Prime Minister of Australian State Breaks Away From Commonwealth Government and Those of Other States in Fiery Speech

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 23.—Breaking away from the Commonwealth government and the governments of other states, Premier J. T. Lang of New South Wales delivered a flashing speech in the East Sydney federal by-election campaign today, declaring flatly for repudiation of interest payments on debts overseas until overseas financial interests extend to Australia conditions of repayment similar to those America gave England. A huge and enthusiastic gathering cheered him with wild enthusiasm.

The extremist Labor premier of the state declared that, 14 years ago, overseas interests, by conscription through the Australian government, attempted to take the Commonwealth's sons away from their homes to give their lives on the fields of battle. Today the same interests, he asserted, "are working through the same channels to take the bread from the mouths of our sons and daughters to satisfy their insatiable greed."

LONDON, Feb. 23.—Viscount Grey of Faldoen, Great Britain's foreign minister during the Great War, commenting yesterday upon the occasion of the birthday of George Washington, expressed the opinion that want of statesmanship on the part of King George III and his ministers had been primarily responsible for the outbreak which resulted in the Declaration of Independence of the foundation of the United States.

Badly Burned By Gasoline

Freddie Wesch Had Narrow Escape With His Life When He Plunged in Stream

Yesterday Freddie Wesch was badly burned with gasoline. It seems that he was intending to kindle the fire in the children's playhouse and took gasoline in mistake for coal oil to pour on the embers. The embers were sufficiently alive to ignite the gasoline which flashed up and burned his face and hands badly. Happily the playhouse was close to a creek into which the burning boy plunged and thus probably saved his life. Now Freddie is confined to the house under the doctor's care and is being nursed by his mother.

AIRPLANE TRAVEL

Although airplane travel is in its infancy in Canada, last year very close to 56,000 people used the plane as a means of reaching their destination rapidly. At the same time about a million and a half pounds of freight was carried by the air route. These figures have to do only with publicly operated planes. In addition there were a number of private air pilots operating. Immense advances in air travel may be expected during the next few years.

TRADE WITH RUSSIA

So far it does not seem that Canada has been very seriously affected by Russia's policy of dumping in this country commodities produced by convict labor, says the Victoria Times. On the other hand, however, we have been increasing our sales to her. The following table tells the tale:

	Canadian Sales	Canadian Purchases
1928	$2,424,071	$ 73,119
1929	2,457,492	266,881
1930	3,738,401	909,525

These figures are interesting in view of some recent comments on Russian trade with Canada from Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen. He is quoted as saying that "we have been accustomed in this country to take special protection against invasion by dumping."

It will be observed that our purchases of Russian goods jumped by more than $600,000 in 1930, but our sales increased in the same period by more than twice that amount. For the time being, therefore, there is a big advantage in our favor, and if at any time an embargo measure is considered necessary, action can be taken.

Imagination Runs Riot

When he launched the 42,500 ton Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Britain, H.R.H., the Prince of Wales, referring to the Knickerbocker Bar—as the cocktail bar of that magnificent new ship is to be known—said that its frequenters "can let their imagination run riot in a rosy haze amid the fantastic humour of Mr. Heath Robinson."
The Prince referred to the announcement that Britain's foremost humourous artist has been given a free hand to decorate that room on the new liner which is to make its bow to Canada June 22nd next.
Developing a humourous legend of the cocktail of his own invention, W. Heath Robinson, who is shown above at work on some of the panels, has prepared a decorative scheme that extolls the virtues of the cocktail and depicts ingenious machinery employed in its manufacture.
Heath Robinson's ideas of the latest labour-saving machinery in connection with the selection and preparation of cherries for cocktail embellishment are shown together with the Foolproof Safety Aeroplane, a direct descendant of the mythical cocktail bird. This ceiling decoration depicts the uplifting powers of an appetizer. These, and other drawings will appear on the walls and ceiling of the room.

The Letter Box

ASK FAIR DEAL

Editor, Daily News: I wish to take this opportunity of protesting against the unwarrantable prejudice meted out to our native boys in your city.

Just because a native boat landed a few pounds of halibut on the 17th inst., and was offered and accepted 8c. per pound for the lot, this seems to have roused the ire of certain "parties" who intimate that, because we are the wards of the Dominion Government and amply provided for, we do not hesitate to accept a low bid for our fish, which may have the effect of lowering the market price of other fish offered for sale at that same time.

When the above mentioned sale was made, the seller was unaware of any other buyer offering to take fish at any price. Surely it should be evident to all that if he had knowledge that other buyers were making bids he would have sold to the highest bidder.

While it is true that we are wards of the Dominion Government, this does not provide work or meal tickets during the winter months, neither does it tolerate idleness.

The natives like the white-man have to hustle and scheme for their daily bread.

The fishing business is the only industry in which the natives as a people can compete with the white man.

Give us a chance to prove our worth, is all we ask.

Respectfully,
NATIVE FISHERMAN.

JUST A LITTLE SARCASM

Editor, Daily News: I read that interesting letter of Mr. Morgan's proposing to take wheat straw in from the prairie.

Now that his gigantic intellect has devised a way to take the strawberry through the winter, all we need added to the so-called "ideal" summer weather is a little moisture for the plants during the growing season to make the berries form. Then when berries have formed, something will have to be done to keep the rain from ruining the whole crop.

How is this to be done? Suppose the same reason that we import our straw from the prairie instead of the Bulkeley will suffice for not using the water of the river which flows from the latter.

Therefore we will divert the Saskatchewan River to Terrace strawberry patches. Blast a hole through the Rockies and let her flow, then the berries would form. But what about the rain that will ruin the crop? Wouldn't the moisture rush through the hole in the Rockies and give the moisture to the growing wheat fields instead of ruining Terrace strawberries.

Then we would have strawberries for Terrace. Mr. Morgan wishes the Board of Trade to harken to his plan. They are all right, but for my plan I want Masons, Oddfellows, Bolsheviks and Rebecas to help me.

Yours for big action.

LLOYD G. FRASER.
P.S.—This plan might also help unemployment.

BISHOP FALLON PASSES

ook strong ground in a controversy and braved adverse criticism with as much calmness as if bricks were bouquets.

Rev. Dr. Fallon, who had been in failing health since early in 1928, was widely known before he rose to the dignity and responsibility of the bishopric. He had engaged in a number of public discussions on questions of current interest and any argument in which he engaged at any time in his career always attracted attention.

Noted as a public speaker, Bishop Fallon was a force on the platform. He possessed the gift of oratory in an unusual degree.

Popular with the people of his own religious belief, Bishop Fallon also numbered among his friends many Protestants.

Rev. Dr. Fallon was born at Kingston, Ont., May 17, 1867, the son of Dominick Fallon. He was educated at the Christian Brothers' College Institute, Kingston; at the Ottawa University from which he graduated with the degree of B.A. in 1889, and at the Georgian University, Rome, from which he obtained the degree of D.D. in 1894.

He was ordained priest in 1894. For some years Father Fallon was professor of English literature at the Ottawa University. He was vice-director of the university for three years. He was rector of St. Joseph's Church, Ottawa, from 1898 to 1901. Then he went to Buffalo, N.Y., where he was rector of the Holy Angels' Church from 1901 to 1904.

He was Provincial of the Oblate Order from 1904 to 1909, when he was appointed Bishop of London.

In his earlier years he edited the Ottawa Owl. He continued the editorship of the Owl for seven years, then for one year edited the Union, Ottawa. While he was a parish priest in Ottawa Father Fallon earned considerable stir by protesting against the terms of the Coronation oath taken by each successive British Sovereign. He declared that the oath was insulting to the Sovereign's loyal Canadian Catholic subjects. In his younger days Father Fallon was well known as a lover of clean sport. He was coach to the old Ottawa university football team when the team won the championship of Canada.

Throughout recent years of his term as bishop, much of his work has been for Catholic education. He was largely instrumental in furthering the plans for the magnificent new $1,500,000 St. Mary's Academy for girls at Windsor.

But of all his works, the one that stands out most prominently as a great achievement was his planning, and building of the Seminary at London, fruition of a life-time dream, which will stand for years to come as a monument to his memory. It is a $1,500,000 theological college for the education of young men for the Catholic Priesthood. While the foundations of the seminary proper were laid in 1925, and the buildings were opened in September, 1926, it was not until June, 1930, that the seminary was completed. In 1922, with the permission of the bishop, the Sisters of St. Joseph, whose mother house is in London, Ont., opened a convent in the city of Edmonton.

During his episcopacy, Bishop Fallon raised more than 75 young men to the priesthood, to serve the diocese of London.

His Lordship had been in failing health since March, 1928, when he suffered an extremely serious attack of pneumonia.

DEPARTMENT OF TRADE AND COMMERCE
OTTAWA, CANADA

To Canadian Citizens,

Do You Want More Branch Factories?

What is a factory worth to Canada, that gives steady year-round employment to five thousand hands?

It depends upon where it's located, doesn't it? If it's located in Canada, it's worth a small fortune to us. But if it's located at our very borders, but still outside of Canada, it may be worth nothing at all to us. In any event, it is almost certain to be worth far less than the branch it might be persuaded to establish in Halifax, or Vancouver, or any point in between, even though that branch gave steady employment to only fifty hands!

No matter where they locate in relation to where we reside, we're always delighted to hear of branch factories being established in Canada, because of the employment they create for Canadian labour, the market they provide for Canadian farmers and Canadian merchants, and the business activity they stimulate in countless ways and in countless quarters.

Thus far, in our efforts to promote their establishment within our borders, we have made use of but one lever—our tariff. For a time it proved to be a very effective lever. During the period preceding the war the harvest was considerable. But of recent years the annual crop of branch factories has been lean—quite disappointingly so when we reflect that the justification for their establishment should be greater than ever before, due to the fact that our annual imports of merchandise keep steadily increasing.

Isn't there something that each of us as individuals might do to help get the movement in full swing again? Suppose we steadfastly refused to buy merchandise that we knew to have been imported, wouldn't that cause a lot of these outside manufacturers to reconsider their plans?

Not long since, the manufacturer of an imported product, the annual sale of which in Canada runs into millions of dollars, boasted that no action this country might take would ever force him to establish a branch factory here. When he said that he was, of course, thinking only of one kind of action—tariff action! And feeling secure in the advantage of a low manufacturing cost obtained through mass production, he probably had some justification for believing that his hand could not be forced.

But he overlooked one very important point. And that is that while Canadians have always shown themselves a very tolerant people in their attitude towards imported merchandise, they are quick to resent unfairness of any kind when practised against themselves.

Now that particular manufacturer buys no materials from Canada. The workmen he employs buy nothing that has been produced in Canada. From the operation of his huge industry the people of this country derive no profit whatsoever. Why then should they continue to buy his product when there are available to them at equal prices products of the same kind, and of just as good if not better quality, that have been made in Canada?

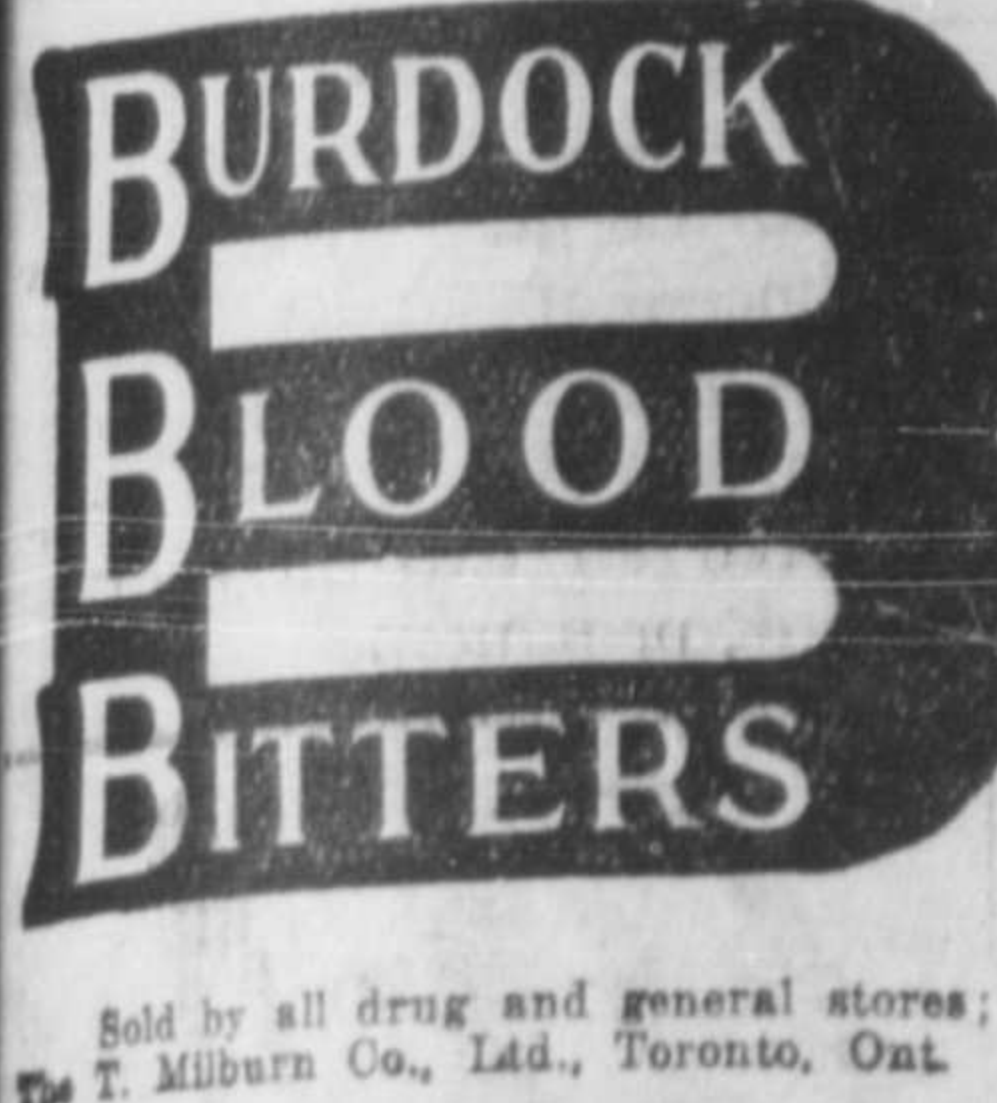

Not only that particular manufacturer, but scores of others, could be forced to open up branch factories in this country under pain of losing their entire Canadian business, if each and every one of us, before completing a single purchase, were first to make absolutely sure that the article had been produced in Canada!

Very sincerely yours

A. H. Stevens
Minister of Trade and Commerce.

4 Years without HEADACHE

How do you deal with headaches? Do you just take something to deaden the pain without getting rid of the trouble which causes the pain? Thousands do, despite the medical profession's warning cry of "DON'T!"

Such makeshift methods simply suppress the symptoms of headaches. They merely numb the nerves and leave the underlying cause to look after itself. And it only obtains a firmer grip. Headaches can generally be traced to a disordered stomach and to the unsuspected retention in the system of stagnating waste material which poisons the blood. Remove these poisons—prevent them forming again—and you'll never have to worry any more. And that is just how Kruschen Salts bring swift and lasting relief from headaches. Kruschen Salts aid Nature to cleanse your body completely of all clogging waste matter.

"For many years I suffered from severe headaches almost daily. I started taking the small dose (of Kruschen) a matter of four years ago, and I can honestly say I have never had a headache since."—(Mrs. M. W.)

PRINCES ARE IN SANTIAGO

SANTIAGO, Chile, Feb. 23.—The Prince of Wales and Prince George did not do a very good piece of salesmanship on behalf of their country, it is felt, when they flew to Santiago in an American plane. The royal visitors were given a great reception here and were tendered a ball which all the social elect attended.

DAME NELLIE MELBA "AUSTRALIAN NIGHTINGALE"

became fearful, and set about discouraging her at every turn. Her first real concert appearance was calculated to damp all ardor and ambition.

Determined to give a public entertainment, she hired a theatre and personally went about selling tickets to friends who had heard her sing in the choir. Behind her came the distressed father, begging ticket holders as a family favor to stay away, and all but two of them did. Nevertheless, Melba faced her diminutive audience and sang her program through precisely as though the hall were packed with enthusiasts.

By the time Melba was 27 years old her father had modified his opposition to her stage ambitions and allowed her to place herself under the instruction of Mme. Marchesi in Paris.

Melba's operatic debut was made in Brussels, as Gilda in Rigoletto. Two years later, in 1888, she made her first appearance at Covent Garden. The famous Augustus Harris was then in charge of Covent Garden and Madame Albani was the reigning star. Melba's first appearance in London was so chilly as to deserve to be written down as "a frost." Not without a feeling of resentment she went straightway to Paris where she had a tumultuous reception. There was no lack of heartiness in the reception which the Londoners gave Melba when she came once again. And for nearly forty years England at large gave her a like warm welcome.

During the war Melba was mostly in her native country. She raised over £100,000 for war charities. Throughout her life, in spite of the distraction of her professional celebrity, she always manifested the keenest interest in the welfare of Australia, and did not hesitate at times to express her disagreement with the policy of those who governed Australian affairs.

Melba was created a Dame of the Order of the British Empire in 1918 in recognition of her efforts for war charities, and was accorded the Grand Cross of the Order in 1927.

Melba followed simple but inflexible rules in preserving her wonderful gifts. She rose early, breakfasted sparingly, and her principal meal was always a light one. She arrived at the theatre two hours before the performance, in order to allow plenty of time for personal preparation.

Dame Melba continued throughout her life to regard Melbourne as her home, although she lived at various times in London, Paris and Brussels.

TOWN HOOP TEAM WINS

Is Now Leading Basketball Standing at Terrace

Teams	W	L	Pts.
Town	3	1	6
Vanarsdol	2	1	4
High School	2	1	4
Native Sons	0	4	0

TERRACE, Feb. 23—As a result of two closely contested games Saturday evening, the Town team advanced to the head of the league and the School and Vanarsdol are deadlocked in second place. The Vanarsdol team defeated the Native Sons 16-12 while the Town disposed of the High School 28-23. Two good girls' games were also played resulting in wins for the Shooting Stars and the Dumbells.

In the first senior game the two teams battled evenly for the major part of the game and the winners managed to take the game by two baskets by Mason just before the end. Half-time score was 7-6 for Vanarsdol. Kennedy and Mason starred for the winners while J. Smith looked best for the Native Sons. Referee, McCulloch.

Vanarsdol—Kennedy, 9; R. Bolton; Burton, 2; Mason, 5; H. Bolton; W. Bolton. Total—16.
Native Sons—D. Kerr, 2; S. Smith, 4; J. Smith, 6; Graham; Collison; K. Kerr. Total—12.

Town-School Game

The second game was marred by rough play on the part of the School team which seemed to be determined to win the game by any possible means. This really cost them the game as they lost their centre on personals in the second half. The crowd showed in no uncertain way that they did not approve of this style of play. In contrast to the efforts of the losers, the Town team played an open game and broke through for repeated scores. Thomas was the individual star with 17 points. McCulloch also showed well, while McLeod at forward and Michiel looked best for the School team. Referee, Kennedy.

Town—Nelson, 2; McCulloch, 7; Penney, 2; Thomas, 17; Moore. Total—28.

School—McLeod, 7; Bowering, 10; Little, 4; Michiel, 2; Wallace; Kerr. Total—23.

SPORT CHAT

The yachting events of the games of the tenth Olympiad, which are to be celebrated in Los Angeles from July 30 to August 14, 1932, will be held over a course in the Pacific Ocean, near Los Angeles Harbor. Southern California has many miles of beautiful coastline, and many thousands of people will be able to view the Olympic yachting events from the palisades overlooking the course. The coastline is protected by a chain of islands, 30 miles off shore, which makes it possible for the smallest craft to operate with safety and security anywhere along the shore. Winds are particularly favorable throughout the year and especially during the months of the Olympic Games.

Excellent anchorage for the racing yachts, as well as lockers, club rooms, lounges and other facilities for the comfort of the various crews, are provided within Los Angeles Harbor. Several splendid yacht clubs with hundreds of members and with anchorages providing mooring for many boats of all types, have been established near Los Angeles for many years, and yachting is one of the principal sports there throughout the entire year. Many regattas and yacht races are held annually over various courses along the coastline, and officials in charge of the yachting events of the Olympic Games will have no difficulty in selecting an ideal course with splendid wind and tide conditions.

Country Readers of "The Daily News"

To the readers of the Daily News who live out of town, we suggest that the classified columns of the paper provide an excellent medium for the disposal of articles they may have for sale or exchange.

Last season a lady at Smithers did a large business in selling fresh eggs direct from the farm by advertising in this paper.

Chickens, implements, household goods, boats, fishing gear, guns, cordwood, furs and dozens of other articles may be disposed of. The charge is two cents a word but six times goes for the price of four.

Many people get good results. Why not you?

BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

COULD YOU SAY AS MUCH AT SEVENTEEN?

I had a letter the other day from Mildred A., which I must share with you. For any mother, I know, would be proud of such a daughter. She says: "I am only seventeen years old, but I have had to cook for five years, as my mother is an invalid and I am the only girl."

"I am taking a home economics course as I thought that would do me more good than anything else. I wish you would send my home economics teacher your cook book. I know she will be delighted to have it—as will the girls in my cooking class. I have used Carnation Milk for several years and I will never be without it if I can help."

Isn't that a wonderful endorsement from a girl so capable and so sensible? She has learned very early the cooking wisdom which women everywhere are discovering—that Carnation Milk gives cooking results that even the best of bottled milk cannot equal, and with a dependability, convenience and economy offered by milk in no other form.

Carnation Milk is simply pure whole milk protected at the source. It comes from clean herds, housed in clean barns, milked by clean hands into clean utensils. This safeguarded milk is evaporated to double creaminess, sterilized for safekeeping and "homogenized" so that the cream particles are minutely fine and distributed through every drop. As a result, everything in which Carnation Milk is used is extraordinarily fine of texture and rich with creamy goodness.

Below is a Carnation recipe I want you to try. Send, too, for the free Carnation Cook Book and Baby Feeding Book to Carnation Co., Limited, 134 Abbott St., Vancouver, B.C.

Carnation Cherry Coconut Pudding—1/4 cup cornstarch, 1/4 cup sugar, 1/2 tsp. salt, 1 cup water, 1 cup Carnation Milk, 1/2 tsp. vanilla, 2 tbsp. cherry juice, 1/4 cup sliced maraschino cherries, 2/3 cup coconut, 2 egg whites. Mix cornstarch, sugar and salt with 1/2 cup cold water. Dilute Carnation with 1/2 cup water and scald; add the cornstarch mixture slowly to the scalded milk. Cook in a double boiler for 20 minutes, stirring constantly until thickened. Add vanilla, cherry juice, cherries, coconut and stiffly beaten egg whites. Chill. Garnish with cherries. Serves 6.

USE THE Safeguarded MILK Carnation Milk FROM CONTENTED COWS PRODUCED IN CANADA

For unusual richness, unique smoothness of texture and completely dependable results, use Carnation Milk in all your cookery. Doubly rich in cream, it is most economical. Carnation Milk is safeguarded at the source by clean housing of clean herds and clean handling of the milk. And this protection continues until it finally reaches you in the hermetically sealed container. (See recipe above.)

Milk from Canadian cows, packed in Canada in Canadian cans and cases.

sued in denominations of $25 and no member could own less than one or more than fifty shares. The capital was to be an unlimited number of shares. Liability of the members was limited to the paying up of their shares.

Under the incorporation papers, the date for the holding of the annual meeting was set as the second Thursday in February. It was proposed to hold the first general meeting of the association about April, the expectation being that organization would have been completed by that time. Then the members would decide what the scope of the association's operations would be.

Speaking personally, Mr. Lord felt that the object of the association should not be for the purpose of piling up profits but to give the fishermen more for their product which was most surely needed. In closing, Mr. Lord explained proposed financing methods. It was compulsory that at least ten per cent of operating profits be placed in reserve. The directors might use their discretion in recommending dividends with the balance.

Introducing Directors

Mike Anderson announced the names of the provisional board of directors. Mr. Anderson intimated that amendment of the Co-operative Act would be sought and, if granted, it would then be possible to amend the constitution of the association to make it more desirable to the members.

As for the association's business prospects, Mr. Anderson stated that the committee had already surveyed the field for the marketing of salmon and, from information obtained, it seemed quite possible that not only salmon, but also halibut, could be successfully marketed. Co-operative salmon could certainly be marketed through co-operative stores in Canada. Whether the association would engage in canning salmon, mild curing it or merely shipping it fresh could be determined when a complete survey had been made of the whole field of production and marketing.

The association, to operate at all, would need considerable funds. These would have to come through sale of shares to members. It was, therefore, imperative that the shareholders should take out their lock receipts at once.

Mr. Anderson was of the opinion that the pool method would be the most advantageous one for the association. If this method was not followed, a huge amount of capital would be needed to buy the fish as it was laid down at the association plant. It would be better if the association "handled" rather than "bought" its members' fish. The members would, eventually, receive as much, if not more, for their fish. By means of contracts, the association would have guaranteed deliveries of fish. The fishermen would get control of the product of their labors. The tables would be turned and they would have the whip hand.

While the canners had the capital, Mr. Lord observed, the fishermen were really the backbone of the industry. If the backbone became weak, the structure would naturally fall. To combat such steps that might be taken by the canners as raising the price of fish to break the association, the fishermen would have to continue to act co-operatively.

The association could also be valuable in the way of reducing the price of gear and equipment which would be the same as raising the price of fish. The association could eliminate "unholy profits" on gear.

After J. F. Murray had been told that the provisional directors were already open to receive subscriptions on stock for which official receipts would be given pending the printing of stock certificates, several of the fishermen present came forward to put up cash for their stock.

Following the intermission during which these transactions were

Sleepless NERVES

The nerves themselves never sleep. The involuntary nerves must work all the time or the vital organs would cease to function. It is only when supplied with nerve force that the heart beats, the lungs breathe, and the other vital organs perform their natural functions.

The unfortunate condition is when you cannot sleep. The weak, irritated nerves will not let you rest. So day by day you are losing vital energy until sooner or later must come a nervous breakdown.

Sleeplessness and headache are the warning signs when the nerves go wrong. You may also have indigestion and feelings of fatigue. All the vital organs sooner or later slow up, when nerve force is lacking.

The most certain restorative for the nerves is Dr. Chase's Nerve Food. It has proven its effect in so many thousands of cases that there is no question of its merits.

made, a resolution was unanimously passed approving the steps that had already been taken by the provisional directors. Mover was J. F. Murray and seconder, Sam Olsen.

General Discussion

A general discussion followed. Mike Anderson again spoke on the question of pooling. Despite the fact that general depression and manipulations had embarrassed the Wheat Pool, he, nevertheless, thought pooling was a success. At that, the situation with regard to wheat was much different than that of salmon. Once the co-operative got started, it did not need to care about the capitalistic market but could handle its own product. It would be better for the town, too, in that the fishermen would have more money to spend. It was high time that the fishermen were up and fighting for themselves. Now was the opportunity for them to do it by legitimate means.

Charles Lord referred to the success of the B. C. Fishermen's Co-operative Association during its brief span of life. Although it had started out on a shoe string, it had done remarkably well. It had packed salmon valued at $834,000. It had paid $78,000 for plants at Alberni and Vancouver and had already distributed $235,000 among the fishermen. When it sold its remaining stock of canned salmon, there would be another $95,000 available for distribution. Eventually, Mr. Lord suggested, the Prince Rupert Co-operative might merge with the B. C. Co-operative which had been unable to take over operations in the north for the present.

H. Hoffman pointed out that halibut fishermen could at least benefit, meantime, through this association, by being able to save on gear.

J. F. Murray thought the right place to start co-operative activities was actually on the banks. Little could be done now.

Capt. David Ritchie pointed out that the salmon fishermen, mostly one man to a boat, were on a different basis altogether to the halibut fishermen. The halibut boat owners could not sign up a contract or say what he could do without considering the Union men who were on his boat as fishermen.

It would be necessary to have every member of the crew sign a contract, Mr. Anderson replied.

A gill-netter asked what gill-netters would do with sockeye and humpies if they signed up with the association.

Mr. Lord replied that, in all probability, the co-operative would have to operate a cannery. All plans had so far been based on this presumption.

After some further discussion, the meeting adjourned after a two-hour session.

'Mind' Subject Yesterday For Science Church

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science churches and societies on Sunday was "Mind."

Among the Bible texts included in the Lesson-Sermon was the following from Isaiah 45: 24: "Surely, shall one say, in the Lord have I righteousness and strength: even to him shall men come; and all that are incensed against him shall be ashamed."

The Lesson-Sermon also included the reading of citations from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy one passage being as follows: "The exterminator of error is the great truth that God, good, is the only Mind, and that the supposititious opposite of infinite Mind—Called devil or evil—is not Mind, is not Truth but error, without intelligence or reality. There can be but one Mind, because there is but one God; and if mortals claimed no other Mind and accepted no other sin would be unknown." (page 469)
