PRINCE RUPERT, B.C., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 25, 1931

NORTHERN AND CENTRAL BRITISH COLUMBIA'S NEWSPAPER

At ake! Prince Rupert People, the Time is Opportune

VESTERDAY the Daily News published part of an editorial article from the Stewart newspaper in which the possibilities of Stewart as the outlet from the Peace River and the C. P. R. terminus on this north coast were set forth. Almost every day, too, the Vancouver papers are urging the connecting of Vancouver with the Peace by way of the P. G. E. Prince Rupert is the only place that is lying down on the job.

It is acknowledged that Prince Rupert has one of the finest harbors in the world; that the point of advantage in regard to location over every other point on the coast; that the harbor needs no improving or dredging or other expenditures such as would be necessary at any other point.

It is freely acknowledged that no railway can have as good a grade to the coast as has the present main line of the Canadian National Railway to this port and that the cost of hauling grain to Prince Rupert would be less than to any other port on the coast.

It is a fact that the port of Prince Rupert is already equipped with docks, grain elevator, yards, lesser wharves, supply houses and practically everything that a modern port needs, yet it is not used to any appreciable extent.

It is a fact that the elevator has been allowed to almost go out of commission, that grass grows in the railway yards, that the deep sea dock has never been completely equipped and often the dry dock shipyard is almost idle while the business goes to the private yards at Vancouver and Victoria, this with only a feeble protest from the people of Prince Rupert. Have the people of the city lost their pep? Are there no leaders left to rally the people and to bring before the authorities the treatment we are receiving?

If the old men, the former leading citizens are dormant, where is the young blood? Why is there no one to raise the battle cry for the rights of the people of this much favored but badly used port?

What is true of the railway is true also to a large extent of the highway. Very little real progress is being made. The government representative admits that it will take ten years to reach Terrace, yet no word of protest is heard. The highway is to be for the next generation and not for this.

It is said that the Canadian Pacific Railway has been anxious to use the port of Prince Rupert but that obstacles have been placed in their way. It is difficult to get accurate information, so the people of the city lie back and grouse about hard times, lulled by pessimists that are found in high places. No effective action is taken and there is no attempt to make a protest.

What is the remedy? Are we to admit defeat and revert to the status of a fishing village or shall we at least make our voices he ard in the governmental centres? If then we can get no help, the thing to do is to organize the north country into a separate province as proposed on a former occasion and followed up by the Peace River people.

As a first move we suggest that a public mass meeting be called at which a formal invitation shall be extended to the Canadian Pacific Railway to make Prince Rupert their northern port and promising co-operation in the matter of helping to secure such terms as may be just. The meeting should be attended by a thousand people, representative of every walk of life in the city. It should be such a demonstration as could not fail to attract attention. It would have to be in the hands of the enthusiasts and not of those who would pussyfoot, fearful of hurting somebody's feelings.

The Daily News has great faith in Prince Rupert, but the city will be largely what the people make it. If they are willing to be walked over they will never get anywhere. The world must be notified that we intend to be a factor in the life of the north country, not fifty years hence but immediately.

KICKS ABOUT WORK

Editor, Daily News:-

In the Evening Empire of March 21 I read the following in big head-lines: "Everyone given chance to DISORDER work." I wonder if the editor of the Empire has not been misinformed. Personally I know of several men who were not given a chance either on the city or on the government Thirty Killed in Protest Rioting at the ropes and I will vouch for that they should have had the privilege ahead of those who were sent out. Some had a chance to go out on the privileged rum dealers.

Great Men of Canadian Pacific As long as the Dominion endures, George Stephen, (later Lord Mount-stephen); William Van Horne, (af-• terwards knighted); and Thomas Shaughnessy, (subsequently a knight and a baron); will have their niches in its hall of fame, for to them and to Donald Smith, (afterwards Lord Strathcona); R. B. Angus and J. J. Hill, it owes the great Canadian Pacific Railway Company of today. E. W. Beatty K.C., is the president of the great system today.

These are the principal figures in the history of Canada's great pioneer railway. Each played an important part in the development of the road. Canada's first transcontinental. In 1871, terms were entered into to start the road within two years and complete it within ten. As a matter of fact, the last spike on the main line was driven on November 7, 1885 by Lord Strathcona.

OF POLES

Totems Made One of Most Interesting Consignments Ever Shipped on C.N.R.

Canada is a land of varied produce and during her young nationhood she has seen many different cargoes leave her shores, but perhaps the most unique shipment ever marketed by Canadians is a carload of totem poles, which was shipped recently from Prince Rupert, says Canadian National Railways Magazine. The valuable Indian relics were billed to the Museum of the American Indian. Haye Foundation, in New York

Along the Pacific seaboard, form Prince Rupert north to Alaska, totemism was the prevalent form of worship among the Indians long before the white man came and totem poles are found on the sites of old native villages. The totem pole, a pole decorated with representations of animals, indicates social standing and is assocated with religious rites. It is part of the creed of a semi-barbarous people that the totem protects them.

Diane, daughter of Martha Norelius Wright, long distance swimmer, and Joe Wright (jr., the oarsman, has been delegated to carry on the swimming traditions of her famous mother. Diane was born in February in Toronto. Mrs. Wright will not enter the Wrigley marathon this summer, she has announced. "No, I am a retired athlete," Mrs. Wright said, when asked about rumors that she would be an entry in the annual race this year. "My time will be taken up with my daughter," she said. "No, I'll not be entering any more marathons ever. The next entry from this family will have to be Diane." Diane has not yet begun training, but that she undoubtedly will be a swimmer, her mother was quite certain. It was learned that the infant already splashes in her bath.

Mashies in the Mighty Mountains

It is the unusual that thrills in the Rockies. For instance, who would expect a championship golf course, rated as one of the world's finest, planted like an emerald in the rough bosom of the Rockies? Jasper Park Lodge links show new aspects of the mountains at every hole. Wild life in this sanctuary is unafraid and like as not a family of bears will amble across the fairway as the golfer tees up. Inset in this scene, which shows a water hazard, is Gardiner White, Nassau, New York, holder of the Totem Pole trophy which is emblematic of the Lodge course championship.

Country Readers of "The Daily News"

To the readers of the Daily News who live out of town, we suggest that the classified columns of the paper provide an excellent medium for the disposal of articles they may have for sale or exchange.

Last season a lady at Smithers did a large business in selling fresh eggs direct from the farm by advertising in this paper.

Chickens, implements, household goods, boats, fishing gear, guns, cordwood, furs and dozens of other articles may be disposed of. The charge is two cents a word but six times goes for the price of four.

Many people get good results.

Why not you?

CITY FLOAT

Retail Merchants' Association to Interview Council-Peddlers Discussed 1

The Prince Rupert Retail Merchants' Association, at its monthly dinner meeting last evening in the Commodore Cafe, President John Bulger in the chair, discussed the advisability of having a civic float put in on the city's waterfront at the foot of McBride Street. A committee from the association will interview the city council in regard Prince Rupert this week to attend to the matter.

It was decided that stores should pany. remain open on Thursday afternoon of the week in which Good Friday, a public holiday, falls.

The vexed question of the acti- last week on official duties. vities of peddlers in the city came up for discussion and it was finally decided to request the police to see that the law in respect of peddlers' licences is strictly enforced. Members of the association will give the police co-operation in ascertaining that all peddlers are in possession of the necessary licence.

The guestion of the local association joining up with the Dominion retail merchants' body was discussed, decision being deferred until next month.

Douglas Frizzell, the popular secretary of the association, told the through the Panama Canal.

After discussing a number of other minor matters, the meeting adjourned.

point where it was practically unprofitable to raise it was largely responsible for the depression in Western Canada and on the Pacific Coast. The farmers of the prairies were unable to buy the products of the coast and thus times were hard throughout the country.

To meet world conditions, Mr. Mc-Caffery felt it was necessary to cut the costs of production to the very bone. Toleration and co-operation were also necessary. As far as Prince Rupert was concerned, Mr. McCaffery held that the port and the city had all the attributes and possibilities of two years ago. There was no less cause for optimism today than there was two years ago.

He personally had lost no faith. In addition to Mr. McCaffery's address, the luncheon program included acceptable piano solos by Norman Ireland.

Reports were presented to the club on the forthcoming dinner dance on April 8 and the hoedown on May 1.

President C. C. Mills was in the chair and guests included, besides Mr. McCaffery and Mr. Ireland, Dugald Campbell of Vancouver and Jack Clayton of Prince Rupert. H. Breen was winner of the luncheon raffle.

The Man Who Shot Her Boy

Finger print dusted and made visible for the police camera

At midnight, April 9, 1927, Mrs. Violet Hatch of Los Angeles returned home from a restaurant she was running, with the night's receipts - $400 - in her bag. A masked robber met her at her door and stole the bag. Her son, coming in from the garage, tried to recover the bag, and was shot. He died next day.

There was no clue to the murderer - except a thumb print on a door knob.

Three years later a man was arrested for another crime. His finger prints were taken, and an investigator found that one was identical with the print left on that knob. So, after three years, a finger print on a door knob brought a man to trial for murder.

Countress crimes are thus detected by things that a robber touches. He leaves his print.

All Prints are Dangerous

through finger prints. Not ary soap will do. The germicide through crime or wrong doing, but through germs.

A child becomes ill, you know not how. Perhaps with a vicious cold. The reason may lie in a finger print on a cookie—a germ- luxurious. No finer soap was laden finger print. The child may have touched something which infected hands had touched - then she touched her cookie. All children gather dangerous germs this way - grown-ups do

The germs thus conveyed may breed in the mouth. Life Extension Institute lists 27 diseases which may be conveyed in this Remember those finger prints. Never touch anything which enters the mouth until the germs on your prints are destroyed.
