Empress of Scotland Terminates Transatlantic Existence After 25 Years Service

MONTREAL, Oct. 23.—Twenty-five years of service on the North Atlantic were terminated recently with the arrival at Southampton of the liner Empress of Scotland from Quebec.

Built by the Vulcan Company of Stettin in 1905, she was to have borne the name of Europa, but this was changed when the German Empress consented to christen her. Her original gross tonnage was 24,581 but this was later increased to 25,037 by additions deemed necessary for the Canadian trade.

The vessel has been offered for sale and will probably pass from the seas to the shipwreckers. In her day the Empress of Scotland was considered one of the most luxurious ships afloat and she was very popular during the nine years that she sailed out of Quebec.

TRADE IS FOSTERED

Official Representing Port of London, Tours Canada Stimulating Interest in English Market

HALIFAX, N.S., Oct. 23.—Canada has an opportunity of increasing the sale of many of her products in the London market. In the opinion of students of conditions there, according to A. E. Wildey, public relations officer of the Port of London Authority, who arrived here in the course of a lecture tour including all the principal cities of the Dominion as well as St. John's, Nfld.

"The Port of London Authority has sent me here to stimulate the interest of Canada in the great market served by the Port of London," said Mr. Wildey. Explaining Canada's opportunity for greater sales in London, he said the population there of 8,000,000 who annually bought vast quantities of products from all parts of the world, was steadily increasing because industry was concentrating more and more around the London area.

"Last year overseas products to the value of nearly $500,000,000 were sold in the Port of London. This represents nearly 30,000,000 tons of merchandise of all descriptions from every part of the globe. No other city in the world makes such vast purchases of overseas products. London supplies not only its own local population but a large part of the nation's needs in many commodities, and is, also, a great international market where buyers attend to purchase various classes of merchandise in wholesale quantities.

London Finest Port

"For the handling of this vast trade the British Empire can boast the finest port in the world—London—the port that has helped to build the Empire and, conversely, the port that the Empire has helped to build. Last year, ships aggregating over 58,000,000 net registered tons entered and left the port."

London is also the financial centre of the world, Mr. Wildey said, and last year cleared 93% of the $44,896,000,000 that passed through the Bankers' Clearing House of Great Britain. He declared that business could be financed more cheaply in London than elsewhere and that insurance rates generally were lower there.

"My visit to Canada is something more than just a move to increase trade," said Mr. Wildey. "It is a manifestation of good-will from one of the most important public bodies in the United Kingdom and symbolizes the true Empire spirit of the Old Country."

London was not feeling the general trade depression as much as other cities. "Relatively, there are fewer unemployed in London than in other parts of England. Although it is possible that bottom has not been reached in the depression, there is confidence in London that an upward trend of affairs is not far away. International trade never slackens its pace for very long spells. Moreover, the demands of the individual world over are greater and keener today than ever before, and where there is demand, supply is certain to follow sooner or later."

Hands Were Tied Behind Back, Feet Lashed Together, Bruise Over Eye and $60 Cash In Pockets

KETCHIKAN, Oct. 23.—With his hands tied behind his back, his feet lashed together and a bruise over the right eye, the body of G. P. Marshall, aged 60, Ketchikan fish buyer, was found on his boat at Point Higgins, 12 miles from here yesterday, by the coastguard cutter Cygan. TO SEARCH FOR BURKE

American Flyer Interrupts His Mission to Take Up Quest For Canadian Pilot

HAZELTON, Oct. 23.—Pilot Frank Dorbrandt, who is engaged in an aerial reconnaissance of an air route from the United States to Alaska, arrived here yesterday afternoon from Prince George, following his flight north from Wenatchee, to prepare for a search for Capt. E. J. A. Burke, Air Land Manufacturing Co. pilot; his mechanic, Emil Kading, and Bob Martin, passenger and pioneer prospector, who have been missing for nearly a week in Liard River district.

Dorbrandt expected to fly from Hazelton to Telegraph Creek today or tomorrow. Then he will fly east over the Liard Valley. Dorbrandt has a six-passenger cabin plane and, although it is not ski-equipped, it is thought to have sufficient range to make the long flight into the Liard and return to Telegraph Creek or Atlin without coming down. Frank Dorbrandt left Hazelton at 12 noon today for the north, the Government Telegraphs report, but only went as far as Fourth Cabin and then turned back. Weather was very bad and visibility poor on account of snow and rain.

BUY LOCAL PRODUCE

A Prince Rupert man who likes to use clams stated to the Daily News that when he rang up his grocer and asked for Queen Charlotte Island clams he was told they did not keep them. Instead of that the grocer stocks Korean clams handled by the Japanese and clams packed in the State of Washington.

Further we are told that the razor clams of Queen Charlottes are far superior to any others in quality, but people know nothing about them because they are not advertised. If the Massett packers would spend a very few dollars in the Prince Rupert newspapers to let the people of the city know that they have this splendid product, doubtless local people would use them. This free advertisement is given them to try to encourage the use of local product. Possibly there are other products of the district that are not used at home. If so, we should like to know about it and will tell about it free of charge.

If the manufacturers of goods produced in this part of the country would get in touch with the chamber of commerce and ask their aid, it might help. The best means,

TELLS OF OLD LAND

A very interesting talk was given members of the Prince Rupert Gyro Club, at their monthly open luncheon in the Commodore Cafe yesterday by Rev. Alfred Wilson, pastor of First United Church, who humorously at some times and seriously on other occasions, described some of his experiences on a recent trip to England. In opening his remarks, Mr. Wilson mentioned the value of travel and cited some of the benefits to be derived therefrom.

While any observations that might have been made during so short a stay as he had made in the Old Country must necessarily be very cursory, Mr. Wilson was, nevertheless impressed with the improved standard of living there and the greatly increased sobriety of the people. During his stay in England, Mr. Wilson visited a number of churches especially in the rural districts. He mentioned the valuable part the churches were playing in the national fabric of the country.

Mr. Wilson also gave his hearers a brief but interesting description of his impressions of the great British dirigible R-100 which he saw at St. Hubert, Quebec, while a damaged fin was being repaired following the balloon's westward crossing of the Atlantic Ocean.

At the conclusion of his address, Mr. Wilson was heartily thanked on behalf of the club by C. A. Kirkendall, the president, who was in the chair.

Guests at the luncheon included Edward Lipsett, Ray Worlock and Mr. Erickson.

L. W. Waugh was the winner of the luncheon raffle.

TWO Great Radio Triumphs in ONE set

The General Electric

Outstanding among modern radio achievements are the Super-Heterodyne circuit and Screen-Grid Radiotrons. Now, for the first time in the history of radio, these two great developments have been combined in the new General Electric Radio. The result is Full Range Sensitivity... General Electric Radio will bring in low-powered or distant stations that the ordinary set cannot reach... that is Full Range Sensitivity. Stations only one line apart on the dial do not overlap... every line on the dial marks a different station... that is Full Range Selectivity. Those subtle overtones which constitute the true beauty of music are preserved and reproduced... that is Full Range Tone.
