Those arguing for the passing of the measure urged that it would have the effect of helping the industries of the country and thus diminishing unemployment.

DIED FROM GAS BURNS

Ronald McKechnie Succumbs to Injuries Sustained at North Pacific Cannery

An attempt to kindle a fire by the use of gasoline proved fatal to Ronald McKechnie, well known resident of this city, who died last evening at 6 o'clock in the Prince Rupert General Hospital. Mr. McKechnie had gone out a week or so ago to North Pacific Cannery to become watchman there. Yesterday morning he used the gasoline to light a fire and was fatally burned by an explosion which followed. He was rushed to the hospital in a gasboat but the best of medical skill was ineffectual in saving his life.

The late Mr. McKechnie, who had lived here for several years, was a native of Scotland and sixty-four years of age. He was a brother of John McKechnie, a former alderman of the city, who left several years ago for Vancouver.

Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the B. C. Undertakers. Ex-Ald. John McKechnie will arrive in the city on the Cardena Thursday night from Vancouver to attend the funeral which will take place on Friday.

FATHER OF LOCAL MAN

Norman Freeman Son of Late Capt. Absalom Freeman—Deceased Navigated Northern Waters Many Years

The late Capt. Absalom Freeman, veteran coast mariner, whose death occurred in Vancouver on Sunday, was the father of Norman L. Freeman, local representative of the International Fisheries Commission, who was called to Vancouver recently because of his illness. The late Capt. Freeman, who was very well known in Prince Rupert through many visits here since the early days, is also survived by a widow and another son in California. The family had lived in Vancouver for twenty years or more.

The late Capt. Freeman, who navigated the north coast for so long, himself charted waters nearby in the early days and reported many obstructions to the Department of Marine. Freeman Harbor and Freeman Pass, at the southwest of Porcher Island, are named after him. It was there that fishing vessels of the New England Fish Co., on which deceased served as skipper, used to tie up in the course of fishing operations in Hecate Straits.

The government contended itself with brief denials.

SLAUGHTER OF WHALES

Convention to Be Held in Berlin With Object to International Pact

WASHINGTON, D.C., March 25.—Because of the possibility of the complete extermination of whales through increasing slaughter, the conservation of the largest mammal has become a subject for concerted international effort.

Dr. Remington Kellogg, Smithsonian mammalogist, has announced that he will leave New York Wednesday for Berlin to attend an international conference for the conservation of whales which will begin April 3.

It is expected the findings of this gathering will be embodied in recommendations seeking uniform legislation among the nations to keep the kill of whales below the danger line.

Kellogg will attend in a personal capacity rather than as a government delegate.

About 30,000 whales were killed last year. It is estimated the kill is 500,000 since 1900.

Mining Lectures Here Command Much Interest and Audiences Yesterday Very Satisfactory

Considerable interest is being taken in the course of lectures for prospectors and mining men generally which is being held in the city by George E. Winkler, himself a well known prospector and successful operator, for the British Columbia Chamber of Mines. It is timely enough that such a series of lectures should be given in Prince Rupert where so many people are interested in the mining industry in its various phases and the attendance of these people at the meetings is token of their appreciation and interest.

There were about twenty present at the afternoon meeting yesterday and at least double that number in the evening. Mr. Winkler's discussions yesterday were largely along the line of geology with but casual reference to mineral occurrences, the lecturer explaining that his talks of the day were as a preliminary to more specific discussions which would follow. He reserved his discourses on the individual metals until a later meeting.

At the afternoon meeting, Mr. Winkler discussed briefly the earth's crust and its rock constituents. He drew attention to the relatively small proportion of rarer metals and the consequent task that was assigned to the prospector. Mr. Winkler illustrated his remarks by showing some interesting specimens of characteristic common rocks.

Some pertinent questions with regard to the work of prospectors were put to Mr. Winkler to all of which he replied interestingly, giving casual hints to the prospectors.

At the evening meeting, Mr. Winkler was introduced to the audience by L. W. Patmore who spoke briefly of the importance of prospectors' work and the interest and remuneration attached to it, particularly in British Columbia.

In opening, Mr. Winkler thanked the audience for the interest that was being manifested by the large attendance.

Mr. Winkler prefaced his remarks by reference to the nebular and planetoid theories regarding the origin and composition of the earth. He then passed on to the make-up of the earth's crust and dwelt at some length on the processes of ceaseless building up and erosion that goes on all about. He illustrated his geological remarks by suitable drawings on a blackboard as well as with samples of ores containing the more common of the precious metals. He talked briefly of the rock in which mineral deposits occur.

Mr. Winkler again replied to a number of questions.

In the course of the meeting, Dr. J. T. Mandy, resident mining engineer, made a few brief remarks. (Continued on page six.)

CAMOSUN ON DOCK

Officially Announced Today That Permanent Repairs Will Be Made Here

It was announced this afternoon by Russell M. Smith, local agent for the Union Steamship Co. Ltd., that it had been definitely decided to make permanent repairs to the steamer Camosun at the local dry dock. The job, it is expected, will take about a couple of weeks' time. Whether or not the crew of the vessel will stand by the ship here until repairs are completed has not yet been ascertained. Some may probably go south on the Cardena Friday night.

Pending the expected arrival in the city on the Prince George tomorrow morning from Vancouver of underwriters' surveyors, there is no official word yet as to whether or not permanent repair of the Union steamer Camosun, which stranded last Saturday night on Calvert Island, will be carried out at the local dry dock. It is confidently expected, however, that the job will be done here.

Meantime, the Camosun, after unloading her freight, went on the pontoons at the local yard about 5 o'clock yesterday. Examination of the vessel shows that rather extensive damage was done including shattered forefoot and dented hull forward. There are no holes right through the hull, however, it is said.

WHAT NORTHERN B. C. POWER MEANS TO PRINCE RUPERT

A good many people do not yet realize what the development of power by the Northern B. C. Power Corporation means to Prince Rupert. The present power plant at Shawatlans generates very little more than one thousand horsepower and the steam plant at the drydock is used as a reserve.

The new power plant at Falls River is designed to generate 32,000 horsepower of which the first unit of 6,000 is now being constructed and is expected to be completed this year. Other units will be of 6,000, 10,000 and 10,000 horsepower, respectively.

The initial capacity of the pond at Falls River is to be 258,000,000 cubic feet but by raising the dam, the capacity will later be increased to 5,000,000,000 cubic feet.

Water powers under reserve which may be used for power purposes include:

Falls River	32,000 horse power
Thulme River	15,000 " "
Union Bay	10,000 " "
Khtada River	20,000 " "
Brown's River	15,000 " "

This means that for many years to come Prince Rupert will be provided with plenty of power and the huge organization of the Power Corporation of Canada will be using its influence to help build up the district industrially.

WHY TALK POLITICS?

While we do not object to publishing letters from correspondents and hesitate always at refusing to give voice to anyone who has a public matter to discuss, we do not think it advisable to begin discussing local political affairs until there is a definite announcement that an election is in the offing.

In the first place we do not know definitely that there will be a federal election this year although we strongly suspect it. Even should there be a federal election we do not know that the local provincial seat will be opened, so why discuss provincial politics if there is to be no election?

While we believe in discussing political matters generally at any time, we fear the effect of precipitating a discussion involving local people as tending to cause unrest and possible dissension at a time when there should be united action to advance the cause of Prince Rupert.

DRASTIC ACTION

If the new regulations in regard to the sale of liquor are to be strictly enforced it is probable that they may be beneficial. All depends upon the manner of enforcement. If they are simply to be book laws and winked at by the authorities, or used only in specific cases and not as a general policy, they may become a dangerous weapon. We do not believe in passing laws which may be enforced or not at the will of the attorney general. We do not think the attorney general or the police have any right to discriminate between those laws which shall be enforced and those which shall not. That is why we look with distrust at efforts to make more strict those laws which may very likely be broken in future.

SONENBERG WAS GAME

But Lost to Strangler Lewis in Hectic Mat Encounter Last Night

(Special to Daily News)
SEATTLE, March 25.—Doc Sonenberg, the leaping footballer, gave Strangler Lewis, the heavyweight wrestling champion, one of the hardest contests of his career here last night and Lewis had to extend himself to win in two falls. The gong saved the Strangler from a scissor-lock of Sonenberg, who had repeatedly forced him to the mat.

The climax came a few minutes before the end of the contest when Sonenberg made one of his famous flying tackles, missed Lewis and went through the ropes, landing 15 feet beyond the ringside. He injured his back and was unable to return to the ring to save the count.

Finally, Sonenberg climbed through the ropes in a dazed condition and Lewis immediately tackled him with a head-lock which was repeated until Sonenberg, in a sportsmanlike attempt to keep on his feet, lost the second fall which gave the Strangler the decision.

What will probably be the last open badminton tournament of the 1929-1930 season will be staged by the Cathedral Club the week beginning Monday, March 31. This great indoor game is proving more popular every year and the number of young people between the ages of ten and sixty who played this season was a large increase over last season. The different clubs are handicapped at present by a lack of court space but it is to be hoped that in time this will be remedied as the organizations sponsoring the game become stronger. At present there is not an ideal court in the city—one which meets all the requirements of championship badminton and on which all tournament games of a championship calibre should be played. However, some very high-class badminton has been played on the courts at the disposal of the different clubs and some fine players developed.

The public will again have an opportunity of seeing the city stars of the game in action in the Cathedral tournament, the finals of these tournaments usually providing a record number of thrills for the fans of the game.

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. has done much to put the southern interior town of Trail on the map and keep it there by its support of the brilliant amateur hockey team which last week lost out to the lucky Port Arthurs in the Western Canada final for the Allan Cup. The company has been responsible for keeping in employment the members of this now famous puck aggregation. It is suggested that the Canadian National Railways, Power Corporation of Canada or some such big concern in Prince Rupert might support in a similar manner a local baseball, football, lacrosse or even badminton team. There is already the nucleus here of some such strong organization but the difficulty has always been to keep the players together by providing employment for them. It would be a great publicity scheme for Prince Rupert if this could be done and it would also be a great thing for local athletics which have had a tendency, in recent years at least, to lag.

Nothing But Bricks In England Soon

Appeal Made For Stand Against Desecration of Countryside

LONDON, March 25.—That in 50 years time there would not be any fields or woods in Britain, and nothing to look at but bricks and mortar, was the view expressed by Frances, Countess of Warwick, speaking at a meeting to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the Essex Field Club at Stratford.

She asked members of the club to take a definite stand against the desecration of the countryside. There would become a shortage of birds, and the time might come when humanity would be eaten up by the insects, which would devour all blades of grass she thought.

Queen Mary Sees Her First Talkie

Was Interested to Learn About Wild Country in Which Prince of Wales is Hunting

LONDON, March 25.—The Queen recently visited the Stoll Picture Theatre, Kingsway, and saw for the first time a talkie film. Her Majesty's main purpose in visiting the theatre, however, was to see Cherry Kearton's film, "Tembi," in order to get some idea of the wild country in which the Prince of Wales is now hunting and of the animals he will encounter.

After seeing the film the Queen said to Sir Oswald Stoll: "I feel very anxious to think that the Prince of Wales is so near to many dangerous animals." The Queen had intended seeing only one film, but she stayed an hour longer to see a representation of the Aquitania battling her way through a storm, and later a British Movie-tone News, which was her Majesty's first experience of a talking film. Before leaving she had tea with Sir Oswald and Lady Stoll. Her Majesty remarked: "It is a pity I cannot come more often, for I enjoyed it immensely."

A MIGHTY FORCE IN CANADIAN BUSINESS.

Daily Newspapers of Canada

THE daily newspaper is indispensable to the efficient, orderly operation of Canadian business. From coast to coast manufacturer, distributor and retailer depend on its sales influence to maintain a constant flow of goods from maker to merchant and from merchant to consumer.

Deprive commerce and industry of the sales-creating power of the daily newspaper and business would languish. Factory output would diminish, inventories would mount, dealers' shelves become clogged with merchandise and profits dwindle.

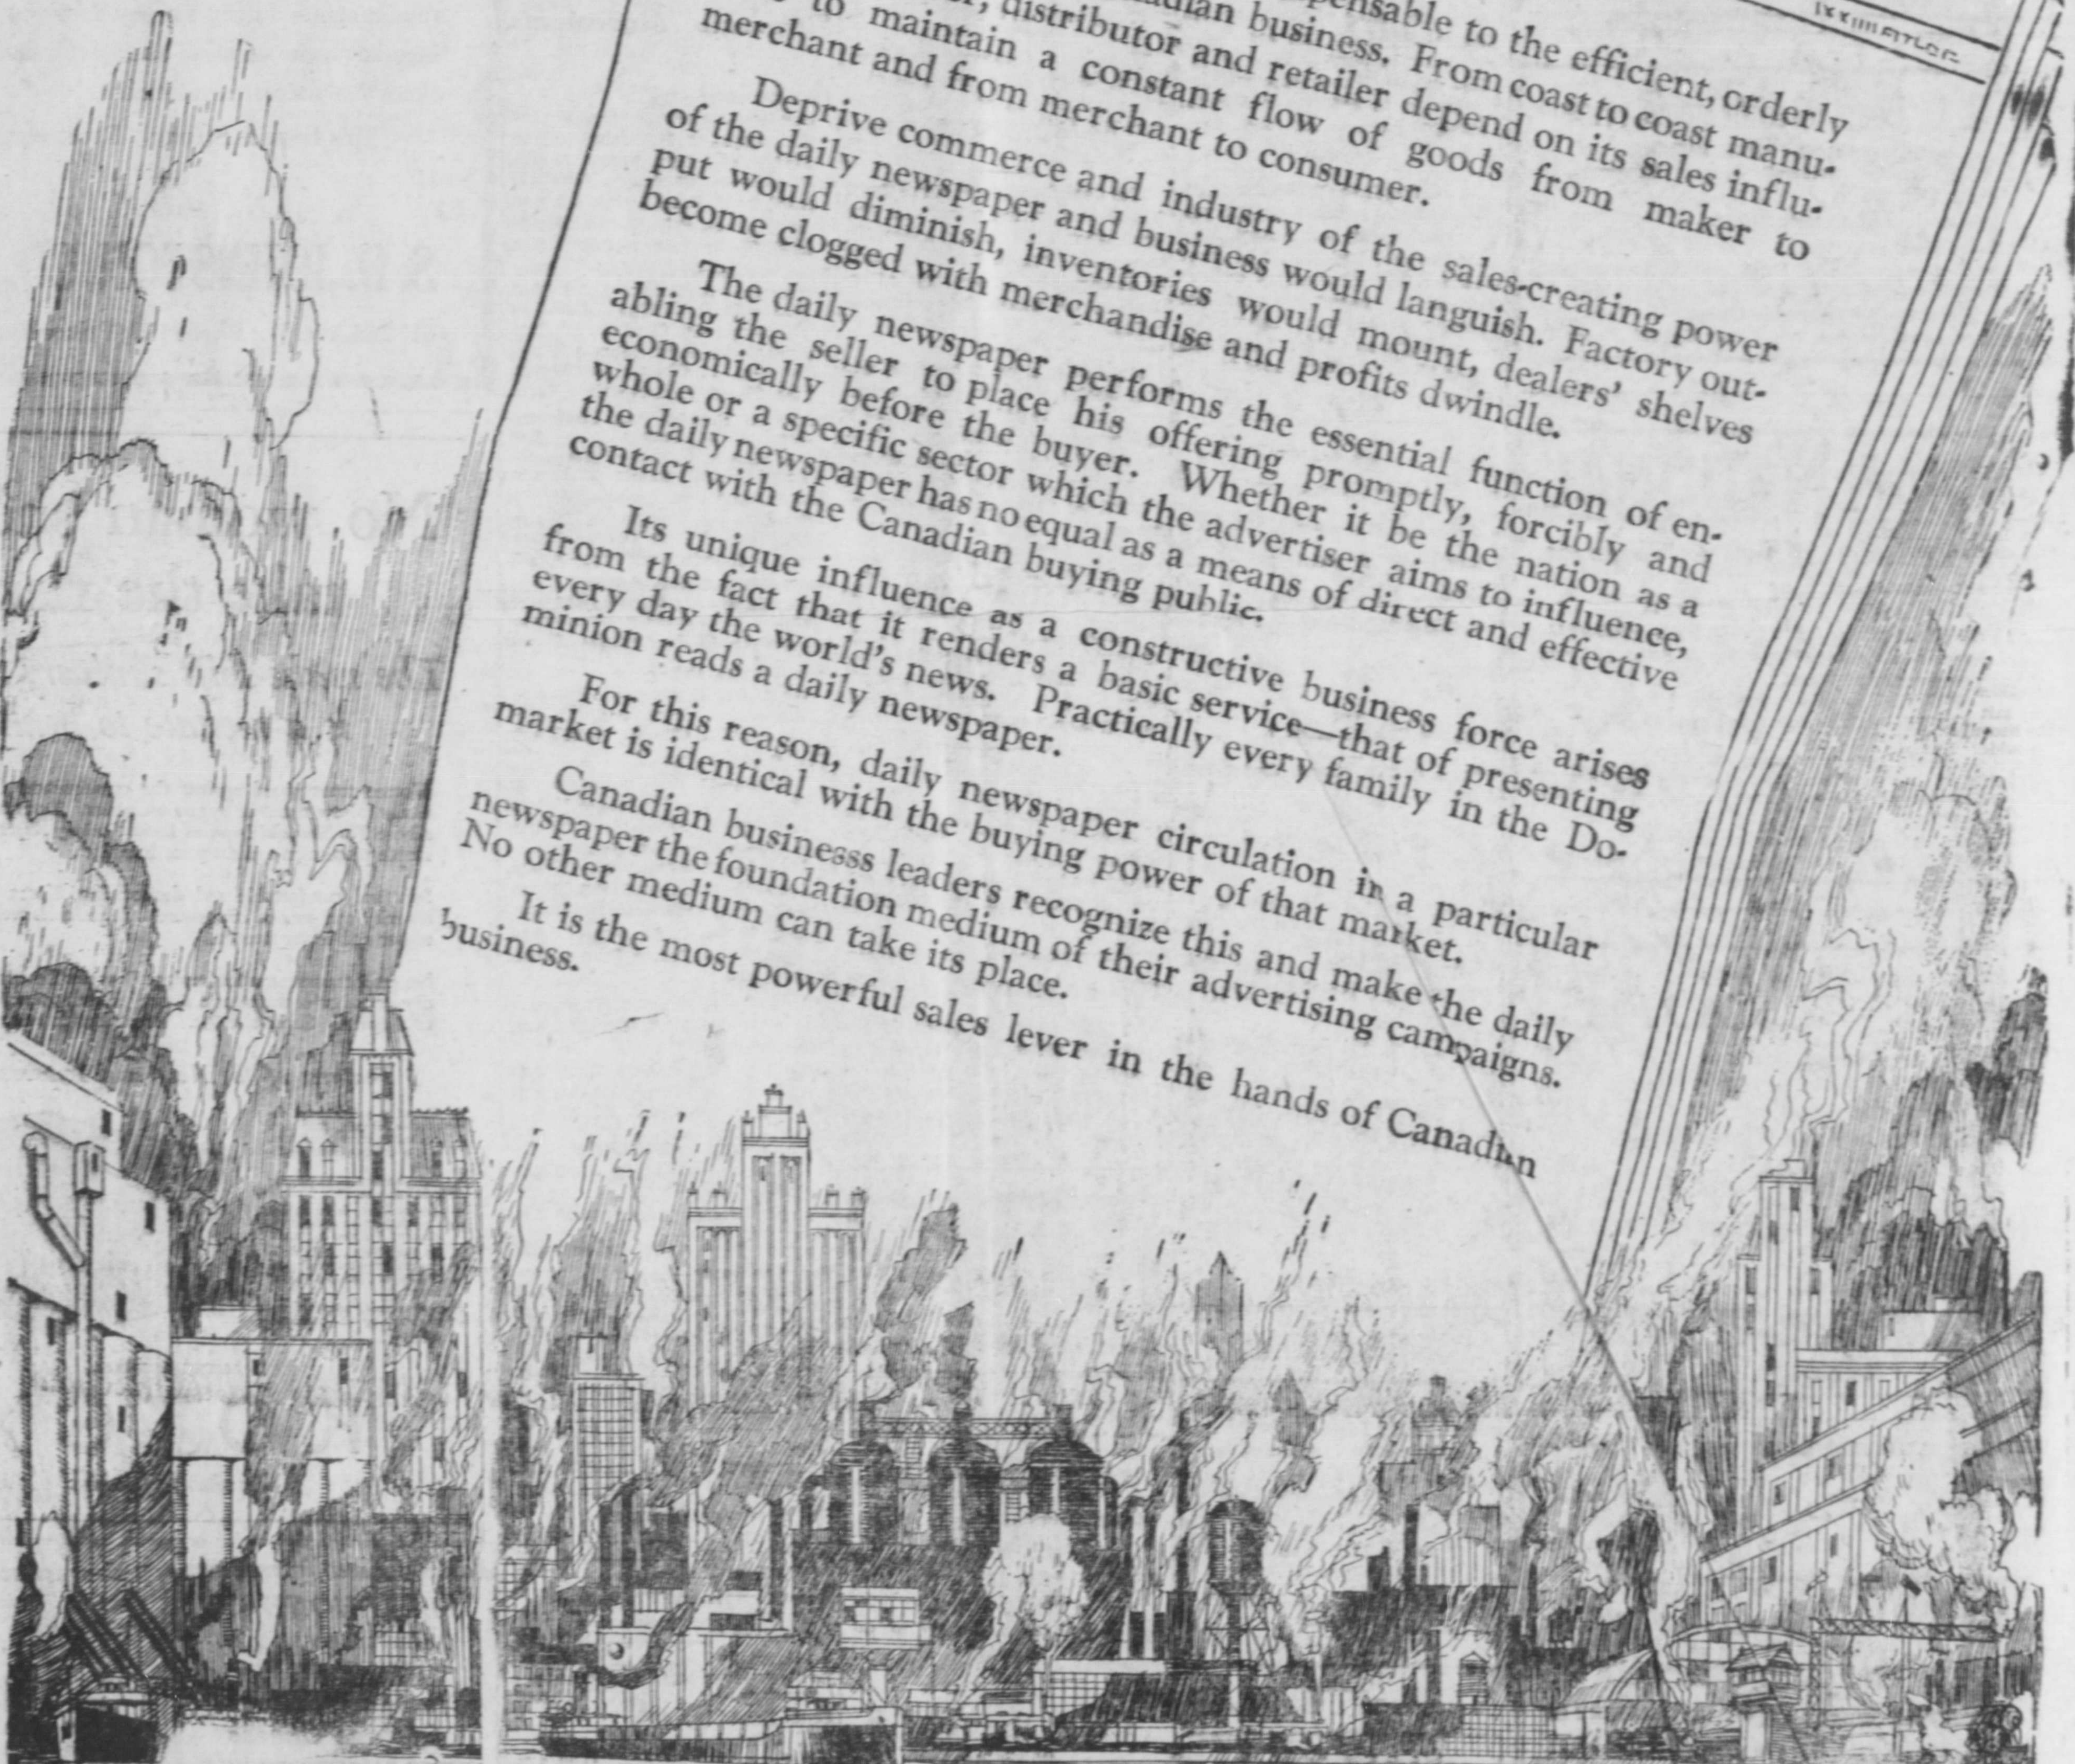

The daily newspaper performs the essential function of enabling the seller to place his offering promptly, forcibly and economically before the buyer. Whether it be the nation as a whole or a specific sector which the advertiser aims to influence, the daily newspaper has no equal as a means of direct and effective contact with the Canadian buying public.

Its unique influence as a constructive business force arises from the fact that it renders a basic service—that of presenting every day the world's news. Practically every family in the Dominion reads a daily newspaper.

For this reason, daily newspaper circulation in a particular market is identical with the buying power of that market.

Canadian business leaders recognize this and make the daily newspaper the foundation medium of their advertising campaigns. No other medium can take its place.

It is the most powerful sales lever in the hands of Canadian business.

drawing attention to the possible interest that the lectures might have for certain women as well as for men. In passing, the resident engineer made appreciative comment of the manner in which the press of the city had supported the mining industry generally and this course of lectures in particular.

It was pointed out that lectures would be given every afternoon and evening of this week.

These lectures were decided upon by the mines department of the government some time ago, and a series of them are being delivered in all sections of the province in which an interest attaches to prospecting and mining.

About George Winkler

George Winkler is well qualified for the work he has in hand. He is quite at home talking to prospectors, as he has been one of them and understands their problems. He has had a colorful career. He has tried his hand at prospecting and mining, and by way of variety took a fier one time at politics. He offered himself once as a Socialist candidate in one of the southern constituencies. He failed to make the grade, and went back to prospecting and made good. For the past few years he has been identified with the Portland Canal mining district, in which he has some valuable holdings.

In his time George Winkler has located a number of properties in various sections of the province including the famous Sunloch group in the Jordan River district, not far from the city of Victoria, which it is believed one of the most important copper producers on Vancouver Island. This property was located for Stuart G. Campbell.

Campbell made the arrangement with Winkler to prospect for him, and stipulated that should anything worth while be found the claim should be recorded as the Sunloch, after a horse on which he (Campbell) had won a sweepstake. This explains how the famous Sunloch, now owned by the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, of Trail got its name.

George Winkler is just as optimistic as the average prospector but despite this he thinks mining throughout Canada and the United States is in for a dull period. Silver at 40 cents creates a condition in mining in British Columbia that has never before been called upon to face. It is a serious situation for the established mines which for many years have been reckoning the value of the ore reserves with silver at 50 cents. This means they must cut their assets in ore reserves by 20%. Most of the silver producing properties have closed down, but some of the big producers continue in operation. Just what the loss will mean to some of the big operating companies may be gathered from the statement that in the case of the Consolidated company it will run to $1,500 per day, and with respect to the Premier to approximately $300,000 per annum. The drop in metal is sure to slow down development. The stronger development companies will probably carry on as they will not be hit until they commence to ship, but a lot of capital may be shut off which would be used to advantage in bringing in new properties.

The unrest in China and India are regarded as the chief cause for the slump. Both countries were on the silver standard, and used very large quantities in the arts. Quite recently India went over to the gold standard. This is bound to have a marked effect on silver prices, and as for China not much can be expected until a stable government comes out of the troubled state of affairs which has obtained for the past ten or fifteen years. The worst feature of the mining outlook is its uncertainty, as the improvement must come from India and China, and in both of these countries almost anything might happen.

Great Crowd Sees the Fashion Show at Capitol Theatre

There was a great crowd out to the Capitol last night to see the Annette Fashion Show and, the curious thing was that the audience was made up of more than half men. Some wonderful gowns and coats and suits were shown with a very beautiful wedding scene as the finale. All were in the newest styles and were much admired.

Those taking part included Misses Nellie Gurvich, Victoria Krikevsky, Louise Krikevsky, Vivian Hickey, Verna Brochu, Pebbles Stone, Lillian Ivarson, Ruby Krikevsky, Violet McCutcheon, Mrs. Weir and Mrs. Wendie. All wore the clothes well and displayed them to advantage.

The show will be repeated to-night.

Man in the Moon

Now spring is here, be sure there is a non-tipping sign on the can.

A pointed tongue can stab a good reputation and do more harm than a dagger.

"Staying qualities" are those that a boy develops when he is sent on an errand.

Spring, blith spring, is here at last. Bringing its coat of tan. The birds will sing, the bees take wing.

And the only dollar is man. He keeps working and does not even buy a new suit of clothes to let the world know that he feels different.

He—"Lips that touch liquor shall never touch mine."

She—"Your lips?"

He—"No, my liquor."

Young Graduate—"Do you think you can pay what I'm worth?"

Employer—"I can do even better. I'll start you out with a small salary."

T. C. Workman, representative of the London Salvage Corporation marine underwriters, is expected to arrive here tomorrow morning on the Prince George from Vancouver in connection with the repairing at the local dry dock of the steamer Camoran which was damaged last Saturday night in going ashore on Calvert Island.
