PRINCE GEORGE ELECTION

Naturally Premier Tolmie would be very much elated over the result of the Prince George election. He looks upon it as approval of his policies but that is hardly correct. The Liberals of Prince George refused to put up a candidate, believing that the time was not opportune for a contest. Liberals of the district in many cases supported the government candidate because they saw no advantage to be gained for the constituency by having a man in opposition. In view of the fact that it cannot be very long before a general election it seemed foolish to oppose something that might be of advantage to the people of the district. C. P. Deykin came out as a Farmer-Labor candidate in opposition to the government and doubtless was supported by a good many Liberals. Some Liberals did not vote at all and others voted for Dr. Alward.

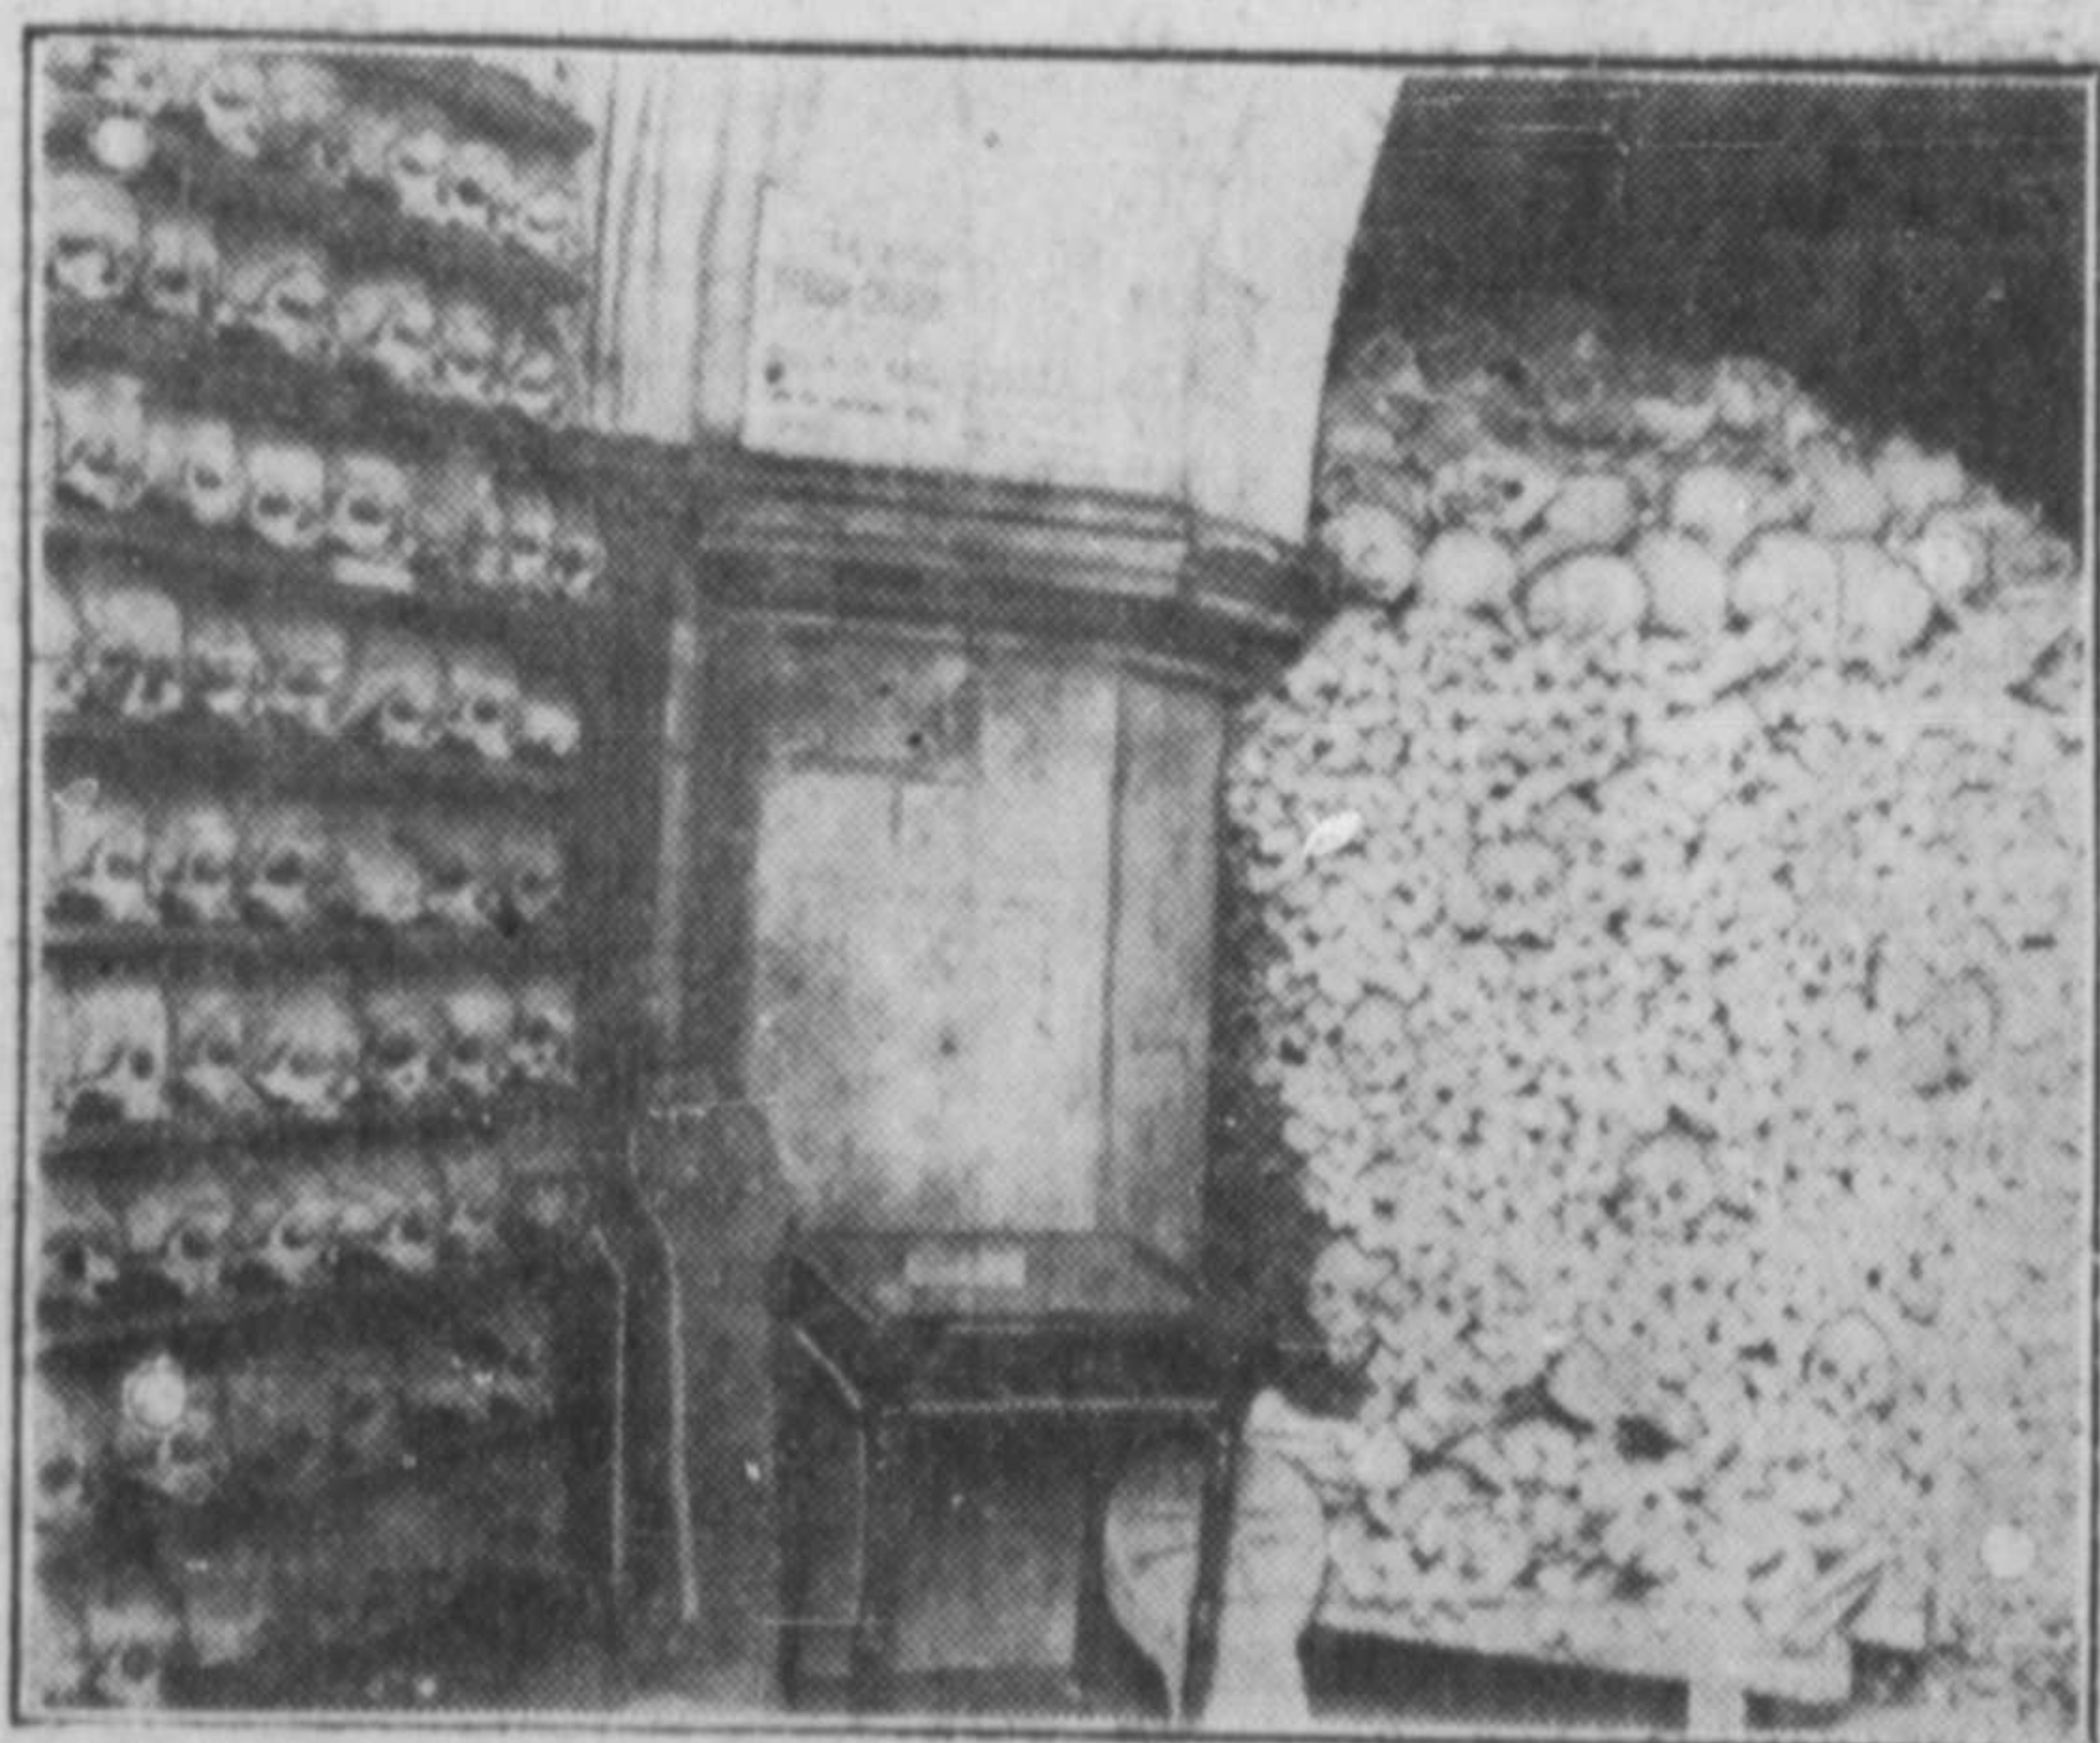

DEVELOPING PEACE RIVER

Almost any policy of any party which would tend to develop the Peace River country and Central British Columbia would receive the approval of the people. Dr. Tolmie has had many proposals for the private exploitation of the country and we are glad to know that they are not being entertained but that he is turning to the two big railway companies as the best means of securing permanent relief. Railways are national undertakings and as such should receive national support. A number of small railways cannot give the service to the country that can be secured from the older and larger systems.

In view of the Premier's pronouncement we expect to see some action taken at the forthcoming session of Parliament looking to the opening up of the Peace with western outlets.

LENGTH OF LETTERS

In another column we publish a letter written by Mike Anderson on his favorite theme. It is only because we know Mr. Anderson and like him that we were willing to publish so long a letter. We shall not do it again. He must cut his correspondence to a reasonable length and so must all others. People do not care to read long letters. Several short letters fill the same purpose and are much more desirable from a newspaper point of view. It is our duty to protect our readers against being bored.

The Letter Box

REORGANIZE SOCIETY OR HAVE SOCIALISM. IS WRITER'S ADVICE

Editor, Daily News:—
Glancing over the "Abuse of Credit," in the Daily News of January 6, I was impressed by a possibility of error in the analysis of "bad times, or the innumerable series of events leading up to and resulting in bad times, i.e. the present business stagnation."

You say: "Abuse of credit is exemplified by reckless buying of cars, pianos, etc., by the people who, when overtaken by possible stringency, followed by decreased earnings, fall to make payments due on the articles purchased. Pressure from wholesaler upon the merchant brings in its wake tightening of the business relations."

This summary, or interpretation of the "Abuse of Credit" has a conclusion implying that the people are the starting point of the bad times bringing it about by abuse of credit facilities and the merchant exposed to the pressure from the wholesaler is the one made to suffer. True enough the last part of the article under discussion credits people with ability to readjust themselves to the altered conditions and to be the starting point in the revival of business activities.

I would like to point out that the merchants are a part of the people and are more likely to indulge in buying of cars and other things of comfort and luxury than the working class and especially that section of working class which is subjected to the misery of unemployment and are the real sufferers right now.

While a large portion of the people allow themselves to be led by alluring advertisements into ridiculous gamble with capitalistic stocks, the originators of this criminal gamble are often what are known to be the pillars of society, the highly cultured individuals possessing air of respectability and who, by the use of their financial powers artificially create and magnify inflations and then deflations the contributory factors to the present stagnation.

Obnoxious Profits

Abuse of credit is practised by the same men—the bankers, brokers and the big industrialists who, while chasing after their obnoxious profits, have diverted large portions of financial facilities from the productive and distributive industries into processes of legalized robbery known as bull market of New York Exchange.

The other point of credit ramifications is the unprecedented prosperity (Coolidge prosperity) launched in U.S. on the basis of the installment plan, by the bankers, brokers and big manufacturers three years ago. It was not the people who have indulged in the excessive buying due to good times; on the contrary it was the credit facilities artificially stimulated by big business, the high pressure salesmanship and extensive advertisements that have led people to avail themselves of the easy buying. Of course this Coolidge prosperity, like any other capitalistic prosperity, was designed and did benefit big business at the expense of the ordinary people resulting in accumulation of additional and surplus wealth in the hands of big business while people, especially the unemployed section of them, haven't got enough to eat. This prosperity coming to its natural end was another contributory factor for present depression.

But I fail to understand that the tightening of the business relations could be caused by failure on the part of the people to meet payments due on the articles bought on time, especially, as the articles enumerated, with the exception of cars, are not the bulk of business transactions.

On the other hand, it is undeniable that this discontinuation of payment by the people is reacting on the general business and in turn aggravates the stagnation.

However, the business depression has got to occur first and then becomes the very cause of the failures.

To establish validity of the above contentions it is necessary to analyze the business cycle in the light of its motive force. This motive force is the economic necessity at present, having been naturally evolved in the process of evolution of human society, without any interference on the part of imaginary devils, or gods, or deliberate plans on the part of capitalists, but blundered into by the same humans while in the struggle for existence, each one occupying oneself, in an endeavor to satisfy one's biological needs and functions and while under the dominant urge of self-preservation.

To illustrate the meaning of the above observation, I would point out the blunderings of alchemists, and astrologists who, while under all sorts of queer notions, like production of life elixir, philosopher's stone, ascertaining of human destiny by interpretations of imaginary meanings and connections between the stars and constellations and their significance, have blundered into laying down of broad foundations for the wonderful sciences of present chemistry and astronomy without a preconceived plan, nor having had that object in view.

As alchemists, motivated by their desire to produce elixir of life, have blundered into the process of chemical reactions, acquired knowledge of conditions necessary for chemical combinations (by the way, there is an article in the Scientific American of last month reporting a claim on the part of a Mexican scientist as having produced a living protoplasm) so have the capitalists, actuated and driven by the only incentive of making profits, have blundered into discovery and perfection of mass production and it remains for society to emancipate itself from the fetters of capitalistic motive—the profit just like scientists have emancipated themselves from the queer notions of alchemists, etc., and to inaugurate production for use with equitable system of distribution.

Profit the Basis

So coming back to the analysis of the business cycle, I would remark that the motive force under the present system and underlying the business cycle is profit; and profits are realized at the time when commodities are sold and, since the profits have got to be realized in order to continue the production under the present system, the conditions for competitive attitude and activities on the part of bankers, and manufacturers are brought into existence and, judging by numerous business failures, mergers and absorptions amounts to a cruel and almost unhuman scramble for profits.

As the markets are limited it remains for the bankers to finance and manufacturers to instal all the labor saving machinery available and scientific management. Since the majority of manufacturers are doing it, it becomes a race as to who will win out, as no one wants to be the hindmost to be taken care of by the devil.

Introduction of automatic machinery involves a larger initial expenditure on establishment or reorganization of going concerns, and results in squeezing out the unlucky ones on one hand and creates technological unemployment on the other.

This technological unemployment is a rather new condition since the war and is one of the reasons for stringency or diminished purchasing power of the people and therefore contributes to the failure of payments on cars, pianos, etc.

As a market's capacity to absorb goods is estimatable and limited, it becomes necessary for manufacturers to produce as quickly as possible and coupled with the increased expenditure in installations of new machinery, a larger portion of the available markets have got to be obtained by each competing manufacturer and his backing banker in order to realize a larger portion of profits necessary to cover over and to provide for further expansions.

So the logical thing to do is reorganize society on scientific basis, or deliberate introduction of socialism.

The other point that I would like to comment on is the rapidity with which people may readjust themselves to the conditions of stagnation and submit thereby to continuity of capitalist anarchy.

Mr. Baldwin of Babson's statistical bureau, during his recent visit to Toronto, addressed the Empire Club on the "Outlook For 1931," expressing his apprehension as to

These two conditions; the technological and unemployment due to

"—with all his worldly goods"

HERE, in this old strong-box, so long guarded and locked, is his "estate" . . . the "worldly goods" which he has bequeathed to her.

One by one her adviser takes out the temptingly engraved certificates and examines them. One by one he lays them down with a sorrowful shake of the head—

Slowly the truth dawns upon her. Those wonderful purchases that were to make them rich . . . independent. These speculations that were to lead them to fortune . . . many of them now are WORTHLESS!

But at the bottom of the box there lies an unpretentious document, which suddenly she recollects. It cannot have depreciated. It must still be safe and sure . . .

She reaches in and draws forth his Life Insurance Policy.

Amid the wreckage of thousands of estates, Life Insurance stands as the final and enduring refuge in time of need.

It is the one investment no man can afford to be without.

To My Fellow Citizens, Everywhere in Canada.

Ring Out the Old, Ring in the New!

Another few days and 1930, with whatever it has brought us of success or of failure, will have passed into history, and our thoughts will be centred on a new year, and on the better times we sincerely hope it has in store for us.

While the opportunities of the past are gone beyond recall, the future is ours to make of it what we will. And we can make it a far brighter, a far more prosperous future, for ourselves individually and for Canada as a whole, if we all resolve to profit by the lessons our experience has taught us.

Among those lessons, surely we have learned how dependent each of us is for his own opportunities and his own advancement upon the well-being of Canadian producers as a class, and how much better it would be for every one of us if in our daily buying we were all to favour Canadian products.

If you believe that "Produced-in-Canada" doctrine is sound common sense, that it points the logical way not only to relieve unemployment but to lay broader and deeper the foundations of our national prosperity, why not make the practice of it one of your foremost resolutions for 1931?

Celebrate the new year by ringing out old habits of carelessness in buying, and ringing in the new resolve henceforth to be studiously careful. For 1931 let this be your creed:

"I believe in Canada.

"I love her as my home. I honour her institutions. I rejoice in the abundance of her resources.

"I glory in the record of her achievements. I have unbounded confidence in the ability of her people to excel in whatsoever they undertake. I cherish exalted ideals of her destiny as a leader among world nations.

"To her I pledge my loyalty. To the promotion of her best interests I pledge my support. To her products I pledge my patronage. And to the cause of her producers I pledge my devotion."

If you are willing to embrace this creed, a copy of same artistically executed in colours, and on heavy stock suitable for use as a wall hanger or for framing, is yours for the asking. Just clip and fill in the coupon herewith. Address your envelope as shown on the coupon. Mail it without affixing stamp, for this particular letter will be carried free.

Very sincerely yours,

A. H. Stevens

Minister of Trade and Commerce.

FOOD MILEAGE

FUELING the household machine is an important item these days. After all, on the road of daily life, most of us have to get the last mile out of every dollar we spend.

High food mileage means careful buying . . . thoughtful selection of the foods that not only suit the tastes and physical needs of the family, but the pocketbook as well.

That's the value of advertising. Every day, here in your paper, are presented new and interesting food ideas. New ways of preparing old reliable favorites. New combinations of the foods the family needs . . . in ways they'll like.

Standard, unvarying quality is the outstanding feature of advertised merchandise in general . . . and of food products in particular. Quite a factor in getting high food mileage!

Read the food advertising here in your daily paper . . . it will show you the way to higher food mileage.

possible continuity of present depression during the year 1931 as the bottom level had not been arrived at.

On the other hand, it is equally possible that the present depression is the last crisis, that capitalism as a historical phase in the course of evolution of human society, is developing and if so, capitalism will be negated and the expropriators expropriated.

War is the only means that can revive business from its present stagnation and infuse a new whiff of life into what appears to be disintegrating system of the very economic foundation of human society as at present constituted. Hence it is imperative that the slogan "not a man, not a gun, not a penny for the war," that was formulated by British Labor some years ago be revived and sustained despite what is thought to be a patriotic fervor—a relic of barbarism and contemporary with intellectual adolescence of society.

Anarcho-Individualistic

Armament and munitions manufacturers with their backing bankers, while concerned over their unholy profits, are deliberately playing upon and stimulating patriotism in the minds of people accustomed to have their opinions manufactured for them, as investigations in U. S. of lobbying activities have revealed. Unless society will get organized as a social organism that would co-ordinate and subordinate all economic activities with their social ramifications of all those anarcho-individualistic men, another colossal murder is likely to sweep present civilization and, perhaps, most of us, into oblivion.

Recent press reports as to queer poisonous clouds that have occurred in Belgium and the unpublished wireless report of a similar occasion in London indicate that constant preparations are being made at the risk of hundreds of human lives for the time when the present silent struggle over markets and raw material will break out into open war and then we will have airplanes, guns and rockets scattering poisonous gas, bacilli, microbes, death rays and what-not and all for preservation of profits for a handful of capitalists.

HUNT IS DELAYED

Trouble With Exhaust Pipe Prevented Pilot Eckmann From Going North Yesterday

As Pilot Ansel Eckmann was taking off yesterday afternoon for Annette Island to continue the search there for further wreckage from Pilot Robin Renahan's plane, which is believed to have gone to the bottom thereabouts on the evening of October 28, an exhaust pipe, passing through the cabin of his (Eckmann's) plane for heating purposes, sprang a leak and started to fill the cabin with fumes. Eckmann came immediately back to his mooring at the floats of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club to have repairs made before proceeding. Air Engineer Frank Wadman hoped to have the engine ready for today when, if weather permits, another start north will be made.

If Renahan, as now seems almost certain, really did plunge into the water and go down with his plane and two companions, Eckmann is anxious to find more wreckage to definitely establish the tragedy and, if possible, to recover the bodies or some of them.

It is presumed that, as arranged for, the United States coastguard cutter Cygan started her search of the beaches of Annette Island yesterday.

The provincial police cruiser P. M. L. 8 went north today with the first load of gas she is to take to Annette Island for use of Eckmann when he makes his plane base there.

Eckmann, chief pilot for the Alaska-Washington Airways, repairs having been made to the monoplane Wrangell following the slight deflection yesterday, hopped off at noon today for Annette Island to continue his search.

One of the tires from Renahan's plane which were found on the beach will be taken up about 500 feet by Eckmann and dropped to ascertain what the effect of the fall would be upon them. The tires, so far, are still inflated and little if any damaged.

Eckmann said on leaving here today that he would establish a base on Annette Island and probably would not return here for a few days. The P. M. L. 8 left at 6 o'clock this morning for Annette Island with a full load of gas.

MEETING OF LADIES' AID

Lutheran Women Elected Officers Last Evening

The West End Lutheran Ladies' Aid held a very successful meeting at the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. H. Hanson, 216 Sixth Avenue West. The meeting opened with singing, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," by the audience. The pastor then read the First Psalm with a short discourse and then "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," was sung by the audience. A short business session followed. The following officers were elected for the year:

President, Mrs. Tom Dybhavn.
Secretary, Mrs. Hans Underdahl.
Treasurer, Mrs. M. Halding.
The retiring president, Mrs. Hanson, thanked the ladies for the co-operation received in the last year and wished them a successful year. A short program followed.

The program included the singing of "One Day When Heaven Was Filled With Thy Praise," by the audience, the reading of an impressive poem by Mrs. Mastin, "The Principle of the Sheep and the Lamb," a duet by Mrs. Murvold and Mrs. Anton Dybhavn, and a piano solo "Ase's Death" by Mrs. J. H. Hanson.

After the meeting adjourned, refreshments were served by the hostess who was assisted by Mrs. Dybhavn and Mrs. Hveding. An unusually large crowd was present.

James L. Lee, manager of the Atlin Fisheries, sailed last night on the Prince George for a trip to Vancouver.

MEASURES APPROVED

Interesting Recommendations to Be Made at Chamber of Commerce Annual Dinner

The legislative committee of the Prince Rupert Chamber of Commerce tonight will recommend at the annual dinner meeting of the board the adoption of the following recommendations:

To request the government to remove discrimination against customers of privately owned public utilities.

Improvement of the fishermen's floats at Prince Rupert.
Making it illegal to buy, sell or import spring salmon weighing less than six pounds and that all other varieties of immature salmon be also protected.

Extermination of hair seals.

The port committee will recommend the approval of improvements installed and suggested by the Department of Marine for Hecate Straits lighting with the exception that an unwatched light be placed at Gull Rock instead of El-trick Rock and also that a powerful watched light with foghorn be installed on Bonilla Island and an unwatched light on Hankin Rock.
