WANT OF CONFIDENCE RESOLUTION

Provincial Government Strength To Be Tested Through Liberal Motion

Increase of Taxation and Expenditures and Depriving Municipalities of Rightful Revenues Matters For Regret

VICTORIA, March 7:—An Opposition want of confidence motion in the form of an amendment to the budget motion has been placed on the order paper of the legislature in the name of Ian Mackenzie, Liberal member for North Vancouver. It reads: "This House regrets the increase in public expenditures, the increase in provincial taxation, the improper appropriation for general purposes of the revenues from gasoline tax and Motor Vehicle Act and the breach of faith with the municipalities of the province in depriving them of their legitimate revenues."

PROVINCIAL GOVERNMENT IS TO GIVE UP ALL EFFORTS TO REGULATE SALMON FISHERIES

Will Take Possession of Arbitrary Powers to Administer Canning Business—Leave Gear Alone

VICTORIA, March 7:—All efforts to limit canning and fishing in British Columbia by law will be abandoned by the provincial government, it was learned reliably today. Instead, the government will administer the canning business on its own responsibility and grant or refuse canning licences as it sees fit. No attempt will be made either to limit fishing operations or fishing gear. The fisheries committee of the legislature has made no formal report yet but its view is said to be that the proposed limitation of canning licences and fishing gear by law is impracticable and unsound.

The wedding took place quietly at 8 o'clock last night in Ahm Cottage, Rev. Canon W. F. Rushbrook officiating, of Miss Alice Irene Allen, fourth daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Allen, and George Reginald Kelsey, elder son of Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Kelsey.

The bride was prettily dressed in a gown of peacock blue Princess style crepe back satin with hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of pink Ophelia roses and maiden hair fern. Her bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Edna (Teddy) Allen who wore a dainty shell pink georgette ensemble with black transparent velvet hat and carried a bouquet of pink carnations and maiden hair fern. Tom Kelsey, brother of the groom, was best man.

After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, the rooms being attractively decorated for the occasion with spring flowers. Only relatives of the contracting couple were present. The toast to the bride was proposed by G. A. McMillan and the groom responded.

Following the reception, the happy couple sailed on the Prince George for a honeymoon trip to Vancouver, Seattle and Portland. On their return to the city they will take up residence in the Simon A. Swanson house on Fifth Avenue East.

Charges Reckless Expenditures In Scathing Analysis of Budget—Criticizes Each of Ministers As Well As Premier

(Special to The Daily News)

VICTORIA, March 7:—Magnitude of financial operations of the present government were laid before the legislature Thursday in a scathing analysis of the budget by T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition. By the time the legislature meets again, the Tolmie government will have spent between $90,000,000 and $100,000,000 in its two and a half year tenure of office, he stated. He supported his figures with details as follows:

In its first eight months from August 20, 1928, to March 31, 1929, the expenditures totalled $17,000,000.

The budget for the year to end of March 31 next is for $25,000,000. That made $42,000,000 of current expenditures in 18 months to which must be added this $15,000,000 of borrowing undertaken in the same period.

Mr. Pattullo thus gave the round figure of $55,000,000 as representing the government's expenditures to date. The budget authorized $28,000,000 of current expenditures for next year and $15,000,000 more borrowing making a total of $43,000,000 for the coming year. There was in addition to that reserve borrowing power of $9,000,000 unexercised so that Mr. Pattullo contended his estimate of between $90,000,000 and $100,000,000 in the first two and a half years was well under the mark.

"They have committed themselves to annual expenditures of more than $40,000,000, have increased the cost of government by 20% and have increased taxation by 10%," he said. Mr. Pattullo said that the responsibility for this extraordinary change in the province's financial position was attributable to misgovernment in every department and he gave examples from each. Premier Tolmie he said had been a party to secrecy and suppression of public documents, and had been associated in cruel and ruthless partisan conduct towards the public service. He accused the premier of joint responsibility for shifting ground when attacked for wrongful dismissal of worthy public officials and of countenancing base attacks on the characters of these men.

Messrs. Burden, Hinchcliffe and Atkinson came under the opposition leader's fire with respect to the revaluation of settlement areas at Sumas and the university area. He charged that syndicates were hoping to get possession of large blocks of land for resale at a profit. The effect of Mr. Shelly's writing down of the value of these areas he said was to depress their market value. No buyer would think of paying more than 10% of government's estimate.

Treaty Will Be Produced, Premier Ramsay MacDonald Tells Scribes After Reopening Naval Parley

LONDON, March 7.—Following the reopening of the naval disarmament conference today with French delegates again present after the three week recess, Premier Ramsay MacDonald told newspapermen: "The conference is going to produce a treaty. That treaty must be specific. It must lay down an agreement in words which are of accurate, legal value. It must supplement these words with programs which have been agreed upon."

The delegation heads will meet again on Monday.

BARRAGE ON SENATE

According to reports from Ottawa the Senate is being subjected to a barrage from interested persons to try to induce them to vote down the Mackenzie King measure for restriction of clearances on vessels carrying liquor. The idea of the bill is to prevent smuggling into the United States.

Should the Senate vote down the bill after the House of Commons has approved it, the question would then become a political one at the next federal election. The probability is that the Commons will accept the measure but the Senate is likely to do anything.

No matter how crude the idea, there is always someone crude enough to praise it.

ADMIRAL VON TIRPITZ

The passing of Admiral Von Tirpitz closes the career of a picturesque figure. Throughout Von Tirpitz's indefatigable uphill work to give Germany a great navy, it was said that the former kaiser and his chosen entourage more often than not proved an impediment rather than a help. The passive resistance to the admiral's ambition continued through all the years up to and during the first half of the World War until Von Tirpitz in 1916 through his insistence carried his point for a more active participation of the navy with the unrelenting submarine warfare.

Again and again Von Tirpitz urged the concentration of all forces against England, in which he saw the backbone of the Allies' offensive. He failed, however, to budge the emperor and Chancellor Von Bethmann-Hollweg from their determination to hold the great German navy in reserve. It was that policy, perhaps, that galled the admiral most.

In his book, "Erinnerungen," (Memories) published in 1919, Von Tirpitz described with dramatic vividness the diplomatic scruples and intrigues that ultimately led to royal disfavor. He insisted that Germany, by systematic onslaughts on the Russian front, was doing England a great favor since thereby the decimated western German front was placed in a purely defensive position. Above all, he held, the German naval forces were deprived of the necessary support for a sudden offensive against England. He firmly believed the fighting material of the German navy to be superior to that of the British navy.

The prestige of Von Tirpitz waned rapidly in proportion as his policy of ruthless submarine warfare found less and less favor with the kaiser and the diplomatic heads of the country.

ROTARIANS ENTERTAIN

Ladies Guests of Local Club at Dinner Dance in Commodore Cafe Last Evening

The Rotary Club dinner dance held last evening in the Commodore Cafe proved to be a great success, the event being in charge of a committee headed by George Munro. About half a hundred people sat down at 7 o'clock, covers having been laid for that many. Following dinner and during the courses dancing was enjoyed to the strains of the well known Premier Orchestra and continued until pretty well on toward midnight.

The hall was very prettily decorated for the occasion, that too being the work of the entertainment committee. President George Bryant extended a general welcome to the guests.

During the evening a presentation of a fountain pen and stand was made to John Dore by T. H. Johnson on behalf of the club. Mr. Johnson extolled the virtues of the member who was to leave soon for Victoria to live, telling what an excellent club member he had been as well as useful citizen.

Mr. Dore replied suitably, stating that while he was planning to live in the south for a time, he really belonged to the north.

The ladies were thanked for their attendance by George Rorie in a neat and witty speech such as only the inimitable George can make.

Fred Mathers, one of the newest members of Rotary in the city, told stories to illustrate how it felt to be a Rotarian.

The consensus of opinion at the party seemed to be that similar evening events should be arranged more often in place of the usual noonday luncheons.

FREAK POLE ORDER SENT

One-Hundred Foot Sticks Shipped By Hanson Will Cost $100 Each On Reaching Washington

The Hanson Timber & Lumber Co. made a freak shipment to Washington, D.C. this week of ten cedar poles one-hundred feet long and having a taper, according to the specifications, of one inch in every ten feet. Mr. Hanson received the order while attending the convention of the American Cedar-men's Association in Spokane in February.

Tractors were needed to haul the poles out of the bush. They were loaded on three railway cars. By the time the poles reach Washington, D.C., they will have cost $100 apiece.

PLACER OUTFIT LEAVES

Big Party of Men With Supplies Away From Fort St. James

To be in readiness for an early start on the placer gold leases to be operated during the 1930 season, Geo. W. Otterson left Fort St. James on February 22 for Manson Creek district. In the outfit leaving there was the complete crew of men required for the operations, and the outfit was hauled in by five teams. Bert McCorkell had charge of the convey, for which feed and supplies were taken in previously to help open the road.

There is the bright promise of considerable activity in the Manson placer country during the summer, and it is understood that several additional outfits which have been operating at intervals will go to work in earnest during the next few months.

The new road from Fort St. James greatly facilitates transportation of supplies to this remote mining region and is expected to have the effect of greatly stimulating production from that field. While there is still considerable snow to be encountered along the route, this is easily overcome at the present time, and the big outfit moving in last week will not meet with any obstacles that cannot readily be surmounted—Interior News.

Police of Canada and States Enlist Auto and Radio for Crime Detection

Upper picture shows Provincial Police of New Brunswick taking delivery of Ford sedans for service with outposts of the Moncton district. Below are six additional cars which increase the fleet of the Customs Excise Preventive Police to 73. In the circle is one of the fleet of radio-equipped Fords used by the Detroit police force.

CANADIAN police are included among those officials who believe that the mental effect of quick capture is a powerful deterrent to crime. With the advent of the telephone, the morale of law offenders began to weaken and the arm of the authorities was strengthened. Now comes the automobile as an accessory in crime-chasing and detection. And to it, in various cities of the States, is being added the advantage of radio communication with central headquarters.

The Provincial Police of New Brunswick are using a fleet of Ford sedans for service with outposts of the Moncton district with Police Sergeant Nicholson supervising their operation.

The total fleet of the same type of car in use throughout the Dominion by the Customs-Excise Preventive Service has been increased recently to 73. These cars are used for border patrol work along the Canadian-United States boundary.

They are operated over all kinds of roads and in all kinds of weather and temperatures. Records of performance have caused the service to standardize on this one type of Canadian-built car. It is the experience of police officials in all parts of the North American continent that the sedan type of car proves the most dependable and adaptable for police needs.

"Shock" Service in Toronto

"Shock troop" service is the use that Toronto police make of 25 Fords. A car is allocated to each district station and is in readiness at all times for cases that demand quick action.

Chief of Police C. H. Newton, of Winnipeg, is among those who find added service in the availability of police cars.

"The new fast, light car is admirably adapted to police work," he writes, adding: "I believe that before long they will supercede the motorcycles which are now being used for the purpose of regulating persons who drive recklessly." Close cost statistics were kept on two Ford sedans used by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police between June 2 and August 31, 1929. One was driven 3955 miles at a cost of $3,022 a mile and the other 3194 miles at a cost of $3,024 a mile. The first did 20.39 miles per gallon of gasoline and the second 19.43 miles. Repairs cost $14.65 for the first and $10.95 for the second.

In the United States, Detroit and other cities have gone a step further and equipped motor fleets with radio, so that information may be sent to them while they are in motion. Secrecy is maintained by the short wave lengths used by the police broadcasting stations. Since last April, more than 1000 important arrests have been accomplished in Detroit alone within three minutes from the time the warning was broadcast.

New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other cities have large motor fleets of "bandit chasers."

what sum of money, if any, has been expended in land surveys in the Stuart Lake country north of Vanderhoof, in what years were such surveys made and who was in charge of the surveys, what was the total acreage of land surveyed, how many settlers were placed on the lands between 1921 and 1928, where did they originate and how many of the settlers originally brought in are still located in the area.

In answer to questions asked by G. S. Pearson, Liberal member for Nanaimo, Premier Tolmie replied in the legislature last week that office furniture and equipment which was used in the Pacific Great Eastern survey was transported from Prince George to Victoria by railway freight, express and passenger baggage and motor trucks, the shipment consisting of personal effects of the staff and weighing 4800 pounds. The cost of transportation for the round trip was $275.
The transportation was carried out by Buchanan's Transfer of Prince George.

PATTULLO FLAYS GOVERNMENT FOR ITS FINANCIAL MISDOINGS AND ON MANY OTHER OF ITS MISTAKES.

own valuation. He was the more suspicious of these facts because of the sale of the Stewart foreshore at $10 an acre and of Fraser delta land for $5 an acre, he said.

Hon. N. S. Lougheed, minister of public works, he described as the most extravagant operator of all. He had purchased $1,000,000 worth of new equipment much of which was worthless, as in the case of the Nelson ferry and had even provided chauffeurs for road foremen as in Queen Charlotte Islands.

Replying to a business letter from the secretary of the Creston Reclamation Co., who happened to be the manager of a bank at Creston, Mr. Burden began his letter as follows: "I have your dated letter signed by God knows who." The spirit in which these business men had been dealt with was exemplified by the letter he showed the House. "If I were Prime Minister and one of my ministers wrote that letter, he would write just one more and that would be his resignation," declared Mr. Pattullo.

Mr. Burden admitted authorship of the letter and explained that he could not read the signature.

(Canadian Press)

VICTORIA, March 7.—Declaring that the government was spending money at the rate of more than $40,000,000 per year, T. D. Pattullo, in a two-hour speech in the budget debate yesterday, charged Premier Tomlin and his ministers with extravagance. An increase of 20% in the cost of administration was largely due, he said, to the employment of numerous unnecessary experts and political supporters, which, he charged, had forced the government not only to vast borrowing but also to extensive new taxation policies that would burden even municipal taxpayers with a load of unjust taxes on automobiles. At the same time, the government was giving away millions in timber licences to speculators. Mr. Pattullo also called for a reduction in liquor prices.

"Sorry," she murmured, when the hostess introduced him to her "I didn't get your name."
"I know you didn't," rejoined the old flame, "but you tried hard enough."

It comprises an area of 3,830.5 square miles of territory. GRAVITY COMPARISONS

Measurements of the force of gravity at various points throughout the country are made by the Dominion Observatory, Ottawa. This involves the measurement of the period of a pendulum to one ten millionth part of a second—a decidedly delicate operation. Results of these investigations are intended to throw light on the nature of the upper layers of the earth's crust, and are closely related to geological formations and such processes as denudation and mountain-building.

NO FRIEND LIKE AN OLD FRIEND

For thirty-five years millions have shown preference for Shredded Wheat over all other cereal foods—and it's so easy to understand why. It's the whole wheat in its most digestible form. The crisp, crunchy shreds encourage thorough chewing—and the more you chew it the better you like it. So easy to serve a quick breakfast because it is ready-cooked. Delicious for any meal.

ECONOMICS OF THE HOME

Famous English Lady Here Demonstrating Most Modern Methods

"What is a Home Economist?" That is the question which was asked of Miss E. Frances Thompson, who is lecturing at the Moose Hall today, tomorrow and Monday. It looked as if she would be a rather formidable person, this Miss Thompson, "internationally-known Home Economist, formerly lecturer for the London County Council," whose radio talks are looked forward to by numerous Ontario housewives. But Miss Thompson seemed anything but formidable when the interviewer met her.

The only formidable thing about Frances Thompson is her air of competency. You feel that she knows what she is talking about, and knows it by virtue of doing some good hard work on that particular subject. She is a bright young woman, with fair hair, attractive personality, and a pleasant English accent, not too pronounced.

She told what good fun it was, showing domestic science classes and eager young brides how they could make the same delicious dishes that their mothers made, with about one-tenth the effort.

"And what," was asked her, returning to the original purpose of our quest, "is a Home Economist?" "A Home Economist," she parried, "is a person who holds a degree in home economics."

"And what is—or are—home economics?" "I suppose that home economics might be said to be domestic science carried just a little bit further," said this expert, considering. "Domestic science has come to be particularly the study of diet and cooking. In home economics we study the most efficient applications of labor saving devices to the uses of the home. We try to pick out the appliances that are really useful, and to study the best means of using them."

"You would be surprised how many women haven't any idea how to use all the modern devices that they own. Most of them realize their ignorance; that is why we get such interest in lectures like those I'm giving here. And yet, even the companies that make these appliances themselves sometimes don't know all the possible uses that they are put to. It remains for some woman to write in and tell how she is using the vacuum cleaner blower for drying her hair."

"Proper diet, proper ventilation, economical purchasing, budgetary control and everything that helps to run the home on a surface-like basis—that is home economics."

Work in London

Miss Thompson used to be Home Economist for the London County Council. "It was fascinating work," she said, in reply to a question, "talking to the classes in the L.C.C. day and evening schools. The home is nowhere of more importance than in London, and the girls and women to whom I talked in the day and evening classes were determined to be the best housewives they knew how. Many of them couldn't hope to own all the gadgets that make life easy for the woman who can afford them, but they all felt, and rightly, that they could learn a great deal about the sciences of eating and living that people in the past never dreamed of."

"In Canada this feeling is present to an even greater degree. Although I have only been here a few months I feel that I am really doing something to make living here more pleasant."

"My work here is easier than in England, for you in Canada demand already a greater degree of home comfort than they have in England. Electric ranges, electric refrigeration, vacuum cleaners and all the other labor saving devices are accepted here to a much greater degree than in England. For example more housewives in the Old Country still buy their supplies in day to day "tuppenny" lots. The shopping expedition once or twice a week, made possible by refrigeration, is a rarity in England. And of course the housewife who buys a day's supply at a time pays far more proportionally than the woman who can buy a larger quantity and keep it fresh."

"And that is just one sample of the home economics you are asking about," she said as we parted.

There is only one way to reach the people of Northern B.C. That is through the Daily News.
