Expresses Hope That Security Plans May Be Worked Out Soon—Seasonal Measures of Little Value

OTTAWA, Feb. 27:-Eventually Canada will have a system of unemployment insurance, Premier W. L. Mackenzie King predicted yesterday in replying to a deputation which sought federal aid for municipalities and provinces on unemployment relief. This, the Prime Minister said, was the only constructive way to deal with the unemployment situation and he hoped that it would soon be possible to work out insurance plans. Seasonal measures in the way of relief and public works were of no permanent assistance, he pointed out.

PRINCE RUPERT'S POSITION

It seems to be well impressed upon the railway people and others both east and west that Prince Rupert has an advantageous position in regard to transportation. Sir Henry Thornton and President Beatty both recognize it and the politicians know it and say they know it.

All that is needed now is to see that advantage is taken of the situation and that the fact be impressed so thoroughly that it may be generally recognized and the port utilized.

Now that the New Year resolutions are pretty much all forgotten we are once more back to normal.

HALIBUT FLEET AWAY

The halibut fleet is away once more and in a few days will be returning bringing their catches to this port. Much will depend on the condition of the weather as to the catches they make and to the prices paid as to whether the fishermen do well or not. We wish them every success and hope they will make money this year.

Sledge hammers are all right but not for driving tacks.

OLD OMAR'S POEM

The popularity of the Rubaiyat translated from the Arabic is due very largely to the splendid translation of Fitzgerald. The book has been printed in 144 editions in Bri- but became very ragged as the play P. McMordie (Canadian Legion) tain, 90 in the United States and there have been English continued. The players seemed to 178. editions printed in other countries. And yet the English lack the spirit of combat with the A. Donald, 203; Marcus Andrews, poet who did the work, is reported to have said: "I hardly know why I print these things which nobody buys." That was away back in 1859. Gradually the beauty of the verses has sunk into the consciousness of the race and today the poem based on the original by Omar Khayyam are as well known to many people as the Bible.

An editor is always flattered when he sees his published idea adopted later by someone as his own.

Will be Third Man in Ring at the Sharkey-Scott Fight Tonight in Miami

MIAMI, Fla., Feb. 27.-Lou Magnolia of New York will referee the Sharkey-Scott fight at the Stadium here tonight.

This was definitely decided during a meeting of the managers of the fighters at the Miami Boxing Commission. Magnolia's name was suggested by Johnny Buskley, manager of Jack Sharkey, and he was accepted after some discussion by Jimmy Johnston, American manager of Phil Scott.

The meeting was also attended by William F. Carey, president of the Madison Square Garden, and Frank Bruen, general manager of the Garden.

Eighteen names were originally mentioned as possible referees. By a process of elimination the managers of the fighters got down to half-a-dozen and finally agreed upon Magnolia.

In the discussion Manager Johnston insisted that under no circumstances did he want the bout stopped. He said if Scott gets into trouble he wants him knocked out rather than Magnoia taking responsibility of halting the fracas.

Referees of the other bouts were also announced. William (Kid) Mc-Partland of New York will referee the Campolo-Risko fight: Johnny Brassil of Boston the Loughran-Charles: Frank McCracken of Philadelphia the Maloney-Boquillon, and Howard Livingston of the American Legion, Miami, will referee the Darring-Bianchi bout.

The fighters weighed in at different times this afternoon. Sharkey was the first to get on the scales, at 12.30. Scott weighed in at 1.05 p.m. and consequently did not come face to face with Shar-

Sport Chat

Despite the tremendous popularity of baseball, skiing and other sports that have come in from abroad, the real national game of Japan, sumo wrestling contests still holds its own. Patronized for centuries by emperors and the nobility as well as by all other classes of society, sumo is still the great magnet for crowds. Japan, indeed, takes as much interest in the New Year's tournaments between eastern and western champions as Canada takes in a national ice hockey championship or the United States in a world series baseball series. While the sumo tournament is on. crowds gather around bulletin boards displayed outside shops throughout the city telling the result of the various contests.

The prowess of the sumo depends largely on sheer weight, as well as muscle and skill. The latter development includes not only successfully pushing over the opponent and defeating him by forcing him te touch the ground, or out of the ring; he must maintain his own balance. Some of the sumo wrestlers weigh more than 400 pounds and there is a great wrestler from Korea who is more than seven feet tall. Each day of the tournament there are several hundred contests. taking 12 hours to complete. The best matches take place in the afternoon, between sumo who are ranked in the makunouchi. Of Babe Ruth, siugging star, who is these contests there are about 25.

Gyros Hear Interesting Address By Dean Gibson of St. Andrews

"Psychology in Industry" was the interesting subject taken by Very Rev. James B. Gibson, Dean of St. Andrew's Anglican Cathedral, in addressing the Prince Rupert Gyro dore Cafe yesterday, President C. A. Kirkendall in the chair. The speaker, in opening, spoke briefly on the subject of psychology generally. He defined it as the science of behavior, a science which all could study without costly equipment and a science which every one knew more or less about.

The human element was being recognized more and more in industrial life and it naturally followed TENNIS CLUB marshalled by the United States during the Great War for examination of the intelligence capacities of men in connection with enlistflict to bring about greater efficiency in industry. Dean Gibson went into some detail in describing some of the problems that faca factor in capacity for work. he placing of the adolescent per- lows: on in vocation.

There was a large attendance of nembers at the luncheon and guests were: Mr. Wright, J. Balkin, garet Palmer. Jack Edwards and Fred Mathers of Prince Rupert.

President Kirkendall was winner of the luncheon raffle.
