HANSON A GO-GETTER

Now that Olof Hanson is seriously and definitely before the electors, a good many people are asking to hear again the story of how he got his first order of poles from Chicago. Here it is as published several years ago in McLean's Magazine and the story indicates what the Liberal candidate can do when he gets after something.

"For years the Hanson timber limits carried wood that was excellent material for poles and piles. The trouble was to find a market. Year after year Hanson tried to break into this business but without any kind of success. Then about ten years ago he heard that the American Red Cedarmen's Association was to meet in Chicago. On the first day of the conference Hanson was on hand bent on telling the story of his lumber to the association. He didn't make much impression so he decided on a dramatic gesture.

"Look here," he told the members of the association. "I'll ship you 10 loads of cedar poles at your price and up to your specifications. If they don't make the grade, I'll make you a present of them and pay the freight bill besides."

"Stirred by the man's courage and the conviction that it carried, one of the big lumbermen of the States decided to go north and investigate. He looked over the timber, put in an order, and ever since Hanson has done a very desirable volume of business with the cedarmen of the north-western and middle western states. The Skeena River district now is one of their main sources of supply.

"Hanson knew he had the goods and he would not take a 'no.' He got his market."

The Letter Box

RADIO BEACONS

Editor, Daily News:—

Through the courtesy of your columns may I reply to the letter which appeared in the Daily News, June 24th inst. and signed H. A. Cooper, wireless operator.

This deals with radio beacons and no one will dispute the great value of radio sounding stations in connection with direction finding equipment on board ships. Our trouble however, is that practically no ships plying regularly on this coast are so equipped. Even the new magnificent "Prince Henry," the last word in vessels of her class, is without this apparatus.

Only one of the wheat ships calling here since 1926 was provided with direction finding apparatus.

It is evident, therefore, that unless shore radio stations are able to wireless bearings to vessels requiring same, these stations will be of little value in the entrances to the port of Prince Rupert and it is understood that the proposed new stations will not be so equipped.

It is the consensus of opinion among marine men that radio equipment can only be regarded as a valuable auxiliary and that lights and fog signals will always be necessary. Very likely, within a few years, all passenger vessels will be required to carry this equipment, but it is very improbable that freight vessels will do so.

In any event this port needs immediate relief from present conditions, and this relief can only be secured by the installation of the lights and fog signals needed to suit the requirements of insurance companies. Further there is no case on record of lights being discontinued on account of the coming into use of the radio equipment.

No one doubts that Mr. Brady has done all he could in this connection, but Mr. Brady knows that he is handicapped in matters such as this, which are quite technical. How much he has been handicapped was clearly shown when he addressed the local Board of Trade last year on this Hecate Strait question. On this occasion Mr. Brady stated that he had spent much time with department officials and other experts, discussing the matter. He brought the message that it was impracticable to use Hecate Strait as an entrance to Prince Rupert Harbor, as it was very unsafe, not much shorter than Dixon Entrance, and finally that vessels entering via Hecate Strait would be compelled to follow a zig-zag route.

It is, of course, well known that actual conditions are far from those mentioned at that time by Mr. Brady. If necessary aids to navigation are installed in Hecate Strait, it will be quite safe. It is 110 miles shorter route than is Dixon Entrance; and finally, a straight course can be laid from Cape Mendocino, on the California Coast, right away up Hecate Strait to an intersection with the course in from Dixon Entrance to Prince Rupert.

How anyone can at this time class light and fog signals as obsolete is incomprehensible, and can only be an indication of a lack of proper understanding of the question. This should not cease to press for these improvements which must be installed in the entrances to Prince Rupert before we can hope to escape from the handicap of the differential in ocean freight rates under which we are now laboring?

That radio stations alone are not sufficient is quite clear from the last communication from Lloyds' agent for British Columbia.

While Mr. Hooper no doubt is proficient in his profession as a wireless operator, nevertheless he has shown no knowledge of being a seafaring man.

Yours for Hecate Strait lights.

Bass & Co., famous Old Country beverage distillers, and Mrs. Manners, arrived in the city on the Princess Louise Saturday afternoon after having made the round trip to Skagway and spent the week-end here, leaving by train today for Jasper Park where they will spend a few days before proceeding to England. Summer Activities Call for Intensive Advertising

SUMMER—the season when the world and his wife are out of doors—on the highways—at the beach—in the garden—on the golf links—by stream and lake.

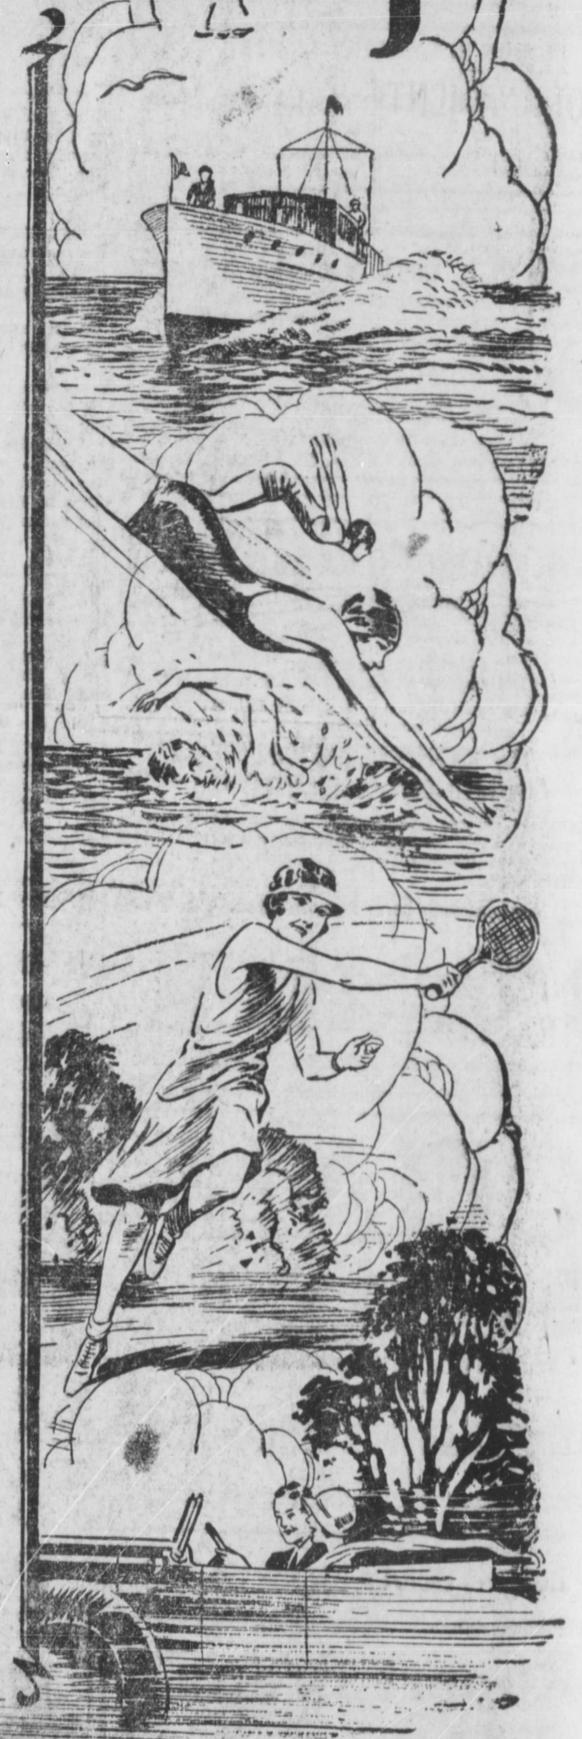

The season that develops a multitude of new wants and makes insistent demands on everyone for the goods and services necessary to the enjoyment of its varied delights.

Hot weather foods and cooling beverages — Summer frocks and garden equipment — bathing suits and sunburn alleviatives—sports clothes and furnishings for the Summer cottage — gasoline and spare tires.

And these in addition to people's normal all-year-round buying activities. For family larders and wardrobes need replenishing fully as much in July as in December. Youthful couples buy and furnish homes in August as well as in February.

Astute advertisers do not cut down their advertising when the mercury goes up. They realize that Summer, which brings Canada its $300,000,000 tourist industry, also brings them sales opportunities afforded by no other season of the year.

And they know that the quickest, most economical means of capitalizing these opportunities are the advertising columns of the daily newspapers.

Two Hundred and Forty-One Pupils In North Aspire to High School; Medals Sought

At the end of the present school year there were in this inspectorial district 242 candidates for admission to the various high and superior schools, it is announced by H. C. Fraser, inspector of schools. Of these, 130 completed the entrance examination at 13 different centres and will await the results as announced from the education office at Victoria toward the end of July. Of those writing, 116 are from public schools and 14 are either private study pupils or from private schools. The other 112 have been promoted according to regulations by a committee consisting of the principal of the elementary school, the principal of the high school, and the provincial inspector of schools. The only school not taking advantage of this privilege this year is the Kitsumgallum Elementary School at Terrace. The number promoted to high school at each centre is as follows:

- Granby Bay, eight.
- Ocean Falls, 19.
- Prince Rupert (Booth Memorial) 46.
- Prince Rupert (Borden Street), 22.
- Queen Charlotte City, two.
- Smithers, 14.
- Stewart, one.

Of the 112 thus promoted, 11 are writing for the Governor-General's bronze medal for the northern district which consists of the two inspectorates of Prince Rupert and Prince George. Last year this coveted honor was won by Ocean Falls Elementary School with the additional distinction of having the two highest marks in the whole province. "There are some excellent students among these 11," states Mr. Fraser. "Indeed they are all much above the average. It may happen as on two other occasions within the last few years, that the medal will go to some bright boy or girl in one of our smaller country schools, but if it does, these 11 will be among the first to cheer and to offer congratulations. Whoever gets the medal, wins distinction. But after all, the others along with the winner will have the satisfaction that comes from work well done."

Of the 11 who have thus elected to write, one comes from Granby Bay, two from Ocean Falls, three from Booth School, two from Borden Street School and three from Smithers.

J. W. Plommer of the King Edward High School acted as invigilator at the entrance examinations in the city.

Senior matriculation examinations finished a week ago Friday. Mrs. James Hadden acting as supervisor for the examiner in charge.

Junior matriculation and high school examinations conducted by the department, finished on Friday. As in former years, Miss Jessie Rothwell and Miss Norah Rivett were in charge of the examiner. The number writing at the outside points in this inspectorate is not large. About 30 wrote locally.

Waiting to See If Sockeye Come to Francois Lake

Major J. A. Motherwell, chief inspector of fisheries, has returned to his headquarters in Vancouver after a trip to Francois Lake where he visited the scene of experiments by the fisheries department with sockeye salmon eggs. Four years ago eggs were planted in the lake which was, at one time, a prolific producer of sockeye. Fisheries officers are now waiting to determine if the planting was successful and if the sockeye will return to the lake this year to spawn.
