HAROLD RYAN GRANTED NEW TRIAL

Convicted of Murder Gets Reprieve

Court of Appeal Finds That Jury Was Allowed Undue Liberty

VICTORIA (CP)—A native fisherman, Harold Ryan, who was convicted of murder earlier this year, was granted a new trial in Appeal Court here Wednesday on the ground that jury was in a position at the time of the trial to be influenced by the public.

Nanaimo is Threatened

Closure Renewed
Case of New Fire Menace

VICTORIA (CP)—Another forest fire case this year, was Wednesday for Vancouver Island district.

Orchard, deputy minister of forests, said the decision was based on the steadily increasing fire hazards.

Closure affects all logging operations on Vancouver Island and Lower Mainland where loggers are employed. They returned to work only nine days after a closure from July.

While, suburban districts are threatened as Nanaimo is threatened as forest blaze sweeps down Mount Benson. The threat, however, seemed somewhat eased by some change in the weather and as a result of road closures.

Forest and civil defence officials are prepared to evacuate 300 persons from Exmouth, seven miles from the town of Nanaimo.

Additional 150 residents may leave the White Rapids and precautionary measures taken at Harewood, a town of 200 residents.

The fire has destroyed 4,000 feet of timber and is 6 1/2 miles long.

Reach Plane Wreck Today

CAMPBELL RIVER—It will be this afternoon, it is now expected, before a Royal Canadian Air Force land rescue team of seven men will be able to reach the wreckage of an aircraft which was sighted on Sunday by a Pan-American Airways plane on its way from Seattle to Alaska. The wreckage is at an elevation of 4,600 feet on a rugged mountain 25 miles north of Campbell River.

The wreckage is believed to be that of a United States Navy plane which vanished in that area three years ago with nine men aboard.

Americans Fear Third World War

SOUTHAMPTON—Americans, says Anthony Eden, who is back from a month's visit to the United States, are perhaps more fearful about the possibility of a third world war than are the British. This, he ascribes, is partly due to the number of U.S. troops in Korea, and their casualties. Yet, they are just as deeply concerned to keep the peace, as the British are.

Legion Foresees Discrimination

STRATFORD, Ont.—A charge of discrimination has been laid by the Stratford branch of the Canadian Legion. It is alleged that the Federal Government will make a ruling that war veterans may have to forfeit part of their veterans allowances in order to receive the new old age pension.

ON—A Buckingham spokesman said last night, in spite of the continued illness of the King's health, Elizabeth and her husband, Prince Philip, still plan to visit Canada on September 25 for their 10th anniversary.

Verdict of Acquittal

Second manslaughter charge here was dismissed in supreme court assizes today following verdict of not guilty by the jury. Bernard Thomas Kirby had been charged with manslaughter in connection with the death July 16, of Tom Pete, near Evelyn, B.C.

This morning, after crown witnesses were heard yesterday, Defence Counsel Bruce Brown called only one witness—the accused.

Examined by Mr. Brown, Kirby told how he had first come to work for Fred Robertson, a dealer in coal, wood and bottles, in Smithers.

Witness said he drove a truck, and that it was in "back shape."

He told court how on July 16 a man fell from the back of the truck and was killed. The steering column operated with difficulty, he said, and he had notified his employer who had said, "I'll get around to it."

Kirby's story was similar to that of Sam Pete, crown witness testifying yesterday. Mr. Justice J. M. Coady in summing up evidence to the jury, said he could see "very little if any" conflicting evidence in the case.

But Kirby had additional evidence not mentioned by Sam Pete who rode in the truck with him.

Accused said that when the truck left the road as he tried to turn a corner, the loose seat of the cab jammed behind his knees so that he couldn't control the car with his feet.

"I drove between three and four hundred feet off the road before I finally pulled out from the choke and the truck stopped. I looked back and the side boards had fallen off. Tom Pete was laying a ways back between the side boards. He looked dead."

BROTHER'S EVIDENCE
The dead man's brother gave evidence yesterday.

"I went to see Kirby about 9:45 that morning. He was asleep so I woke him up and asked him to buy me two bottles of wine. I gave him three dollars and he said, 'O.K.'"

Sam Pete went on to relate that, after the wine was obtained, the pair drank until "after lunch" and then left for Evelyn, west of Smithers, in a truck Kirby was driving for a Smithers retailer, Fred Robertson.

They were to get a load of wood from Sam Pete's brother. Tom, witness said, and were headed for Evelyn.

They stopped at "the old man's house" in Evelyn and took into the house remaining part of the bottle of wine to give "the old man" a drink.

"You mean your father?" asked Mr. King.

"Yes."

The rest of the Pete family, Sam was told, were out cutting wood "in the bush." There were three sisters, one brother and the mother. Kirby and Pete then left with the truck to where the wood was being cut.

ALL HAD DRINK
"That was about a mile to go. We found them and stopped the truck and took a new bottle of wine and we all had a drink."

"Who all had a drink?" questioned the crown.

"Six of us. My mother, my two sisters—Agnes Ann Mabel—Tom, Kirby and I. Connie—my other sister—went home to cook dinner."

The wood hadn't been ready so "we were going back to town." In the truck were Sam, Mabel and Kirby driving in the front seat. On the flat deck stood Tom, the brother.

"We were doing about 25 to 30 miles an hour when we hit the curve. The front wheels grabbed into the soft gravel and we went off the road. We nearly came back on the road again but we hit a culvert with the front wheel and got knocked off the road again. We hit a big bump—my sister was screaming—and we stopped."

"I looked back and the side-board was off. Tom was off too."

Britain Foresees Conservative Win

Prime Minister Confirms Election Date—Odds Favor Tories 6 to 4

LONDON (CP)—Great Britain will hold its national election October 25, giving Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill, former Prime Minister, his long-awaited chance to make a comeback as leader after six years of socialism. Prime Minister C. R. Attlee gave official news of the election datelast night in a news broadcast.

The London stock market boomed today after the election announcement, presumably in optimism over the prospect of a possible Conservative victory. Early betting favors the Conservatives 6 to 4 to win but the party itself, though confident, is cautious. "Remember the Republicans," it has been suggested.

The Prime Minister said that Parliament, now in recess, will be recalled October 4 and dissolved by Royal Proclamation October 5. The new Parliament will assemble October 31. The King will hold a state opening of Parliament November 6.

The standing of parties in the 625-seat House of Parliament is now:

Labour 313.
Conservatives and allies 297.
Liberals 9.
Independent, one.
Irish Nationalists, two.
Vacant, three.

Labour has an effective majority of six.

Despite his illness, the King had a meeting with Prime Minister Attlee yesterday and this is believed to have set the stage for the general election.

ATTLEE'S OPENING
Prime Minister Attlee opened the Labour Party's campaign for the general election today by telling the nation that it must choose whether it will go backwards with the Conservatives or forward with Labour.

At the same time Winston Churchill and his Conservatives, sensing victory for the Tories in the air, began shaping election strategy.

The Conservatives considered that the developing boom in the stock market in the wake of Attlee's announcement was a good sign for them.

Millions of dollars were added to share values on the London Exchange in a buying spree obviously touched off by the prospect that the Labour government may be ending six years of Socialistic rule.

United States Marines Land By Helicopter in N. Korea

TOKYO (CP)—United States Marines today made a helicopter airborne landing in North Korea. Twelve large helicopters landed fully equipped Marine reinforcements on the crest of a North Korean hill within sight of Communist held positions.

This was the first helicopter combat landing in the Korean war.

The helicopters carried 228 troops and 17,732 pounds of gear to the mountain top.

In Korea—THE COLONEL

"There shouldn't have been any danger from mines, because the battalion's tanks had already been over the road twice" . . . but "The Colonel" and his driver had reckoned without the inefficiency of the Chinese.

By JOCK CARROLL

Of all the soldiers I saw in Korea, the Colonel was the last man I expected to see killed. Not because a battalion commander is not supposed to take risks—but because the Colonel had four rows of ribbons on his chest—the most efficient professional soldier I ever saw.

The only time I ever met him was in a Korean hut he was using as headquarters. I walked in with a transportation problem and he had it solved in two minutes.

"First," he said, "you'll need transport to airfield. My driver will be free in half an hour. That takes care of that. Then you'll want to get on the twelve o'clock courier—I'll see to that right now. Correspondents have a No. 2 priority."

He called one of his officers. "Martin—get Mr. Carroll a reservation on the twelve o'clock plane. Phone Nightingale to have a jeep meet the plane. And when my driver returns from B Echelon, have him wait outside. That's all, thanks."

During this the Colonel had continued, without interruption to write a letter. He brushed aside my thanks.

"No trouble, no trouble. Sit down. Can talk to you while I'm doing these letters. No time will be wasted. Next of kin letters. Sad business. But necessary, necessary. Tell them all the same thing, of course. Your son died bravely in the performance of his duties. The end was quick and merciful. Chaplain present."

The Colonel finished a letter, folded it neatly across the middle, then twice more so that it fitted exactly into the top envelope from the stack at his left hand.

"What else can I do? Dear Mrs. Jones—your son, because he was an inefficient soldier—has just had top of his head blown off."

The Colonel shook his own close-cropped head and began another letter. "No. Would never do. But that's what does it, you know. Nine times out of ten. Inefficiency."

He picked up a casualty report, and read a name off. "Walking along a ridge-line. Sniper. Naturally. How could they miss against the sky? Here's three more. Mortar. Platoon advancing across a rice paddy. Mortar shell bursts in front. They hit the ground. Second mortar shell bursts behind. And they stayed there! Next shell right in the middle. Naturally."

The Colonel looked at me. "You see it? Mortar bracketed them. Then killed them. Simple. They know how mortars work. Only way to handle mortars—ignore them. Keep going. Don't let them get a range."

The Colonel sighed. "Inefficiency. Break a man's heart. Here's two more. Killed by one of our own grenades. Man threw it—didn't shout 'Grenade!' Two of his comrades were standing up. Killed by fragments. Effective at thirty yards, you know. As far as you can throw it. Have to hit ground after you throw it."

The Colonel began writing again. "Interesting thing—these letters. Might make a few notes—give you a story some-

Missing Canadian Plane is Sighted

ANCHORAGE (CP)—What might be the wreckage of the missing Canadian Pacific Airlines Korean air lift plane which vanished July 21 with 38 aboard was spotted ten miles southwest of Kanai Lake on Kanai Peninsula near Seward Wednesday.

Elmendorf Air Force base reported that a Mr. Carey had telephoned from a construction camp that he had spotted wreckage of either a DC-3 or DC-4 at 4,000-foot level in the Kenai Mountains.

The missing air lift plane was a DC-4.

Carey said he had used field glasses in spotting the plane. A short time later he flew over the area in a plane but weather closed in.

A four-man crew has left here by train and will walk in. It is estimated it will take two or three days to reach the scene.

Canadian Club Warned Against Indifference

Christian Democracy and United Nations Must Work if World to be Spared War

The biggest dangers in the world today are selfishness, ignorance and apathy, declared Dr. W. G. Black of Vancouver, liaison officer for British Columbia of the federal Department of Citizenship and Immigration, in speaking before the Women's Canadian Club last night.

Exhorting the practice and support of the true principles of democracy and good citizenship, Dr. Black said that what the world needed was more kindness and generosity, knowledge and participation, interest and identification. The practice of Christian principles he prescribed as being most effective in assuring true democracy and world peace and he appealed for an assuming by every citizen of a sense of responsibility. Dr. Black made an especial plea for welcome and assistance to new citizens from other lands with a sense of tolerance and understanding. He decried any prejudice from the standpoint of race, religion, wealth or class.

It was a large audience which filled the common lounge of the Civic Centre to hear Dr. Black. Mrs. F. E. Anfield, president of the Women's Canadian Club, was in the chair.

Dr. Black recalled that this was by no means his first visit to Prince Rupert. Years ago, while attending University of British Columbia, he had worked at old S. Merville Cannery on the Naas River and had come here for surgical treatment at the hospital. He had met Dr. W. T. Kergin and Rev. Dr. H. R. Grant whom he pointed to as shining examples of good citizenship, the type of which were badly needed at this dangerous time in the world's history.

TOO LITTLE INTEREST
Canada had a population of 14,000,000 people today — one-quarter of whom, he estimated, were apathetic to the matter of citizenship and democracy with another quarter too selfish to come and almost half entirely ignorant.

"Canada, of course, is no worse than any other nation," said the speaker, "but she could be so much better."

The war between righteousness and evil, so apparent today, was nothing new in the world but the threat of war and destruction loomed. "Goodwill and the right life must prevail if the threats of war are to be ended once and for all."

Individuals could not sit back today and say that Canada was a democracy and all was well. There was a lot to fear from totalitarianism. "Democracy," he asserted, "calls for effort and action from all its followers. Every Christian should apply himself to make sure that democracy works to the best effect in Canada. Only by great moral strength and vitality from within could another great war be prevented. If we have real democracy we have fewer fifth columnists, fewer complainers, fewer people just grabbing for themselves."

The speaker called for a greater realization of Canada's important place in the world today. He appealed for the highest principles of citizenship in the various spheres—community, Dominion, Commonwealth of Nations and world.

Turning to the definition and principles of democracy, Dr. Black felt there was much "fuzzy mindedness" on this subject. He set forth as deep fundamental basis principles of democracy: liberty and law, freedom with control, government by the people, of the people, for the people, respect for every person as an individual and not a chattel and, withal, a maximum of freedom compatible with social welfare.

"We Canadians," he asserted, "do not appreciate our freedoms for we have not had to fight for them like some of those people who are coming to us today from other lands."

Democracy also implied an unflinching desire to serve, Dr. Black declared.

Importance of the development of youth along the right lines was also stressed—clear ideas, good knowledge and right attitudes, the ability to be tolerant, kind, generous and co-operative —so that, in their day, they would be peacemakers and not warmakers. The High School level was particularly important for at that time, it appeared, often developed twisting, distortions, prejudices.

Prejudices, the result of wrong influences often from childhood, were a curse of the world.

And, in the matter of prejudices, it was not for the whites to be scornful with superior attitudes of those of other races.

HIS OWN DUTIES

Dr. Black briefly discussed his own duties as a citizenship officer. One of these was working with immigrants, helping them get adjusted in their new homes after their removal from everything they knew and held dear, often under tragic circumstances. He appealed for an open hand of friendship, welcome and interest by Canadians in these new people. Formation of local organizations to receive and assist new citizens was advocated.

The problem of minority groups was also a perplexing one. Singling out the Doukhobors, Dr. Black felt that more knowledge and understanding might be helpful. Such problems also required patience but he felt there was still hope of even the Sons of Freedom eventually becoming good law-abiding citizens.

Then there was the other area of developing citizenship — the mass of the Canadian public. Here he urged the removal of meanness and nastiness. "We have no reason for cultural superiority," he said. "Let us withhold judgment on newcomers but, instead, be tolerant and broadminded. For broadness of understanding, warmhearted tolerance, Dr. Black referred his listeners to the fine example of the British people. There was to be found the principles of real democracy steeped in constitutional tradition."

"Canada," he concluded, "is today a member in good standing of the United Nations, the accepted leader of the medium and smaller nations. If the United Nations does not work, there will be another world war sure as fate. With the three parties behind them, Canadians of education, good judgment and understanding are already giving remarkable leadership in the U.N. councils. Let us as citizens be more aware of our destiny and imbued with the principles of Christian democracy, grasp the opportunity, rise to our destiny and do our part in making the United Nations work."

Discover the magic of Carnation — the milk with water removed. For recipes that call for cream, use undiluted Carnation. Like rich cream, it is heavy enough to whip. And millions prefer Carnation to cream in coffee.

For all milk recipes, dilute Carnation with an equal amount of water. You'll have a smoother, richer-tasting whole milk.

WILD RIDE

The three had walked over to where the side board lay "several yards back" and then, witness said, he saw Tom.

"Tom was lying there. I knew he was dead so I wouldn't touch him or go near him. My sister was screaming."

"How did you know he was dead?" asked Mr. King.

"I could tell he was dead. I couldn't see him breathing."

Then Kirby had said, "we got to report this to police," and they left in the truck for Smithers.

Const. Arnold Zorn, RCMP, said he had received the call from Kirby about the accident and had driven to the scene immediately.

He had arrested Kirby he said, on a charge of "supplying liquor to Indians" for accused had told him of buying liquor for Sam Pete.

STATEMENT
Const. Zorn said he had taken a statement from accused on July 27. It had been a voluntary statement. It had been given before the charge of manslaughter had been laid.

"But I told accused there would be a charge of manslaughter laid against him, and I warned him in the usual manner about the statement."

First statement of accused, heard in court and taken by Const. Zorn was ruled as voluntary by Mr. Justice J. M. Coady in a trial within a trial. Another statement, however, was ruled not admissible as evidence by a second trial within a trial.

Const. Edward Corsan, RCMP, night shift officer at Smithers, said accused had asked to make a statement to him about 10 hours after the accident.

"He was in great emotional upset," said Const. Corsan.

Witness said accused had been charged with supplying liquor, but had been told "someone—the driver of the truck—would be charged with manslaughter."

DENIES STATEMENT

Defence Counsel Brown called accused for testimony in the trial within the trial. Accused said he had not made a voluntary statement, and that he did not know what he was charged with or that he was charged at all when he made the statement.

"The police just grabbed my shoulder and said, 'you go in there' and they put me behind— in the jail."

Mr. Justice Coady ruled the statement was inadmissible because it had been given concerning a different crime than that with which the accused was charged at the time.

Goswami Hoskins, garage operator and mechanic at Smithers, testified that he had examined the truck on request of police and had found it "in terrible condition."

According to Mr. Hoskins, who made a road test, steering was difficult at more than 25 miles per hour, and that the truck would "wander dangerously." Emergency brake didn't work. There was no rear view mirror, boards were missing and instrument panel fell out of place no horn, no signal arm, floor during the road test. Front wheels towed out and general condition of the "whole truck was very poor."

Jaycees to Urge Vote

To Stage Campaign—To Stay With Associated Boards

A campaign to have Prince Rupert citizens "get out and vote" will be the first major project of Junior Chamber of Commerce this year.

President Geoff Hill last night outlined the coming year's program of the Jaycees, at the first meeting following summer recess. A general policy of education in responsibility and leadership will be touched off in the vote campaign.

"What we need first is a good municipal affairs committee which will look after registration of business and individuals for voting in the coming December elections," Mr. Hill said.

Another project is to be an effective traffic and safety campaign, and featured this winter will be a public speaking class.

Future Citizens' Day will again be taken charge of by the Jaycees, it was decided.

Some question had arisen earlier whether or not the Jaycees would remain members of the Associated Boards of Trade of Central B. C.—it was last night unanimously decided that membership would be retained.

"The Associated Boards are doing a great job for our country," said Mr. Hill reporting as a delegate to the convention, "and we should give them our wholehearted support."

Two new committee heads were appointed and an honorary list of officers elected.

Don McDonald was named entertainment chairman; Gerry Lamire, street sign project chairman.

E. T. Applewhite, M.P., was elected honorary president with honorary first vice-president, J. D. McRae, M.L.A., and honorary second vice-president, Ald. H. S. Whalen.

Inaugural dinner-dance is to be held October 6, when installation of officers will be performed. Guest speaker was W. C. R. Jones, mill manager of Columbia Cellulose Co. Ltd., who described historic development of paper and modern methods of paper-making and development of cellulose acetate. The discourse was edifying and highly interesting and not without local significance.

Senior Chamber of Commerce delegate was T. Norton Youngs.

Busy Year for Mission Van

After having operated during the past season through the central interior between Vanderhoof and Prince Rupert, an Anglican Church Sunday School van has been in the city for the past couple of weeks and left today where it will be tied up in garage for the winter.

In charge of the van this year have been Mrs. Evelyn Kennedy of Toronto, a veteran in this form of missionary work, and Mrs. K. E. Vann.

The van specializes in Sunday School work, the missionaries visiting the children and taking them Sunday School literature. One of the features of the work this year was the holding of a delightful three-week camp at Fraser Lake for twenty children of the deanery.

Mrs. Vann is a newcomer to the van work. She arrived in Canada last December from Australia where she was a school teacher. Now that the van work is over for the season, Mrs. Vann has accepted an appointment with the circulation department of the Daily News and will start her work with a tour of the central interior.

Battleground Is Now Farmed

By JACK HENRY

CLEVES, Germany, (Reuters)—Reclaimed forest land where British and Canadian troops fought their most savage battles against the Germans in the Second World War is today being successfully farmed by Germans expelled from East Europe.

In the northwest corner of the Reichswald, a large forest which skirts part of the German-Dutch border, three new agricultural communities are rising rapidly on cleared forest land which still bears the scars of fierce fighting between crack Canadian-British infantry and Hitler's Elite SS troops during the final months of the war.

A grim reminder of heavy Allied losses in this area is the cemetery containing the graves of 7,800 dead within the boundaries of the new farming district.

The German settlers, some of whom have been tilling the land in this area for more than a year, frequently stand in quiet homage on the roadway facing the long lines of white crosses.

The three agricultural settlements represent one of the most impressive achievements of German initiative in post-war land reform and in resettling refugees from the East.

The North Rhine-Westphalian government has spent between 9,000,000 and 10,000,000 marks since 1948 on the project.

In this period, 380 families numbering 2,000 persons have been established in new homes with a future in a modernized German agriculture.

Today, hundreds of near-white concrete homes with red-tiled roofs stand in orderly rows along new roads surrounded by cultivated land.

Calls Dancing Morals Threat

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa.—Modern dancing is "heathen" in character and stands condemned in the light of Christian ethics, says a memorandum drawn up by a commission of the Dutch Reformed Church of the Orange Free State.

Stimulation of sex has become the dominant factor in the modern concept of dancing, the commission reported. Set up by the church to combat social evils, it listed reasons why the members thought it was their sacred duty to tell the world why they so strongly disapproved of the "popular heathen dances."

The commission found no justification for modern dancing in the Scriptures. The few examples of dancing in the Bible were of persons who skipped around alone, or performed rhythmic movements together with others to express sacred joy and gratefulness to God.

Originally the same thing had happened in heathen religious services, but debasement intervened and the rituals became exhibitions of the body and led to abominable sinfulness.

The commission reported that the mixed dance made it appear in Greece between men of polluted morals and women of doubtful character.

HEATHEN CONNECTION

"Historically the modern mixed dance has its connection with the heathen dances," the commission stated. "In the intense struggle between light and darkness, dancing stands involuntarily on the side of the latter."

The commission estimated that 75 per cent of divorces began on dance floors.

"It is small wonder that the serious, devoted Christian and even many non-Christians who value purity, are not found dancing."

The church, the memorandum said, was not trying to negate the social instincts. It only denied that dancing was necessary for social life.

The commission's report was presented to the General Synodical of the Church, which REUNION IN NORTH BAY — Six years ago Margaret Ecker Francois was the Canadian Press correspondent and the only woman reporter when Germany signed its surrender in the red school house at Reims. heard an address by the rector of the University of the Free State, Prof. H. Van Der Merwe Scholtz.

Every effort, he said, was being made by the university council to discourage dancing. They could not prevent the holding of dances, but they tried to encourage other forms of recreation.

"There is no university in South Africa where dancing is not allowed," he said.

"The behavior of our students at dances compares favorably with that of students at other universities."

British Racing Different

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Some Things
Different to Canadians and Americans

LONDON (C)—Horse racing in Britain is as quaint and charming as a 16th century village, and there are some things about it that baffle fans from Canada and the United States.

One of the most exasperating features of the sport is the lack of a broadcast commentary during the race. From the moment the horses leave the starting gate (instead of a starting gate) until they flash past the post, the complete silence reigns. Only the experts capable of distinguishing between cerise and brown at a mile's distance can follow the race all the way.

Occasionally some brazen American, ignoring a centuries-old tradition, asks why the horses don't start moving with the experts. The latest to do so is Bell, a cowboy from California whose two-year-old colt City is one of the fastest in training.

City started tut-tut from the old guard, Bell recently suggested that race-calling might be a good idea.

I don't like the constant chatter you hear at some American tracks," Bell said in an interview, "but I'm sure it would help if the leading horses were called four or five times during the race."

Only about 50 per cent of the people in the crowd have binoculars and only about 10 per cent of those know the colors well enough and are sufficiently practiced to be able to read the race."

INSTANT BACKSTRETCH

Bell might have added that when field glasses might just as well be left at home, sometimes in many British tracks, the backstretch is far enough away to be out of sight. Sometimes the race is hidden from view by natural obstacles and sometimes the jockeys' way is practically behind the grandstand.

Public facilities are also skimpy by North American standards. "Over there we cater more for the public," says Bell. "Over here the horses come first."

Some of Bell's opinions are likely to be heard again. When Windy City, an Irish-bred son of the not-so-fashionable sire Windham, has never been defeated, winning his races by distances ranging from four to 10 lengths. His next appearance will be in the Prix d'Arenberg, at Chantilly, Paris, early in October. Windy City was bred by Col. H. C. Alexander, brother of the Governor-General of Canada.

Graziano Is Winner

DETROIT (C)—Roughhouse Jack Graziano Wednesday night topped Tony Janiro with only seven seconds of their scheduled 10 round televised battle remaining.

Roughie's smashing victory after a slow start put him in line for a shot at the middleweight crown which he once held.

Graziano outweighed his 154 1/4 pound foe by six pounds.

SPORT SHORTS

British hops soared as T. O. M. Hopworth's Endeavor, the British challenger, won her second successive race against Harold Vandenberg's Rainbow in the American Cup yachting series 17 years ago off Rhode Island. But Rainbow won the next four to retain the trophy which the U. S. defeated successfully again in 1937.

Also whipped Whirlaway by a winner in the "Dream Race" between the two great colts for a $250,000 prize at Pawtucket, R. I., nine years ago today. The three-year-old Alsat won by less than a nose in a photo finish, both covering the 1 3-16 miles course in 1:12.2-5.

Financing New Plant

Sum of $43,000,000
Being Raised by Celanese
For Edmonton

MONTREAL—Public offering within Canada for $43,000,000 of mortgage bonds of Canadian Chemical Company Limited, an affiliate of Celanese Corporation of America, which is now erecting a large petro-chemical plant at Edmonton, is being made by Nesbitt, Thomson & Company Limited, and Wood Gundy Company Ltd.

The issue consists of $31,000,000 first mortgage sinking fund bonds, 4 1/4 per cent, series A, maturing in 1969 and $12,000,000 general mortgage sinking fund bonds, 5 1/4 per cent, series A, due in 1971. The first mortgage bonds are offered at $98.50 and accrued interest to yield 4.87 per cent, and the general mortgage bond at $99.00 and accrued interest to yield 5.33 per cent.

Proceeds of the sale of the two issues of the bonds will be used to provide the funds required to defray the cost of erecting the Canadian Chemical Company Limited plant estimated at $54,600,000.

The sinking fund in respect of the first mortgage bonds becomes operative in 1954 and provides for the retirement of $1,000,000 principal amount of the bonds in that year and $2,000,000 annually from 1955 to 1963. The sinking fund for the general mortgage bond provides for the annual retirement of $700,000 principal amount of bonds in each of the years 1955 to 1970.

Upon completion of the financing outstanding capitalization of Canadian Chemical Co. Ltd. will consist of the two issues of mortgage bonds; $10,000,000 of $10.00 par preferred stock, 5 per cent series and $1,000,000 shares of no par common stock.

Celanese Corporation of America has subscribed and paid $5,000,000.00 for 500,000 common shares of Canadian Chemical Company Ltd. and has agreed to subscribe an additional $15,000,000.00 for 1,000,000 preferred shares, 500,000 common stock.

PLANT AT EDMONTON

The plant site of about 433 acres just east of Edmonton is now being developed and construction is under way on several buildings. Orders have been placed for the major pieces of machinery and equipment and for building materials.

While there is no formal system of priorities in Canada, the project is proceeding with the concurrence of the Department of Defence production and is regarded as an important contribution to the defense potential in Canada.

A variety of industrial organic chemicals will be produced by a process based on the oxidation of hydro-carbon (liquefied petroleum gases). The process will produce organic chemicals, including acetaldehyde and formaldehyde, methanol, acetone, propylene glycol, normal propylene, butyl alcohol and various solvent mixtures. The liquefied petroleum gases will be purchased from three different sources.

Acetic acid will be combined with wood pulp to form cellulose acetate in a processing section designed for a production rate of 25,000,000 lbs annually. This

"Maggie" Has New Record

Mark Made for Flying Training During Mediterranean Cruise

ON BOARD HMCS MAGNIFICENT, AT SEA OFF MALTA—HMCS Magnificent (Commodore K. V. Adams) is the proud possessor of a new record for flying training in the Royal Canadian Navy—one she is confident will stand comparison with the best any other navy can produce.

The record—1,016 hours in the air—was set by the 30th Carrier Air Group (Lieut.-Cdr. Richard E. Bartlett) during the month of August, while en route to and while exercising in the Mediterranean.

The group is two squadrons, 871 Sea Fury squadron (Lieut. W. D. Munro) and 881 Avenger squadron (Lieut.-Cdr. J. N. Donaldson). Together most of the 1,016 hours during the latter half of the month in exercises off Malta.

The Magnificent's flying record is especially creditable because the ship spent the first six days of the month in harbor and during this time no flying was done.

The bare fact that the Avengers and Sea Furies of 30 Carrier Air Group flew more than 1,000 hours tells only part of the story. Of real significance is the extent of training carried out during those hours in the air.

The emphasis has been on anti-submarine operations. The greater part of 881 Squadron's time has been devoted to anti-submarine work, searching for and "destroying" two Royal Navy submarines which have been operating in company Instrument and cloud flying and navigation exercises have rounded out their training.

The Sea Fury fighters of 871 Squadron have flown on interception exercises, have acted as a carrier air patrol for the protection of the fleet and have successfully intercepted and broken up "enemy aircraft" attacks. The Magnificent's new flying record was established only through the combined efforts of all departments. All hands shared in the achievement.

THE EXPERTS Say...

By KAY REX
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Fall Fashions — "Heavens to Betsy," said grandma as she took her first look at New York's fall fashions. "They're the same 'hints I wore when I was a girl!'"

She pointed a trembling finger toward the waist "clinchers,"—neat and laced contraptions calculated to draw the most ample waist into line.

She eyed the ornately designed belts and noted the velvet trim on suit-collars and cuffs. Even on gloves.

"Fancy that," she said. "Just the way we used to wear them."

There were the same rustling multi-colored petticoats and full pretty skirts.

Even the hats—with ostrich plumes dripping from the crown—and shoes—with French heels and strap effects—served to convince grandma that the styles of 50 years ago have come back to haunt her.

Whether scarlet was an approved color in grandma's day is a page from another book. Certainly 1951 pretties are using it to advantage.

New York stores have windows filled with hats in pink, poppy, carmine—any red you would care to name.

Buy a red hat—the brightest you can find—put a shining clip on it, and you will be able to hold your head up in the best of fashion circles.

Last autumn's most talked-about color—orange—also is showing in dress trims and hats. However, for day-to-day wear, black still holds the floor. Grey also is at the top of the list.

Hosiery Caution—The hosiery manufacturers wonder if their customers know that heel panels are an optical illusion. The high tailored panel, they say, is an ankle flatterer.

One-half to three-quarters of an inch into the reinforced top of your stocking—that's how far your garter should bite. Never garter below this double thick hem.

Tips for longer wear:
1. Soften hands with lotion before putting on nylons—then take time to roll the stocking leg down to the toe before slipping it on the foot.

2. Garter stockings while sitting down or while the knee is bent—to allow for knee action.

3. Buy two or more pairs of a shade at a time—then you'll always have an extra stocking to match into a pair.

4. Small snags sometimes can be rubbed out with a soft eraser.

ray.. Reflects and Reminisces

LEISURE TIME

Mac Reynolds tells about stopping at Banff, where maid servants have maid servants, and life in a baronial hotel amid the mountains casts long purple shadows across the pocketbook. Guests include many rich Americans with ulcers whose three minute eggs must be boiled four and a half minutes because of altitude. Some must be getting along in years for the band leader is so often requested to play "Silver Threads Among the Gold."

From an engagement announcement in the Stamford (Ct) Advocate: "The bedding will take place in Paris in July."

ON THE WAY
Formal announcement of a British general election in Oct.

—If you're careful.

5. Suds nylon in warm water and with any mild soap. Squeeze—don't rub or twist. To speed drying, roll nylons briefly into a soft towel before hanging.

For Moist Hands—A new chalk has become available for women whose hurried hands become formula in cake form, shaped moist while sewing. It is a special size of your palm. When you rub your hand over the chalk just enough comes off to dry up the moisture. It will not soil the work.

ober is made and the general impression is that the people are in the mood for one, although doubtless exceptions will be found. Premier Attlee has by this time become used to the thin edge of being out of office. A majority of three or four is getting to be old stuff. The campaign should be brimming with interest.

Prices are rising so fast that a dollar saved is fifty cents lost is what some are saying.

A tourist party, representative of the Buffalo Evening News, arrived Wednesday on the Prince George. Mr. and Mrs. D. Peudot are included with the visitors, they being personally identified with News. The party of 120 proceeded East by train last evening.

Cariboo "Trail" Is Showing Here

Rugged action and spectacular beauty of the outdoors enhanced a theme of more than usual local interest in "The Cariboo Trail" which is being featured this Friday and Saturday at the Totem Theatre.

Randolph Scott enacts the leading role, that of a cattle driver in a campaign against gold exploiters. The theme is reported to be of precise historical accuracy.

A history of the area, of its mid-nineteenth century struggle between cattle and gold, told against scenic backgrounds filmed in color, precedes the title of the film itself.

Victor Jory plays the part of the gold-greedy villain, contrasting the resolute proud figure of Scott.

George (Gabby) Hayes plays the part of Scott's henchman "Grizzly."

Karin Booth plays the feminine lead with Mary Stuart, charming newcomer to the screen in the secondary role.

Lee Tung Foo, as the Chinese cook, turns in a good bit of acting.

Donation Exemption Up

Those interested in the raising of funds for charitable causes are pointing to a change in the corporation tax set-up whereby larger donations may be made this year to such causes at the same net cost last year.
Net cost of a $500 charitable donation by a corporation last year was $302. The $198 difference represents the "tax saving," which was equal to 39.6 per cent.
This year due to taxation changes a corporation may make a contribution of $611 at the same net cost of $302. This is due to the increase by legislation of the "tax saving" to a rate of 50.6 per cent.
For larger amounts the increase is proportionate. For instance, the net cost of a $10,000 contribution last year was $6,040, after a "tax saving" of $3,960. This year for the same net cost of $6,040 a contribution of $12,226 may be made, the "tax saving" amounting to 6186.
This favorable change might be borne in mind when considering making donations.
Without any additional net cost a corporation may increase its contribution by 22 per cent.
This news will be as satisfactory to the prospective contributors as it will be to the collectors.
It means not only that corporations can make the same net contribution as they did last year, but the "tax saving" concession can act as incentive for them to raise their eyesights in determining the amount of their contributions. They will have the satisfaction that the effectiveness of their charitable contribution dollar is really enhanced by 22 per cent.

The New Weariness

A NEW kind of weariness is developing these days. After extensive studies psychiatrists have reached the conclusion that our complex times have produced this new fatigue. When mild it is called nervous fatigue—when serious, nervous exhaustion. At the bottom of all such fatigue is, essentially, boredom, worry, resentment, unhappiness.
Fatigue can stem from physical causes, so before jumping to conclusions have a physical examination, it is advised.
However, if the doctor finds no flaws and still you're tired and indifferent, there's a good chance it's your fault. You've lost interest in life, let some of it frighten you, let some anxiety get you down.
But don't despair.
Some doctors say that merely discovering what aches us and facing it can make tiredness disappear. Others think it not so simple. Fatigued people must learn to balance work with absorbing outside interests, to take an interest in everyone they meet, to keep their minds lively.
The cure for non-combat fatigue is not rest—it is action!

HOSPITAL FINANCES

Editor,
Daily News:
In reply to J. D. Tucker's letter re BCHIS, Mr. Tucker may be substantially correct in his alleged statements attributed to Dr. Hershey but the facts are slightly different concerning the local situation. "Hospital Insurance Act," which came into force Jan. 1, 1949, and subsequent amendments are quite clear in their interpretation as to "Capital" and "Operating" responsibility. Similarly "Upkeep" and "Depreciation" are clearly defined.
Originally a depreciation allowance was provided as part of BCHIS but early in 1950 this was withdrawn and a substitute maintenance allowance of 10c per adult patient day provided for. The amount in Prince Rupert's case is approximately $220 per year—obviously inadequate for anything but minimum normal upkeep such as painting and repairs.
While it may be contended that BCHIS did take over an operating unit in PRGH, the heating plant at that time was practically worn out and beyond hope of any satisfactory mending or repair. In use for several years and designed for less than half our present requirements, no amount of maintenance could bring the plant up to today's need. It might even be charged that money has been wasted in trying to do this already and to continue would be about as satisfactory as putting paint on a 1920 half-ton truck and expecting it to haul a ton.
Payment of BCHIS does not, as Mr. Tucker says, include allowance for replacement of new equipment but only for maintenance of that already in existence. Now Prince Rupert must have new equipment and Prince Rupert citizens are responsible equally with BCHIS for their share of the cost.
Mr. Tucker's interest is commendable and I hope he will find it possible to join and support the local Hospital Association in its efforts.

As I See It

Labor Right 2 to 1

HERE are three items in the news which suggest to me that Canadians should do some thinking:
Hon. C. D. Howe has arrived at Geneva with a strong Canadian delegation all set to block a U.S. attempt to have Japan admitted to GATT (General Agreement on Trade and Tariffs). C. F. report says "Fear in Canada is that if Japan is made a member of GATT she may be able to offer goods on the Canadian market at far lower prices than now prevailing, and thus seriously injure Canadian industry."
C. H. Millard of the United Steelworkers says it is nonsense for the government to advise more production to beat inflation when warehouses are bulging with goods that can't be sold. He cites the importation of 75,000 USA made refrigerators in the first six months of 1951 "while Canadian firms can't sell the ones they have made."
B. C. loggers, who have been made idle all summer, due to the dry weather and consequent fire hazard, are advised by some union leaders not to work overtime—even at premium rates of pay.
HERE are three cases where it seems to me labor leaders are twice right and once wrong. It seems to me downright nonsense for union leaders to advise loggers not to work overtime for a few weeks when the whole economy of B.C. may be crippled for months to come for lack of logs.
Apart altogether from the fact that the loggers' families need the extra money to make up for the long layoff, due to the fire hazard—the woodworking mills also desperately need the logs to get back onto full time. Moreover, there is a strong probability that B.C. will suffer from a fuel shortage this winter, due to sawdust shortage—itsself a by-product of the long woods' closure.

No question arises here of the right length for regular working week. The long dry spell has created a general emergency.

MR. MILLARD seems to me to be absolutely right in his point about the refrigerators.
For the Prime Minister to tell the people of Canada "boost production" is simply not good enough. The cold truth is that the people of Canada can't even buy back the factory products which they themselves have produced. This is partly due to the refusal of the government to put in across-the-board controls, as we had in the Hitler war. Hence most families have to spend their whole income on groceries and rents—and have next-to-nothing left over for other products.
But it is partly due to refusal of "industry"—that is the business leaders at the top—to face the facts of life. They are trying to beat the old law of supply and demand, (which they claim deeply to revere). Although their warehouses ARE chuck full of unsold goods, they do not lower the prices to the point where the goods will move.
The 75,000 Made-in-U.S.A. refrigerators which flooded into our market came in because the business men south of the border are smart enough to unload while the unloading is good.
MR. HOWE'S job at Geneva brings Canada down to earth, after all the plain poppycock

Kidnapping In Russia

talked about the San Francisco Peace Treaty with Japan.
It seems to me we should adopt two policies with regard to goods from Japan. Where they compete foods or goods produced in Canada we should protect our own fair-cost standards. But in the vast field where they do not so compete—let them, all in—the cheaper the better.
The more we can divert trade from the U.S.A. to Japan, and other countries, the better. For in that way we cut down our far-too heavy adverse balance of trade with Uncle Sam.

Training Of Future Queen Less Formal

By ALAN HARVEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

LONDON (CP) — Elizabeth Alexandra Mary Windsor is a princess in the modern manner. Almost from infancy, her training and education have been influenced by a 20th-century concept that members of the Royal Family should enjoy greater freedom and informality.

One incident illustrates the new approach. On one of the Victory tours in 1945, Princess Elizabeth, then 15, whispered a few words to her father, threw a scarf over her head and with sister Margaret left the balcony of Buckingham Palace to mingle freely with the happy crowds.

It is even said the sisters joined in the sport of knocking off hats—something that would have been a sensation in Queen Victoria's day.

But the human touch has not been wanting in Elizabeth's training. There has been no lack of emphasis on her responsibilities. The possibility that she might one day succeed to the throne has been recognized from the very first days of her father's coronation. Even before that the Duchess of York, soon to become Queen Elizabeth, sought to instill in her daughter a sense of the duties demanded of royalty.

EDUCATED PRIVATELY

Her studies covered a wide range. As Louis Wulff writes in the book, "Queen of Tomorrow," she was never "forced precociously in a hothouse of royal learning, nor circumscribed in her studies and entertainment when she grew older."

Elizabeth's first lessons came at her mother's knee in a nursery on Piccadilly. When she reached school age it was decided she should be educated privately. For years she kept regular school hours in an upstairs room of the Piccadilly residence, studying under Marion (Crawley) Crawford, a graduate of Edinburgh University who became one of the Princess's closest friends.

Her favorite subjects were history, literature and languages. She dabbled in arithmetic and algebra. She became fluent in French and enjoyed the works of Moliere, Racine and Corneille. One of her early favorites was Alphonse Daudet's "Lettres de Mon Moulin."

But for the Second World War Elizabeth probably would have been the first British Princess to go into residence at a university. Instead it was decided to entrust her advanced studies to Sir Henry Marten, provost of Eton College. Her curriculum covered such relatively abstruse subjects as the theory and law of land tenure and the history of British agriculture. Controversial questions were not shirked and among other things Elizabeth received instruction on the French problem in Canada.

WAR-TIME ACTIVITIES

Elizabeth sought few special privileges. During the war, she registered at the labor exchange for pre-service training and at 18 insisted on joining the Auxiliary Territorial Service, although the King had directed she should not be called up compulsorily. Her course of training qualified her as a driver of heavy army trucks.

Before she even came of age an Act of Parliament stipulated that she would become regent of Great Britain in event of her father's disablement and that she would act as one of five Counsellors of State, who discharge the sovereign's functions when he is absent from the realm.

One of her first major public duties was Nov. 11, 1945, when as representative of the youth of the Commonwealth she placed a wreath on the cenotaph in Whitehall. Two years later, on her 21st birthday, she recognized the extent of her duties in a moving speech dedicating herself to the service of the peoples of the Commonwealth.

As a child Elizabeth was quickly aware of her royal status. On daily drives through Hyde Park, she precociously waved to cheering crowds on the streets. As

Church Urges Sex Discipline

LAFAYETTE, Indiana — "We definitely feel that when a proper program of Christian education is provided in sex, marriage and family life, the divorce rate will be lowered," said a report of the National Conference of U.S. Methodist Youth here. The report was adopted.

"Sex, as God gave it to us," the report went on, "is sacred. It should be understood that when a person makes a Christian decision he does not lose his sex passions. But it should also be understood that there must be full possession of all essential discipline."

Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Schellenberger from Washington, D.C., were in the city, accompanying the Buffalo Evening News party yesterday. Mr. Schellenberger is connected with the Northern Pacific Railway.

early as her fourth birthday she took the salute from the Scots Guards. But her grandmother, now Queen Mother Mary, soon pricked the bubble of Elizabeth's self-esteem. When the child wanted to leave a public function, insisting that a crowd outside was waiting to see her, Queen Mary sent Elizabeth out the back way and bundled her off home in a taxi.

...HOUSEKEEPING...

MEAT STRETCHING PROFITABLE NOW THAT PRICES ARE SO HIGH

A few years ago, when rationing was strictly in force, most Canadian housewives learned how to stretch meat. Today they can put those well-learned lessons to good use again. Although meat is not rationed, every pound has to be stretched as far as possible because it is a costly item. Home economists know that it is very difficult to plan meals without meat and so they feel that Mrs. Homemaker should put forth a special effort to make the most of the meat which her budget allows her. They say that one of the most important points in making the most of meat is to know how to buy meat. Often the cuts of meat which are not so well-known and consequently not so much in demand, are excellent buys. Every homemaker should start now to try to become acquainted with all the cuts of meat not just the few which she is accustomed to buying. Any cut when properly prepared and served, may be flavorful and attractive.

meat. If dumplings are added, additional servings will be gained.

Bread is another excellent stretcher for meat. Homemakers may often serve creamed meat on toast or sliced meat on bread with gravy. These hot sandwiches are a meal in themselves. When a bread stuffing is added to Swiss steak, round steak, breast of veal or shoulder of lamb, a very tasty and appetizing dish results; but most important of all the meat, with the addition of the stuffing, should serve at least two or three more people. The addition of cereals to meat is another way to extend it. Oatmeal added to hamburger makes an interesting meat loaf and, of course, rice served with stews and curries assists in stretching the meat budget.

Meat may also be combined with the pastes, that is noodles, spaghetti or macaroni. Spaghetti with meat balls is of course a favourite in many families, but when served with diced liver and tomato sauce is just as flavorful and colorful.

Pastry or biscuit mixes are also invaluable meat extenders. When stews, meat pies and so on are topped with biscuit or pastry crust, they are not only attractive but the number of servings they furnish is increased.

Blackwood on Bridge

By Easley Blackwood

"I would have made that hand without all the fancy business," remarked Mr. Muzzy, who never misses a chance to catch his chief tormentor, Mr. Champion, in an error.

"That may be true," sneered Mr. Champion. "But with all the different distributions of the diamond suit, I would have had one more chance to make six-odd than you would have had."

As usual, Mr. Champion was right. Here is what happened. Mr. Muzzy opened the ten of clubs and Mr. Champion won in his own hand with the queen. He thought the situation over for a moment and then made the starting play of the ace of diamonds. He then entered dummy with the ace of hearts and led a second diamond. Mr. Abel played the nine and the jack in the closed hand and won. Mr. Muzzy showed out, discarding a small heart. Now dummy was entered again with the ace of clubs and a third diamond led. This time Mr. Abel went up with the king but that was his side's last trick.

SLAM IMPORTANT

Mr. Champion made his ace of diamonds play on this reasoning. In the first place he was trying for twelve tricks, not thirteen. The extra trick, if it could be made, was insignificant in value compared to the score for making the vulnerable small slam. Every safety measure had to be taken, then, to insure the winning of 12 tricks.

Mr. Champion figured if the opponents' diamonds were divided 3-2 he had absolutely nothing to worry about. He could always get off with only one diamond loser. If four diamonds, to the king were on his left, then he was probably down one and his play of the suit made no difference. However, there was one adverse holding where his play made the difference between defeat and victory. That was the case where Mr. Muzzy had the singleton king of diamonds.

Here, if Mr. Champion took the diamond finesse on the first round, Mr. Muzzy would win with the king—and Mr. Abel would still have another diamond stopper with the 10-9-8. It was to guard against this contingency that Mr. Champion slapped down the ace of diamonds at trick two.

There's a profitable lesson here. Before finessing, make sure that this play increases rather than decreases your chance for success.

Jasper Ends Fine Season

JASPER—Jasper Park Lodge yesterday closed after its greatest season with more guests during the summer than any previous year.

"Never before have we had such a steady arrival of tourists as we did this year," declared Robert Sommerville, general manager for CNR hotels who was in Jasper for the closing of the season. "The large majority of our visitors were from the United States and they all went home enthusiastic publicity agents for the Canadian Rockies."

"The fishing was good throughout the season and, of course, the scenery was recorded in miles of motion picture film and thousands of individual negatives. The 22nd annual Totem Pole golf tournament was a very great success. It is unfortunate that we must restrict the entry to 185 players but after all there are only so many hours of daylight in the mountains. Maligne Lake, the scenic gem of the Rockies was visited by larger numbers than ever."

"To close our season we had to extend the original dates to take care of more than 700 members of the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company from Boston and the Northwest Aviation council of more than two hundred. It was a great season, particularly for the American visitors," said Mr. Sommerville.

Jet Fight In Korea

UNITED STATES EIGHTH ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN KOREA (AP)—Swift Allied jets shot down one Russian-type MIG-5 jet and damaged five in three swirling air battles over north-west Korea Wednesday.

At least 112 jets were engaged in fights flashing from 30,000 feet down to tree top level.

These were the first jet fights in five days.

Murky weather caused curtailment of jet activity over Yangu. Communist troops forced Allied defenders off a commanding hill in the "Heartbreak Ridge" sector.

Yangu is eight miles north of Parallel 38 and 35 miles inland from the Korean east coast.

Urges Uniforms For Schoolgirls

NANAIMO (AP)—High school girls should dress in some kind of uniform, Trustee Bruce Armstrong believes.

It would tend to keep their minds off the opposite sex, help them apply themselves more to their studies, but above all would be welcomed as an economy move by their parents, he said.

Making his suggestion "off the record" he received so much encouragement from the board that his statement was made public. Public reaction, however, is sought before the board will formally deal with the proposal.

Armstrong said two parents had spoken to him about it and he has discussed it with several others, all of whom endorsed the plan. At present, he said, girls have to vie with one another in matters of dress. Those unable to have enough changes got inferiority complexes.

Trustee C. A. Kelly, Lantzville, fused to vote on such a plan, fused to vote on such a plan. Supervising Principal Jack Litch came into the meeting as the discussion ended.

"Don't be silly," was his muttered comment.
