BRITISH DISARMAMENT PROPOSALS

Policy Is To Keep Sea Highway Open Trade and Commerce World

Proposals For Cutting Down of Navies Based on This Promise in Memorandum of MacDonald Government

LONDON, March 11:—The government has made public the following memorandum on the position at the London Naval Conference of His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom, in the form of a White Paper:

1. The policy of His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom is to keep the highway of the seas open for trade and communication, and, in relation to the political state of the world, to take what steps are necessary to secure this.

2. The Government is directing its policy to secure this co-operating with the League of Nations, making friendly compacts with other nations, strengthening the International Court, accepting arbitration in international disputes, honoring the Peace Pact of Paris, and otherwise aiding in tranquillising the world. Whilst it believes that the result of that policy will be ultimately to eliminate the causes of war and establish peace on an unassailable foundation, it recognizes that there must be a time of transition which will be marked by a steady decline in the importance and amount of armaments of all kinds, ending in disarmament.

3. The transition time should be marked by efforts to carry the security against war afforded by political and judicial agreements further and further and to mark progress by disarmament treaties.

For this reason the government considers the London Naval Conference of supreme importance, and believes that it ought to put an end finally to competition in naval armaments and reduce existing fleets and building programs.

4. In estimating what fleet is required the government has also to take account of the obligations which the country has undertaken in consequence of the terms of the Covenant of the League of Nations (partly offset, though they are, by the pooled security afforded under the Covenant by its provision of mutual support), and other commitments which it has inherited and which it has to fulfill in relation to the present condition of the world. In deciding what these amount to in terms of naval strength, the government must estimate the chances of war breaking out because, if this is not done, fleets will be built which will never be of any use, but which will threaten rather than protect and at best will be a waste of national resources.

5. The government takes the view that if the strengths of national fleets are not to be a menace, they must be the subject of international agreements, the purpose of which would be to maintain an equilibrium. This equilibrium will not be secured by mere numerical equality in ships and tonnage—which may indeed be a condition of serious inequality from the point of view of effectiveness—but by agreed programs which will be based on considerations of requirements affecting dispersion, etc., and in which menace will be reduced as much as possible. For this, there can be no general formula or ratio. It must be the subject of agreements made from time to time at conferences such as this.

6. As the political conditions determining world security are not fixed agreements should be made for periods at the ends of which they should be reviewed and during which governments should be engaged in strengthening the foundations of peace.

Ticket Clerk Confesses Theft and Leads Police Officers to His Cache; Money Is Recovered

Wilfrid Jackson, Canadian National Railways ticket clerk, made a confession to police officers yesterday afternoon that the station ticket office hold-up last Saturday night was a fake staged by himself. He admitted stripping his till of its proceeds and led the officers to a cache under the planks of the pedestrian approach to the station where he had secreted the money, all of which was found intact in a bag. Jackson was thereupon placed under arrest and formally charged with theft and was to come before Magistrate McClymont in city police court this afternoon for trial. It was expected he would elect for speedy trial in the police court and plead guilty to the charge, in view of his confession.

Jackson was suspected by the police of having staged the "hold-up" himself and his confession was made at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon in the city ticket office to Staff Sergeant Alex McNeill and Sergeant G. J. Duncan after he had been subjected to questioning and a close examination. He is reported to have said that "leading a fast life in Prince Rupert" had been the cause of his downfall. He did not seek his freedom on bail after being arrested but remained in the lock-up.

The amount of money taken was some $340, the proceeds of ticket sales for steamers Saturday evening. Jackson further admitted to the police that his mock slugging had been self-inflicted by hitting himself on the head with a golf club.

For ten years, Jackson has been in the service of the Canadian National Railways ticket department. He was considered an efficient employee all through these years and was popular, being talented and of likeable disposition. It is understood that this is the first time he has been in any sort of trouble. He is thirty years of age, claims to have won his lieutenantancy in the Great War and came here last May from Saskatoon.

Prince Rupert Gets Valuable Publicity In Special Article On Peace In McLean's Magazine

Prince Rupert in relation to the Peace River district comes in for a good deal of valuable publicity in a feature article from the pen of Reece H. Hague entitled "Wanted A New Road to the Sea," which appears in the current number of McLean's Magazine. The Peace River railway outlet situation is illustrated well in a map which shows the routes the proposed railway might take were it built either to Prince Rupert, Stewart, Squamish or Vancouver.

"No matter which of the alternative routes a railway from Peace River to the coast might follow, unless it went direct to Stewart it would cut the existing Canadian National Railway at some point," says the article. "Thus, if the P.G.E. railway were completed to Prince George, a distance of 80 miles from its present terminus at Quessnel, and a new line were built northeast from the former town to the Peace, when grain reached Prince George on its way west it could be shipped either over the Canadian National Railways to Prince Rupert, a rail distance of 467 miles; by the P.G.S. to Squamish, a distance of 430 miles; or by the P.G.E. to Clinton, 242 miles from Prince George.

By building 50 miles of railway from Clinton, connection could be made at Ashcroft with both the Canadian National and Canadian Pacific Railways, necessitating a further journey of approximately 200 miles to Vancouver by either system, or about 492 miles from Prince George in all.

"If, instead of going from Prince George, a new line were built either from Hazelton or Fort Fraser on the C.N.R. to the Peace, the actual haulage distance to Prince Rupert would be shorter than to

THAT OLD SENATE

It is to be supposed that when the general election comes on we shall hear something about Senate reform or Senate abolition. We have been hearing about it as long as most of us remember, but so far nothing definite has been done although some promises have been made.

During the life of the last Conservative government many Senators died and their places were all filled with Conservatives. Since then vacancies have been filled by Liberals but the Conservative balance of power has not yet been overcome and the second chamber is still Conservative. The result has been that the present government has not been in a position to make any reforms. Possibly even when the Senate becomes Liberal it may hold out against being abolished or much changed.

Most of the important reforms are brought about during national crises. The probability is that the same will happen in regard to the Senate. Some day there will be a battle royal between the two houses and the people of the country will be sufficiently aroused to rise and sweep the derelict old chamber off the map.

Weather does not affect a strong man. It's great to be bigger than the elements.

GETTING PUBLICITY

Prince Rupert is getting a great deal of good publicity from the Peace River outlet. Even Eastern journals are looking seriously upon the claims of this port to be the main grain shipping port for the great Peace country. Never before have we received such as this, part of which has come from the activity shown here in keeping the Prince Rupert case before the people of the country, part from the influence of the Power Corporation and mostly from the justice of our cause. The railways and statesmen now admit that the natural route for the grain is down the Skeena valley.

SEEK HELP FOR WIDOWS

Canadian Legion Pressing for Consideration of Cases of Widows Who Married War Veterans After Disability or Injury to Men

OTTAWA, March 11:—One of the classes of war sufferers for whom the greatest concern is likely to be shown during the parliamentary discussions of the problems of war veterans and their dependents is that of widows who married after their husbands had returned from overseas, which resulted in death.

The Canadian Legion of the British Empire Service League has placed before parliament on five previous occasions proposals for the relief of these widows, but on one occasion only, in 1928, has any legislation been passed providing relief for this class. For the sixth time, therefore, the Legion is this session putting forward, in its legislative programme to come before parliament, requests for legislation which, if granted, would correct obvious injustices caused by the present provisions for widows' pensions. In this part of its programme, the Legion is being strongly supported by the National Council of Women of Canada, which has also had experiences in connection with the application of the barrier clauses of this section of the Pensions Act.

The Legion, too, is looking for governmental support, for in his address to the Canadian Legion convention at Regina last November, Hon. J. L. Ralston, minister of national defence, speaking for the government, gave the Legion strong encouragement in its efforts on behalf of this class of widows, and expressed sympathy with their cause.

The Pension Act provides that no pension shall be paid to the widow of a member of the Canadian forces unless she was married to him before the appearance of the injury or disease which resulted in his death, unless (a) the injury in respect of which he was pensioned or entitled to pension would not shorten his expectancy of life, or (b) unless he was not chronically ill of a pensionable disease and not in receipt of pension therefor.

In their experience in handling pension claims of widows, the Legion adjustment officers have found these provisions useless in solving the problems of a deserving class of widows. There are some pitiful cases on record of widows who have been refused pension because of the interpretation placed upon the expressions "expectancy of life" and "chronically ill." At the time these clauses were framed in 1928, to meet objections from the Senate as to the proposed form of the amendment to the Pension Act, they seemed to be satisfactory, but in their operation they have worked a severe hardship on widows, with children, who married after their husbands returned from overseas, and some before they returned, nursed and cared for their husbands through years of indifferent health and sickness, but who, on the death of the husband found themselves debarred from pension, even though death may have been due to a war disability which was only detected long after the marriage.

Substitute Clause

In its legislative program, the Legion has made definite provision for this class of deserving and needy widows. The clauses which the Legion asks to have placed in the Pension Act in place of those quoted above are as follows:

"No pension shall be paid to the widow of a member of the forces unless she was married to him before the appearance of the injury or disease which resulted in his death.

"(A) Unless she was married to him before the date of the coming into force of this act, or

"(B) Unless when marriage is contracted after the coming into force of this act, he, a member of the forces, is able to obtain from the commission a certificate to the effect that he has a reasonable expectation of life."

These amendments, Legion officials believe, would remove all doubt as to the interpretation of the act, and would solve all the serious problem cases created by the legislation which has been in force up till the present time. It takes care of those who have married war veterans without knowledge of disability that might result in death, or who, knowing of the disability, having nursed and cared for a disabled veteran during his last years of suffering. They also lay down a future policy that where the commission, at the time of marriage, is able to give the veteran a certificate that he has a reasonable expectancy of life, his widow shall be pensionable, but where the man's condition is such that he has not a reasonable expectancy of life, that certificate would be refused, and the man and his wife would be married in the full knowledge that, in the event of his death, there would be no pension for the widow.

Whatever the fate of these amendments in the discussion of the parliamentary committee of veterans' problems, the Legion experts who have studied the situation declare that they are sound, workable, and reasonable, and that they are needed to provide for the widows who have found themselves left destitute by the application of the present legislation.

WELCOME CRITICISM

Editor, Daily News:—Perusing your columns most diligently failing to observe neither the humor nor the tragedy of their contents, it seems there is one thing missing necessary to make it a great newspaper.

It is equally so of newspapers as of forms of government, the best is that which suits the character of the people. Were one to suggest that the people of Prince Rupert were lacking in imagination, it would not be fair to the people to attribute it to the lack of press-room effluvia, nor would it be fair to the paper to blame it for the total absence of any local originality of idea, say rather it is the smugness of self-satisfaction.

You have no Prince Rupert critics therefore you are blind to your appearance, you have no unique institution, therefore you have no fame. You have no color, no intellectual diversions, therefore you are unattractive. Be it sufficient to suggest that a city cannot prosper on fish alone.

RADIO BROADCAST

Editor, Daily News:—

A few months ago, when the report of the Royal Commission on Radio Broadcasting in Canada under the Chairmanship of Sir John Aird was made public, it seemed to meet with unanimous approval. Everyone looked forward with joyful anticipation to the early carrying out of the recommendations of that Commission, and to Canada being equipped with the most modern transmitting stations owned and controlled by a public company established by the Dominion in co-operation with the provinces.

This scheme provided for sufficient support from the public funds to ensure a Canadian broadcasting service which would hold the interest of Canadian listeners in competition with the best stations of the United States, and would guarantee that we should not be compelled to depend for our radio entertainment and education upon private interests or be subjected to foreign propaganda.

Gradually, however, an insidious opposition to public ownership has been developing and certain interests, eager to control Canadian broadcasting for their own gain, are conducting such a campaign to hold and extend their ownership of Canadian broadcasting stations, that it has become necessary to mobilize public opinion to support the recommendations of the Aird Commission before Parliament.

It therefore behooves every citizen that there is danger of having our radio programs limited to material furnished rather with a view to private profit than with the desire to entertain and educate the public.

If certain grasping private interests should secure control of our broadcasting system they would certainly take the line of least resistance in satisfying their capacity, and the arrangements for Canadian programs would be made with or through the ironclad radio broadcasting trust of the United States. This would mean that the whole Canadian radio situation would fall under foreign control and be dominated by foreign propaganda.

In order to preserve and promote the rights and interests of Canadian broadcast listeners, an organization known as the "Canadian Broadcast Listeners' League" has been formed to collect data and marshal arguments for presentation to the Parliamentary Committee at Ottawa when it comes to deal with the Aird report.

We therefore ask every person, who objects to having Canada's radio programs limited to those framed chiefly on the basis of private gain, to write immediately to the undersigned setting forth views and suggestions which will be helpful in securing public ownership and control of Canadian radio broadcasting; and we undertake that when your representatives in Parliament shall meet in Committee to consider the report of the Aird Commission, these views and suggestions will be duly presented as part of the case for "the People."

PUBLICITY FOR RUPERT

Recommendation in Regard to Possible Local Industries Made

The Publicity Committee of the Board of Trade consisting of H. F. Pullen, chairman, Frank Dibb and J. W. McKinley has reported to the board, recommending that a reply be sent to the Canadian National department of colonization as follows:

Mr. N. S. McGuire, Department of Colonization, Edmonton, Alberta Dear Sir:—In reply to a questionnaire from your department of the C. N. Railway as to business opportunities in this district, we wish to draw your attention to the fact that the Northern B. C. Power Company, a subsidiary of the Power Corporation of Canada, is constructing the first unit of a 20,000 horsepower hydro-electric plant near this city and will have an abundance of power to sell in the fall of this year. This suggests the construction of mills and factories, particularly flour mills, pulp mills, rayon silk mills, shingle mills, cottonwood veneer mills, railway car shops, sash and door factory. In addition there are possibilities for a tourist hotel, wholesale hardware, wholesale dry goods, wholesale stationery and paper supply.

The development of coal areas not far away suggests the establishment of a gas works, smelter and possibly a plant for the manufacture of coal products.

The large demand for cans in connection with the fisheries would suggest the installation of a can factory.

Plants for the handling of herring, cod, crab and other fish are a possibility especially in connection with the recent demand for filleted fish.

Retail businesses are already well represented but there is probably room for businesses catering to the tourist trade, which promises to increase every year.

There is very little farm land within 100 miles of Prince Rupert, but there is good hunting and fishing within a reasonable radius.

POLICY TO KEEP SEA HIGHWAY OPEN TRADE AND COMMERCE WORLD

United Kingdom proposes that the general agreement should run till 1936 and that in 1935 a further conference should be called to review the situation in relation to world conditions. Governments will be asked at the present Conference to agree to make all adjustments necessary in their programs and existing strengths by a date to be fixed before the end of 1936, and it will be suggested that the conference in 1933 should deal with the situation after 1936.

With these considerations and aims in mind his Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom makes the following proposals for the consideration of the Conference:

(1) It believes that an agreement should not only be upon total fleet tonnage (global tonnage), but upon the size of individual ships in the various recognized fleet categories and the amount of tonnage which nations use in each of the categories—capital ships, aircraft carriers, cruisers, destroyers and submarines.

(2) Within cruiser category only it is proposed that transfer should be permitted out of the 8-inch class into the 6-inch class on a percentage to be arranged.

(3) His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom will be prepared to consider transfer of tonnage between these categories to take account of the special needs of the powers in question.

(4) No replacement of existing capital ships should take place before the next conference in 1935, and that in the meantime the whole question of capital ships, their number, size and gun calibre should be the subject of negotiation between the powers which have built them.

(5) His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom considers that the evolution of the aircraft carrier both in tonnage and in calibre of guns should be limited.

The government proposes that a general agreement should not change the tonnage limit of 8-inch cruisers provided for in the Washington Treaty, but fix that of the smaller vessels of about 6,000 to 7,000 tons.

(7) The government proposes that the limit of size should be for destroyer leaders 1,850 tons with 5-inch guns (maximum) and 1,500 tons for destroyers, also with 5-inch guns (maximum).

(8) His Majesty's Government in the United Kingdom proposes the abolition of the submarine, and will also propose to revive the agreement signed at Washington on February 6, 1922, to regulate the attack of merchant ships by submarines.

the same port via Prince George. In the case of Hazelton a greater length of new railway would be required than if the last link of the P.G.E. were built to Prince George and a line carried on from that point to the Peace. New construction necessary from Port Fraser would be about the same as from Quenneville via Prince George to Pouce Coupe.

Prince Rupert Claim

"It is not surprising that the Prince Rupert people are strongly in favor of having the Peace River railway built from either Hazelton or Port Fraser, and eliminating the possibility of grain being shipped by the P.G.E. to Squamish or by some alternative route to Vancouver. It is also perfectly natural that the residents of Prince George should staunchly oppose any route which would result in connections being made elsewhere than at their city and are consequently aligning themselves with the Vancouverites in the dispute which is raging over this vexed question of a Peace River outlet.

"Irrespective of what route is eventually selected as the one to connect the Peace River district with the coast, a country rich in mineral, lumber and water power will be opened up, and in the case of most of the suggested lines considerable grazing and agricultural land will also be rendered available for settlement. While the length of the haul and cost of construction will be important factors in deciding the route eventually followed, attention will also be paid to the nature and wealth of the country through which the line will pass. One consideration is the fact that one-way traffic is not sufficient to keep a railway going and that return freight will have to be provided from whatever port is chosen as the Pacific terminus of the line.

Closer to Orient

"Prince Rupert being closer to the Orient than Vancouver, a line from the former city connecting with eastern railways would be of considerable advantage in the silk trade, as it is claimed that before a steamer from the Orient could reach any southern port, silk landed at Prince Rupert would be on its way from Edmonton to New York. On the other hand, Vancouver at present controls the great bulk of the Pacific trade, and it might be expensive and difficult to build up this trade at Prince Rupert and more expensive and difficult to build it up at Stewart."

WANT ALLAN CUP AGAIN

"Phat" Wilson Big Reason Why Port Arthur Should Rule Dominion Hockey For Fourth Year

PORT ARTHUR, March 11.—Broad-shouldered and smiling as ever, old "Phat" Wilson is the big reason why Port Arthur wants to keep the amateur hockey title of all Canada. Three times in five years, the hilly city on Lake Superior has ruled hockey in the Dominion. Whether the fans admit it or not, they are a little bored at the almost monotonous continuation of their possession of the Allan Cup.

No other city in Canada has gained the three-time title honor now vested in Port Arthur—but backers of the tri-color team are no longer excited. In 1925, when the Ports downed Toronto Varsity, the city went frantic; in 1926, when Varsity yielded again, the fans were wild; last year, however, capture of a third title seemed almost a matter of course.

But this year, there is "Phat" Wilson, who already has handed out his own brand of body-checks on three Allan Cup brigades. No one else in the world has duplicated the feat except wily old Wilf L'Heureux, aged banker of Port Arthur, and this winter Wilf definitely retired.

If Wilson, who is a native son of Port Arthur, can lead his youthful mates to another Canadian championship this winter—and such an achievement is by no means an impossibility—he will have marked up a hockey record that will place him in a niche apart from the cluster of Canada's hockey great. He will have achieved in hockey what Walter Johnson did in baseball, what Clarence DeMar has done in marathon runs and what Bobby Jones has accomplished in golf.

Last winter, the perponderant element of youth in Port Arthur's sextette carried the squad to its third triumph just to win for Wilf and "Phat." True, the youngsters craved the fame of playing on an Allan Cup team—and, too, the resultant pro offers—but the urge that exacted the last ounce of energy in the pinch was the desire to make the old-timers happy.

The kid forward line that won for Port Arthur last year is gone. Jimmy Creighton and Bud Jarvis and Cliff Barton have succumbed to the glittering lure of pro hockey offers. But there are new youngsters in their stead who will be in there fighting in the play-offs to win for "Phat" his fourth draught of champagne from the familiar old Allan trophy.

Probably no other present day amateur has seen more of his mates snapped up by the moneyed magnates. Lorne Chabot and Alex Gray and Bobby Connors, Danny Cox and Albert Pudas and old Bill Brydge, Creighton and Jarvis and Barton—Wilson has played with plenty of boys who crashed the pay-check gate and made the grade.

Is Home Man

For a dozen years, Wilson has been trading bumps and scoring goals in senior hockey—he had been at the game only four years when he entered the top level of the amateur game. Most of the time, the Port Arthur defense man has stayed with the home-town outfit, though he ventured as far away as Iriquois Falls in the winter of 1921-22.

He was born back in '95, according to the records, but kind sports writers refer to his age as "about 32." In any case, "Phat"—whose given name is Gordon—doesn't seem so old to lake-head fans. No one down that way even estimates the age of Wilf L'Heureux, the grey-headed banker who starred with Wilson on three titled squads—"somewhere near forty" is the closest they'll guess on the age of the old-timer who is coaching the Ports this season.

If the Ports get into the Allan Cup eliminations this winter, as their all-year showing indicates they may, Wilson will be leading another bunch of youngsters toward the Canadian title. But they have all seen the Allan Cup hanging around Port Arthur these last few years. It's nothing new, now. They'll be hot on the trail of another championship for "Phat"—but that unheard-of achievement, a fourth Canadian hockey title for a single city, will be just an incidental lure.

Sport Chat

The draw for the semi-finals of the Scottish Association football cup competition resulted as follows:

Hamilton Academicals vs. Partick Thistles at Celtic Park.
Hearts vs. Rangers at Hampden Park.

The matches will be played on March 22, a week from next Saturday.

The first week of training in Florida for New York Yankees developed one important fact—the club made no mistakes when it secured Americus Polli, right handed pitcher from the St. Paul club of the American Association. Polli has made a great impression on Manager Bob Shawkey and seems certain to make the major league grade. He is 26, has a good fast ball, a good curve and a baffling change of pace.

Bert Barry, professional sculling champion, will defend his title on the Thames River at London on May 31 for the first time since he won the crown by defeating the Australian oarsman, Major Goodsell at Vancouver, in October of 1928. He will race Ted Phelps over the four mile and a quarter university course on the Thames. Phelps, son of "Bossy" Phelps, famous rowing coach, will row a special shell built by his father.

BIG MEET HAMILTON

Great Variety of Events Will Be Contested When Empire Athletes Gather in Canada

HAMILTON, March 11—Stars in their own line, boxers, wrestlers, swimmers, oarsmen, bowlers, tennis, rugby and soccer players are all ready for the first British Empire Games to be held here Aug. 16 to 23. Through days, weeks and months of strenuous exercise, they are preparing for the greatest test that many of them have ever faced—that of competing with the stars from all parts of the British Empire this summer.

The Empire Games are not to be confused with the Olympic games, which are held every four years, with the object of promoting international peace. The Empire meet is simply a gathering of athletes from the Empire, a sort of get-together. At the Olympic games in 1928, the idea was formed, and once the ball started rolling it gathered impetus at every turn.

The opening ceremonies will be held Saturday, August 16. Amateur athletes who are British subjects and have resided for six months in the country they represent will be allowed to take part, the definition being that of the Imperial Olympic Committee. There are to be contests in athletics, boxing, wrestling, rowing, swimming, lawn tennis, bowls and rugby and association football. In the athletics each country may enter four competitors for each event and six for the Marathon race. The events will be:

For men—100, 200, 400, 800, 1,600, 5,000, and 10,000 metres, Marathon of 26 miles, 385 yards; 3,000 metre steeplechase, 110 metres hurdles and 400 metres hurdles; high jump; long jump; hop, step and jump; pole vault; throwing the javelin; throwing the discus; putting 16-pound shot and throwing 16-pound hammer.

For women—100 metres; 200 metres; 800 metres; 110 metre hurles; high jump; throwing the discus and throwing the javelin.

For schoolboys, (under 20)—100, 200, 400, 800 and 1,600 metres; 110 metre hurdles; high jump; long jump; pole vault; throwing the javelin; throwing the discus; and putting the 12-pound shot.

Relay races—Men, 400 metres, and 1,500 metres.

Women—400 metres.

Schoolboys—400 and 1,600 metres.

In wrestling and boxing each country may enter two persons in each category, but can have only one competitor in each. The categories are:

Flyweight, 112 pounds; bantam 118 pounds; feather 126 pounds; light 135 pounds; welter 147 pounds; middle 160 pounds; light heavy 175, and heavyweight, over 191 pounds.

The rowing events will be single sculls, double sculls, coxless fours, fours with coxswain, and eights. Each country may make two entries in each event, but only one may compete. One reserve is allowed for the sculling events, two for the fours and four for the eights.

Marine Events

The swimming events will be: Men—100 yard free style; 100 yard backstroke; 200 yard breaststroke; 400 yards free style; 1,500 yards free style; diving from a springboard; plain high diving.

Team races—men's 800 yard relay.

Women—400 yard relay.

Water polo—team of seven men and four substitutes.

In addition, there will be Association Football, rugby, football lawn tennis, which includes singles and doubles, and singles for boys and girls under 20, and bowling, including singles, Scots doubles and rinks.

A commemoration medal will be given to every competitor, and there are three prizes for every event—gold, silver and bronze medals. In team events, each member of the winning team will receive a similar medal and also a diploma.

Bobby Robinson, of this city, manager of the meet, is in Great Britain at present, settling the preliminary details before the invasion begins. From present indications, it would appear that at least 1,000 athletes, with numerous handlers, trainers, managers, and officials will meet here.

His Majesty King George has consented to be the patron of the games, and the honorary presidents are the Prince of Wales and His Excellency Lord Wellington.

The great pleasure in life is doing what people say you cannot do.—Bagehot.

Twenty Years Ago

In Prince Rupert

March 11, 1910

An expedition is being organized in Seattle by an expert diver to raise the steamer Islander which sank ten years ago in 320 fathoms of water in Stephens Passage near Juneau while bound for Seattle with $2,000,000 worth of Klondyke gold in her strong box.

Capt. Weiding of the Seattle fishing steamer Weiding Bros. reports finding a new reef far to the south of the rocky ledges which extend from Cape St. James at the south end of Queen Charlotte Islands.

The Dominion government will, it is expected, complete the approach to the Stewart wharf about the middle of next month.

Fireside Club Holds Meeting

Miss Catherine Mussallem's Group In Charge Last Night With Melvin Dafeo In Chair

The meeting of the Fireside Club of First Baptist Church last night was in charge of Miss Catherine Mussallem's group and Melvin R. Dafeo was in the chair. The opening devotional ceremonies were conducted by Miss Catherine Mussallem after which Miss Aletha McKinley gave an enjoyable piano solo. Interesting papers on the Bolivian mission field were read by Miss Catherine Mussallem and M. R. Dafeo.

At the close of the evening's proceedings, refreshments were served. There was a fair attendance.

Man in the Moon

Instead of learning where Salt Lake City is on the map children now learn where it is on the radio dial.

"Are you looking for something in men's wear?" said the polite shopwalker to a harassed-looking customer in a big store.

"Certainly not," was the hasty reply. "I'm looking for something in women's attire. I've lost my wife."

Playing one of those old-fashioned games with forfeits, and the girl had been ordered to give the young man ten kisses.

"Let's see," said Jessie, pausing for breath, "that's seven, isn't it?"

"Only six," corrected Freddie.

"Seven, I think."

"No, six."

"Seven!"

"Six!"

"Look here," said the girl, wearily, "sooner than have any argument, we had better start all over again."

"If you haven't a ticket for this boy, you'll have to buy one," said the man at the theatre door. "Indeed I won't," said the irate female. "How old is he?" inquired the man at the door. "Ask him yourself, I never saw him before," returned the I. F.

Prince Rupert is pretty well organized. All the city needs is a flying club to complete the list. There seem to be plenty of high flyers here.

"The country produces great men." Yes, so does the maternity ward.

Man can do many things but he can't undress by just bending over and shaking himself.

PIONEERS CELEBRATE

Twentieth Anniversary of Incorporation Marked With Successful Social Affair

The twentieth anniversary of Prince Rupert's incorporation was celebrated by the Prince Rupert Pioneers' Association last night with a highly successful card party and dance in the Moose Hall. The attendance far exceeded expectations as some three hundred persons were present. Newer comers to the city joined with the old timers to suitably celebrate the occasion and in many ways it was an outstanding affair.

Decorations of the hall were featured by banners bearing the legend which the association has adopted: "We're Here Because We're Here."

The proceedings opened with playing of cards and, from fifty or more tables, prize-winners were:

Bridge—Ladies' first, Mrs. George Frizzell; second, Mrs. W. M. Brown; men's first, A. A. Connon; second, A. Iverson.

Whist—Ladies' first, Mrs. Jack Christiansen; second, Mrs. A. Martinson; men's first, S. Turner; second, Gus Stromdahl.

The lucky admission ticket was No. 85 which was held by George Geddes who carried off a $5 gold piece.

During the serving of refreshments, there was an enjoyable program of music and novelties. Misses Beryl Birch and Adelia Thurber, in quaint costumes, gave a delightful little sketch from "The School for Scandal." Mrs. Jarvis H. McLeod sang in her usual sweet voice "My Wild Irish Rose" and "She Loves Me So," with Mrs. C. E. Cullin accompanying. Comic songs by J. Melville, with Mrs. J. S. Black as accompanist, proved very entertaining. The final number on the program consisted of several pretty dancing exhibitions by pupils of Miss Nan Craig.

By the time the dance started, the crowd had swelled considerably and the spacious floor was well nigh covered. Tunesome music was played by the Premier Orchestra and dancing kept up until 2 a.m. in full swing.

Gillis Royer was master of ceremonies for whist, G. W. Johnstone for bridge, and Fred Wesch for the dance.

Mrs. J. E. Jack was general convener for the whole affair.

Miss E. M. Earle and Mrs. A. J. Galland were members of the reception committee.

The committee in charge of refreshments consisted of Mrs. Jas. Morrison, Mrs. H. B. Eastman, Mrs. S. V. Cox, Mrs. O. A. Johnson, Mrs. N. Mussallem and Mrs. J. M. Viereck.

The men's committee comprised G. W. Johnstone, president of the Pioneers' Association, A. O. Franks, secretary, P. W. Anderson, F. W. Hart, Fred Wesch, H. B. Eastman, J. G. Viereck, J. E. Jack, John Murray, W. J. Thomas, Gillis Royer and Jack Cobb.

Prosecution Evidence and Some Defense Testimony Heard Yesterday

Hearing of crown evidence was completed yesterday afternoon before Stipendiary Magistrate H. F. McLeod in the case of Ole Skog, charged with fishing for herring within the prohibited area at Pearl Harbor without permission of the fisheries inspector, and, after two defence witnesses had been heard, the hearing was adjourned until tomorrow afternoon when Skog himself and probably other defence witnesses will take the stand.

Witnesses for the prosecution yesterday were James McIvor, captain of the patrol boat Rividis, which took Skog and his boat, the Fredelia, into custody; M. A. Cameron, engineer, and W. E. Bailey, a member of the crew of the Rividis; James Boyd, acting inspector of fisheries, and James Strachan, fisheries officer. Witnesses for the defence heard yesterday were G. Welle and K. Siatta, members of the crew of the defendant's boat.

GAY NOTE IN STYLES

Chiffon Lace and Tulle Are Spring Edict of Paris

PARIS, March 11:—Paris spring styles for evening hours strike the ladies-be-gay note.

"It," says Paris, "life is real and life is earnest, put on your feminine frippery at night and forget it."

Feminine frippery naturally suggests frailty. Chiffon lace and tulle are in ascendency with rich stained-metal brocaded chiffon and gay printed taffeta much in evidence. Ankles are definitely in eclipse. Even toes disappear occasionally behind swirls of wide chiffon panels which trail and hemlines which only manage to clear the floor by a whisper.

Spring evening silhouettes are straighter than those of winter, with soft draping around the waistline, or softening capes of boleros which make normal waistlines less difficult to wear.

Dance and dinner dresses continue to show exaggerated décolletés, some of the prettiest being literally backless to the waistline, except for miniature shoulder capes which split up the centre.

There are décolleté evening wraps as well, with adjustable collars which can be worn exposing bare shoulders or draped around the neck.

Evening wraps nearly all are hip-length. Evening ensembles of prin-
