Prison Reform Bills Now Before Congress of United States; Will Pass Senate Soon 'Tis Expected

WASHINGTON, April 26:—There are bills before Congress now providing for reform of the prisons of the United States. These have already passed the House and it is thought that the recent tragedy at Columbus will have the effect of hastening Senate action on them. The bills provide for better facilities in regard to probation for prisoners and quicker action for parole as well as a number of other reforms.

COLUMBUS, April 26:—The prisoners of Columbus, Ohio, penitentiary, following the terrible fire, have organized a passive resistance campaign for the purpose of securing the removal of Warden Thomas and other reforms. Forty have joined in the movement and have agreed among other things to discountenance violence of any kind and to take no part in plots to escape.

The investigation which is going on shows that the prison at Columbus was old and one of the least fireproof in the United States. Protests against its condition and against the overcrowding had been made by the Prisoners' Relief Association and by the National Society for Penal Reform but Ohio Legislature had refused to take any action to remedy it.

SOMETIMES EXAGGERATION

In reading the reports of troubles far away from home it must be remembered that the reports are sometimes exaggerated by an over-enthusiastic reporter. Complaints have been made that reports from China do not give a true idea of the condition of the country. In that thickly populated country trouble among a few thousand people does not mean much. It's millions that count.

There have always been bandits in China and will continue to be until the country becomes civilized and then, judging by our own experience, banditry will continue. The strong prey upon the weak when they have the opportunity and it will take centuries of development before anything like an ideal condition can come about.

China may in a few years become something like ourselves or even better, but even the most optimistic would hardly claim that to be an ideal condition. What is satisfactory is that China seems to be awakening to the need for improvement and, once she is thoroughly awakened, the change will take place. She is already ceasing to snore and beginning to open her eyes.

HOW ABOUT OURSELVES?

And how about ourselves? We must not pat ourselves on the back and with smug self-satisfaction feel that all is right with us just because we have regular employment, a steady income and all the facilities for enjoying ourselves. While there are unemployed people in the country; while there are thieves and other criminals; while there are people who suffer from disease and debauchery, we can scarcely congratulate ourselves on our civilization. We must awaken to the condition but not be alarmed by it. Changes will come but they will come gradually, as we develop and change our outlook on life. There is a immense lot of savagery among us today but eventually civilization will triumph. In this forward movement the nations must go hand in hand. Every peace movement, every conference, every league of nations gathering, every international greeting is a step toward the day when the nations will be to each other just as friendly neighboring villages are to each other in this country, and all will move together toward the great ideal under which suffering shall be at a minimum and happiness shall be the general condition throughout the world.

HOW SHALL IT COME ABOUT?

How is this change to come about? In some of the churches tomorrow it will probably be stated that religion is the only factor that can do it. Russia says that the banishment of religion is the only hope for the future. Some look to legislative action, others to the spread of the idea of brotherhood and yet others look to the use of force, such as has taken place in Italy and Russia. There are yet other movements which aim to bring about the millennium but probably none of them will be effective alone. It is the massed movement of all that will bring about the result for which we look. Possibly other and newer movements will yet be commenced which will envelop the old and surpass them.

From the Daily News of April 1, 1932:—"The golf season was opened today with proper ceremony, the mayor declaring that this was the most important step in the development of the city, a mile post in her advancement and a sign pointing to a great and glorious future. Where the muskeg once stagnated, beautiful turf would now grow to be hacked and delved into by the members of the business and professional section of the community just as they delved for money which they failed to find." FIRST AID ON C.N.R.

Vice-President W. D. Robb Speaks at Accident Prevention Convention

TORONTO, April 26:—Speaking before the Industrial Accident Prevention Association's annual convention here yesterday, W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, stated that the National system had practically reached its objective of spreading first aid throughout the railway system so that no accident could occur to either employee or passenger over 23,000 miles of line without a worker being at hand to render necessary assistance.

On the Canadian National Railways, both safety first and first aid were practiced and well defined courses were laid down. One was the prevention, the other the cure. Employees undertook the instruction voluntarily and the women employees took an additional training in home nursing. The vice-president pointed with pride to the fact that among notable cups won last year by the Canadian National Railways teams was the Montzambert Trophy, emblematic of the championship for all Canada.

How to Care for a New Lawn

Help your lawn in the beginning by weeding it until it becomes thick enough to crowd out the weeds. If you find bare spots throw on more seed and keep the grass coming—this is the best insurance against weeds.
Reseed the lawn liberally at least the first season of two after it has been started. Reseed until you have established a good thick turf. Conditions are not all equally favorable and some retard growth. Your lawn may easily be kept looking its best if it is given a light reseeding every year. It is difficult, however, to bring it back to its original beauty if it has been neglected for several years.

wet weather. Do not cut the grass too short in hot weather as it will burn too easily.
Rolling the lawn will pack the soil around the roots. This should be done in spring as soon as it is comparatively dry. An occasional rolling during the spring is permissible, but the rolling should be used with great care. The roller should

The lawn should be mowed when the new grass is about three or four inches high. After that mow the lawn regularly, keeping it mowed to a height of two inches. The grass should be cut frequently enough so that the clippings are short and may be left on the lawn. These clippings will dry up and settle around the roots where they will decay and form valuable humus. Long clippings should be raked off, for they will smother the grass if allowed to remain on the lawn. Particular care should be taken not to leave long clippings on the lawn in

be heavy enough so that the footprints do not show after rolling. Sandy soil needs all the compacting it can get, so it may be rolled much more frequently than a clay or a clayey loam. Rolling on clay soils causes packing, subsequent baking and cracking. Do not roll the lawn when soil is wet as a crust is liable to form, especially if the soil is more or less heavy.

Furnishing Your Outdoor Room for Beauty and Comfort

There is possibly nothing more attractive as a garden feature than an old-fashioned sundial. It is not only useful as an accent in our garden plan, but it has a sentimental charm going back to the gardens of our Tudor ancestors. Of course, today we all have clocks, and watches are universal, yet it is still a pleasure to read the time upon a sundial and to ponder over the cheerful inscriptions they carry.

on the ground, for the birds feel safe from cats and dogs when bathing in a bowl above the ground. Then, too, the birds like to perch upon any raised object rather than upon the ground. The summer bird bath may be used as a feeding platform in winter. Trees and shrubs which have berries attractive to the birds may be planted about the bird bath.

We commonly speak of the pedestal and bronze horizontal plate secured to the top of the pedestal as a sundial; the term in the beginning meant merely the plate

Arbors may be used in the outdoor living room as points of interest, for shelter, or as supports for vines. There are many vines beautiful in graceful climbing habit, in foliage mass and flower. When there is not room for a screen planting, a simple and inexpensive support will be quickly covered by vines to form an effective screen.

As the purpose of the sundial is to count the sunny hours, it would, of course be incongruous to place a sundial where it does not secure the sunlight, no matter how well it might serve as a part of our scheme in such a location.

Bird Baths
One of the most interesting and useful ornaments which can be used upon your grounds is a bird bath. Too much cannot be said in its favor. It can be as beautiful as a small fountain and the birds which it attracts make it a desirable feature.

The bird bath should be well designed so that it will add to the beauty of our grounds as well as have an attraction for the birds. A well-designed bird bath should have a rough surface for a foothold, and should slope gradually to the centre, so that the birds can enjoy the water at any depth they choose and so that they will have ample room in which to sun themselves. When the bird bath does not have a gentle slope a few stones placed in the bowl will often serve the same purpose.

Bird baths on a pedestal are considered superior to those placed upon

Restless Children

Children will fret, often for no apparent reason. But there's always one sure way to comfort a restless, fretful child. Castoria! Harmless as the recipe on the wrapper; mild and bland as it tastes. But its gentle action soothes a youngster more surely than some powerful medicine that is meant for the stronger systems of adults.

That's the beauty of this special children's remedy! It may be given the tiniest infant—as often as there is any need. In cases of colic, diarrhea, or similar disturbance, it is invaluable. But it has everyday uses all mothers should understand. A coated tongue calls for a few drops to ward off constipation; so does any suggestion of bad breath. Whenever children don't eat well, don't rest well, or have any little upset—this pure vegetable preparation is usually all that's needed to set everything to rights. Genuine Castoria has Chas. H. Fletcher's signature on the wrapper. Doctors prescribe it.

Herring Seining Still on—Completing New Boats at Dry Dock—Power Company Now Erecting Poles

Seining of herring for fresh halibut bait is still in progress in the vicinity of Prince Rupert, although it is near the end of April. The run having ended at Pearl Harbor near Port Simpson, the fish are still available around Jap Inlet on the north end of Porcher Island. At that point, live herring pounds have been established by the Island Packing Co., which has about fifty tons of fish in store, and by Capt. Ole Skog, who has about 150 tons on hand. The seineboat Reveille is now fishing for the Island Packing Co., relieving the Faith of Sechart which has returned to the West Coast of Vancouver Island. Capt. Ole Skog is still using his seiner Fredelia.

Capt. George Cook got away from Prince Rupert for his maiden trip to the fishing grounds on Wednesday morning with his new 52-foot halibut boat Teenie Milly built in Cow Bay during the past winter by Y. Suehiro. The Teenie Milly performed admirably on her trials.

Capt. Pete Thompson's new 54-foot halibut boat, under construction at the Prince Rupert dry dock, is practically completed as far as hull work goes and delivery from England of the 50 h.p. full diesel Gardner engine, which will be installed in her, is being awaited. Capt. Thompson is applying for the name White Hope for the new boat which will be a fine acquisition to the Prince Rupert halibut fleet.

Planking of the new 68-foot fish packer for the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co. has been completed at the Prince Rupert dry dock and the 60 h.p. Fairbanks-Morse semi-diesel c.o. engine has been installed. In about a month's time the vessel should be all completed. The boat will be used in salmon packing during the canning season. Her name has not yet been announced.

With transmission line clearing and slashing now about completed, the Power Corporation of Canada started work this week from the Falls River end of erecting the poles from Falls River to Prince Rupert. A floating camp and fleet of gas-boats is being used in connection with the work, the boat work being charge of Kenny Rood who has his own boat Ragnild on the job.

The well known local power tug Ruby May has been purchased by the Power Corporation of Canada from John Currie & Son and was delivered at the first of this week to Falls River where it will be used by the company. The Ruby May is a 41-foot vessel, equipped with a 16 h.p. Sterling gas engine. John Currie & Son had a new boat built last year to replace the Ruby May in their service.

Engine Sales

The Ward Electric & Marine Supply Co. reports the sale recently of six Acadia gas engines. These included three of 6-9 h.p. for installation by the B. C. Packers in gill-nets at Balmoral Cannery and two 15-25's and one 35-50 for installation in new Japanese fish packers on the Skeena River.

The big Prince Rupert halibut boat Cape Beale, Capt. Edgar Arnett, is back on the fishing grounds again after having undergone repairs to damage occasioned recently when she was swept by heavy seas on the northern banks, losing all her equipment above decks, damaging her pilot house and smashing a dory. Repairs were made at the Prince Rupert dry dock. The damage amounted to about $1000.

The Vancouver halibut boat Canuck, owned by W. C. Splan and skippered by Capt. A. Sunde, also received permanent repairs at the Prince Rupert dry dock and is back on the grounds again following an accident in northern waters. A coupling became loose and the vessel lost her rudder, managing to get into Seward, Alaska, with jury rudder. There temporary repairs were made and the boat came on to Prince Rupert for permanent work. This is the Canuck's first season on the banks as she was built only last winter in Vancouver. She is a fine big vessel, 65 feet long and equipped with a full diesel engine.

The American halibut schooner Liberty is fishing again, having undergone repairs at Seward following a recent stranding on a reef of the Trinity Islands, southwest of Kodiak Island, as a result of which considerable damage was done. She rode the rock for an hour before working free with the loss of her rudder and after damaging her keel. A jury rudder was rigged up and the vessel was finally picked up by schooner Resolute, Capt. John Ramm, and towed to Kodiak whence she was taken on to Seward by the coastguard cutter Chelan.

The New England Fish Co. is again operating the steam trawler New England this season in the halibut fisheries with Capt. M. B. Scott in command. The New England wintered in Vancouver but shifted to Ketchikan and cleared from there for the banks on her first trip. Last season, the New England took approximately one million pounds of halibut.

Halibut landings at Prince Rupert for the week of April 19-25 inclusive totalling 841,200 pounds brought the total landings at the port for the season to date up to 4,786,000 pounds of which Canadian vessels had contributed 1,342,300 pounds and American, 3,443,700 pounds. The week's total included 23,800 pounds of Canadian fish and 617,400 pounds of American.

Prices throughout the week stood at a rather low level. The top bid for Canadian fish was 19.9c and 5c which the Prosperity A. received for 7,500 pounds and the low 9c and 5c which a number of boats received. The highest American price of the week was 12.3c and 5c which the Lansing was paid for 9,500 pounds while bids sank as low as 9.2c and 5c which the Foremost was given for 40,000 pounds.

Landings Still Lower

The two-week delay in commencement of halibut fishing operations this year is still to be marked by decreased landings so far, this season at Prince Rupert. Up to April 17 this year landings aggregated 3,944,800 pounds as against 5,497,950 pounds at a similar date last year. Canadian vessels had landed 1,118,500 pounds as compared with 1,306,850 pounds in 1929 while the American total was 2,826,300 pounds as against 4,191,000 pounds. The decrease in American landings may be accounted for to some extent through the low price condition that has prevailed at Prince Rupert a good deal so far this year. Many boats offered their catches at the port but proceeded to Seattle when bids were not satisfactory to them. However, around Easter a distinct lull was to be seen in volume of landings and, within the next few weeks, it is expected 1930 may commence to make a better showing.

Prices were rather lower than might have been expected at the opening of the season but picked up around the end of March and first of April, only to fall back again because of the exceptionally heavy landings around Easter.

Captain Kohrt returned this week from Louis Locker's logging camp at the south end of Pitt Island. He says he was not connected with the planned salvage operations on the halibut boat Bingo, which was wrecked on the west coast of Banks Island. Any salvage operations with which he has been connected had always been successful. Good for Capt!

Prince William Runs Her Trials

Would Hardly Be Recognized Now as Grimy Greek Ship Which Arrived Here Last Year

For the first time since she arrived here nearly a year ago from the Atlantic Coast a grimy Greek waif known as the Aktion, the C. N. S. steamer Prince William, a veritable transformation of her old self as a result of an extensive program of reconditioning at the local dry dock, was seen steaming around the Prince Rupert harbor yesterday afternoon. She moved out from the dock to run her trials with Capt. William Thomas, who is to be her skipper, in command. The Prince William is now a trim, neat craft of racy lines and should be well suited for her local service out of Prince Rupert to the Queen Charlotte Islands, Skeena and Naas Rivers in which she will be commissioned next week.

ECLIPSE MONDAY

More Details of Phenomenon Which Will Be Partially Visible Here

The arc of greatest darkness of the eclipse of the sun on Monday morning will occur about 11:15. The central path of the eclipse will begin far out in the Pacific Ocean, entering California near San Francisco, crossing the States of the northwest, entering Canada near Broadview, Sask., passing Dauphin, Man., crossing Lake Winnipeg and Hudson's Bay and entering the Atlantic Ocean near Nain, Labrador.

The eclipse will be total in the neighborhood of San Francisco. The duration of totality however is very short, less than two seconds at its maximum.

In Canada the central line of the eclipse will assume the annular form.

An annular eclipse is described as an eclipse of the sun in which a portion of the surface is visible in the form of a ring surrounding the dark body of the moon. This occurs when the moon is too remote from the earth to cover the sun completely and at the moment when the centres of the sun and moon are nearly in a line with the point of the earth's surface where the observer stands. At no time will the annular eclipse in this case last longer than 15 seconds.

While a partial eclipse, as will be seen here, provides nothing of the spectacular, an annular eclipse is a striking phenomenon.

This eclipse was visible in April, 1912 under similar conditions, but further east. Fifty-four years from now it will repeat in the same longitude.
