An Old Soldier Interviews a New—South Africa and Korea

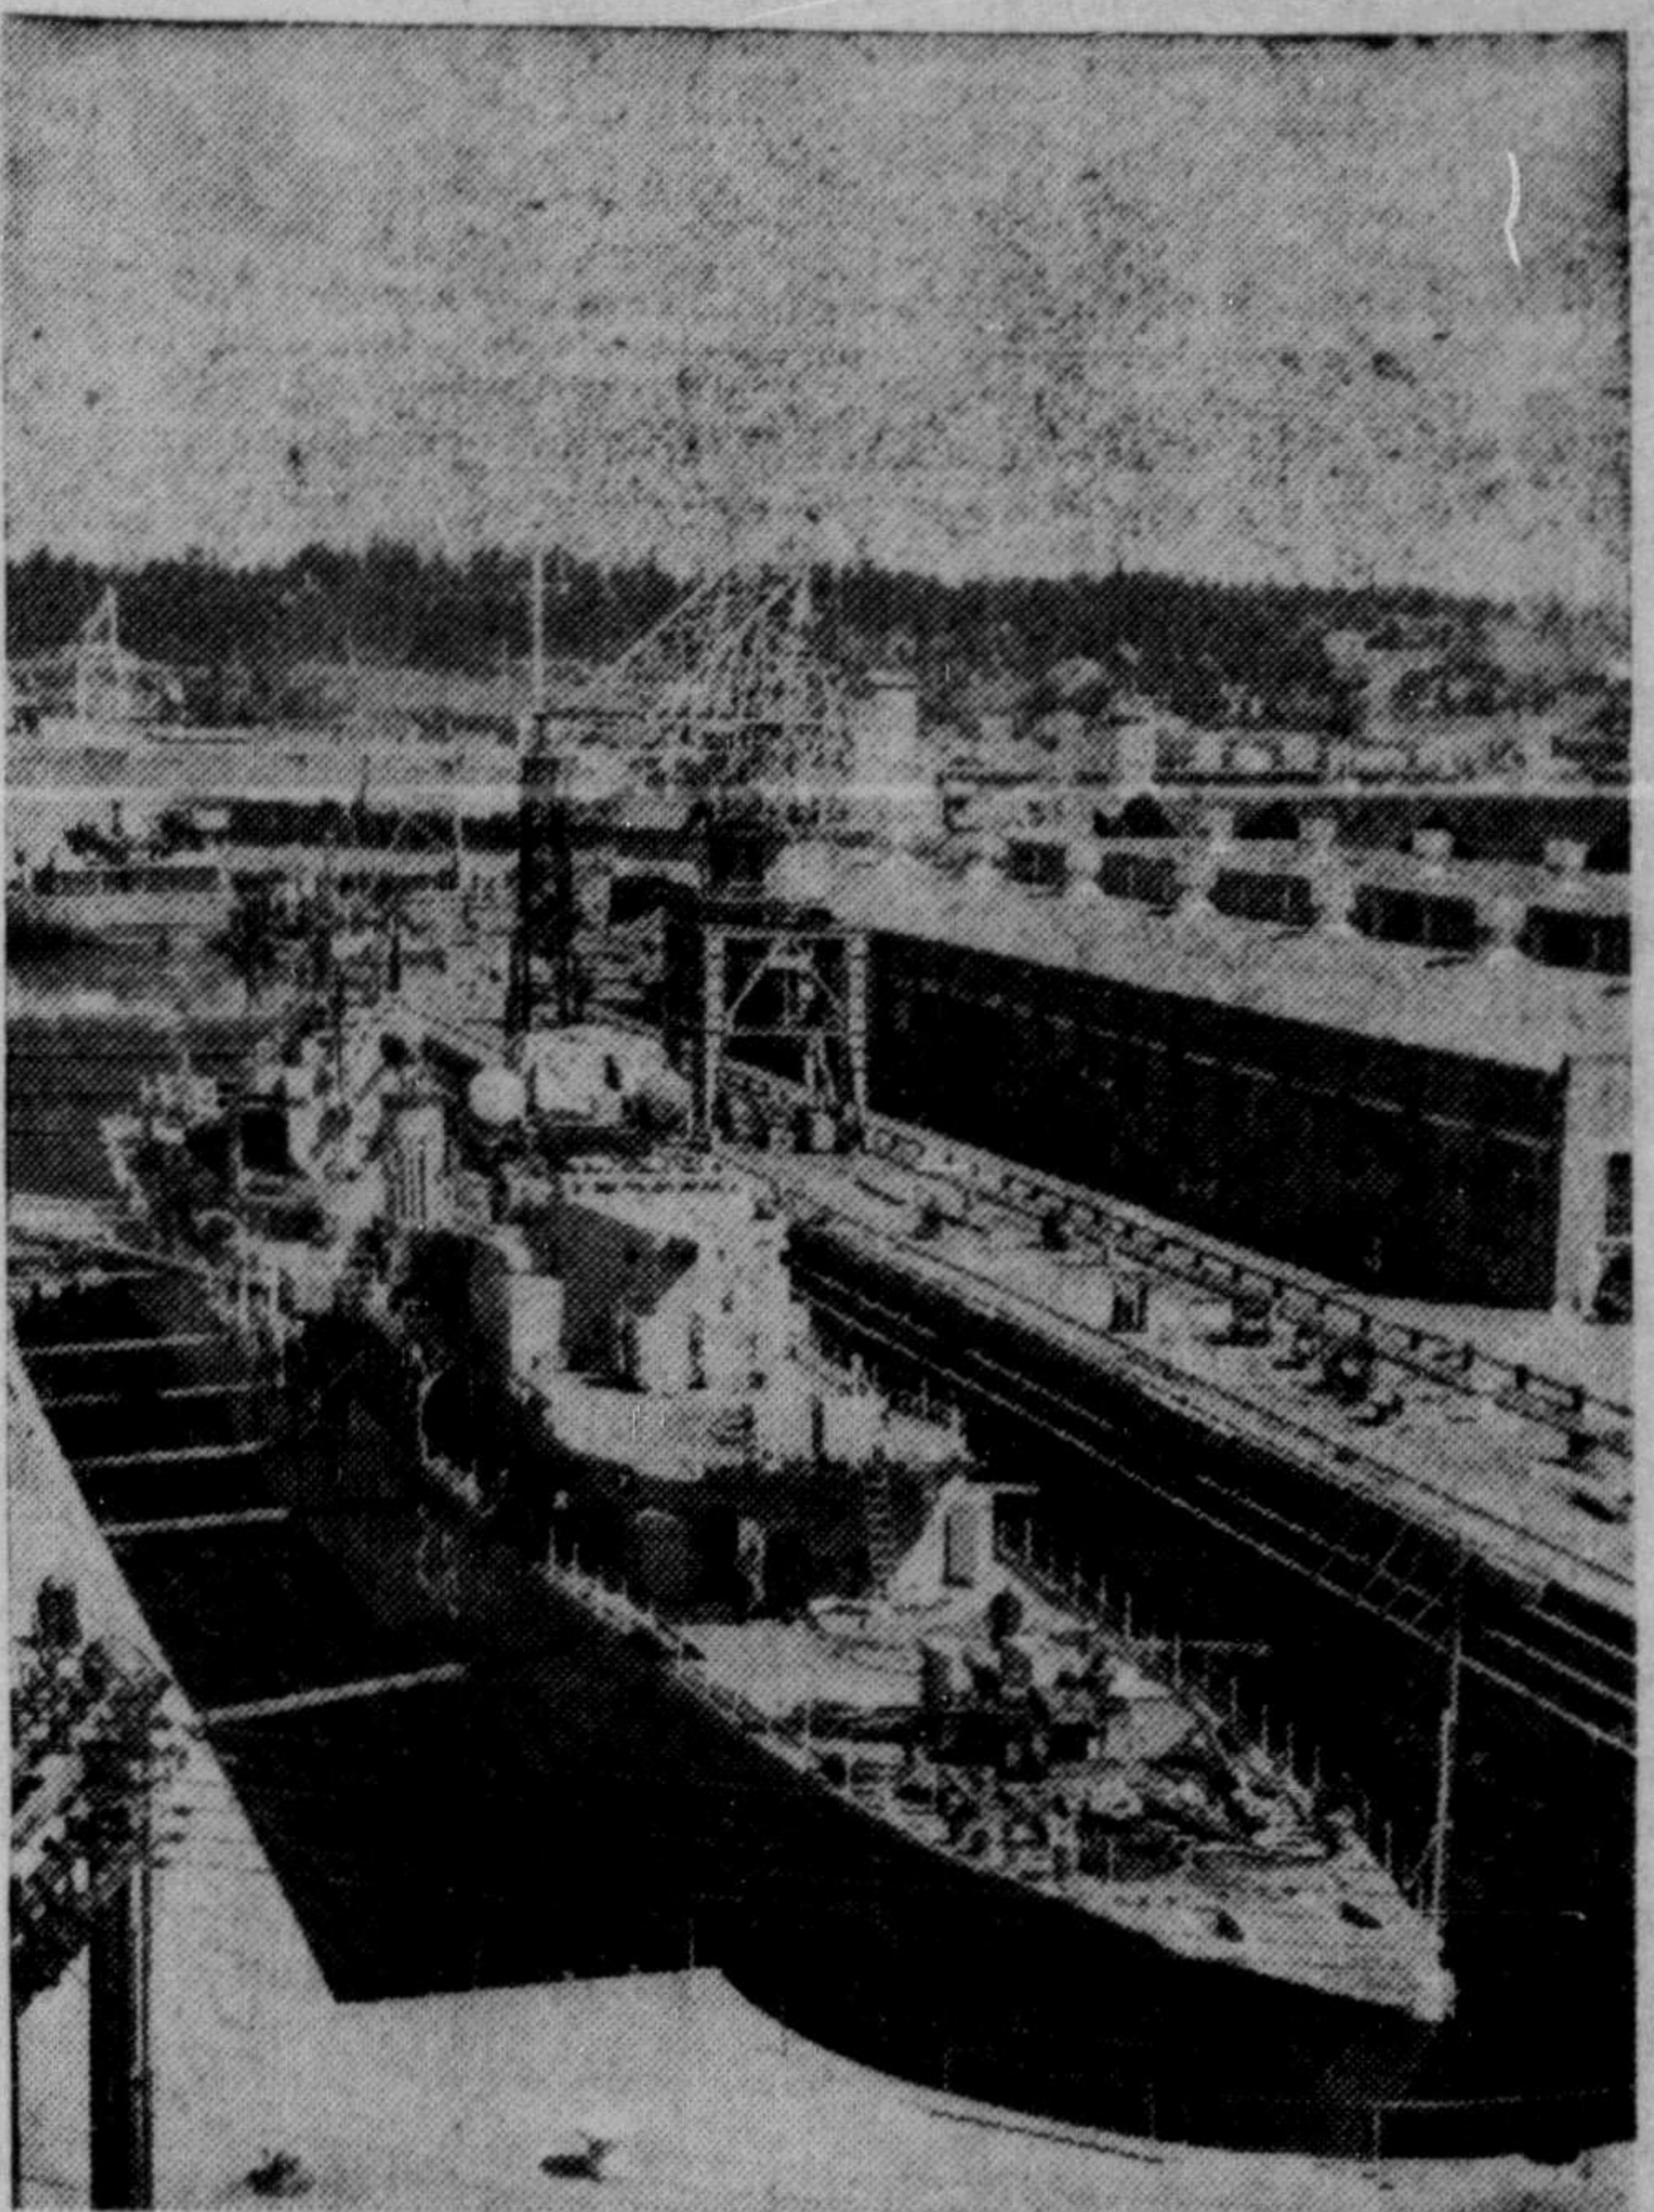

(Cpl. Ken Johnston, son of Col. and Mrs. S. D. Johnston, is the first Prince Rupert soldier to return home from active service in Korea with the Princess Patricia's. He is interviewed here by W. J. Raymond, a veteran of four wars ago—the South African campaign.)

It was then he joined the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry. He will be ten days in the city after which he will return to Vancouver. Just what his future movements will be he cannot at this time say. He flew north.

One of Prince Rupert's well known young men, he is welcomed by many friends.

He had plenty of memorable experiences across the Pacific, and has a valuable collection of souvenirs and reminders of a land so unlike Canada and her way of life.

UNDER CONTROL
Around the turn of the century, Japan defeated China in war. Since then, the Koreans have had little use for Japanese although it cannot be denied that Korea, under Japanese occupancy or control, has seen a measure of progress or modernized conditions practically unknown before. This included coal

Victoria Day

IN THESE DAYS of the new Canadianism, it is fitting that a couple of days at least a year should be devoted to the Commonwealth theme and the old Empire tradition. Today is Empire Day when Prince Rupert, like other cities in the Dominion, with esteem and affection pays special attention and tribute to the British tradition and precept. Tomorrow is Victoria Day when the memory of the great British queen is once again honored. They are something in the nature of national Mother's Days to be observed voluntarily and spontaneously. Canada, although completely autonomous now and with little but the formal and sentimental connections still remaining, still respects and believes her origins and all the glory and honor which they imply.

There will always be a Britain in the Canadian make-up no matter what the years and the ever-changing international relationships may bring, so it is well that we again take time out to remember and celebrate the occasion which today and tomorrow mark.

WHO CAN HE BE?

"Who controls Alaska," somebody remarks, "controls the world." There is a suspicion that an old fellow residing somewhere away up north, not so far from the Baltic, has an idea like this.

Nearly every man who can recall a boyhood spent mainly in the country thinks of his first experience with a public holiday as a trout fishing trip. It's May 24th, of course. Somewhere convenient — also of course — are brooks and a few ponds, or a lake. The boy will have next to no money, which is just as well. He cuts his own rod, digs his own bait and takes along the same line and hook he used last time. And as for a $7.50 or $10 basket in which to stow the catch, he does without. He strings the trout on any old branch. A pebble can serve for a sinker. Yet, it's been a swell day. Perhaps every boy is not like this one but thousands are — or have been — and back home he's a hundred per cent happy and healthy. Just previously, he'd also been hungry.

The housing problem in Canada remains a vexing one. Of course, one could perhaps solve it the hard way. Mr. St. Laurent did. He made himself Prime Minister first. And the new residence is a dandy.

Tons of what is called mail matter continue to pass from coast to coast and in between. Newspapers and letters, of course, are of real importance and must be handled and incidentally are subjected to higher costs. But there's also a mass of stuff adding its weight and labor to the department. How much of it is ever read, or even opened? Sounds like waste.

A shipment of eggs from Holland, was received in eastern Canada last March. Yet, Canadian poultry has usually managed to meet all demands. And now comes word from Holland that a consignment of fresh strawberries will soon be sent. How about cream?

SPEAKING OF HALIBUT
A halibut weighing between 150 and 200 pounds was caught off Alberni last week. Believe it or not the people along that part of the west coast refused to consider it an ordinary incident. "What?" exclaimed Jimmy Bacon, up in Prince Rupert, when someone told him about it. "You tell me there was excitement?" He gave an evil snort and grinned again. "There have been several big ones in Rupeht, so far this season. Only they ranged around three hundred or so. Excitement? My eye!"

GERMANY IS BACK

HANOVER, GERMANY.—It is two years since my wife and I were in Germany before. At that time I reported this great paradox:

The cities still lay in almost complete ruins, especially in the north. But beneath those ruins, or behind them, or otherwise out of sight, amazing industrial production was going on.

Today, in 1951, the production is in full blast and plain sight. Within a few blocks of this hotel, in a single day, I have seen more good merchandise, of all kinds, than I have seen for years past in any country I have visited. There is more of everything for sale here, even than in Switzerland. Moreover, what there is for sale is of such high standards that I doubt there is another country in the world which could compete with it, on a price and quality basis. It's better than is selling in Canada.

HERE IN GERMANY YOU SEE not only all the thousand-and-one things which Germany herself produces, but you see an abundance of imported articles.

The windows here are chock full of the luscious ham and other meats which the poor old British have not seen for years — and which, in fact, whole families of young British children have never seen. There is no ration system — you can buy whatever you can pay for. And the people are buying and paying for plenty. I saw them buying everything from bananas, dates, pineapples and other tropical imports, to motorcycles, sewing machines and combination radio-phonographs.

WHEN WE ENTERED GERMANY—this time from the south — and travelled for hours before we saw a single trace of war damage. I said to myself, "Well, after all, only a few places in the south really got blasted."

But now, here in the heart of the industrial north, the cities which, even two years ago, were an indescribable mess of rubble, are well on the way to being rebuilt. Of course, in a great city like Hanover—which I believe was the second or third worst bombed city in Germany—there are still hundreds of ugly shells of old ruined buildings. Some of the busiest shopping blocks still have no concrete sidewalks.

But whereas two years ago the Germans had hardly made a move to rebuild their own cities, today they are well on the way to completion of the job, with German skill and German thoroughness.

SO THE QUESTION FOR 1951

about Germany is not will she make an industrial comeback, but where her industrial comeback will take her?

I never felt I could understand German thought processes and I don't feel I understand them now.

I just can't understand how their fool leaders ever led them away as those leaders did—first, the Kaiser and the class of which he was the crest-piece; and then Hitler, and the most ruthless but efficient gang of thugs in the history of the human race.

But why the Germans ever went marching down that road which led them, and all the rest of us to ruin, I wouldn't know. For, in time of peace, they were plainly beating the pants of all their foreign business competitors before 1914—just as they were again before 1939—and just as they will be again before many months. War brought them ruin — peace brought them leadership over all Europe.

IN SWITZERLAND LAST week, I did some sleuthing about automobile sales. In a country where all the world's motor cars compete—who is winning out?

The answer is Germany—for in Switzerland since the beginning of 1950 the largest selling small car in the Volkswagen; that is, the little streamlined affair which Hitler's engineers designed, and for which he collected the money from prospective German buyers, but never delivered.

The Germans have many really super-cars on display here now.

PART OF MY TIME HERE has been spent in trying to get the answer to this all-important question:

Where did the money come from to rebuild Germany? Obviously much of it came from right inside Germany—for the vastly rich people here are still vastly rich and getting richer. But, also quite obviously, enormous sums came in from outside, through two channels.

The Western allies poured in large sums, through many official plans, of which Marshall Aid was just one. But foreign business men, mostly Americans, also bought heavily into German business. Maybe they used their governments as levers to help them get favorable terms of purchase — which they might not otherwise have obtained. Who knows?

But recently the three Western powers got a little shock when they took a sort of confidential "Gallup poll" amongst the Germans in the western zones.

Did the Germans know that they had been getting large-scale financial help from abroad?

The answer was quite plain — no, the Germans did not know. That is, the great mass of the German people do not know—only the small slice of official people and politicians at the top.

what is communism?

Communism is incompatible with the way of life which Canadians know and which most of us wish to retain.

Communism preaches hatred, resents co-operation and despises collective bargaining.

It breeds destruction; it destroys sensible thinking, individual liberty.

Communism destroys all surplus value, even individual initiative and reward.

Communism in power controls all the machines of production—all labour in every phase of its existence.

It controls the armed forces, using them to impose its will on the people.

It controls the courts of justice, allowing no appeal to its mandates.

It fosters the so-called union security clauses to take away the voluntary rights of workmen so that they may be regimented to its own ends.

It regards all religion as poisonous superstition and liquidates them accordingly.

Play Was Impressive

Women of Various City Churches Combine in Presentation

Women from the missionary societies of several city churches gathered in the United Church hall Monday evening when the play "Beauty From Ashes" was presented by the Women's Missionary Society of that church.

Opening worship was conducted by Mrs. Keith Faught.

The play in five scenes depicted the changing attitudes of both Americans and Japanese as Christian fellowship grows.

Stage settings produced a genuine Japanese effect, and costumes were authentic, several being loaned by local Japanese. Particularly moving was the "cave" scene after the bombing of Hiroshima.

The cast was as follows:
Ladies of the House of Ashida: Grandmother—Mrs. C. J. O. Olson.
Mother—Mrs. L. G. Sieber.
Haruko—Miss A. M. Stewart.
Servant Yoshie—Louise Wood.
American ladies:
Mrs. Lydia Worth—Mrs. J. S. Irvine.
Mrs. Mary Good—Mrs. Andrew Thompson.
Mrs. Neva Think—Mrs. Owen Green.
Radio commentator was Roy Sieber.
Director and narrator was Mrs. G. McClintock.

The WMS president, Mrs. Keith Faught, presented Mrs. McClintock with a small gift on behalf of the Women's Missionary Society.

Mrs. Olson commented on a group of beautiful projections of local scenes. Mrs. G. Freeman was pianist.

At the close of the evening tea was served to the cast and guests.

No Holding Rupert Now

Prince Rupert and Central British Columbia have hit their stride and there is no holding them now. So convinced is C. H. Orme, pioneer city druggist, now making his home in Victoria, who is revisiting the city for a few days.

Impact of the establishment by Columbia Cellulose Co. of its new pulp mill here is obvious to Mr. Orme in the hustle and bustle of the city—something to be contrasted with the old days.

"At least a few of the pioneers have remained to see their dreams and their hopes for Prince Rupert come true," he enthused.

And, with the arrival of the Aluminum Co. of Canada, even greater things are in store for this whole area.

Mr. Orme is here during "Clean-up Week" and he notes plenty that could be done to make the city more attractive in appearance.

The pioneer business man thinks that it is time for younger men to take a more prominent part in local affairs.

AN OLD SOLDIER

for the seat of war, landing at Pusan on southwestern coast of Korea. While still at sea, precautions were taken to safeguard the contingent from infection. Such a course was highly important. In Pusan, for example, there is no such thing as sewerage. There never had been and, what is true of that southeastern port is equally true of elsewhere throughout the country.

The Princess Patricia's had not been long ashore before the stench from lack of sanitation and many other causes became, indeed, almost overpowering. To a shipload of active, husky young men fresh from a land like Canada, such spectacles of filth, ignorance and disease were hard to endure.

HUNGRY AND POOR

Korea's civilian population has suffered, and continues to suffer, as the war lengthens. Food shortage is acute. Nearly everything in the way of clothing, shelter, and above all, good fare and plenty of it has become badly reduced, or in many instances can hardly be found. Numerous children beg and their impoverished appearance presents a grim enough picture.

NO CEMETERIES

"Korean people," comments Corporal Johnston, "do not have burial grounds. There are no cemeteries, as we understand it. A body is just placed on the ground and covered with material until there is built up over this body what becomes a substantial mound. It is liable to be placed or seen anywhere in the country, or on a hillside.

Korea's climate turns as cold as below zero. There, as well, is the opposite extreme. The country is rugged or perhaps more than that. Indeed, there are mountainous regions and some features of training can be classed as strenuous.

Some of Britain's most renowned regiments have already served or are already on duty in Korea. These included the Argyll and Sutherland Highlanders, a battalion sharing in most of the army's major engagements for more than a century.

KNOWING LANGUAGE

It appears most convenient to know more than one language, in the Far East, particularly should one be in Korea. As a result, there are many interpreters and language books worth cultivating. It should interest this Dominion to know that while the name of about every other land is found in the Korean language, that cannot be said of Canada.

"Among the more elderly of the Japanese people," remarked Kenneth, "there does not appear much change from how they were before the war. But its different with the younger men and women who have grown to like the Americans. There's no mistaking that."

To Princeton For Orange Convention

Mrs. W. Thomson, worthy mistress of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association, has left for Princeton to attend the annual LOBA convention for British Columbia. The lodge, at its last meeting, made plans for a banquet to be held June 15, Mrs. E. Barber being named convener for the affair. The next regular meeting will be held June 14. At the close of the meeting refreshments were served by a committee with Mrs. M. Wide in charge.

Museum to Open Soon

Annual Meeting Last Night—J.H. Black Re-elected Chairman

The Prince Rupert Museum will be open this year from June 15 to September 15. It was decided at the annual meeting last night of the Prince Rupert Museum Board. Applications for the position of custodian of the Museum are now being received.

J. Harry Black was re-elected chairman of the Board with Geoff Hill, vice-chairman and Canon Basil S. Prockter, secretary-treasurer.

Other members of the new board are Miss Audrey Wrathall, representing the Business and Professional Women; Dr. Duncan Whimmore, representing the Junior Chamber of Commerce; Mrs. N. E. Arnold, representing the City of Prince Rupert, with members at large, Gordon F. Forbes, Earl Anfield, Nigel Hale, Jack Scott and Larry Stanwood.

Complete satisfaction was expressed concerning the work of the University team of experts who re-ordered and re-classified the display last year and Professor Hawthorne of the Museum of Anthropology at UBC is to be thanked.

The basic display is now considered a matter for some civic pride but nevertheless, there is room in the Museum for the display of some small private collections and articles which the museum would be glad to have given or loaned for the summer. Thanks were expressed to several business houses and individuals who helped the Museum in this way last year.

It was decided to keep the membership fee at $1 per annum and a membership card gives free admission at all times. Members of the graduating class at the High School are all to receive free memberships. The admission charge for non-members will remain at 25c until such time as the Chamber of Commerce or the City Council are prepared to underwrite a budget of about $800 annually.

The meeting went on record as remembering gratefully the interest and help accorded the Museum in years past by the late Canon Rushbrook and C. E. Cullin.

BATTER UP

(By LARRY STANWOOD)

Organization of baseball in Prince Rupert took a decidedly different twist this year. The big shuffle of players as soon as baseball talk began about a month ago has had the following results:

1. A new team and sponsor in the league, Gordon & Anderson, with manager Stan Cornwell.
2. Commercial Hotel team got a new manager, Miner Simonsen, but lost a lot of their old players.
3. Abel & Odowes have a new manager, popular basketball coach Alex Bill, but they have suffered the loss of a few feature players.

And the most interesting result of all is that Gordon & Anderson's manager, Cornwell, young centre-fielder for Abel & Odowes last year, took with him most of the young players of the other teams and now says he hasn't got a man over the age of 25.

"Maybe we haven't got all the star players," said Stan yesterday, "but we've got plenty of hustle, and that's why we're going to come out on top."

Probably the main difficulty Stan will have is pitchers. He is breaking in rookie Kristmansen and has to his credit on the found Veteran Ciccone, but that's where it ends to date.

Well, Stan's boys aren't coming out until next Sunday. The "opener" tomorrow will be played by Abel & Odowes and the Commercial.

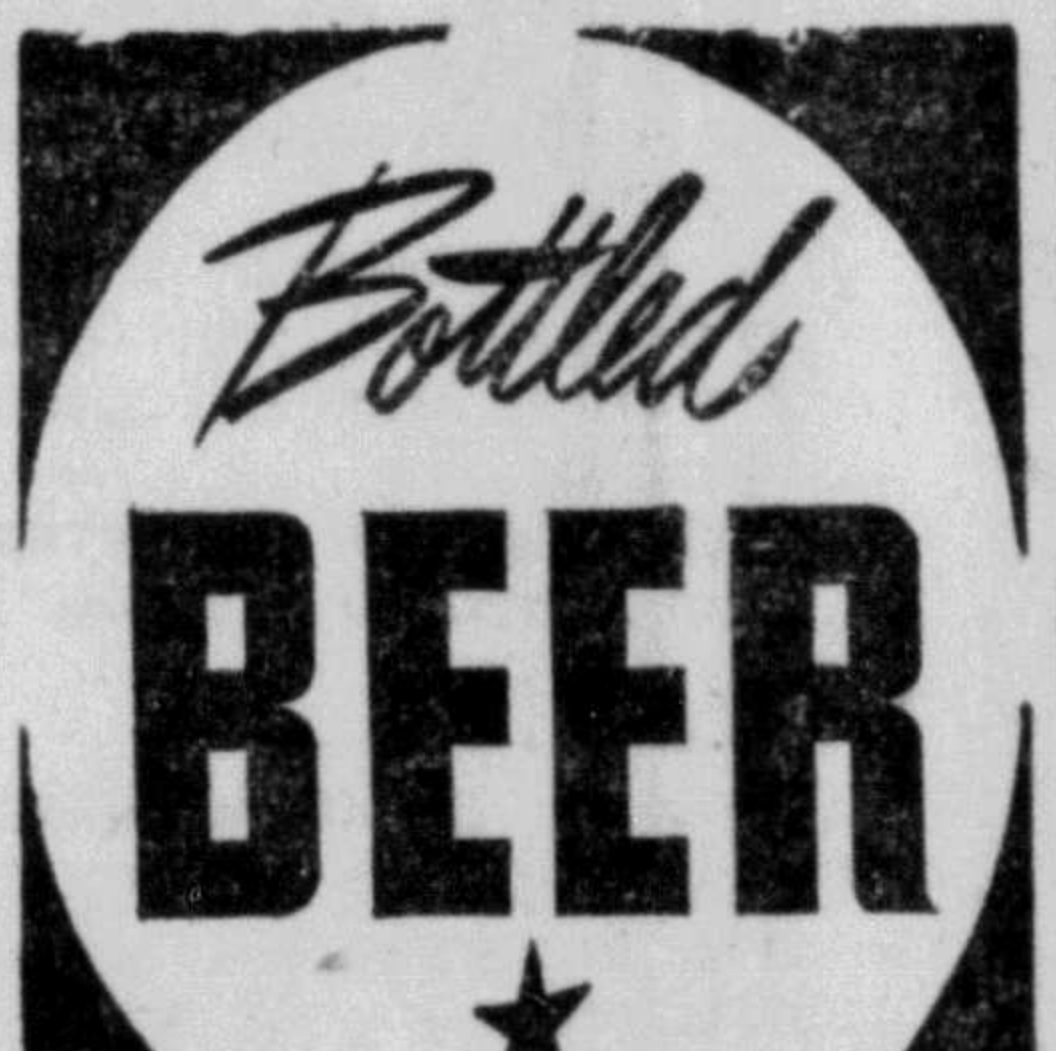

Manager Bill is quite confident about his team this year, and he has reason to be. Holding down that integral spot just rear of home plate will be Catcher Dave Abel and pitching to him will be Dick Letourneau, Commercial's star chucker last season.

Also hurling this season for Bill will be young Jack Sharp. He is a small fellow, not at all assuming and hasn't got any act. He just stands on the mound and puts that ball where it will do the least good for the batter, and nothing fizzes on Sharp. Bill is putting a lot of stock in him for he has trained Sharp, as he puts it, "from the ground up."

LINDSAY PROBLEM

Then there is Jack Lindsay. Looks like there may be some difference of opinion as to what team Jack will side on. Cornwell wants him for Jack's both a good pitcher and a heavy batter. However, Manager Bill says he's got a bet to bet that Jack is sticking with the old team, A. & O. And all this strife when the man in question who could give the an-

Jasper Peaks Being Named

Heroic Deeds of Canada's Fighting Men Being Perpetuated

OTTAWA—The heroic deeds of five Canadian fighting men are being perpetuated in Canada's largest national park.

According to advice received by the Canadian National Railways from the Canadian Board of Geographical Names, five hitherto anonymous peaks in Jasper National Park have been named after the gallant First World War soldiers, all of whom won the Victoria Cross for their bravery.

The five men are Pte. John Chapman Kerr; Pte. Cecil John Kinross; Lt. G. B. McKeen; Pte. John George Pattison and Sgt. R. L. Zengel, all of Alberta.

Four of them, Lt. McKeen, Sgt. Zengel and Ptes. Kinross and Pattison won their V.C.s for single-handed action in capturing and destroying murderous enemy machine guns and their crews at great personal risk and with the resultant saving of many of their companions' lives. Lt. McKeen and Sgt. Zengel were also awarded the Military Medal for other gallant acts in the field and the former also received the Military Cross.

Pte. Kerr's V.C. came to him when he made a lone charge on the enemy position at Courcellette, France, under heavy fire, at point blank range, shot up the place so badly the enemy thought they were surrounded and gave up. Sixty-two prisoners and 250 yards of trench were captured. The five peaks that will eventually mark these gallant acts stretch in a northwest line, a few miles northwest of the village of

Coalman Clean In Old Britain

LONDON — Housewives in East London couldn't believe it. The coalman was clean and his sacks were white.

The explanation, as given by a nylon company spokesman:

"We have been experimenting with nylon coal sacks for some time. They are lighter, more supple and much stronger than the usual sacks and they can be hosed down for cleaning purposes."
Nylon overalls will also be widely used, the spokesman predicted.
Production of nylon stockings will not be affected because a coarse type of nylon is used.

5000 at Work In Jet Factory

MONTREAL (CP) — The key weapon in Canada's defence program, the P-83E Sabre jet fighter is being mass-produced in the sprawling Canadair plant here under a cloud of secrecy.

Made up of seven tons of man-made lightning, the Sabre today is recognized as the west's fastest operational fighter. Its manufacture has brought top Canadian executives, designers and planners under the roof of the 50-acre Canadair plant north of Montreal where 5000 workers were switched from production of civilian aircraft to fill a $10,000,000 order for about 400 Sabres.

It's a gigantic order for Canada's young aircraft industry, but with technical assistance from United States and Canadian determination, the Sabres are now rolling off the mile-long assembly line to take their place over the Korean battlefields.

These tigers of the skies cost about $300,000 each and are being produced under an agreement with the North American Aviation Corporation, a U.S. firm, for use by the Royal Canadian Air Force.

It takes 7445 pounds of aluminum, 1733 pounds of steel, and 500,000 rivets, bolts and other small parts to push the fighter through the air in excess of 670 miles an hour.

At the Canadair plant where giant Trans-Canada Airlines North Stars are also built, a competent industrial operation is located for the handling of the most complex problems in aviation manufacture.

James Geo. Frey Notman, executive vice-president and general manager of Canadair, believes that his plant can handle any aircraft orders the government wants to place. "Availability of supplies from the United States would be the only brake on output," he said.

Prepare Welcome For Visitors

LONDON (CP) — The United Kingdom's towns and villages are "at home" to visitors from other lands during the Festival of Britain. Various forms of entertainment and hospitality have been planned.

In some cases, invitations have been sent to residents or their children in selected places overseas, while in others, plans have been made to show visitors round factories, civic centres, farms and over historic buildings.

Lewes, in Sussex, will give an official welcome to guests from Blois, France. They will be entertained with a civic reception, dance, dinner and garden party at which they will be introduced to people of the town. They will visit nearby Glyndebourge, headquarters of an opera company, to watch a festival performance and later go to the South Bank Exhibition in London where they will be officially received.

Iford, Essex, has invited 24 young people between the ages of 15 and 20 from Renkum, near Arnhem, Holland, to stay for a week with families where there are boys and girls of corresponding ages.

Children from Halland have also been invited to Keynsham, pretty Somersetshire town near Bristol, for the festival months.

Another situation where you need to postpone pulling all of the opponents' trumps is where the trump suit itself offers the only entry to an established suit in dummy.

Mr. Masters opened the king of diamonds and one of dummy's entries went out like a light. Mrs. Keen won the trick with the ace in dummy. She saw that she had two losers in diamonds, one in clubs and one in hearts.

In fact, she had three bad hearts unless they could either be trumped in dummy or discarded on dummy's club suit. Well, trumping them in dummy was out because the second round of hearts would have to be lost before any trumping could be done.

What about the club suit then? There was enough clubs on the board to offer a parking place for all three of Mrs. Keen's hearts, provided she could get to them at the proper time.

Here is how Mrs. Keen played.

She took out just two rounds of trumps, leaving the eight spot in Mr. Masters' hand and the ten on the board. Then she led her singleton club. Mr. Masters went right up with the ace.

He cashed two diamond tricks and then led his last diamond. Mrs. Keen trumped—but not with the deuce of spades. She trumped with the jack. The deuce was used to enter dummy with the ten of spades and off went Mrs. Keen's three heart losers on the good clubs.

Note that if three rounds of trumps had been taken beginning at trick two, Mrs. Keen not only could have missed her contract—she could have been down three tricks, winning only five spades and the two red aces.

swear is out of town. Ted Arney is playing third base for Bill, Reg Lavigne is on second and Cliff Dahl, first. Joe Giordano is short-stop.

Nick Pavlikis, last season's big hitter, will hold down centre field for A & O and Victor Dell is back after a couple of years' lay-off. Others, not yet lined up are Don Sharp, Boyo Gurvich, Dave Huber and Don Dunbar.

Rookies Danny MacAfee and Dick Nickerson "look good" to their manager and he's going to give them a chance to prove themselves tomorrow. Another rookie is Derrick Letourneau, understudying Abel as catcher.

Commercial is going to pull a few surprises, the sponsors say. There was not a chance to get the details from playing manager "Miner" Simonsen, but starting pitcher tomorrow will be Larry Warner, veteran hurler from Smithers and three years with Oliver and Pentiction in the Okanagan International League.

Another newcomer, Bill Gunn, from Pentiction, is a left-hand batter on whom the Commercials are pinning a lot of hopes. He will play the infield, although he is rated a first class outfielder as well.

Filling a big gap in the Commmercial line-up will be Herb Morgan, veteran catcher and hard hitter in the past. Don MacDonald and B. Rosedale will be chucking to Herb, as well as Don Hawryk, last year's Commercial player and formerly from the prairies.

Eric "Deacon" Linney, an old-timer in baseball in Prince Rupert, will hold down the left field and Manager Miner is in centre field.

The line-up is a little slim for this team, but a few spares will be available. Meanwhile, the manager is looking around for a few rookies who want to get into baseball this year.

Practice days haven't been too many since the teams were formed, due to the weather but pitchers have been able to get their work-out in the Civic Centre gym. Everybody is hoping for clear skies tomorrow and if it doesn't rain there should be some exciting ball played. At least, they should get a pretty good idea of how the teams will work this year.

Mining Boom
in Interior

Revival of mining in the Smithers area today is likened by F. M. Dockrill, pioneer coal mine operator of Telkwa, to the palmy days before 1929. The price boom in lead and zinc is causing a new interest in many properties in the area such as the Silvan (formerly Duthie), Cronin, Glacier Gulch and Grouse Mountain (Copper Crown), all of which are actively developing and preparing for production. Mr. Dockrill returns to Telkwa tonight after spending a few days in the city on business.

As for his own Bulkley Valley Collieries, Mr. Dockrill is now concentrating on supplying the new Columbia Cellulose mill at Prince Rupert and is shipping 100 tons per day to the plant. For the purpose of providing coal for Columbia Cellulose, a new mine run pit was opened by Bulkley Valley Collieries last July. The new pit (No. 3) is about half a mile and on the opposite side of Goat Creek from the domestic pit (No. 2) which is closed down until September. Twenty-four men are employed in mining. The coal is delivered by truck contractors the seven miles from Goat Creek to the railway at Telkwa whence it is shipped to Watson Island.

Terrace Pack
Is Chartered

Catholic Group at Terrace Comes Formally Into Being
TERRACE—Presentation of a charter to the Second Terrace Cub Pack was made by Commissioner F. E. Anfield of Prince Rupert on Friday evening last in the hall of the Catholic Church.

Addressing those present, Mr. Anfield stressed the importance of the charter as it was the official recognition of the group. He congratulated leaders of the Cubs and the group committee whom he also reminded of their responsibility toward their Cub pack.

It was a happy, momentous occasion for the Second Terrace Cubs. Sponsored by the Catholic Church, it was formed last fall when there were too many boys for the First Terrace group. The Cubmaster is Edgar Tertraut into whose hands the charter was given. Assistant Cubmaster is Armand Bissonette. These two were also given their Cubmaster and assistant master certificates.

The meeting was opened with the usual Cub procedures followed by games. Four happy, smiling Cubs were then invested with their first stars by the commissioner who, in congratulating them, reminded them that this was but the first step in good Cubbing. The boys were Paul Renaud, Arthur Renaud, Edward Bissonnette and Pierre Normandeau.

Among those present besides the fathers and mothers were Father E. M. Leray, O.M.I., and Father Racette, O.M.I., who introduced Mr. Anfield to the gathering; Constable Brue representing the Scouts; John Haaland, Cubmaster of the First Terrace Pack; members of the group committee of the Second Terrace Cub Pack, John Normandeau, president, Ted Johnston and Frank Anfield, a Prince Rupert Cub, son of Mr. Anfield, who took a lively interest in the whole proceedings.

Mr. Haaland brought the good wishes of the First Terrace Pack and expressed the hope of seeing the bonds of friendship which already exist between the two groups grow stronger every day for the welfare of both. Constable Brue reiterated this hope and that of the police force in general and added he hoped to continue to take a lively interest in the Scout and Cub activities and to help the youths in any way possible. In thanking Mr. Anfield on behalf of the group committee, Mr. Normandeau and Father Racette each gave full assurance of furthering the interests of the Cub pack.

The "Grand Howl" brought the meeting to a close, after which tasty refreshments were served by the Ladies' Auxiliary.

Mrs. Ron Sparkes and son, Walter, have returned to Terrace following a lengthy holiday with relatives in Edmonton.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Osborne spent Monday in Prince Rupert, travelling there and back by car.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Baldwin and sons of Prince Rupert drove into Terrace on Sunday and were visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Norrington.

John Haaland is leaving shortly for Winnipeg and, on his return, will be accompanied by his wife and son, Aaron, who have spent the past year in the prairie city.

Mr. and Mrs. D. Collins, accompanied by the latter's parents, drove to Prince Rupert on Monday on a short business trip.

STEWART
NEWS

After a long wait Stewart has at last got a doctor and the residents of this community are breathing more freely. Dr. Donald McKay, a native of Scotland, quiet, soft spoken and with a burr that cannot be mistaken, arrived last week. He will later on, take up residence in the Newell House on Sixth Street, where he will be joined by his mother and his daughter.

George Lupick, while driving a jeep on the Stewart-Hyder road, ran off the road south of the Stewart Wharf, almost completely wrecking the vehicle. Fortunately he sustained only a slight scratch.
