RETURN TO OWN WORK

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—Practically all of the members of the former Mackenzie King administration have returned to their former professions and occupations.

Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, has remained in Ottawa and Kingsmere since the last election. He has devoted considerable thought to the operation of his farm at Kingsmere and this year had a splendid crop.

Hon. Charles Dunning, former Minister of Finance, is now general manager of Lucerne-in-Quebec. Besides being a director of an insurance company.

He has an office in Ottawa and maintains his home here. Hon. Ernest Lapointe, former Minister of Justice, is in Johns hospital, following an operation.

The winter will likely witness his return to Quebec city, where he will open a law office. Hon. W. D. Euler, former Minister of National Revenue, is in Florida and has dismissed politics from his mind.

He resides in Kitchener where he owns a thriving newspaper and business college, besides being interested in several other concerns.

In Kincardine Hon. James Malcolm, former Minister of Trade and Commerce has returned to Kincardine, Ontario, to manage his furniture factory.

Hon. J. C. Elliott is practising law in London while Hon. Peter Heenan, former Minister of Labor, is still in Ottawa turning over in his mind the various offers he has received from large industrial companies for his services.

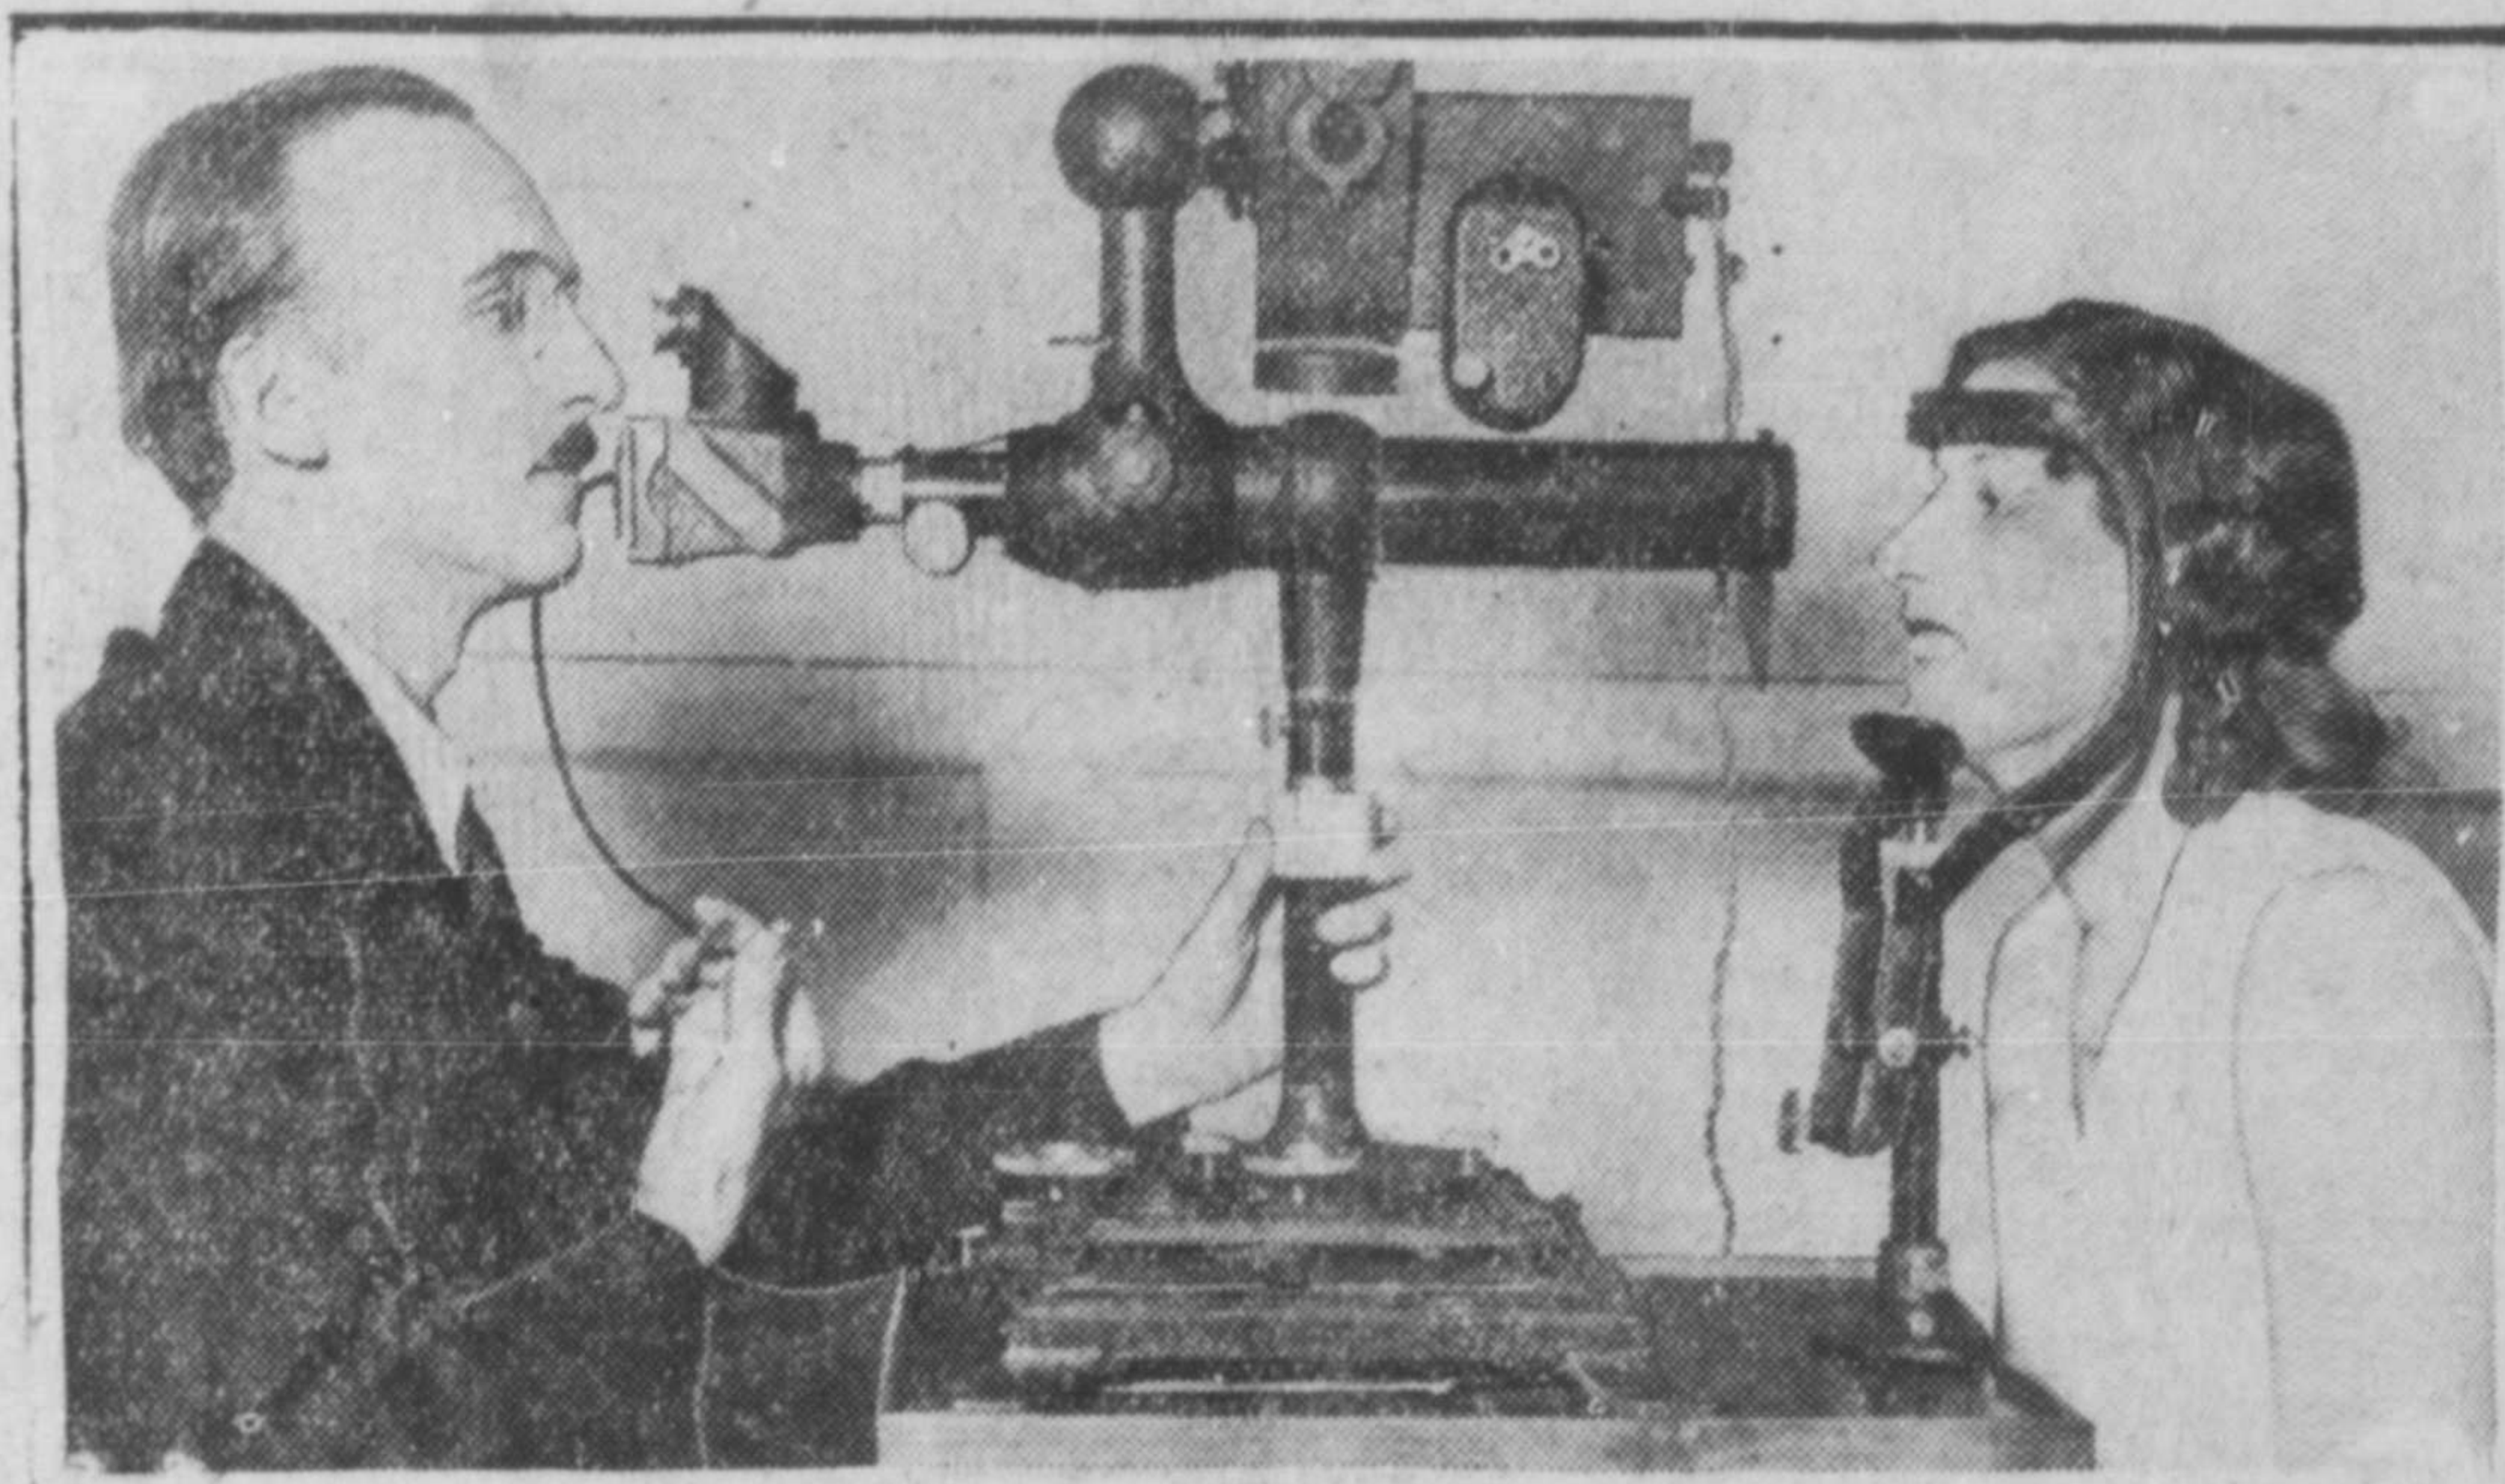

Hon. T. Crerar, former Minister of Railways and Canals, is in Winnipeg and is planning to go into private business. Hon. Charles Stewart, former Minister of the Interior, is staying in Ottawa although he operates a large farm in Alberta.

Hon. W. R. Motherwell, former Minister of Agriculture, is on his farm in Abernethy, Saskatchewan. Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of National Defence, has transferred his law practice from Halifax to Montreal where he now resides.

Hon. Fernand Rinfret, ex-Secretary of State, is in Montreal, editing a French-Canadian newspaper, while Hon. Raoul Dandurand is occupied with financial affairs in the same city. Hon. Peter J. Veniot, former Postmaster-General, is now living quietly in New Brunswick.

It is most unlikely that the coming session of Parliament will witness the return of either Mr. Dunning or Mr. Cannon.

Prospector Found Dead
Head Was Riddled With Bullets From Murderer

Believed to Have Been Shot In Revenge For Having Discovered That His Friend Had Been Victim Immediately Previous

CORDOVA, Alaska, Dec. 27.—Another mystery death in the McCarthy district was reported when Dan Person, prospector, was found dead in his cabin with his head riddled with bullets.

He is the sixth man to have been found dead under mysterious circumstances in lonely cabins in the region in recent months. The victim immediately preceding Person was Novard Foster.

Another prospector, whose body Person discovered three months ago.

Although a coroner's jury returned a verdict of suicide in the case of Foster, Person insisted that his friend had been murdered.

The authorities now believe that Person may have been murdered in revenge by Foster's slayer.

Australia Cricketer Remanded For Signing Novel Kind of Autograph

SYDNEY, Dec. 27.—Because he wrote his autograph on the shapely calf of a pretty girl passenger's leg on a liner while homebound from London, a member of the victorious Australian cricket team which recently toured England, has been reprimanded by the International Cricket Board.

Members of the team had pledged themselves not to sign autographs under any circumstances as autograph hunters became a positive nightmare to previous teams. There is no secret concerning the identity of the offending player because the young lady proudly displayed her souvenir.

JUMPED IN HOT STEEL

DORTMUND, Germany, Dec. 27.—After years of labor at a blast furnace of the steel works here, Robert Germann came to feel a great affection for the furnace. Today he told his companions that it seemed to be calling him. Later they saw him jump into the white hot molten steel.

No motive beyond the fatal attraction of the furnace could be ascribed for the act.

Mission Journeys
Total 44,000 Miles

Miss Eva Hasell Describes Conditions Faced By Workers

MONTREAL, Dec. 27.—Conditions among the settlers in the recently opened areas of the Peace River and Wandering River prairie country in Northern Alberta and British Columbia were described here recently by Miss Eva Hasell, founder of the Sunday School by Post missionary enterprise of the Anglican Church, centred in the more remote sections of the western provinces.

Travelling mainly by means of a motor van, over roads which the speaker said averaged six very deep mud-holes to the mile for at least thirty miles in one region, and in one case walking 76 miles in order to get to a particularly isolated group of settlers, Miss Hasell and her assistant, Miss Iris Sayle, spent several months this summer among these people, finding great poverty through the crops having failed owing to the heavy rains in July and the severe frosts late in September and into October. Miss Hasell pointed out that, unless religious and ethical teaching was brought into these isolated areas, a serious national menace was presented by the fact that already propaganda of anti-social character was being distributed widely. In addition, she claimed, there was organized propaganda directed against the Christian churches.

OTTAWA, Dec. 27.—St. Joseph's Roman Catholic Church, a $400,000 structure, was consumed here today by flames started by a small boy worshipper overturning a tray of lighted candles into the Christmas Crib. The boy was lighting the candles in memory of a loved one when the accident occurred. The fire started at 10 o'clock and, within an hour and a half, nothing remained but crumbling walls. The church was built of stone and was dedicated in 1892.

WINNIPEG, Dec. 27.—Wheat slumped to the 50-cent a bushel mark, a new all-time low level, at the opening of the Exchange here today but, with meagre offerings and the entry of investment buyers, soon snapped back to higher levels.

December wheat hit the bottom price but rallied to 52 1/2c at the close. May closed at 55 1/2c and July at 56 1/2c.

Bennett to Aid Renahan Search

Premier's Influence Secured on Behalf of Missing Flyer

Premier R. B. Bennett has promised to use his influence in having the search for Capt. Robin 'Pat' Renahan and his two companions, aviators, who have been missing since October 28 when they set out to look for Captain Burke and party in the north.

In reply to a telegram from Premier S. F. Tolmie urging continuance of the search inland, Premier Bennett stated that he was taking the matter up with Hon. Donald Sutherland, minister of national defence.

So strong is Mrs. Renahan's faith in her husband's safety that she is prepared to charter a private plane to continue the search should the Federal Government fail to send out planes to search the mountain lakes. For this purpose friends of the family who are interested in aviation in British Columbia are selling tickets for Pat's car which will be raffled.

BOY SCOUT IS LAUDED

Prompt Action of Bobby Houston On Halloween Responsible For Averting Accident

Following receipt of a letter from George F. Davey, local optician, Scoutmaster P. C. Miller has made application to Boy Scouts headquarters suggesting that suitable recognition be made of prompt action taken last Halloween by Bobby Houston, local Scout, in averting what might have been a serious, if not fatal, accident. Mr. Davey's letter was as follows: "Having witnessed what might have been a serious if not fatal accident on Halloween night, which I only recently learned was prevented by the prompt action of a Boy Scout, a member of your troop, I thought the matter should be called to your attention.

"Standing on the corner of Fulton Street and Sixth Avenue, I noticed the clothing of a boy playing in front of the Japanese Hall, half-a-block away, burst into flames. I immediately started for the scene but before reaching the middle of the road, heard Bobby Houston order the boy to lie down and roll over. With his slicker he beat the flames off before I could even reach the spot.

"The boy had been dressed in a cotton rabbit suit which had caught fire from a candle and starting to run was a mass of (continued on page 5)

RAILWAY AND PRINCE RUPERT

Now that under the influence of a new government the Canadian National Railway policy has changed in regard to Prince Rupert, it is a timely season to discuss the possibilities for the future.

We offer the suggestion that local people recognize the changed situation and set about to meet it in a manner most likely to benefit the port. It is useless to attack the government for its policy. Let us leave recrimination to the politicians. We do not know what possible policy they may have to replace that of the other government. They may be planning great things for us and we not know it.

The suggestion has been made, and we think it a good one, that Prince Rupert should now do its best to interest the C. P. R. in using the port and that efforts should be made to induce the Federal Government to give the C. P. R. such inducements as will make it desirable for them to come here. As we have before stated, they have already been in negotiation for privileges at Prince Rupert and now with a government rather inclined to be favorable to that company, they might well make such concessions to the company as will bring the negotiations to a successful fruition.

Undoubtedly Prince Rupert would give the big railway a hearty welcome here. The citizens would be ready and eager to co-operate with them in every possible manner. Once they get here, they will doubtless see the value of this city as a tourist and industrial centre and may find that a hotel is vital to their business at the port.

We expect the C. P. R. to come to Prince Rupert and if anything we can say or do will help them to come, let us do it without delay.

WAGES INSTEAD OF DOLES

At the present time the tendency is to hand out doles instead of providing employment and paying wages to those seeking aid. Practically all cities are doing it and there is a good reason for it.

Under the scheme initiated by the federal government and sponsored by the provincial administration, the two governments provide a certain amount of money for employment and another amount for what is known as "direct relief." In Prince Rupert this direct relief takes the form of 25c meal tickets issued to those who have no other means of subsistence. The employment relief is not issued only to the destitute but to those who are out of work and who need employment to enable them to carry on. The pieces of work are definitely specified and the amount the governments will provide in Prince Rupert is limited to $16,500.

There will also be a limit to the amount of aid to direct relief but so far this limit has not been definitely specified.

If the city of Prince Rupert finds work for those needing aid and pays them wages instead of meal tickets, they must meet the cost themselves and can get no reimbursement from the higher governments.

Prince Rupert can get help in handing out meal tickets but beyond the sum already specified can get no reimbursement for money expended in labor. The same is true of every other municipality in the province and presumably also in the other provinces of Canada.

We believe this policy to be a vicious one, in that it encourages idleness and teaches people to expect money they do not earn. We believe the average man would prefer to earn his living rather than live at the expense of someone else.

Of course there are difficulties to be overcome if the policy is to be changed. The chief objection to federal or provincial aid to municipal relief work is that the municipalities take advantage of the situation to get improvements made at the expense of the rest of the country.

Recently the city council set fifteen men to work for one day doing odd jobs around the city. The next day another fifteen men were given similar treatment and so on. A number of useful small improvements were made at a cost of approximately two thousand dollars. It was relief work but not a dollar of it can be collected from the provincial or the federal governments.

We believe that if the governments set their minds to work they can evolve a policy that will enable municipalities to give casual work to men who are destitute so that they may earn an honest living and keep in good physical condition instead of giving them doles in the form of meal tickets. Undoubtedly the present system is bad but it is not so easy to provide a better. That is the work of the men who control the destinies of the country, both at Ottawa and at Victoria.

BURNS LAKE

The provincial government announces that it will sell by auction for non-payment of taxes the well known ranch and home of Harry E. Morgan at Ootsa Lake. The proposed action is meeting with considerable protest in the district hereabouts.

Rescue work continued for an hour or more but was unsuccessful. In addition to his widow, deceased is survived by three small children.

Over one hundred children in the district between Hazelton and Hubert received hampers on Christmas morning as a result of the Christmas Cheer fund sponsored by the Canadian Legion of Smithers. "—with all his worldly goods"

HERE, in this old strong-box, so long guarded and locked, is his "estate" . . . the "worldly goods" which he has bequeathed to her.

One by one her adviser takes out the temptingly engraved certificates and examines them. One by one he lays them down with a sorrowful shake of the head—

Slowly the truth dawns upon her. Those wonderful purchases that were to make them rich . . . independent. These speculations that were to lead them to fortune . . . many of them now are WORTHLESS!

But at the bottom of the box there lies an unpretentious document, which suddenly she recollects. It cannot have depreciated. It must still be safe and sure . . .

She reaches in and draws forth his Life Insurance Policy.

Amid the wreckage of thousands of estates, Life Insurance stands as the final and enduring refuge in time of need.

It is the one investment no man can afford to be without.

MONTREAL, Dec. 27.—Canadian scientists are now recognized the world over and particularly in Europe, Dr. Pierre Z. Rheaume, delegate of the Association des Medecins de Langu Francaise from Montreal to the Paris convention of La Societe de Chirurgie Francaise, stated upon his return from Europe.

Important technical knowledge had resulted from the convention held in Paris, Dr. Rheaume said, but the most pleasing and the most interesting was the commendation of the Canadian method of making use of specialist anaesthetists. The services of these experts are often used but the presence of nurses and internes is always considered as necessary in other countries of the world.

The Little Man

Used to be a cranky boy. Things didn't seem to go right. Not any longer! Someone suggested Nestlé's Evaporated Milk. Now he's a regular little man—strong legs—loads of energy—sunny disposition—all because he's getting the proper food.

And here's the Reason! Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is just the best of fresh cow's milk with part of the water removed—then sealed and sterilized in air-tight containers. Add water again and you have absolutely pure, safe milk—but more readily digestible than ordinary milk because the large fat globules of the milk have been broken up into small ones of the same size as in Mother's milk. Also, the curds which form in the stomach when Nestlé's Evaporated Milk is used are soft and flaky and therefore easily digestible.

Use Nestlé's Evaporated Milk for Your Baby. Use it in coffee—in cocoa—in tea. Use it in all cooking and as a beverage by diluting with one to two parts water.

CHRISTMAS OBSERVED

Fine Entertainment Staged Yesterday Afternoon and Last Night By Lief Erikson Society

One of the most delightful Christmas Tree entertainments which has been held in the entire course of the recent festive season was that which was staged yesterday afternoon for the children and last night for the adults in the Moose Hall. Both occasions proved of much enjoyment to all who were in attendance.

There were about fifty children present at the Christmas Tree in the afternoon. Gifts and sweets were distributed to the children by Santa Claus whose part was played admirably by Nels Gunderson.

The first part of the evening's proceedings was a delightful concert program. After the singing of "O Canada," brief introductory remarks were made by B. M. Simpson. There was then a piano solo by Peter Lien after which Mr. Erikstad, the acting president, made an appropriate address. Other items on the program, each of which proved very delightful, included a vocal solo by Mrs. F. W. Allen, violin and piano duet by Misses Molly and Nellie Lawrence, selection by male quartet, vocal solo by Miss Linnea Hanson, vocal solos by J. A. Teng and vocal solos by Mrs. J. H. McLeod.

After the program, the ceremony of circling around the Christmas Tree was observed. Dancing followed with music by Charlie Balagno's orchestra, C. Giske alternating with accordion numbers. Delicious refreshments were served. Some 250 persons were present.

Nels Gunderson was master of ceremonies for the evening. Other committee members were:

Social—Mrs. Jorgensen, Mrs. M. Holkestad, Mrs. B. Bendiksen, Nels Gunderson, J. Johnson and A. Lund. Program—Mrs. Jens Moen, J. Jorgensen and B. Pedersen.

Head of Chicago Hawks Tells Why His Team Is Real Title Contender

(Written for The Montreal Standard by J. C. Farrell, Publicity Director, Chicago Black Hawks)

Speed, speed and more speed. That's the watchword on the ice and in the training quarters of the Black Hawks, Chicago's sensational 1930-31 entry in the National Hockey League race. Physical condition groomed to a state of almost perfection is the chief factor in the burst of speed
the Hawks have displayed during the early games of the title chase. Just how effective the combination of physical condition and speed has been is shown by the fact that the Hawks are near the top of the heap in the title chase and the Chicago team has become,

within the short space of two months, the greatest attraction for the fans in the circuit.

Physical fitness is the chief order of Major Frederic McLaughlin, millionaire sportsman of Chicago and president of the Black Hawks. Physical fitness is preached to his players every day and strict training rules are adhered to. Physical fitness is drilled into his men on and off the ice and the result of this fine condition of the players is in evidence every night the Hawks take the ice and outspeed their opponents.

Started Hockey Club

Four years ago hockey was new to Chicago. A team was purchased by a syndicate of wealthy Chicago
sportsmen, headed by Major Mc-Laughlin, and the game made its professional debut in the little cracker box ring installed in the Old Coliseum. For two years Mayor Mc-Laughlin watched his team perform, meeting with defeat after defeat, without taking an active part in the actual management of the men. Then he started to mould a hockey club and rule it after his own will. The results have been astounding.

The present Black Hawk squad is an organization founded on the old army principles of discipline and physical perfection.

The president of the Black Hawks is no novice in the sports world although his hockey knowledge has only a few years' foundation. A few years ago the major was one of the outstanding polo players of the country. He always has been a close follower and keen student of boxing and wrestling and he has a complete knowledge of baseball, football and other sports.

As in every other sport in which he has taken an active part, Major

McLaughlin has thrown a great portion of his efforts into the business of hockey. When he entered the puck chasing game the Major had only seen a few games of the speedy Canadian ice sport. But his education came fast; his old body methods of conditioning of the body were brought into play and today
the other magnates of the National League are watching the Major and his team for new ideas.

Disciplinary Methods

In bringing about the army discipline Major McLaughlin set forth a few rules for his players, some of which are:

- 1—Every man from the star to the rookie player must obey orders.
- 2—The physical condition of each man is carefully checked and guaranteed. All follow the instructions of the physical director employed by the Hawks and are under his jurisdiction at all times.
- 3—Keep skating at top speed all of the time. Keep your opponents on the jump.
- 4—Have a definite plan of attack
and defense for each game and follow that plan from start to finish.

Ten Yard Penalty To Powder Nose

Clad in a weird and colorful asortment of uniforms that included riding habits, Dartmouth
"shorts," bathing suits and regulation moleskins, two teams representing the Pi Kappa and Tau Sigma sororities of Deering High School met in Portland, Maine, recently, in the first football game between girls ever played in northern New England. The girls battled for four 8-minute periods on the frozen gridiron of the Country Day School before a crowd of 1,500. Despite the scanty and unpadded costumes of the bare-legged athletes, there were no serious injuries. Bruised shins, scratched faces and several black eyes were not considered by the hardy players to be worth treatment.

Pi Kappa, making skillful and frequent use of forward and lateral passes, defeated Tau Sigma 3 to 6, rallying in the last half to overcome a 6-0 lead after a pep talk from the male coach during the intermission. A penalty of ten yards was imposed on the victor when a substitute came on the field bringing a vanity case to guard whose nose had become and shiny in the frosty atmosphere. The losers played the la-two minutes with only ten girls on the field, one of the ends havin quit to keep an appointment wi-
her hairdresser.

BLUE GOOSE NEST FOUND

Canadian Government Scientist's Success After Years of Searching

OTTAWA, Ont., Dec. 27—After six years of relentless searching in the Arctic wastes of the north, a Canadian government scientist, J. Dewey Soper, finally discovered in June, 1929, the nesting place of the Blue Goose. The North West Territories Branch of the Department of the Interior now has issued a booklet, describing Mr. Soper's long search and including all the data and facts he gathered in "Blue Goose Land" in Baffin Island.

Because the booklet is the only authentic report in the world on the nesting and breeding habits of this species of wildfowl, it is in great demand among ornithologists and is being distributed to all parts of the North American continent. From the viewpoint of a bird lover the booklet tears aside the veil of mystery that has enshrouded the Blue Goose ever since the species was known to man.

The first part of the report deals with Mr. Soper's six years of wandering through the Barren Lands of the north during which time he travelled 30,300 miles before he succeeded in locating the legendary "Blue Goose Land." The mystery of the breeding habits of this species of goose has intrigued ornithologists for years. The Blue Goose spends the winters on the Louisiana coast and in the early spring begins its long flight northward. It has been traced up the Mississippi valley, across the Great Lakes and as far as Hudson Bay and James Bay but from there its trail vanished completely.

It was in 1923 that Mr. Soper began his long search to end the mystery. During a trip of 7,000 miles, touching at Greenland, Ellesmere, Devon and Baffin Islands, enquiries were made of the Eskimos and white men concerning the northern habits of the Blue Goose. Finally he was told by one old Eskimo that the goose nested on the shores of a lake far in the Baffin Island interior. Mr. Soper decided to follow this single clue and in 1924 struck a camp on Cumberland Sound, Baffin Island. Because of the lateness of the season, however, he was unable to trek overland before the goose began flying south. He spent the fall and winter mapping and exploring the country and in visiting Eskimo tribes.

Early in the spring, with a party of Eskimo dog-drivers, Mr. Soper began his trip into the interior. After five months of strenuous investigating, he returned to his headquarters with the mystery still unsolved. The old Eskimo had been mistaken in his information.

Undaunted by Failure

Undaunted by this failure, Mr. Soper became more resolved than ever to locate Blue Goose Land. The winter of 1926 was spent in long trips over the rugged terrain of Baffin Island, exploring and soliciting information from the Eskimos. So persistent was he that he was named by the natives, "Kiamateo," the man in search of the Blue Goose.

In the spring of 1926 a new camp was struck on Cape Dorset, at the southwestern extremity of Baffin Island. Eskimos from the locality informed him the goose nested on the tundra along Foxe basin. Unforeseen events necessitated Mr. Soper's return to civilization in the fall of 1926 and practically the whole of the next year was consumed in study and preparation for the final drive to be conducted in 1928.

In the summer of that year, Mr. Soper returned to the north, again taking up headquarters at Cape Dorset. The fall and winter were spent in mapping and exploring the country. In May, with four sledges, 42 dogs and five Eskimos, "Kiamateo" set out for the Foxe Basin country. A permanent camp was struck and named "Camp Kungovik" after the Eskimo name for the Blue Goose. With two Eskimo helpers Mr. Soper prepared to spend the summer there, deciding to chance a retreat later through the interior of the island by means of a canoe.

It was at this camp that the Blue Goose was found at its brooding ground, thus solving a zoological mystery of long standing. About six weeks was spent in observation, photographing and gathering minute data on the nesting habits of the birds. Of the weather, Mr. Soper says it was "the bleakest, coldest, gloomiest and most inclement" he had ever experienced. The temperature was perilously close to the freezing point at all times and an incessant raw, cold rain beat down. Only a few hours of daylight appeared in the twenty-four. The only sound to be heard was the ever-present honking of thousands of Blue Geese.

Beautiful Spectacle

With it all, however, Mr. Soper says in his report: "The most beautiful, as well as the most remarkable spectacles that I have ever seen in bird life, were these great gatherings of Blue Geese on the marsh-lands of Western Baffin Island. In the stillness of a June night when the sun was sinking in a weird red and golden light over the northern horizon at midnight, their close ranks appeared like huge snowbanks against the background of the brown tundra. The beauty of it all fell upon the eye as does a surpassing poem, or strains of music upon the ear. It was epic, with the heroic flavor of those larger experiences in nature which strike across one's pathway but once in a lifetime."

Of his hazardous canoe trip back to Hudson Strait and a waiting government steamer Mr. Soper had little to say. Out in the unprotected sea the frail craft was tossed about like a cockle-shell and finally 72 miles of old ice masses had to be surmounted. The food supply of the little party gave out but with their precious cargo of scientific material finally the sea was reached, nine hours before she sailed for the south.

The question of conserving the Blue Goose, Mr. Soper says, is largely a question for United States. It will be unmolested in its Northern breeding grounds for many years to come and only when it migrates to the south is it vulnerable to the guns of sportsmen.

C.N.R. steamer Prince William, Capt. William Thomas, is reported due back at 2 o'clock tomorrow morning from her weekly voyage to Queen Charlotte Island points.

Please accept today with our compliments these things as a gift throughout the coming year, which you'll find in our pages: New and better ways of performing old household tasks . . . means of savings steps, time, effort . . . labor-saving devices . . . short-cuts to efficiency . . . money-saving. "Why," you say, "you're probably talking about the advertisements!" Just so—we are.

Think of the advertisements—and read them—as news. News of the world of goods and things . . . news of scientific achievement accomplished for your benefit . . . news that concerns you far more directly than an account of boundary disputes in Baluchistan can ever concern you.

Read the advertisements regularly, and use them as millions of other people are doing—to save you time, effort, money, trouble, when it comes to buying the things that make life a little easier . . . a little brighter. Christmas Quiet on Waterfront—Bird Shooting Season Ends—American Fishermen New Treaty

With all the fishing vessels of every description tied up and business at a standstill, the Christmas and New Year season is being celebrated quietly and sanely on the local waterfront. Peace and goodwill reign supreme and not even a political argument disturbs the tranquillity. Christmas has come and gone and now New Year impends. The New Year will not be long in before preparations are commenced for another season of activity. The halibut season legally opens on February 15 and it is possible that, as was done last year, the operators of boats may mutually agree not to start until two weeks later. The approach of the New Year prompts the expression of a wish that 1931 may contain for one and all their share of prosperity and well-being. For some, 1930 was not so good but hope springs eternal and it is fortunate, indeed, that, with the most of folk, anticipation of better things in the future demands a good deal more time and attention than does reflection upon the trials and disappointments of the past.

Scarborough is revelling in Britain's best fishing story. For off the town there was caught a fish such as most anglers only dream of. The fish was nine feet three inches long, five feet eleven in girth, and weighed 735 pounds.

The monster was a tunny fish which was caught off Scarborough after a terrific struggle by Mr. Fred Taylor, a Manchester man. Leaving Scarborough about six o'clock in the morning in the motor-boat Jeffery, Mr. Taylor started to fish from a small boat, the Agnes. For thirty minutes after casting his line Mr. Taylor waited for a bite. And then it came.

What a bite! For three and a half hours, Mr. Taylor fought the tunny, and only after the fish had towed his boat five miles, was it killed.

The fish was 105 pounds heavier than any other tunny landed at Scarborough.

A combination salmon troller and halibut boat was launched at the Ole Moberg boat yard, Seattle, recently for L. Lorenzen and I. Petersen. The craft is 43 feet long with a beam of 11 feet and a depth of 5.5 feet. She is powered with a 30 h.p. Atlas-Imperial diesel engine and her galley is equipped with Flamo compressed gas.

With the ending of the year next Wednesday night, the bird hunting season in this district will legally come to a close. Since the deer season ended two weeks ago and with the holiday season ensuing, there has not been much activity among the hunters lately although a few of the more persistent have gone forward pretty persistently. The goose and duck season could not be said to have broken any bag records this year although it was probably about average. The old muskets will soon be going back to their shelves for a several months' stay.

The election next Tuesday here and at Seattle and Ketchikan for general secretary and local agents at the three points for the Deep Sea Fishermen's Union will be of general interest as it usually is. There are three candidates in the field for the local agency—J. M. Morrison, the present incumbent, Einar Larsen and J. H. Meagher. The last-mentioned, who was formerly agent, is now in California. It seems to be the general expectation that Mr. Morrison, who has been agent here for the past two years, will be re-elected.

The halibut schooner Viking, Capt. Matt Strand, suspended fishing shortly before the end of the season and was taken out of the water at the Barbee shipyard, Seattle, for installation of a new diesel engine of European manufacture.

Builds Halibutter

Rasmus Kvinge, a member of the crew of the halibut schooner Faith during the past season, is having a 46 foot halibut boat built for him at the John Flam boat yard on Salmon Bay, Seattle. The craft will have a beam of 12 feet and a depth of six feet. She is of the seine-boat type and will be powered, with a 30 h.p. Atlas diesel.

At a recent hearing in Seattle, halibut vessel owners of that port went on record as being opposed to a proposed extension of the closed season. By extending the closed season, the American fleet would be disastrously affected, the fishermen argued, in view of the fact that the greatest catches of the season are usually made between October 15 and November 15 by the American boats which have to travel so far to the banks. Among the halibut boat skippers who spoke at the Seattle hearing were Capt. Howard Giske of the Neptune, Capt. H. Nesland of the Seattle; Capt. Egill Eriksen of the Sunde E., Capt. Paul M. Pedersen of the Aleutian.

CHRISTMAS OBSERVED

Fine Entertainment Staged Yesterday By Sons of Norway Lodge

With a children's party in the afternoon and one for the grown-ups in the evening, the Christmas season was appropriately celebrated yesterday in the Metropole Hall by Vinland Lodge No. 28, Sons of Norway. There were some 95 children and almost as many grown-ups at the afternoon affair while the hall was crowded with nearly 300 people in the evening. The entire proceedings were most enthusiastically enjoyed.

The afternoon affair was opened by Rev. John H. Hanson, pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church. A program included vocal solo by Mrs. H. Dyrndahl, selection by J. Welle's orchestra, vocal solo by Mrs. J. H. McLeod and vocal solo by Miss Gudrun Welle. After the program, Santa Claus (Ole Skog) arrived on the scene and distributed presents and sweets to all. The Old Country custom of dancing around the Christmas Tree was observed.

The evening proceedings opened with selections by the Premier Orchestra. The program which followed included an appropriate speech by John Dybhavn, vocal solo by Mrs. Dyrndahl, recitation by S. Larsen, step dance by Mr. Leth; vocal solo by Walter Howarth and vocal solo by Mrs. Simonsen. The ceremony of dancing around the Christmas Tree was again enjoyed. Delicious refreshments were served and dancing followed with music by the Premier Orchestra.

O. B. Sather was master of ceremonies and Tony Martinsen, as chairman of the Christmas committee, had general charge of both afternoon and evening affairs. T. Murvold was in charge of the kitchen and caterers were Mrs. Dyrndahl, Mrs. S. Anderson, Mrs. O. Welle, Mrs. R. Jansen and A. Sepahammer. Presiding at the door were R. Jensen, John Storseth and Eli Skog.

Japan Bulwark Against Reds

Is Watching Developments In Russia and Proving Effective Check

VICTORIA, Dec. 27:—"Japan stands as a bulwark for the Anglo-Saxon peoples against the spread of communism on the Asiatic coast," declared Dr. R. B. Teusler, director of St. Luke's International Medical Centre at Tokyo, who passed through here recently on his way to the United States.

Japan, added Dr. Teusler, was closely watching developments in Soviet countries and so far had been an effective check to the spread of communistic propaganda.

With an organized, conservative and responsible government, Japan has right on her borders a disorganized and irresponsible government, Dr. Teusler claimed. "Geographically Russia is active right up to the boundaries of Japan and this has been well demonstrated many times in China, where Red propaganda has been rampant."

Dr. Teusler is seeking another $1,800,000 for completion of the St. Luke's Medical Centre, which will cost $5,000,000 when finished. So far more than $3,000,000 has been raised.
