the next time you want to bake something very tasty and a little out of the ordinary.

STRAWBERRY TEA CAKES
1/2 cup shortening, preferably lard
1/2 cup butter

1/2 cup sugar
2 eggs
3 tablespoons strawberry jam
1/2 cups sifted pastry flour
OR 1 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
1/2 teaspoon baking soda
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Cream shortening until fluffy, add sugar gradually and cream well together. Add well-beaten eggs and jam and beat thoroughly until light and creamy. Mix and sift together the flour, baking soda, baking powder and salt and gradually add to the creamed mixture, blending thoroughly. Fill greased muffin tins 2/3 full and bake in a moderately hot oven, 375 F., for 20 minutes or until done. Yield: 18 medium cakes.

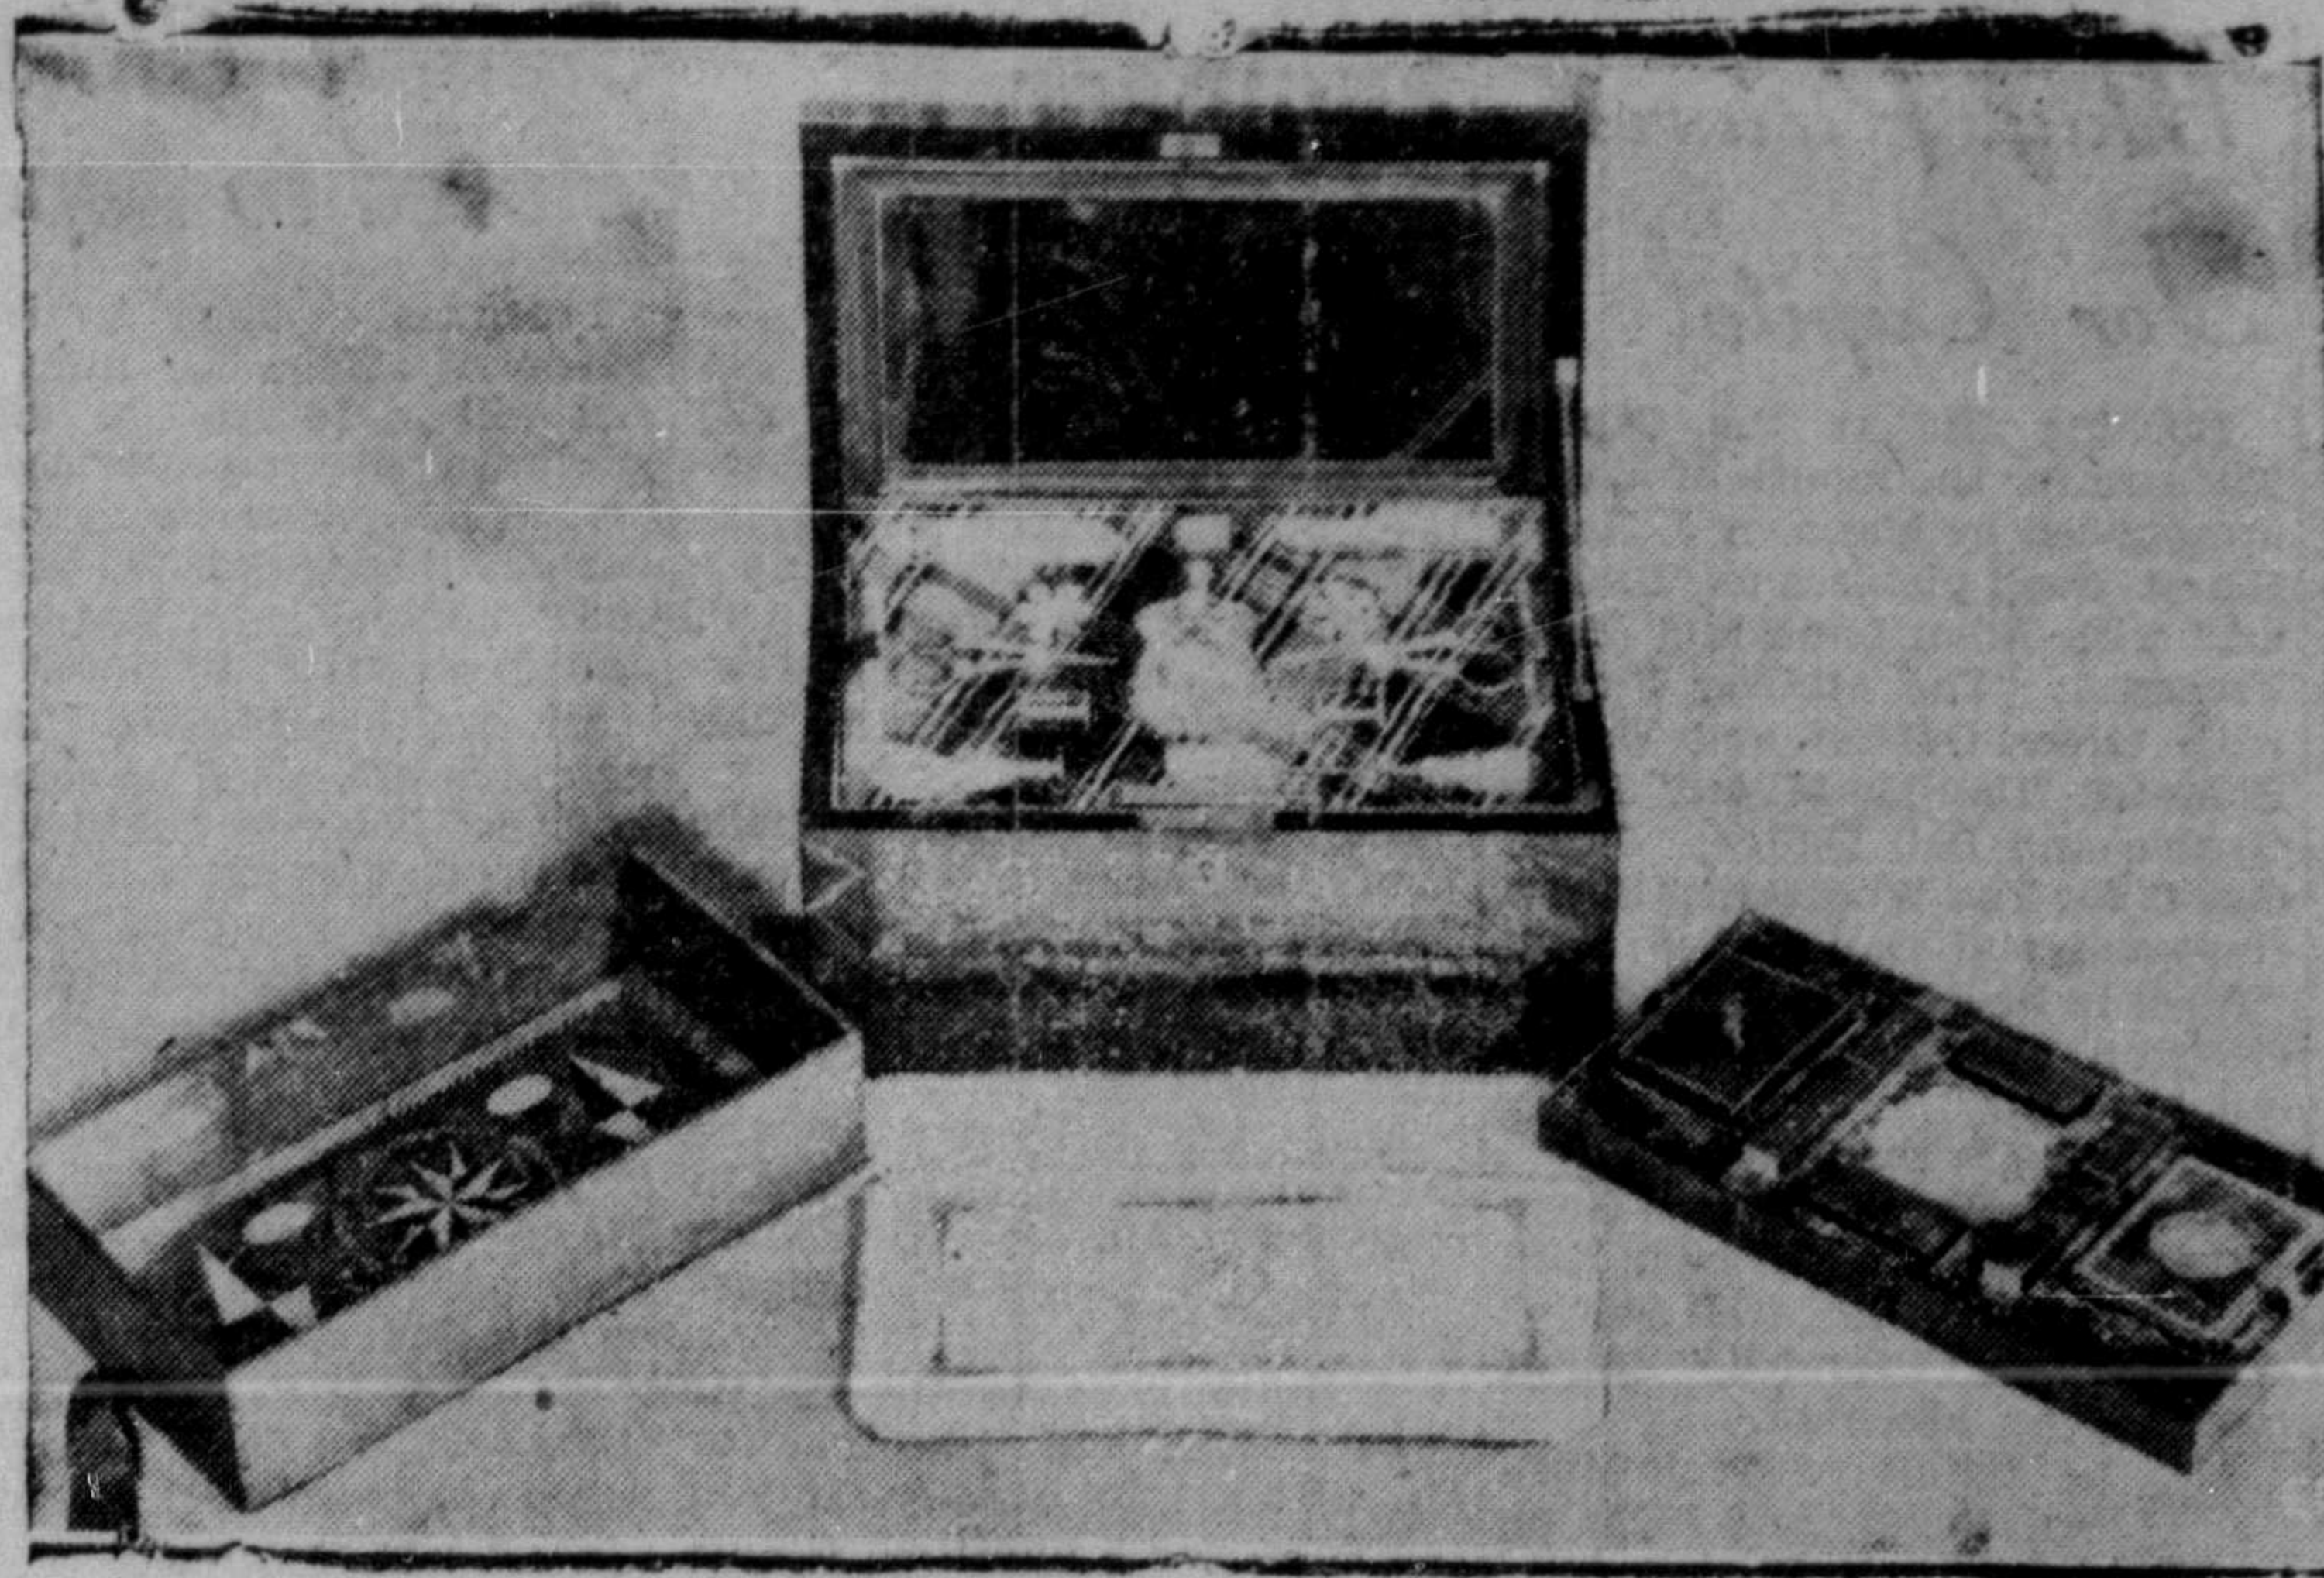

JAM SQUARES
1/2 cup sugar
1 1/2 cups sifted pastry flour
OR 1 cup plus 2 tablespoons sifted all-purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
Grated rind of 1 lemon
1/3 cup shortening
1 egg
1/2 cup strawberry jam

Mix and sift together sugar, flour, baking powder and salt. Add grated lemon rind. Cut in shortening with pastry blender or two knives until mixture resembles fine oatmeal. Add well-beaten egg blending thoroughly. Press 2/3 of the mixture into a greased 7" x 7" cake pan. Dot with jam. Drop the remaining 1/3 of the dry mixture by spoonfuls on the jam. Bake in a moderate oven 350 F., until lightly browned, 16 to 45 minutes. These are best when eaten fresh. Yield: 1 pan of squares 7" x 7".

Dr. Evatt Faces Woman

By LOUIS L. LECK
Canadian Press Correspondent
Election Opponent is "Neck Breaker"

SYDNEY, Australia (CP)—Dr. Herbert Vere Evatt, deputy leader of the Australian Labor party and former president of the United Nations General Assembly, is fighting hard to hold his parliamentary seat.

He is opposed in the April 28 Australian general election by Mrs. Nancy Wake, a heroine of the Second World War who tackled the doughy Evatt in the 1949 election and whittled his 1946 majority of 11,000 to a mere 2644. This time the fight is tougher because Dr. Evatt must contend with the Communist issue.

Last year Dr. Evatt opposed the coalition government's bill to dissolve the Communist party when it was before the House of Representatives. His denunciation of some of its provisions astonished both his friends and his enemies by its passion and feeling.

Then the ALP ordered parliamentarians to cease opposing the bill which was passed.

The Communist party and several unions challenged the act in the high court and Dr. Evatt accepted a brief to appear for some of the unions.

He won the case and a few weeks later successfully defeated the Communist miners' president, Idris Williams, against a summons for contempt of court arising out of the one-day-a-week coal stoppages.

For this, Dr. Evatt was bitterly attacked both inside and outside the Labor party.

BOUND TO ACCEPT
He claimed that as a barrister he was bound to accept a brief offered to him unless there were overwhelming reasons why he should refuse it.

A brilliant university student and one of Australia's leading constitutional lawyers, Dr. Evatt in 1930 was appointed by the Scullion Labor government to the high court at the age of 36—without precedent in Australia. In 1940 he resigned to contest the apparently safe anti-Labor seat of Barton. He won the riding and in 1941, when the Fadden government was overthrown, became an attorney-general and minister of external affairs in the first Curtin government.

While a minister, he worked hard and made his staff work hard. It is said of him that wherever he went he left a trail of ulcers, heart attacks and nervous breakdowns.

He fought hard at the San Francisco conference in 1945 for the rights of small powers in the projected United Nations and against the veto power which was given to the Big Five.

He was elected president of the U.N. General Assembly for 1948-49.

At home he threw himself into the bank-nationalization controversy, helped draft the legislation and helped his leader J. B. Chifley, pilot it through parliament.

Then when the Act was challenged he donned wig and gown again and argued—unsuccessfully—its constitutionality before the high court and the privy council.

IN FRENCH UNDERGROUND
Mrs. Nancy Wake is 38, plump, vital, fun-loving but deadly serious; an idealist who can be realistic; a one-time Sunday School teacher who has broken a man's neck in the course of duty.

For her work with the French underground movement during the Second World War she was decorated with the George Medal, the Croix de Guerre with palms, the Medaille de la Resistance and the Medal of Freedom with bronze palm.

She was born in Wellington, N.Z., and came to Australia when she was six months old. In 1937

Marriage of Quintuplets

CALLANDER, Ont.—The Dionne quintuplets, within the next few years, will break up as a family unit.

This is predicted by Oliva Dionne, father of the famous sisters, as they approach their seventeenth birthday. He emphasizes that their choice of future careers is being left to the girls themselves, but he considers it likely that one or more of the quintuplets will marry.

"Is it not the ambition of all French-Canadian parents to see their children happily and suitably married?" he asked. To be eligible to marry his daughters, he does not consider it necessary that their suitors be wealthy. "Character is far more important than money. But first, they must make my daughters happy. Love is the most important thing of all, because you cannot buy love."

The quintuplets are already going out on dates with boys their own age from the nearby town although these dates and parties are still carefully chaperoned. The girls themselves have expressed the opinion that the proper time for marriage is the age of twenty—only three years away.

Mr. Dionne also referred to the suggestion that one or more of the quintuplets might enter a convent. He said he would not object to this and that he was trying to provide them with an education which would make them capable, self-reliant, and able to take their place in whatever future they choose for themselves.

Mrs. Wake's first political assignment was a tough one. She was given the Liberal party's endorsement to contest Barton against Dr. Evatt, in 1949.

It looked an impossible task. She was a political novice, unknown, standing against a man with an international reputation.

But Nancy Wake is a fighter she worked hard.

When the final votes were counted the figures were: Evatt, 21,681; Wake, 19,037; majority for Evatt, 2,644.

After the election Mrs. Wake, who has resumed her maiden name by deed poll, got a job as special liaison officer for legacy.

To Celebrate Independence

At last night's Sons of Norway business meeting arrangements were made to hold the annual celebration of Norwegian Independence Day on Friday, May 18.

Cancellation of the regular Friday night dance this week was decided by the members in view of the Prince Rupert Fishermen's Co-operative's farewell dance for fishermen to be held in the Civic Centre. Mike Colusi, who usually plays for the Sons of Norway, will provide accordion music for the farewell dance.

Arrival of the 70 new chairs for the S.O.N. Hall was noted. They will be installed in the hall immediately.

Nils Gundersen, president of the lodge, was in the chair. Refreshments were served by Mrs. G. Gustafson and her committee.

Alaska Interest In Rupert Road

JUNEAU—Alaskans have received with interest the announcement of the reopening of the Skeena Highway, leading eastward from Prince Rupert to Prince George and thence south. Not a few southeastern Alaska motorists are planning to ship their cars to Prince Rupert this year and thence drive south. Others plan travelling in the reverse direction and shipping their cars north from Prince Rupert.

ALASKA DISCOVERER

Alaska was discovered in 1741 by Vitus Bering, a Dane employed by Russia who had explored Bering Strait a few years previously.

Engineer is Reclassified

D. C. Stewart, known as city engineer, last night was reclassified by city council as "superintendent of work," following a complaint of the Association of Provincial Engineers that Stewart was being described as "city engineer."

Ald. George Casey, public works chairman, said Stewart "should be directed to apply himself" in acquiring a certificate of competency within the next six months.

After the chairman of the board of works had made certain statements Ald. H. S. Whalen accused Ald. Casey of "badgering."

"I think it is totally unfair to set a time limit like that for Mr. Stewart to qualify. If you can show me a qualified engineer who is doing a better job than Stewart has done then I'll listen to your so-called reason."

Stewart asked to speak for himself, said that he had applied for intermediate examinations to be written next February. He had acquired an "extensive library," he said and had been studying regularly. He felt sure he would "pass the coming exams."

Ald. T. B. Black thought the whole matter should have been discussed between members of the works committee, to which it was finally referred.

Stewart was first appointed acting engineer two years ago and six months later was appointed to take the place of a former city engineer, thus failing into the title, it was explained.

"Actually, we are not nearly paying for the services of a professional engineer," Ald. Black added.

Parks Board In Session

A delegation of Arthur Murray and P. J. Foman was appointed at last week's meeting of the Parks Board. They met with the city council last night to discuss the completion of the old exhibition building demolition at Acropolis Hill in Roosevelt Park.

Chairman of the Parks Board meeting held in the Civic Centre was Ald. George Casey.

Stewart Office Moved to Rupert

Provincial public works department affairs for Atlin District will in future be directly administered from Prince Rupert in conjunction with the divisional headquarters in the court house here under L. E. Smith, divisional engineer.

Mr. Smith explained that the new plan will speed up communications between headquarters and the district, since it has been necessary to use Prince Rupert as the outlet for Atlin, there being no other link from Stewart.

Records and the office staff of Jack Storie, chief clerk, and Violet Manojlovich, stenographer, arrived here from Stewart on the Camosun today.

District superintendent in charge will be D. S. Love, who will continue to work out of this office," said Mr. Smith.

Coalition Not Breaking Now

Liberals and Conservatives will definitely remain in the coalition government during the life of current Legislature although there is every indication that the next time the government goes to the country they will go as separate parties.

Session of the advisory council of the British Columbia Liberal Association has been called for June 18 by President H. G. T. Perry. Mr. McRae, as a vice-president of the provincial party, will be in attendance.

new progress

When the "Imperial Leduc" steamed into Sarnia this week she made important news for all Canadians.

The ship herself was news—the world's largest lake tanker on her maiden voyage. Even greater news was her cargo—the first shipment of Alberta oil into the Ontario market.

This new market for western crude will increase Canada's oil production by almost a half. It means a further saving in foreign exchange; 40 million dollars available if needed for other purposes. It gives the Prairies a bigger market in the east and, consequently, the east a bigger market in the Prairies. Above all, it makes Canada surer of oil supplies in peace or war.

Arrival of the "Imperial Leduc" at Sarnia began a new chapter in the story of Canada's economic development—a nation more prosperous and more secure.
