Most of Pacific Coast Outlet For Peace River District Is Already Built, Editor States

Peace River needs a route to the Orient, but that does not mean that a Pacific Ocean must be made to give such a route, writes Charles W. Frederick, publisher of the Grande Prairie Herald. Peace River requires an outlet to the Pacific Coast, but that does not mean that a new line of railway must be built the entire distance from Peace River to tidewater. Most of it is already built. When some people and some newspapers mention the subject of a proposed coast outlet for the Peace.

River country it is in terms which indicate a belief that some gigantic undertaking is proposed, involving RONALTY immense construction programs of a thousand miles or more of railway over all but insurmountable mountain ranges. What the Peace country actually requires is the construction of 360 miles of railway along a water grade to connect Climes presently constructed or projected lines of railway to complete a new and shorter route to tidewater.

The program of the Northern Alberta Railway calls for construction Jose, only daughter of the King and westwards as far as Hudson Hope, Queen of Belgium, this morning bemust go for its coal supply. IMPORTANT PACIFIC PORT

The London Times Imperial and foreign engineering division. supplement nicely bound in cloth covers has been received. It deals with Canada and her industries and covers the fields well. It is the work of Charles H. Luke, who toured the country last summer.

Prince Rupert is classed among the three great ports of the Pacific and in mentioning the city the writer says:

"Prince Rupert, the principal port on the northern, coast of British Columbia, also possesses a commodious harbor. The city itself is the northern Pacific terminus of the Canadian National Railways, and an extensive salman and halibut fishing industry is located there—indeed, Prince Rupert is said to be the greatest halibut port on Pacific Stevedoring Co. and pioneer the Pacific. OUT OF POLITICS

The decision of the city council to hold a plebiscite on the question of retention of the provincial police takes the matter out of municipal politics. Whatever is decided C. N. TRAIN upon by the people will be carried out by the city council, no matter what their personal views. The chief matter of importance now is to select a mayor who will, if chosen head of the police commission, carry on the civic police affairs in a proper manner.

The Daily News does not usually take part in civic tinental Limited, westbound, were elections, and this year will be no exception to the general was reported ditched this morning rule. Tomorrow night there is a public meeting called by S. This Man Played M. Newton, which, it is probable, a great many will attend. It is also announced by Alderman Prudhomme that he will hold a meeting early next week. Reports of these meetings will be made, but candidates must not expect that anything more than a summary of what they say will be published. Most of the space will naturally be given to the mayoralty candidates.

There has been considerable criticism of the last council in regard to their sewer building and other policies. There's a house party on at Chim-Cupled for the present on lease by Sir Oswald and Lady Coote. Guests are late and Gerry Wade, much to the annoyance of Lady Coote.

Rupert Bateman, secretary to Sir Oswald, suggests an alarm clock by way of assuring that Wade in particular gets up next morning at a more reasclocks in Wade's room once he is found dead by a servant. Dr. Cartwright declared death due to an overdose of sleeping powder. Seven clocks, not eight are found lined up in Wade's room. Thesiger and Ronny Devereux motor to Gerry's home to inform a sister, Loraine Wade, of her brother's

Lord Caterham, owner is back at Chimneys. His daughter, Lady Eileen Brent, called "Bundle," finds a letter written by Wade indicating that his death was not accidental. While motoring to town. Bundle thinks she has run down a man. He proves to be Ronny Devereux, who, mysteriously shot and dying, whispers: "Seven Dials -tell-Jimmy Thesiger."

Bundle learns of a place called Seven Dials. Cabinet Minister George Lomax has received a warning letter.

NCE upon a time most people were worried a lot by "If." A few still are. You can tell them if ·you listen to them when they're shopping.

"If you are sure that rug won't fade . . .'

"If you're positive this is pure wool . . ."

"If you'll guarantee these eggs as fresh . . .'

"If you think this washing machine will work better than the other one"

"If . . . if . . . if . . . "

The trouble with such people is-they don't read the advertisements. People who do read them do not have to depend upon "ifs" in their buying. They know what they are getting, because they have the definite, printed, reiterated assurances of the advertiser.

Most people nowadays do read the advertisements. They shop intelligently and quickly. They know beforehand what they want, why they want it, how much they will have to pay, and where to go.

Intelligent buyers substitute "know" for "if" by reading the advertisements

Coughed and Coughed Object To Nurses Day And Night With Raising Wage Scale

Two Special Nurses Daily Will Now Cost $16.50 in Montreal

MONTREAL, Jan. 7 .- Objection to the action taken by the local Association of Registered Nurses in raising the schedule for nursing service was taken by Dr. Charles F. Martin, Dean of the Faculty of Medicine of McGill University, in an address to the graduating class of the Parker School of Trained Attendants.

"I have learned with regret that the local Association of Registered Nurses here has decided to establish a scale of prices that is prohibitive to a large proportion of the population. Our citizens as a whole have not yet learned to budget for their nursing in serious illness at the rate f $16.50 a day—for that is what it will mean to receive the attention of two nurses daily over a period of weeks or even of months," said Dr. Martin. Saying that he spoke for the majority of physicians, he continued: "Frankly, I believe that such a decision can only tend to antagonize both public and the profession and lead to hardships among nurses at large. There are, am told over two hundred fully trained nurses on the register today seeking employment. Surely this was not the time for an effort o initiate a change of such nature.
