AMPHIBIANS AT SEATTLE

United States Naval Planes Will Be Here Soon to Join Search For Robin Renahan

According to radio news last night, two United States Navy amphibian planes, after having been continually beset by storms while coming up the California and Oregon coasts, have at last reached Seattle whence they will hop off as soon as weather permits for Ketchikan out of which port they will institute a search for Pilot Robin Renahan and two companions who have been missing for over three weeks.

Thick weather today again hampered the two Royal Canadian Air Force planes, which are based here, in continuing their search for Renahan. It was possible that they might go out to look into certain local reports but, unless there was an improvement in weather, they were not planning any general search today.

May Have Sunk

Flyers aboard the Wrangell, after having flown for three thousand miles during the past week on the Alaska panhandle as far north as the Unuk River, combing all beaches, inlets and streams, are now inclined to believe that Pilot Robin Renahan, with his two companions, must have been drowned on the night of October 28. They hold the theory that the plane probably plunged into Chatham Sound between Lucy Island and Green Island and, travelling at a rapid rate of speed in the dark, sank.

 Member of Audit Bureau of Circulations

DAILY EDITION  Thursday, Nov. 20, 1930

CANADA'S ANTHEM
 The national anthem "O Canada" is still after discussed in many parts of the country. The difficulty is that we have so many excellent versions and cannot agree on any one. Possibly now that we have a new government at Ottawa they will take the lead and authorize some version. If this were done we feel sure most of the Canadian people would accept it and use it.

The editor of the Rotary Bulletin has editorial mention of the matter this week. He tells of an occasion when two versions were hopelessly mixed up. On other occasions people have reported hearing three distinct versions being sung at the same time, usually the most vociferous causing the others to cease their efforts to be heard.

We are inclined to think that some official move should be taken to bring this matter before His Majesty's first minister in Canada.

AUDIT BUREAU
 Most of the Canadian National advertisers are members of the Audit Bureau of Circulations, better known as the A.B.C. and all the important newspapers in Canada are also members. Recently this organization held its annual meeting and its work is being mentioned in advertising journals.

The Audit Bureau of Circulations is an organization formed for the purpose of protecting advertisers against unscrupulous newspaper publishers who formerly made false claims in regard to their circulation, and also to protect honest newspapers against unscrupulous competitors, who tried to get business away from them by making false declarations in regard to their circulations.

Steadily the scope and influence of the organization has extended until today it is the hall mark of advertising for the whole continent. Many advertisers refuse to buy advertising from any newspaper that refuses an A.B.C. audit. The bureau has over 2,000 members.

There are in British Columbia just seven Daily Newspapers whose circulation is audited by the A.B.C. They are the three Vancouver dailies, the two Victoria papers, the Nelson News and the Prince Rupert Daily News. These are the leading newspapers in the province and are generally recognized as such by advertisers.

The A.B.C. auditors are men who are skilled in the work and who know where to look for the weak points in publishers' statements. They demand to see not only the circulation books, properly kept and balanced, but also the paper bills and receipts showing exactly how much paper is used and this amount has to coincide with the number of papers claimed to be published. In addition to that the auditor checks up on the papers that go out to customers and ascertains that they are really paid up subscribers. That is one reason why every newspaper must insist upon paid in advance subscriptions. If not paid in advance they are valueless to the newspaper insofar as its records are concerned.

VOCATION GUIDANCE

Rev. A. Wilson Speaks to Parent-Teachers on Important Subject

The regular monthly meeting of the Prince Rupert Parent-Teachers' Association was held last evening in the Borden Street School. Mrs. R. Blance presided over a good attendance of members.

A letter was read from the Literature Secretary of the Provincial Parent-Teacher Federation of British Columbia, and copies of the Federation magazine "The Parent-Teacher News," as well as interesting pamphlets dealing with child welfare problems were distributed among the members.

The treasurer, Mrs. H. B. Eastman, reported that there was a balance of $90 in the bank. It was decided to hold the annual bridge and whist party on Friday, January 9. The executive was instructed to act as a nominating committee for the election of officers which will take place at the next regular meeting in January.

The speaker for the evening was Rev. A. Wilson, B.A. of the United Church. Mr. Wilson's topic was "Vocational Guidance."

At the outset the speaker stated that there was no subject of more vital interest and importance to the parents and children of Prince Rupert than that of vocational guidance. Throughout the world today there were many thousands of people who were unhappy and dissatisfied in regard to the vocation they have chosen as their life work. In almost all cases this unfortunate choice of a vocation had been made in very early life without sufficient thought and without any really thoughtful guidance on the part of parents, teachers, or public spirited citizens.

In Prince Rupert today there were many perplexed youths who have no idea at all about what vocation they should choose as their life work; and who had no opportunity of finding out what work they were best fitted to do and would be happy in doing. It was especially true in the north, where at present there were few outlets for choice, few opportunities for technical training and vocational guidance, that many youths drifted into "blind alley" occupations and gradually fell into idle and bad habits and finally lost their ambition and grip on life. The remedy for this unfortunate state of affairs was to gradually build up a vocational guidance system. The responsibility of doing this rested upon all the public spirited people in the city, and Prince Rupert is fortunate in having a large number of public spirited citizens.

Individual Problems
 Since 1908 there had been a growing interest in investigating the individual differences in children, and much work had been done, especially in the United States, in applying the results of this investigation to the important work of vocational guidance. In British Columbia, the city of Vancouver had committee should be formed which would include members of the professions, commercial and industrial men who would investigate the whole idea of vocational guidance. Such a committee would grow parallel with the growth of the city. In the future there should be obtained a vocational guidance officer; a man with training, experience and sympathy, who would work in co-operation with this committee. A survey could be started at once to obtain exact information upon such points as the following:

- (1) Minimum intelligence level needed for doing the work, also maximum intelligence level compatible for success—for the placing of a highly intelligent person in a position which requires only a low intelligence-level causes lack of interest and monotony, and the work suffers;
- (2) A detailed study of selected occupations;
- (3) A detailed study of opportunities as applied to local conditions. It is futile to advise a youth to take up certain work where there is no opportunity to get it;
- (4) A detailed study of those new trades and industries which are continually developing in our locality;
- (5) A detailed study of opportunities in neighboring large centres such as Vancouver;
- (6) Not only advise, but place the youth in a position where he can obtain the situation. This means co-operation with employers, etc.;
- (7) A study of the child's social abilities, physical, emotional, intellectual characteristics as well as his general level of intelligence.

In conclusion Mr. Wilson pointed out that there was already the nucleus of such an organization here, around which might be built a permanent organization. In particular he made mention of the Biological Station and the scientists who were already encouraging and helping students who were taking science courses in the High School.

At the conclusion of the address, Mrs. William Millar, accompanied by Mrs. C. E. Cullin, sang "Out of the Dusk to Thee" and the "Fairies," and Miss Linnea Hanson rendered a pianoforte solo, "Rendezvous."

The meeting closed by the singing of the National Anthem after which refreshments were served and a pleasant half-hour spent in conversation.

The annual value of Fish & Fish Products of British Columbia is about $23,000,000. Of this amount about $11,000,000 is produced in Prince Rupert District.

Y. M. C. A. IN OPERATION

Aims and Objects of Association
Clearly Set Forth In View of Local Situation

In order that the citizens of Prince Rupert may have a more comprehensive idea of the management and operation of the Y. M. C. A. organization of which is being proposed for the city, the following will prove of interest:

The first Y. M. C. A. was organized in London, England, in 1844. The first Y. M. C. A. organized in North America was brought into being in Montreal, Que., in 1851. It is primarily a British institution but fortunately was set up on such broad lines as to render it adaptable in its essential purposes and main program features in practically any other country in the world and today it serves the youth, young manhood and also men of mature years in 40 different nations of the earth.

Membership in the Y. M. C. A. is open to boys and men, regardless of race, creed or color and from a denominational point of view great harmony exists because the religious conceptions and practices of all the members are respected. Further the association is non-partisan. No essay, review, address or motion of a sectarian, partisan or political nature is entertained or permitted by the association or its directors in their building or under their auspices.

The Y. M. C. A. through its entire program of activities seeks the improvement of social, physical, intellectual and spiritual condition of men and boys.

The Y. M. C. A. is promoted in a given community to meet the unmet needs of boys and men and in recent years of girls and women, but not to duplicate or overlap the work of the primary and existing agencies. The Y. M. C. A. makes a contribution in co-operation with and in the supplementing of the constructive forces at work in the community.

The Y. M. C. A. is not a building containing certain furnishings and equipment. The spirit and atmosphere of the "Y" is its greatest force for good and is known and referred to with gratification the world over. Its leadership and activities generate a spirit of genuine friendship inspiring the members to fit themselves to live at their best in all their relationships. Y. M. C. A. buildings usually provide social rooms, class and committee rooms, gymnasium, shower baths, swimming pool, locker and dressing rooms, bowling alleys, reading room, library and other facilities considered necessary by the people of a given community and which they find it possible to provide.

The management of the association is vested in a local board of directors assisted by committees who have special relation to the several departments of the work. The directors on the nomination of the national council elect a general secretary to take charge of the executive leadership of the association and give direction to all its enterprises.

Official representatives of all the local associations in Canada in convention assembled in Winnipeg in 1912 created what has since been known as "The National Council of the Young Men's Christian Associations of Canada." The National Council is therefore the creature of the local units and was brought into being to carry out the instructions of local associations as represented in convention, particularly in co-ordinating the whole work in the country in training and leadership, in unifying methods and program in organizing new work and giving general supervision to the work through their employed staff. The local unit holds its own property and conducts its own work in line with the general spirit and purpose of the work as a whole. Each local association has official representation on the National Council.

The general secretary is a trained association leader capable of giving leadership in administration, physical classes, competitive games, swimming and life-saving, boys' work, social activities and is able to conduct discussion groups on life problems. He gladly co-operates in all worthy community enterprises to the limit of his time and ability. He counts heavily on the individual and group assistance of the members in order to make the work effective.

The association in action not only provides constructive character building activities for the leisure time of the young people but provides a virtual school of training in worth while citizenship.

One basic principle in the philosophy of the Y. M. C. A. program is that "Prevention is better than cure." The slogans "Safety First," "Watch your step," have not only saved millions of dollars but thousands of human lives. It is believed to be a bigger thing to keep boys and girls and young men and women straight than to mend them up after their lives have been broken.

The association work has assisted thousands of men to get back to a life of purity, honor and usefulness but some think its greatest achievement has been in capturing the permanent interest of the boys and young men of Canada in the things which really matter in life such as: health, a clean mind in a clean body sport for sport's sake, team play, co-operation, supplementary education through night schools, debating, public speaking, prescribed reading, unselfish service and practical Christian behaviour.

A leading executive officer of the Canadian National Railways a few months ago paid the following tribute to the work of the Y. M. C. A.: "No finer investment could be made than in the Y. M. C. A. for results in personality. The value of the Y. M. C. A. cannot be estimated in dollars and cents and the return in better morals is invaluable. The Y. M. C. A. should be given every possible support. The half of what the Y. M. C. A. has done will never be written. We are always ready to support the Y. M. C. A."

The opportunity and challenge confronts the citizens of all our towns and cities to make an investment in building permanent citizenship, which will reflect honor and credit on them and on which they will look back with satisfaction and pride.

The value of Materials used annually in the Fish Canning & Curing Establishments of Canada is about $20,000,000.

SEMI-FINAL INTERESTING

A lot of interest is being taken in the five-round semi-final bout tomorrow night at the Empress Social Club Arena between Pete Holm and Abe Dutton. Holm won many followers for the smart fight he put up against Docherty recently, and the Dutton also made a big hit with the fans when he scored a sensational knockout over an experienced sailor here last summer.

This bout should produce five rounds of fast milling and may prove to be one of the most exciting on the card.

SPORT CHAT

"Snapper" Garrison, famed turf figure who died in New York on October 23, was widely known as a "sport" who would "shoot the works" if he believed his horse was right. There is a story which has been told about "Snapper" Garrison for a decade or more, which gives an insight into his sporting nature. Snapper was broke, so the tale goes—at least he was down to his last three dollars. It was at a racing meet somewhere. The famous old jockey was going toward a telegraph booth at the track to "wire off" for some money. Just then a friend happened to spot him and whispered in his ear: "Snapper, I've got something hot for the next race. Do you want to be in on it?"

"Nope," Garrison replied, "I'm cleaned. Got to use this last three bucks to get a wire off for some money." But his friend insisted that he had a sure thing at long odds. "Why," he told Garrison, "this may get you a hundred to one. Put your three bucks in and trail along with me." Snapper walked with his pal to a booth. He asked what the odds were on this certain horse to win. "Aw," the bookie snarled, "I'll lay you a million to one on that dog." And sure enough, according to the yarn, Snapper got his ticket for three bucks with the unheard of odds of $1,000,000 to $1, scribbled on the face of it.

The race was on. "They're off," the crowd moaned. The favorite took the lead. Snapper's nag was left at the post momentarily.

"Oh-h," groaned Snapper and his partner. They turned to go under the stands to a lunch stand. The friend was going to stand the treats. "Wait a minute," his friend said, grabbing Snapper by the arm. "Look at this." Snapper was unimpressed. "Come on, let's get a bite," he said. "Man alive," his pal yelled, "look at him go." Still Snapper was unimpressed. "He's gaining. He's in fourth place, he's second, coming into the stretch. Snapper, look at that dog jope." But still Garrison showed no enthusiasm.

The horse won by a length. Garrison and his pal were at the rail, but the pal was the only one doing any real shouting. Snapper and his chin in his hands as he watched the ponies come back to the judges' stand. He was still unimpressed. "Hey, fellow," his partner roared, "you haven't lost your ticket, have you?" "No," replied Snapper disconsolately. But he still wasn't exuberant. "But," he added as he walked away in disgust, "it would be just my luck to catch a million to one shot, and only three bucks to bet on him."

SKIDEGATE, Nov. 20.—A. R. Mallory motored down from Port Clements and paid a brief visit to Queen Charlotte City, returning to Port Clements the same day.

Improvements At Hospital

House Committee Report Last Night Told of Work That Had Been Done

Reporting for the house committee at last night's meeting of the hospital board Ald. W. M. Brown announced that a tender of $62.35 from Alex Mackenzie for three dozen blinds had been accepted. This tender was the lowest.

A new 183-gallon domestic water boiler had been installed the committee reported.

Trouble had developed in one of the water sterilizers in the operating room and, while temporary repairs had been made, it would be necessary to obtain a new filter. The secretary was authorized to purchase the filter.

An automatic door stop had been installed on the front door.

The committee reported that all tenders for the proposed new lighting system in the operating room were not yet in.

A suggestion from Frank Dibb that new castors should be obtained for many of the beds in the hospital was passed on to the house committee. Steps are already being taken by the managing secretary to rectify this.

Compensation Is Discussed

Hospital Board Is In Receipt of Communication Setting Operation of Act Out In Detail

Workmen's Compensation Board cases were again discussed at last night's meeting of the hospital board following the reading of a circular letter from the board in which details of regulations required under the operation of the Act were clearly set out. In connection with hospitalization for workmen, strict economy and efficient treatment were the prime requisites as far as the benefits of the Act were concerned. Under the Act, if it were not necessary for the workman to have hospital treatment, then he should not be in the hospital. Neither would compensation be paid if a person remained unduly long in hospital.

Ald. S. D. Macdonald did not think that any workmen would wish to stay in hospital after such time as treatment became no longer necessary. At the same time, a patient should be fully recovered before being discharged under the Act.

After further discussion, the communication was filed for future reference.

There is about $35,000,000 invested in Cold Storage Canning & Curing Plants for Fish in Canada. Of this about $20,000,000 is invested in British Columbia, and about $12,000,000 in Prince Rupert District.

New Auxiliary For Hospital Board's Wish

The matter being brought up by R. E. Benson, the Hospital Board last night, on motion of G. V. Wilkinson, seconded by R. E. Benson, passed a resolution to the effect that any move on the part of ladies to resume an auxiliary in connection with the Prince Rupert General Hospital would be welcomed.

In bringing the matter up, Mr. Benson said he would like to know why the former auxiliary had disbanded.

Other directors were unable to say why the old auxiliary had disbanded. All, however, acknowledged the valuable work it had done for the hospital. The view was generally expressed that a new auxiliary organization would certainly be welcome.

Miss Jean Harrison R.N. referred to the good work that certain I. O. D. E. chapters were doing to assist the hospital.

Finally the resolution welcoming any new women's auxiliary movement was passed.

Hospital Surplus During October

During the month of October, receipts of the Prince Rupert General Hospital totalled $6,248.30 while disbursements amounted to $5,705.19, leaving a surplus of $543.11. It was reported to the hospital board last evening by the finance committee. During the month there were 1557 hospital days at a cost of $3.66 per hospital day.

Mrs. Wm. Kinnig, R.R. No. 1, Guelph, Ont., writes:—"For years I suffered with rheumatism, and my hands and feet used to swell so at times, I could hardly walk, and could not sleep or rest for the pain. I used different kinds of medicine but got nothing to do me any good until a friend told me to take Burdock Blood Bitters. Now I have no more pains and the rheumatism is all gone."
