Two British Syndicates and One American Desire To Buy Provincial Line Says Tolmie

Premier Makes Announcement at Nanaimo Convention Banquet—Neither General Election Nor Provincial Convention Necessary at This Time, He Says

NANAIMO, Nov. 28.—Three syndicates, two British and one American, are seeking to purchase the Pacific Great Eastern Railway from the provincial government, Premier S. F. Tolmie informed the Nanaimo Conservative Association banquet here last night. Each offer included the construction of an extension of the line into the Peace River district. "We are dickering with them in order to get as much as possible out of it," the Premier said.

The Premier received an enthusiastic ovation from a large audience. In the course of his address he dealt with the rumors of an election and a party convention and negated the necessity of either. "I am quite willing to work with you until the drop of the hat and, when you decide, you don't want me any longer, I will be only too glad to retire," Dr. Tolmie declared.

There was no discussion in the convention's first day's meeting of the question of a provincial convention but it may possibly come up today. The meeting gave the Premier an enthusiastic reception.

A resolution of the Prince George Conservative Association that the Game Board be abolished as a measure of economy, the work to be carried on by the provincial police, was referred to the government for consideration.

When another resolution from Prince George asking the government to remove all reserves on coal and oil lands was being dealt with, Hon. N. S. Loughheed, minister of lands, indicated that it was the intention of the government next session to lift the present reserves and make the lands available for leases on a more equitable basis.

Work in the government unemployment relief camps upriver is still completely at a standstill. The camp at Pacific has been closed down and the men in residence removed to Chindemash camp near Usk. This and the Cedarvale camp are the only two remaining open for single men.

The remuneration of the two foremen remaining and also of the two cooks has been reduced to the minimum, and many men are reported to be making application for direct relief.

DAILY EDITION Saturday, Nov. 28, 1931

ONCE MORE THE P. G. E.

The P. G. E. will not down. Just when we think it has been squelched, up it comes again. Today we are told that the government is negotiating for its sale and extension into the Peace River and the Premier announces that the government is considering the proposals favorably.

The only way any syndicate will take over the P. G. E. is if it is sweetened with thousands of acres of public lands and millions of dollars worth of timber and mines. Proposals of this nature have been made from time to time but so far the government has declined to give away so much of the natural heritage as was asked. We give them credit for their actions so far. Pressure has been brought to bear but they have resisted.

Now it looks as if they were considering one of these proposals favorably and putting the announcement along with T. D. Pattullo's warning that an election may be called soon, it looks as if the government would ask for endorsement of the scheme if it is finally accepted. That would give them a campaign issue under cloud of which the financial issue might be escaped.

PORTEND OF PROSPERITY

It is an indication of returning prosperity when we see groups of men offering to put large sums of money into a scheme such as the taking over of the P. G. E. and its extension into Vancouver and into the Peace River country. This sort of thing is not done on a falling market. It is only done at a time when there is likely to be a general improvement.

While everyone would like to see huge sums of money spent on development work, the deal would have to be a reasonable one to be acceptable to the people of the province. Even Vancouver would hardly support a scheme which meant the robbing of the province for generations to come.

Developments in connection with the P. G. E. will be interesting, especially in view of the fact that it may become an election issue.

WHEAT SITUATION

The decline in the price of wheat the last few days was rather a surprise and is not expected to prove permanent. There are several reasons why the price should advance.

World wheat acreages have declined drastically. In three countries alone—Australia, Argentina and the United States—there are going out of production in this current cereal year no fewer than thirteen million acres of wheat lands. This drastic reduction is the equivalent of the entire expansion that occurred in the three countries named, and Canada as well, between 1926 and 1930.

But not only acreage is declining, prospective yields are down. Preliminary estimates indicate a world crop this year, exclusive of Russia and China, which will be some two hundred million bushels less than in 1930. To this may be added the fact that the estimated crop in rye is one hundred and fifty million bushels below that of last year.

Under these circumstances it seems as if wheat were bound to advance in price, possibly until it reaches close to a dollar a bushel.

Senior, Ladies and Junior Matches Particularly Keenly Contested Last Night

Larger Crowd

Many New Faces Seen in Comfortable Auditorium Despite Cold Weather

Senior League—Three Two Taxi, 26; Panthers 25.
Ladies' League—Comets, 10; Cardinals, 12.
Intermediate League—High School, 38; Merchants, 26.
Junior League—League of Nations, 16; Boy Scouts, 15.

Considering the number of counter attractions that were being staged last night, basketball proved to be a popular form of entertainment and diversion for a widely enthusiastic and always appreciative audience. It was good to see many new and distinguished faces adding their support to a sport which is certainly going to flourish this season. And what a treat it was, even on a cold, frosty night, to sit in solid comfort in the warmth of a well heated building. And the way those teams are matched! In each division—Juniors, Ladies and Seniors—the scores were tied time and again with the final outcome always in doubt.

Panthers and 32 Taxi staged one of those delightful games where the score hangs at 25-all with but two or three minutes to play. The Taximen held a comfortable lead all through the first half and the earlier part of the second half. They played better as a team, their shooting was deadly and accurate and they played consistently. Panthers, however, were in difficulties quite often. Occasionally they flashed brilliantly but seemed unable to carry their plays past Stalker and Menzies, who both played a strong defensive game. Menzies was outstanding for 32, organizing play after play and snaring every rebound off his own basket. He's a cagey player and when he gets that ball it's in safe keeping. He rarely fumbles. Frizzell worked in well with 32 and proved to be very useful to the tune of six points. Ratchford, suffering with a broken foot bone, was high scorer with 14 points. His play was much cleaner and, as a result, very effective. Gurvich marred his play by worrying too much about other players instead of watching the ball. He garnered three very noticeable personal fouls into himself and his play was much less effective than in previous games.

For Panthers, Kelsey was fast and dangerous, picking up 11 points. Cross, though not scoring, was great on defence. Macdonald teamed up with Kelsey and Lyons in the last five minutes of play for some brilliant team efforts that tied the score. With but a minute to go, Lyons fouled Gurvich quite unnecessarily in centre floor, and the latter converted to win the game for his team at 25-25. Had Panthers worked throughout the game as they did at the end, especially eliminating the long range shooting, the game might easily have been their's.

32 Taxi—Gurvich (2), Menzies (1), Stalker (3), Ratchford (14), Frizzell (6), Wrathall; total, 26.
Panthers—Macdonald (4), Cross (2), Irvine, McNulty (4), Kelsey (11), Lyons (4); total, 25.

Girls' Game

The girls' game, provided, possibly, the best competition in the ladies' division this year. Strengthened with Phil Harvey and Nellie Gurvich, the Comets were a different team. It was nip and tuck all the way with the winner quite uncertain even at the cessation of hostilities. All of the girls on either team played their best and to pick out individuals would be unfair. For Comets, Nellie Gurvich did some fine shooting which this team has always needed. Julia Roberts and Ella Steen played splendidly, the former having some mighty tough luck in her shooting, while the latter managed once again to reap a bountiful harvest of fouls. The Cardinals scored twice on foul shots, and it was exactly two points of a lead that gave them the game! So one sees how this fouling business goes, ladies! Lillian Lowe and Cath. Irvine were the pick of the Cardinals. Lowe, at guard, picked up six points which seems quite significant. Vie. Krikevsky was good too and was on every play. It was a treat to see the girls opening up in their play, passing the ball, and exhibiting fine team work. Those two teams are certainly well matched. It now remains to be seen how they will fare against the changed Amazon line-up which now includes Jean Ritchie from Cardinals and Annie Kach from the Comets.

Comets—Steen, Roberts (2), Gurvich (6), Harvey (2), Jack, McGuire, Connerly; total, 10.
Cardinals—Lowe (6), Irvine (3), Krikevsky (3), Stone, Gilchrist, Rivett; total, 12.

Intermediate Game

The Intermediate affair between the High School and the Merchants was a rather one sided match. The High School demonstrated a splendid exhibition of accurate and colorful shooting, whereas the Merchants, who perhaps shot more frequently, missed basket after basket. The High School had also the stronger combination, the Merchants being wild in their passing. Wingham and Walters played a wonderful game for the High School. Forbes, who is new on the High School line-up, is fast becoming acquainted with the High School style of playing, and is improving steadily.

In the second half, the Merchants staged a comeback and, for a period of ten minutes, the game became intensely interesting. The Merchants had a strong defence in McNulty and Dingwell and the forwards led by Eric Dingwell scored 20 points in this period. Towards the end of the half, High School players were left unchecked as the Merchants tried vainly to equal the score with the result that Ross, for the High School, scored three baskets in quick succession. The Merchants' hopes of success were lost and the game ended 38-26 for the High School.

The Merchants were unlucky and had an "off" night. Perhaps with a little more shooting practice they will stand a better chance in the Intermediate League.

High School—Walters (12), Wingham (8), Vance, Forbes (4), Unger (8), Ross (6), Tobey; total, 38.

Merchants—Pierce (8), McNulty, Comadina (4), Eric Dingwell (12), Fred Dingwell (2), Bacon, Birrell; total, 26.

Junior Game

The Junior opening game of the evening proved as might be expected to be, keenly fought. Both teams—League of Nations and the Scouts—were tied for top place in the Junior League. The League of Nations gained a sensational victory by a margin of one point over the Scouts. Practically throughout the whole game, neither team led by more than one basket. The game was exceptionally fast and clean and the juniors gave a good exhibition of their team work. The Scouts were probably the fastest for, led by Calderoni, they kept a fast pace. The League of Nations became a bit rough in their efforts to get control of the ball and Antonelli was called off the floor on personal fouls. The forward line for the League of Nations was very powerful. Gillis had an advantage in size and weight. Yaeger was fast and Dominato was a cinch shot. However, the League of Nations began to tire towards the last and the Scouts overtook them. Then with one minute to play and the Scouts leading by one point, Gillis scored under the basket as the whistle blew for full time, leaving the score 16-15 for the League of Nations.

League of Nations—Antonelli, Dominato (8), Hill, Gillis (4), Yaeger (4), Arney, Allen; total, 16.
Scouts—Wilson (6), Calderoni (4), Santurbane (5), Miller, Vierich, Smith; total, 15.

Vocal solo, "O Rest in the Lord," Mrs. P. C. Miller.
Pianoforte solo, Miss Marybelle Stiles.
Vocal solo, "The Holy City," Dr. R. G. Large.

Accompaniments were very sympathetically and effectively rendered by Miss S. Olafson, Mrs. A. Wilson and H. N. Brocklesby.

The sacred cantata, "Penitence, Pardon and Peace," which formed the second part of the program, was well interpreted by the augmented choir under the leadership of J. S. Wilson with Mrs. A. Wilson as organist. The members showed the result of painstaking study. The different atmospheres of the three sections had been caught by the performers and their singing was indeed splendidly done. Solos were exquisitely sung by J. E. Davey and Dr. R. G. Large both of whom made a deep impression by their sympathetic interpretations. Altogether the evening was one that made a definite impression on the audience and those taking part are to be congratulated.

Rev. A. Wilson took the opportunity to express the appreciation of the officers of the church of the valuable assistance given by members of St. Andrew's Anglican Choir and the Presbyterian Choir. These included Mrs. Brocklesby, Mrs. F. N. Good, Mrs. E. Anderson, Mrs. C. E. Cullin, J. E. Davey and H. Lincoln. Sopranos were Mrs. Valde, Mrs. W. Wood, and the Misses B. Eastman, J. Fisheries Sessions Here During Past Week Valuable and Interesting—Fishing Quiet Now—Outlook For Halibut Better

Of great interest and importance to the whole local marine community were the conferences in Prince Rupert during the past week of W. A. Found, federal deputy minister of fisheries, with the local salmon fishermen and of the International Fisheries Commission with the halibut the International Fisheries Commission with the halibut at the sessions, local people having to do in any way with the fisheries took full advantage of the opportunity to present their views to the authorities.

Practically all aspects of the two fisheries were taken up, particularly as regards conservation, and there was a full and free discussion which should result to the benefit of all concerned. The visiting officials accorded courteous consideration to the various matters placed before them. In turn, the local interests evinced every willingness to cooperate with the work of the authorities insofar as seems just and practicable. Representatives of the Northern British Columbia Fishermen's Association, Deep Sea Fishermen's Union and the Canadian Halibut Vessel Owners' Association were congratulated on the effective manner in which they presented their cases.

With halibut boats tied up and little if anything doing in the way of salmon fishing, the local waterfront is a rather quiet place these full days. About the only fishing activity now going on is in the cod fishing line at which a few small boats are working. There will be nothing in the way of very extensive activity, however, until herring seining starts early next year. In January it is expected some salmon trolling operations will start. It is reported that some of the waterfront business concerns are contemplating closing down altogether for the months of December and January.

C. S. Mathers of the sales staff of the Atlas Imperial Diesel Engine Co. at Oakland, Cal., has been appointed manager for the company at its East San Pedro branch in the principal fishery centre of Southern California. He had been located at the San Diego branch for three and a half years. Mr. Mathers is another Canadian who has made good in the United States. He is a brother of F. D. Mathers, who has long been active in the salmon fisheries of British Columbia and who was formerly one of the chief officials of the B. C. Packers, having been located for some years in Prince Rupert.

Halibut Catch

The Pacific Fisherman, in a rough, preliminary estimate, places the halibut production on the Pacific Coast for the 1931 season at approximately 42,000,000 pounds, representing a decline of some 8,000,000 pounds from the official total of 50,466,632 pounds for the 1930 season. "The loss can be accounted for," says the Pacific Fisherman, "largely by the reduction in the length of the fishing season which this year was approximately six weeks shorter than in 1930. At the beginning of the fishing season last spring operations were practically suspended for five weeks owing to disagreement between the vessel owners and fishermen. Furthermore, the new international treaty regulating the halibut fishery closed the season November 1 instead of November 15. Thus the season was substantially shortened at both ends with material restriction of production natural. This tendency was further aided by the withdrawal of a considerable number of boats to other fisheries as a result of low prices prevailing for halibut.

"Although Seattle did not again achieve leadership over Prince Rupert in October, its landings of 1,613,300 pounds during the month represented a substantial gain over the 1,051,950 pounds delivered there in October, 1930. Prince Rupert's landings for the period were considerably ahead of Seattle's but the northern port fell far behind its business for October, 1930. The 1,884,000 pounds delivered there during the period fell short by approximately 1,000,000 pounds for the landings of last October.

"Halibut landings at Alaska ports were extremely light during the period preceding the close of the season. Deliveries at Ketchikan aggregated only 74,700 pounds. Juneau received only 35,000 pounds."

The American halibut vessel Kalart, which landed catches at Prince Rupert in 1930 but was not here during the 1931 season, was wrecked and lost on an island in the Gulf of Alaska last month. Capt. Chris F. Aune and his crew of two men barely made shore where they secured shelter for two weeks until their signals were sighted by the halibut boat Spray which took them to Cordova.

Prior to the public session of the International Fisheries Commission here on Thursday of this week, the conference board, representing local halibut boat owners and fishermen, had an interview on Wednesday afternoon with the members of the commission. Various matters were informally discussed and a good deal of the ground of the public hearing was covered in a preliminary way.

Metal Lining

It is reported that at least one Prince Rupert halibut boat during the coming winter will be equipped with sheet metal in the fishhold. This is a step which has already been taken with excellent results on Atlantic trawlers and is said to be logical as far as halibut and salmon trolling boats are concerned. The metal to be used is non-corrosive in fresh water and salt, remains bright and smooth regardless of chemical conditions and makes the task of cleansing and sterilizing the fishhold an easy one, insuring the landing of fares in the best of condition.

Capt. Andrew Einmo has been using his American halibut boat Polaris, which is well known in Prince Rupert, in freighting supplies between Seattle and Southeastern Alaska points during the past fall. The first trip is said to have proven quite profitable so Capt. Einmo loaded his second cargo.

J. W. Nicholls, comptroller of the Canadian Fish & Cold Storage Co., in a recent interview, stated that, while business had been difficult for the past six months, he believed it was now "turning the corner."

"We believe it to be a fact," said Mr. Nicholls, "that the fish business reflects conditions as quickly as any. At least, this is our experience. We fully expect that the stocks of frozen halibut on November 15 will be materially below the figure of November 15 last year and, with the low price at which frozen halibut is being quoted, we are hopeful for a clean-up of frozen stocks which, unquestionably, will have the effect of giving us a healthy start next season. For the first time in eight or nine months we are feeling optimistic."

A petition from United States troll fishermen that the Dominion of Canada release to their owners the American fishing boats Queen City, May, Tillie M. and Sunrise, which were seized in 1930 for being unlawfully in Canadian waters, was recently forwarded by the United States Department of State to the Dominion Government at Ottawa. The Canadian minister of fisheries replied that he did not look with favor upon such action because it was held the United States government had warned the fishermen that they must abide strictly by the law. The four boats were seized off Rose Spit, Queen Charlotte Islands.

NEWS OF THE MINES AROUND PRINCE RUPERT

Has Promising Property in Rainy Hollow—Winter Mining on Manson Creek—Georgina River to Do Work By Contract

William Bunting is back in Vancouver after spending the summer on his property, the Gold Cord, in the Rainy Hollow country in the northwestern corner of British Columbia. Considerable work was done this year on the main vein which is four feet wide. This was stripped for 2400 feet and a 100-foot shaft sunk, the width of the vein and the values maintaining all through. It is estimated that about 600,000 tons of probable ore has been proven. Mr. Bunting found three more veins which were fairly high grade. He is optimistic that the proposition will develop into a large one, once the necessary capital takes hold of it. The Gold Cord is reached via Haines, Alaska, over a road 42 miles long and thence by six miles of trail.

Strikes Reported in Portland Canal and Manson Creek Districts

Reports of a number of mineral strikes of an encouraging nature have been made to the British Columbia Chamber of Mines, principally in the Portland Canal district.

At Bear River, north of the Rufus Argenta group, a discovery of high grade copper gold has been made. The vein is reported to be 20 feet wide. The strike was made as the result of receding glaciers.

At the head of American Creek which flows into Bear River a high-grade silver strike is reported.

Owners of property at Summit Lake at the headwaters of Salmon River have sent out samples of pyrrhotite to the Chamber of Mines which carry very high values in gold.

Robert McCorkell, who has been operating all summer on German Creek in the Omineca, reports satisfactory results. The season has been spent in putting in a ditch and flume. There is a sawmill on the property Mr. McCorkell expects to be in production next June. He will operate a placer proposition.

Reports from other prospectors returning from the hills indicate a satisfactory season with fine possibilities next spring.

During their recent trip to Fort St. James to winter a large stock of horses, W. J. Crawford and T. R. Whiteley of Stewart saw at Fort St. James some nice coarse nuggets from Manson Creek. In addition to the gold nuggets, Mr. Crawford reported on his return to Stewart that some of the miners were obtaining nuggets of silver and native copper. According to information available at Fort St. James a considerable number of miners are still in the Manson Creek country and the people of Vanderhoof are hopeful that, with the opening of spring, the area will witness considerably increased activity.

Mining development on the Georgina River Gold Mines property on Portland Canal below Stewart was temporarily suspended last week owing to the management having decided to contract for the balance of the work to be conducted at this time. With the extension of the tunnel another eighty feet, it is expected that the objective of the present development campaign will have been reached. This, it is expected, will show up an ore body of considerable value.

Clay Porter, who has been meeting with remarkable success in the development of the Argentine property in the Stewart district is on a business trip to Vancouver and Seattle.

A snake, nearly three feet long was recently found in a garden in Dublin.
