PATTULLO IS ON JOB

Very Seldom Absent From His Seat in Legislature — Is Notable Leader

Great Qualities

Will be Right Man in Right Place When He Becomes Premier of Province

The following sketch of T. D. Pattullo, Liberal leader for British Columbia and member of the legislature for Prince Rupert, appears in a recent Vancouver Sun along with those of a number of other British Columbia legislative leaders in connection with the opening of the legislature:

Directly across from the Premier sits T. D. Pattullo, the Opposition Leader. He is never absent from his post. It may be doubted whether the House has spent 20 minutes in session in the past two years without Mr. Pattullo, attentive and alert, at his desk.

There have been many notable leaders of the opposition in the B.C. assembly, but none has loomed larger in the public eye than the present tenant of the berth. In earlier days Fighting Joe Martin and Honest John Oliver stirred the galleries with their sledge hammer plows. Later on the rapier-like thrusts of Parker Williams and W. J. Bowser played havoc in ministerial ranks. Duff Pattullo is not quite like any of these. His manner recalls a boxer who loves the game. He delights to stand up in the ring, toe to toe with his opponent, exchanging lusty blows and smiling as he gives and

Colorful Ceremonies At New Delhi as Fine Capital Inaugurated

Sir Arthur Currie is One of Chief Speakers, Presenting Pillar on Behalf of People of Canada—Lord Irwin Officiates

NEW DELHI, India, Feb. 10.—The solemn inauguration of India's great new capital, the magnificent conception of which was planned nineteen years ago, commenced today with the unveiling of the "four great columns" that have been offered by the four largest Dominions of the Empire. Lord Irwin, the retiring viceroy, officiated, and General Sir Arthur Currie presented the Canadian column on behalf of the Canadian people.

"I pledge for you today the support of Canada in all your strivings; her sympathy will be swift and keen, her interest will be alive and eager; her affection sincere and whole-hearted," declared General Sir Arthur Currie, commander of the Canadian Corps in the Great War, and now chancellor of McGill University Montreal as he officiated at the unveiling of the Canadian column.

The Canadian column was symbolic of the relationship of Canada to India and of both to the Empire, General Currie said. It gave support to the whole structure, it represented the idea of incorporation, it taught the idea of permanence, and it represented aspiration.

Proud Day

Sir Arthur spoke as follows: "This is a day of proud review, of eager hopes and distinguished honor. For you, it is an occasion of retrospective pride, as you stand in this ancient city and dedicate it to a new purpose. Your minds are traversing the long centuries; and garnering all the stirring episodes that have transpired in this old city. Scenes of inspiring splendor flash before your eyes, events of magnificence stir your memories, and stories of epic heroism thrill your hearts. Delhi has a history that moves the world by its romance and glory; how much more must it give pride to the people of India and dignify the present occasion.

"The best use of the past, however, is to build a greater future with it, and today your minds are busy with the coming years and your hearts are filled with an earnest hope. This ceremony marks a new enterprise in your national life; it is a departure from ancient usage and a change in the administration of your affairs, but into it will be carried all the inspirations of the yesterdays; with such a background of history as

THE PRESENT HIGHWAY PROSPECT

The provincial government has to meet a difficult situation with falling revenues and demands coming from all parts of the province and there seems a possibility that Prince Rupert may not get as much highway construction as she would like. In view of the situation it might be well for the people to be very alert and try to head off any possible move toward cutting down.

By now it should be understood that the Prince Rupert-Terrace highway has first claim on the provincial finances, especially at a time when Premier Tolmie is still discussing the possibility of a highway to Alaska.

Premier Tolmie has admitted Prince Rupert's claim but if Prince Rupert is first and it gets construction work only at the rate of two or three miles a year, what speed can it be expected the Alaska highway will make?

What a good many people seem to fear is that the Alaska highway construction will be rushed, once it is started, and that Prince Rupert will be kept dangling along for years while the auto business is going to Alaska.

Prince Rupert is not, we think, opposed to the Alaska highway. Most local people favor it, but they will raise a tremendous howl if the highway to this city is allowed to take second place to a road designed primarily to serve the people of the United States and Alaska.

CONSPIRACY AGAINST DEPRESSION

Of late years Austria has not been looked upon by the world generally as a leader in world politics or as being outstanding in any particular line of endeavor. Yet that country has made a marvellous recovery and in extending an official invitation to Rotarians on this continent to attend the annual convention, which this year is being held in Vienna, the Austrian minister to the United States says:

"You may find a 'conspiracy' afoot, an eagerness to 'conspire' with the rest of the world for a concentrated and co-operative action towards removing depression, towards strengthening the bonds of international amities, towards enforcing peace and social order, towards restoring happiness to mankind and thereby deriving a modest share of the benefits enjoyed by a happier and better world. You are taking a chance on being contaminated by this spirit and I venture to say that you will fall ready victims to this 'conspiracy.'"

Esperanza Mine at Alice Arm Resumes Operations
—Gold Activity in Atlin District— Taku Weather is Like Stikine

The Esperanza mine at Alice Arm is again the scene of activity after a period of idleness which extended over several months. Under the supervision of Norman Taylor, a small crew of men was put at work last week and it is planned to carry on development without interruption. Harry Bowyer is expected to arrive from Seattle about the end of March and then, it is understood, the staff at the mine will be increased and development work pushed along vigorously during the coming summer. Work at present is being concentrated on No. 9 tunnel which will be extended until an ore body known to carry gold values has been encountered. The tunnel has already been driven 260 feet. It is anticipated that an additional 150 feet will have to be driven before the ore body is encountered at depth.

GEODETIC SURVEYS

Triangulation Net is Being Stretched Toward Prince Rupert

OTTAWA, Feb. 10.—That a precise traverse is being extended through the flat heavily timbered country north of Cochrane following the T. & N. O. Railway and that it will be continued to James Bay when the railroad is completed" was the statement of H. P. Moulton, D.L.S. in presenting the Report of Geodetic Survey Committee at the annual convention of the Dominion Land Surveyors Association which is being held in Ottawa. The terminal traverse stations when James Bay is reached will probably form the geographic basis of a triangulation net up the east coast of Hudson Bay.

Mr. Moulton also stated that a programme of aerial reconnaissance is being carried out at the present time in Northern Ontario, consisting of the selection of triangulation stations for a net extending from Sudbury to Lake Nipigon. The use of aeroplanes for reconnaissance and transportation of observation parties has become more extensive while the use of aerial photographs for the solution of problems in reconnaissance has given satisfactory results. Close co-operation is being maintained between forestry officials and the Geodetic Survey as triangulation stations form ideal sites for forestry fire detection towers and vice-versa, and the accurate determination of the geographic position of the towers by the Survey is of great service to the foresters in correcting their maps.

Mr. Moulton also made a very complete report of all the various operations of the Geodetic survey carried on during the season of 1930. In British Columbia reconnaissance for a net in the Fraser River valley has reached to within fifty miles of Prince George where it will connect with the system projected in previous years eastward from Prince Rupert. The angular measurements will probably be completed in 1933.

In the prairie provinces good progress was made on a net southward from Prince Albert to the International boundary. On completion this net will extend from the boundary through Medicine Hat, Calgary, Edmonton, Lloydminster, Prince Albert, Saskatoon and Moose Jaw back to the International boundary.

Reconnaissance was begun and is being continued by aeroplane during the present winter, northward from Prince Albert, to form the basis for primary triangulation control in the mineralized belt of the Northwest Territories.

Such progress has been made on the fundamental nets of northwestern Quebec that the completion of two small gaps in 1931 will complete two large loops in the district lying north of Ottawa, and between Three Rivers and the Ontario boundary. In this area all the work of transportation was done by aeroplanes, which were in use at the same time for aerial photographic mapping operations. It is gratifying to note that in the province of Quebec the provincial authorities appreciate the value of the Geodetic surveys and are looking forward in the near future to the establishment by their own surveyor of subsidiary triangulation nets based on primary stations, and a beginning was made at this work in 1927 and 1928.

Six Laplace stations and eleven stations for the determination of the deflection of the plumbline were observed at during the year. At one place in the Gaspé peninsula this deflection would cause

In the Atlin camp in Northern British Columbia five corporation operations of some size as well as a number of individual enterprises were conducted during the past summer, writes W. E. Cockfield of the federal Geological Survey. Three of these operations were concerned with placer deposits and two with lode deposits. The French syndicate is working ground near the mouth of Otter Creek. While sluicing with the aim of reaching bedrock, the company encountered fine gold on top of a slightly consolidated boulder clay. The gold is extremely fine and hard to save but is present in sufficient quantity to include the company in the list of producers of the camp. On Boulder Creek the Consolidated Mining & Smelting Co. is making a cut in the endeavor to reach bedrock. Boulder Creek is situated directly across Surprise Lake from Otter Creek and the company encountered a similar boulder clay to that found near the mouth of Otter Creek. This has interfered to some extent with the speed of the work as much of the deposit is sufficiently hardened to require blasting and, in this case, no gold has been found on top of it. The company anticipates getting into the gravel next season. The third placer operation is on Pine Creek where Engineer Mines Ltd. is running a cut towards a part of the creek which is known to be virgin ground and is believed to carry pay. The work is preliminary in its nature and it was not expected that the pay would be reached this season. One of the lode mining projects is being conducted by the Engineer Mines Ltd. and the other by the Atlin Ruffner Mines Ltd., both well known operations.

The climate on the Taku River, the new mining field, is similar to that of the Stikine and Iskut Rivers. The wet belt extends 20 to 25 miles up river above the International Boundary. Beyond this within the mountains is a somewhat narrower zone of less intense precipitation and to the east is the interior plateau with a relatively dry climate.

an error of 2,000 feet in a geographic position determined astronomically.

Precise levelling was carried on on Vancouver Island and secondary levelling in the Muskoka District of Ontario and north of the St. Lawrence river in Quebec.

The triangulation nets from Montreal to the Maritime provinces have been adjusted and the results will be contained in six publications, three of which are already available.

They were living in a Fool's Paradise

JACK was earning $75 a week. They had a fine apartment, lots of friends. Life was one continuous party. Then Jack took sick. First an appendix; then, as he was getting over that, "flu" set in and pneumonia developed. Jack was laid up for 15 weeks. Of course, he hadn't a penny saved, so his friends and his wife's parents had to come to their financial assistance.

But that wasn't all. If Jack had died he would have had to be buried at somebody else's expense. Why? Because he and his wife were both living for today and spent every penny that he earned.

His illness taught him a lesson. He now owns $20,000 of Confederation Life Insurance. It only costs him $12.50 a week—but it insures a life competence to Mary.

If you are married and are earning $75 a week, or more, you should own at least $20,000 of life insurance. If you are not carrying this amount, let us assist you to get it.
