PATTULLO CRITICAL OF GOVERNMENT FINANCIAL POLICY

Over Hundred Thousand Are Already Known to Be Jobless in Canada

Premier Tolmie Says Situation in British Columbia Is Serious With Declining Price of Metals Chief Factor in Making It So

OTTAWA, Aug. 21.—In 84 centres which have replied to a query of the minister of labor there are nearly 113,000 people out of work and it is estimated that this number will increase to 159,000 during the winter, Hon. Senator Gideon Robertson stated to the Employment Service Council at the opening of its annual meeting here today.

Premier Tolmie said that conditions in British Columbia were serious. The chief contributing factor, he explained, was the declining price of silver and other metals, causing many of the smaller mines to close down. Falling off in offshore demand for British Columbia products had caused logging camps to curtail production and there was reduced demand for paper. The last session of the legislature had doubled the appropriation for public works but there was a limit to the funds which could be provided. Premier Tolmie expected that there would be about 15,000 unemployed in British Columbia during the coming winter.

Lieut.-Governor Invited to Be Present and Open Fall Fair on September 2 With T. D. Pattullo

At the meeting of the fair board last night, W. H. Sherman presiding, it was decided to invite Lieut.-Governor Bruce and T. D. Pattullo, member for the city, to take part in the opening ceremonies of the fair on the evening of September 2. A telegram was sent to Mr. Pattullo today by Secretary W. D. Vance asking him to extend the invitation to the Lieut.-Governor on behalf of the board.

The canvassers reported last night that they had with a few exceptions been given a good reception by the business people in their efforts to raise money for carrying on the big annual event. It was pointed out that the business people all benefited either directly or indirectly and that this year more people were expected from the outside than ever before. This would mean a great thing for the city.

The double victory of Cincinnati Reds over Brooklyn deprived the Robins of a chance to regain second place.

Vancouver Fighter Looks Good In Workout Last Night

Before a large gathering of interested boxing fans at the Empress Social Club Gymnasium last evening, Gill Woods, flashy Vancouver milt artist, who meets Billy Bagshaw in the 10-round main event at the Exhibition Building on Friday evening, made a most impressive showing and it was quite apparent he will be a hard man to beat.

In his six round workout Woods displayed a good knowledge of the game, being a hard hitter and fast on his feet. His workout was brought to a pleasing climax when he boxed one fast round with Frankie Neel which greatly pleased the fans.

Edmonton Grads Show Championship Form in 66 to Nil Hoop Victory

Greatest Basketball Game Ever Played in Prince Rupert Was Seen Last Night as Edmonton Grads Do Their Stuff

The Edmonton Grads demonstrated the meaning of team-work and co-operation in their basketball game against Prince Rupert last evening, which they won 66-0. Rupert basketball fans were treated to the greatest hoop game that this city has ever witnessed. The Grads played the type of basketball that, no doubt, has made them the champions of the world in the basketball field. Basketball followers showed keen interest throughout the game and many words of praise were spoken after. The Edmonton Grads were introduced to the public by Percy Page, their coach, who is one of the foremost basketball coaches in the world today.

The game was called by Referee R. B. Skinner. Julia Walters, playing centre for Rupert obtained the jump and Rupert held possession of the ball for the first few seconds of play. Kinney of the Grads intercepted a pass and the Grads worked a fast and accurate bit of combination with Miss MacBurney scoring the first basket. The next play was a five man attack, in which all of the Grads had their bit to do. Passes were made lightning-like and the spectators were hard put to follow the ball from player to player, Fry scoring. On the next two plays, Fry was again on the shooting end, following an excellent bit of combination. MacBurney and McCormick scored twice alternately before Rupert called time out, with the score 16-0.

During this first four minutes of play the Grads showed what has made them the champions they are. They made eight attempts at the basket and not a shot was missed. With the resumption of play the Grads gave a very interesting exhibition of combination plays, for the next two minutes, which were eagerly followed by the local players and fans.

MacBurney scored after these plays, McCormick and MacBurney scored again in quick succession. Capt. Bennie made her first basket of the evening, before the first quarter ended, 24-0. Bennie, who plays guard, does very little shooting and Coach Page promised to give her a party if she scored during the game.

Wharton Huber, curator of the Academy of Natural Science, Philadelphia, and party, who have been spending the past month on the Queen Charlotte Islands with the object of securing from the islands a specimen of every living thing existing there, arrived in the city from Massett Inlet on the Prince Charles today. Tomorrow they will leave by train on their return to Philadelphia.

Mrs. Huber arrived in the city yesterday from the east to meet her husband and accompany him.

Temporary Borrowings Are Frowned Upon by Chief of Grit Party

If British Columbia's Securities Are So Popular, Why Are Long Term Issues Not Sold, He Inquires

VICTORIA, Aug. 21.—Criticism of the financial policy of the provincial government, especially in regard to temporary borrowings, was voiced here yesterday by T. D. Pattullo, leader of the opposition. The total of temporary borrowings has now amounted to $13,500,000 in the last four months, Mr. Pattullo said, not including treasury bills held by the regular banker for the province, the Canadian Bank of Commerce. Within 14 months there will have to be refinancing to the extent of $21,000,000 to cover present outstanding bills, the Liberal leader declared. "If British Columbia securities are so popular, why have long term issues not been sold instead of temporary bills?" Mr. Pattullo asked.

Compensation Is Discussed

Finnegan Case Again Occupied Attention of Hospital Board at Meeting Last Night

A letter from the Workmen's Compensation Board in connection with the much discussed case of Thomas Finnegan was read at last night's meeting of the hospital board. In spite of statements which had been previously made by some members of the board that Mr. Finnegan had not been dealt with very generously, the letter stated that, if anything, the board had erred on the side of paying out too much on this claim. Payment of compensation, the communication explained, was contingent upon proof of the necessity for actual hospital treatment and it was felt that Mr. Finnegan had received all the compensation to which he was entitled. The fact that he was a single man and had no home to go to while convalescent had nothing to do with the matter.

H. W. Birch, managing secretary, explained that the hospital had lost $42.50 on this case for treatment in the institution of Mr. Finnegan after payment by compensation had expired.

Certain members of the board thought that the compensation board, building up large reserves as it was, might be more generous in such cases. It was pointed out by others that the Compensation Board had only to guide it the report of the local doctor. When the doctor reported that the patient was sufficiently recovered as to not require further hospital treatment under compensation, it was then up to the patient to pay if he remained.

After further discussion, the letter from the Compensation Board was filed.

Royal Arch Masons From Portland Me. Are In City Today

LACROSSE TEAMS FOR FAIR WEEK

The fair board has received word that the natives of Aiyansh are bringing both a football team and a lacrosse team to the city for fair week in the expectation of getting a series of games.

This season there has been no lacrosse played in Prince Rupert but it has been suggested that, in view of an outside team coming here, a team should be organized and a contest for the trophy be put on.

Lacrosse is a spectacular game and might prove quite an attraction if played at a time when people could get out to watch it.

FINE DANCE FOR GRADS

Elks' Lodge Entertained Edmonton Basketballers at Happy Party Last Evening

Following the games last night, the local Elks' Lodge entertained the Edmonton Commercial Grads party at a dance in the Elks' Home which proved most lively and enjoyable. From 10 p.m. until 2:30 a.m. dancing was indulged in to the strains of snappy music furnished by Charlie Balagno's orchestra and the evening passed all too quickly for the 150 or so persons who were in attendance. During the midnight hour, delicious refreshments were served.

George Mitchell acted as master of ceremonies and G. E. Phillipson presided at the door.

PLAYING THE GAME

The Edmonton Girl Grads were in the city last night and they gave an educational demonstration for the benefit of Prince Rupert basketball players and spectators. It was a really wonderful exhibition of skill and was worth a great deal to watch.

When seen after the game, J. Percy Page, trainer and manager explained that the aim was to teach the girls to be ladies first and sportswomen afterwards. No rough or illegal play was tolerated. No girl could play on the team unless she played a clean game throughout. They had to be fast and sure but above everything they must not be rough or do anything contrary to the rules.

Prince Rupert boys could take many lessons from the exhibition given last night and doubtless they will do so.

THE BOND SALE

It was announced yesterday that British Columbia had sold some bonds at a particular good rate. This was very satisfactory and we congratulate Finance Minister Shelly on the fact, but it has been pointed out that according to eastern financial papers the City of Toronto got an even better price for its bonds.

Just now there is a great demand for bonds, the trend being to swing in the opposite direction from the speculative era from which we have just emerged. Possibly even better prices may yet be obtained for municipal and other securities before the people again turn to stocks.

EYES OF THE WORLD

The eyes of the world, or at any rate of the British world are turned on Hamilton today where sportsmen from different parts of the Empire are testing their skill against each other. Canadian newspapers are giving the event great publicity as being the first time these games have been held in Canada and the second of the series.

Another year Canadian athletes will have to visit some other part of the British Empire in order to compete.

CONGRATULATIONS TO STEWART

We take great pleasure in congratulating Stewart on its securing the prizes at the Vancouver Exhibition. This is not the first time they have made good records and it probably will not be the last. Stewart has the mineral and it seems to have the men who will keep the place in the public eye. That helps a lot toward success. It is useless to sit back and hope for the best. In these days of advertising it is the city or community that pushes itself to the fore that makes good.

HOSPITAL BUILDING

Board Considers Necessity For New Accommodation But Thinks Time Inopportune

Additional hospital accommodation in Prince Rupert was again under discussion at last night's monthly meeting of the hospital board. The opinion was expressed that it would soon be necessary either to build a new wing in connection with the existing building or to start new hospital construction on the Overlook Street property which was purchased by the board last year. The discussion by the board was merely of an informal nature, the whole matter of additional hospital accommodation being now under review by the executive committee.

Frank Dibb, who brought up the question, expressed the opinion that, under present conditions, it would be impossible to proceed with a new hospital building. The need for additional hospital accommodation was, however, becoming increasingly apparent and it might be wise for the board to keep the matter in view.

The only solution Ald. Brown could see was to build a new permanent wing to the present building and eventually tear the present structure down and replace it with a permanent building. If conditions improved in the city, he had no doubt that bonds for a new hospital building could be floated.

Any new hospital, Robert Gordon thought, should be of at least 100 beds capacity. On the basis of $3000 per bed, the cost of such a hospital would be $300,000. He suggested for the meantime the construction of a maternity wing in connection with the existing hospital. This might be used later for other purposes. The cost of such a permanent building might be around $30,000 or $35,000.

After further discussion of a desultory nature, the matter was dropped, the feeling being that it was now a very inopportune time to proceed with any plans for a new hospital building although the problem was one which would have to be met within the next few years.

The Letter Box

Editor, Daily News:—

I, Vic Rodgers of the Tamale Parlor, 719 Fulton St., am very curious to know why that neighbors in that vicinity are unable to sleep since I moved down there. I further wish to state this property has been known as a rooming house until it had to have a new foundation. In a district where the honk of cars and revelry of men and women start at 11 p.m. and lasts until the wee hours of the morn, now justice asks why should one individual be all to blame for all the noise and loud talk that may be heard at an early hour? If these complaints are the cause from color, I will white wash. If my face is too low I will have it raised.

Ah, dear brother or sister, as God knows, we are all trying to live and if you work in the day and I work at night, we can't sleep at the same time. So far as in my premises is concerned I will try to keep it as quiet as any down town place but don't force me to run an American speak-easy, as these customers won't whisper when they are eating that hot stuff we give them. Dear friends of Prince Rupert, having bought this property recently, I will in future have but two addresses, 719 Fulton St. or City Jail. But I live a gentleman out and will live a gentleman in.

I thank you.
 Yours,
 VIC RODGERS.

Boxing and Wrestling Occupied Limelight Yesterday In Empire Game Competitions At Hamilton

HAMILTON, Aug. 21.—Boxing and wrestling stole the spotlight on the fourth day of the British Empire Games when weather conditions brought postponement of rowing events until today, topping off a day's program that included yachting and lawn bowling. Premiers of ring and mat performers settled two wrestling championships and brought decisions in seven semi-finals on the boxing program. Canada scored wins in both wrestling titular events—J. Trifunov of Regina and Howie Thomas of Montreal now wearing Empire crowns in the 193 and 145 pound divisions.

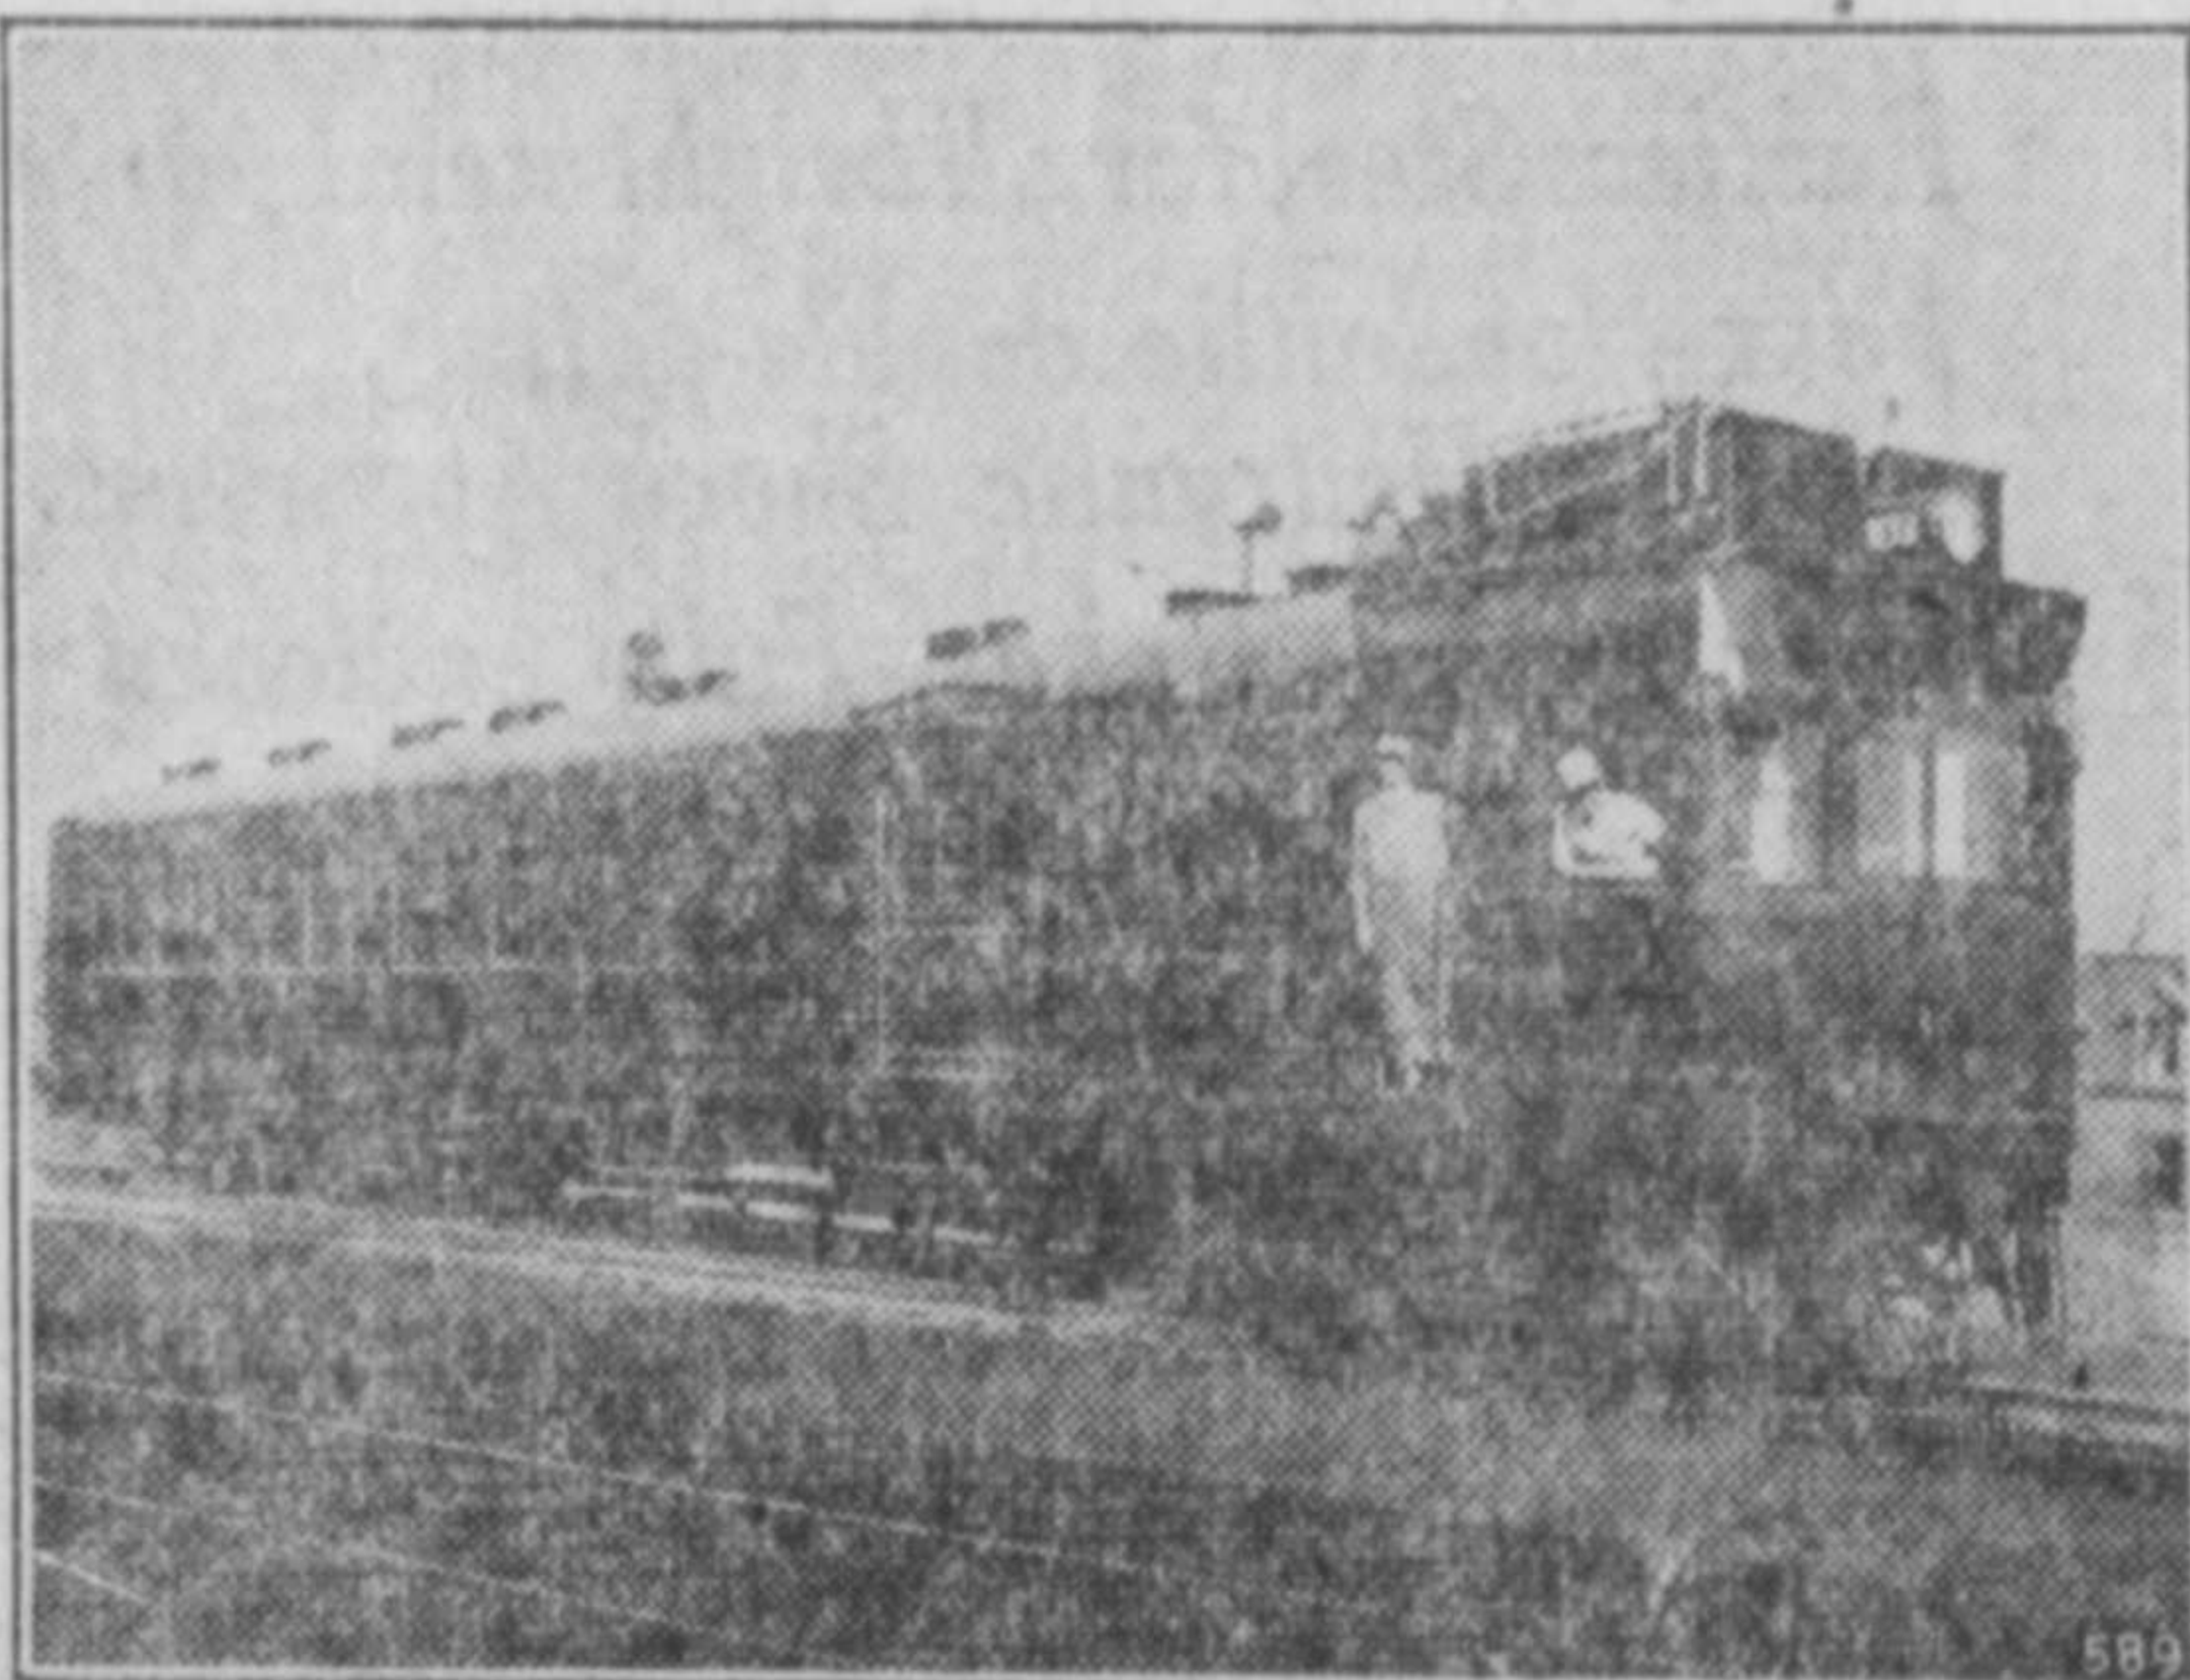

SPORT CHAT

Centrals and Elks are scheduled to meet this evening in the City Baseball League. If the Hotel Men should drop this game, it would practically mean the end of league activities for the year since they have to win all games scheduled from now while the Sons of Canada would have to lose all theirs to make even the possibility of a tie in the standing. Thus the Canucks are practically assured of winning the second half of the season as they did the first. With league honors for the year now virtually settled, baseball fans will have to look forward to the series during Exhibition Week between Vancouver Athletic Club and local All Stars which will be the outstanding diamond event of the season here.

While some citizens of Sydney, Australia, are worrying themselves and others with talk of financial stringency, the races, the theatres, and all places of entertainment are largely attended. All the golf clubs are adding to their waiting lists, and bridge bondage is noticeable through city and suburbs. Several of the large stores have bridge tuition as a special side line. Women who have heard from others that if they wish for social success they "must learn bridge," and from their husbands that if they ask questions of innocence while fingering their cards in doubt they will be socially excommunicated, are feverishly learning or partly learning just what to do in all circumstances. They are meeting at the stores each day in their hundreds, meeting to learn, while in almost all the women's clubs and in scores of other places there are bridge parties every afternoon and evening. One great store has morning and afternoon sessions of bridge beginners at $1.00 a session. The charge covers morning or afternoon tea. There are in addition two afternoon practice sessions each week, with drilling in the intricacies and etiquette of the game, at 50c a person. These likewise include tea, and being considered "good bargains" will be constantly rushed. Bridge is no longer a game in Sydney. With many it is an obsession.

Mrs. M. Ripley and son and daughter of Ketchikan were passengers aboard the Princess Louise yesterday afternoon bound for Vancouver, where they will pay a visit with relatives.

New Gas Electric Engine

With its eight-cylinder gasoline engine and two electric motors purring and humming in soothing but powerful harmony, No. 47, the Canadian Pacific Railway's new gas-electric combined passenger and baggage car, embodying the latest developments in electro-motive traction, travels between Hamilton and Goderich and its sister car No. 46, between English battlers dominated the semi-finals of the boxing events, winning four of the semi-finals. England, likewise, kept to the fore in lawn bowling events, scoring victories in the doubles and singles events. Canada dropped into second place in the doubles when they suffered their first defeat, a New Zealand pair winning two encounters.

Veteran Skipper Commands Last of Sailing Vessels

"Our Son" Is Last Sailing Vessel on Great Lakes Engaged in Lumber Trade

TORONTO, Aug. 21.—Strange tales of adventure afloat are told by Capt. Fred Nelson, "73 years young," commander of the sailing vessel "Our Son," last of her line on the Great Lakes. Our Son carries fragrant cargoes of spruce and balsam pulpwood for a Muskegon paper company, and has been under the command of Capt. Nelson for the past seven years.

For 59 years, Capt. Nelson has ranged the inland seas. He can spill hair-raising yarns of seamen's superstition; he can tell of blowing gales that cut the canvas to pieces on the masts; he can laugh at the time his vessel was mistaken for an enemy ship and fired on during the Great War.

"I've never been behind the wheel of an automobile," he says, "and I never will. I'll let my boys do the driving." It is one of Capt. Nelson's fondest claims that he is the only lake sailing master who refused to desert canvas for steam.

Strangely enough, his three brawny sons, all more than six feet tall, have brought to an end a long lineage of men of the sea. Not one of them has taken to sailing.

Capt. Nelson is not superstitious, he says, but, like all sailors qualifies that statement with "but—" "On a sailing vessel," he says, "there is always danger of losing men overboard. Once I sailed with a crew of 23—an odd number, and they say that is very bad.

"On every voyage we lost a man. We never failed to come into port with flag at half mast. Then, one year we cleared with a man short—with 22 men aboard. We lost no man. As long as I was with the ship ing the game. So the captain and players will have something to look forward to.

Changed Line-Up

Coach Page changed his line-up during the next period and very little difference was noted in the game, so well are the girls trained. This quarter was fast and further plays were shown to the fans. Brown scored five shots during this period with MacCormick scoring the other to make the score 38-0 at half time.

With the resumption of play for the second half Phyllis Harvey scored a basket but the wrong one, the score counting for the Grads. Brown scored the first for the Grads. Kinney placed a nice shot after some clean, accurate combination. McBurney, Fry and Neale scored before time was called at the three-quarter mark. During this period the Grads played almost an exclusive combination game with very little shooting. The ball passed from hand to hand and from play to play, which demonstrated the ability of the Grads to change their style of play as the case might warrant it.

During the last period the Grads kept up a fast passing game as during the third period but with more shooting. Fry, McCormick and MacBurney took turns at scoring and so well executed were the plays that each girl seemed to be in perfect position for her part of the play. The last quarter ended with the Grads scoring 66 points. Throughout the game the Grads made only a few errors that were noticeable to the fans, such as two silly passes and one fumble.

Miss Babe Belanger and Doug Frizzell kept score. Max Heilbronner was timekeeper.

Individual scores were:
Grads: Capt. Bennie, 4; G. Fry, 12; MacBurney, 16; McCormick, 16; Neale, 2; Kinney, 2; Brown, 14; total, 66.
Rupert: Walters, Irvine, Steen, Harvey, Boddie, Gilchrist, March, total, 0.

Miss Babe Belanger was not able to play because of an injury sustained in San Francisco.

Big Four defeated an Intermediate all star team 29-28 in a very interesting game.

the crew list held to 22, and never again did a man go overboard."

In 1913, Capt. Nelson was master of the schooner Alice of Milwaukee, sailing to ocean ports. The schooner was forced to put out into deep water to escape a terrific storm, and finally compelled to head for New York. The ship was greeted with a cannon shot across her bow, while off the American city. Wondering, the skipper failed to stop. A second shot ripped across, barely missing the helmsman.

"I stopped," Capt. Nelson related, "only to find that some hair brained fresh water students had taken orders too literally and opened fire because we didn't carry a guard flag, along with the national ensign."

"Our Son," last of the sailing ships, was laid down in 1875. She is 720 gross tonnage, 182 feet in length and 35 feet abeam with a 14-foot hold. She has three masts, and a square stern.

The old ship is scarred heavily because of the bumping of heavy logs in the loading and unloading process, and because of the hundreds of storms she has outridden.

But to Capt. Nelson, aged 73, hale and hearty, she is the finest vessel afloat.

There were 175 passengers aboard the steamer Princess Louise which was in port yesterday afternoon southbound from Skagway to Vancouver. Five persons disembarked here from the vessel. Among the passengers were a number of Filipinos returning to Seattle after having spent the summer employed in Alaska canneries.

Sailor-Author Tells Grim Tales of Panic and Heroism on High Seas in Early Days

SOUTHAMPTON, Eng., Aug. 21:—Few people living today can recall the wreck of the R. M. S. P. Company's steam-sailing ship Amazon. It was on January 2, 1852, that the Amazon, then the "crack" ship of the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company, sailed from Southampton with cargo and mails for the West Indies.

She was a novelty in those days; a timber-fashioned "sailing-steam" ship, reputed to be the biggest sailing vessel out of any British port. Her gross burthen was 2,256 tons. She was 300 feet in length and 41 feet in the beam, scarcely larger than a modern coaster.

Steam was in its infancy in 1852, and the Amazon was one of those cumbersome craft fitted with huge paddle wheels and steam engines, of some 80 horse-power. In addition to a crew of 110 officers and men, she carried 50 passengers. From the first the Amazon experienced bad weather; and the full strength of the 80 horse-power engines was needed to push her against the head winds and seas.

Engineers of those days were little more than mechanics. Very soon the bearings of the engines became heated, and the hose pipe was constantly employed to cool them. And this in the Bay of Biscay! But the master refused to turn back, and pushed his ship into the gale. Then, at night, the second officer "saw the thing that caused his heart to quicken its beat and a lump to rise awkwardly in his gulping throat. There were flames evident, issuing from the super-structure in the neighborhood of the much-criticized engine room."

All attempts to smother the engine and stop the fire failed, and soon all hope of conquering the flames died. The passengers burst open the doors that kept them below, and swarmed on deck. Women fell on their knees to pray, they were jostled by the bulwarks and crushed and trampled, heavy blows were struck "as the maniac horror of feet knawed into men's souls."

"Only one hope of salvation now remained—the boats. But these were few; and the men who should have handled them were forward."

The ship carried nine boats, but to launch them was next to impossible. To try to drop a boat over the side was to court disaster. Those boats that could be reached were made ready until such time as the engines "stopped of their own accord," since no man could enter the engine room.

Boilers Burst

The master of the Amazon knew very little of steam. That the boilers would burst when depleted of water never entered his head. Finally, with the ship a mass of flames and still plunging before the gale, the captain determined to launch the boats, but to add to the horror, these forward were on fire.

Immediately there was further panic and a wild stampede to reach the aft boats, which were not burning.

"Captain Symons, a desperate man, sickened to death by what he had seen, went aft to the quarter deck, took the wheel from the steersman's hands, an dsaid: "Save yourself, lad; I stand by the ship." There, for all evidence to the contrary, the captain died—a lonely man at the post of duty."

Those left aboard the ship perished as she blew up. The 42 survivors, drifting in their battered boats without food or water, were rescued by Dutch gallies and a British brig.

Fire also claimed the Cospatrik, a wooden-ship of 1,200 tons which sailed from London for New Zealand on Sept. 11, 1874, with a crew of 44 and 429 emigrants. Panic broke out, and the boats were smashed or capsized in the launching. Two boats alone floated after the ship sank—two boats 400 miles from land, and in them were huddled 71 survivors.

There was neither food nor drink, and one boat had neither mast nor oars. Before the Cospatrik sank the captain lost control of himself. His last act was to throw his wife overboard, and authorities blamed her presence on board for the " colossal quality of the catastrophe."

"A man in control of such a situation needs to have a clear brain; if the best of the brain is occupied with apprehension for a dear one, he cannot do justice to himself or to the situation."

Of the two boats that put off one was never seen again. Bad weather

Ideas for Serving Unexpected Guests

BY EDWINA NOLAN
Director of Home Service, General Electric Refrigeration Department

ALL housewives at some time or other have experienced that sinking feeling when unexpected guests arrived at the dinner hour, on a day when nothing special was planned for the table. If the guests stayed to dinner, it was a case of their "taking pot luck" or of having someone dash quickly to the corner grocery or delicatessen.

But, thanks to new ideas, new recipes and modern facilities for food preservation, a simple family meal may be transformed into a gala affair in short order. Here are some of the ways of doing it:

Start the meal "with a bang." That is, have an appetizer of some hors d'oeuvres or a canape or a tomato juice cocktail, served icy cold. Any of these will add a touch of festivity and the supplies for them may be kept easily on hand in the refrigerator.

Garnish the soup you were planning with some whipped cream and finely minced parsley or chopped pimento, which it is possible to keep for two weeks without molding in a covered jar in a modern refrigerator.

Pinch off some of those "refrigerator rolls," let them rise and bake them at the last minute.

Dress up your salad course as follows: While the rolls are baking, roll out some pastry, sprinkle with salt or grated cheese, cut into sticks or "straws," bake in the same oven. Make cream or grated American cheese into balls and roll in chopped olives, minced parsley or nuts.

Then make one of the quickly prepared frozen desserts.

These preparations can be made in very little time; and, as a matter of fact, while the hostess is chatting with her guests. And they add so much to the success of the meal.

ISOLATION HOSPITAL

Negotiations Continuing Between Hospital Board and City—Committee Is Named

H. W. Birch, managing secretary of the Prince Rupert General Hospital, informed the hospital board at its monthly meeting last night that he and Dr. J. P. Cade had been appointed a committee to draw up a basis for agreement between the city and hospital as to future operation of the isolation hospital. This committee will present a report to the city council and hospital board and then negotiations will be proceeded with. Meantime, it has been suggested that all responsibility as to building and payment of isolation hospital expenses might be left in the hands of the city while the hospital would assist in collection of accounts and, of course, supply nurses.

In connection with any new arrangements that may be made for isolation hospital operation, it is expected that plans will be made either to remodel the present isolation hospital or have a new one built.

WILL GO TO TRANQUILLE

Plan For Tuberculosis Nursing to Be Taken Advantage of By Local Training School

The hospital board, at its meeting last night, decided to take advantage of a plan whereby students from nurses' training schools of the province in limited numbers are permitted to visit Tranquille Sanitarium for courses of about two months in tuberculosis nursing. This plan of affiliation with Tranquille Sanitarium was suggested at the 1929 meeting of the B. C. Hospital Association and a scheme for putting it into effect has since been worked out. Under this plan, a total of 21 students, at a time from training schools of the province can be accommodated at Tranquille and the length of the course of training is suggested as two months. Thus 126 students could be taken each year until such time as further accommodation is provided. Tranquille pays transportation of the students to and from the sanitarium, gives free board and room and the same scale of pay as at the training school whence they came. Students taking the course should be in their second or third year, it is suggested.

Frank Dibb suggested that the awarding of the trip to Tranquille might be made to the student who came highest each year in class examinations.

On motion of G. V. Wilkinson and Ald. W. M. Brown, it was decided to make application for the admission of a student from the local hospital to the course, Miss Harrison, the lady superintendent, to be got in touch with in the matter of the selection of the student who will go to Tranquille.

Improvement For Furnace

Automatic Feed to Be Installed in Prince Rupert General Hospital

The hospital board, at its meeting last night, accepted a report from the house committee recommending the installation at a cost of $1075 of an automatic feed coal burner in connection with the hospital heating system. The house committee recommended that the installation be made at the earliest possible moment.

Speaking to the recommendation, Ald. W. M. Brown, chairman of the house committee, said that the new installation would bring about a great saving in fuel, some going as far as to say that the saving might amount to 50%.
