NAVAL CONFERENCE IS IN DOLDRUMS

Outcome of Political Crisis in France Now Delays London Parley

If New Administration in France Weathers Session Tomorrow, Resumption Set For Wednesday

LONDON, Feb. 24:—The naval disarmament conference entered its fifth week today very much in the doldrums. Preparations are being made for a resumption of actual work on Wednesday but these preparations are somewhat indifferent for, unless the new French government weathers its first session in the Chambers of Deputies at Paris tomorrow, the forced adjournment of last week may have to be continued indefinitely.

Meantime, the delegates of Great Britain, United States, Italy and Japan can hold only informal meetings.

Much of the early optimism of the conference has disappeared. Hope now looks to limitation rather than reduction; to curbing the naval ambitions of the future rather than reducing the navies of the present.

During the few weeks of the conference's life old stumbling blocks of the past were removed only to give way to new difficulties. France submitted demands which would give her a navy of 724,479 tons by 1936. The French fleet as at January 1 last, including ships actually in service, building or authorized, is given at 681,806 tons.

An Italian memorandum was then issued. Italy does not go into figures. She wants reduction of armaments and recognition of her right to parity with the naval strength of any other European continental nation.

French Upset

The conference rose as a result of the defeat of the Tardieu Government of France and the consequent necessity of having a new French delegation appointed.

Of whom will the new French delegation consist? That is the question all the conference delegates are eagerly asking. The French figures created dismay. It was plainly hinted that failing their reduction, the British and United States governments have to increase theirs. Will the new French delegation insist on the stand already taken or will it be willing to moderate its demands? In Paris lies the answer.

EXTENDS TO THIS CITY

Vancouver Papers Describe Betting System With Which Archie Johnston Was Supposedly Connected

In connection with the investigation of the shooting to death on February 15 of Archie Johnston, former police chief of Medicine Hat and erstwhile race track "bookie," Vancouver papers describe a supposed immense system of race track gambling with which Johnston is said to have been identified and which was disclosed following his death.

Says the Vancouver Province: "Hundreds of thousands of dollars are bet every day in cities up and down the coast and, indeed, all over the United States and Canada. It is probable that twenty times as much money is wagered on these Mexican races in cities outside of Mexico than inside the southern republic. Nineteen-twentieths of the business is done over the wires. The basis of the vast network of betting arrangements is worked out by a great syndicate with headquarters in San Diego and with friendly newspaper and other connections. A huge daily turnover is carried on in every city from Los Angeles to Prince Rupert. An authorized news service is the backbone of the whole gambling system."

Matriculation Examinations For Nurses

Many Questions Being Taken Up in Survey of Profession By Vancouver Professor

TORONTO, Feb. 24.—Special matriculation for nurses was advocated by Dr. George M. Wier, of the University of British Columbia, at a mass meeting of registered nurses. Dr. Wier asked the attendance of the Toronto nurses in completing his survey of nursing education.

"Are examinations too easy?" Are nurses getting too long a training papped out with theory? Is the profession overcrowded? Would state medicine and nursing solve the medical burdens of the middle class? Is the standard payment adequate?" The answers to these and other questions are being sought in the survey. Intelligence tests should be taken, the speaker thought, to see how nurses compare with teachers, stenographers, etc.

MANCHESTER, Eng., Feb. 24:—An amazing record is claimed by E. T. Maher, of Heaton, Newcastle, who affirms he has not slept for 20 years, according to the Manchester Guardian. Mr. Maher who works as a store keeper in Newcastle, was known as the battalion "calier up" whilst serving with the York and Lancaster Regiment during the war.

He has undergone several operations, but the doctors are still baffled. It is stated that they can neither explain the affliction nor cure him.

El Cedro Chartered For Alaska Freight

Former Massett Timber Co. Ship to Carry Wharf Material to Dutch Harbor

SEATTLE, Feb. 22:—Chartering of the steamship El Cedro from James Griffiths and Sons to carry 500,000 feet of lumber, 1,000 piles and iron work to rebuild the dock at Dutch Harbor, Alaska, is announced here by the Alaska Commercial company.

The dock was wrecked in a storm last fall. John Hirsch Felder, well known San Francisco engineer went north in November to make a survey of work needed, returning here on the Northwestern. The El Cedro will go on berth on March 17.

Dutch Harbor is an important port on the Aleutian peninsula and one of the few bases of supplies for seafaring men along the hundreds of miles of coast. It is open the year round.

The El Cedro was formerly one of three ships which carried lumber from Buckley Bay, Massett Inlet, to Los Angeles. The vessel was purchased a year or so ago by the Coastwise Steamship & Barge Co.

The statement said that the governments were perfectly satisfied with the results of the conference.

LOGGING PROSPECTS

An encouraging feature of the coming summer work will be the amount of logging to be done on the Queen Charlotte Islands. It is understood that there is a scarcity of logs at the paper mills and that large demands will be made on the camps of the islands this year. Not only the Kelly camps but the J. R. Morgan camp and several others will be busy.

Marriage may be a gamble but it is safer than playing the stock market.

NATIONAL RADIO CONTROL

It is difficult to understand what reasonable arguments there can be against national control of radio broadcasting. With seven large broadcasting stations in Canada giving purely Canadian programs as proposed, a very distinct forward step should be registered. If Vancouver had a powerful station, Prince Rupert would get better programs and better still would be a good station at Prince Rupert to broadcast national tie-up programs for the people of Alaska and Northern Canada. By all means let us have National Radio in Canada just as they have in England and other countries.

A great many people do not earn their salaries today. Probably the King of Italy is one of these. He does not get a chance with Mussolini doing everything.

Full Speed Ahead Soon

Many people do not realize that the Northern Power Company, a subsidiary of the Power Corporation of Canada, is really constructing a large hydro-electric plant to serve the city of Prince Rupert and adjoining territory. The site for the plant is being prepared and the right-of-way for the high-power lines connecting Big Falls on the Ecstall River with the city is being cleared and that during September next it is expected to turn on the power from the first unit.

What does this mean to Prince Rupert? It means that the largest power corporation of Canada has faith in the future of the city and district and already sees a market for its product.

Under the impetus of the new movement, Prince Rupert will grow. Industries will be developed and all will feel the benefit.

Prince Rupert people must prepare for the change. New buildings will be necessary. If there are no vacant houses in the city today, what will be the condition when people begin to come in?

The Daily News is alive to the situation and is laying its plans. Others must do the same if they are to keep pace with the new Prince Rupert.

KNOCKING THE TOWN

Editor, Daily News:—
Having read your editorial in today's issue, re. 'Knockers' Roll,' it occurs to me the following few lines would be an appropriate motto for these people. I would suggest it appear in a prominent position in your paper every day and let sink in.

They are culled from this month's issue of "The Co-operator," published by the J. R. Watkins Co., Winnipeg, Man.

If you want to live in the kind of a town,
Like the kind of a town you like,
You needn't slip your clothes in a grip
And start on a long, long hike.
You'll only find what you've left behind,
For there's nothing that's really new,
It's a knock at yourself when you "knock your town."
It isn't your town—its YOU!
S. A. KEILBACK.

Man in the Moon

Lives of spendthrifts all remind us
We can have a high old time
And departing leave behind us
Not a solitary dime.

If a wife goes through her husband's pockets about all she usually gets is enough material for a lecture, just the same as other explorers.

"Sir," said the maid, quite haughtily, "either take your arm from around my waist or keep it still. I'm no ukelele."

One day a very pretty young lady who had a poodle dog in her lap chanced to be riding on a street car. A bluenose lady sitting next to the girl addressed her thusly: "My, what a nasty little dog. Don't you think, my young lady, it would look much nicer if you had a little baby in your lap?"
"No," the pretty one replied in calm, even tones, "it wouldn't. You see, I'm not married."

In Prince Rupert

February 24, 1910.

Though six relays were necessary, a reply to the telegraph message sent from here to New York was received in three hours and a-half.

May 19 has been set as the date for the holding of the first civic election for mayor and aldermen in Prince Rupert.

The sash and door factory on Seventh Avenue East is nearing completion and the manager, C. T. Howard, is getting ready to start operations.

Capt. W. O. Hughes, well known here as skipper of the steamer Princess Royal, is dead. Six months ago he was stricken with paralysis while within a short distance of Skagway. He was 64 years of age.

Despite the statement about six months ago by Premier McBride that he was grievously disappointed that work had not started then commencement of the building of the government wharf here is still delayed.

SERVICE FOR FISHERMEN

Rev. O. H. Walby of Winnipeg is Principal Speaker at St. Paul's Lutheran Church

An address by Rev. O. Walby of Winnipeg, organizer of the Norsemen's League of Canada, was the feature of a special fishermen's service which was held last night in St. Paul's Lutheran Church with the pastor, Rev. John H. Hanson, in charge. The speaker found his text in Luke 16 and spoke on the theme "Does Character Determine Destiny?" To be charitable to one's fellowmen could only be done in the true spirit when Christ was the controlling power. Mr. Walby declared. The unhappy state of man, he held, was due to neglect of duties and lost opportunities.

There was a very large congregation at the service, the church being filled. The male choir gave four selections which were much appreciated. Miss Swanna Olofson played a piano solo and Peter Lien, two organ solos. John Dybhavn, Norwegian vice-consul, spoke briefly and also brought greetings from the Swedish vice-consul, Olof Hanson, who expressed the regrets at being unable to be present. The pastor, Rev. John H. Hanson, also spoke in English. The death occurred last week in Vancouver of Thomas Miller, aged 82, father of Andrew Vanderhoof. All the speakers wished the fishermen a good season and Godspeed.

"I'll go to work for You, Mother"

BRAVE words, bravely spoken. Boyish shoulders, braced to lift burden of responsibility beyond their strength.

It is a tragedy so common as to create but little comment . . . children starting out to fight life's battles, unequipped.

Have you thought of the story behind the little figure that urges you to buy a paper . . . that begs the chance to run an errand, for a few sorely-needed coppers? Have you imagined the plans that may have been made for his education—the hopes, held in happier days, for his future?

And have you considered what would be the fate of your boy . . . your girl . . . should you be taken away?

For the burden you drop must be carried on . . . on the frail shoulders of your children . . .

Or on the broad, sustaining back of Life Insurance.

Make your decision today . . . and protect, with adequate Life Insurance, the future you would wish for those you love.

How one woman lost fat and gained health
Many people who are fully aware of the health-giving properties of Kruschen Salts have not yet heard of the wonderful effects these Salts have in reducing unhealthy, excess fat. By their gentle action on the liver, kidneys and bowels they urge these organs to throw off the poisonous waste matters, which, if allowed to accumulate, form fatty deposits in the body. Read how this woman lost fat and gained health:
"I have taken Kruschen Salts every day for nearly a year, and I have not felt so well for many years. My weight has dropped from 163 lbs. to 140 lbs. All my acquaintances say how much younger and better I look. I feel bright and well, whereas before I was always nervous and tired."
Mrs. B. Try taking Kruschen Salts every morning in a glass of hot water before breakfast. Little by little the unhealthy accumulations of fat will slowly but surely disappear. A new feeling of health and vitality will follow—the years will fall away as your form takes on the slender lines of youth.

FREE TRIAL OFFER
If you have never tried Kruschen—try it now at our expense. We have distributed a great many special "GIANT" packages which make it easy for you to prove our claim for yourself. Ask your druggist for the new "GIANT" 75c package.
This consists of our regular 75c bottle together with a separate trial bottle—sufficient for about one week. Open the trial bottle first, put it to the test, and then, if not entirely convinced that Kruschen does everything we claim it to do, the regular bottle is still as good as new. Take it back. Your money will be refunded to you if you have tried Kruschen free, at our expense. What could be fairer? Manufactured by E. Griffiths Hughes, Ltd., Manchester, Eng. (Established 1876). Hon. N. S. Lougheed, minister of public works, announced in the legislature last week, in answer to questions by T. P. Pattullo, that a change had been made in the road route at Willow River in the Prince George district, an additional half mile of road being built in order to have better alignment and eliminate unnecessary curves, also reducing maintenance costs. The cost of the change was $1,888.

FINAL INSTALMENT

Bill's Story

"When he pretended to go for a doctor, he really only slammed the door and then crept quietly upstairs and hid behind the door of this room, where Miss Wade would presently send you up on some excuse. Mr. Eversleigh, of course, was horrified when he saw you, but he thought it best to keep up the part he was playing. He knew our people were watching the house, and he imagined that there was no immediate danger intended to you. He could always 'come to life' at any moment. When Mr. Thesiger threw his revolver on the table and apparently left the house it seemed safer than ever. As for the next bit—"

He paused, looking at Bill. "Perhaps you'd like to tell that, sir."

"I was still lying on that bally sofa," said Bill, "trying to look down in and getting the fidgets worse and worse. Then I heard some one run down the stairs, and Loraine got up and went to the door. I heard Thesiger's voice, but not what he said. I heard Loraine say: 'That's all right—it's gone splendidly.' Then he said: 'Help me carry him up. It will be a bit of a job but I want them both together there—a nice little surprise for No. 7.' I didn't quite understand what they were jabbing about, but they hauled me up the stairs somehow or other. It was a bit of a job for them. I made myself a dead weight, all right. They heaved me in here, and then I heard Loraine say: 'You're sure it's all right. She won't come around?' And Jimmy said—the damned blackguard; No fear. I hit with all my might."

"They went away and locked the door, and then I opened my eyes and saw you. My God, Bundle, I shall never feel so perfectly awful again. I thought you were dead."

"I suppose my hat saved me," said Bundle.

"Partly," said Superintendent Battle. "But partly it was Mr. Thesiger's wounded arm. He didn't realize it himself—but it had only half its usual strength. Still, that's all no credit to the Department. We didn't take the care of you we ought to have done, Lady Eileen—and it's a black blot on the whole business."

"Tough and Lucky"

"I'm very tough," said Bundle. "And also rather lucky. What I can't get over is Loraine being in it. She was such a gentle little thing."

"Ah!" said the superintendent. "So was the Pentonville murdereress that killed five children. You can't go by that. She's got bad blood in her—her father ought to have seen the inside of a prison more than once."

"You've got her too?"

Superintendent Battle nodded. "I daresay they won't hang her—juries are soft-hearted. But young Thesiger will swing, all right—and a good thing too—a more utterly depraved and callous criminal I never met."

"And now," he added. "If your head isn't aching too badly, Lady Eileen. What about a little celebration? There's a nice little restaurant round the corner."

Bundle heartily agreed.

"I'm starving, Superintendent Battle. Besides," she looked round, "I've got to get to know all my colleagues."

"The Seven Dials," said Bill. "Hurrah! Some fizz is what we need. Do they run to fizz at this place, Battle?"

"You won't have anything to complain of, sir. You leave it to me."

"Superintendent Battle," said Bundle, "you're a wonderful man. I'm sorry you're married already. As it is, I shall have to put up with Bill."

Lord Caterham Approves

"Father," said Bundle, "I've got to break a piece of news to you. You're going to lose me."

"Nonsense," said Lord Caterham. "Don't tell me that you're suffering from galloping consumption or a weak heart or anything like that, because I simply don't believe it."

"It's not death," said Bundle. "It's marriage."

Sport Chat

Francis Peterson, former E. C. wrestling champion, is to go to Anyox shortly to meet the leading mat artist in the smelter town. This will probably be the result of a request sent from Anyox to the Amateur Athletic Association to send a man up. The request was sent by the Beach Athletic Club at Anyox where a fine new gymnasium was recently constructed.

Jim Corbett, the former prize ring champion, is now 63 years of age. He is dumbfounded at the lightning fame that present-day unknowns achieve with scarcely a decent exploit to show for it. Corbett, who suffers but little from the familiar "old-timer" complex, does not begrudge modern fighters their short cuts to renown. The situation merely bewilders him, brings a keen realization of the immense changes the fight game has experienced since the iron days of long ago.

"Gosh, it's remarkable, isn't it, how these fellows jump into celebrities over night without doing anything to speak of?" exclaimed the veteran, who looks almost fit to fight Schmeling this very moment. "Half of them don't know a darn thing about boxing, and would have been accounted mere fifth-raters in the old days. Yet there's talk of in the same breath with the great fighting men and make fortunes that would dazzle the champs of my day."

"Take this fellow Schmeling, for instance. Now there's a chap who looks pretty good, no doubt. But what has he done? Who has he licked that amounted to anything? He whipped two mediocre boxers and then knocked out this Risko chap, who everybody knows was 'washed up.' When you analyze the thing you've got to confess the man has not done anything yet. I'm not saying he won't amount to something some day. Maybe he'll be champion of the world for all I know. That's not what I'm driving at. The fact remains that he hasn't done anything and is everywhere being acclaimed as a sure world beater."

"How would I rate the German right now? That's easy. I don't think he's the greatest living fighter yet, not by a long shot. What I'd call him right now is just an interesting prospect. That is really all the fellow is, but how the papers rave about him! Maybe you sports writers of today have a sharper vision than the scribes of my time, and all this noise about Schmeling may be justified. But it's hard to convince me of that. Why, do you know, I didn't get as much space in the papers as Schmeling got when I beat John L. Sullivan, probably the greatest fighter of all time."

BASKETBALL CHANGE

Owing to the Players' Club show tomorrow night and the C.N.R. ball Friday, basketball will be played on neither of those nights this week. The only games of the week will be on Wednesday night, it was announced today.

The winner of the bout here will meet Max Schmeling, the German, for the world's heavyweight title.

WISH PURE SOCIALISM

Death to All Who Would in Any Way be Capitalists, Says Soviet Russia

MOSCOW, Feb. 24.—While the rest of the world is absorbed with the London Disarmament Conference, or with important domestic political matters, Soviet Russia is trying out a stupendous social and economic experiment which is described by many as the boldest and most drastic ever witnessed in the whole history of man.

To achieve pure communism and remove the vast vestiges of private ownership, the Soviet authorities have almost overnight converted millions of small peasant farms into great state and collective farms, in which the former property of the individual peasant becomes basic capital, and the property of the entire agricultural commune. The peasant himself becomes a mere worker for the common good.

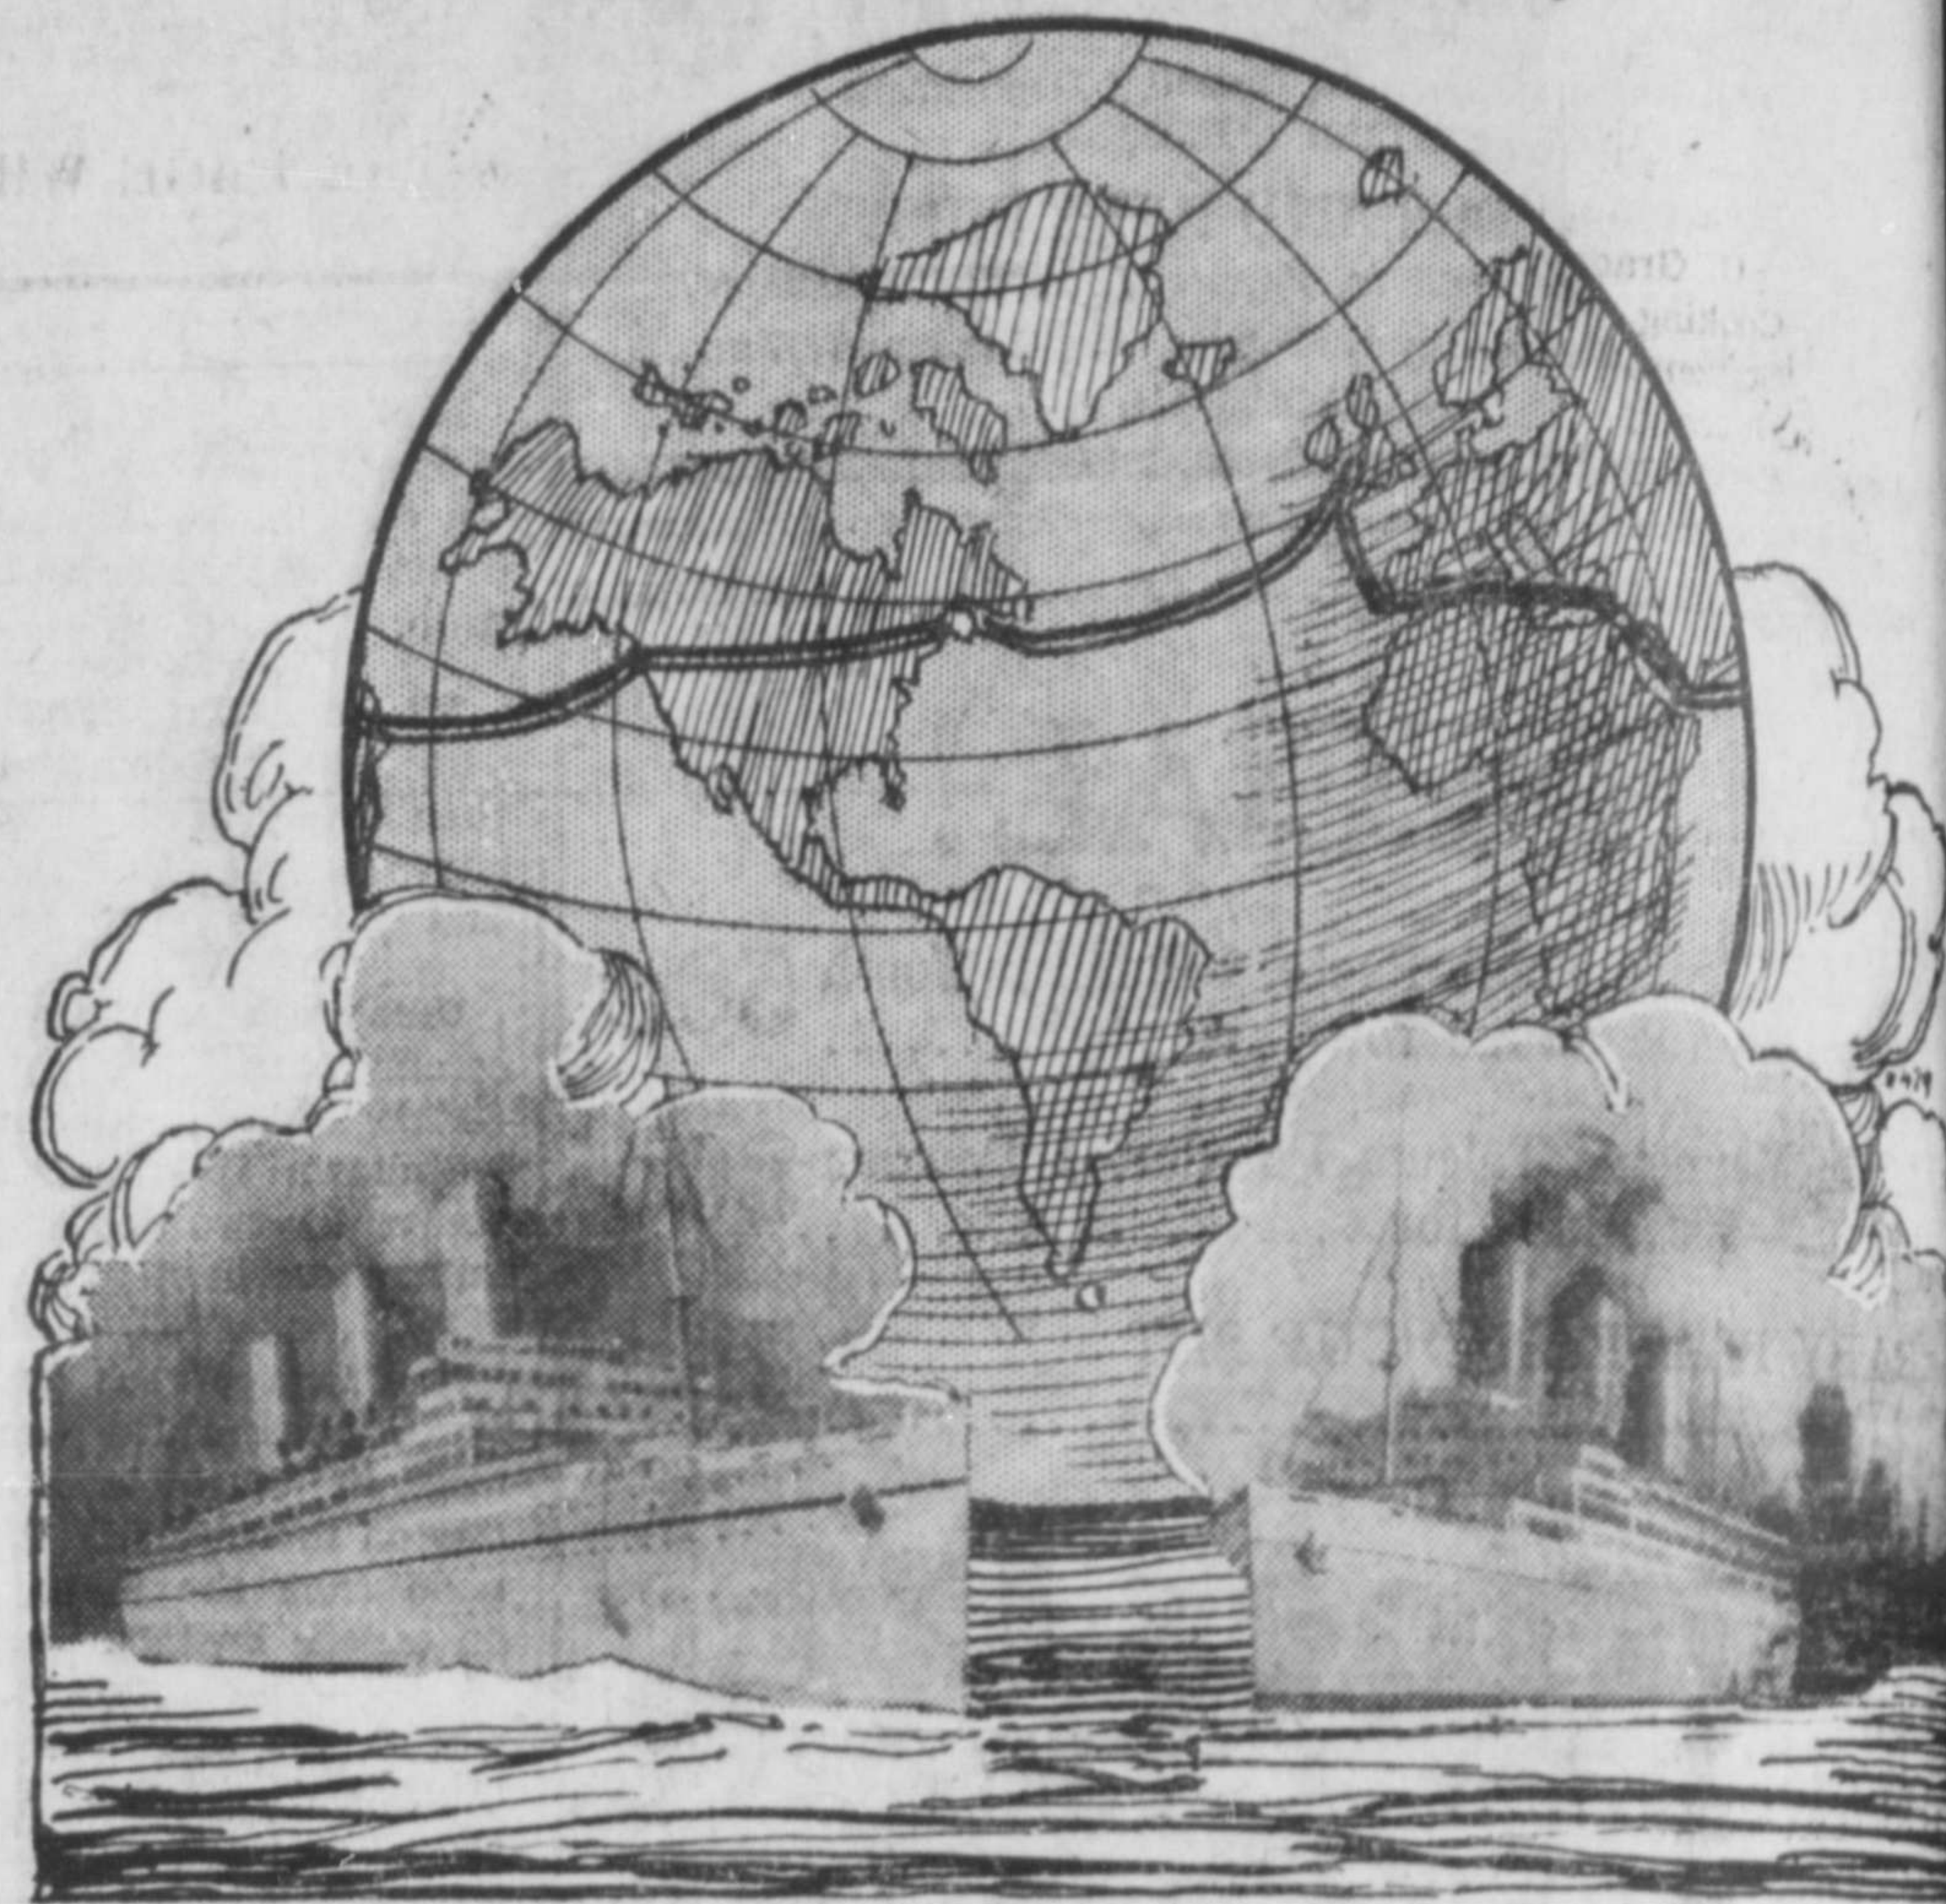

Out of Russia's 120-odd million peasants, several million have already joined in this epoch-making movement toward pure socialism, either voluntarily or in an effort at economic self-preservation. Another four million, however, who are classed as "kulaks," which in Russia means a peasant who possesses greater wealth than his neighbors, have openly rebelled or passively resisted the sequestration of their property and communization of their farms. Some have deliberately burned their homes, killed their cattle, and destroyed their grain in order to prevent its falling into the hands of the government.

Determined at any cost to end this and all other opposition to conversion of the small peasant holdings into great collective farms, the government has decreed that these kulaks must be exterminated economically.

"Death to the kulaks as a class," "Our last battle with the remnants of capitalism" and "Poor peasants must fight to the death against their exploiters," are some of the slogans that one sees everywhere in Soviet Russia since the present struggle between the Communists and the wealthier peasants became acute.

Even if the kulaks are willing to give up their farms and other property they are not eligible for membership in the collective farms, because the authorities believe they will never genuinely abandon their so-called kulak ideology and their

The Great White Fleet

Canadian Pacific Express Liners on both oceans will all be painted white when the Atlantic ships, Empress of Australia, France and Scotland have been metamorphosed to this color. The Pacific fleet always was white and the new giant vessel, Empress of Britain, now building, will be white also. With the opening of the St. Lawrence season of navigation next April, the Canadian Pacific will possess the greatest white fleet in the world. The ships are to retain the familiar bun-yellow funnels and ventilators and will have white upper works and a white hull relieved with a blue streak. About the artist's conception of the Empress of Britain when completed, shown on right with Chateau Frontenac, Quebec in background and the Empress of Japan, biggest ship on the Pacific. strong yearning for private ownership. For these reasons, the kulaks, who for decades were much better off than the small peasant farmers, are doomed to ultimate economic extinction under the communist regime, as were the monarchists and nobility after the revolution. Deprived not only of their homesteads, cattle and horses, but in many cases of their money, these kulaks will be given land in districts far from their former homes, and left to work out their own precarious existence in areas where they can do no harm to the government's agricultural program.

of the most efficient criminals of the day."

"The sad thing is I never met him. I was thinking of writing my reminiscences soon—with a special chapter on murderers I have met—and by a purely technical oversight, I never met this young man."

"Don't be silly," said Bundle. "You know you haven't got the energy to write reminiscences or anything else."

"I wasn't actually going to write them myself," said Lord Caterham. "I believe that's never done. But I met a very charming girl the other day and that's her special job. She collects the material and does all the actual writing."

"And what do you do?"

"Oh, just give her a few facts for half an hour every day. Nothing more than that." After a slight pause, Lord Caterham said: "She was a nice-looking girl—very restful and sympathetic."

"Father," said Bundle, "I have a feeling that without me you will run into deadly danger."

"Different kinds of danger suit different kinds of people," said Lord Caterham.

He was moving away, when he turned back and said over his shoulder:

"By the way, Bundle, who are you marrying?"

"I was wondering," said Bundle, "when you were going to ask me that. I'm going to marry Bill Eversleigh."

The egoist thought it over for a minute. Then he nodded in complete satisfaction.

"Excellent," he said. "He's scratch, isn't he? He and I can play together in the foursomes in the autumn meeting."

Stop us if you've heard this one . . .

"MY DEAR, I simply dread this daily shopping" How many times have you heard that story? More than once, we'll bet a hat. And if you ask the woman who "dreads shopping" just why she does so, you'll usually hear something like this:

"I takes so much time! I start out and look and look . . . and by the time I've found what I want I'm dead on my feet. All in, my dear. I mean I actually am!"

You can do a friend like that a real service. Ask her if she reads The Daily News grocery advertisements. Usually she'll look surprised and say, "Not very often. What has that to do with it?"

Tell her how you have your mind all made up before you hang the market basket over your arm . . . how you're able to save steps, budget your expenditures neatly, get what you want—and all with a minimum of time and effort. Simply because you have the news of the shopping world at your finger-tips all the time, by reading the advertisements every day.

GRANBY IS SELECTED

As Stock Which Offers Speculative Risk and Possibilities of Enhancement

Granby Consolidated, one of Canada's ranking copper producers, has been selected by The Financial World, of New York, as a stock which, while offering a moderately high degree of speculative risk, also offers definite speculative possibilities of market enhancement, while returning an exceptionally high yield in the interim of holding.

In pointing out the possibilities offered by Granby, The Financial World states:

"The main properties are located in British Columbia and development of the Bonanza ore body from which production was first obtained last year, is expected to result in Granby's reporting greater ore reserves at the close of 1929, than ever before in its history.

"The opening of this ore to production tended to increase average costs during 1929 to around 10 cents a pound, whereas a moderate reduction in this figure should result in the future. Reports for the first 11 months of 1929 indicated probable net for the year before book-keeping charges of between $9.50 and $10 a share. With maintenance of 18 cent copper these profits could reasonably be augmented somewhat during the coming year.

"Net quick assets are reported to equal $6,000,000, including about $4,500,000 in cash. The cash alone is equal to $10 per share of stock, and there appears to be no reason why the present $8 dividend rate should not be maintained in 1930.

BOY SCOUTS HAD DINNER

Birthday of Founder Celebrated Saturday Night By Third Rupert Troop

On the anniversary of the birth of the founder of the movement, Lord Baden-Powell, the third annual supper of Third Prince Rupert Troop of Boy Scouts was held Saturday night in the clubroom of First United Church, the new headquarters of the troop. The boys met at 6 o'clock and games were played until 6:45 when all sat down to a good supper served by the patrol leaders. After supper more games were played and an investiture held to welcome four new boys into the troop—Pat Phillipson, Jack Unwin, Leslie Wilson and Arthur Shenton—who were presented with their tenderfoot badges by Rev. Alfred Wilson. Proficiency badges were then presented to various members of the troop including Patrol Leader Walter Smith, Patrol Leader Joe Naylor, George Viereck, Patrol Leader Victor Miller and Engwald Wick. Ten year service stars were presented to Scoutmaster P. C. Miller while others receiving service stars were: Troop Leader Duncan Miller, nine years; Patrol Leader Walter Smith and Patrol Leader Victor Miller, three years, and Louis Astori, one year.

Rev. Alfred Wilson gave the boys a brief and instructive talk on the promises made by Scouts at their investiture and on various Scout laws. More games were then played and a very enjoyable evening came to a close at 9:30.

The local troop now has three patrols and hopes to be able to do real good work and make its influence felt in the community. Its suitable location and transportation can be arranged, the troop is looking forward to going into camp this summer.

Canadian Rockies Subject of Talk

Pastor of First Presbyterian Church Addresses C.G.I.T. From Book Which He Wrote

Last Friday evening the Canadian Girls in Training of First Presbyterian Church heard a most interesting talk by the pastor of the church, Rev. Thomas McConnell, who took as his subject a chapter, "The Heart of the Rockies," from a book he has written under the title, "On the Way to the Sun." From Banff to Mount Assiniboine, the speaker drew word pictures of Lake Windermere and the Windermere Highway, Lake Louise, the Lakes in the Clouds, Yoho Valley and Field. The beauties of the Valley of the Ten Peaks and Lake Moraine were also described. Inspired by the grandeur of the latter, the speaker wrote a poem which has since been set to music. Mirror Lake and the view from Beehive Mountain also received a measure of attention.

A vote of thanks to Mr. McConnell for his address was moved by Miss Beulah McKinley and seconded by Miss Margaret Willisroff. Miss Catherine Mussallem presided. At the close of the meeting "Taps" was sung with Miss Winnifred Eby at the organ.

Earlier in the week the group had an interesting literary evening, the subject of study being "Sir James Barrie." Miss Muriel Walker gave a paper on the life of the author. A review of his works was also given and characters of "The Window in Thrums" were discussed. Miss Malzie Macdonald played several piano solos which were greatly appreciated.

Douglas Lay, resident mining engineer for the Northwestern Mineral Survey District, with headquarters in Hazelton, addressed a meeting of the British Columbia Chamber of Mines in Vancouver last Friday night, telling of mineral development in the part of the province of which he is in charge.
