THE ESSENTIALS IN THE PEACE RIVER OUTLET PROBLEM WELL SET FORTH

It is essential that Canada take full advantage of the direct and most economical routes to the seaboard, according to the brief drawn by George E. McCrossan, K.C., and approved by Acting Mayor Bennett sets forth the following points:

"There is enough first class arable land awaiting development in the Peace sufficient to duplicate the area under wheat in the three prairie provinces.

"In view that Canadian crops are in direct competition with such countries as the Argentine, it becomes essential that Canada takes full advantage of the most direct and economical routes to seaboard.

"Peace development would be a direct advantage to the railroads as well as the producer. It would afford large freight tonnage.

"It would enable the C. N. R. to take full advantage of its low gradients, which, without such increased tonnage, is not sufficiently able to capitalize.

"Through the development of the Peace great advantages would accrue in transcontinental haulage through the increased power of consumption of a large increase in population.

"The City of Vancouver submits that the Commission should give serious consideration to this vital national question of affording access to the Peace by the immediate development of railway facilities, and ask that the commission recommend accordingly."

MANY EXPECTED TO DINNER FRIDAY AT ARMY HEADQUARTERS

Already it is abundantly evident that the number hoping to eat their Christmas dinners at the Salvation Army Citadel will be larger than ever before.

Plans are being made to accommodate them all but it will cost a good deal to do it in addition to providing hampers for all those in need.

TAXATION PROPOSAL

These are difficult days for governments. Most of them are showing deficits and attempts are being made to make up these deficits from the people in the form of new taxes. Britain is balancing her budget in spite of immense difficulties. Canada has not yet done so and neither have most of the provinces and municipalities. All will have to do it.

The municipalities have been just as badly hit as the provinces generally but British Columbia finances seem to be in a terrible mess.

Part of the expenditure of the British Columbia government is in the form of grants to the municipalities. Even with these the municipalities have found it difficult to finance and have clamored for larger grants.

Now it is proposed to take away a large part of those grants. They suggest cutting down or eliminating the municipalities' share of the pari-mutuel and liquor profits and cutting down the school and hospital grants. In place of this it is proposed to give the cities the right to collect a tax from landlords or tenants based on the rent paid.

Naturally the proposal is being met with strenuous opposition. Take the case of Prince Rupert. How much money could be raised in the city from a rental tax? When many people are already finding it difficult to pay the reduced rents the government would pile the burden higher.

We all realize the difficulties against which governments have to contend but surely there is some other way than this of raising revenue. It is really another tax upon land and we think the opposition to it will be so strong that no attempt will be made to implement it in legislation. Local taxes will be higher without this new burden laid on the municipalities.

When is an elephant not an elephant—or something like that? Ruth, 8, and Mary, 7, of Miami, show just how scared they are of Rosie. The bigger the pachyderm, the deeper you dive.

A SATURDAY SERMON

JESUS

Jesus' Incarnation Accounts For Many Things In His Life and Birth

(By Canon W. F. Rushbrook, Rector of St. Peter's Anglican Church)

That Jesus is God incarnate, born of a Virgin (parthenogenesis is a common occurrence in Nature; the queen bee begets her drone without semination—the male bee has no father) accounts for many things not only in His wondrous life, but particularly in His birth.

As God, Jesus chose the medium of His birth—Mary—the time of His birth—the fullness of time—Jewish and Roman, and the place of His birth—a stable.

The Medium—Mary—the Blessed Mother of Jesus, while unique in being so chosen, was not alone worthy of the high honor conferred upon her. Jesus himself, on at least two occasions, tells us that the enviable favor of being the Mother of the World's Redeemer, is the spiritual privilege of every pure and Godly woman. (Luke 11:27). We read: "As He (Jesus) spoke, a certain woman of the company lifted up her voice and said unto Him: "Blessed is the womb that bare Thee and the paps that Thou hast sucked." But He said: "Yea, rather, blessed are they that hear the word of God and keep it." And again in Matt. 12:46, Mark 3:33, Luke 8:21: And the multitude said unto Him: "Behold thy Mother and thy Brethren without, seek thee." And He answered them saying: "Who is My Mother or My brethren." And He looked around about on them that sat about Him and said, "Behold my mother and my brethren—for whosoever shall do the will of God, the same is My brother, My sister and My mother."

God's Christmas gift to womanhood then is the possible worthiness of being the medium of His incarnation, worthy to be mother of Jesus, woman's noblest heritage.

The time—the fullness of time—the period which God chose for His incarnation was the very first time in human history, when it was possible, humanly speaking, to launch a Catholic or Universal teaching with respect to the Oneness of God and the common brotherhood of Man.

Roman roads led out over the whole known world and, where those roads ran, there life and property was secure. So North, South, East and West went the feet of the Blessed telling the story of Jesus, even to the very heart of Africa.

In Our Day

In our day there is no part of the whole world that is not athrill with the name of Jesus. Telegraph lines flash His name, hundreds of thousands of radios sing his praise in a hundred thousand homes, great ships plow the Seven Seas, mighty trains traverse the land, powerful flying machines wing the trackless air—all laden with letters and parcels stamped with the name of Jesus—a "Merry Christ-Mass." The great press of the world, too, will be foremost in wishing its clientele, whose mental moods it so largely sways, the same heartening message. In the fullness of time Jesus came henceforth to fill all time. A Jesus-less world is now unthinkable.

The place—Jesus never mentioned his birthplace, but it overshadowed in its finest sense, his whole life—a stable. Any one may enter a stable, any one may come to Jesus. He was born of his own choice in a stable. Do you ever notice how frequently Jesus used the term "I came for" a certain thing? So He came to a stable by His own choice. A stable is accessible to any one, to the Jew; to the Gentile; to the ceremonially clean; to the ceremonially unclean; to the patriot; to the publican. Only the self-righteous and the highly respectable will not enter.

A wealthy Jewish home, a palace, or even a home of the middle class, would have been closed to the public for varying reasons. The Wise

Mrs. S. Dragoman, R.R. 2, Midland, Ont., writes:—"I had been troubled with heart trouble for many years. My heart would beat so fast I could hardly breathe, and I had headaches, and dizzy and fainting spells. I couldn't get my housework done I was so weak. I took three boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and felt much better, and now I would not be without them in the house."

Sold at all drug and general stores, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

Men, being Gentiles could have had no access—the shepherds and the humble poor would have been debarred for social or ceremonial reasons.

But Jesus, God, in the flesh, chose to be born in a stable, that all might come. So in His choice of a place of birth he emphasized that while Son of God, He is Son of Man, our brother, the world's Savior. The stable of Bethlehem has no lock or key—all may come and worship.

Regulation of Doctor's Hours

In conformity with medical practice in other cities, the Prince Rupert Medical Society, consisting of all the Physicians and Surgeons in the city, have decided to adopt a uniform time of consultation and to coincide with the Thursday afternoon closing of the stores and business houses, they have decided to take Thursday afternoon off.

Commencing with the New Year consulting hours will be every afternoon except Thursday and Sunday from 2.30 until 4.30. Evening hours will be Monday, Wednesday and Friday from 7.30 until 9 p.m. At other times, consultations may be had by special appointment only.

It has been arranged that there will be, always, two physicians in the city on the half-holidays, holidays, and Sundays, and any one requiring medical attention during these times and not finding his regular attendant at home, has only to call the hospital where the message will be given to the Doctor on call who will render such assistance as may appear necessary until the return of the regular medical attendant.

Thus, the Medical Society are in hopes of rendering an efficient service to Prince Rupert people and vicinity and, at the same time, be able to enjoy a few hours of recreation and freedom. The medical men of Prince Rupert appreciate the fact that the public are very considerate in the matter of night and Sunday calls, and they feel that they will have cooperation in their effort at this time.

ORIGIN OF LIGHT

Editor, Daily News:—
In the issue of the Daily News of December 11 a report was published of a short talk by Rev. Dean Gibson, on the process of evolution, and mentions that light was the first thing created.

Now, I would like to know how light could be the first thing created. Light is not spontaneous and the sun does not give us light from the glare of its burning substance.

Therefore planets must have existed before light could be produced, for it takes two planets to create light. There is a cause for the light of day on this earth, because the mere saying of an imaginary God, "Let there be light and there was light" did not produce the light of day. Light has to be made, it has to be created by a certain process, just as a person creates a match.

The rays of the sun are not light rays any more than a match stick is a light. A match stick has to be manufactured into a match and when friction applied to the manufactured tip to spring into light. The same process must be gone through to produce the light of day. The earth must manufacture the ingredients to produce light, and the rays of the sun produce the friction.

The earth in revolving through space creates a disturbance in the gases that are constantly pressing upon the body of the earth. The different gases are disturbed to a depth of some one hundred and seventy miles or so away from the earth, and the rays of the sun when passing through the mixture create a friction and that friction creates light.

If our earth should perchance slow down the light would become dimmer, and if the earth should stop altogether the light would disappear. It would be "good night" with Mr. Earth.

In order to understand the process of light on this earth, we must realize that the sun is not hot as we have been so often told. Life is possible on it. The sun has seasons just like the earth, snow and ice is produced there as well as here.

The huge sun spots seen by us here are nothing but vortices, the main vortex being at the North magnetic pole, and the dark spot we see from this distance is the core of the vortex and the supposed flame we see shooting out from it is only cold light corresponding to the "Aurora Borealis" of our North pole.

P. Le CLARE.

M. M. O'Brien, chief field engineer for the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co., arrived in the city on the Cardena last night from Vancouver and took a gasboat here for Stewart. He expects to return south to Vancouver on the Catala which will be here Tuesday.

Twenty-Fifth Anniversary of Arrival Here of Andersons is Honored By Pioneers' Society

Mr. and Mrs. P. W. Anderson, widely known and highly popular old timers of the city, having just completed a quarter of a century of residence in Prince Rupert, were honored fittingly by the Prince Rupert Pioneers' Association at a delightful social function last night in the Municipal Hall. Numerous pioneers, as well as goodly numbers of more recent arrivals, were on hand to pay their tribute to the honored couple. Feature of the evening's proceedings was the presentation by Olof Hanson M.P., on behalf of the association of pioneers' jewelry to both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson. Bridge and whist were also enjoyed during the evening and there was a brief but enjoyable program of musical selections and speeches.

N. Mussallem, president of the Prince Rupert Pioneers' Association, was in the chair. There were 17 tables of cards and prize winners were as follows:

Bridge—Ladies' first, Mrs. A. Ross; second, Mrs. K. Fraser; Men's first, Eddie Hudson; second, Sid Hunter.

Whist—Ladies' first, Mrs. E. Heilman; second, Mrs. J. A. Murray; men's first, J. Viereck; second, C. Johnson on cut with J. A. Murray.

After "O Canada" had been sung, refreshments were served and the chairman opened the presentation proceedings. Referring to the length of residence in the city of Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. Mussallem also reviewed some of their activities while here.

Mr. Hanson Speaks

In presenting gold jewelry to both Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Mr. Hanson spoke as follows:

Being called upon by your chairman to officiate at the presentation you are making tonight, I can assure you that I feel very highly honored at being privileged to take such an important part in the proceedings.

"I also feel very proud to belong to the Prince Rupert Pioneers' Association. I always derive much pleasure from associations with old timers of this city."

"In the early days of our city I consider that the finest people in the world came here and the best of them are still here."

"This organization is a very valuable one not from a monetary standpoint, perhaps, but from a standpoint of real friendship and for the purpose of cherishing the happy memories and traditions that are associated with our early days. Friendships formed under conditions experienced in pioneer communities. The Association is also invaluable in making such auspicious occasions as the one for which we are gathered here tonight."

"The special purpose of this gathering is to pay our respects to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Anderson. Mr. and Mrs. Anderson are real pio-

Important Basketball Games Played Last Night; League Leaderships Involved in Some

Some very fine basketball was dished up for the fans last night. As most of the games were important factors in establishing the league leadership, feeling among players and spectators often ran high. In defeating the Panthers 24-19, the 32 Taxi went into a tie with C. N. R. and Panthers for first place in the Senior League. By defeating Merchants 24-23 the High School lads climbed into first place in the Intermediate division. Without Yager who, in future, will play intermediate, the League of Nations bowed to the Scouts who have also lost Calderoni. The Scouts now lead the Junior League, as a result of last night's game. The girl's name was a good one and in their new flashy scarlet outfits, the Cardinals won, 21-8.

Guide to Correspondents
 The Daily News welcomes correspondence on live topics of the day or any other subject of public interest, but letters must be brief and to the point. The long-winded correspondent has no place in modern journalism.
 Every letter must be signed by the writer, not necessarily for publication but as a matter of good faith and courtesy. All unsigned documents go to the waste-paper basket. Letters of a caustic character must have the signature appended for publication.
 Letter should be written on one side of the paper only. Correspondents must avoid personalities and the language should be such as would be allowed in the ordinary rules of debate.

Old Cannery Being Demolished—Deer Hunting Season Over—Light salmon Spawning at Smith's Inlet

Demolition of the old cannery on the local waterfront near Seal Cove is now well under way. The building was originally built as a halibut handling house and was later used as a salmon cannery by the Somerville Cannery Co. Since it was taken over by the B. C. Packers it was not used for canning. Some years ago the machinery was taken out of it.

The grand total of halibut landed at Pacific Coast ports for the 1931 season up to the end of October was 41,270,449 pounds as compared with 46,537,963 pounds for the corresponding period in 1930, according to a bulletin which has just been issued by the United States Bureau of Fisheries. For the month of October this year landings on the entire coast totalled 3,116,170 pounds as against 4,335,870 pounds in the same month last year.

Landings of American vessels on the entire coast for the 1931 season up to the end of October amounted to 33,600,809 pounds as against 38,192,236 pounds in the same period of 1930. American landings for October this year aggregating 2,691,470 pounds as compared with 3,914,270 pounds in October 1930.

Canadian vessels landed 7,469,640 pounds on the coast during the period up to October 31, 1931, which figure compares not badly with the 7,844,835 pounds in the corresponding portion of 1930. For the month of October Canadian landings amounted to 424,700 pounds as compared with 471,900 pounds in October, 1930.

During the month of October, 1931 American vessels landed 1,066,000 pounds of halibut at Prince Rupert as compared with 2,443,000 pounds in the same month last year while Canadian vessels during October this year landed 348,000 pounds in comparison with 440,000 pounds in the same month last year. For the season up to October 31 American landings at this port aggregated 10,097,000 as against 15,677,000 pounds in the corresponding period last year while Canadian landings at Prince Rupert for this season up to the end of October amounted to 6,062,000 pounds as compared with last year's 6,779,000 pounds up to the same date.

Seattle for this year up to the end of October showed a gain in landings, the aggregate figure up to that time for 1931 amounting to 1,522,754 pounds as against 1,051,960 pounds last year. In the month of October halibut landings at Seattle, totalling 14,335,528 showed a substantial increase over 11,293,085 pounds in the 1930 season up to the end of October. In October this year 12,760 pounds of Canadian halibut was landed at Seattle.

Alaska ports showed a substantial decrease from last year. During October 1931 102,716 pounds of halibut—all American—was landed in Alaska as compared with 376,620 pounds in October last year. For the 1931 season up to the end of October Alaska landings aggregated 9,368,281 pounds as against 11,179,453 in the 1930 season up to the corresponding date.

At Vancouver Canadian landings for this year up to the end of October amounted to 1,243,500 pounds as compared with 1,054,800 pounds last year. There had been no American halibut landed at Vancouver this year whereas last year 42,700 pounds were brought there.

Victoria received but 1,200 pounds of halibut in October this year. Landings for the season there up to the end of October had totalled 151,380 pounds as against 11,025 in 1930 up to the same date.

With the deer hunting season closing this week and little interest being taken in the quest for geese and ducks, turkeys being easier to get and possibly less expensive anyway in the long run, these are dull, quiet days for Sheff Thompson and

U. S. Cruiser

When a cruiser begins to act queer, they don't stand for any funny work, but just put it in dry dock and look it over. This American cruiser had defective stern posts, a malignant complaint, and is in a Philadelphia dry dock.

The fleet of the Prince Rupert Rowing & Yacht Club which is safely ensconced in winter quarters. Even in deer hunting, there was not the usual activity at the Yacht Club this fall since many of the more important trips were made on big yachts and such craft. Sheff was reminded of the passing of time this week when he saw his name in the Twenty Years Ago column of the Daily News as being the member of an expedition which went to Alyansh to put down an uprising among the Indians there in 1911. Sheff well recalls the winter trip which was a very arduous one.

Reports to the Dominion Department of Fisheries have indicated that this season's run of five-year sockeye salmon to the Quashela Creek spawning grounds in the Smith's Inlet area of British Columbia was relatively small, and thereby hangs a tale—a tale of the serious consequences which illegal fishing may have upon future stocks of fish. Here's the story, given in some detail because of its importance in pointing a moral: The life cycle of most sockeye is four years but an important proportion of the fish are five-year salmon whose return to the spawning beds to reproduce their kind is made in their fifth year. Quashela Creek and its expansions made up the sockeye spawning grounds of Smith's Inlet and in 1926 the progeny of the 1921 run of five-year fish were making their way thither to deposit and fertilize their eggs. Fishing is forbidden in Quashela Creek but, through unfortunate mischance, some transient fishermen who went into the Smith's Inlet area in 1926 found and seized an opportunity to violate the prohibition and captured a considerable quantity of salmon in the Quashela waters. What this meant, of course, was that many parent fish, whose escapement was contemplated under the fishery regulations, did not get to the spawning beds, the beds were inadequately seeded, and the number of sockeye hatched out a few months later was reduced.

Came 1931. Their life cycle nearing completion, the five-year sockeye which had begun their existence in Quashela Creek turned there again to spawn.

But there weren't so many of them as there would have been had the illegal fishing not occurred in 1926. Because fish were taken illegally five years ago, the run of 1931 was cut down and there were fewer fish to deposit eggs from which future runs will come.

Put it another way, breach of the regulations by a few men in 1926 has had the effect of lessening, in that particular region, the size of the run of five-year sockeye upon which the salmon fishermen must depend for part of their livelihood. In course of time, careful conservation efforts by the Department of Fisheries may build up the run again but, meanwhile, the fishery suffers.

The incident is worthy of attention by all classes of fishermen all over the country—anglers and commercial fishermen alike. If sufficient parent fish do not get to the spawning grounds, there'll be fewer fish of the next generation to catch, whether game fish or commercial fish. That is certain enough, and what has happened in regard to the five-year sockeye in Smith's Inlet gives the point sharp emphasis. The fisheries regulations framed by the Dominion authorities for observance in the different provinces have as a cardinal purpose the adequate conservation of fishery resources. They are based on experience and on study by scientists and expert observers. The man who disregards them may enlarge his catch today, and "get away with it" if he manages to escape detection, but he will find fewer fish to catch in subsequent seasons.

To many friends, the Waterfront Whiffs again extends the time-honored wish for a Merry Christmas. The great day will be here before we appear again and it is our hope that all have a good time and come through the festivities with flying colors. Even at the worst, we surely have plenty to be thankful for.

Union steamer Cardena, Capt. Andrew Johnstone, arrived in port at 10:30 last night from the south and sailed at 12 midnight on her return to Vancouver and waypoints. The vessel is making a special call at Ocean Falls southbound this trip.

XMAS TREE LAST NIGHT

Santa Claus Visited Children of First Presbyterian Church Sunday School

Santa Claus paid a visit to the children of the Sunday School of First Presbyterian Church last night, a large number of children as well as interested parents being in attendance. The visit of Father Christmas was preceded by a brief but acceptable program of entertainment. John E. Davey, Sunday School superintendent, was chairman of the concert and the program included piano solo by Miss Frances Thomson; recitation by Miss Ina Robertson; vocal solo by little Miss Molly Frew; recitation by Miss Betty Bremner; violin solo by Miss Winnie Cameron and vocal solos by Miss Lillian Jones.

Books and other prizes were presented to children of the Sunday School who had recorded perfect or regular attendance during the past year. Each child was also presented with a bundle of candles.

The proceedings took place in the church parlors which were attractively decorated for the occasion. The centre of attraction being a richly decorated and lighted tree on the stage.

Owing to snow condition on the lower Skeena River, this morning's rain was an hour late, not arriving until 11:40 a.m.
