BRITISH COLUMBIA LIQUOR BUSINESS SHOWS FALLING OFF

Orderly Marketing of the 1930 Crop is Assured, Says Bennett After Parley With Bankers

Expected That Government Will Stand Behind Banks and Prevent Distress Selling on Part of Grain Holders

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—Arrangements have been concluded that will ensure the orderly marketing of the 1930 wheat crop of Western Canada. This brief announcement was made by Premier Bennett last night some time after a conference which the Prime Minister had with representatives of the Canadian Bankers' Association in the afternoon. Representatives of the leading banks from Montreal and Toronto, it is believed, went over the wheat situation with the Premier.

Mrs. Renahan Is Persistent

While she has not received much encouragement so far from Hon. Donald Sutherland, minister of national defence, and other Ottawa officials, Mrs. Robin Renahan is continuing her appeal for a further aerial expedition to search for her aviator husband and two companions, who have been missing since October 23 when they left Butedale in continuation of a flight north to join the search for Capt. E. J. A. Burke, then missing aviator. Mrs. Renahan is now of the belief that her husband may have turned inland instead of continuing along the Alaska coast. She is asking that planes be now sent to search the interior.

London and Environs Have One of Worst Fogs in History; At Least Twelve Dead as Result

LONDON, Dec. 23.—At least four men stepped to death by drowning during a great fog, one of the worst in the history of the city, under which London and environs were buried last night and early today. The total deaths from various accidents due to the fog numbered well over a dozen. The drowning victims all walked unseeing into the canals or streams, the banks of which were veiled by the dense blanket. The fog had lifted in many sections today.

IS FEARED DEAD NOW

English Youth Missing Since Nov. 7, When Hiking to Prince Rupert

With no word heard of his whereabouts since he plunged into the Rocky Mountain wilderness via Pine Pass in the early part of October with only a .22 calibre rifle, a horse, and a small amount of food, the British Columbia provincial police fear that John Noel Patch Bennett, age about 18, English public school boy seeing the west has been lost and may be dead.

Bennett, whose father is a wealthy former theatre owner of London, left the Old Country last summer on a trip around the world to broaden his education before he entered Cambridge University.

In the course of his trip he reached Grande Prairie and conceived the idea of travelling alone through Pine Pass to Vancouver. Old-timers warned him against the project, but he got together the light outfit and started anyhow.

It was during the first week in October that the youth left Grande Prairie. He was last heard from on November 7, when he passed Eswein's place, west of Pouce Coupe. At this time he had changed his plans and was heading for Prince Rupert instead of Vancouver.

When last seen Bennett is reported to have had only a few pounds of rice and flour. Old-timers point out that the chances for the youth getting through the pass under winter conditions, without experience, and without even a proper rifle are very slim.

BIG AWARD IS GIVEN

William M. Harris is Given $50,000 Judgment in Connection With Big Missouri Mine Sale

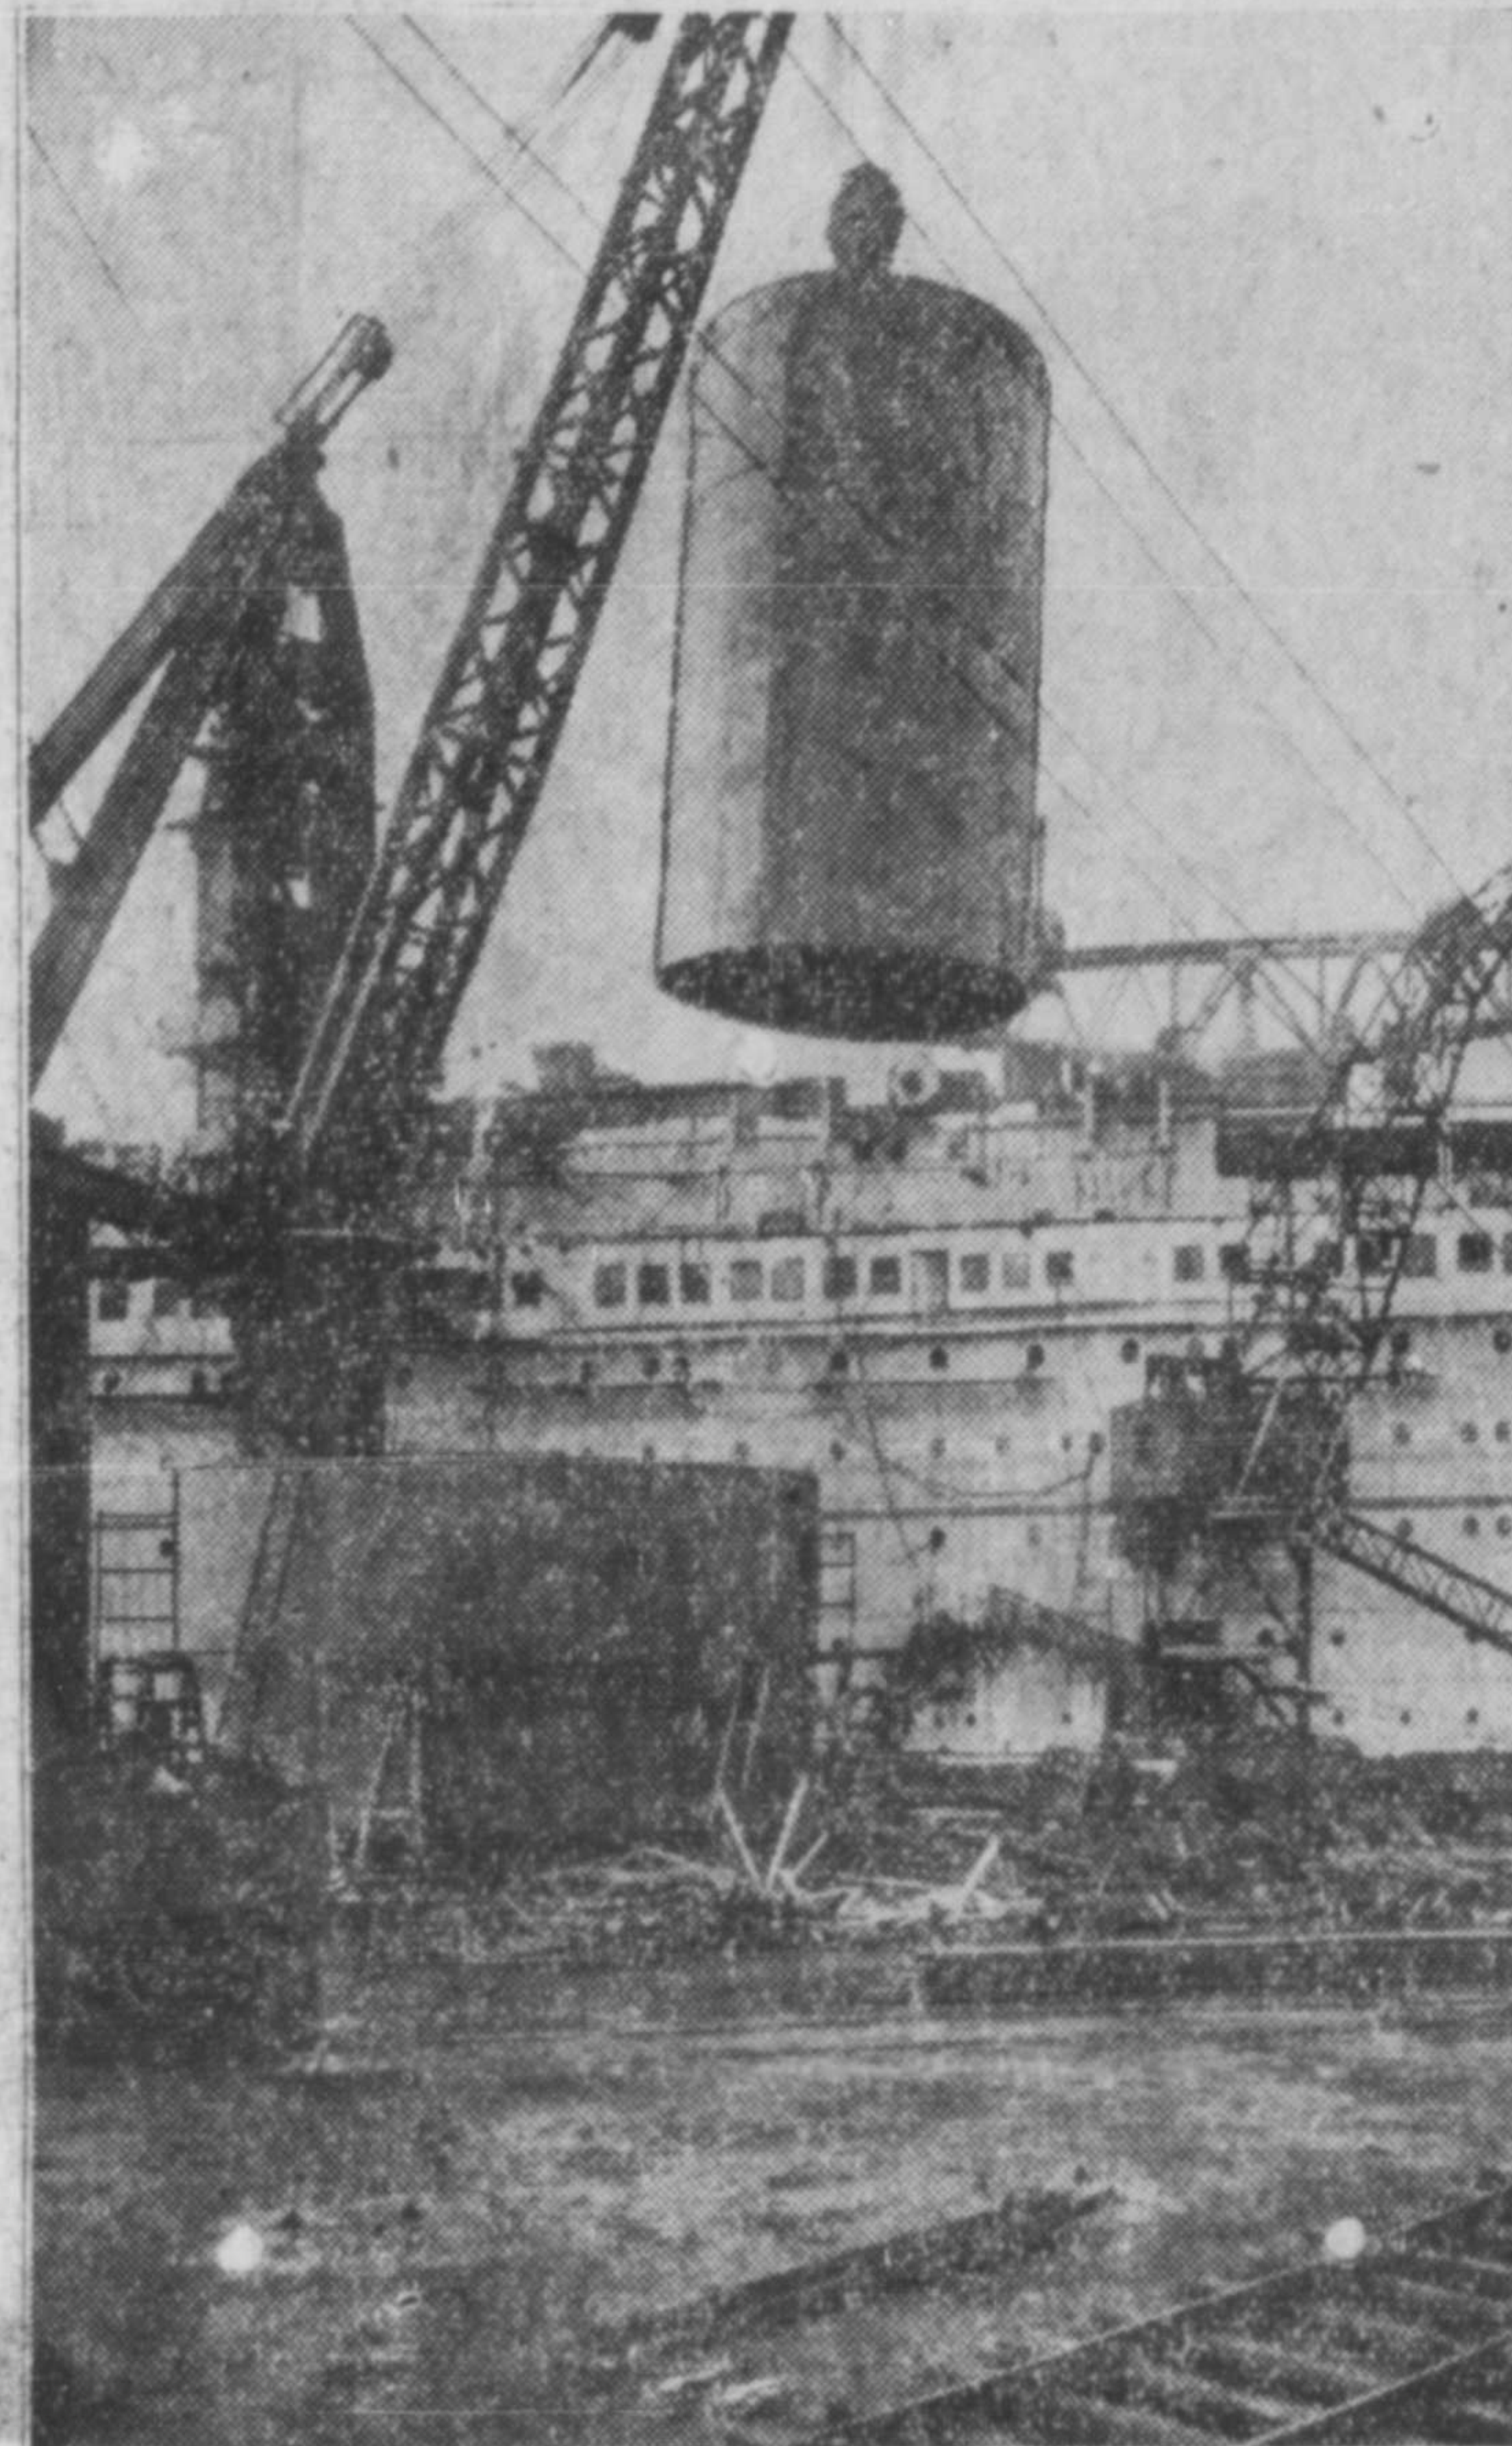

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—In a British Columbia case involving the sale of the Big Missouri mine in the Salmon River district of the Portland Canal area, the Supreme Court of Canada awarded William M. Harris of Port Angeles, Wash., the sum of $50,000 from the $250,000 realized.

The Linderborg estate was the defendant in the action. Harris claimed a share in the proceeds of the sale of the mine.

GOVERNMENT GIVES UP RENAHAN SEARCH

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—The Department of National Defence has concluded its efforts to find Pilot Pat Renahan, who has been lost somewhere on the Pacific Coast, supposedly between Prince Rupert and Ketchikan, since October 28. Officials of the department consider that everything has been done that it is possible to do in looking for Renahan.

Some Vendor's Stores May Be Closed; Board Is Taking Matter Up

October Booze Business in Province Shows Decline of Fifteen Per Cent and November, Twenty-Two Per Cent

VICTORIA, Dec. 23.—With liquor sales in British Columbia falling off rapidly for the first time since the inauguration of government control, the Liquor Board is now considering the question of closing out some of the smaller outlying liquor stores, it is stated officially at the board's headquarters here. Liquor sales declined fifteen per cent in October and twenty-two per cent in November and indications are that December may show a decline of at least thirty per cent.

William Had Rough Trip

On the last trip, the steamer Prince William came in from Massett through one of the heaviest gales of the year. When the gale was at its highest, the little ship was reported somewhere in Hecate Straits. The people of the islands were questioning just how the William was going to come through. Small boats came ashore at Charlottetown and Skidegate without serious damage. Others ran for Allford Buoy for shelter.

When the William docked about noon many turned out to see how the ship had fared. Capt. Thomas reported very rough and dirty weather but he made good time without anything going wrong. He thought however, that a good light with a fog horn at Lawn Hill would be a great aid to navigation.

NEW STOP SIGNS TO BE INSTALLED

Federal Treasury Has Not Yet Paid Single Dollar to British Columbia on Unemployment Work

OTTAWA, Dec. 23.—The federal treasury has not expended a dollar for unemployment relief in either the city of Vancouver or the province of British Columbia, Senator Gideon Robertson, minister of labor, said today. This was because no certified accounts had been forwarded to Ottawa by the provincial government. Until they were received, no money would be paid.

Senator Robertson said that British Columbia was the only province which so far had failed to render its accounts and thus be reimbursed by the federal treasury.

Under the unemployment relief agreement signed between the provincial government and the Dominion, British Columbia was allocated $200,000 as the federal treasury's share of construction programs and other works to provide employment. British Columbia would also share in the $4,000,000 set aside for direct relief. The federal government has so far agreed to construction programs calling for joint expenditure of $2,400,000 by British Columbia, its municipalities and the federal treasury. Although this money has been warranted, the federal government has not paid any of its share because no certified accounts have been forwarded to Ottawa.

VICTORIA, Dec. 23.—Replying to criticism from the city of Vancouver regarding the provincial government's allotment of funds for unemployment relief, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, chairman of the un-

DAILY EDITION

Tuesday, Dec. 23, 1939

WILL START UP SOON

There is an embryo industry not far from Prince Rupert that will be in full swing in the near future. One of the principals was discussing it recently and he said: "We shall start just as soon as we are sure that the bottom has been struck." The idea was that he would not start producing on a dropping market but the moment he felt sure the market was at the very lowest possible, they could so adjust the business as to operate with a prospect of making it pay.

While we may not feel any immediate relief here, it cannot be very long before things are better.

KEEP MONEY IN CANADA

Yesterday we published an advertisement signed by Hon. H. H. Stevens, minister of trade and commerce, in which he made a plea for the keeping of money in Canada instead of sending it away to purchase goods imported from other countries.

The Daily News heartily endorses the idea and would recommend any who have not read the minister's message to turn up yesterday's paper and read it. His chief plea is to buy at home in order to keep Canadian boys and girls in Canada. It is a splendid policy.

CITY WAS BUSY

Prince Rupert was a busy place last night with most of the merchants rushing hither and thither trying to serve all the customers. In several stores visited it looked like the real old time trading. The evening was fine and a large number of people were taking advantage of the break in the wet spell to get their Christmas shopping done.

A CHEERY MESSAGE

Yesterday we received a cheery message from Charles E. Miller, publishers' representative of New York City who writes in part as follows:

"Dear Mr. Pullen:
"Congratulations to you in your enterprise in the publication of your special number of December 2.

"This edition is indeed a splendid one and conveys much of interest and the progress which is being recorded in Prince Rupert and immediate vicinity.

"Chargeable to increases in population and by reason of the conditions of prosperity which will obtain in ever greater measure, Prince Rupert becomes increasingly important as a city and centre and meaning, of course, greater prosperity for you and the Daily News."

ORNAMENTAL STREET LIGHTS

The city council last night approved of a set system that has been evolved by the utilities committee for future placing of ornamental street lights in the downtown sections where permanent sidewalks have been built. Placing of certain extra lights in blocks where standards have already been placed was also approved.

Extra lights are to be placed on the south side of Third Avenue between Sixth and Seventh Streets, on the south side of Second Avenue in front of the cigar store at the corner of Sixth Street and on Sixth Street at the lane on the west side.

On the north side of Second Avenue between Sixth and Seventh Streets where an asphaltic sidewalk is now being built, there will be three standards—one at the Post Office, one at the Prince Rupert Hotel and one in the middle of the block in front of the stores.

Speaking for the balance of Second and Third Avenues where ornamental lights are not already installed, Ald. Rudderham stated that it was the intention to place four lights per block on one side of Second Avenue and three lights to a block on Third Avenue, the installation to be on both sides of the street.

Ald. Pillsbury urged that the financial aspect should be considered in making plans for extension of street lighting. Ald. Macdonald replied that it would ultimately be necessary to have some such scheme as the city paying half and the property owners concerned, the other half for street lighting.

facilitating the development of trade and commerce with South America.
