Second Tender for Supplies Was Accepted

City Council Holds Special Meeting to Arrange For Purchase Promptly

A special meeting of the city council was called for last night to reconsider the tenders for supply of tools for unemployment work, the contract for which had been let to Howe & McNulty. The firm had been unable to purchase the goods as specified owing to the fact that there was a great demand in the south for similar material just now. They were prepared to supply a slightly better grade at an increased price.

In view of the situation the second bid, that of Philpott, Evitt & Co., was accepted, that firm having given assurances that it can supply the goods next Wednesday. Their tender was $498.97, a few cents higher than Howe & McNulty's revised tender.

Lloyd George Calls Election "Wanton and Unpatriotic"—Urges Followers to Support Labor

London, October 10.—Defining a battle between capitalism and socialism as the broad issue of the present British election campaign and indicating a complete reorganization of the social and economic system of the country on a socialistic basis as the keynote of the Labor party's platform, Rt. Hon. Arthur Henderson, leader, issued his complete manifesto yesterday. The principal planks in the platform are:

1. Negotiations looking to cancellation of war debts and reparations between Young Plan signatories and the United States.
2. An international conference with a view to developing a uniform monetary policy.
3. Restoration of the unemployment dole to the former basis prior to recent reductions.
4. Public control of banking and credit system.

Any attempt to bolster up a bankrupt capital by a system of tariffs is repudiated.

Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, speaking from his bedside over the radio, described the present campaign as "the most wanton and unpatriotic" election into which the country has ever been plunged. He appealed to his adherents to join the Labor party in opposing the National government.

Sir Herbert Samuel, one of the Liberal leaders, stated that he was not prepared to permanently renounce the policy of free trade although he was prepared to support emergency tariff measures at this time.

BODIES ARE RECOVERED

Natives Find Bodies of Two Men Who Were Drowned Thursday at Warke Canal

The bodies of George Ryan and George Cooper, Port Simpson Indians, who were drowned on Thursday in a swift river at the head of Warke Canal when a canoe upset, were found yesterday morning by native searchers, the provincial police were informed last night.

An inquiry into the tragedy was held yesterday by the coroner at Port Simpson and it was established that the circumstances had been of an entirely accidental nature. The two men will be buried at Port Simpson.

REPORT ON CONVENTION

Ald. S. D. Macdonald Tells of Recent Vancouver Gathering

Ald. S. D. Macdonald, president of the Trades and Labor Council, presented his report on the recent Dominion convention in Vancouver to the local council Thursday night.

The report stated the convention was one of the most important and outstanding in the history of the Dominion. Over 250 delegates were in attendance, representing the trades union movement from Nova Scotia in the east to B.C. in the west.

Fraternal delegates were present from the British Trades Union Congress and from the American Federation of Labor.

Addresses were given Hon. Gideon Robertson, Minister of Labor for the Dominion, Hon. W. A. McKenzie, Provincial Minister of Labor, Hon. R. L. Maitland and Angus McInnes, M. P.

A decidedly new feature of the Congress was the presence of four Japanese delegates representing the Camp and Mill Workers' Federal Union. This organization asked that "Exclusion of Orientals" be deleted from the platform of principles. An amendment was concurred in substituting "Exclusion of all races that cannot be properly assimilated into the national life of Canada."

Resolutions on unemployment and underemployment took up the major portion of time of the convention and while many palliative measures were suggested the findings of Congress may be summed up as follows: A shorter work-week, increase in pay per hour and contributory unemployment insurance.

Resolutions Passed
The following are some of the resolutions concurred in:
Cancellation of war debts.
National Health Insurance.
National control of banking system.

Public ownership and democratic management of public utilities, present owners to be reimbursed only on actual assets regardless of watered stock.

Enactment of legislation whereby mortgage holders and landlords and municipal corporations are prevented from taking advantage of persons unable to pay.

A resolution asked that all motor transportation companies be licensed under the control of the Railway Board of Canada, and stand-

William Green Sounds Clarion Call in Fine Address in Vancouver

Canada and United States Should Court Confidence of Great Potential Markets of China, Japan and Other Asiatic Countries

VANCOUVER, Oct. 10.—Delivering before the local Canadian Club yesterday afternoon one of the most stirring speeches that has ever been heard in Vancouver, William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, sounded a clarion call for the development of trade between the North American continent and the Orient.

A crowd of listeners which crowded the Oak Room of the Hotel Vancouver and overflowed into the galleries cheered the labor leader to the echo as he developed his theme which is so close to the heart of the Pacific coast.

Declaring the greatest potential market in the world today to be in China and the rest of Asia, Mr. Green urged the confidence of the Chinese should be invited by Canada and the United States. "Fifty years from now there may be developed in the Orient a great, unsaturated market, rivalled only by our own home market in importance."

SCALING IS STILL DOWN

Production of 1931 Continues to Show Decrease From Last Year

Timber scaling for the month of August this year in Prince Rupert forestry district totalled 12,773,522 board feet as against 26,570,633 board feet in the same month last year. So far this year scaling has aggregated 70,573,588 board feet as against 112,935,134 board feet in the first nine months of 1930.

TRADES AND LABOR MEET

Objections to Dual Position Holding Compensation Scale

A representative of the Unemployed Association was present at the regular meeting of the Trades & Labor Council, Thursday evening. He complained of dual employment in the city, and asked for co-operation in the endeavor to make it so that one position is confined to one person. The meeting promised to take this matter up with the proper authorities.

A letter was read from the Workmen's Compensation Board, regarding the scale of compensation in the event of injury to men in unemployed relief. It was to the effect, that under the act, the rate will be 62½% of the present wage rate, $2.80 for married men and $2 for single men.

Criticism of the basement of King Edward High School being used as a class room, was received. The matter will be taken up with the School Board.

Election of officers was again postponed for another month.

Prince Rupert and Commission.

There is to be a commission appointed by the Federal Government to consider what action is to be taken to simplify railway matters in the country and put the business of transportation on a better basis. It has been suggested locally that when the commission is appointed a competent engineer should be engaged by the city to study the local situation and make representations with a view to having both companies use the line to Prince Rupert. The chief difficulty in doing this would be that of cost. It would probably take several thousand dollars to get a man big enough for the job.

ALL EYES ON BRITAIN

All eyes seem to be turned on Britain today where one of the greatest electoral battles of recent years is in progress. As is the case here, there will be much small talk designed to confuse the unhappy elector and many people will vote without considering the seriousness of the situation, influenced by selfish motives. On the whole, however, it is probable that a majority of the electors will judge wisely between the two opposing groups.

Prince Rupert people have varying sympathies. Speaking generally the labor people of Prince Rupert sympathize with the labor people in Britain. Others are more generally with the MacDonald Government. Happily this is one question that we can discuss without anyone feeling that there is any personal interest in the result or that we are trying to influence public opinion. Anything we may say or leave unsaid will not in the least affect the issue.

A SATURDAY SERMON

In the Right Order

Growing Spirit of Democracy Has Dissolved Much That Was Superfluous

By REV. ALFRED WILSON, First United Church

There was a time when the question of order and precedence was one that called for very careful attention at all functions of a formal character. We are not so much concerned in such details today. The growing spirit of democracy has dissolved a great deal that was superfluous along this line. On the other hand, life cannot reach its true glory and purpose without wise ordering, and putting things that are important in their proper place and trifles just where they belong.

Froude, the historian, places his finger on the weak spot of the Spanish king, Phillip II, of Armada fame, when he says that the smallest thing and the largest seemed to occupy him equally or in other words that he didn't recognize a trifle when he saw it.

In this same way the world has gone very much astray and got many things out of their proper order. One feature in the restored world will be that many things now last shall be first, and, likewise, much occupying first place today, shall be last. Surely fault of this kind rests in a degree on us all.

It is not difficult to see, that, in short, the player that puts winning the game before clean play and observance of the rules, has a false idea of sport. So the difference between religion and irreligion, between a life that is clean and helpful and a shallow selfish life, may be seen as putting secondary and subordinate things first, and thus reversing the order of being.

This is common enough in the natural tendency to put the pursuit of pleasure and happiness before duty and right principle. The Father and Creator has planned for his children all things richly to enjoy, but the sure way to miss such experience is to make a "good time" the keynote of life. Happiness never comes through it. The first consideration and aim, but more as the accompaniment and result of duty and worthy endeavor, which links up with the good and welfare of the lives of others. The most bored and disappointed folk in the world are those who put pleasure first and true living a poor second. It is so easy to define what the world or society owes us, but the better way is to approach from the other direction and hold before the mind what we owe society, in devotion to all that makes for attainment of a better world, where the human race shall rise to the plane of life of the spirit of a great family, with diversity for richness rather than strife. Exploitation and ill-will. Marcus Aurelius was right when he said the way to judge the worth of a man is by the things which come first in his life.

Human Values

So in the realm of industry and commerce, we lag behind in the place given to human values. We have of late, made extensive use of the word service, yet one of the most severe indictments of the present state of industry is that the toil of hand and brain has been capitalized more for private and personal gain than supplying human need. Bewildered thousands have asked, is man made for the machine or the machine for man? Shall the machine minister dividends and comfort for a portion of society or make possible a freer life for the whole? When men get generally make their first concern, a just social order, rather than making themselves secure in the command and possession of material resources, then only can they claim to put first things first in regard to social responsibilities and privileges.

The teaching of Jesus regarding the supreme value of human life and personality is slowly finding recognition. More concessions are necessary before the divine order of things is established and a wider application of the principle in every phrase of life and enterprise effected.

This leads to a question of perennial interest. What is the first element in a true education.

The first or supreme element in a true education is the production of character, where the individual is led to an allegiance to the moral and spiritual laws of being.

Suitable for the Family of Average Size

SMALL BUT ATTRACTIVE

There can be a great deal of character in a small home if care is taken in its design. This home has unusual features which make it distinctive in spite of its small dimensions. Over the door is a semi-circular arch supported by brackets. It harmonizes with the rest of the house and creates an inviting atmosphere at the entrance.

Shingle walls offer many possibilities in color schemes and if good quality shingles are used, provide excellent durability.

Turning our attention to the plan we see many desirable features. One side of the house is devoted entirely to sleeping quarters with a separate hall divided from the kitchen and living room effectively. There is a suggestion of roominess in the living room owing to its proportions and added sunroom. A fireplace and bookshelves form an interesting group at the opposite end of the room to the sunroom and a bay window adds interest at the side.

The size of the house does not allow for a separate dining room but the dining alcove at the end of the kitchen provides an adequate space for this purpose. Well lighted and conveniently placed, the alcove has many advantages in the small home.

There has been no need of economy in the size of the kitchen and cupboard space has been plentifully supplied. The sink is directly under the window with the built-in cabinets ranging on both sides of it. Opening into the cooler in the corner is a milk and ice box.

Without wasting space, the bedrooms, bathroom, clothes closets and stairs have been compactly arranged on the other side of the house. Tiled floor and modern fixtures enrich the bathroom. Above the wash basin is a medicine cupboard.

Although the frontage of the house is but 25 feet, there is no cramping of rooms. They are airy, well lighted and conveniently related together.

This interesting and original design would make an economical and attractive home for a family of average means.

Built-in features: Kitchen cupboards, ironing board.

Cubic Contents: 20,125 cu. ft.

Approximate Cost, $3,000.

ISLAND COAL

MORE HEAT for LESS MONEY

"NANAIMO-Wellington", or "Lady-smith", or "Comox" Coals from Vancouver Island cost this year, for No. 1 lump, $13.50 a ton. Imported lignite costs more.

The product of the Island mines yields, on the average, 13,030 B.T.U.'s * per pound where lignite coal shows only 9,840.

This means, to get the same heat, that you will use 4 shovelful of lignite to every 3 of "Nanaimo"! 4 tons instead of 3 tons!! 4 trips to the basement instead of 3!!!

However you figure it, Island Coal is your best buy because you get more heat and you pay less money.

Lief Erikson Day Observed

Concert and Social Staged by Society Last Night With Large Crowd in Attendance

Lief Erikson Day was observed last night by the local Lief Erikson Society with a concert program and social. The affair took place in the Metropole Hall and there was a large attendance including members of the society and invited friends.

There was a two-hour program which included piano and vocal solos, readings, community singing, choruses and the reading of a paper prepared by the society. Among those taking part in the program were Miss Rose Morin, Mrs. H. Dahl, M. Gunderson, Peter Lien, A. Lindseth, J. Johnson, P. Peterson and I. Fenness.

One of the features of the program was an address by B. M. Simpson on the subject of Lief Erikson, the historical Norse explorer. In the course of his remarks, Mr. Simpson also referred to present unemployment conditions.

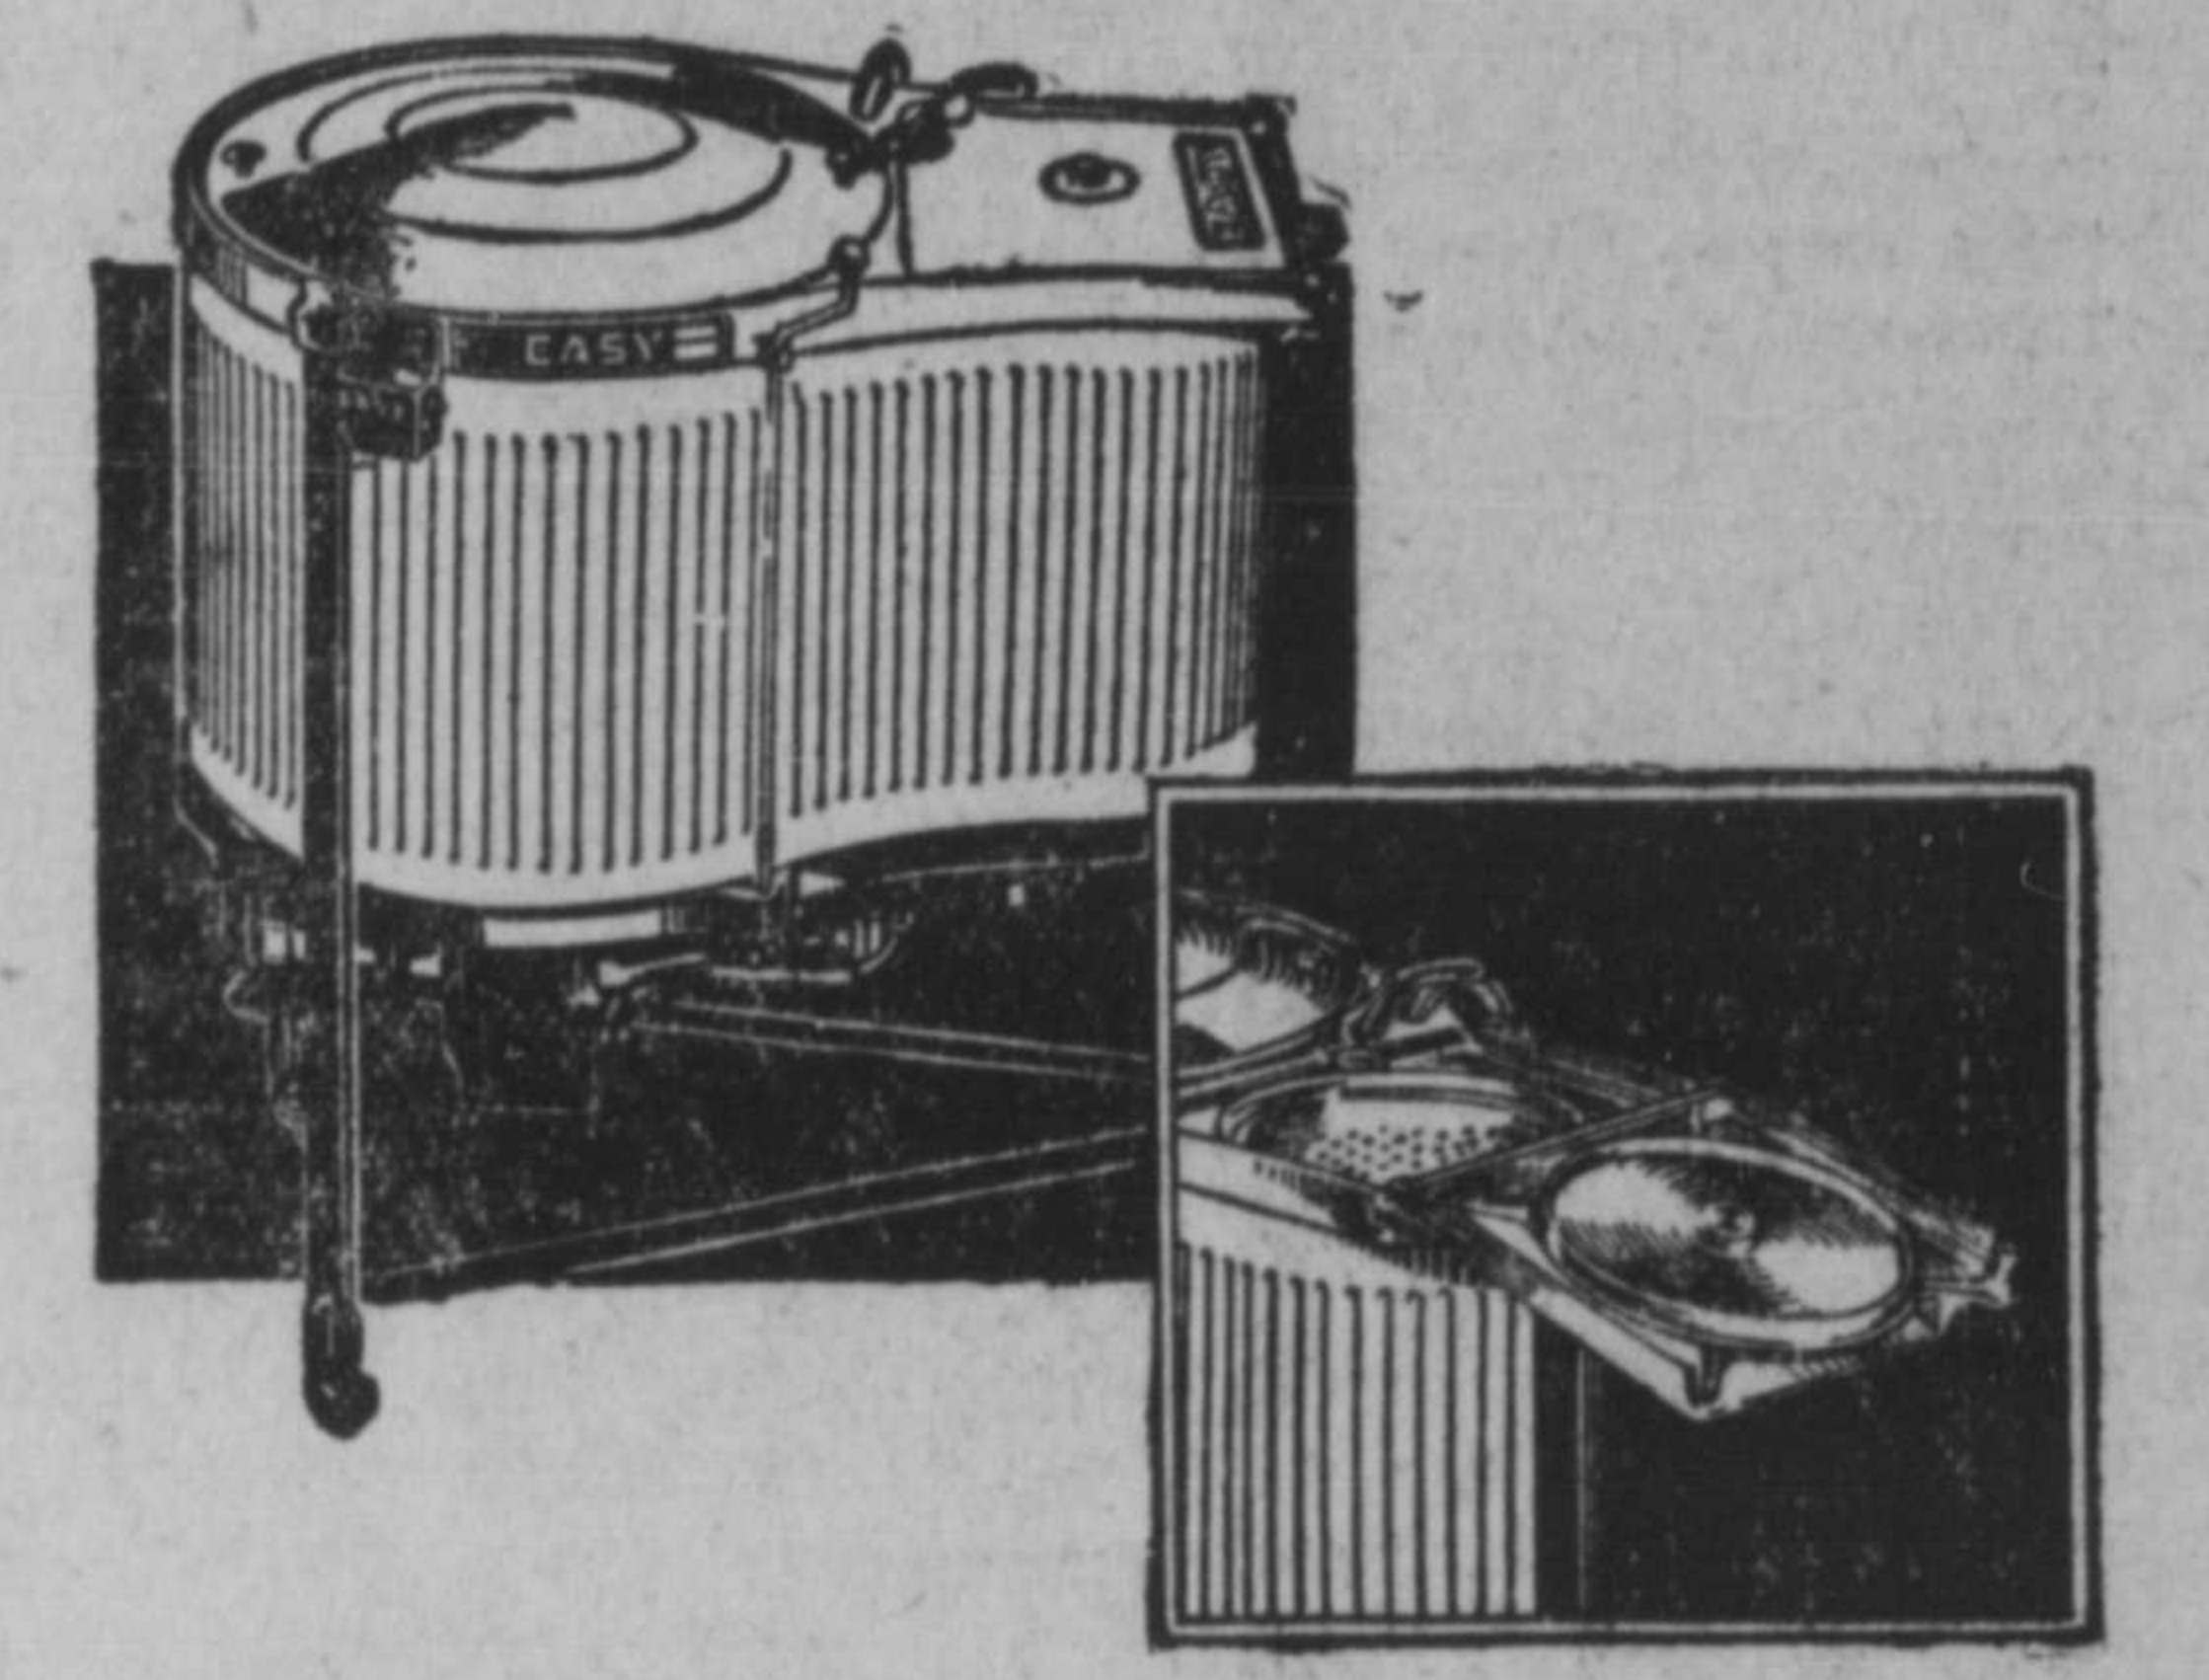

Refreshments were served before the gathering dispersed.

At a brief business meeting, the society decided to hold meetings twice a month during the winter season. Meeting nights will be the first and third Wednesdays of each month.

Grimes' Second Win

It is the first National League championship since 1926 when the Cardinals conquered the New York Yankees, then at the height of their career. It was the second victory in the series for the bewhiskered spibal veteran, Burleigh Grimes.

Withal, today's game was a masterpiece of pitching between Grimes and Earnshaw, both diamond veterans.

The most thrilling inning was, of course, the ninth when the Athletics valiantly attempted to tie or better the Cardinals' score.

Earnshaw and Walbert between them fanned four batters, while Grime's best work came in the seventh when he retired three out of four Athletic batters to face him by the strike-out route.

The final score:

Philadelphia 2 7 1

St. Louis 4 5 0

Score by innings:

High, forcing Miller at second. Williams bounced out to Gelbert. No runs, two hits, no errors.

St. Louis: The official scorer decided to give Foxx an error for his poor throw to plate in the first inning when High scored. Wilson up. He walked on four pitched balls. Gelbert fouled three times, then grounded to Dykes and into a double play. Dykes to Bishop to Foxx. Grimes fanned on three pitched balls. No runs, no hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING

Philadelphia: Earnshaw grounded out to Bottomley. Bishop up. He walked. Haas up. Strike one called. Ball two. Bishop was called off first on Wilson's quick throw. Haas fled out to Watkins, who took the ball with his back against right field wall. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: High up. He singled past Bishop. Watkins up and hit home run over right field pavilion, scoring High ahead of him. Frisch fled out to Haas. Martin popped out. Orsatti fanned on five pitched balls. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING

Philadelphia: Cochrane grounded out. Simmons up. With two strikes called, he grounded out. Foxx up. He fanned swinging. No runs, no hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Bottomley fanned swinging on three pitched balls. Wilson bounced out. Gelbert popped out to Foxx. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNING

Philadelphia: Miller up. He smashed a single to centre on first pitched ball. Dykes grounded out to Bottomley. Miller making second. Williams up. Ball one. Williams beat out high bounder to High for a single. Miller reached third. Earnshaw up. Two strikes called. He sent grounder to Frisch and into double play. No runs, two hits, no errors.

St. Louis: Grimes up. He bounced out to Dykes with two strikes called. High bounced out at first. Watkin rolled out to Foxx. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SIXTH INNING

PIPE TESTED by a TELEGRAPHER

"While working as Telegraph Operator, I could not help noticing the agent take out his pipe, fill it, and have a quiet smoke. Watching the perfect satisfaction and joy he seemed to get from this, prompted me to ask him how he could enjoy a pipe so much. He looked at me awhile and said, 'Try a pipe with Turret pipe tobacco'.

I did, and now, smoking two or three pipes of Turret pipe tobacco a day, I am always refreshed and satisfied. Unable to put into words that which makes Turret pipe tobacco 'Just Right', I pass the word along—'Try a pipe with Turret pipe tobacco'."

"POLITICS" IS FINE

Marie Dressler and Polly Moran Make Great Hit in Comedy-Drama

Politics and election excitement usually prove interesting to the most of folk, but combine this with rich comedy and tense drama and there is entertainment for any taste. Such is offered in the talking picture "Politics," week-end offering at the Capitol Theatre. Large audiences saw the picture last night and everyone was delighted with the show.

That great female comedy team, Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, were never better than in "Politics," possibly exceeding their former great success "Caught Short." Nor is there anything sordid about "Politics" although there are some touching incidents amid the fun.

There is a pretty little plot to carry the farce.

Roscoe Ates, the famous stut-terer, plays a prominent part in the comedy. Karen Morley, here last in "Never the Twain Shall Meet," and William Bakewell, who took part in "Gully Hands," another of this week's pictures, play the role of the young people. The cast, otherwise, is a good one although Dressler, Moran, Ates, Morley and Bakewell are the principal players.

WATERFRONT WHIFFS

Many Boats Burned This Year—Halibut Boats Start Tying Up—New Floats Being Built

The well known local halibut boat Cape Swain, which was consumed on Wednesday afternoon in Tucks Inlet, was the third Canadian halibutter to be destroyed by fire this season. In all five boats have been lost on the coast this year as a result of fire, including two American vessels. Prior to the Cape Swain, the Canadian boats to be burned were the Emblem I. and W. T. The American vessels were the Marmot and Volunteer, both of which were lost in the north. The Cape Swain was originally built in Seattle 14 years ago as the Eagle, and was brought here by the late Capt. George Selig, who was the victim of a shooting accident years ago on the Queen Charlotte Islands and was renamed Cape Swain on her registry being changed. The vessel was owned and operated for several years by Capt. Sinclair (Red) Pierce, who turned the vessel over to Capt. Hugh Miller last spring, having purchased the larger boat Eric Roy during the winter.

Capt. J. D. Thurber, one of Prince Rupert's best known and most popular halibut skippers, has been remaining in port since a week ago Monday when his boat Vera Beatrice turned back to port from the fishing grounds owing to his illness. Jud has quite recovered now but he may not go out to the fishing banks again this season. In any case, it is not likely that the Vera Beatrice will make any more than one trip after the present one is concluded. Capt. Len Miller has taken temporary command of the Vera Beatrice.

Boats Tying Up
With the four months closed season starting on November 1, the halibut boats are now starting to tie up for the winter, although the big majority are still out and many will make at least one more trip after the present one. The Sea Maid, Capt. Henry Dorreen, is one of the larger of the local boats already tied up. The Emblem, Capt. Alf Anderson, will conclude operations for the season at the end of the voyage on which she is now engaged.

Making two passenger flights from Ketchikan here, the Ketchikan Airways of Alaska Stinson-Detroiter monoplane Northbird, piloted by Ray Howard, had a fairly busy day on Thursday. The plane brought in six passengers in all, including M. Hickey, manager of the Ketchikan Airways, who made a round trip. The visitors from Ketchikan who came down in the plane are returning home this afternoon on the steamer Prince George.

Carmona Overhauling
Prior to being tied up for the winter, Skipper Jack McAuley's well known power cruiser Carmona is on the grid at the Pacific Salvage Co. plant undergoing annual overhaul after a busy yachting season.

The halibut boat Helge H. has been on the Edward Lipsett ways this week undergoing hull repairs and general overhaul.

Bringing over the head of the company, Thomas A. Kelley, the Kelley Logging Company's power service boat Nora Jana, Capt. Walter Dass, arrived in port at noon Thursday from Logan Inlet, Queen Charlotte Islands. The vessel returned to the Islands yesterday morning, Mr. Kelley having proceeded to Vancouver on the steamer Prince Rupert Thursday night.

The new 40x16 foot landing float for the Marine Department on the local waterfront was completed during the past week by the Pacific Salvage Co. The new float is considerably larger than the old one and gives ample room for the landing of the Birnie as well as the Catherine B. regular Digby Island ferry boat. A new 60x8 landing float to be installed at Digby Island for the department is now under construction on this side of the harbor and will be towed to Digby on completion.

Engine in Plane
The engine of the Northern B. C. Airways seaplane was re-installed on Wednesday after having undergone a thorough overhaul following the recent accident to the plane at Langara Island. The trim little airplane will soon be ready to go into commission again.

George Smith, wharfinger at the government wharf, has returned to duty after a two weeks' vacation as a result of which he is feeling much refreshed and ready for another year's hard work.

The big lighthouse tender Estevan,

Capt. H. Bilton, regularly based out of Victoria, is on her annual visit to northern waters to carry out heavy work on aids to navigation in the district. The vessel was in port Thursday afternoon from Digby Island.

Hunting Quiet
There is comparatively little activity in deer hunting here this fall and not nearly the usual number of animals are being brought in. No more than eight or ten have been landed at the floats of the Prince Rupert Yacht & Rowing Club so far. Undoubtedly there will be much more doing after the bird season opens next Thursday.

Scientists of the Biological Board of Canada have been continuing their work in the waters of Graham Island endeavouring to establish runs of pink salmon in the so-called off years. If success can be met with in this case, similar methods can, doubtless, be applied elsewhere and annual runs of pinks built up instead of biennial runs. This is an off-year for pinks at Massett but at Tliell River there is a limited run. At Tliell a number of pinks have been stripped of their eggs, which have been transported to the fish culture establishment on McClintock Creek and will be later liberated as fry in the hope that two years from now they may return to Massett Inlet and help to build up an odd-year run.

Lost Off Seineboat
The seineboat Gladiator arrived in Ketchikan recently from Port Alexander with the body of Knute H. Raffseth, aged 29, member of the crew, who was drowned at Port Alexander. The drowning was entirely accidental. Raffseth had gone ashore in a small boat. The troller heard a splash and saw a man's cap floating and then sighted the man's form sinking. He recovered the body with a pike pole but all efforts to restore life failed. Raffseth is survived by his father and sister in Seattle and mother in Norway. The body was sent to Seattle for burial.

The heavy discount of Canadian money has had the effect of causing at least a few of the American halibut boats to go to Ketchikan or Seattle rather than sell their catches of fish here. At a discount of 25 per cent at least one-half a cent a pound is lost on fish often. The American halibut fishermen are starting to contend that when their American fish is sold to American buyers in Prince Rupert for American consumption they should be paid with checks on American banks instead of being compelled to take checks on Canadian banks and thus less the exchange.

The Pacific Salmon Sales Corporation has been formed in Seattle to aid salmon packers of Washington and Alaska in marketing their product. E. A. Sims, well known Washington business man and veteran legislator, is president of the organization. William Calvert, president of the San Juan Fishing & Packing Co., is treasurer and Victor H. Elfendahl, former president of the Association of Pacific Fisheries, is secretary. It is not a holding company and will not seek to acquire or control salmon canneries but is purely a sales organization and has been formed to perform that function. The concern will seek to discharge its duties by improving general market conditions, developing new consumers for the products of its members and by encouraging its members as a whole to maintain prices at a satisfactory level. Many salmon packing concerns have already joined up.

Packer to Islands
In response to an appeal from the Queen Charlotte Islands, the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage is again putting a fish packer on the run to the Islands. There is still a good deal of salmon troling in progress on the Islands.

Halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert for the week ending yesterday totalled 510,500 pounds of which 92,000 pounds was from Canadian boats and 418,500 pounds from American. For the season to date landings total 14,522,840 pounds including 5,392,900 pounds Canadian and 9,129,940 pounds American fish. Prices paid during the week again showed a slight improvement over the week previous. The top bid of the week for Canadian fish was 7.8c and 3c received by the Tramp for 12,500 pounds, while the low Canadian price was 5c and 3c which the Cape Beale received for 30,000 pounds. For American fish the high price was 10.3c and 4c which the Visitor and Garland received for catches of 3,000 and 4,000 pounds respectively. The low American price was 5.5c and 3c which the Constitution was paid for 30,000 pounds.

According to a bulletin issued by the United States Bureau of Fisheries halibut landings at the port of Prince Rupert by American vessels during the month of August this year totalled 1,413,000 pounds as compared with 1,766,000 pounds in the same month last year. For the season up to the end of August American landings here aggregated 7,301,000 pounds as against 11,081,000 pounds in the corresponding period of 1930. Canadian vessel landings here for August amounted to 928,000 pounds as against 1,129,000 pounds in August 1930, while for the season Canadian fish aggregated 5,232,000 pounds in comparison with 5,676,000 pounds up to the end of August 1930. Seattle landings this year continue to gain while all Alaskan ports have fallen behind extensively.

Doc Clapperton, popular assistant wharfinger at the government wharf, will go off duty on Monday morning for a two weeks' vacation. Doc intends to spend the holiday pretty quietly at home and a brief visit to Cedarvale, if he decides to go, will probably be the extent of his travels. We wish him a pleasant and beneficial vacation.
