HECATE STRAIT LIGHTS AGREED ON

Olof Hanson is Now Advised of Great Victory in His Fight For New Aids to Local Navigation

Concrete Tower Flashing Apparatus With Diaphone to Be Erected on Bonilla Island and Unwatched Light on Butterworth Rocks—Gas Buoys at Rose Spit and Eddy Pass

Olof Hanson, Liberal candidate for Skeena riding in the forthcoming federal election, on his return this morning from a campaign tour down the coast, was greeted with a telegram from Ottawa announcing that he had finally been successful in his long fight to have the Department of Marine erect on Bonilla Island a concrete tower with flashing apparatus, fog alarm building with diaphone equipment and other necessary buildings and on Butterworth Rocks an unwatched light. Thus, after many years

IMMENSE PROJECT

Development of St. Lawrence River Costing Two Hundred Million Dollars Planned

OTTAWA, July 9.—A double stage deep water navigation and power development costing in the neighborhood of $274,000,000 to $281,000,000 according to certain alternative features of the project is envisaged in the report of a conference between members of Canadian section of the joint board of engineers and representatives of the Ontario Hydro-Electric Commission who investigated deep water navigation and power possibilities of the St. Lawrence River in the International Rapids section.

BOOST BY PATTULLO

Addressing the Rotary Club at Kamloops while on a visit to that southern interior town last week, T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader in the legislature and M.L.A. for Prince Rupert, described the growing industrial activity of Northern British Columbia. He said that, around the port of Prince Rupert, one-fourth of the fishing industry in Canada was concentrated.

Report That Consolidated Is to Construct Big Missouri Mill Is Gaining Ground at Stewart

STEWART, July 9.—Rumors that the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company is planning construction of a mill at the Big Missouri mine, are growing stronger with the passing of each day, although all local attempts to verify the report have been unsuccessful. It is known, however, that important developments are in store for this property and the general feeling is that construction of a mill at this time would not be unwarranted.

Orders were received this week to discontinue work on the George Copper and the few men already on the property have returned to town. This announcement was a disappointment to the district as it was understood that the Consolidated company had a full of agitation, these aids to navigation are to be installed in Hecate Straits, the use of which for ocean shipping in entering this port has been penalized in the past by the insurance companies on the grounds that, without lights, it was unsafe for navigation.

Mr. Hanson had held out for the installation of the lights as against proposed automatic radio beacons against which the chief objection was that most steamers, particularly ocean going tramp vessels, were not equipped to use them. Mr. Hanson had informed the Department of Marine that these would not be satisfactory although he had no objection to their being installed in addition to the lights.

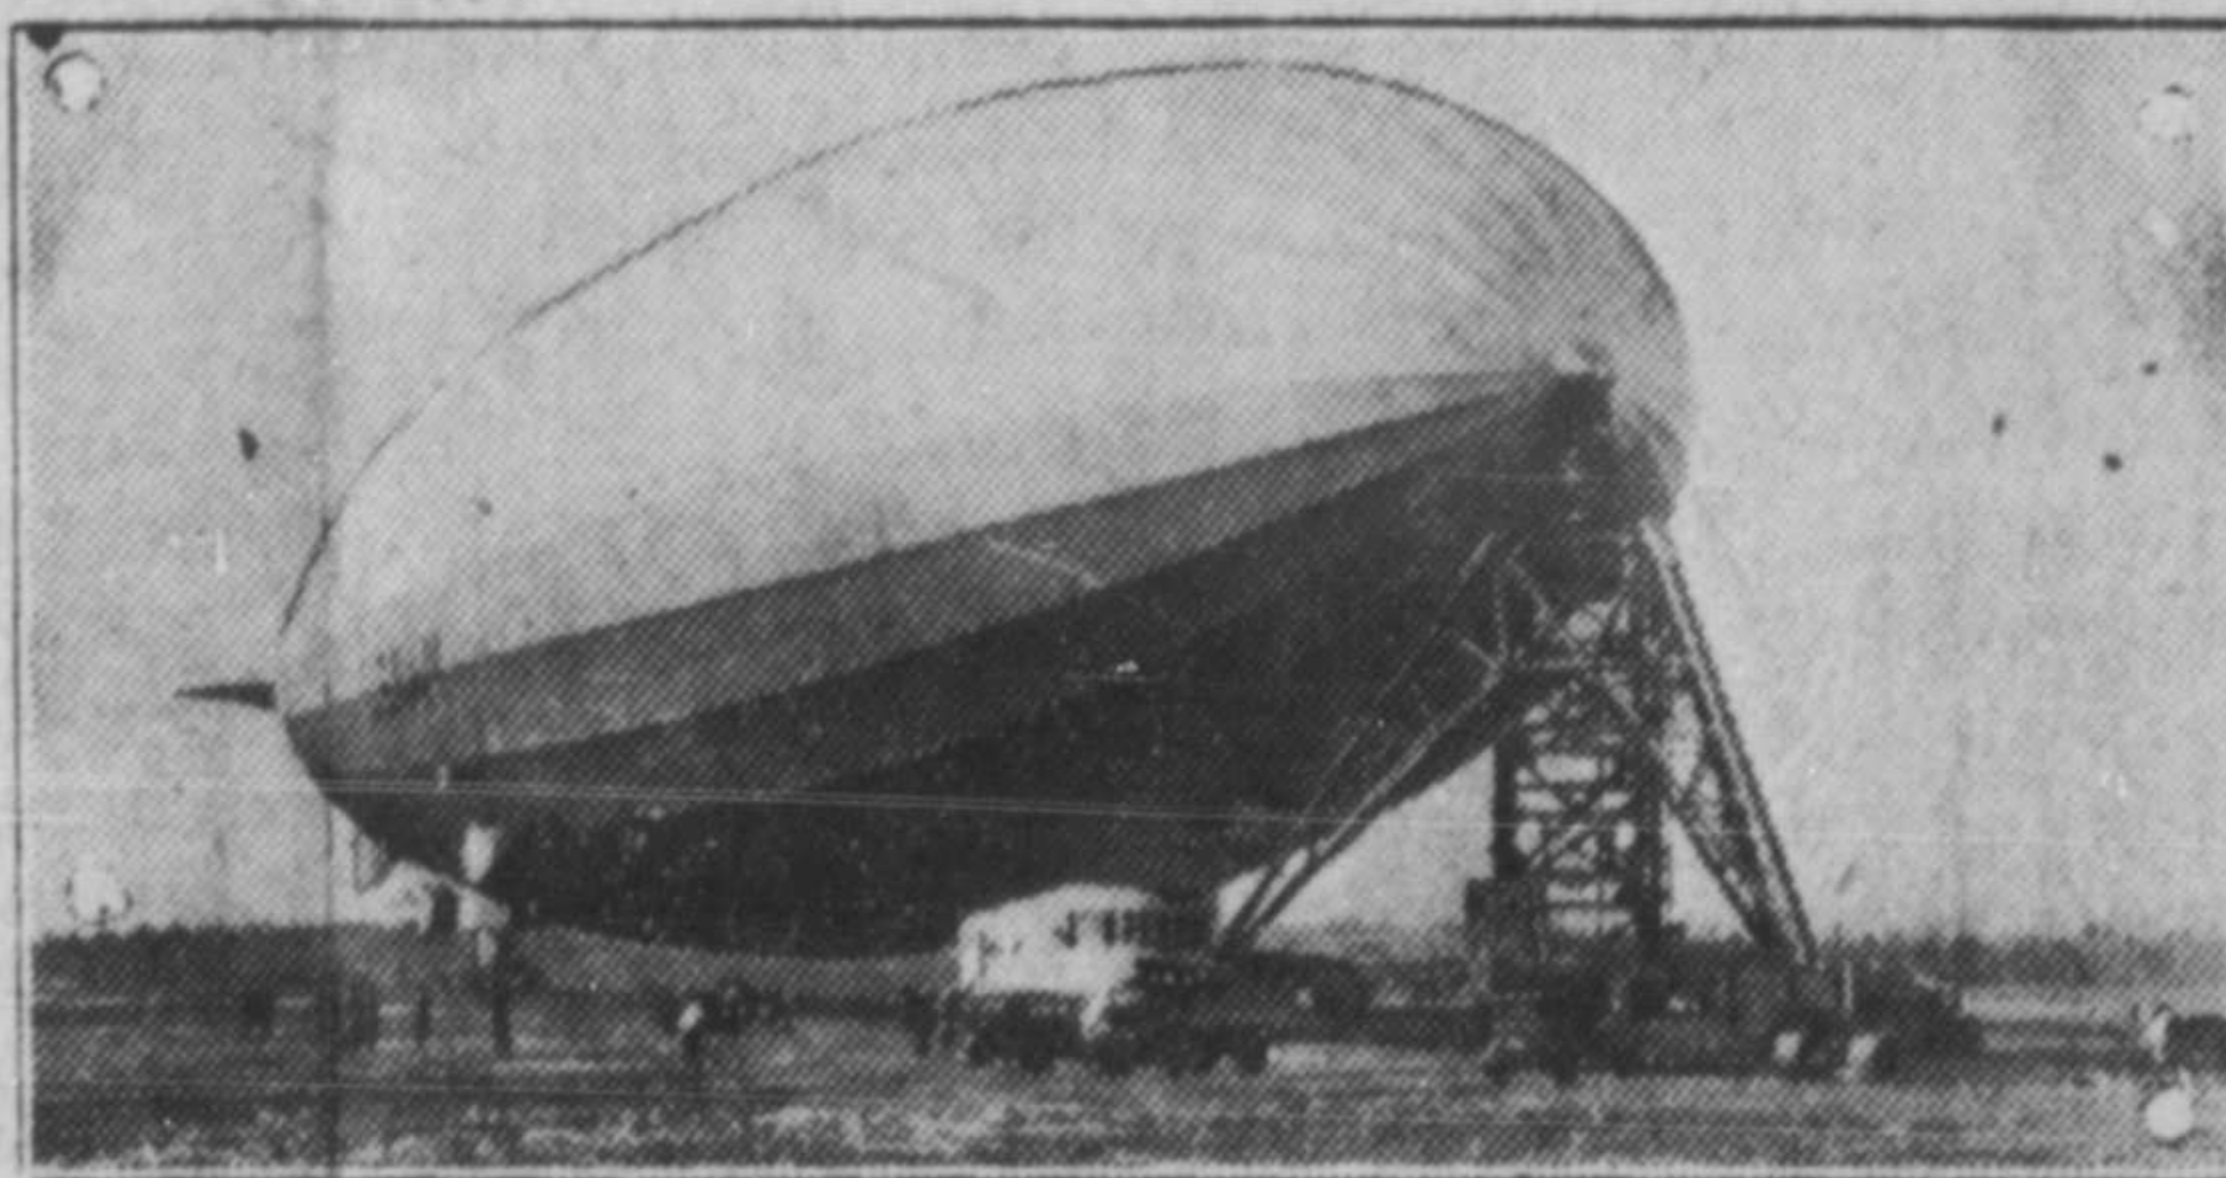

The telegram received by Mr. Hanson from Ottawa read as follows: "Interested department officials have been absent from Ottawa and it has been impossible to secure earlier advice for you. Chief engineer's office now advises its intention to erect on Bonilla Island a concrete tower with flashing apparatus, fog alarm building with diaphone equipment and other necessary buildings and an unwatched light on Butterworth Rocks."

In addition to these important aids in Hecate Straits, the Department of Marine, at the instance of Mr. Hanson, has already decided to proceed at once with the installation of lighted gas buoys at a point five miles southwest of the present

Six American Destroyers Here This Afternoon For Visit In Prince Rupert Next Two Days

For a two-day visit to this port six destroyers of the United States Navy from San Diego base arrived in Prince Rupert Harbor at 2 o'clock this afternoon and tied up at the ocean dock where they will remain during their stay. The destroyers, which came here from Bremerton Navy Yard, Puget Sound, will remain here until Friday morning when they will proceed north in the course of a cruise of Alaska waters. The ships will be open to the public between the hours of 1 o'clock and 4:30 tomorrow afternoon. There will be considerable entertainment for the visiting officers and men during their stay here. There are 130 officers and men on each ship. Each is a completely armed and trim ship.

The squadron is in command of Capt. Leigh Noyes U. S. N., commanding officer of Destroyer Division No. 14, United States Battle Fleet, San Diego.

The list of destroyers with their commanding officers is as follows: U. S. S. Twiggs (Flagship)—Lieutenant-Commander T. S. King, U. S. Navy, commanding.

U. S. S. Badger—Commander C. L. Best, U. S. Navy, commanding.

U. S. S. Jacob Jones—Lieutenant-Commander W. Perkins, U. S. Navy, commanding.

U. S. S. Hamilton—Lieutenant-Commander G. H. Fort, U. S. Navy, commanding.

This evening a baseball team from the squadron will meet a local nine on the Acropolis Hill diamond and tomorrow afternoon two teams from the destroyers will play.

BACK FROM DOWN COAST

Olof Hanson Given Good Reception in South End of Riding; Ocean Falls Going Liberal

Olof Hanson, Liberal candidate for Skeena in the forthcoming federal election, returned to city on the Prince George from a successful campaign tour to Ocean Falls and other points in the southern portion of the riding. He was accompanied on the trip by M. P. McCaffery.

In Ocean Falls, one of the largest centres in the riding, it is commonly stated that the Liberal candidate will receive a substantial majority on this occasion whereas in the last election the Conservative had the lead. The importance of the Australian treaty not being endangered is said to be the actuating factor there in favor of the Liberals.

Miss Cleo Mussallem, who has been visiting in Terrace, is expected to return to the city tomorrow.

PEOPLE SWELTER INTENSE HEAT ON PRAIRIES TODAY

WINNIPEG, July 9.—The west continued to swelter today in the heat wave which has taken four lives in 24 hours. At Moosejaw Mrs. Statham collapsed and died. As the thermometers went up to 97 in the shade in Manitoba, two boy scouts John Sutton, 12, of Winnipeg, and Gerald Dixon, 11, of St. Boniface, were drowned at a summer camp on Lake Winnipeg. Mark Brown, 19 years of age was drowned at Brandon while bathing.

AUSTRALIA IN BAD WAY

Taxes Increased Enormously Under New Budget to Make Finances Balance

CANBERRA, July 9.—A high protective wall will be erected around Australia and drastic increases will be made in internal revenue taxes in an endeavor to recover the substantial loss shown in the budget statement today.

The budget showed a shortage of revenue amounting to about $68,000,000 dollars. New taxation is expected to yield about $60,500,000.

Duty on newsprint is raised one pound per ton. A sales tax on the Canadian plan will be adopted. The income tax will be raised from 10% to 15% and postage will be increased from three to four cents. Also a primary customs duty of 2½% will be levied on all imports.

The increases announced today are in addition to various increases in customs tariffs effected within the last few months.

VANCOUVER, July 9.—A great crowd filled the Arena here last night to hear Premier King, and he was accorded an attentive and enthusiastic hearing. It was the largest indoor gathering he had addressed since the campaign opened. ### Cathedral Grove Does Not Belong to Gov't But Must be Bought

Corrects Impression Left By Premier Tolmie in Announcement—Declares Province Is Headed For Financial Morass

VICTORIA, July 9.—T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader, in a statement yesterday, said in part: "I notice that Premier Tolmie has announced that a stand of timber on Vancouver Island, known as 'Cathedral Grove,' is to be preserved for park purposes. I would like to point out that this timber is not at present in the ownership of the province but is held privately and will have to be purchased by the province. I am very much in sympathy with the setting aside of suitable areas for park purposes. I am pointing out, however, that the statement as published, would lead the public to believe that this is an area already owned by the province whereas the area will have to be purchased and the money raised out of taxation.

"I am afraid that the Tolmie administration is heading for a financial morass that will shortly become embarrassing."

The Political Corner

A Warning to Mr. Brady

Mr. Brady in his speech in Prince Rupert on June 17 said that the Liberal Government in 11 years had "annihilated" the agricultural industry. He said "Canada's fields are desolate."

Mr. Brady knows that there is not one word of truth in this. He cannot surely be so ignorant of the ordinary business affairs of Canada after having spent four years at Ottawa. If he does not know, then his words should condemn him to private life forever as a man incapable of learning the most commonplace matters of public business.

Sir Thomas White, a Minister of Finance in the former Conservative Government and now vice-president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, in a recent report stated that for the period in question Canada had produced an unprecedented quantity of farm products for export, and that this remarkable expansion of Canadian industry was not confined to agriculture alone.

Sir Charles Gordon, President of the Bank of Montreal, at the annual meeting in December, 1929, said:

"In reviewing the commercial situation in Canada, it should be kept in mind that there have been five years of almost uninterrupted expansion. In that brief period Canada has achieved a degree of development quite unprecedented. Not in one or two directions, but practically in all, remarkable material progress has occurred—in agriculture, in many lines of manufacturing, etc., etc."

The Canadian Bank of Commerce Monthly Report for June, 1930 shows that Canada's increase in wheat production of 1928 over 1925 was 35% (desolate fields indeed!); in livestock production, cattle, swine and sheep, 4%; and in the coarse grains—rye, oats and barley, 21%.

We are compelled to serve a warning upon Mr. Brady that he is not going to be allowed to "get away" with this sort of thing. If he will not take the trouble to inform himself and then give us the truth with regard to it, this Political Corner will continue to pillory him until he does.

This matter of sending a man to Ottawa to look after our business interests and to help us save our investments in the north is too serious a one for us to allow any person to mislead the electorate in this way.

FORECAST OF BANKERS

A forecast of bankers throughout the Dominion shows that they think the country will again go Liberal but with reduced numbers.

It must be remembered in considering this report that the average banker is Conservative in his ideas if not in his politics. He is trained to think conservatively. He is careful about expressing his opinions and hates exaggeration.

The average banker mixes with people who are conservative and his opinions are based largely on the Conservative opinion in a neighborhood. The advanced liberalism does not touch him much. For that reason the opinion of bankers will be biased toward the Conservative political view.

Take British Columbia as an instance. According to the report of the bankers there will not be a Liberal from this province in the next House. They have Skeena branded as Conservative when those who have studied the situation locally know that there is every probability that it will be Liberal. We do not blame them for this. They mix with the kind of people who think that way. We are keeping the list of forecasts and shall be much interested to compare it with the actual results after election day. We can also advise the bankers who have made the forecast right now that they are going to be wrong in several cases in British Columbia.

NEW HOTEL SITE

It is understood that when Sir Henry Thornton visits Prince Rupert on July 19 he will announce the site of the new Canadian National Hotel, unless it is decided to make the announcement before that time. Three sites have been under consideration, but which one is to be chosen no one knows yet, although the favorite seems to be on the high knoll between the residence of Superintendent Tobey and the new fisheries experimental station. This would give an unbroken view of the harbor whereas in either of the other proposed sites there would be obstacles in the way.

Naturally a great many people are interested in the proposed site but local opinion is not much guide in regard to it as the railway officials will make choice without reference to local opinion as they are best fitted to decide what is best for their own business.

News of the Mines
AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Premier to Resume on Silverado—Independence Starts Up Again—Activity on Stikine

The Premier Gold Mining Co. is resuming development work on the Silverado property at Stewart, which has been closed down since January. Jack Piercy, Premier engineer, is again in charge of the work and has a crew of 12 men under him. The work will be continued where it was left off in January. Last week a preliminary crew was put to work repairing trails and doing other preparatory work. Duncan McLean lived at the property as watchman during the past winter.

Development of the Independence

mine on the west side of Bear Creek, opposite Mosquito Creek, in the Portland Canal district, which was discontinued during the winter months, is expected to be in full swing again by next month with S. P. Fitzgerald in charge. It is proposed to continue No. 2 tunnel one thousand feet to come under diamond drill holes which cut the entire vein system and then drift north and south. This will practically cut the entire vein system part of which was proven by diamond drilling. A three-drill compressor will supply the air. Plans are to do 2500 feet of work altogether which will give 1,000 feet depth. Controlling interest in the Independence is held by the Revenue Consolidated Mines Ltd. of Vancouver.

There has been considerable activity in the Stikine River district since the sensational Drapich strike a few weeks ago. Excellent values are being obtained and attention has been distracted from Taku River to there on that account. There are many who believe that the Stikine will eventually be a better mining field than Taku.

The annual meeting of the Mar-mot Engineer Co. is being held today at Premier, business including the presentation of reports on finances and development. George H. Bunn hops to start work on the property in July although probably on not a very large scale. Last year when work ceased, the property had developed some promising ore bodies and was shaping up well.

CAREER OF A. C. DOYLE

Famous Author and Spiritualist Started Life as Surgeon and Served As Such in Boer War

Coming from a family of famous artists, Sir Arthur Conan Doyle, who died Monday, was born at Edinburgh, May 22, 1859. He was the son of Charles Doyle, a grandson of John Doyle, best known as "H. B." and a nephew of Punch's celebrated Richard Doyle. All three were well known as artists and caricaturists. When his studies at Stonyhurst College and Edinburgh University came to an end, Arthur, as was the fashion of the time, went to Germany to continue his book learning. Receiving his degree of medicine he returned home and set up practice at Southsea. During his eight years in his first chosen profession—1882 to 1890—he wrote fiction in his considerable spare time, and success came to him so abundantly that he gave up being a physician and became a full-fledged figure in the realm of literature. He introduced "Sherlock Holmes" in 1887 in his book, "A Study in Scarlet." The year after his medical kit began collecting dust, Sir Arthur's stories reached the zenith of their popularity with the publication of "The Adventures of Sherlock Holmes." He returned to his popular hero in "The Memoirs of Sherlock Holmes," "The Hound of the Baskervilles" and "The Return of Sherlock Holmes." Explaining how the detective got his name, Sir Arthur said he wanted to get away from Dickens' custom of calling every detective Sharpe, or such-like appellations. "Holmes was homely," he said, "and as for Sherlock, well, years ago I made 30 runs against a bowler by the name of Sherlock and I always had a kindly feeling for that name." Along with his detective yarns, Doyle published a series of stories on the Napoleonic wars entitled "The Exploits of Brigadier Gerard," and one of his early plays was "The Story of Waterloo," in which Sir Henry Irving took the leading role. He also dramatized others of his literary works.

To Boer War

When the Boer War began Doyle put away the pen and took up his medicine case again, going to South Africa as chief physician of the Langman field hospital. He wrote two books in defense of the British Army that fought the Boers, one, "The Great Boer War," was a moderate success; the other, "The War in South Africa: Its Causes and Conduct," so impressed the authorities that they had it printed in 12 languages, and distributed 100,000 copies gratis among the peoples of Europe.

Between this war and the great one that was to follow in 1914, Sir Arthur, as he had become, studied spiritualism, but it was during the emotional years of the conflict with Germany that he took to it with all the intensity of his nature. In 1919 he and his wife announced their faith in the spirit life. Sir Arthur said he possessed papers which he claimed proved "the survival of and communion with the dead beyond the shadow of doubt." Sometime after he said he had communicated with his son, William Hope of Crew, a cabinetmaker claiming special mediumistic powers sent him a "spirit photograph" of the dead youth, which Sir Arthur described as "a psychograph of my boy."

Twice during his life, in 1900 and again in 1908, Sir Arthur contested for a seat in Parliament, but without success. His recreations were golf, cycling and billiards. He was regarded as one of the best amateur billiard shots in England. He was married twice, first to Louise Hawkins of Minsterworth, in 1885. She died in 1906, and the next year, Sir Arthur married Jean Leekie, daughter of James Blyth Leekie of Glebe House, Blackheath.

After announcing his faith in spiritualism, Sir Arthur wrote several volumes pertaining to the subject, among them being "The Wanderings of a Spiritualist," "The Coming of the Fairies," and "Our American Adventure," the last an account of the tour he and Lady Doyle had made in the happy hunting ground of British lecturers—the United States. Early in 1924 he announced his abandonment of writing as a source of income to devote the remainder of his days "to serious work."

Peace River Man Uses Initiative

Red Port Rancher Builds Raft to Take His Spuds to Market

The character of settlers in the great Peace River district of British Columbia is clearly shown in the following story:

Diek Wynn is a rancher living near Red Port, B.C., 400 miles from the nearest railway. He grew 150 sacks of potatoes last year for which there was no local market. Determined to sell his crop, Wynn chopped down several trees and built himself a raft, took along a loaf of bread and a "chunk" of meat and pushed off into the current of the river.

A week later he landed at Fort Fitzgerald, 350 miles from his farm. Here he sold his potatoes for $5 a sack, sold the logs in his raft and returned by land to his cabin with a substantial "grub stake."

After her maiden trip to Alaska waters with a large and distinguished passenger list on board, C.N.R. steamer Prince Henry, Capt. A. J. Gilbert, returned to port on time at 7 o'clock this morning from Skagway and sailed two hours later for Vancouver direct. The Henry is scheduled to make the run from here to Vancouver in twenty four and a-half hours, reaching there at 9.30 tomorrow morning.

The Daily News' Subscription Campaign IS NOW GOING STRONG

NUMBER OF CANDIDATES KEEN FOR PRIZES AND WORKING HARD

The candidates who are working for the grand prizes in the Daily News Campaign are now keen to win. They have the opportunity of canvassing either in the city or outside and some of them are receiving a good deal of encouragement.

One difficulty has been that the circulation of the Daily News in the city was already almost at saturation point. Most people already subscribe. The News already has twice as many paid up subscribers right in the city as any other paper.

The reason for the success of the Daily News is that it tries to give to the people of the city and district as good a paper as possible. It is the intention to continue to improve and add new features from time to time.

Those not now subscribers or any who would like to encourage one of the candidates by paying in advance, should get in touch with their favorite at once. The candidates and their standings follow:

Lambie Strikes Out Fifteen Batters and Allows Only One Hit in Seven Innings

HOWE STARS AT BAT

Native Sons of Canada went into second place last night in the City Baseball League as a result of their win over Centrals, 6-2. Bill Lambie was very stingy with hits, allowing the losers only one single, which Farquhar made in the sixth inning. He struck out 15 batters in the seven innings and included every opposing batter in the list. Chenowski was on the mound for the losers and allowed 10 safeties including three two-base clouts.

George Howe was the batting star of the evening, connecting for three safeties, two of which were for two bases, in four times up. Eddie Smith made two hits in four times up and one of these was for two bases. Lambie also hit safely twice in four times at bat.

Native Sons scored their first brace of runs in the second when Bill Mitchell and Lambie scored on one of Howe's hits. They added another in the fifth. In the last inning Jimmy Farquhar had his thumb put out of joint when he went after a low throw to first and had to leave the game. The Centrals seemed to lose heart and at the same time the Sons began to hit fly balls to the outfield which the players could not see for the setting sun. When the dust had cleared three more runs had trickled over the plate.

Centrals only scoring came in the sixth. Farquhar hit safely after two men were out. Bury walked and then Lambie purposely walked Downie, whom he had struck out in his previous time at bat. A passed ball and Farquhar scored and then Lambie hit Bury on the back with his throw to catch him at third and he scored when the ball rolled into the outfield. Somerville hit one to Smith for the third out.

Elks are still in the lead with four wins and three losses, while Sons of Canada have won three and lost three. Centrals are now at the bottom with three wins and four defeats.

SIR JOSEPH WARD'S LIFE

Former Premier of New Zealand Served His Country For Many Years

Sir Joseph Bruce Ward, former Premier of New Zealand, who died Monday, was born at Emerald Hill, Melbourne, April 26, 1857, the son of Thomas Ward, a merchant, and was educated privately at Melbourne and in the state school at Bluff, N.Z. His first employment in New Zealand was as a boy of 13, in the department over which he was afterwards to preside as Postmaster General with conspicuous success for more than 20 years.

At the age of 21 he started business on his own account as a produce merchant and began a connection with municipal politics that lasted many years. He entered Parliament as Liberal member for Awarua in 1887, and retained the seat for more than 30 years. On the formation of the Ballance ministry in 1891 he joined it as Postmaster General and filled the same office in successive Liberal administrations until 1912, and afterwards for four years in the National Government from 1915 to 1919.

In 1901 the success of his efforts to give New Zealand penny postage was rewarded by his being made a K.C.M.G. In the Seddon Government he held other important portfolios, which included those of Colonial Treasurer and Minister of Railways, and his appointment as Minister of Public Health in November, 1900, is believed to have been the first such appointment in the world.

After Seddon's death Sir Joseph Ward, who had on several occasions filled the position of acting Prime Minister during his late leader's absence from New Zealand, succeeded in the premiership, August 6, 1906, and held it till his resignation, March 23, 1912.

Sir Joseph was a strong Imperialist and the most distinguished achievements of the earlier Ward Government were the gift of a battle cruiser to the navy and the inroduction of compulsory military training. The establishment of compulsory military training in 1909 did not demand the same strong initiative although of course it was more important than the gift of a battle cruiser.

Was Defeated

The general election of 1911 turned largely on the question of administration and personnel. Sir Joseph had no striking program to submit and his party was attacked strongly by the growing Labor party. The election resulted in return of 37 Liberals, 37 Reform party, four Laborites and two Independents. At the subsequent session a motion of no-confidence was rejected 40 to 39 but Parliament was prorogued and Sir Joseph resigned the premiership.

After acting as leader of the Opposition till August, 1915, Sir Joseph joined with W. F. Massey, the Reform party leader, then Prime Minister, in forming the National Government in which the Reform and Liberal parties were equally represented in order to avoid party strife for the period of the war. In the National Government Sir Joseph's principal office was that of Finance Minister.

Sir Joseph dissolved the coalition by resigning his place in the National Government August, 1919, and at the general election at the end of the year his party was defeated and he himself lost his seat. His own defeat was due in part to a sectarian agitation directed against him on the ground of his alleged bias as a Roman Catholic in favor of those of his own faith.

In 1928 the former Liberals and Independent Liberals banded themselves into the new United Party and notified Sir Joseph, who at the time was in Winnipeg on a Canadian visit, that he was elected leader of the party. Sir Joseph shortly afterwards returned to New Zealand to lead the party in the general election campaign of that year. It ended with polling in November. The government was defeated and Sir Joseph was invited to form a ministry. This he did, becoming Prime Minister again after a lapse of 16 years.

Sir Joseph represented New Zealand at the Imperial Conference 1907, 1909 (defense) and the Privy Council in 1906 and received a baronetcy in 1911. He married in 1883 Theresa Othea de Smith and had four children and one daughter.

the Orient from Canada. He referred to the handicap which was offered by Canadian business men communicating with the Orient through the United States. "I was asked, 'should there not be wireless telephone communication between Canada and Tokyo?'"

In connection with meeting unemployment problem in Vancouver, the Prime Minister emphasized the importance of an start on construction of the way outlet from the Peace River district. He explained that he had taken the matter up personally with the heads of the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National railways. Some time ago these companies had been told, the Premier said, that they ought to be able to determine the route that would follow within six months if they had not done so in time, the government, he would find some means of proceeding with the project.

"I think the best way to deal with unemployment is to try and get men in employment rather than give out doles," Mr. King asserted. He said that the government had followed this policy after last wheat crop failure. He had advised Sir Henry Thornton to get men in the Canadian National Railways and, as a result of employment had been provided about five thousand men who otherwise have been thrown out of work.

The Premier left this morning Kamloops where he is to speak tonight. He will then go on to Edmonton.

"Isn't it terrible today, Uncle —90 in the shade!"

Poor Uncle Ed . . . a half-failure —too bad he never suspected "B.O."

PEOPLE had never liked him. Despite his geniality, even men had denied him friendship. For all his ability, real success had always evaded him. Now he was past middle age—a lonely man—unpopular, just a half-way success—and all for the same unpardonable failing—"B.O." Body Odour.

Odourless perspiration—even in hot weather.

Isn't it too bad that the offender is always last—when he should be first to suspect "B.O."?

We're fooled, doctors say, because we become insensitive to ever-present odours.

But we perspire constantly—more than ever in hot weather. As much as a quart of odour-causing waste is given off by pores daily.

Why take chances when it's so pleasant, so easy to keep safe? Just use the favorite bath soap of millions—Lifebuoy. Its mild antiseptic lather deeply purifies. You'll notice the glorious new sense of cleanness it gives—the marvellous freshness that lasts for hours, with never a hint of "B.O."

Note, too, how fresh and clear Lifebuoy keeps complexions. Remember, it guards health—by removing germs. You'll love Lifebuoy's pleasant, extra-clean scent that tells you it purifies, yet quickly vanishes as you rinse. Adopt Lifebuoy today.
