THREE HUNDRED CONVICTS BURNED

Ohio State Penitentiary Swept by Fire and Death Toll is Terrific as Result of The Conflagration

Prisoners Died Like Rats as Conflagration Ravaged Dormitories and Cell Blocks—Work of Extracting Bodies Still Proceeds

COLUMBUS, Ohio, April 22:—At least three hundred persons, mostly convicts, lost their lives yesterday when fire swept the dormitories and cell blocks of the State Penitentiary. The work of extracting the bodies from the ruins was still continuing this morning, the exact death toll being uncertain up to then. It may never be known just how many perished in the holocaust.

The death list was placed this afternoon as nearly as could be estimated at 317. The convicts were snuffed out by the flame and smoke while they were locked in their cells. More than 150 other prisoners are in the penitentiary hospital and from sixty to seventy of these are in critical condition. The penitentiary housed 4,300 convicts, some 2,500 above the intended capacity, when the fire, believed to have been of incendiary origin, fanned by a stiff wind, swept through the upper tiers of four prison blocks. Trapped behind their locked cell doors, the men had no chance of escape.

The flames were discovered shortly before 5.30 yesterday afternoon. Within several hours the fire had been brought under control but suffocating smoke continued to take a mortal toll. In adjoining cell blocks, men screamed to be released and when prison officials capitulated to their demands, the penitentiary yard became a streaming mass of gray clothed men. Before many hours had passed, this mass of men picking their way among countless bodies spread over the yard, became a threatening menace. Some of them cut the fire hose which continued to play upon the flames which spread to the prison cotton and woolen mills. Others hurled stones and slugged the guards who were trying to maintain order. Except for minor disturbances there was no trouble, however.

About five hours after the fire was brought under control, the ranks of the convicts began to thin out and, at midnight, only a few were left in the yard.

OMANEY IS WRECKED

Well Known Halibut Schooner in Mishap—Crew Reported Safe

KODIAK, April 22—The halibut schooner Omaney was wrecked off Sitka Island on the south end of Kodiak Island yesterday. The coastguard cutter Haida went to the rescue of the crew which despatches said were safe ashore.

The Omaney was well known in Prince Rupert though she had not landed any catches here so far this year. Capt. O. Olson was owner and skipper of the vessel which carried a crew of thirteen men.

Dry Dock Work on Pr. William Now Completed

As far as the local dry dock is concerned, the extensive job of reconditioning the steamer Prince William (ex-Aktion) is now completed although there is more or less minor carpentry, etc. to be done by the owners before the vessel will be completely ready to take up her local service out of this port. Under command of Capt. William Thomas, the Prince William will go into commission Wednesday of next week when she sails for all Queen Charlotte Island ports.

Left Wing of British Labor Will Paddle Its Own Canoe and Work Toward Socialism

BIRMINGHAM, April 22:—Labor's left wing is determined to paddle its own canoe. As a distinct entity they will work for "socialism in our time."

By a large majority, the Independent Labor Party conference here endorsed the parliamentary stand of Labor's so-called rebels, the Maxton group, and authorized the reconstruction of the Independent Labor Party parliamentary group on the basis of "acceptance of the Independent Labor Party policy as laid down."

The conference asked for a drastic increase in taxation upon wealth to the end of obtaining appropriations for children's maintenance allowances. Reminding the government that it had not been successful in the matter of doles, the conference demanded more in the matter of unemployed allowances and complete re-organization of industry along socialistic lines.

There are 30 Independent Labor Party members in Parliament who will follow the lead of the conference and, should the government again get into a tight corner such as they met and vanquished in regard to the Coal Bill amendments and should the Independent Labor Party members vote en masse against the administration, things would go hard with Premier Ramsay Macdonald.

After having been tied up at the local dry dock for the winter, Canadian National Steamships ocean freighter Canadian Winner, under command of Capt. N. P. Hoeking and with Capt. Duncan McKenzie as pilot for the passage down the coast, sailed at 9:30 this morning for Vancouver where she will be re-commissioned in service between the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

The Canadian Seigneur, which has been tied up here with the Winner, is about to go on the pontoons at the dry dock for hull work and will sail at the end of the month, also to be re-commissioned in the interoceanic trade.

Great Britain, United States and Japan Agree to Reduce Navies While France and Italy Accept Restrictions

LONDON, April 22:—The five-power naval conference adjourned early this afternoon after the delegates of the five nations—Great Britain, United States, France, Japan and Italy—had signed a treaty limiting and reducing the navies of Britain, United States and Japan and setting restrictions upon those of France and Italy. Premier Ramsay Macdonald in an address said: "We have now gone as far as we can at present. Compared with the Washington or Geneva meetings we have progressed very much but compared with our own desires we are still short. We must go on attacking the problems which so far have baffled us."

Hon. Phillippe Roy, Canadian minister to France and acting chief of the Canadian delegation following the departure for Canada of Hon. J. C. Ralston, declared that the most important result was the awakening of the world to the fact that an informed and active public opinion was necessary to fully achieve disarmament. Such a movement, he declared, was growing steadily in Canada.

The treaty which has been agreed upon definitely limits the navies of Great Britain, United States and Japan in all categories and provides for a reduction in ships already under construction in at least one category of capital ships.

France and Italy could not compose their differences over party and so adhered only to other sections of the pact which prescribe a capital ship holiday, limitation of the size of submarines, humanization of their use and accord and agreement on other technical phases of the conference's work.

San Francisco Shrine Party Is Invited Here

The Prince Rupert Shrine Club, at its regular monthly dinner last evening in the Commodore Cafe with G. H. Munro in the chair in the absence from the city of John Dybhavn, the president, decided to invite nobles of Islam Temple, San Francisco, with their band and patrol, to come this way en route to the Grand Ceremonial of the Imperial Shrine of America in Toronto this summer. An Islam Temple party was here some years ago and gave a memorable demonstration at that time.

It was decided that the May meeting of the club should take the form of a dinner dance and a committee consisting of E. A. Bazett-Jones, G. J. Dawes and Sam Jabour was named to take charge of arrangements for the affair.

Other club affairs were discussed at last night's dinner.

HOTEL IMPORTANT

One of the important features of future development in Prince Rupert will be the new hotel which is promised by the railway company provided the money is voted by Parliament. The plans will be completed just as soon as the site is definitely chosen and work is expected to commence early in the fall and continue throughout the winter, so that the hotel may be ready for business for the season of 1931.

The proposed building will be sufficiently large to handle the traffic that is expected to pass through the city. Needless to say it will be modern in every respect and will be so designed as to be of particular value under the climatic conditions of Prince Rupert.

Not only will Prince Rupert benefit from the expenditure of the money required to erect the building but it will mean that tourists will make this a stop-over point. It will be the greatest step that has yet been taken in the development of the city as a tourist centre.

THE PULP PROJECT

The pulp and paper project that brought the vice-president of the Canadian National Railway to Prince Rupert last week is still in the organization stage and, while the organizers are hopeful of carrying it through successfully, it is not yet far enough advanced to be looked upon as a certainty.

Prince Rupert people will undoubtedly be keenly anxious to help forward the pulp and paper project. Work has been done on the plans for many months, a site has been chosen and the railway company has promised to do everything possible to help it along. Everyone here will hope that it comes to be a successful industry.

THREE POSSIBILITIES

Here then are three possibilities for future development that would mean a great deal to the city. Last week we spoke of the great thing it would be if the Ecstall mine should operate. Now we add a like suggestion to the hotel and the pulp and paper projects, none of which are new but either one of which would give a great impetus to business in the city.

A WORLD EVENT

The signing of the Naval Pact in London is one of the great world events of the present century. It will be a great step toward peace and also toward the relief of several countries from a great burden of taxation.

A minor effect of the pact will be to increase the prestige of the British Labor Government with its premier, Ramsay MacDonald, as the outstanding figure. If that government does nothing else it will have justified its existence. They succeeded where the former administration failed, for not only have they been able to agree with United States and Japan but they have drawn together to some extent the other two powers of Europe that might have proved a menace to peace.

Blessed is the man who says an encouraging word now and then for encouragement is sorely needed by most of us.

CANADIAN FLAG TALK

Opinion Strongly Divided Among Members of Edmonton Canadian Daughters' League

EDMONTON, April 22.—Strongly divided opinion on the question of a Canadian flag was voiced when discussion on a resolution brought in by Canadian Daughters' League for a distinctive Canadian flag embodying the Union Jack, was before the meeting of the local council.

Mrs. H. B. Spratt representing the Daughters of the Empire, spoke strongly against a Canadian flag which she felt would create diverse feeling among Canada's many nationalities. The Canadian Legion, she pointed out, desire no change, and surely their opinion should come first. Mrs. George Latham representing the Canadian Labor women, stated that anyone opposing this move was opposing a movement of progress. Mrs. W. J. Roas, president-elect of the local council, pointed out "that we have the naval design which has done duty in the past."

Mrs. E. L. Hill spoke briefly, pointing out that Australia, which was more British than Britain herself, had its own flag as New Zealand and the Irish Free State. A vote on the question will be taken at the annual meeting this month.

"The married women working outside the home is a condition that has come to stay," Mrs. Margaret Lewis of the Alberta government labor bureau and factories act inspector stated in the course of an address at the close of the business session, in which she dealt with the protective industrial legislation for women and girls.

"We find as time goes on it is more necessary for the women in the home to help supplement the family income." Mrs. Lewis also felt no bar should be put on women's economic freedom and if women are to be kept out of industry and the professions because of marriage, it raises an objection to young people marrying, which is unwise for the nationhood of the country.

Since the enforcement of the minimum wage act Mrs. Lewis stated, girls in hotels and cafes were on an eight and nine-hour schedule, and since this is working satisfactorily it should be possible to have the same conditions for girls working in private homes. They are the only ones who at present do not come under the provisions of the act which like all other industrial legislation is passed to empower the state to protect the health of its people.

Moose Dance Is Great Success

Two Hundred Persons Attended Easter Monday Affair Last Evening

The Easter Monday dance of the Moose Lodge last night in the Moose Hall was a great success, some two hundred persons being in attendance at the affair.

From 9 p.m. until 2 a.m. tunesome music was played by the Premier Orchestra which introduced a number of new selections for the occasion. Oscar Sather was master of ceremonies and chairman of the committee in charge, other members of the committee being V. Petersen, George Shenton, Sam Haudenschild, C. R. Biggart, H. Boss and P. Petersen. W. B. McCallum presided at the door.

At midnight, delicious refreshments were served, Mrs. P. J. Ryan being in charge of the catering.

Acadians Plan Big Pilgrimage For September

BOSTON, April 22.—On next September 6, Boston will welcome the descendants of the Acadians, who in 1775 sought sanctuary in the southwestern section of Louisiana.

Headed by Dudley Leblance the party, to number 200, will pass through the city enroute to Grand Pre, Nova Scotia, to help celebrate the 175th anniversary of the Acadians exodus.

They will travel partly by automobile and partly by train, so that leaders in the movement can map out the proposed Longfellow-Evangeline National Trail, which will extend from the Grand Pre Valley through Boston and New York into Louisiana.

Most of the Acadians travelling northward will be from St. Martinville, called "St. Mar," in the poets immortal story, where sleeps the original of his "Evangeline." At St. Martinville is the grave of Emmaline Labiche, the girl whose story the poet told in the world's most beloved poem.

Those making the pilgrimage to the land of their great grandfathers will tell the story that there was no happy ending to the story of Emmaline Labiche, but that she died of a broken heart when she learned that her lover had wed another.

COMMUNICATION

THROUGH the jungles of darkest Africa the voice of the primitive "telephone"—the drum—still reverberates. By means of a code of drum-beats which no white man has yet been able fully to decipher, one dusky operator speaks to a community miles away. There another drum is pounded, and so, in relay fashion, long distance messages are transmitted from one tribe to another.

Perhaps the greatest asset to the social and business life of Canada is the modern telephone. A network of some four million miles of wire spreads over the Dominion and links up a million and a quarter telephones from coast to coast.

A large proportion of the wires, instruments and other apparatus involved in this vast telephone system was manufactured in the plants of the Northern Electric Company.

Communist Affairs in Canada have Been Quiescent for Some Time, he Observes

SAINT JOHN, N.B., April 22—Tom Moore, of Ottawa, president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, said that he held no fears of a communistic uprising in Nova Scotia as referred to in the Nova Scotia legislature. The Labor leader pointed out that Communist affairs in Canada had been quiescent for some time because Labor affairs were running smoothly. However, said Mr. Moore the red agitators take every opportunity of a dissension in Labor ranks to insert their insidious propaganda.

gard to poetical forms and expressions that were looked upon as almost radical, Dr. Bridges had the courage to uphold his views and defend them against his critics.

Dr. Bridges was an ardent advocate of correct pronunciation and a modified new spelling. He maintained that English prosody depends upon the number of stressed syllables in a line and not upon the number of syllables, and that poetry should follow the rules of natural speech. He was a rather inspiring example to the author who believes in himself and who is content to wait for recognition without making an effort to obtain it. For years he published his poems in limited and semi-private editions. Gradually they gained recognition among a small and select circle, which began to widen until London newspapers took an interest in his writings. This resulted in his works being printed in a form that made them available to the general public.

Principal Works
In addition to a number of shorter poems Dr. Bridges' early works included "The Growth of Love, Prometheus, the Fire-Giver," which he published privately in 1883 at Oxford and which he styled "A mask in the Greek manner." Two years later he produced "Eros and Psyche, a version of Apuleius." His principal critical works are "Milton's Prosody," published in 1893, and "John Keats, A Critical Essay," produced two years later. He also was author of eight poetic plays.

Although Dr. Bridges wrote comparatively little poetry during the war he injected into his war verse a virility which hitherto had not characterized his work. His war poems included "Thou Careless Awake," "England Awake," "Lord Kitchener," and two bearing upon the participation of the United States into the war. One was "To the United States of America," and the other, "To President Wilson." He also wrote verses to the Americans on their Thanksgiving Day celebrated in England in 1918.

After the war there was considerable criticism of the poet laureate because he had failed to be inspired by various national events and celebrations. His attitude was the subject of interrogations in parliament. One member of the House of Commons urged that the poet laureate's pay of ancient days, a cask of wine, be advanced to Dr. Bridges "on the off-chance of his getting inspiration." It also was urged that a poet laureate should be appointed whose muse would be more attuned to the soul of the British nation.

None of the criticism aimed at Dr. Bridges seemed to injure his reputation as a poet and while his work at times was regarded as cold and formal it was on the whole notable for its purity, precision and delicacy with strength and expression.

Dr. Bridges was a lover of good music and a student of Christian hymns. He devoted much time to this subject and in 1899 compiled a hymn for use in church services.

Since the War
Since the close of the war Dr.

Bridges had written, but little. On the occasion of Armistice Day, 1923, he contributed a work of prose and poetry to a special number of a parish magazine, in which he pleaded for England's recovery from laxity, indifference and pleasure seeking.

Dr. Bridges often had been referred to as different from any other poet laureate who had filled the position. This was noticed particularly in September, 1923, when the poet laureate accepted the invitation of Dr. M. LeR. Burton, president of the University of Michigan, to come to the United States as part of the arrangement for an exchange of professors and lecturers between universities of England and the United States.

Dr. Bridges was born October 23, 1844, and was educated at Eton and Corpus Christi College, Oxford. After his graduation from Oxford he traveled abroad, and upon returning to London studied medicine and practiced several years as a hospital physician in London. He gave up the practice of medicine in 1882 to devote himself to literature. He retired to a woodland hill near Oxford and it was said that the spirit of the beautiful city had been an influence in his life and work. In his years at Oxford, Dr. Bridges took an active interest in sports, and besides having stroked at Oxford College crew was a proficient performer at cricket. During his latter years it was said that Dr. Bridges continued to devote several hours daily to music and poetry. To the end of his active career he took delight in writing poetry of the purest classical form, but he had a tendency, it was said, of turning more and more to the charm and consolation of music, which he ever loved.

Dr. Bridges married Monica Waterhouse, September 3, 1884. They had three children.

Mr. and Mrs. H. G. McDonald of Anyox arrived in the city on the Catala this afternoon from the smelter town.

Track and Field Association Brought Into Being Here with Enthusiastic Public Meeting

To sponsor the holding in this city of such field and track sports as sprints, jumps and marathons of various classes, the Prince Rupert Track & Field Association was launched at a largely attended meeting last evening in the City Hall. Great enthusiasm for this line of sport was displayed. Jack Campbell was elected president of the association and Douglas Frizzell, secretary-treasurer with an executive to be composed of one representative each of the competing teams. The Canadian National Recreation League and the Elks have already formed teams while a third will be organized by Doug. Frizzell.

The president and secretary were authorized to interview the Fair Board with a view to holding the first meet on May 24.

Another meeting of the association will be held on Wednesday of next week.

Sport Chat

Prospects bid fair for a successful baseball season in Prince Rupert this year if the enthusiasm displayed at the annual meeting Tuesday of the local Baseball Association may be taken as any criterion. It is said that there is even more diamond material available this year than last. The Association has acted wisely in deciding to again use the lists of players on the official team entries and, if necessary, revise them slightly in order to balance the players up for well matched teams. Such action last year was no doubt responsible for the close play during the schedule and the tight finish. It is regrettable that the Gyro Club's place will, no doubt, be effectively filled by the new nine which is being organized by Andy Donald.

Exactly 60 of 65 major league baseball writers and sports editors who responded to a request of the Associated Press for their opinions as to who will cop the American League pennant this year have selected the Athletics to make it two in a row. The remaining five, taking a long shot at the advance dope, named the Yanks to stage a comeback and pick up the pennant winning habit where they left off in 1923. This is the order of finish that the baseball experts expect this year: Philadelphia, New York, Cleveland, Detroit, St. Louis, Chicago, Washington and Boston.

W. M. Watts is returning to the city on this afternoon's train from a brief business trip to Terrace.

ATHLETICS DEFEATED

NEW YORK, April 22.—Philadelphia Athletics suffered their first defeat of the season yesterday at the hands of the Washington Senators. They were unable to connect with much hitting of Hadley.

In the National League, Chicago Cubs batted in pennant winning style, bombarding Cincinnati recruits for an easy win.

New York Giants made it four straight wins with no defeats since the first of the season by beating the Phillies in a free-hitting contest.

DANCE WAS ENJOYABLE

Queen Mary Chapter, I. O. D. E. Scored Hit With Affair Last Night

The annual Daffodil Dance of Queen Mary Chapter, Imperial Order, Daughters of the Empire, last night in the I.O.D.E. Hall was, as usual, a most enjoyable affair for all those in attendance.

The hall was beautifully decorated for the occasion with daffodils and tulips while pretty festoons were strung around the walls. In charge of the decorating were Mrs. William Brass and Mrs. William Millar.

Music was furnished by Mrs. J. S. Black's orchestra and A. E. Bazett-Jones made a genial master of ceremonies who kept the proceedings going merrily from 9 p.m. until 2 a.m.

At midnight, delicious refreshments were served. In charge of refreshments were Mrs. James Simpson, Mrs. J. E. Boddie and Mrs. D. C. Stuart.

Mrs. C. E. Cullin, regent of the chapter, also took an active part in supervising the affair.

Man in the Moon

Gilders in the air are like opposition political parties, they must keep going without power.

When the sour looking lady objected to being asked for beer bottles, the bottle vendor retorted by asking if she had any vinegar bottles to sell.

A Prince Rupert lady was visiting in Vancouver. She went into a furniture store and asked to see something odd in mirrors. "Yes, lady," the salesman said. "Take a look in this one."

Mother—What kind of a show did papa take you to, Bobby? Bobby—It was a dandy, mamma. They had ladies dressed in stockings up to their necks.

Mrs. Tellit—Cousin Dorothy, you know, always wanted to have a little baby daughter so she could name her June.

Mrs. Askit—Yes. Did she do it? Mrs. Tellit—No. The man she married was named Bugg, and it wouldn't do, you see.

Finds Transfusion Parent's Blood Is Measles Antidote

NEW YORK, April 22.—The inoculation of a child with the blood of one of the parents is a simple preventative that will ward off the danger of a severe attack of measles, Major Edward J. Abbott, M.D., said in a radio talk delivered under the auspices of the Health Department.

The injection will be valueless unless made within five days after exposure to the disease. Major Abbott said. A small amount of blood is drawn from one of the parents who has had measles and transferred to the child in an intermuscular injection. One ounce will give sufficient protection. The child may not escape the disease, but will have it only in a mild form.

"Almost no fever, scanty rash and complete lack of the usual aching and constitutional symptoms may be expected," Major Abbott said. "Above all, the pneumonia, which so often follows the measles with fatal consequences, will be prevented. A dose of double the size gives complete but temporary immunity. The smaller injection is preferred because it permits the child to develop an immunity which lasts the rest of his life."

Atlantic Trawlers Under New Rules

Halifax So Far, Only Port Affected By Regulations

MONTREAL, April 22.—The much-discussed regulations against Canadian steam trawlers operating on Atlantic fishing grounds, went into force at midnight, April 1. Captains of fishing trawlers already on the grounds were instructed by wireless to report to the Eastern Fisheries Division at Halifax their approximate catch up to midnight, March 31. When they return to port they will be taxed one cent a pound on all cod, haddock, and halibut landed at Canadian Atlantic ports—that is if they are foreign-built trawlers. Canadian-built trawlers will pay a tax of two-thirds of a cent a pound on these fish.

Halifax is the only port affected by the new regulations at the present time, there being six trawlers operating out of that port, of which five, owned by National Fish Company, are not Canadian-built, and the sixth, a Canadian-built trawler, is owned by Leonard Fisheries. Each of these trawlers have been landing 5,000,000 pounds of fish, annually, requiring a total annual tax payment on the new basis of approximately $100,000.

FORTUNE FOR MAORI YOUTH

Find of Ambergris Net Him $10,000

KAWHIA, New Zealand.—A Maori youth brought a mass of ambergris to the branch of the Bank of New Zealand. The find was made at Atoea Heads, on a block situated nearby. The find, although its exact value has not been determined, is believed to be worth at least an offer of $2,500 in cash local tender.

The lad was returned from work when he was lying on the beach, and inspection came to the fact that it was ambergris, which had never previously been seen in this valuable commodity.

When the substance was identified by several who were tested with the characteristic ambergris and its value was fully recognized. The specimen measured two feet long, varying thickness, weighed about 10 pounds.

They Pay You

ADVERTISEMENTS pay you to read them. They pay you in time. From the advertisements in this newspaper you can learn where to get what you want, instead of searching around. You can know the merits of each article offered for sale.

They pay you in money. Advertisements help you to get full value for your dollars. Goods which are consistently advertised are of consistently high quality for their prices.

They pay you in satisfaction. Manufacturers and merchants will not undertake an advertising campaign until they are sure their product is right. It would be ruinous to advertise an unworthy product, for that would simply call added attention to its deficiencies.

They pay you in information. Advertisements tell of new products, of new designs, new materials, better workmanship. Well-informed people always read the advertisements to keep posted.

Reading the advertisements is an investment that pays big returns.

Considerable Active Mining Development Expected In 1930 In Central Interior District

BY L. S. MCGILL
 (Manager, Omineca Branch, British Columbia Chamber of Mines)

With the opening up of spring in the Omineca Mining division a new year is being commenced which bids fair to see a great deal of active development despite the handicaps under which the mining industry generally is laboring at the present time. The outstanding feature in the district is probably the undiminished confidence of all who are now in the district in the future of the industry. While outside capital has not been coming in during recent months to the same extent as at some previous times, those who have properties in the district and who could find any way of carrying on work, have been doing so in the winter months.

Of the larger operations, Duthie mine has now been closed to production on account of low metal prices, for nearly two months. It is expected locally that development will be continued throughout the summer in spite of general financial conditions for work done in the fall and winter of 1929-30 showed up extremely well not only on the 600-foot level, the lowest in the mine, but on the continuations of the main veins on the adjoining Humming Bird property. To reach the latter at depth the McPherson tunnel, one of the higher levels of the mine, was being continued for another 2500 feet into the mountain when the shut-down took place.

Cronin mine is carrying on development in a small way and machinery and supplies were recently taken in with a view to continued development.

Topley Richfield Mining Company Limited closed down work on the Three Star Group in March, although the last work done showed a large body of copper ore at a depth of some 50 feet underground. This company is not now working on any property in the district.

Owen Lake

Owen Lake Mining & Development Co. Ltd., with Frank H. Taylor again in control, has continued working steadily on development after Noah Timmins stopped putting up further finances. Fifteen men are now employed and both tunnel work and diamond drilling are being pushed ahead energetically.

Other work is being carried on by Frank H. Taylor and others on properties near the Owen Lake Mining & Development Co. Ltd.'s holdings.

Alex S. Millar has worked all winter on his Cascade Group near Smithers and reports good results from this recent development.

Other small scale development carried by the owners throughout the winter season are on the Harvey group in the Babine Range by C. C. Harvey and associates, on the

TWO TAKUS ARE FOUND

One Is Large Port In Yellow Sea; Other River In Northern British Columbia

Out of the Port of Vancouver steamed a deepsea lumber freighter the other evening bound for Taku. Another boat passed through the Narrows outward-bound carrying passengers, many of whom were bound for Taku.

Now the lumber ship will drop anchor in the Yellow Sea; the passenger will make a mooring 5000 miles distant towards the rising sun of Northern British Columbia; and both will be at Taku.

Taku, scene of the latest mining excitement in the north, is at the head of Taku Inlet which cuts across the Alaska Panhandle away north of Prince Rupert. Through Taku Inlet, the gold seekers are going this spring in numbers which suggest the boom of '98.

Taku, on the Asiatic side of the Pacific, is one of the large ports for receiving British Columbia lumber on the other side. Peiping is inland and at Taku Bar ships of all nations load and unload.

Rapid development of industries and shipping around the North Pacific creates new jobs for geography makers. Something should be done about Taku right away or some honest prospector who thinks he is taking a ship to the rich northern diggings will awaken to find himself on the road to ancient Cathay. —Vancouver Province.

Edmonton Paper Urges Alberta to Emulate British Columbia by Selling on Terms

The Government of British Columbia proposes to sell cows on easy terms to settlers in the section of the Peace River territory lying within the province, says the Edmonton Bulletin editorially. It is unfortunate that the legislature of Alberta at the recent session did not revive the "cow bill" in some amended form, which would have empowered the Provincial Government to assist farmers in all parts of the province in that way. A time when farmers generally are turning their attention toward mixed farming, is a time when assistance of that kind would be an investment from which large dividends would be drawn in the future.

HINTS FOR GARDENERS

WINDOW BOXES

Much can be added to the attractiveness of any house by window boxes and hanging pots and in this type of garden even the apartment dweller or the home owner, whose garden is used entirely as a children's playground, can participate. One can purchase window boxes ready made or the man who is handy with tools can turn out his own now while waiting for the soil to dry up. Even if purchased these boxes should usually be stained the desired colour and arrangements will have to be made for supporting them. Use inch lumber and strongly reinforce with angle irons at the corners. These irons can be purchased for a few cents at any hardware store and it is essential to use them as otherwise the box will warp or burst after watering the plants in it a few times. The window box should be at least eight inches wide and the same deep, and slightly larger measurements are preferable so that there will be less chance of the soil drying out on a hot day. Use screw nails to put the box together rather than nails so that it will not come apart when filled with damp earth, and bore a few holes in the bottom to provide drainage. Generally speaking, the box should be as long as the window sill, but where the latter is over six feet it may be advisable to use two boxes for convenience in handling. The whole thing must be very strong and well supported as the larger ones will weigh over one hundred to two hundred pounds when filled with soil and plants. An inch cleat fastened strongly along the upper
