BRITISH-CANADIAN WHEAT PARLEY Unemployment Is Declared Provincial Responsibility

Federal Government Was Asked In 1927 Not to Engage Itself In Workless Measures—Heenan

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—The matter of unemployment relief is one that comes exclusively within the jurisdiction of the provinces and the municipalities and is not a responsibility of the federal government, Hon. Peter Heenan, minister of labor, said in an interview yesterday. Subsequent to the war, when conditions were abnormal and that abnormality was in itself a development of war, the federal government embarked upon schemes of unemployment relief. "Not only does the federal government realize that this problem is one for the provinces, but the provinces themselves recognize the fact," Mr. Heenan said, "and in 1927 at the Dominion - provincial conference, provincial representatives made it clear that they did not wish the federal government to engage in such measures. The provinces' attitude has not changed since then."

TO REPORT UPON TAKU

Document of Dr. Mandy to Be Issued by Provincial Mines

VICTORIA, Jan. 9.—A special report dealing with the Taku River district mineral showings will soon be made public by the provincial mines department. Resident Engineer Dr. J. T. Mandy has been preparing the report on the basis of inspections made of the territory during the past season.

Work in this section of the Atlin district during the past year has been satisfactory and companies operating there are well pleased with results.

Peace Meeting Held Yesterday; Publicity Plans

There was a meeting of the Peace River committee last evening in the offices of Rose, Cowan & Latta, with Alderman Theo Collart presiding, at which plans were made for publicity work in connection with the sessions of the federal and provincial sessions of parliament. A number of other matters were discussed. Those present were, in addition to the chairman, J. C. Brady, M.P., Alderman Dibb, J. W. McKinley, Ald. S. D. Macdonald and H. F. Pullen.

It was reported by the secretary that the appropriation had all been spent.

BIG FIRE IN DALHOUSIE, N. B.

Fourteen Buildings Destroyed and Four Firemen in Hospital With Injuries

DALHOUSIE, N.B., Jan. 9.—Fourteen buildings were destroyed and four men are in hospital with injuries as a result of a $500,000 fire which swept this place on Wednesday afternoon. Dynamiting had to be resorted to in the efforts to stay the progress of the flames.

RADIO BILL AT OTTAWA COMING

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—A bill will be introduced at the coming session of Parliament as a result of the report of the radio commission. It will likely be referred to a special committee of the house before which all interested parties would be given the opportunity of expressing their views, according to an announcement made yesterday by Hon. P. J. A. Cardin, minister of marine and fisheries.

STEWART CASE ON

W. H. Montgomery of This City Defendant in Victoria Supreme Court Action

VICTORIA, Jan. 9.—An action by Charles Larson, miner of Stewart, for declaration of three-quarter interest in the price received for the sale of the Blue Jay and Blue Bird fractional mineral claims at Stewart opened before Mr. Justice Gregory in Supreme Court here yesterday. William H. Montgomery of Prince Rupert and others are named as defendants as executors of the estate of the late William Hamilton.

The plaintiff's claim is for $6375 of sums on deposit in the Bank of Montreal at Stewart as the sale price received for the claims in question.

The hearing is continuing. On the conclusion of the taking of evidence yesterday, the court adjourned until Friday when counsel will be heard in argument.

Seattle Voting Deep Sea Union

Jack Morrison Had Majority of Twenty Over Einar Larsen For Local Agency

Voting in Seattle last week for Deep Sea Fishermen's Union agents resulted as follows:
 Prince Rupert agent—Einar Larsen, 86; J. M. Morrison, 106.
 Seattle agent—Andrew Anderson, 23; Torvald Kipperberg, 131; Axel Moan, 13; Jack McDonald, 25.
 Ketchikan agent—Robert Fowlow, 17; J. H. Meagher, 20; Gust Olsen, 118; Pete Swanson, 13; Archie Teal, 22.

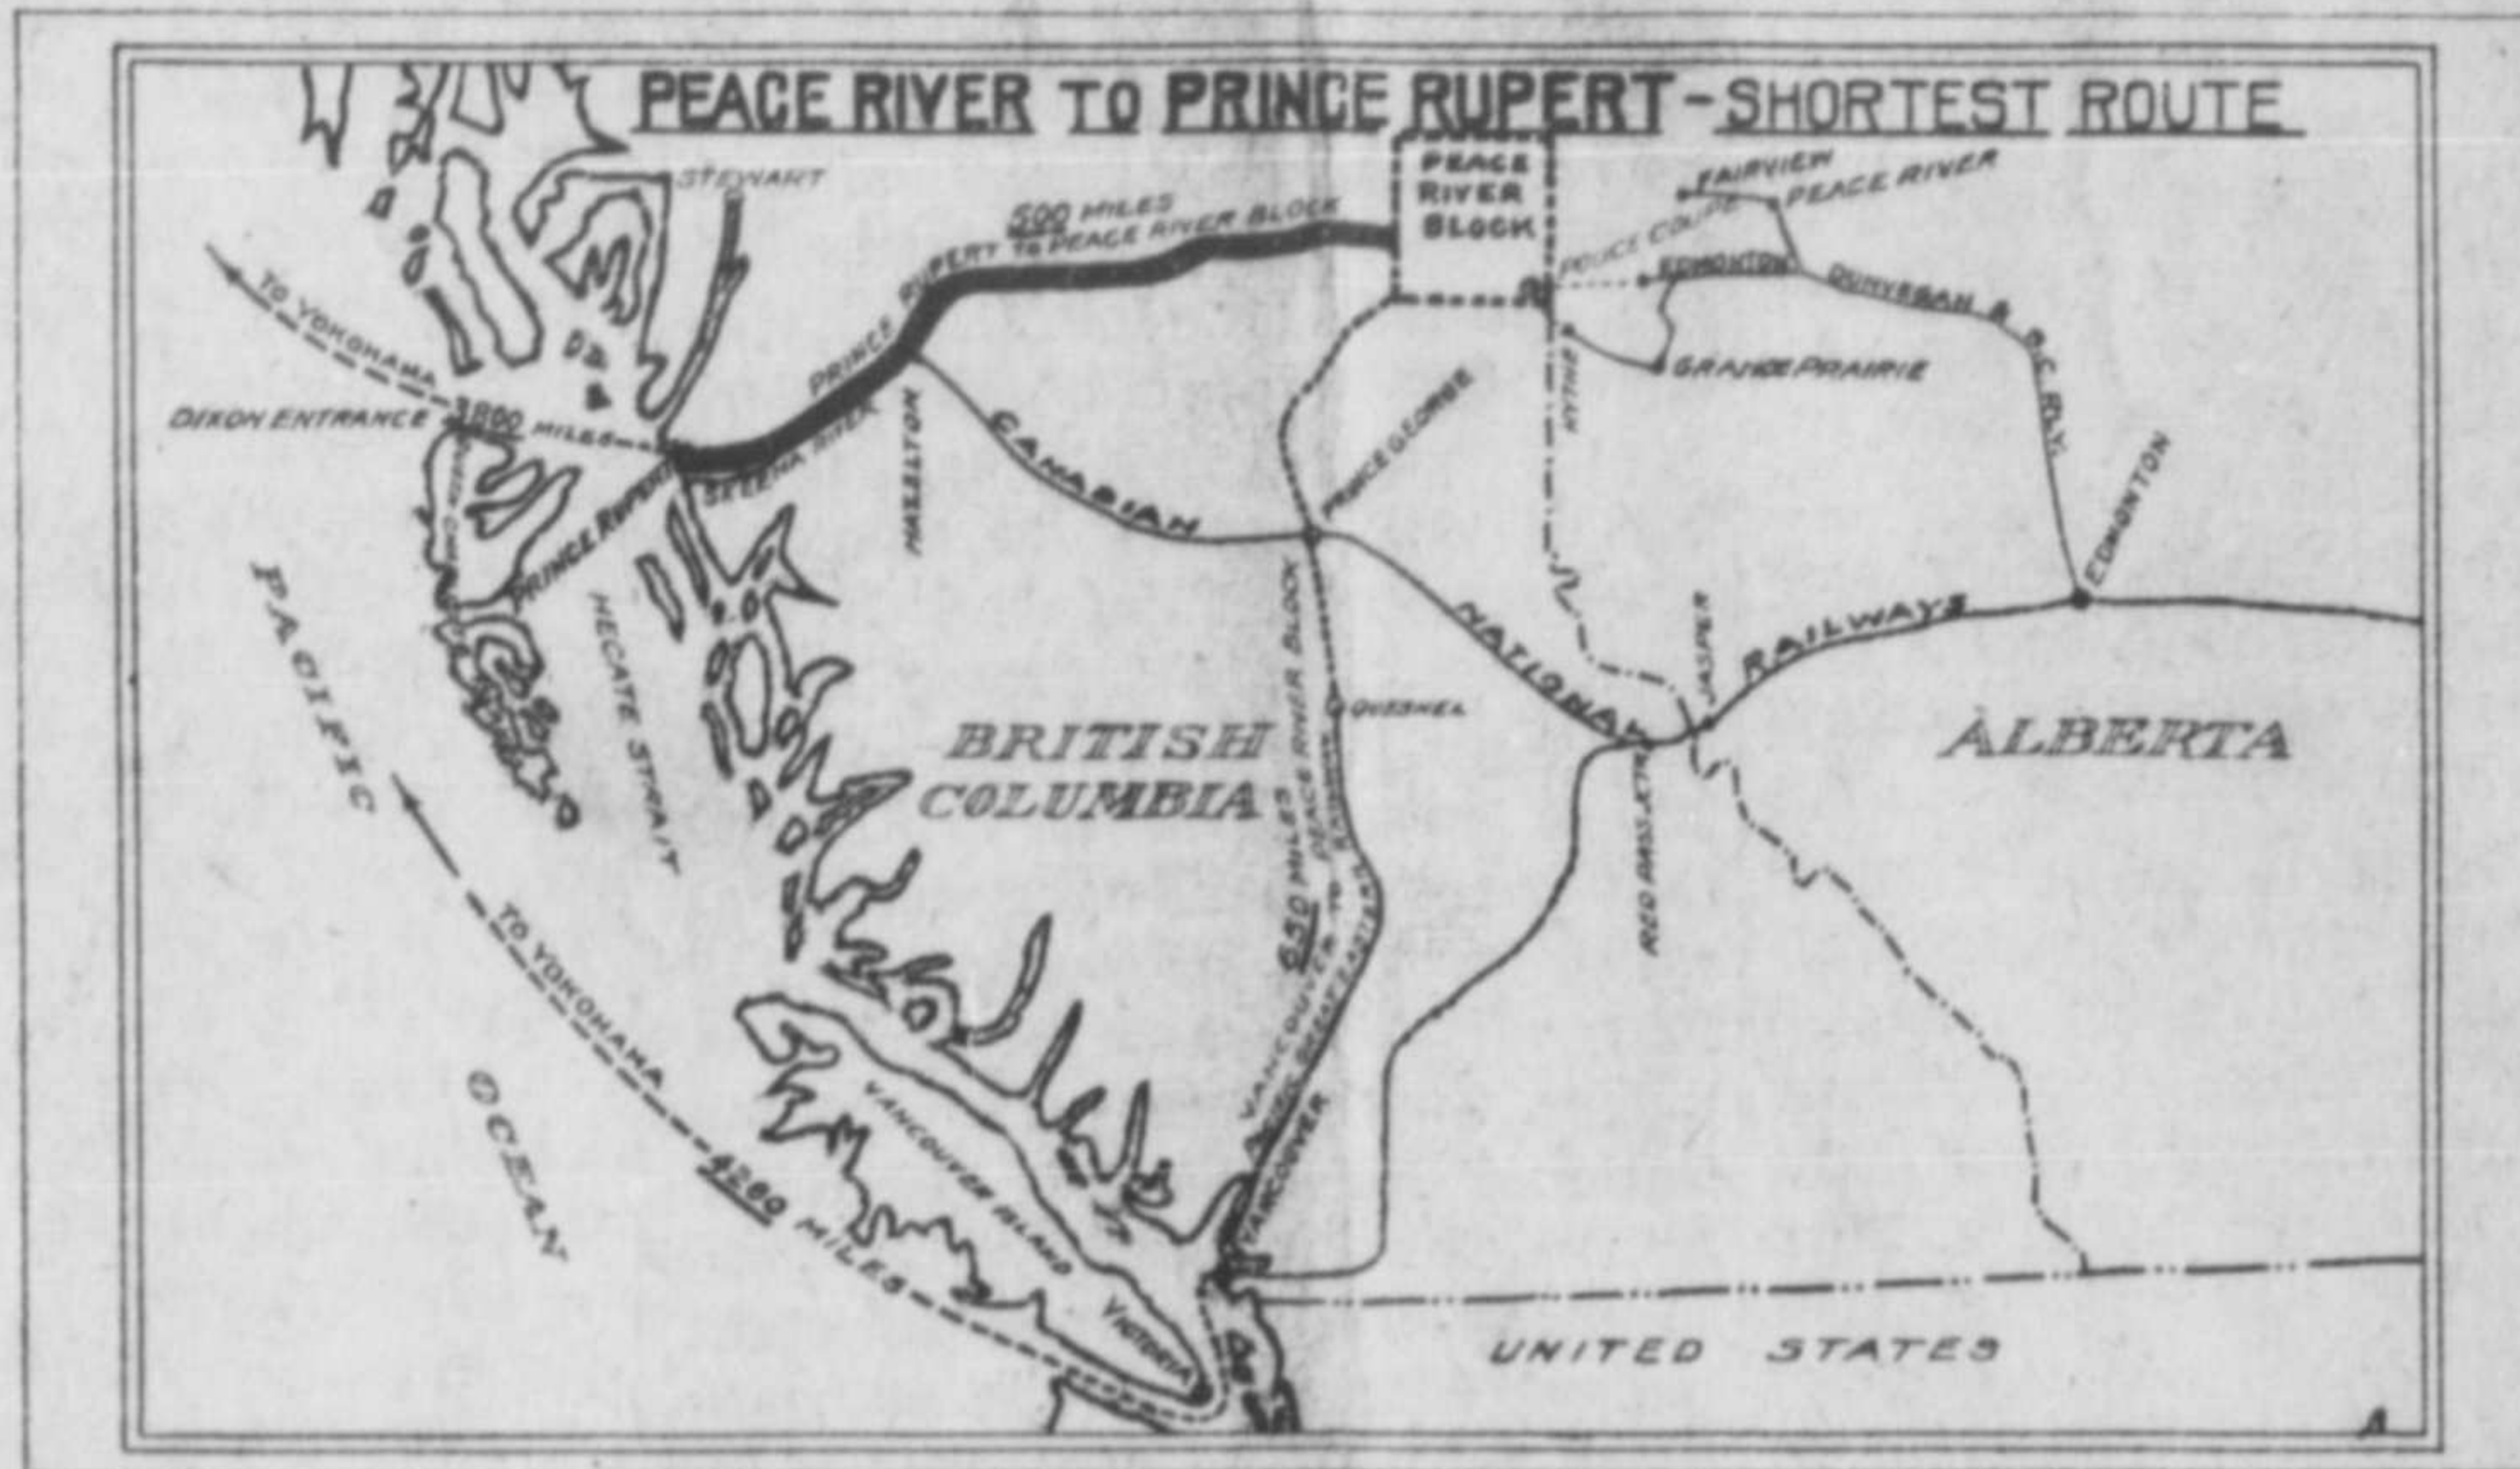

On the question of increasing the salary of union officials by $5 weekly, 104 voted in favor at Seattle and 79 against. As there was a tie vote here, it is expected the proposal will have been carried.

Detailed results from Ketchikan are not yet available.

VANCOUVER WHEAT

VANCOUVER, Jan. 9.—Wheat was quoted on the local exchange today at $1.35 1/2.

Prince Rupert, the Key to the Orient

"With a railway built on an almost perfect water grade and at present practically unused, it seems a reasonable business proposition to have the Peace River grain hauled over it to tidewater, especially when it goes by the most direct route and when there is at its terminus one of the finest harbors in the world, the nearest Canadian port to the Orient."

Officials of Wheat Pool Leaving For London, Eng., to Confer With J. H. Thomas on Grain Shipments

Large Quantity Purchases by British Government Board Foreseen as Result of Important Announcement Made Today

WINNIPEG, Jan. 9.—Officials of the Canadian Wheat Pool are to meet in conference in London with members of the British Government, it is announced. Three representatives of the Pool—A. J. McPhail, president; Dr. McIntyre, Eastern sales manager; and W. A. McLeod, director of publicity and education—will leave next week to confer with Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal. The parley is the result of invitations extended by Mr. Thomas when he was in Canada last September.

While the Pool's statement does not mention the specific subject of the conference, it points out that Mr. Thomas' main purpose in his Canadian visit was to explore every avenue for securing a more uniform flow outward and return cargoes from Canada to the United Kingdom.

Formation of a British Government board to make long-term large-quantity purchases of Canadian wheat is foreseen as a probable outcome of the announcement. In the West the feeling has existed for some time that some move of the British Government to buy Canadian wheat on a large scale was in the offing.

Colonel Hiam Is On His Way East To Visit Montreal

Executive Head for West Expects to Talk More Interestingly on Next Visit

Colonel Hiam paid a courtesy call yesterday on The Daily News and in the course of conversation stated that he was on his way to meet Sir Henry Thornton at Montreal and that possibly on his next visit to Prince Rupert he might be in a position to talk more interestingly.

The colonel showed great interest in the general situation here and mentioned that the very fact that he was spending the best part of a week in the city was indication that he considered the point an important one.

TO SIGN TRANSFER

Burden and Bass Off to Ottawa to Complete Return of Railway Lands

VICTORIA, Jan. 9.—Hon. F. P. Burden, minister of lands, and Oscar Bass, deputy attorney-general, will leave at the end of this week for Ottawa to complete the transfer to the province of British Columbia of the Peace River Block and railway lands. Negotiations are still in progress by telegraph on many minor points and a few matters of basic importance. It is expected that, upon the arrival in Ottawa of Mr. Burden and Mr. Bass, these will be quickly settled. Negotiations are now being conducted in Ottawa by Hon. Nels Loughheed, minister of public works.

"Unless any unforeseen matter delays the signing of the transfer, I expect to be back in Victoria within a very few days after my departure in ample time for the opening of the legislature," Mr. Burden said yesterday.

Flight Lieutenant And Flying Officer Were Among Killed

LONDON, Jan. 9.—Flight Lieutenant Richard S. Greenslade, Flying Officer Charles Galpin and two non-commissioned men were the four members of the Royal Air Force who were killed at Abu Sueir, Egypt, in the collision of two planes.

CUSTOMERS FOR ALL FALLS RIVER POWER

All signs point to great industrial development of Prince Rupert in the near future and, on every hand, the belief is evidently held that the days of waiting for this centre are about over and that the port may soon come into its own. A recent interesting report and one that does not entirely lack official confirmation is that, by the time the Power Corporation of Canada has its new hydro-electric plant at Falls River completed and ready for operation, there will be sufficient customers here to take all the energy provided thereby. That means that the establishment of new industries here must be contemplated.

Both Legs of Indian Woman Were Cut Off

AGASSIZ, Jan. 9.—With both legs severed by a train, the body of Mrs. Edmund Victor, Indian, was found on a level crossing east of here. There was a severe snowstorm at the time the woman was killed and a coroner's jury returned a verdict of accidental death.

FUNERAL TODAY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Hester Allen, who died on Sunday last, took place this afternoon. After a service at the chapel of the B. C. Undertakers at which Rev. C. E. Motte, pastor of Rupert East United Church, officiated, interment was made in Fairview Cemetery. Native friends of deceased acted as pallbearers.

FROZEN TO DEATH

MERRITT, Jan. 9.—Marcus Swakum, Indian, was frozen to death while deer hunting at the week-end. His body was found between Canford and Dot in the Nicola Valley.

Construction of Fishermen's Floats Here to Be Commenced On Monday; Finish by March 31

A start will be made on the new fishermen's floats just east of the drydock next Monday by the contractors, John Currie & Son. The job, which will cost between $16,000 and $17,000, is to be completed by March 31. Announcement to this effect was made this morning by J. P. Forde, district engineer for the federal department of public works, Victoria, who is here in connection with the launching of the work. Mr. Forde arrived in the city yesterday from Victoria and is planning on returning south tonight.

Material for the construction of the new floats here is now being assembled. A week will be taken up in work preliminary to the starting of the actual construction. Departmental locating engineers will arrive here next Wednesday from the south to make final surveys of the site.

Mr. Forde left this morning for Port Essington to inspect a new landing float which has just been completed there. He will also make arrangements for a wharf at Port Essington for the snagboat.

ACTION OVER COMMISSION

W. A. Lewthwaite Defendant in Supreme Court Case in Vancouver

VANCOUVER, Jan. 9.—Equal shares in commission allegedly given the defendant, W. A. Lewthwaite, for selling Sir Donald Mann's properties at Stewart were claimed by F. L. Hutchins and R. G. Fuleher in a trial before Mr. Justice Fisher in the Supreme Court here. His Lordship, after hearing the evidence and argument of counsel, reserved judgment.

All the parties concerned live in Vancouver. Lewthwaite, it was alleged, sold Sir Donald Mann's Portland Canal Short Line Railway and lots at Stewart to the Vancouver Holdings Ltd. for $885,000. The plaintiffs contended that Lewthwaite received a commission of $2500 and 225 common shares in the Vancouver Holdings Ltd.

CHINA HAS COLD WAVE

Many Dead as Result of Unseasonable Weather Across the Ocean

HANKOW, China, Jan. 9.—Freezing temperatures, accompanied by falling snow, continued in the Yangtze River valley today. There is acute suffering and thousands are near destitution.

During the last two days twenty coolies have been found in the streets frozen to death. The Han River is frozen over and many coolies are reported to have been drowned in attempting to escape from small boats.

SEARCH IS BEING HELD

Wind, Fog and Thawing Weather Delay Flyers Who Are Scouting For Lost Aviators

CANADIANS MISSING
 No Trace Yet Found of Reid, Hughes and Hutchinson or Eielson and Borland

FAIRBANKS, Alaska, Jan. 9.—Wind, fog and thawing weather combined today to hold at a standstill all search for Capt. Pat Reid, William Hughes and Jim Hutchinson as well as Carl Ben Eielson and Earl Borland, all of whom are missing in the snow-swept wastes of the Arctic. Capt. H. A. Oakes and Gifford Swartman, who were planning to search for Reid and his companions who disappeared last Saturday while attempting to reach Nome from here, were powerless to pierce the fog and wind to determine the Canadians' fate.

The wind, howling at 50 miles an hour, swept over Nulato Plains and on to Fairbanks in a warm wave that is thawing the ice and snow.

At Nome a 40-mile-an-hour windstorm hurled snow over the city, holding back Frank Dorbandt who left there Sunday to search for Reid at Solomon. Dorbandt scouted the Norton Bay region on Sunday but was forced to land because of fog.

Federal Grant Tech. Schools Is Discontinued

A communication from John Kyle, organizer of technical education for the provincial education department, advised the local school board last night that federal grants for technical education had been discontinued and that, therefore, no further additional grants for commercial, technical and home economics departments would be forthcoming. Mr. Kyle expresses the hope that, despite the dropping of the grant, the work would be continued in the local schools. Secretary Williamson informed the board that, by means of the federal grant, $75 each quarter had been provided as well as half the cost of machines, etc. Mr. Kyle's communication was ordered filed.

Mines Inspector At Nanaimo Dead

J. W. Jameson, Who Passed Away Suddenly on Tuesday, Resident of Island for 29 Years

NANAIMO, Jan. 9.—J. W. Jameson, provincial inspector of mines and a resident of Nanaimo for 29 years, died suddenly on Tuesday night.

LAPONTE INDISPOSED

OTTAWA, Jan. 9.—Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, is confined to his home with a severe cold and will probably be laid up for a week.

A POWERFUL AID to PAYROLL BUILDING

THE Vancouver Stock Exchange is the machinery which converts capital into mining, oil and industrial enterprises employing Western Canada labor. When investors buy listed stocks, their purchases represent machinery, shafts, roads and camps, smelters, factories, payrolls. The result of such activity is the development of natural resources, the creation of new wealth, thriving wholesale houses, retail stores, farms, prosperous workmen.

The mining industry in this province alone pays annually in wages 30,000,000 and employs 18,000 workmen.

What part does the Vancouver Stock Exchange play in this activity, this enlarging of our payrolls?

The Exchange provides a ready market for securities of value. This encourages the investor to participate in those meritorious enterprises that have contributed to the development of British Columbia, her industries and payrolls.

If no such market were available, investors would be reluctant to place funds in securities which would remain "frozen." The activity of this market represents the public's desire to buy and sell securities and keeps every investor posted as to the cash value of his holdings and the success of the industries those holdings represent.

The Stock Exchange requires that every stock listed on the Exchange be scrutinized as to capitalization, directors, soundness of the enterprise.

Through members of the Exchange, British Columbia's investment opportunities are advertised, world-wide interest of capital aroused.

The Vancouver Stock Exchange thus plays its part in creating confidence and in diverting capital to British Columbia enterprises. The Exchange is a powerful force in increasing your prosperity, in building payrolls.

Gyro Club Adopts Resolution of Trans-Canada Road; District Governor Visit Expected

The Prince Rupert Gyro Club, at its regular monthly business luncheon yesterday, Joseph Greer, president, in the chair, endorsed a resolution from the Automobile Club of British Columbia asking the governments concerned to complete the trans-Canada highway construction. There was some discussion as to whether endorsement of the resolution might prejudice Prince Rupert's highway claims, but the club decided to take a magnanimous stand on the matter and give the endorsement, particularly since the remaining uncompleted link in the trans-Canada highway is in northern Ontario.

The club was advised by District Governor Alex Davies of Tacoma that he hoped to pay an official visit here on February 19. Arrangements will be made to have representatives of the Ketchikan Gyro Club here on that occasion. A dance will probably be one of the social events to be staged while District Governor Davies is here.

Meantime, local installation ceremonies will proceed on January 22 as originally planned.

OFFICERS OF MOOSE

W. B. McCallum Elected Vice-Dictator of Organization Which D. C. Schubert Heads

The election of 1930 officers of the Moose Lodge last night resulted as follows:

Past dictator—B. M. Simpson.
Dictator—D. C. Schubert.
Vice-dictator—W. B. McCallum.
Prelate—Joe Ratchford.
Treasurer—Ted Rovik.
Trustee—Sam Haudenschield.
Delegate to Supreme Lodge—D. C. Schubert; alternate, B. M. Simpson.

The school board, at its meeting last night, considered a proposal of Cecil Morrison to service school typewriters regularly on the basis of a year's contract for the work. The contract would include monthly inspection of the machines as well as cleaning and oiling. The sum of $10 monthly was suggested as a stipend for the work. Action in the matter was laid over for the consideration of the 1930 board.

The SEVEN DIALS MYSTERY
By Agatha Christie

Copyright by Public Ledger
INSTALLMENT IX.

Bundle turned to Loraine.
"You were just going to tell me—"
"Oh, yes. First, about the letter." She spoke to Jimmy. "Gerry left a letter. Lady Eileen—"
"Bundle."
"Bundle found it." She explained the circumstances in a few words. Jimmy listened, keenly interested. This was the first he had heard of the letter. Loraine took it from her bag and handed it to him. He read it, then looked across at her.
"This is where you can help us. What was it Gerry wanted you to forget?"
Loraine's brows wrinkled a little in perplexity.

A Letter to Gerry

"It's hard to remember exactly now. I opened a letter of Gerry's by mistake. It was written on cheap sort of paper. I remember, and very illiterate handwriting. It had some address in Seven Dials at the head of it. I realized it wasn't for me, so I put it back in the envelope without reading it."
"Sure?" asked Jimmy very gently.

Loraine laughed for the first time.

"I know what you think, and I admit that women are curious. But, you see, this didn't even look interesting. It was a kind of list names and dates."
"Names and dates," said Jimmy thoughtfully.

"Gerry didn't seem to mind much," continued Loraine. "He laughed. He asked me if I had ever heard of the Mafia, and then said it would be queer if a society like the Mafia started in England—but that that kind of a secret society didn't take on much with English people. 'Our criminals,' he said, 'haven't got a picturesque imagination.'"

Jimmy pursed up his lips into a whistle.

"I'm beginning to see," he said. "Seven Dials must be the headquarters of some secret society. As he says in his letter to you, he thought it rather a joke to start with. But evidently it wasn't a joke—he says as much. And there's something else; his anxiety that you should forget what he'd told you. There can be only one reason for that—if that society suspected that you had any knowledge of its activity, you too would be in danger. Gerald realized the peril, and he was terribly anxious—for you."

He stopped, then he went on quietly:

"I rather fancy that we're all going to be in danger—if we go on with this."

"If—?" cried Bundle indignantly.

"I'm talking of you two. It's different for me. I was poor old Ronny's pal. He looked at Bundle.

"You've done your bit. You've delivered the message he sent me. No; for God's sake keep out of it, you and Loraine."

How to Begin?

Bundle looked questioning at the other girl. Her own mind was definitely made up, but she gave no indication of it just then. She had no wish to push Loraine Wade into a dangerous undertaking. But Loraine's small face was alight at once with indignation.

"You say that! Do you think for one minute I'd be contented to keep out of it—when they killed Gerry—my own dear Gerry, the best and dearest and kindest brother any girl ever had. The only person belonging to me I had in the whole world!"

Jimmy cleared his throat uncomfortably. Loraine, he thought, was wonderful; simply wonderful.

"Look here," he said awkwardly, "you mustn't say that. About being alone in the world—all that rot. You've got lots of friends—only too glad to do what they can. See what I mean?"

It is possible that Loraine did, for she suddenly blushed, and to cover her confusion began to talk nervously.

"That's settled," she said. "I'm going to help. Nobody's going to stop me."

"And so am I, of course," said Bundle.

They both looked at Jimmy.

"Yes," he said slowly. "Yes, quite so."

They looked at him inquiringly.

"I was just wondering," said Jimmy, "how we were going to begin."

PLANS

Jimmy's words lifted the discussion at once into a more practical sphere.

"All things considered," he said, "we haven't got much to go on. In fact, just the words Seven Dials. As a matter of fact I don't even know exactly where Seven Dials is. But, anyway, we can't very well comb out the whole of that district, house by house."

"We could," said Bundle.

"Well, perhaps we could eventually—though I'm not so sure. I imagine it's a well-populated area. But it wouldn't be very subtle."

The word reminded him of the girl Socks and he smiled.

"Then, of course, there's the part of the country where Ronny was shot. We could nose around there. But the police are probably doing everything we could do, and doing it much better."

"What I like about you," said Bundle sarcastically, "is your cheerful and optimistic disposition."

"Never mind her, Jimmy," said Loraine softly. "Go on."

"Don't be so impatient," said Jimmy to Bundle. "All the best sleuths approach a case this way, by eliminating unnecessary and unprofitable investigation. I'm coming now to the third alternative—Gerald's death."

"Now that we know it was murder—by the way, you do both believe that, don't you?"

"Yes," said Loraine.

"Yes," said Bundle.

"Good. So do I. Well, it seems to me that there we do stand some faint chance. After all, if Gerry didn't take the chloral himself, someone must have got into his room and put it there—dissolved it in the glass of water, so that when he woke up he drank it off. And of course left the empty box or bottle or whatever it was. You agree with that?"

"Ye-es," said Bundle slowly.

"But—"

How About Servants

"Wait. And that some one must have been in the house at the time. It can't very well have been some one from outside."

"No," agreed Bundle, more readily this time.

"Very well. Now, that narrows down things considerably. To begin with, I suppose a good many of the servants are family ones they're your lot, I mean."

"Yes," said Bundle. "Practically all the staff stayed when we let it. All the principal ones are there still—of course, there have been changes among the underservants."

"Exactly—that's what I am getting at. You"—he addressed Bundle—"must go into all that. Find out when new servants were engaged—what about footmen, for instance?"

"One of the footmen is new. John, his name is."

"Well, make inquiries about him. And about any others who have come recently."

"I suppose," said Bundle slowly, "it must have been a servant. It couldn't have been one of the guests?"

"I don't see how that's possible."

"Who were there exactly?"

"Well, there were three girls—Nancy and Helen and Socks—"

"Socks Daventry? I know her."

"May have been. Girl who was always saying things were subtle."

"That's Socks all right. Subtle is one of her words."

"And then there were Gerry Wade and me and Bill Eversleigh and Ronny. And, of course, Sir Oswald and Lady Cootie. Oh! and Pongo."

"Who's Pongo?"

"Chap called Bateman—secretary to old Cootie. Solemn sort of cove but very conscientious. I was at school with him."

"There doesn't seem anything very suspicious there," remarked Loraine. "As you say, we'll have to look among the servants. By the way, you don't suppose that clock being thrown out of the window had anything to do with it?"

"A clock thrown out of the window," said Jimmy, staring. It was the first he had heard of it.

The Seven Cloaks

"I can't see how it can have anything to do with it," said Bundle. "But it's odd somehow. There seems no sense in it."

"I remember," said Jimmy slowly. "I went in to see poor old Gerry, and there were the cloaks ranged along the mantelpiece. I remember noticing there were only seven—not eight."

He gave a sudden shiver and explained himself apologetically.

"Sorry. But somehow those cloaks have always given me the shivers. I dream of them sometimes. I'd hate to go into that room in the dark and see them there in a row."

"You wouldn't be able to see them if it were dark," said Bundle practically. "Not unless they had luminous dials—oh!" She gave a sudden gasp and color rushed into her cheeks. "Don't you see? Seven Dials!"

The others looked at her doubtfully but she insisted with increasing vehemence.

"It must be. It can't be a coincidence."

"You may be right," said my Thesiger at last. "It's dashed odd."

Bundle started questioning eagerly.

"Who bought the cloaks?"

"All of us."

"Who thought of them?"

"All of us."

"Nonsense, somebody must have thought of them first."

HISTORY OF EXCHANGES

London Institution Basis of That In Vancouver
SIMPLY OPERATED
Is Factor in Increasing Prosperity And Keeping Money in Province

A babel of shouting voices—scurrying messengers—slips of paper passed from hand to hand—figures chalked rapidly on a great green board—millions of dollars are changing hands. Such is the outwardly confused picture of one of the most perfect-functioning business machines in the world—the stock exchange.

In the perfection of this smoothly-operating system has gone more than 150 years of experience—improvement born in the throes of tremendous trading—volume of business transacted which would leave in a befuddled daze, the old-fashioned, leisurely broker of the English coffee-house days.

The first stock exchange was founded in London in 1773, a century and a half ago. Previous to this, brokers held casual meetings in some nearby coffee-house. They dealt principally in government securities.

The exchange grew rapidly. It established affiliations with the Dutch and soon assumed international importance. As volume of business grew, changes were imperative to keep pace with speeding business. Plans were tried and rejected. Other systems submitted proved a success. The telegraph and telephone gave wings to commerce. Improved cable service needed international trading. The ticker flashed market quotations to distant points. The London stock exchange became the focal point of international commerce. Today it deals in securities of companies in every part of the globe. The pressure of such a tremendous volume of business could only result in the evolution of an almost perfect system.

When the Vancouver stock exchange was formed in 1907, under provincial government charter, it started with the full advantage of these years of experience in older exchanges. There were but twelve seats. Its growth was rapid. Today it has assumed, with other great public institutions, a vital place in the commerce of Western Canada. Witness its phenomenal growth. Volume of business in 1925 was $890,304.75; in 1928, $36,580,967.50, and in 1929, $129,748,630.16

Simple in Principle
While the ramifications of stock exchange trading are intricate and far-reaching, the basis of its operation is simple. The stock exchange is a market place for the buying and selling of stock. The client places his selling order for stock with his broker. This order is transported to the "floor" of the exchange, where it is offered for sale by the broker's representative. Should another broker hold a buying order for this stock at market, the sale is completed and recorded by the exchange. The price paid for the stock is immediately chalked up on the board and broadcast by telephone and ticker. This becomes the official quotation for this stock.

The prices of stocks are governed by supply and demand. Buying and selling orders set the price. The investing public controls the price. When buying orders pour in and selling orders are few, prices rise. The price quotation for a stock is no more or less than what the public wills.

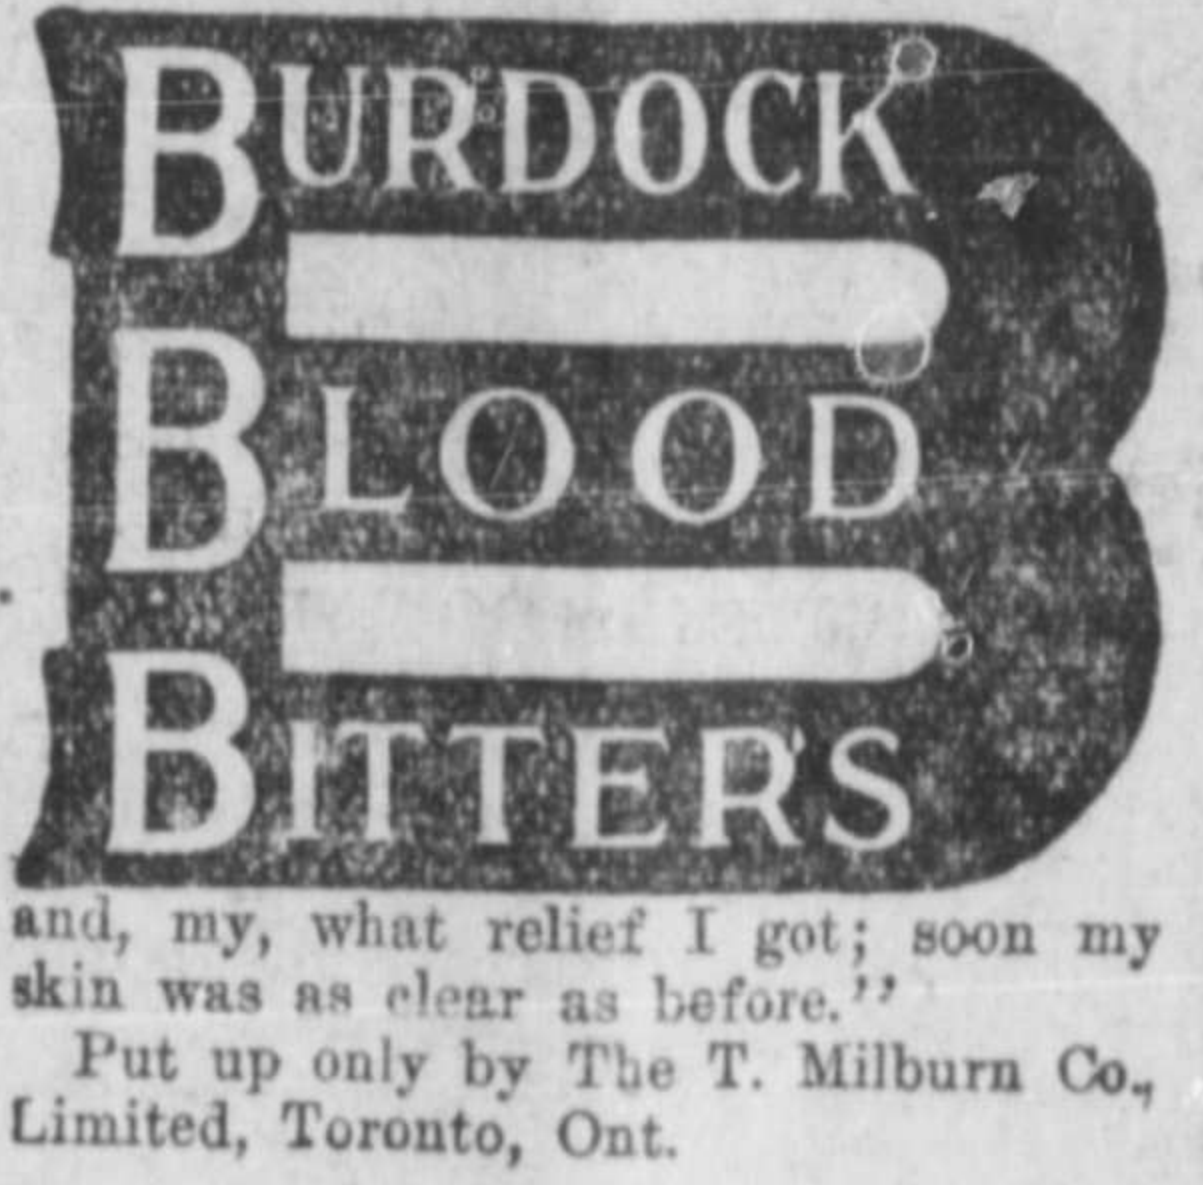

As an institution, the Vancouver stock exchange owns no stock in any company, sponsors no stock flotation, favors no broker, expresses no opinion about individual stocks. It accepts no responsibility for the rise and fall of prices—it does seek to prevent price manipulation unfair to the investors. It maintains rigid rules governing its members.

When an investor buys stock, his act converts capital into mining, oil and industrial enterprises. His purchase is not merely a stock certificate. This investment stands for machinery and equipment, sinking of shafts, building of roads and camps, busy smelters, factories, payrolls. The result of such activity is the development of natural resources, the creation of new wealth with consequent stimulation to trade and the establishment of thriving wholesale houses, retail stores, farms, prosperous workmen.

The mining industry alone has

Painful Boils One After The Other Broke Out On Arms

Miss K. Rudd, 1100 Victoria Drive, Vancouver, B.C., writes:—"About a year ago I was troubled with boils. They broke out on my arms, and no sooner was one healed than another would come to take its place. I suffered great pain with them, and tried different medicines and ointments, but they did me no good. "I was advised to take and, my, what relief I got; soon my skin was as clear as before."

an invested capital in this province of $120,000,000, spends vast sums on fuel, equipment and provisions, pays annually in wages $30,000,000 and employs 18,000 workmen. According to bulletin No. 2, issued by the provincial department of mines, the gross mineral production of British Columbia during the past year created a new high record, being estimated at $70,030,976, an increase over the previous year of $1,658,393. Copper production exceeded 100,000,000 pounds, a record. Structural materials output is estimated at $3,500,000, an increase of 14% as compared with 1928.

Public Institution
The stock exchange plays an important part in diverting the flood tide of capital to British Columbia enterprises. Through its members, the facts of investment opportunities in B.C. are made known to capitalists throughout the world. The stock exchange makes an investment in stock a liquid asset. Stock has a marketability impossible without an exchange.

Every stock listed on the exchange is scrutinized as to proper capitalization, reputation of the directors of the company, soundness of the enterprise. Each stock is subject to removal from the listings, should such action best serve investors.

This great public institution plays an important part in creating public confidence, in safeguarding the investor, in speeding up and improving the trading in stocks. It is an instrument controlled by the public and for the public good. It is a powerful force in increasing British Columbia's prosperity.

First Salmon of Season Got Away From Fisherman

METLAKATLA, Jan. 9.—The first spring salmon of the season was caught here on Monday by Edward Leighton and it tipped the scales at 18 pounds, consequently quite a number of rowboats were out later, but there was not a single "strike" reported. Edward Leighton rowed as far as Wolf Island, when all of a sudden there was a mighty jerk to the little No. 36 Cuttyhunk fish line, a big splash, and, sure enough, a 15-pounder was on the other end of the line. As Leighton is an experienced troller, he handled his fish with great precaution, hauling it in, inch by inch, but only to see his fish get away when within reach of his gaff-hook. Such is the irony of luck.

School Inspector H. C. Fraser was in attendance at last night's meeting of the school board to take up certain matters with the trustees pertaining to the operation of the schools including congestion in some of the divisions etc. Mr. Fraser will take up the matters formally at the first meeting of the 1930 board.
