TOLMIE DENIES BEER ALLEGATION OVER THOUSAND DEAD IN NEW ZEALAND AFTER 'QUAKE

Charge That Breweries Are In Control of Government Causes Resentment On Part of Tolmie

Vancouver Province Editorial Arouses His Chagrin—Declares That Whole Policy is to Give Province Best Article Under Best Conditions

VICTORIA, Feb. 5.—Answer has been given by Premier S. F. Tolmie to suggestions contained in an editorial of the Vancouver Province yesterday to the effect that the beer interests of British Columbia were in control of the government. The Premier said: "The policy of the Liquor Control Board in respect to the purchasing of beer is being worked out with the one object of providing the best possible commodity to the public under the best conditions of manufacture and sale. In such a policy there will be interests and individuals who will not agree. The idea, however, is to evolve the very best possible for British Columbia as a whole. I must in most unqualified terms express my personal resentment at the suggestion contained in the Province editorial that beer or any other interests control me or the government, over which I have the honor to preside."

Death Toll Mounts In Napier and Hastings As Each Hour Passes

Complete Evacuation of City Being Speeded Up as Fresh Temblors Occur—Two Women Found Buried Alive in Building

NAPIER, New Zealand, Feb. 5.—With every passing hour, the death toll from Tuesday's earthquake and tidal wave disaster is mounting. Tonight Red Cross officials placed the number of dead in Napier, Hastings and surrounding towns and villages at more than one thousand. Other thousands suffered injuries and practically every one is homeless.

Rescue workers tonight found two women alive in a ruined house where they had been imprisoned since Tuesday morning. Frightened by new tremors which toppled buildings about the heads of rescue squads, the authorities today speeded up complete evacuation of Napier. Inhabitants are being rushed to camps in the surrounding country where they can be cared for until sanitary conditions are restored here and the dangerous buildings levelled.

HASTINGS, Feb. 5.—Another sharp earthquake rocked the ruins of this town at 10 o'clock tonight, throwing an already frightened populace into further panic. Martial law has been declared and no one is allowed to enter the business district without a permit.

'HOLE TRIP' AGREEMENT

Arrangements Made Here Are Satisfactory to Boat Owners and Fishermen

Halibut boat owners and fishermen of Prince Rupert have practically come to an agreement on the matter of "hole" bills which, it is reported, is proving quite a vexed question in Seattle and threatens to precipitate a strike on the part of the fishermen there. The agreement here is that, when three weeks or more has been lost by shipwreck or for other cause, the boat will stand the whole loss. If there should be a delay of under three weeks, then the fishermen would take their part of the loss in proceeds.

Jones, city solicitor, prosecuted in the cases and A. M. Manson, K.C., acted as defence counsel. QUESTIONS OF CLIMATE

The climate of other places usually seems to be better than our own, no matter where we live. We have heard a great deal about the California climate yet a despatch received yesterday states that it has rained there almost all winter and rained hard. The climate of Southern Europe is also looked upon as about the finest in the world, yet Morte Craig, who has been visiting there, says that while he was in the south of France and in Genoa the climate was much like that in Prince Rupert at this time of year.

This has been a pleasant winter in Prince Rupert except for the extra supply of moisture. The coal bills have been kept down through the absence of cold weather and spring will be along in a few weeks.

THAT WORD "SWELL"

"Our idea of a swell novel" is the comment of the Chicago Tribune on a certain new book, says The Ubysey, the student publication of the University of B.C. Coming from a responsible and respected newspaper, the choice of language is somewhat startling. The prestige of the Chicago Tribune gives a certain weight to such radicalism and we hesitate before condemning it utterly.

One of the chief virtues of the English language is its flexibility and its power to adapt itself to changing conditions. New words are constantly being incorporated into the language as the need arises. The only question is, where to stop.

Up to the present "swell" has been considered a vulgarity used only by the uncultured. Apparently efforts are now being made to raise it to the dignity of established usage. The word's fitness for this position may be questioned but the final test rests with the function it performs. If "swell" fills a genuine gap in the vocabulary then one is reactionary, and indeed attempting the impossible, to deny it a place. If it is superfluous it will be so much deadwood and will soon be discarded. No harm, therefore, and possibly some benefit may result from the experiment.

Morte Craig Visits Rome, Sees the Catacombs, Looks Into Crater of Vesuvius and Inspects Pompeii

(By Morte Craig)

Rome at last, everlasting, beautiful and eternal Rome! With her 800,000 people camped upon her storied seven hills, and with the rays of her passed splendor all scattered through her present beautifully paved and sumptuous streets—Rome! How often has the word thrilled boys and girls in the days of their Latin!

Hard boiled brokers would weep back home if they could only see the square on square of priceless property sifted all through the city, vacant, and yet there is much virtue in their madness. There never was a people who loved and venerated their dead like the Italians. You find it everywhere, but from a western standpoint of wasted values they let too much valuable land go idle. The city remains the mecca of the tourist and traveller who crowd the streets the year through, leaving tons of compensating gold. The hills outside the walls of the city are covered with delightfully detached private villas, stretching miles in every direction, and the magnificent buildings within the city will hold their own in all the modern world, with the intensely interesting addition of thousands of monoliths and marble statues of the old masters, stolen from Nero's Golden Palace and Gardens, and hundreds of patrician homes and buildings of days when ancient Rome was in her triumph and glory.

As an example, I just came from a building with twenty-four life marble statues of passed emperors, heroes, gods, etc. decorating its outside walls. In sailing in on the blue Mediterranean I lost one of my illusions which I am sure has been shared by all the western world, and that was the weather. The south of France, Genoa, and the Riviera generally are very cold, and even Rome and Naples, hundreds of miles farther south, have been wearing heavy winter wraps during the four January days that I have been here, including Naples eight days, and both towns are full of prosperous looking fur-shops. In all honor the general climate north of San Francisco on the Pacific Coast is fully as mild as Rome.

There are only two kinds, or names for money in Italy and for that reason it is easily understood—the lire and the parts of a lire. The lire is the price mark on everything—even to property or diamonds worth tens of thousands and its value is five cents. Then it is divided up into copper and nickle pieces called centimes and it takes one hundred of them to make a lire, so that 5 centimes is worth in our money exactly one-twentieth of five cents and yet it has a buying power.

Sightseeing Tour

Let me tell you what I have done in my first four days in Rome. I arrived on January 13 and was met and placed in the Savoie Hotel by the American Express Co. who courteously meets you on request, looks after your baggage and every arriving detail, with no charge for their services and remembering the message of defiance which Spartacus, the gladiator, hurled at Rome: "I will pay thee back until the River Tiber is red as frothing wine, and in its deepest ooze thy life-blood lies curdled!"

I honored it first and followed its beautifully walled - in course through the entire heart of the city, lined on both sides with massive ancient and modern buildings and ruins and bridged on every block by fine stone bridges carved and bearing marble statues. The next day, in a quaint little barouche, where the step dips low and the wheels are but two feet in diameter, drawn by a splendid horse, my guide and I visited the—to me—next place of importance, the Coliseum, a splendid ruin, saw the arena where they were crucified and where gladiators where the victims and lions were held, the entrances from them into the arena, the seats of the sacred vestals and the emperors and nobles, and seats for 50,000 of the populace, took in the sacred temple of the vestals where they lived and kept trimmed the never falling sacred lamps, Nero's famous Golden Palace and Gardens where he burned and crucified to entertain his guests, the vast and wonderfully constructed forum and many nearby palaces of the Roman nobles, saw the alleged footprints of Christ, when he materialized on the Applan Way and met Peter, who had suddenly acquired a couple of cold feet and was beating it out of Rome, when the Saviour said: "Domine, quo vadis?" Understand me, I do not question the meeting and things said, but the exact spot of meeting, the building of the chapel over the roadway and the preserving of the footprints.....

The Catacombs

The next place of interest to me was the Catacombs—it is an experience to be remembered. The Frappist Monk will furnish you with a wax taper, for which you pay him three lire, and you will need it as much as you need the service of the Monk. As you descend into the subterranean galleries you could explore them for, marvellous as it may seem, 600 miles, two or three of which was enough for me, and you will find the passages scarcely three feet wide with niches cut out of the solid rock for the bodies of the early Christians, and were begun in the life of the Apostles. We entered the home of Peter and Paul who undoubtedly lived down there, having secret entrances unknown to the authorities who believed the Catacombs to be the cemetery of the Christians and hence were never disturbed because the law of the Pagan Roman rulers respected the dead. An inspection of even a few of these galleries leaves one amazed at the industry of the early Christians. By the flickering light of our tapers one could see the bones. And in the chapel overhead are wonderful things on exhibit found in the underground chapels and homes also long wordy inscriptions undoubtedly written by the Apostles and Christians.

There is also an exquisitely grand statue of Saint Cecilia who Almachius ordered to be put in a boiling bath: to her it was only cool and refreshing; and they tried to behead her. The swordsman failed in three strokes: and the law did not permit a fourth. The story of the recumbent statue is all there painted on a fresco. You also find down in the galleries symbolic paintings of the rock that Moses struck, the triumph of Daniel, the resurrection of Lazarus and many others dated Anno III-VII, and as early as that.

The Trappist Monk is a mild voiced German. He said he had learned the English language in three weeks. (Now, I am fairly credulous and reasonably Christian but withal a trifle stupid and hardboiled. However, these wonderful statements should not be sprung on me all in a heap. I have got to have time to "hear, ponder and digest," and you know, a—on, well, our language is a pretty hard nut for a German Monk of the present epoch to crack in three weeks, so I just sit on the fence.

He was very nice though, and told us some very interesting stories as he interpreted endless inscriptions but some way you are haunted by the uncanny effect which your flickering torch has on your nerves and you are glad to get back again into God's fresh air and sunshine.

Looking Into Hell

This hurried description is hardly intelligible, one could take the matter of the Catacombs and the Applan Way and leisurely write for hours and then not tell the half of an interesting story. Let me step back a moment and visit Naples, Pompeii and Vesuvius, and exhibit sufficient to lure one fully half way round the world.

The funicular railway takes you up within a few hundred feet. Take the path which leads you to the very lip of the crater and you will find yourself looking down into the half-mile mouth of Hell. It was a gloomy day, a cloud had settled below us, completely shutting out the world. The smoke and steam hung over us. You may boast, but there are certain moments in one's life when superstition gets him in spite of all. To read Pliny the Younger's description of the great eruption in A.D. 79 when Pompeii was completely covered with ashes, then followed centuries of forgetfulness. It had been the summer resort of the nobles of Rome. The remains now cover four square miles and under the wonderful rule of Mussolini the government is still excavating.

I saw great malled chests—now emptied—which were found full of enormous value in money and jewels, piles of kitchen utensils, stoneware, charred clothing and reproduced bodies of women and children. The heavy weight of ashes had covered them with so solid a

Protect Your Breadwinner's Job!

Are you one of those whose lot in life consists in looking after the home?

If so, unless you happen to be among the fortunate ones who have means of their own, you are dependant upon some one—husband, father, brother, sister, son, daughter—to provide you every week with the money you must have to pay the grocer, the butcher, the baker, the milkman, the druggist, the dry goods merchant, and all the other dealers for the things you have to order from day to day.

It would be a terrible thing, wouldn't it, if next week your house allowance were suddenly to be shut off! Yet that is what might happen if your breadwinner were unexpectedly to lose his business, or his job!

Are you doing everything you could do—everything you should do—to spare yourself a misfortune of that kind?

Your breadwinner may be a professional man, or he may be in business as a merchant, or as a farmer. If so, he wants customers, more and more of them—the kind who pay their bills regularly in cash. Isn't there something you might be doing to help those customers, so that they in turn could do more business with him?

Some of them are probably growing or making things of the kind you have to order from day to day. So long as such things find a buyer, their jobs are secure. But if they should fail to find a buyer, for no better reason perhaps than that you and other women thoughtlessly allow yourselves to be sold articles that have been imported, they lose their jobs, in which event your breadwinner loses them as customers. And naturally you don't want that to happen!

Or perhaps your breadwinner is himself an employee. If he is, the safety of his job depends upon there being plenty of people, who are steadily employed at good wages, to whom his employer can cater. Obviously there will be more of such people, the more you and your friends see to it that for your daily needs you buy things that have been produced right here in Canada. Because when you forget and buy an article that has been made in some other country, you are depriving some one of a job in this country.

Other women, everywhere in Canada, are being urged to protect the job of your breadwinner by always giving a Canadian made article preference over one that has been imported. Won't you do the same for their breadwinners, and incidentally make your own income that much more secure?

Very sincerely yours,

H. H. Stevens
Minister of Trade and Commerce.

A. M. Manson, K.C., will sail tonight on the Prince George for a trip to Vancouver.

John Berg, for having stolen a sack of coal from Philpot & Evtitt's, was fined $10, with option of fourteen days' imprisonment, in city police court yesterday afternoon.

Dale L. Pitt, general manager of the Premier Gold Mining Co., will be a passenger aboard the Prince George this evening enroute to Vancouver and other points in the south.

Including initiation of candidates for membership, business at a meeting of the Elks' Lodge last night was merely of routine nature. Exalted Ruler George Mitchell presided.

In the letter written by Barrie's Home Furnishings published in last evening's paper the retail price of 20c per square yard for linoleum was mentioned. This should have read 50c. per square yard.

C.N.R. steamer Prince John, Captain Neil McLean, arrived in port at 8.30 this morning from Vancouver via the Queen Charlotte Islands. The vessel will be here until Saturday night when she will return south over the same route.

Emil St. Goddard Repeats His Dog Derby Feat of Last Year At Ottawa; Russick is Second

OTTAWA, Feb. 5.—Emil St. Goddard of The Pas, Man., yesterday repeated his victory of last year in the Ottawa International Dog Derby by capturing $1000 first prize money and the Chateau Laurier Gold Challenge Cup. Shorty Russick of Cranberry Portage won yesterday's lap in three hours, nine minutes and 44 seconds, more than three minutes better than St. Goddard's time, but the lead held by the latter from previous heats was enough to give him the victory.

St. Goddard's elapsed time for the 10-mile route was nine hours, 18 minutes and 42 seconds. Russick was almost four minutes behind.

LECTURES ON MINING

Good Audiences Hear Talks by Dr. W. V. Smitheringale

About 25 persons were present at Dr. W. V. Smitheringale's mining lecture yesterday afternoon. The speaker's subject related chiefly to copper ores and types of occurrence. These, in addition to the native or practically pure metal, are chalcopyrite, bornite, chalcocite, covellite, tetrahedrite, tennantite, enargite, malachite, azurite, chrysocolla and cuprite.

Each variety was described by the speaker and specimens were passed about. Meteoric and hydrothermal types of metal deposition were explained. Contact metamorphic ore deposits were also referred to. By a free use of the blackboard the relative properties of metal potent percentage, hardness and specific gravity were placed before his hearers. These properties, in turn, were referred to in describing other more or less important features of the various ores or minerals with copper as a chief content.

At the close of the lecture a number of questions were asked. These developed still further effort on the part of the speaker to throw more light on the subject. Among other topics were the processes of metal deposition, the solvent agencies of surface and primary (magmatic) water as they bear the minerals in solution on and on and whether by an upward and compelled flow or by the familiar movement of streams or groundwater, the mighty forces forever straining and which have for ages disturbed the earth's crust, the question of magmatic fusion of the crust and like topics.

Evening Lecture

About 40 listeners were present to hear Dr. Smitheringale's discourse on rock classification in the evening. He took his hearers with him in a brief and instructive manner through descriptions of the great rock or earth crust divisions, viz: igneous, sedimentary and metamorphic. He reviewed with them the acid, intermediate and basic sub-classification of igneous rocks, developing the ideas concerning crystallization, fine granular mass, the variations of temperature, and rapidity of change, the so-called flow rocks corresponding to the intermediates and basics and other interesting phases.

Under the head of sedimentaries, descriptions of conglomerate, sandstones, shales, limestones and other rocks of similar origin followed by descriptions of origin of and forces that produce the familiar class of rocks known as the metamorphics among which are quartzites, schists and gneisses.

Questions that followed related to the formation of quartz veins, the matter of discoloration by foreign matter. Other questions related to argillaceous rocks, etc.

Very great interest was shown. In the audience were men of varied experience and age and training and a little more of the story of the rocks was told.

IS MADE OFFICER

W. Fidler Now Lieutenant of Sea Cadets—Annual Meeting Held Last Night

A very interesting event took place last night at the weekly parade of the Sea Cadets. This was the presentation of his commission as sub-lieutenant to W. Fidler Jr. T. H. Johnson, chairman of the Prince Rupert branch of the Navy League, addressed the Cadets and explained the manner in which Lieut. Fidler received the appointment. He complimented Lieut. Fidler on his new rank. The warrant of appointment was then presented to Lieut. Fidler by the officer commanding, Lieut. Blance, who expressed his pleasure in having Mr. Fidler as his sub-lieutenant. He also explained to the boys how their attitude must now change to the lieutenant owing to his change in rank.

Petty Officer Instructor Young also explained in a few well chosen words his appreciation of Mr. Fidler's promotion as he had had a great deal to do with his training. Lieut. Fidler being one of the first cadets to enroll in this unit. After the cadets were dismissed by Lieut. Fidler, the annual meeting of the Navy League was held, being fairly well attended. The affairs of the branch were found in very good condition, the membership showing a substantial increase over last year.

After the transaction of the routine business, the officers of 1930 were re-elected with the addition of F. A. MacCallum and L. H. Haworth to the executive.

A vote of thanks from the Navy League was extended to Mr. and Mrs. Young—Mr. Young for his untiring and efficient work in training the cadets and Mrs. Young for her efforts in making the boys feel at home in the headquarters and her help in any social affairs put on by the cadets. Lieut. Hume was thanked for his co-operation in allowing the unit the use of the R. C. N. V. R. premises and equipment. T. H. Johnson gave an account of the annual meeting of the Navy League in London, Eng., which he was able to attend.

The chairman's report covering 1930 was as follows:

"It is with much pleasure that for the third time I submit a brief report of the activities of the Prince Rupert Branch of the Navy League of Canada.

"I think we have good grounds for satisfaction in the progress which this branch of the Navy League of Canada has made during the past year. We made a special effort to increase the membership, and at the present time we have 65 members in good standing, which is a substantial increase over the membership at our last annual meeting. The meetings of the executive committee have been well attended and much enthusiasm has been shown in the affairs of this branch of the Navy League of Canada. Our secretary, W. O. Vigar, has continued to give his time and secretarial ability throughout the year with the only hope of reward in the knowledge of the work being well done. Phillip M. Ray continues to hold himself in readiness to supply books and magazines to the officers and crews of deep-sea vessels which from time to time, visit this port.

"The work in connection with the Prince Rupert Sea Cadet Corps ("Captain Cook") continues to be our chief activity. Lieutenant R. Blance is still in charge of this work and continues to give freely of his time, and both the Prince Rupert Branch of the Navy League of Canada, as well as the personnel of the Sea Cadet Corps, very much appreciate his labors in this connection.

"At the present time the strength of the Sea Cadet Corps consists of 40 boys and two commissioned officers. It is not considered advisable to increase space available in our drill hall. All the boys are in uniforms and the attendance at drills is good. The boys take a keen interest in their work and the officers have equal pleasure in giving instruction.

"Bathing parade is held nearly every Saturday afternoon in the summer months and the boys are transported in the Whaler to the Salt Lakes, adjacent to this city, with Mr. Young, Instructor for R. C. N. V. R. and Sea Cadet Corps, in charge and who take this opportu-ity of instructing the boys in boat drill.

"Owing to the fact that neither Lieut. Blance or Mr. Young were able to spare the time no camp was held during the past year. The usual tag day, however, was held, which was successful and received a sympathetic and generous support from the citizens of Prince Rupert.

"During the past year W. Fidler, jr. received his appointment as sub-lieutenant of this corps.

"It is with much pleasure that we notice from the secretary-treasurer's report that our finances are in better shape than they were last year, but we, nevertheless, look to both old and new members of this branch of the Navy League of Canada to continue their support so that the work of the organization can be carried on without interruption. The members of the Navy League of Canada hold the opinion that we are a maritime people and that sailors and ships are indispensable in the development of this country.

"In conclusion, I wish to take this opportunity of tendering to Lieut. W. Hume, Commanding Officer of the Prince Rupert Unit of the R. C. N. V. R., very best thanks of the Prince Rupert Branch of the Navy League of Canada for the use of their quarters and officers mess during the past year. I wish also to thank all the members of the executive committee for all they have done towards making the past year a successful one. This report would not be complete without a very special vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Young for their untiring labors in connection with the Sea Cadet Corps, as well as the general activities of this branch of the Navy League of Canada. Mr. Young is in charge of the actual training of the boys in the Sea Cadet Corps, and when it is remembered that they take second place for appearance, deportment and efficiency in this district, it speaks well for the abilities and the attention which Mr. Young shows in this connection. Mrs. Young is always willing to make the boys feel at home and is of considerable help on all social occasions, and her assistance is very much appreciated by the executive of this organization."

Dr. Seymour E. Traynor, physician for the Kelley Logging Co. at Selwyn Inlet, arrived in the city on the Prince John this morning from the Islands and will sail tonight on the Prince George for Vancouver where he will receive treatment at Shaughnessy Military Hospital.

Fri. & Satur. — "THE MAN FROM WYOMING"

SHE'LL MAKE SOME MAN HAPPY

Pauline M— is just a young girl—as you can tell from her letter. But she has what I wish every young girl had—a real enthusiasm for cooking, and a real cleverness in ferreting out cooking secrets.

But let me quote her own spontaneous and delightful words: "I have tried many of your recipes—salmon croquettes, creamed chicken, spinach au gratin, baked cauliflower, devil's food cake, caramel nut cake, cherry pudding and so many of them I just can't name them. They were wonderful."

"You see, we were giving a shower for a friend, and I made some of the recipes, and the people just couldn't get over how good and delicious they were, especially the caramel nut cake. They all asked me who made all that, and they said, but, boy! did they rush to me and ask how I got the recipes! I told them from Carnation Company, and they said, gee, they never knew Carnation could do so much. So you see how all my friends appreciate your delicious recipes."

Pauline knows what you should know—that Carnation Milk, being simply pure whole milk, evaporated, to double richness and "homogenized" so that the cream is broken up into finest particles and distributed through every drop, gives cooking results that even the best of bottled milk cannot equal.

USE THE SAFEGUARDED MILK

Only purest whole milk, safeguarded at the source by the strictest cleanliness in the care and in the milking of the cows, and then evaporated to double richness goes into Carnation cans. These cans are then hermetically sealed to continue the protection until Carnation reaches you. To save on butter and cream and get wonderfully fine textures, use Carnation Milk in all your cooking. (See recipe above.)
