Yankees Win Pennant—Giants, Brooklyn Tied

NEW YORK (CP)—New York Yankees clinched third straight American League pennant yesterday by sweeping a double-header from Boston. The Reynold's dramatic, no-hit, no-run game opener.

Time at Philadelphia, the Yankees came from behind to win 3 to 2 on a home run by the Yankees. The Yankees then won the second game of the season. That 8 to 0 victory gave the Yankees of no less than a tie. Then they won the third game of the season. The Yankees won the championship by beating the Red Sox in the second game of the season.

Packer Sinks, $100,000 Loss

Crew Safe, But 15,000 Pounds Fish Lost

Battered against rocks by gale force winds, a 90-foot, 48-ton packer sank early Thursday morning in Beaver Passage, 50 miles south of Prince Rupert, and this morning was considered a total loss of $100,000.

The Nelson Bros.-owned packer, West Coast, sank quickly after running aground on the rocky shores but Capt. John Hartlin and four crew members reached shore safely. A radio call for help had been dispatched.

The packer was loaded with 15,000 fish and was returning to Port Edward.

A fleet of company boats were dispatched immediately for assistance and returned with the men this morning. Harry Robbins, manager of Nelson Bros. plant at Port Edward, said the vessel was a total loss.

Halibut and Seiner Washington Lost North Of Here—Crew Escapes

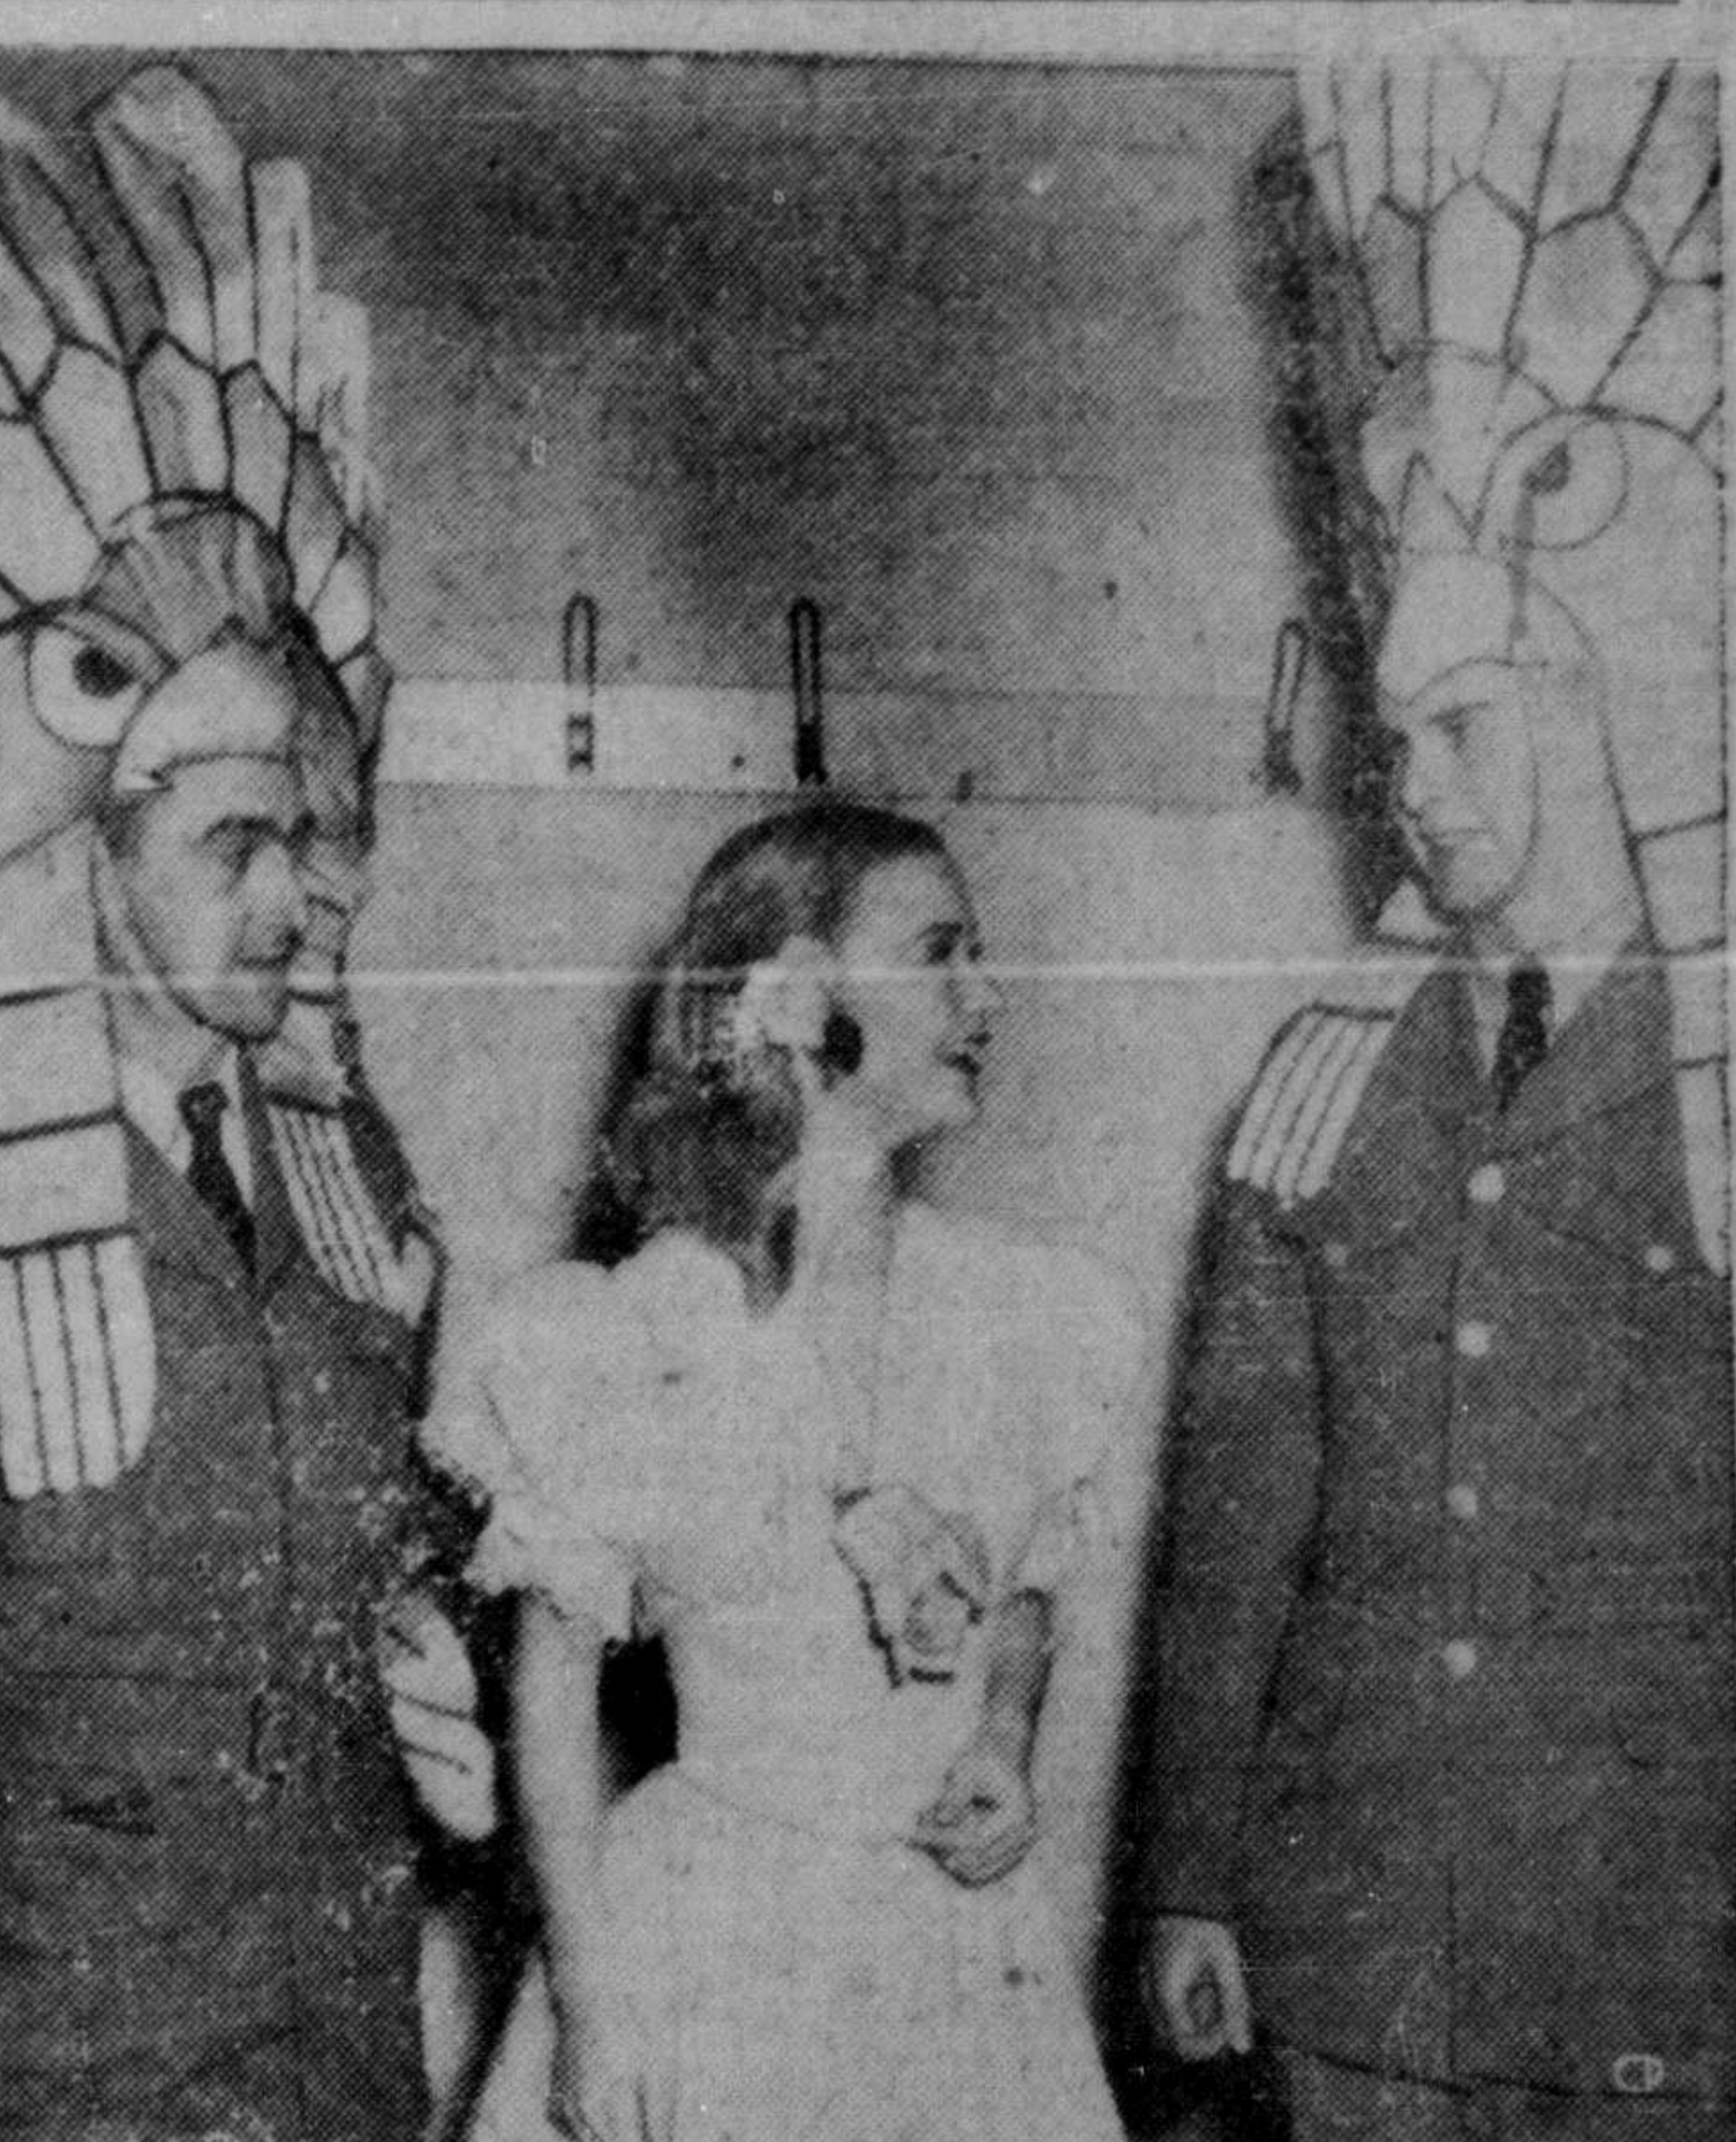

The well known Ketchikan fishing vessel Washington, which operated for many years as a halibut and more recently has been engaged in seining, struck Kailday Island off the Alaska Panhandle tip at 11:20 last night and sank.

She was on her way back to Ketchikan after having spent a few days in Prince Rupert on private business.

Capt. Ray Barber and crew of five escaped in a dinghy and made shore. Later they were picked up and taken into Ketchikan this morning.

The stranding occurred when vision was obscured during a fine drizzle.

The Washington had been fishing for Libby, McNeill and Libby.

Revolt is Put Down

BUENOS AIRES—The revolt against the Peron government has been put down, it was announced by a broadcast.

Within minutes after the broadcast, a crowd began to assemble in front of the huge Plaza Mayo balcony from which Peron has frequently spoken to supporters. Workers were urged to assemble in the square in front of the president's Casa Rosada offices.

The broadcast came after handbills with revolutionary messages were dropped over the business district of the capital by low-flying planes.

Only yesterday President Peron announced the Army would police the forthcoming election in which he has been named candidate to succeed himself.

The state radio announced later in the day that the revolt against President Peron had failed.

Great Commonwealth Economic Plan Announced

LONDON (CP)—Great Britain yesterday announced a vast commonwealth plan to boost raw material output for defence industries and to help its economy stand the strain of rearmament.

The scheme, affecting nearly 500,000,000 persons, was announced by the Treasury following secret talks with representatives from the Commonwealth and colonies.

Under the plan each country has agreed to step up its production of raw materials in an effort to raise the standards of living and keep up supplies to industry the world over.

They also hope to avert violent price fluctuations on raw materials and manufactured goods.

Canada will increase the output of iron ore, ferrous metals and basic chemicals. She will also divert more copper to Britain.

WEATHER

(Synopsis)

More than an inch of rain fell on the Northern British Columbia coast in the past twenty-four hours. During the same period amounts on the southern coast were somewhat less, just under an inch on the west coast of Vancouver Island and half an inch on the Lower Mainland. Overnight temperatures ranged from the low forties over most of the interior to the low fifties over much of the coast. Weekend weather will be unsettled with widespread shower activity as moist Pacific air invades all regions of the province.

(Forecast)

North Coast Region—Variable cloudiness and widely scattered showers today and Sunday. Little change in temperature. Winds, southeast (20) in the exposed areas, shifting to southerly tonight, light winds elsewhere. Lows tonight and highs Sunday—at Port Hardy, 45 and 55; Sandspit and Prince Rupert, 40 and 55.

Getting Along Well With Cellulose Co., Union Tells Board

The Pulp and Sulphite Workers' Union, Local 708, has no "quarrel" with their employer, Columbia Cellulose Company Ltd.

So testified George S. Weatherly, union representative, who appeared yesterday before the final sitting here of the five-man public enquiry board investigating the Industrial Conciliation and Arbitration Act.

Mr. Weatherly did not present a brief on behalf of his union, because "we have been working long hours to get the mill rolling, to iron out the bugs," and he didn't have the time to prepare a brief, he said.

Neither did he consider it necessary, "because we have no quarrel with our employer," and, he said, recommendations for changes in the Act had been covered by briefs of sister locals in the south.

He agreed with J. D. McRae, M.L.A. Prince Rupert board member, that on the whole, "Prince Rupert is a very peaceful town" in union matters.

"We've waited a long time for this industry to break, and it finally has—the right way."

"It takes a lot of time and patience to get a big mill like that rolling. I saw it grow up from nothing but bare rock to what it is today—a tremendous accomplishment."

"We have to work and work hard together, all of us, to produce. And if differences arise, as they will, it does sometimes help a lot if the employee and employer reversed positions and saw each other's side of the story. That is the way we intend to operate here."

Mr. Weatherly inferred, however, that the high cost of living here, will have to be taken into consideration in future agreements.

The company, he said, was finding it difficult to fill skilled mechanics' positions because of the high cost of living.

"And the housing situation has been terrible. People have

Max Cameron Dies Suddenly

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Maxwell A. Cameron, B.A., M.A., Ph.D., author of the Cameron report on education in British Columbia, died suddenly today at his summer home at South Beach near Point Roberts, Washington, 25 miles south of Vancouver.

Dr. Cameron was director of education at the University of British Columbia. He lectured at the University Wednesday and again Friday. Then he went to his summer home.

Dr. Cameron was born at North Bay, Ontario, July 2, 1907. He was author of a number of books on education. He received his early education in Regina and Nelson. Before taking the University post, he was principal of Powell River High School.

Wage Boosts At Cellulose

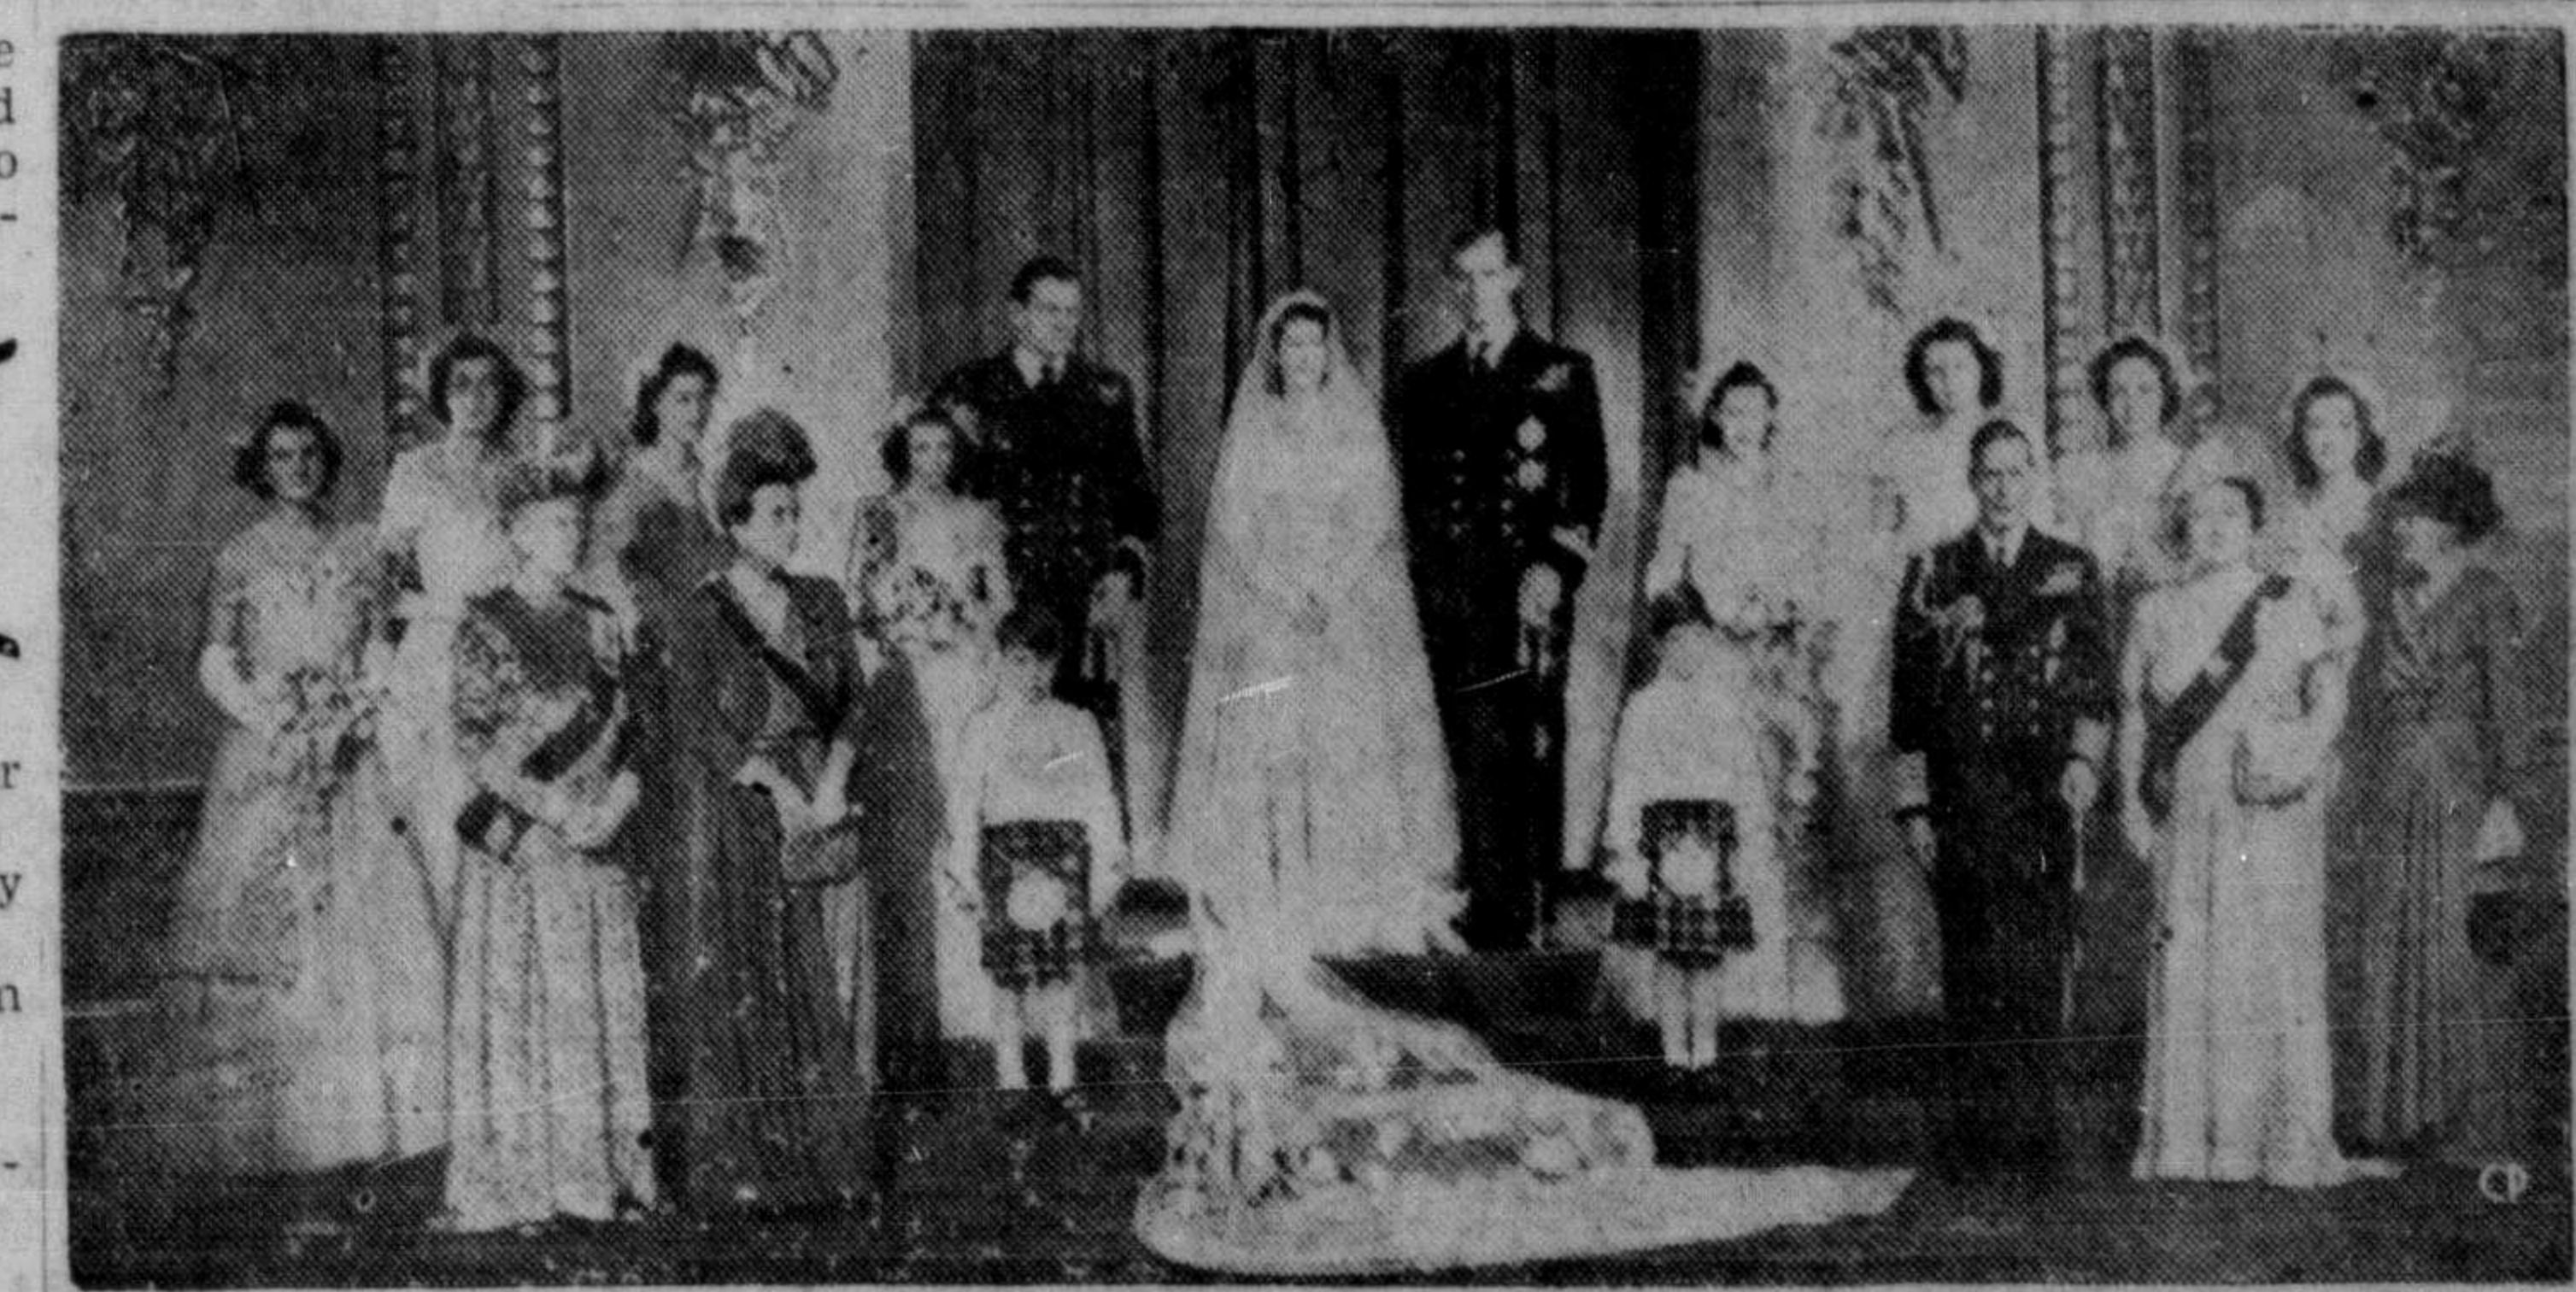

Wage increases of 16½ per cent, with a minimum of 22 cents an hour, are included in the collective bargaining agreement signed this week by Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd., and the Pulp & Sulphite Workers' Union, local 708.

The increases, which raise the base pay at the Columbia Cellulose plant at Watson Island to $1.40 an hour, are retroactive to July 1.

The contract which covers the mill operating staff who are members of the Pulp & Sulphite Workers' Union, will run for one year.

Also included in the new agreement are an increase of one cent an hour in the night differential and provision for a cost of living bonus that will add one cent an hour to the wages for each 1.3 points rise in the cost of living index after June. Wage scales will be adjusted periodically to meet cost of living changes.

Finishing The Product

NATURALLY, we would be very pleased if Celanese Corporation of America could go on and make high alpha cellulose which it is turning out from the big Prince Rupert plant into flake, cellulose acetate, staple fibre and filament yarn but the next best thing is to have it done somewhere else in Western Canada. Therefore, it is interesting to hear that the company's great new Canadian Chemical Co. Ltd. plant at Edmonton, where oil and gas is available, is to carry on with the processing of the pulp produced at Prince Rupert, into such finished products. Of course, the Edmonton plant will, by no means, be able to consume all the pulp produced here and the large bulk of it will go, as originally planned, to the company's chain of plants in the United States. In time, as the Canadian market develops, more and more of the local product will be further finished within Canada.

Announcement of plans for the $50,000,000 plant at Edmonton, says the Vancouver Province, has special significance for Canadians. The paper continues:

Announcement of plans for a $50 million plant at Edmonton by Canadian Chemical Co. Ltd., a subsidiary of Celanese Corporation of America, has special significance for Canadians. In addition to a wide variety of industrial chemicals, the new plant will manufacture cellulose acetate, staple fibre and filament yarn. The fibre and filament yarn will be available to Canadian textile mills for both civilian and defence use and we may look forward to clothing, rugs and cloths that are less expensive and highly durable.

The great significance of the development, however, is the fact that the new plant will not be merely a producer of a raw product which is quickly hustled out of our country for processing elsewhere. It will use 75,000 gallons of petroleum gases per day from Alberta oil fields to fuel its power plants. High alpha cellulose for the operation will be supplied by the Prince Rupert plant of Columbia Cellulose Ltd., another affiliate of the Celanese Corporation.

Canadian workmen will then transform these basic products into valuable industrial chemicals, including formaldehyde for B.C.'s plywood glue market, which will replace imports from the U.S.

From the forest and gas well to the sales counter these operations will be handled by Canadians for Canadians. In this instance we are keeping the whole production line in our own country.

This is something of a milestone in our effort to become a great industrial nation as well as a producer and exporter of raw materials.

FIERY IRISH LASS

LONDON—Less than 24 hours after its opening, the British MP's International Conference on World Government had grown to unexpected proportions. Twenty countries, 14 nations, were represented yesterday and now have spokesmen here today at the first working sessions. British political big guns really boomed. The Mayor of Westminster welcomed the several hundred delegates to Church House, where the British House of Commons sat during wartime.

The Liberal leader, Clement Davies, opened the conference with a skillful, powerful speech urging the strengthening of the UN into a real world conference with Russia and China, if they will sit on equal terms with the members from the free world, but without them if they refuse.

A keen young Conservative, Mr. N. Fisher, stressed the fact that his party was just as advanced on this vital matter as was either of the other two parties.

Gilbert McAllister, for Labor, spoke of the fitting scene of this historic gathering. It was near this very spot, he said, that the British Constitution had been written over the centuries. Now the mother of parliaments was to give birth to the last, best parliament of all, the one which would keep peace over all the nations of mankind.

He also predicted a restored Scottish Parliament to make internal law.

LORD BEVERIDGE SPONSORED the main resolution it proposes, a world government with three branches—parliament, courts and an executive, the last-named to include a world police force under an oath of allegiance to the world constitution.

The document was immediately criticized as being too long and prematurely technical by the venerable British constitutional authority, Lionel Curtis.

After a full day's discussion, it was sent to a select committee for revision.

Canada is well represented on this committee by Senator Byron Horner and Hon. R. E. Sparks, Speaker of the Newfoundland Assembly.

MOST OF THE AFTERNOON speeches were dull and a bit boring, for they were made by people from many lands, who seemed more anxious to get a spot of limelight than they were to carry out the actual work of the conference, which is to plan organization for and by MP's. Frankly, a couple of free publicity-seeking Yanks gave most of us a pain in the neck, in striking contrast with a down-to-earth U.S. Congressman who made one of the most modest and helpful speeches of the day.

Actually, the best speech to date was made by an Irish lass, Miss E. Sinclair from Belfast. By good luck, the two Indian delegates and myself were put with the Irish miss at lunch. She turned out to be a textile union (Continued on page 5)

Editor, Daily News:
It has been drawn to my attention that your report of the hearing of the IC and A Act Inquiry Board being held in Prince Rupert on Thursday stated that A. J. Turner, MLA for Vancouver East, made certain statements and asked questions of J. S. Black concerning a monopoly of labor on its relations to national companies.

Please be advised that this was an error in reporting. The correct name was A. J. McDonnell, MLA for Vancouver Centre. Although the correction was made after a short run of your paper, I would appreciate the printing of this letter in case some of your readers received one of the first few copies.

McBRIDE ST. SIDEWALK
Editor, Daily News:

Just when will the powers that be in this city, take it upon themselves to build a sidewalk on McBride Street between Seventh Avenue and Eighth Avenue East?

Certainly we could tread where a sidewalk must have been, many, many long years ago, but very likely we'd break an ankle during the procedure. Some time ago the road was graded. Now we have piles of jagged rocks lining the right hand side of the road.

Try climbing a steep hill on these obstacles, while at the same time keeping a wary eye on motorists, who take this hill at excessive speed.

Please dear city fathers, don't wait till there's another fatal accident and then act. Do it now while there's still time.

THE OLD CHUM

Federal parliament will sit next month, which means two seasonal indemnities in 1951. However, in a few more months there are a few hundred thousand old fellows who will not be offering any serious criticism, no matter what their politics. Forty dollars a month isn't much but, when anybody is more than seventy, he only has a few friends left. And money, a good big wad, or only a little, is one of them.

Pythons are not dangerous if under 12 feet long, says a museum professor. Be sure to carry a yard stick with you when in the jungle.—St. Thomas Times Journal.

MONTH OF MAGIC

October in Canada is a blameless sort of month, as a rule. Never uncomfortably cool or warm—no insect nuisance—just mellow peacefulness and restful atmosphere. No matter what the future may disclose, Prince and Princess cannot err in visiting the Dominion as the pensive loveliness of October gradually unfolds.

A Vancouver newspaper has increased its price from five to seven cents. Today, as expenses keep climbing, there's just so much that can be done—quit or charge more.

THEN HE SWOONED

The Premier of Iran stood on a chair Thursday and made an emotional speech. Shortly after, he was about to faint, when caught. Britain is reported to have, in and around Iran, numerous troops, 15 warships, planes and—more or less—a quantity of oil. The situation at Iran may not be exactly critical, but it would not take much effort to have it that way.

"Rock of Ages"

(By GRACE HUMPHREYS, Burnaby)

Rev. Augustine M. Toplady was caught in a storm while walking through Burrington Combe, England. He looked around frantically for shelter. Beside the road he saw a cleft running down a mass of rock. In the cleft of rock he was able to find shelter until the storm was over.

As he stood watching the fury of the storm, his thoughts turned to God's protective power. Lying at his feet was a card. He picked it up, and wrote the words of this beautiful hymn upon it.

It has been said of these words: "No other hymn can be named which has laid so broad and firm a grasp upon the English speaking world." The card on which this hymn was originally written is still preserved and can be seen in the United States.

When Prince Consort, Albert of England, was dying, he repeated it constantly. He said, "If, in this hour, I had only my honor and dignities to depend upon, I should be poor indeed."

There is a story told of a Chinese woman who lived in dread of being reincarnated as a dog or cat. Because she hoped to gain enough merit to be born again as man, she performed all

Truman is For Seaway

WASHINGTON (CP)—President Truman said Friday that he would support a proposal for Canada to build the St. Lawrence Seaway if the project cannot be started soon as a joint United States-Canadian development. Truman's position was made known in a joint statement after a conference at which Prime Minister St. Laurent presented Canada's proposal. The statement added that Truman will support Canadian action as a second best if early commencement of a joint development does not prove possible.

Dismissed Once, Pleads Guilty

A Port Edward fisherman Thursday was fined $50 in county court by Judge W. O. Fulton for illegal fishing. The charge had been dismissed July 21 by Stipendiary Magistrate H. F. Glassey, but an appeal was granted to Prosecutor R. M. MacLeod, on behalf of the Fisheries Department.

Alfred Wilson, who pleaded guilty Thursday, first appeared before the stipendiary magistrate on a charge of fishing half an hour before legal fishing time, July 15. Evidence at the time, given by W. A. Strachan, fisheries inspector, said Wilson had been found by him to be fishing at 5:30 p.m. in waters of Marcus Passage.

His net had been in the water at that time, but accused had given a faulty clock as a reason. Six o'clock is legal starting time. A. Bruce Brown was counsel for defence.

The Journalism Club was organized on Wednesday at Booth Memorial High School. This is about the only club which has been formed so far.

The Clubs' representative on the Students' Council says that all clubs could have and should have been formed long ago. Miss Maik says that although progress has been slow as far as getting clubs going, they will be running smoothly once the students sign for the clubs they wish to join, possibly the week after next.

The Students' Council is dissatisfied with the progress being made in the club work and in the formation of the house system in the school.

The Journalism Club, meeting Wednesday, discussed proposed activities. The club will publish the school paper. It is probable that the Journalism Class will put out the Annual. The Journalism Club and the Journalism Class are two different bodies. The class is a regular daily class and meets after school and in club periods.

At the meeting the following officers were elected:
Editor of the paper and President of the Club—Flora Ball
Associate editor and Secretary of the Club—Richard Kilborn
Feature editor—Patty Martin
Girls' sports editor—Barbara Moore
Boys' sports editor—Ross Ingram
Business manager—Roald

Session May Be Postponed

VICTORIA (CP)—A revision of plans for the Royal Visit next month may force postponement of the special session of the British Columbia Legislature. It now appears that October 22 might clash with the visit of the couple.

It is now believed the session may be held immediately after the royal visit.

I WONDER IF YOUR FATHER OR MY FATHER IS THE BEST FIGHTER

LET'S ASK MY FATHER

DADDY CAN YOU BEAT MR. CLUMP FIGHTING?

MR. CLUMP AND I ARE GOOD FRIENDS -- WE WOULDN'T FIGHT

FIGHTING IS STUPID AND COMMON AND NEVER ACCOMPLISHES A GOOD PURPOSE -- SENSIBLE GROWN-UPS DON'T USE VIOLENCE

HE REALLY DIDN'T ANSWER OUR QUESTION, DID HE?

NO -- LET'S GO OVER AND ASK MY FATHER

DADDY, WE WANT YOU TO SETTLE A QUESTION FOR US -- WHO IS THE BEST FIGHTER -- YOU OR MR. BUMSTEAD?

PEACE ON EARTH IS MY MOTTO -- MR. BUMSTEAD AND I ARE GOOD NEIGHBORS -- WE WOULDN'T FIGHT

HE STILL DIDN'T ANSWER OUR QUESTION

WE DON'T WANT YOU TO ACTUALLY FIGHT, DADDY -- WE JUST WANT TO KNOW WHO WOULD WIN IF YOU DID

FNFF

WHAT DID YOUR FATHER MEAN BY "FNFF"?

THAT MEANS "YES" -- HE MEANT HE COULD ACTUALLY BEAT UP YOUR FATHER

WELL, WE FINALLY SETTLED OUR ARGUMENT -- MR. BUMSTEAD ADMITTED HE COULD BEAT YOU UP

HE SAID THAT?

SEE HERE, BUMSTEAD, WHAT DO YOU MEAN BY TELLING PEOPLE YOU CAN BEAT ME UP?

HUH?

VIOLENCE IS A DREADFUL THING -- EXCEPT IN THIS CASE

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

Of course Mr. Champion knows the importance of the time element in connection with the throw-in play. Before surrendering the lead, he knows it is best to strip from the opponent's hands all cards which they could lead back without damage to their side.

Applying that principle to today's hand, Mr. Champion noted how desirable it would be to have Mr. Meek lead a spade or a club up to him. He was able to arrange that—in the following manner:

Mr. Meek opened the king of diamonds. Mr. Abel promptly played the jack and Mr. Champion ducked. Mr. Meek continued with the queen of diamonds and this time Mr. Champion won with the ace.

Now it was clear that Mr. Meek could be thrown in with a third round of diamonds.

But before doing that, Mr. Champion wisely led out three rounds of hearts, stripping Mr. Meek's hand of that suit. On the third heart Mr. Meek discarded the deuce of spades.

At this point Mr. Champion had eight tricks in sight—one spade, four hearts, a diamond and two clubs, or his ninth trick he could finesse the queen of spades or the jack of clubs. Instead he led a diamond and graciously presented the lead to Mr. Meek.

"Ah, too bad," said Mr. Muzzy, who was kibitzing. "Pulled the wrong card, didn't you?"

"Of course not," snapped Mr. Champion. "I never pull the wrong card," he added modestly. "I need a little help from the opponents to make this hand, and I'm going to get it."

Mr. Champion was right. Mr. Meek won the diamond lead and cashed two more tricks in the hand suit. He then had two choices for his next lead, both of them revolting.

He could lead a spade into Mr. Champion's ace-queen or he could lead away from his queen of clubs into the king-jack. He chose the latter and the hand was spread for three no trump.

Prince Rupert Centre Of Outdoor Sportsmen's Paradise

Message To Hunters

PROTECT and respect the life of others. Do not hunt over private lands. Do not hunt from shooting towers or buildings. Do not hunt a farmer's property. Do not hunt accidents. Do not hunt a sportsman. Do not hunt unless you clearly are sure of what you are doing. It may be a doe, or a MAN.

DON'T shoot harmless wild life. Practice on crows, magpies and that ilk. DON'T enter a boat or a car with a loaded firearm. DON'T discharge firearms from an automobile or other vehicle. It is dangerous and against the law. LEAVE A CLEAN CAMP and a clean record. You may want to come back. TAKE WITH YOU a copy of the Game Regulations and comply with them. The laws are for the benefit of all, not a few.

Carries On Through—

Mountains are getting too high for me, Prince Rupert's most in-the Daily News yesterday. "But I've had my share and I worked for them," he philosophized. "I've scaled the most of these mountains, for all of me, but the deer can stay up there from now on." However, son "Bun," a chip off the old block, is carrying on. "Bun" was out the other day and bagged a fine three-point buck. (Continued on page 6)

Bent Pin Or $1,000 Tackle

The ardent trout fisherman has come a long way from the little boy with a bent pin.

If he is a genuine purist in the sport, his tackle may cost thousands of dollars and require special containers to keep it at the right humidity.

To test new flies, for instance, the ardent trout fisherman may get in the bathtub, submerge his head, and see how a floating fly (Continued on page 6)

Could Be Exploited

PRINCE RUPERT nimrods and hunters, and their number is many, know where to go for the unsurpassed fishing and hunting that is to be had in the grand outdoors of this district—and how to get there. They have their boats and their cars. They have their accommodation. They do not require guides to take them into the good fishing waters, the wooded hills and meadows where the deer abound or the swamps and flats where the geese and ducks rise on the wing.

It is different, however, for the visitor who would essay to share in the sport of the outdoors which is so commonplace and taken for granted by the most of us here. There are practically no organized facilities available for them in the way of accommodation, transportation or guiding.

Our hunting and our fishing could be made into a real tourist attraction if these organized facilities were available. Nor would such facilities be used only by the outside tourists who would rapidly hear of them and keep coming in ever-increasing numbers. With the growing industrial population of the area, there should be a large and developing local sheet anchor of patronage.

Some day this opportunity is going to be seen and taken advantage of as a business enterprise. Certainly we have something to offer.

This is, indeed, a sportsman's paradise which we might share with others and accrue pleasure and profit for ourselves in so doing.

Skeena and Bulkley Valleys and Coast Region Best In B.C.

Up in the Skeena Valley country and further around the coast region of Prince Rupert, can be found some of the finest game country in British Columbia.

For the hunter and fisherman alike, there is unlimited scope to pursue his own particular game and one does not have to trek miles in order to reach a suitable spot. Its accessibility is good—a highway leads right into the heart of B.C.'s wilds—a point which the sportsman with limited time available has to consider.

Deer, bear—one which there is a full open season—some goat further back and of course, moose, offer a real prize.

Geese, ducks, grouse of various kinds, and even some pigeons can be called upon to provide a true sportsman's setting. But maybe the hunter has more time on his hands than just for a week-end jaunt. More and more sportsmen are becoming acquainted with that section of country that extends in a broad sweep north of the Cariboo, from the Rockies to the coast. It is in this area of central B.C. that is found the finest game terrain in the country.

Moose, cariboo, deer and bear are here in a setting of rugged beauty that breathes the very essence of the great outdoors. Trips by canoe are possible with very little portaging to do, perhaps the most famous one being the 250 mile circle south from Ootsa Lake district embracing Tweedsmuir Park. Not long will such a trip be possible for part of the country will be entirely changed following flooding by the Alcan project.

Costs 75c But It's Priceless

Two hunters trudged wearily for hours, retracing their steps for many miles. One was searching for a valued pipe he left behind, the other walked beside him in begrudging company. Finally, the two arrived at their last camp and the pipe was located.

"Ah," sighed the smoker, as he lit up. "Am I glad I found you, baby?"

"That pipe must be worth an awful lot," observed the other. "How much did it cost?"

"Seventy-five cents." "What? You mean to tell me it's priceless."

Found Super Fishing At Tlell River

Texas Newspaper Publisher Enthusiastic—Coming Back

Gene Howe, retired newspaper publisher and radio station owner of Amarillo, Texas, who spends the most of his time these days travelling and produces a daily column about his peregrinations for the Amarillo News-Globe, is writing home today to tell the folks that he has found "the only good salmon fly fishing spot on the Pacific Coast." It is none other than Tlell River on the Queen Charlotte Islands.

Howe called at the Daily News office yesterday to see the editor who had been answering the letters he sent inquiring about sport fishing in this area.

It is actually the second year the Lone Star State publisher had been at Tlell but this was the first time he had got around to call at the News office. And he is most enthusiastic—so much so that he's already resolved to come back again next year.

Nineteen cohorts in eighteen days was considered "very satisfactory" fishing by Howe. He used a light fly rod—and caught plenty of fine cutthroats as well.

Howe, who started out as a printer and has spent 51 years of his 65 in the newspaper game in an active way, is the son of the famous Ed. Howe of the Acheson (Kansas) Globe who became celebrated throughout North America as "The Sage of Potato Hill" and was for years the most quoted newspaperman in the United States.

His companions on the trip to the Queen Charlotte Islands were Don Harrington and Ted Houghton and M. T. (Hap) Johnson, oil wealthy ranchers.

They were guests at The Dunes of Mr. and Mrs. John Slagboom. Howe is also writing up Mrs. Slagboom who he describes as "the most efficient woman I have ever known." Such is the tribute after observing how she runs The Dunes. He'll run her picture in the Amarillo News Globe.

Howe's visit to the Islands followed a trip to Powell River where he had gone to see if he could not get a better supply of newsprint, the shortage of which is a continuing bugbear to American newspaper publishers. He arrived in Prince Rupert by plane Thursday and headed homeward from here on last night's train.

Howe was particularly interested in Prince Rupert. Indeed, there is something of a parallel between this place and Amarillo. Celanese Corporation of America, which built the Columbia Cellulose pulp mill here, has started a $25,000,000 acid plant at Pampa, Texas, 45 miles from Amarillo.

In stalking a big trout, he

His casts must be "just right,"

Old Skipper With New Ship—B. C. Steamships Starting Service

Bringing a brand new ship, an old-time captain docked at Prince Rupert for perhaps the thousandth time this week, but he says "things are changing."

Capt. William Gleason, well known to the Prince Rupert waterfront, is in command of the newest addition to the Frank Waterhouse west coast fleet—
the China-coaster type Cassiar.

Formerly plying in the east coast trade, the freighter is a sister ship to the Yukon Princess, owned by CPR but chartered by Waterhouse, and was similarly reconverted for west coast shipping.

One thing that is changing,
says the captain, is the volume of shipping on this coast.

"For instance," he recalls, "five years ago you were lucky to pass a ship on some trips north. Now there are about a dozen ships constantly on the move between Vancouver and Kemano."

Like the rest of northern old-timers, though, Capt. Gleason says wistfully that he would like to see such shipping trade
right up to Prince Rupert.

With its bright new coat of paint, the Cassiar looks more like a passenger ship than like a freighter at first glance, but the Captain says, "she's a good work horse and will look a little different soon."

But closer observation showed that even after a considerable amount of freight—some 100 tons—had been taken from her holds here, the Cassiar still held a big portion for her following ports of call, such as Watson Island, Skeena River canneries and northern mining ports of Stewart and Alice Arm, and Ketchikan and Skagway.

But it was to Kemano that Cassiar carried her main cargo, heavy machinery, construction supplies and food, and according to Capt. Gleason, "they're really on the move down there." Cassiar returns next week from the north to begin the southbound trip.

ANOTHER NEW SERVICE

B.C. Steamships freighter Island Prince, after an absence of five months, was in port yesterday afternoon—a changed vessel indeed. The former steamship, the Island Prince, since last she was seen here, has had a $100,000 renovation job. Now run by new diesels, equipped with hydraulic winches, refrigeration and bulk oil tanks added, she's practically a new ship. Capt. H.
J. C. Terry, general manager,
who came north from Vancouver
by air to meet his vessel here,
boasted with justifiable pride.

Incidentally, B.C. Steamships, taking its share in the effort to meet with the greatly increased cargo traffic on the coast, is instituting a regular weekly freight service north from Vancouver to Kemano Bay, Kitimat and Prince Rupert. Either the Island Prince or the Alaska Prince will sail
from Vancouver each Wednesday night. G. W. Nickerson & Co.
have been appointed local agents.

This week's trip for the Island Prince was something in the nature of a shake-down trial voyage. She picked up some can-ner salmon before heading back to Vancouver today. Capt. W. D.
Owen, formerly master of the Island Ross, is now skipper.

Capt. Terry expressed the hope that cargo for Kemano and Kitimat could be developed southward from here as well as northward from Vancouver. "There seems to me no reason why it shouldn't be possible," he said, adding that the freight rate was less from here. He thought local business people and port enthusiasts should be able to do something towards buying and routing from here. "Why not see Morrison & Knudson (big Alcan contractors) about it?" he suggested.

What has become of the three state's liners that British Columbians saw during the regime of Sir Henry Thornton? No one seems to know definitely. The Prince Henry, the Prince David and the Prince Robert were noble ships. They had size and speed.
Captains, accustomed to smaller vessels, handled them capably
but at first it was with a more than ordinary caution. Once the Second Great War broke out all three were taken over by the navy, and fitted out for the service. One captured an enemy boat off Mexico.

What marine men are pleased to call a super boom for the north coast is actively on the way. For one thing, there's a newly bought steamer now en route to British Columbia.
This is the SS City of Belleville, purchased by Frank Waterhouse & Co., and she will be rushed into service by the company manager, R. L. Solloway. Purchase of the vessel followed a trip east by Capt.
Eric Suffield, marine superintendent, to inspect the vessel.

sent, he said, basic pay was $1.04
an hour, "and there is no other industry in B.C. with such a low basic rate."

A. J. Turner, MLA, Vancouver
East, said:

"We have had evidence that unions don't always want to force the pace of negotiations in order to give the company every chance."

McIntosh agreed promptly that this was the case but Mr. Mc-Donnell broke in: "The union has the choice of pace, then when it goes too slow, they blame the Act."

"But they (the union) could have been misled by actions of the employer," suggested Mr.
Turner.

"The mining industry hasn't been treated fair altogether," said McIntosh. "It's labor is the lowest cost in all industry."

"Are you having trouble in getting men up there?" someone asked.

"No, that's something that's puzzling me. But I think the big attraction could be the board.
At $1.50 a day, the men get very good board."

IF & AW COMPLAINT

Meanwhile, T. E. Parkin, representing the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union, complained that time delay in settlement of fish prices and wage scales was causing fishermen a "good deal of anxiety."

Negotiations were commenced in April, he said, but it was invariably until late June—sometimes July—before anything was settled.

"And by that time it's close to the opening, or after the opening of the fishing season. Fishermen don't want to go out fishing if they don't know what they are going to get."

J. S. Black, president of Trades and Labor Council here, held similar views.

"By the time the carpenters and construction men get settled in their negotiations, the job is in most cases well under way or over." Delay in granting approval or otherwise of certification was also held to blame for the Act, which should have "specific time lapses written into it."

The inquiry board, consisting of five legislative members, left for Prince George last night.
They are: A. J. R. Ash, chairman,
MLA for Saanich; Jack McRae,
MLA, Prince Rupert; Allan J.
McDonnell, MLA, Vancouver
Centre; B. M. MacIntyre, MLA,
McKenzie; A. J. Turner, MLA,
Vancouver East.

Mrs. V. R. Sage, stenographer, is travelling with the group.

Cargoes for Kitimat have quadrupled since May and, by next spring, there is no doubt whatever that the total will be again substantially increased. All in all, 1952 will see the busiest times in the history of the north coast.
The Canadian Pacific, for example, says the weekly shipments of 175 tons going out on the Friday sailings of the Princess Norah will reach as much as 325 tons.

Not very young, she bears in her lined, tired face, the spiritual scars of many battles. But there was a vast flood of kindness back of her determined eyes.
Now and again it broke through like a lit lamp.

When she walked to the platform, there was only one or two polite handclaps. When she came down after the most realistic speech of the day, the now-full-to-overflowing hall gave her an ovation. For she hit straight from the shoulder.

"You MPs have only so much time to organize for peace for all the people or the people will sweep you aside and organize their own."

YET, SHE WAS CONSTRUCT-IVE too. The workers of all the world would support decent world government, she said, if it got right down to business.
The causes of most wars are economic, she said.

I knew after I heard her speak why a hotbed of true blue Orangemen would elect this Catholic Miss to represent them.
